'NEWS' TO GIVE FREE FLOUR DURING APRIL

Through a plan worked out with the Browder Milling Co., a Fulton industry, THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS has arranged to give away a sack of Flour Absolutely Free to every person who subscribes for this paper during the month of April.

The Browder Milling Co., is furnishing all flour to be given away in this subscription drive by The News—your community and county newspaper. This paper has added over 300 new paid subscribers since March 1, proving the deep reader interest in The Fulton County News. This is strictly a community newspaper, publishing only local news, city, county and rural correspondence. Hundreds of our readers have found that The News gives all the local news at a small cost of only $1 a year.

It has been the policy of this paper to distribute free copies throughout Fulton and on all rural routes, but this practice will be discontinued before long as our subscription list has been climbing fast in the past few weeks. There's a reason for the growth of The News—it is a community newspaper with superior coverage and greater reader interest. Subscribe now and receive a 12-lb. sack of Browder's Flour Free. You have the choice of these brands:

Browder's Queen (choice, plain); Browder's Special, self-rising; and Browder's Superta, self-rising. The quality of this flour is unsurpassed and it is a home product. One sack of flour FREE with each $1 yearly subscription paid in advance. SUBSCRIBE NOW—TODAY! Do not miss a copy. Keep up with your own community. The News is for the people always as it is attested by our unprejudiced stand for any project for the good of Fulton and its community. SCHOOL BOARD

CUTS EXPENSE

The city school board met Monday night to discuss the report of the board of supervisors. It was decided that the salaries of all teachers be reduced 20 per cent. next year, with a 7 per cent. reduction in the assessed valuation of school property. This is in addition to the 12 per cent. reduction already made by the Board of Supervisors, for a total reduction of 19 per cent. on the valuation of the school district under last year.

Demand for necessary for reduction have been urgent. The board is not contemplating reducing the number of teachers below that of this year. They feel like it will be better to reduce the pay of all teachers and keep up the personnel, since the classes are well crowded.

The board has not helped to support athletics since 1929, and high school athletes have been "self-supporting" except the coach's salary. They now have nothing in the budget for athletics.

With this 20 per cent. cut of salaries for the teachers it means that within the past two years the salaries of the teachers have been reduced 39.13 per cent. The school board has bonded indebtedness at the present time of $25,000 for the building of the high school building. It runs over a 20 year period and they have ten years to go on this debt which cannot be decreased in any way.

HENRY PUTS HAT IN RING

The Fulton County News is authorized to announce in this issue the candidacy of Clarence Henry for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the primary next August.

Clarence Henry needs no introduction to the people of this county. He was born and reared near Hickman and has lived in this county all his life. He has served the people faithfully and well during his term as circuit court clerk of Fulton County, which he is now finishing.

Mr. Henry places his candidacy for re-election to the office of Circuit Court Clerk before the people of Fulton and on all rural routes, but this practice will be discontinued before long as our subscription list has been climbing fast in the past few weeks. There's a reason for the growth of The News—it is a community newspaper with superior coverage and greater reader interest. Subscribe now and receive a 12-lb. sack of Browder's Flour Free. 68 TON WHALE ON EXHIBITION IN FULTON

Heralded as one of the most superb specimens of finback ever captured, the famous whale of San Clemente has attracted large numbers of spectators to the special car in which it is being exhibited on its transcontinental tour. This car is located at Lake street near the City National Bank. The whale will remain until Sunday night.

More than fifty-five feet long and weighing 68 tons, the gigantic whale has attracted nationwide interest among scientists in particular and the public in general. It is declared to be one of the most perfect of its kind in whaling records.

The whale was sighted several months ago by a whaling craft cruising near San Clemente Island off the coast of southern California. There was danger as it floated on the surface, the great bulk of the whale presented an easy target. The harpoon fired from a gun on the whaler sank deep into the side of the whale and the crew expelled an easy capture.

By a lucky chance, those in charge of the exhibition tour were able to engage "Barnacle Bill" Barnett, veteran of many thrilling fights with whales in the Arctic more than half a century ago.

BEER WILL DRAW MANY TO FULTON

RETAILERS READY FOR RUSH OF THIRSTY THROATS AND TENNESSEANS HERE.

Fulton, being situated on the border of Tennessee and Kentucky, is expected to draw thousands of visitors this week end, when 32 beer makers its official bow here. Local retailers have been busy all this week make preparations for handling the crowds expected in Fulton. Hundreds of Tennesseeans from Martin, Jackson, Dyersburg, Memphis and other Tennessee towns have announced their intention of being in Fulton for the opening. Many reservations have already been made at local hotels.

The city council in special session Monday night legalized beer, when the council chambers were packed with citizens. The council fixed the following license fees for manufacturing, distributing and selling beer in Fulton:

Manufacturer $250 a year; distributor $100 a year; dispenser and retailer $25 a year. Then the council adjourned to meet again Wednesday afternoon, when applications and bonds of the following licensees were taken up and passed on:

Bowen Bros., Lake-st.; P. C. Ford, Usona Hotel; Pat Gourley, Commercial; G. P. McNamee, Main-st.; the Sanitary Cafe, Fourth-st. Those seeking refreshment and beer will have to go to one of these places.

Pay Ward, distributor of Fall City beer, who has a warehouse in Meigs-st. back of Lake-st., left for Louisville Wednesday night, and will arrive back in Fulton Friday morning with 300 cases of beer as a starter. Other trucks will follow loaded to the guard, he said.

Retailers here have been in business for years, but are adding the beer line. Pat Gourley and G. P. McNamee are well known sandwich shop operators. The Sanitary Cafe is expected to quench thirsty throats. P. C. Ford & Son, of the Usona Hotel, have arranged a barroom and private serving rooms to accommodate their patrons. All retailers will serve beer like soft drinks are served—either at the counter or by curb service. Fulton awaits in restrained expectancy the coming of beer and the 68-ton whale on exhibition here this week end.

ANOTHER CUT MADE IN COUNTY EXPENSES

STEVE WILEY ANNOUNCES

Steve Wiley, popular young attorney of Fulton, makes his formal announcement as a candidate for State Representative. His formal announcement follows:

TO THE VOTERS OF HICKMAN AND FULTON COUNTIES:

I am taking this opportunity to announce to you my candidacy for the office of representative to the Legislature, subject to the Democratic Primary, of August 5th, 1933. I believe that the voter has a right to know what the man stands for, who sees fit to offer himself for public office, so that they may know what to reasonably expect from that of taxation. The power to tax man, whoever he may be, has the right to ask a public office at the hands of the people, who is not willing to declare himself on questions of vital public concern. Therefore, I am taking this opportunity to express my views upon certain subjects, which I conceive will be of considerable importance in the next session of the Legislature.

In my judgment the most important of all questions now facing the people of this Commonwealth, as well as the people of the nation, is that of taxation. The power to tax is the power to destroy. So runs an old maxim. And never has it been of more pertinent application than now. I am now saying to the voters and taxpayers of this district, that I am unalterably opposed to ANY additional taxation of any form or nature whatever, and if elected, will oppose such measure or measures, of that character, to the best of my ability; and that I shall do this, regardless of whom the proponents of such measures may be, and whether or not they belong to any one or the other political party or group; and further, that taxes, in place of being added too, should be reduced, and the Governmental

COMMON SENSE - PROSPERITY

Now is not the time to rock the boat! It is the time to exercise the most profound quality of Common Sense.

Many people seem to have forgotten that the thing which they call money is merely of no more tangible value than that given by the American Government—the people themselves.

In other words, it is of no value unless in use and is merely a symbol of the item which you would buy or the thing which you would sell. Its final worth is wrapped up and centered within the stability of the Government itself. Without this essential stability the hoarded dollar has no value and will net neither you nor your heirs the slightest safeguard.

The situation in which our banks, general business and all citizens find themselves today relates directly to this fundamental principle of economics. Prosperity is not a problem of how much money may be privately hoarded or legally held within banks. It is a question of how much money there is in circulation. Let us illustrate this statement.

First, let us take all business and professional intercourse, and designate it as the Ship of Business. Second we will term this thing called money the fluid upon which our Ship of Business navigates. Third, the areas in which the fluid flows, let us call the Channels of Commerce. Roughly, there are 120 million people within the United States. Our wealth is approximately $50.00 per individual. On this basis during 1933 each dollar in circulation was used more than 46 times for the purpose of transacting general business.

Now then, let us have each dollar represent a fluid quantity of 1 barrel of water and in assumption we have 6,000 million barrels, and it is this volume of the "thing" we call money which is required to safely float the Ship of Business into all channels of trade. More than that it is in fact the intangible force which generates the condition we call prosperity. In the event that you and the "other fellow"—multiplied by thousands—decide to take out of this stream unlimited amounts of its fluid content, our Ship of Business automatically sinks to such a low level that its sides not only scrape the dangerous shoals, but its very bottom is stranded upon the mud-bars of low sales and lost profits. Thus those aboard are prevented from reaching the Harbors of Good Business and Better Times.

The net result of such greed (on the part of those who would maintain a private hoard of money) is that it destroys the very quality the makes the symbols of wealth so potent. Such selfishness also in the destruction of all forces that would serve to bring back better times; more business; in turn, widespread employment, and finally, stabilized prosperity.

There is no such reality as a business, a profession, an industry or an individual that is a "thing apart" from the country itself. THEY ARE THE COUNTRY. All are passengers aboard this vehicle called the Ship of Business. Therefore there is no possible way for you and I to escape an individual responsibility in connection with the present situation. The demands of that responsibility call for two things: Confidence and Courage. Either these symbols of prosperity must remain within the channels of Commerce or the Ship in which we are passengers will founder upon the shore of business stagnation.

IT IS WITH US THAT RETURN OF BETTER TIMES RESTS: not with the "other fellow". Confidence is the essence of all sound business; it is a contagious force; a power that transcends all tangible substances, and is a result which only you can create and perpetuate within your mind.

Let us "carry on" in a normal manner. Utilize whatever "medium of exchange" is provided us, and do unto others as we would that others should do unto us. Now is no time to lend aid to the enemies of stabilized conditions: fear, greed, selfishness. It is a time to manifest the constructive qualities of FAITH.

HOPE, COURAGE . . . for these things will return us to days of mutual prosperity.

AFTER ALL OURS IS BEST

Despite all the bunk you hear about technocracy, communism, socialism or what not, we still believe the American form of government built around the individual initiative is the best suited for the needs of an intelligent people. One hundred and fifty years of American democracy has convinced the people that our forefathers did a mighty good job in starting the basic foundation of the greatest government on the face of the earth.

The flaws that have made appearance from time to time are not due to a defective form of government, but to the indifference of the people who are charged with administering the functions of government. We have permitted graft, corruption and even racketeering to take charge in many instances, to the detriment of the common people, who are not easily aroused except in times of stress. As long as the ordinary individual is doing what we term well, he isn't particularly concerned about how a governing body operates.

In the past twenty years, the people have been so concerned with material progress and those things that raise the standard of living, that they have turned the operation of the government in cities, states, and in some instances, even some phases of the national government over to a well organized minority. As a result racketeering has sprung up. First aligning itself with the liquor interests, but gradually spread to other lines of endeavors until it exacts, or did exact, a tribute from every organized industry.

Some cities have made a fairly decent job of cleaning out the hoodlums and racketeers, while others are still battling to clean out the existing corruption. It looks like the job of cleaning the racketeers out should be comparatively easy, but this job of ridding a city or community of the undesirables has been a task fraught with many perils.

Folks who never do any more than they get paid for never get paid for any more than they do.

The people holler about their rights, and whisper about their duties.

Think It Over

BY THE MEDITATOR

If You Like This Column Tell Us.

WILL YOUR CHILDREN DO IT?

"Her children rise up and call her blessed."

If there is anything more beautiful than the pride of parents in their children, it is the pride of children in their parents. Happy are these parents whose children can rise up and call them blessed. The whole civic life of Fulton would be enriched and beautified if there could be a deeper understanding and closer intimacy between parents and children.

Too many parents lose their interests in their children after the first flush and early enthusiasm of parenthood. They permit their children to grow away from them. Half or more of the social evils we deplore as they relate to our young people, can be traced back to improper home relations and conditions. It is present-day parents rather than present-day children who are responsible for the loss of the old-time sanctities.

It is no small responsibility for parents to so live that their children may grow up to be proud of them. A responsibility few of us are competent to assume. And yet that is, if anything, more important than that the parents should retain pride in the children. It must be a terrible thing for a growing child to feel that it is a child of a parent it can not respect. When a girl loses respect for her mother, the last depth of tragedy has been touched.

Fathers and mothers of Fulton, are you worthy of the love and respect of your child? Are your lives of such a character that if the whole truth about you were known to your child, would that child be proud of you?

"Are your children going to hell?" is the headline over an article in an exchange that lies before me as I write. A better way to put it would be to ask, "Are we sending our children to hell?" Think it over.

A Kansas legislator proposes to introduce a measure at the first opportunity limiting the amount an undertaker can charge for his services and "fixtures" at a funeral. Kansas has always been a fanatical state—if not fanatical at least a bit "queer." And now it proposes to get rid of a few of its dead ones by cutting the cost of dying, thereby inducing some to "hit the trail." Maybe not a bad idea. It might not be amiss to try something of that kind right here in Fulton. In fact, there are many towns that would be benefited by a few first-class funerals.

Ninety per cent of a man's troubles are imaginary in this world. They find a place in his mind because he is in too much of a hurry to get rich and acquire things he doesn't need. Most of our battles are in our minds. Man frets and worries with his own thoughts, even while conditions on the outside are favorable. Think it over.

"Is it proper for a young man to ask for a kiss from the young lady after seeing her home from a party?" is a question some nice lady-like young man asks in a "Heart-to-Heart" problem column in a metropolitan paper. I would say if he is a boob he will, otherwise he'll take it and ask permission afterward.

Old things have passed away and behold, all things have become new. Used to be children obeyed their parents. Now parents are expected to obey their children. Time was when a man's home was his castle, now it is simply a place to bunk while the rest of the time is given to hotfooting it after the dollar, going to the movies, out joyriding, playing golf or some other form of away-from-home amusement.

Why can't people be brief? Before me lies a communication of approximately 3,000 words giving an account of a new automobile. It only required something like 300 words to give the world the account of the creation.

The Department of Justice is great on indictments, but what the people would like to see is a little action in the matter of convictions.

Conventions would be important affairs if they were half as imposing as the badges the delegates wear.

'Tis said that "familiarity breeds contempt." Maybe. It often breeds divorce.

You can be good without admiring everybody, but you ought to at least be square with everybody.

Don't get discouraged and think you have no chance. You have. Will you take it?

Think It Over.

BELOVED WOMAN
PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Rolan Rochelle passed to the great beyond last Wednesday afternoon while attending the funeral of her daughter Mrs. Paul Wright in Centerville, Tenn. Mrs. Wright was stricken with a stroke of paralysis and lived only a short time. She was buried at Centerville, Thursday. Mrs. Rochelle returned home Friday with the children. Jewell Rochelle returned home Saturday accompanied by his grandchildren Mr. Jewell of Columbia, Tenn., who will spend a few days with the family.

CLASS HONORS DETERMINED

Inez Earp will be valedictorian of the graduating class at South Fulton High School this year. Second honors go to Hontas Moore who will be salutatorian on commencement night. Others who will have attended the school for four years and rank high in their class are Charles Allan Williams, Eva Mae Potts, Robert Douglas, and James Jonakin. Two other students rank high in the class and have made outstanding records but they did not attend school at South Fulton all four years and according to custom they are not eligible to honors bestowed upon those having highest averages as a part of their work was done at other places. These are Mary Anderson and Christine Owen, both of whom have average above ninety per cent. Miss Earp has been outstanding in her class work and has been prominent in extra-curricula activities. She rode the bus from McConnell for three years but has lived in Fulton for the past year. Mrs. Moore, affectionately known simply as Hontas among the students, is a splendid example of what determination and perseverance can do when one really wants to finish high school. She has travelled fourteen miles a day for the past year to secure her diploma. Although ineligible to play on the varsity basketball team she has practiced regularly against the team to help with their training. Both students who won first and second honors are popular and deserve the honors that have come to them.

FULTON MAN MAKES SENSATIONAL ACCOMPLISHMENT

Early Tuesday morning a Fulton man preparing to go to his daily task decided to take his suit to the Cleaners. Being a man of firm convictions and final decisions he chose to take it to his favorite Dry Cleaners who had won his confidence in their ability to do his cleaning correctly. He set out afoot. After being accosted by other cleaners representatives or drivers, and slyly dodging another, he arrived at The O. K., to relate this story, although exhausted, he was still convinced that "the difference" was worth this supreme effort. O. K. Laundry-Cleaners. Adv.
