INVADE CADIZ

Night Riders Leave Anonymous Note in Cadiz Depot Threatening to Wreck Train.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian of recent date published the following:

The night riders who have been operating in Trigg county for several weeks have at last invaded Cadiz. In spite of the wordy denials of their existence in the Cadiz paper and in communications sent by the County Judge to the Courier-Journal, they have made threats in the county seat itself.

Mr. W. C. White, in many respects the leading citizen of Cadiz, who is President of Cadiz Railroad, on Wednesday morning found the following letter in the depot at Cadiz:

Mr. W. C. White:
We understand that Jesse Vinson is intending to carry his tobacco to Cadiz to ship to Hopkinsville. Now we don't want this done. Don't haul it on your Road. We mean what we say.
Night-Rider.

P. S. We don't care to do you any harm but, we must and will protect our wives and children. A hint to the wise had better be sufficient.

The engineer and fireman of the road also received the following epistle, written on the same kind of paper, in the same hand, disguised by the use of well executed letters made in the form of printed letters.

Jake Bingham and Dick Mitchell:

Dear Friends:—We understand Mr. Jes. Vinson is going to bring his tobacco to Cadiz to-day to ship it to Hopkinsville where he has sold it. Now we don't want to do you any harm in any way, but this tobacco must not go out from here. If it does the train will never get to Gracy and back. We are your friends and don't want to do anything that might injure you, so you had better loose your jobs than to take a chance of losing your lives.
Your Friends.

In spite of these ominous threats the Cadiz train pulled out with Mr. Vinson's crop and it was hauled safely to Gracy, turned over to the I. C. and delivered to Tandy & Fairleigh in this city Wednesday. Mr. Vinson was at the city yesterday looking after the sale of this crop.

The Cadiz Record has for some time been saying unkind things about the Kentuckian because it refuses to suppress the unlawful condition of affairs in its county. Now that the facts are no longer a subject of dispute, we hope to see the Record, whose chief contributor is the county judge, array itself on the side of law and order and co-operate with the Kentuckian in its efforts to stop the perpetration of these outrages, that have brought disgrace upon some of the most law-abiding counties in the State.

Clerks Will Be Given Increase.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Post-office clerks will be liberally dealt with in the new appropriation bill, which will be reported from the postoffice committee within a few days. Clerks in the first and second class postoffices in towns containing less than 25,000 population, will be advanced according to classification, from $200 to $200 a year. Those in towns of from 25,000 to 75,000 population will be advanced according to classification, from $200 to $1,200 each. Railway mail clerks, who have had to bear not only the burden of the additional cost of living, but the risk of accident, will receive $100 more in each grade after a year's service.

Carriers are also liberally provided for. Those of cities of less than 25,000 will be advanced, according to classification from $600 to $900; those in cities with a population between 25,000 and 75,000 from $900 to $1,000. The increases will entail an expenditure of the part of the government of $5,000,000. It is also believed that before the bill is reported it will carry an increase for rural free delivery carriers.

Kentucky Tobacco Crop.

A Washington special relative to the 1906 tobacco crop says of Kentucky: The immense value of the tobacco crop of Kentucky in the year 1906 is a subject treated of in the December issue of the Crop Reporter, just out. This is the official publication of the department of Agriculture.

The following tobacco statistics for Kentucky for the year 1906 will be found of interest: Acreage, 200,000; yield per acre, 870 pounds; total production, 252,000,000 pounds; price per pound, 7.7 cents; total value of the crop $19,424,100. The value of the tobacco crops grown in other states is given as follows: Virginia, $6,031,545; North Carolina, $6,980,764; Wisconsin, $6,712,875; Ohio, $8,533,000.

From this it will be seen that the Kentucky tobacco crop was worth in dollars and cents practically as much as the combined crops of North Carolina, Virginia and Wisconsin.

SHOCKING.

Dude Simpson Accidentally Discharged Shotgun Killing Miss Maud Cavett.

On Thursday evening of last week Dude Simpson, a boy of 14 years, who lives at Boydsville, was out hunting with a breech-loading shot gun. He went into the home of Mr. Joe Cavett who lives in the western part of this county.

After remaining in the house a short time, he started for home, stopping in the door to replace the charges in his gun, in doing so the gun was accidentally discharged, the whole load taking effect in the body of Miss Maud Cavett, a beautiful young girl of about 15 years. Medical attention was at once summoned, but to no avail. In about three hours the sweet young girl breathed her last, surrounded by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends. She was Mr. Cavett's only child.

The grief stricken parents and also the family of Mr. Simpson have the sympathy of the entire community.

I will close wishing the Ledger and many readers success.

Adam Was a Suicide.

"Adam was the first suicide, and he killed himself for love of a woman. Rather than allow Eve, with whom he was in love, as Romeo was with Juliet, to die alone, after she had eaten the apple and come under consequent sentence of death, Adam ate some of the apple, too, and thus made certain that he would die."

Such was one of the doctrines advanced before 2,000 persons in Orchestra hall in Chicago one night this week by Rev. Chas. T. Russell, of Allegheny, Pa., who spoke on the "Overthrow of Satan's Empire."

Adam really committed suicide," declared Mr. Russell.

"Because he loved Eve so fondly, as the only living thing on earth with which he could have companionship, he ate the forbidden fruit, after she had partaken thereof, and thus knowingly brought sentence of death upon himself. He followed the woman's example through his love for her, and thus killed himself by putting himself under the proclamation of the Lord.

"It is quite easy to see that this was the case, and that Adam was in truth a suicide. You will remember that God said, 'If you eat thereof you will surely die,' in referring to the forbidden fruit."

"There you have God's authority for it."

To this the bereaved man replied by asking, as he gazed into the minister's face, "What's her name?"

BURNED.

Freight Depot, Property of the N. C. & St. L. Railway Company, Reduced to Ashes.

The big freight depot belonging to the N. C. & St. L. Railway Company was burned Wednesday night at about 1 o'clock, together with the contents.

The cause of the fire is unknown but not believed to be of incendiary origin. A dummy telegraph office had been recently fitted up in the building by employees of the company and the general supposition is that the fire originated from this room.

Among the freight contained in the building was fifty gallons of turpentine in five gallon casks. The explosion of this liquid aroused citizens in the neighborhood who gave the alarm.

No material loss was sustained aside from the freight house and contents. Just what amount of freight was contained in the building was impossible to ascertain.

The passenger depot was damaged some. Long, Fruitman & Co's. big prize house caught fire from the explosion of the turpentine but was readily extinguished.

Died of Pneumonia.

Rev. Brooks Farmer died last Sunday night at his home in Fulton, Ky., after a brief illness of pneumonia. The body was brought to Murray Tuesday morning and carried to Martins Chapel and interred after services by Revs. Cleanth Brooks and Humphreys.

Mr. Farmer was a native of Calloway county and was about 56 years of age, and is survived by a wife and family of children. He was an ordained minister of the M. E. Church, South, and a true and conscientious christian man, an honorable gentleman, a good citizen and a splendid neighbor.

Mr. Farmer moved from Murray to Fulton about two months ago where he was engaged in prizeing tobacco for the association.

He was widely known throughout this and adjoining counties and numbered his friends by the score.

The Ledger extends its sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

Harmony Now Prevails.

Princeton, Ky., Jan. 24.—As evidence of a general good feeling among the people of Princeton and Caldwell county, especially the tobacco growers, a large tobacco storage and sales room will soon be erected in this city. Most of the stock subscribed for the erection of this building is taken by association and independent tobacco growers, the remainder being subscribed by business people of Princeton. This step assures harmony among the farmers and a restoration of confidence. W. B. Rawls has secured a receiving and prizeing room, and will put up tobacco for the association at this point.

The erection of a large opera house and a forty-three-room hotel along with the erection of a large passenger and freight depot now under construction, is among the many indications of Princeton soon becoming a 10,000 city. There is not now a single vacant residence in the city of Princeton, and as soon as a residence is erected any number of applications are made by railroad people, as well as other people desirous of locating here. A real estate and building company, as well as individuals, will erect, during the year, at least 200 residences in order to supply the demand for homes by those desirous of locating here.

Expensive Shooting.

Charley and Cal Clois and Jesse Harris, all of the Farmington section came to Murray last Monday to spend the day.

Before time to leave for home the boys imbibed a little too freely in liquors and as they started out Institute street warned the residents along that thoroughfare that they were going by firing their pistols several times.

Police Holland mounted a horse and overtook them just at the outskirts of the city. While searching him for a pistol Harris made an attempt to draw his gun but before he could get it from his pocket Holland knocked him across the face with a revolver. The boys were lodged in jail and given a trial before Judge Simpson Tuesday morning. Harris was fined on three counts, carrying a gun, shooting upon the streets and being drunk. His fines amounted to $45.75. Chas. Clois paid $13.25 for being drunk and shooting on the streets. Cal Clois was assessed $4.75 for being drunk.

Girl Stabbed.

Benton, Ky., Jan. 25.—During an altercation between Joe Eley, son of the sheriff of Marshall county, and the son of Prof. Davis, principal of the High school, at the Benton school building Monday evening, Miss Viola Smith was stabbed in the arm and several stitches were required to close the wound.

The boys engaged in a friendly scuffle, which degenerated into a fight. Both drew their knives. They were standing at the door and as they slashed at each other the young woman passed through the door receiving one of the knife blades in her arm.

A Live Wire

Every nerve is a live wire connecting some part of the body with the brain. They are so numerous that if you penetrate the skin with the point of a needle you will touch a nerve and receive a shock—pain it is called. Aches and pains come from a pressure, strain or injury to a nerve; the more prominent the nerve the greater the pain. When the pain comes from a large nerve it is called whether it be the facial nerves, or the heart, stomach, sciatic or other prominent nerve branch. To stop pain, then, you must relieve the strain or pressure upon the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this.

"I suffered intense pain caused by neuralgia. I doctored and used various medicines without getting relief until I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They never fail to cure my headache, and they have never lost any bad effects."

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MILES UP IN A BALLOON.

Little Known Through Explorations of the Upper Air.

To cross the Alps in the air, as did the Italian mountaineers on the Milanese, was a new feat in ballooning. The altitude attained by the voyagers—its own test—falls considerably short of being a new record. Two English aeronauts, Messrs. Cowell and Gishner, ascended 57,000 feet in 1862, about seven miles, and in 1875 M. Tissander, a Frenchman, rose more than five miles with a companion, who died on the way. One of the English adventurers became unconscious at an elevation of five and a half miles.

These figures of height have been equalled, if at all, only in the case of a self-registering balloon which was sent up from Paris in 1893, and on examination after its descent, appeared to have reached an altitude of 52,400 feet, and was thawed "higher up" by the sun's radiations. There is of course no possible verification of any claims concerning this balloon.

The voyagers with the Milanese had the advantage over the high fliers of 1862 and 1875 of being equipped with tubes of oxygen for breathing in the rarified upper air. Modern mountaineers have found oxygen of use, also, and the portable gas-holders may serve some day to help explorers to the summit of earth's highest peak. At present the climber's record for altitude rests at 29,394 feet, almost 6,000 feet short of Mount Everest's summit.

HOW HE FELT.

Hungry Pete (as he reaches the point of collapse)—I was starvin', lady. I sure I began on this beautiful Thanksgiving meal.

Mrs. Goodheart—And how do you feel now, poor man?

Hungry Pete (reluctantly)—I feel as if I'd like to be starvin' all over again, lady.

PARIS RESTAURANTS.

"The restaurants of Paris are the best in the world," said a chef. "Establishments like the Cafe Anglais and Paillard's, on the Boulevard des Italiens, Foyot's, near the Odéon, and Voisin's, on the Rue St. Honoré, have been famous for many years for their cellars and their cooking. But in all these restaurants the cellars are now giving out."

"We Americans are proving too tough for the Parisians. In too many thousands we are invading their small, modest, expensive restaurants. When, long ago, they laid down their wines of choice vintage, they had no idea that every American village would have its half dozen millionaires who would some day invade Paris and demand at the best restaurants the finest wines on the wine card."

In a word, there are so many of us rich Americans that we have seriously depleted the famous wine cellars of Paris. Thanks to our thirst, your Parisian cellars are no longer of the first quality.

"If we want superior wine cellars now, we must go to the restaurants of Brussels, which our millionaires have not yet attacked."

SOMETHING LIKE IT.

"Yes," said Mr. Swellman, "I'm looking for a coachman."

"Well, sir," put in the applicant, "shure, I know all about horses."

"But have you had any experience with an automobile?"

"Not exactly, sir, but I was tossed by a bull wagon."

HIS ONE REQUEST.

"Have you any request to make?" asked the sheriff of the detainee, who had been taken to be hanged on the gallows.

"Yes, one," replied the condemned man. "Let me be the horse myself. I never yet wore a ready-made necktie."

MEANT IN ALL KINDNESS.

But Use of Significant Words Jarred American Somewhat.

"The different use of the same words in England and America," said the returned tourist, "is sometimes amusing, sometimes bewildering, and occasionally, as I have found it, embarrassing. During my sojourn in the British Isles last summer I found myself one evening in the quaint old town of Warwick, and very much in need of a square meal. Not being familiar with the place, I stepped into a drug store, or chemist's, as they call it, to make inquiries. The proprietor looked me over.

"Well," he said, "if you want hotel fare, go up to the Arms, but if you're looking for a place where a homely man can get his shilling's worth, go right across the street, indicating a little restaurant."

My good looks are not my strongest point, but I don't know that I ever had their absence so forcibly brought home to me—at least by a stranger. "I must have regarded my informant with some interest. 'Thank you,' I said, 'and supposing I were a beauty, where would I go?'"

"The English aren't over quick to see a point, and it took him at least half a minute to begin to smile. The relaxation of his countenance ended with a laugh.

"Bless you," he said, "I wasn't referring to your face, but to your tastes. I fancied you were a man who wanted plain food, and plenty of it. Honestly here means homes, loving, substantial folks."

"So we arrived at a satisfactory understanding, and later, I am glad to say, I had a satisfactory meal. But on thinking it over afterward I impressed upon me that my friend the chemist hadn't explicitly denied the construction that I have just put upon his adjective."

MUSIC AS TOOTHACHE CURE.

It is something new to learn that music has power to soothe a man with the toothache.

Dr. G. Norman Meachen, M. D., said that there was a recorded case where the sufferer from toothache became so interested in a pianoforte solo that he forgot his ailment and became almost lively. The lecturer claimed that music was an important factor in several other ailments, for instance, insomnia. There were several instances on record where sleeplessness had been cured by means of music. In 1896 a little child suffering from insomnia was cured by means of music where all other means had failed.

Continuing, Dr. Meachen said it was chiefly in nervous disorders—mania, melancholia and phobia—that music was most efficacious, but it had been known to reduce the temperature of a patient suffering from fever. Music had also the power of distracting the attention of the insane.

METHOD IN IT.

The Oldone—Why do you take this awful long walk home every night? The Youngone—Well, I'm so tired when I reach home that I don't care whether my wife has spotted the dinner or not.

THE WASTED WITVICISM.

"I always thought," said the hostess, "that Scotch men were humorous. Last night I showed a departing Scotch guest a great pile of overcoats in the dressing-room."

"Here," I said, with a wave of my hand, "you are the first to leave. Take your choice."

"Thank you," said he, as he fumbled among them, "I'll 'ave me owa'."

ONTO HIM.

"That was Miss Reilly who just took the eye away."

"Yes," replied Parson-Hunt, "and didn't you notice? She actually cut me! What do you think of that?"

"Well, she's pretty sharp."

MEN OF MIND BOUGHT GOLD.

Proof That Forty-Niners Were of More Than Ordinary Caliber.

While in a village library in southern England I chanced to find a set of the first authorized English edition of Bret Hart's works, issued in 1880. The preface to this edition contains the following interesting tribute to the California gold seekers:

"The faith, courage, vigor, youth and capacity for adventure necessary to this emigration produced a body of men as strongly distinctive as the companions of Jason. Unlike most pioneers the majority were men of profession and education; all were young and all had staked their future in the enterprise."

Eastern magazines and current eastern literature formed their literary recreation and the sale of the latter class of periodicals was singularly great. Nor was the taste confined to American literature. The illustrated and satirical English journals were as frequently seen in California as in Massachusetts, and the author recalls that he has experienced more difficulty in procuring a copy of Punch in an English provincial town than was his fortune at 'Red Dog' or 'One-horse Gulch.' An audience thus literally equipped and familiar with the best modern writers was naturally critical and exacting and no one appreciates more than he does the salutary effect of this severe discipline upon his earlier efforts."

Few people read prefaces, and English people probably took their ideas of the typical Californian from Hart's stories. In any event that view has largely changed to-day. After the 15th of April last, not only the English but the continental press contained an appreciative outburst regarding the courage, enterprise, vivacity, and hopeful spirit of the Californians that was as evidently sincere as it was spontaneous. Of all classes of travelers, tourists and true feeling their experiences in San Francisco—W. L. Japon, in Sunset Magazine.

HAD REAL SNAKES.

John Brooks, alias King, was arrested in San Antonio, Tex., for horse theft. There was nothing strange about this until the officers began to search his prisoner. Deputy Sheriff Goforth was doing the job, when he suddenly turned the man loose and let out a yell that brought the entire sheriff's force to his assistance. He had reached into the man's pockets and a big bull snake had fastened its fangs into his fingers. The man was then ordered to take all the reptiles out of his pockets and bosom and produced four bull snakes and a pilot snake and in his buggy were found two armadillos, one iguana, one green lizard and three black lizards. The entire collection was taken to the jail with the prisoner. It appears that he follows snake charming for a living, and it is charged that he used another man's horse and buggy in which to travel around the country and give exhibitions.

HEAVY GLOVES.

The wealthy old gentleman came on the steps dripping with perspiration and puffing like an automobile.

"Oh, father," faltered the beautiful heiress, nervously, "where have you been?"

"I have been attending to that French count who is after your hand and my tuition."

"Gracious, father, I hope you haven't been rude. The count is such a delicate gentleman. Didn't I tell you to handle him with gloves?"

The old gentleman smiled grimly.

"Oh, I handled him with gloves, all right."

"You did? Oh, I am so glad."

"Yes, the biggest boxing gloves I could find, and then I put a horse shoe on each."

The Murray Ledger

O. J. JENNIS is Editor and Owner.

Entered at the post office at Murray, Ky., for transmission through the mails as second-class matter.

We are authorized to announce
as a candidate for re-election as State Senator from the counties of Calloway, Trigg, Lyon and Livingston.

BUILDING ROADS; PAYING TAXES.

Possibly you can call to mind two things, two essential necessities, that are more largely of interest to every citizen of Calloway county than these two things, building roads and paying taxes, but just now we do not.

These are two things we all have a personal opinion regarding. Some of our ideas may not be worth a consideration, a serious thought or even passing notice, but you must not deny that we all regard ourselves fully competent, eminently able to adjust these two matters, at least, to our own, individual satisfaction.

And it is a little singular, in the face of these facts, that these much mooted questions have not long ago been adjudicated to at least the perfect satisfaction of a few of the people.

The editor of the Ledger may know less about how to build roads than any of the readers of this paper, and we're going to admit that he does, but we deny that he is not capable of distinguishing the difference between a road after it is built and a heap of dirt or a rut of mud.

You can pile all the brick that was ever burned in this county together in a heap, or you can place them as you will in the pile, and the brick alone can not be erected into a house. Likewise you can pull and haul and scrape and grade all the dirt in Calloway county together and you can not build a road with the dirt alone.

This method of trying to build roads, that has so long been in vogue in this county, is nothing more than a waste of time, entailing a useless expenditure of thousands of dollars in money. You must use sand and lime or cement with your brick to build a house that will stand. A house could be erected with the brick alone but how long would it stand? You could build it and when it tumbled to the ground you could go to the expense of putting it up again, and thus repeat the labor and expense ad infinum. But, seriously, would you regard a person who would erect a house in such a manner a competent or even one of ordinary intelligence?

We're building roads in this very manner right here in Calloway county, and these roads are just about as lasting as the house built without mortar.

Last year (1906) Calloway county paid out in cash $5,059.42 to build these sort of roads. We do not know how much was paid out in previous years but proportionately as much is a fair presumption. What have we got? We created the annual necessity of a like expenditure. It is reasonable to suppose that the fiscal court will make a levy for 1907 equivalent to the levy of 1906, which was 22 1/2 cents on the one hundred dollars of taxable property, for road purposes. In fact it is regarded as an absolute necessity to do this by a great majority of the taxpayers of the county to enable us to have even passable highways.

Supervisor Lassiter's report of the work done last year is a matter of public record. In looking it over the other day we gathered some information that will possibly be of interest to the people. This report shows that 352 days were employed by the graders at an average cost of about $14.50 per day. A total of 399 miles of road was worked at an average cost of $15.32 per mile. The time was divided between the seven districts as follows: Almo 46 days; Liberty 45 days; Murray 53 days; Swan 52 days; Concord 56 days; Brinkley 46 days; Hazel 52 days. A total expenditure of $5,059.42 is shown for roads and $1,145.17 for bridges. Other items of expense brings the grand total up to $7,071.73.

We spent this money last year, it's gone, and unless we use some other material with the dirt will continue to spend a like amount each year and still never accomplish the task of building roads.

Gravel roads are not an experiment. As evidence Murray's streets. The supply of gravel is inexhaustible. Persons who are familiar with the deposits in this county say that, on an average over the entire county, it would not be necessary to haul the gravel a distance of one mile. Competent authority claims that a nine inch bed of gravel can be placed upon the roads at a cost not exceeding $200 per mile, this to include the cost of $15.32 necessary for grading. Now, figure a little. We paid last year $5,059.42 for dirt roads, which, if expended for gravel roads, would build over 25 miles at an estimated cost of $200 per mile that would last for 35 years without the necessity of one dollar for repairs. Thus in ten years we would have more than 250 miles of road, not heaps of dirt or ruts of mud—roads. In less than twenty years every mile of road in the county would be graveled at this rate of taxation, and upon the basis of 1906 assessed value of property. The 1907 assessment is about one quarter of a million greater than that of 1906 and is fair to presume that each succeeding year will show a material advance in the value of wealth, giving an increased revenue for roads each year, thereby lessening the time of completing the work.

These statements can not be denied. Will this county continue to build houses with brick alone, leaving out the mortar? Will the taxpayers continue to submit to the burden of cost of roads and content themselves with dust heaps and mud ruts?

THE DOG TAX AND THE DOG.

The Ledger is eternally, now and forever opposed to any candidate for the legislature who will not publicly declare himself in favor of the repeal of the unjust, unnecessary and abnoxious dog tax law. We consider it an additional tax burden upon a class of citizens who are least able to bear it. A dog is as much of a necessity on the farm as is the mule, the horse or any animal. We agree there are many worthless curs in the state, however, they are not all cur dogs. Calloway county must pay $2,100 additional taxes in 1907 on account of this law, an amount nearly equal to one-half of the entire expenditure of 1906 upon her public roads. Is it right, is the law a just one, does the state need the money? We seem to be drifting toward a privilege tax upon everything. The land is taxed, the house is taxed, the watch in your pocket is taxed, the clock upon the mantel is taxed, the corn in the crib is taxed, the tobacco in the barn is taxed, the cow in the meadow is taxed, the dog in the yard is taxed, you must pay a tax even to get married. About the only privilege the poor man has left upon which no tax is placed is that of "raisin' kids."

The individual who has never known the friendship, comradeship or love of an intelligent, faithful dog has missed much in his life, and can little appreciate the worth and value of such an animal. The dog is recognized as the most intelligent of dumb creatures, loyal even unto death to his master, be he prince or pauper. That great Missourian, Senator Vest, keenly appreciated the qualities of the wonderful animal and upon one occasion paid a beautiful tribute to him. Senator Vest had been retained as the attorney of a man whose dog had been wantonly shot by a neighbor. It is said the plaintiff demanded $200. When Vest finished speaking the jury awarded $500 without leaving their seats. The speech, in full, is as follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us, may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, in his dog. Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness faithful and true even in death."

Mr. C. S. Hamlin, the Pine Bluff merchant, continues quite seriously ill. He was stricken some few weeks ago with paralysis since which time he has been dangerously ill. He is one of the county's best citizens and is widely known throughout the county.

There will be no electric lights this week. Just what the present status quo of the independent telephone concerns of Murray is we are unable to find out. The newly organized company anticipated taking over the property of the Independent concern and held an option for some twenty days. The property of the old company was advertised for sale last Monday by Sheriff Edwards under execution of the courts but this indebtedness was replevied, and the sale was not made. Rumor had it that the Home Company had made a deal to take over the property. Now comes a report that these people do not want it. Just where things are "at" we can't say.

Mr. John Hanley, formerly of Henderson, Ky., now located in San Diego, Cal., was in the county the past week and while here disposed of some land he owned on the east side. He returned to Henderson and before completing arrangements to move to this place his wife became ill and died. Beveridge and Child Labor.

The February number of the Woman's Home Companion contains a comprehensive description of Senator Beveridge's national bill to abolish child labor. The Senator tells how he worked in a logging camp at fourteen years of age, beginning before daybreak and ending after dark, and the lessons he learned there served as the foundation for his present fight against the horror of child labor. After describing the evil, he adds:

"But that is not the worst of it. The worst of it is that pretty soon these children 'come to age.' What kind of citizens do they make? London hoodlums! That is the kind of citizens they make. Each boy and girl of this kind that develops into a man or woman knows that he or she is inferior to his fellows—inferior in body, mind and soul. They not only feel it, they actually see it.

They feel that they have been robbed in some way—not robbed in money or property, but robbed of life, of health, robbed of intellect, robbed of spirit. And in their undeveloped brains, in their weakened hearts, in their cramped and deformed souls the fires of an unextinguishable wrath begin to burn. They go through life hating society, hating everybody and everything. For, while they do not know much, they do know that a system of industry and a state of society has worse than murdered them. There is your material for anarchy. We hear a good many speeches about the danger of anarchists coming to this country from Europe. The truth is that child labor is creating some two hundred thousand grown-up anarchists of native American blood in this country every year."

Enormous Diamond.

The American Magazine for February offers a complete and authoritative account of the recent discovery of the greatest diamond of the world. This gem is twice as big as the biggest egg the biggest hen ever laid, it is invaluable. Nobody knows what it is worth, but $5,000,000 is a reasonable price. A man stumbled onto it in South Africa in a remarkable way.

At this moment the monstrous stone is reposing in a bank at Holborn Viaduct in London, quite close to the home of the diamond merchants in Hatton Garden. The very name of that bank is kept a profound secret, for in its strong room is a treasure fit to tempt the most skilful criminals on earth. And so costly a matter is the showing of it to the representatives of Oriental princes, to commercial syndicates and international associations of diamond dealers, that a number of crystal facsimiles have been made and prospective buyers have to be satisfied with these replicas.

If, however, it is seen that they mean business on a gigantic scale, the insurance company is notified and a heavy premium paid by the owners for the removal of the stone from the strong room of the bank.

County Assessor Waylaid.

J. W. Coulter, of Le Sueur, S. D., Assessor of Stanley County, relates the following: "I was waylaid by a complication of throat and lung troubles, bronchitis, asthma and a terrible cough, which had afflicted me for years, when I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. Relief came almost immediately, and in a short time a permanent cure resulted." No other medicine compares with it as a sure and quick cure for coughs and colds. It cures after all other remedies have failed. Every bottle guaranteed at H. D. Thornton's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Stanley, formerly an inland town in Davison county, is now on the Ohio river, which has broken through its banks and is running through the town to Green River. Great damage has been done to fine farm lands.

FOR THE HEADACHE SUFFERER.

Sleeping with His Head High Will Frequently Bring Relief.

"It is so strange, doctor," explained a woman patient, recently, "that when I have had a perfectly good night's sleep I should so often wake up with headache."

"How many pillows do you have under your head?" asked the physician.

"One thin pillow," was the answer.

"Try two fairly thick ones," the doctor advised, adding that many congestive headaches were caused by people sleeping with their heads too low. "The blood settles in the head and the sufferer wakes with a dull feeling or throbbing pain. Persons subject to catarrhal headache should be careful to have their heads high enough at night."

In cases of headache or facial neuralgia where mustard would be perhaps too severe, a mixture of white of egg and red pepper may be safely used. It will be found quite as effective as the mustard, but it will not blister nor leave unsightly red blotches even on a tender skin. It can be safely applied at the base of the brain for that "headache in the back of the neck" which begins to be complained of at about the time when the storm and stress of the holidays have exhausted the nervous energy.—Harper's Bazar.

TONS OF SOOT.

A scientific investigator in Cincinnati has been trying to arrive at a definite idea of the amount of soot deposited in the city in the course of a year. One of his tests was to place two buckets, three-fourths filled with water on 11 roofs in different parts of the city. At the end of three months a careful analysis of the contents of the buckets to ascertain the amount of carbonaceous matter was made. The result is that in the down town area the falling soot amounts to 511 tons a month, or 18 tons daily. On a square mile of the city the soot deposit is 174 tons a month, or 342.25 pounds, an average of several pounds to each inhabitant. In one of the suburbs the soot in the bucket was 364 grams to the square foot for a period of 30 days. For the same time the deposit at a central point in the city was 22,559 grams to the square foot.

RELIC OF OLD ROME.

Near the Lucrine lake, to the north of Baiae, Italy, where the ruins of Romans of imperial times crowded each other to the water's edge, and where in consequence, to this day the ground is full of archaeological treasures, a very fine mosaic has just been discovered. In form it is a parallelogram, measuring about five and a half yards by nearly ten yards. The piece represents a hunting scene in which there are many wild beasts and several hunters, the favorite subject for large mosaics in those days. It has been bought for $1,500 by the ministry of public works for the decoration of the great monument of Victor Emmanuel in Rome, which is slowly taking form, and will eventually dominate all old Rome.

WAY TO GET WEIGHED.

"Stand on the platform!" That easier said than done.

VARIED.

"It was as much as I could do to keep from laughing when Miss Acher remarked that her fiancé was too versatile."

"Meaning Dandy? Well, he is rather versatile."

"Nonsense! He's a regular idiot."

"Yes; but he's so many different kinds of an idiot."

AN EASY WAY OUT.

Theatrical Manager: "I can't use your play. It's entirely too long for the stage."

Amateur Playwright: "Well, can you not lengthen the stage?"

ONE, AT LEAST.

Luther Babcock, the plant wizard, showed last month to the students of Stanford university an apple that was sweet on one side and sour on the other.

"This apple shows us," Mr. Babcock said, "how different treatments will have different effects. It shows how environment causes the most radical changes."

He smiled.

"As in apples, so in men," he said. "There used to live in Santa Rosa a good, kind man, but unfortunately, he married a shrewish wife, and the woman changed his nature."

"One morning after his wife had called him a good-for-nothing loafer and snatched his breakfast away, he started off, hungry and sore, for work."

"A sour-looking woman entered the car he was on. She got into a violent dispute with the conductor over her change. Finally, red with rage, she looked about her and said:

"Is there a gentleman in this car who will stand by and see a lady insulted?"

"The hungry man whose nature had been spoiled, rose eagerly. "Yes, madam," he said, "I will."

A SHAMELESS CONFESSION.

Goodman—Did you ever learn to carve a turkey?
Schlich—Never! I could never see the wisdom of putting yourself in a position when you must offer everybody his choice and content yourself with whatever happens to be left.

KEEPS TABS ON THE BOOKS.

A certain lady who has a good library, and is always having books and music, is very generous in lending both to her friends. Naturally she has found that people are often more ready to borrow than to return, so in order to be able to lend without loss, she has devised a nice little plan.

In a certain album each borrower writes his or her name opposite the title of the book and the date on which the book is borrowed. On returning it, the borrower is expected to comment on the book, and to initial it.

This album is naturally quite interesting, and as it is always to be found, it is often turned over by visitors, who soon see who is not prompt in returning books lent. The result is that the books are always returned, and yet there are no irritating reminders from their owner, whose album is always kindly regarded.

HIS'S MANY MEANINGS.

"His his," said an actor, "does not only mean disgust and repulsion. In Japan, for instance, it means delight. A Japanese, in greeting you, says:

"In West Africa his his denotes astonishment. There I would hiss if you should pay me back that loan I made you last."

"Is the new Heloides they hiss before anything beautiful. Do you see the large turkey in front of that shop? Well, a New Heloides dealer, beholding it, would hiss."

"The Rasatos hiss in sign of cordial agreement. When a candidate for office scores a point a hiss from the Rasatos audience is his reward."

"Among the Eskos his his denotes satisfaction and content. At the end of the dinner that I propose to eat I would, were I a Esko, hiss back at my chair, boson, my waiter, and his band—and hiss."

A VAGUE RECOLLECTION.

"Of course," said the sleep thinker, "you've read of Apollo in the mythology of the ancient Romans."

"Sure, you can't get it from 'Immaculate Conception' Dandy."

"What? Certainly not. Apollo was the sun god, you know."

"Oh, I always thought he came from Italy," said N. J."

Free to Subscribers.

The Twice-a-Week Republic, of St. Louis, Mo., is giving away a beautifully framed picture, size 5x7 1/2 inches, to every one sending $1 for a year's subscription to their great semi-weekly and Farm Progress, a monthly agricultural paper published by The Republic.

This offer is open to both new and old subscribers. If you are taking the paper at present, send in your dollar and have your time marked up for one year and get one of these beautiful pictures without any extra cost.

The pictures are genuine works of art, done in nine colors. Two of them are heads of beautiful girls. One wears a black picture hat and has two roses pinned to her pink bodice. If this one is desired, order No. 10. "The Spring Girl" No. 11, or "The Summer Girl," wears a light brown picture hat, trimmed with light green. She also wears a white and green waist, with a bunch of very pretty flowers at her breast. The remaining picture, or No. 12, is a three-quarter length picture representing "The Winter Girl," with a long coat, boa about her neck and a muff.

The frames are made of round metal and are all black. To tell them from real ebony it would be necessary to take them from the wall for examination. The pictures and frames are neat and pretty enough to grace the walls of a millionaire's home. There is nothing cheap or shoddy looking about them. They cannot be duplicated in the retail stores for less than 50 cents. The best recommendation that we can give them is to say that if you are not thoroughly satisfied with your picture they will refund the money for your subscription and pay the postage for returning the picture to them. If you are already a subscriber to the Twice-a-Week Republic, or if you want only the agricultural monthly, Farm and Progress, send a silver dime for one year's subscription to this big sixteen-page farm and home paper. The Twice-a-Week Republic is the oldest and best semi-weekly family paper in the country, and Farm Progress is the fastest growing farm monthly in America. Remember that you get both these splendid publications for a year and one of these handsomely framed pictures, all for only $1.

Tobacco Culture.

I suggest a few thoughts to the tobacco growers. Select good plant land; burn well; sow plenty land few seed; fertilize if needed; canvass early; prepare land well to received plants; pick over and get all the largest plants and set first.

Work out the set tobacco by all means in less than a week and continue regular work every ten days, bringing a little earth to the plant, keeping the earth loose just in front of the leaves, as the roots reach out with the leaves.

Keep dreaming furrows open to prevent scalds; keep off early worms, in fact, pull worms and suckers while they are small. Keep the leaves turned back that are blown up by the wind; cut at proper time; keep from sunburn; don't crowd on the stick or in the barn; do not hose when tobacco is wet; keep a barrel of water at barn to prevent fire; begin firing in time; see that ventilation is given either at the doors or under-pining so air enough will enter to drive sweat off of tobacco. Stay with the fires long enough to cure stalk and stem.

As soon as this tobacco comes in stripping and keeping order bulk and cover up; strip at once the entire crop. Classing well in three parts; rebulk on sticks up high from the ground, two hands at a time; weight down tight and see that no leaks come on the bulk.

The tobacco crop is now ready for the market and if buyers will take some pains all parties will be better paid by doing better things.

If some one else can improve on this plan I hope to hear from you dear reader.

HOME-MADE CATARRH CURE.

Any one can mix right at home the best remedy of its kind known. The name "Cyclone" is given to the following prescription. It is supposed because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison, relieving this foul and dread disease, no matter where located. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion; one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system all catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh specialist of national reputation.

DATA OF YEAR.

Easter Comes in March.—List of the Church Days.—Other Points of Interest.

The yearly data of 1907 will be of general interest to all, and the knowledge that four eclipses of the sun and moon are to occur will afford much satisfaction to those who delight in research of all kinds. Easter will come in March and the other days in connection with it are correspondingly early.

A transit of Mercury across the surface of the sun will be thrown in for good measure, but those who live in this city and vicinity will not be able to see it. The transit, as in the case of the two eclipses of the sun, will be invisible to all but the eastern part of the United States.

The first eclipse will be on January 14, and it will be a total eclipse of the sun invisible to North America. The next eclipse will occur on January 25 and will be a partial eclipse of fair Luna and it can be seen here. Those who desire to see the shadow creep across the face of the moon will have to be early risers, as the big show starts at 6:06 in the morning.

This gives January two eclipses, and not until July do any others occur. On July 10 will occur an eclipse of the sun which will be invisible in North America. On July 24 the moon will undergo another partial eclipse and those who are on the streets in the evening can see it readily. This will be the star event of the year in the eclipse line, as it occurs at 9:05 o'clock in the evening and stays that way until 11:41 o'clock, when it leaves the shadow.

The transit of Mercury across the disc of the sun is the last event of an astronomical nature and while it will be invisible here it is expected to create a stir of interest in scientific circles. The sun rises with Mercury at the edge of the disc and in portions of the continent the transit can be seen.

Easter Sunday is on March 31, and all of the other days in connection. Palm Sunday comes on March 24, and with it are correspondingly early. Good Friday on March 29. The first Sunday in Lent is February 17, and this makes the special season quite short.

The complete list of fixed and moving church days of the year is as follows:

Epiphany, January 6.

Septuagesima Sunday, January 27.

Quinquagesima—Shrove Sunday, February 10.

Ash Wednesday, February 13.

St. Valentine, February 14.

First Sunday in Lent, February 17.

St. Patrick's day, March 17.

Palm Sunday, March 24.

Annunciation—Lady day, March 25.

Good Friday, March 29.

Easter Sunday, March 31.

Low Sunday, April 7.

Rogation Sunday, May 5.

Ascension day—Holy Thursday, May 9.

Pentecost—Whit Sunday, May 19.

Trinity Sunday, May 26.

Corpus Christi May 30.

St. John Baptist, June 24.

Michaelmas day, September 29.

St. Andrew's day, November 30.

First Sunday in Advent, December 1.

Christmas day December 25.

The holidays in most cases always come on the same dates.

Thanksgiving and Labor day, however, are two that are set differently. Thanksgiving comes on November 28 and Labor day on September 2.

The vernal equinox which marks the beginning of spring comes on March 21, just ten days earlier than the monthly division. The summer solstice, marking the true beginning of summer, will occur on June 22. The autumnal equinox marks the opening of autumn on September 24. Then on December 22 the winter solstice begins and winter is on.

The chronological circles show that the winter is the 6,620th of the Julian calendar and the 5,668th of the Jewish, beginning on September 19th, next. The Mohammedan year 1,325 begins on February 14. The year is the 132nd of the independence of the United States.

The Evils of Constipation are many; in fact almost every serious illness has its origin in constipation, and some medicines, instead of preventing constipation, add to it. This is true of most cathartics, which, when first used, have a beneficial effect, but the dose has to be continually increased, and before long the remedy ceases to have the slightest effect. There is one preparation, however, that can be relied upon to produce the same results with the same dose, even after fifty years' daily use, and this is Brandreth's Pills, which has a record of over 100 years as the standard remedy for constipation and all troubles arising from an impure state of the blood.

Brandreth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and can be found in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

BISHOP HOLSEY SAYS: "PE-RU-NA IS A BLESSING."

He Declares Pe-ru-na to Be a Triumph of Medical Science, After Twenty Years Bondage to Catarrh.

A Magnificent and Sovereign Remedy.

Having Tried Many Remedies and Failed to Find a Cure,

Tried Pe-ru-na and Was Promptly Relieved.

The Bishop's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na

L. H. Holsey, Bishop C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I have found Pe-ru-na to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, and since I have been using Pe-ru-na which has relieved me of the trouble. "I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard-earned money for them, but I found nothing so effective in the cure of catarrh as the great remedy Pe-ru-na. "I feel sure that Pe-ru-na is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is also a blessing to suffering humanity. "Every individual who suffers with respiratory disease will find Pe-ru-na a magnificent and sovereign remedy."—L. H. Holsey, Ep. C. M. E. Church.

A public speaker cannot afford to have catarrh. Even a slight catarrh, hoarseness of the throat becomes intolerable. This is especially true of the minister who is called upon to preside at religious functions of all sorts.

RAILROAD

Paducah Southern to be Built at Once. Cars Promised to St. Louis in a Year.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 24. Sharp competition with the Illinois Central in short freight hauls and passenger traffic, in Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky and West Tennessee, is promised when the Paducah Southern, now in process of organization, is in operation. The company, which is composed of Paducah, Hickman and Illinois men, with ample backing in the East, is practically ready to undertake the active work of surveying for the lines and it is said cars will be running between Paducah and St. Louis in a year.

The lines are to be taken in sections and the first to be undertaken will be between Paducah and Hickman, seventy miles, running via Mayfield, Graves county, and Union City, Tenn., where the Mobile and Ohio will be crossed. The track will be standard gauge, so that either steam or electric cars may be operated. The territory traversed will insure the company all the best of competition as it makes a short cut between points.

D. A. Archer, of Chicago, is promoting the venture and among the local stockholders are B. H. Scott, of the Smith & Scott Tobacco Company; H. H. Loving, banker; George Rush, of Brookport, Ill., and A. R. Martin, attorney. Already $2,000,000 in bonds have been floated in New York, representatives of capitalists having finished an inspection of the route four weeks ago.

A bridge will be built at Metropolis, twelve miles below Paducah, across the Ohio river and it is understood the Illinois Central, as well as the proposed Paducah Southern and the Harrisburg extension of the Burlington and Big Four, will use the bridge.

In Illinois it is proposed to extend the Paducah Southern to tend the Paducah Southern's lines to Jopka, Golconda and on up through the coal fields to East St. Louis, south from Fulton, further competition with the Illinois Central will be entered into. The fact that standard gauge track is contemplated leads to the belief that the promoters have the influence of the Louisville and Nashville railroad behind them.
