Flood Waters Engulf City Thursday Noon

HARRIS FORK CREEK GETS OUT OF BANKS; INUNDATES BOTH STORES AND HOMES.

Extremely heavy rains in and above Fulton Thursday inundated the entire business section and much residential area lying adjacent to the Harris Fork creek, which runs through the heart of the town. Those sections of Fulton and South Fulton inhabited by colored people sustained severe damage by flooding homes and forcing quick removal of holds where possible.

Highways leading into Fulton, north and south, were covered with water, and traffic was held up. Cars parked in downtown section were stranded partially covered by water. This was the most devastating flood here since the creek was straightened out several years ago, and considerable damage was done.

SCOUT DRIVE WILL START HERE TUESDAY

The Fulton Scout Council has announced that on Tuesday morning, May 16 at 8 o'clock four teams of four men each will launch a drive in Fulton for the purpose of raising funds to carry on Scout work here. It has been the policy in the past to carry on the Scout program through funds raised by similar drives. The entire amount raised will be used for the direct benefit of the local Scouts.

At a recent meeting of the Council it was decided that the people of this community should be made more familiar with the Scout program, and it is to this end that the following article is written:

Since June 1 of last year Scouting in Fulton has made a tremendous step forward. At that time one troop of 32 boys at which there are now four troops aggregating 100 boys. A 28 piece drum and bugle corps, and a sea scout troop has also been organized. There have been some 50 transient members of the various troops making a total of 150 boys who have received benefits from Boy Scout training. For each troop there are three men who are actively interested in this intemal movement and whose compensation is enjoyment, good fellowship and the sincere and everlasting friendship of the men and boys of the organization.

Twenty-four directors were selected from Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina and Virginia, and the election of Mr. Browder on the board of directors is recognition of his capabilities.

DEATHS

MRS. ELIZABETH SCOTT

Mrs. Hester Elizabeth Scott, 61, died Sunday at 8 p. m. at her home on Cedar-st., after a long and lingering illness. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. H. Warren at the home Tuesday afternoon. Burial was at Mt. Moriah cemetery with Hornebank Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Scott, who was born in Cookeville, Tenn., Feb. 7, 1882, had been a life-long member of the Baptist church. During the short period of residence in Fulton she had made many friends. She is survived by her husband, F. J. Scott; a son, Billie; a brother, Rev. R. L. Emery of Nashville; a sister, F. W. Butt of Florence, Ala.

Many friends of the family and The News sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Dr. Naylor had many friends throughout the county, and well known and highly respected by everyone who knew him. It is with regret that the community learns of his death. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Treas; a grandson, and one sister, Mrs. Burnett, of near Union City. Many older residents of the county will remember his father, the late Dr. Joshua Naylor. Mrs. Burnett, his sister, is the last surviving member of the family.

HUNDREDS TURNED OUT FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL

The National Go - To - Sunday-School Day was last Sunday, and hundreds of people turned out for Sunday School at local churches. Attendance at all churches was well above that of last year, and many enjoyable programs were given. The Methodists and Baptists ran a close race for attendance record, with all other churches coming up strong.

A. G. Baldridge, superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school, reported an interesting day. Bertis Piguer, chairman of the Christian Board of Education, talked on the work of the board and that of the Sunday School. Other speakers on the Methodist program were: Mrs. Russel Travis, superintendent of the Nursery department, assisted by Miss Mary Moore Windsor; Mrs. Vodie Hardin, superintendent of beginners' dept.; Mrs. Guy Gingles, supt. primary dept.; Mrs. A. G. Baldridge, supt. junior dept.; Mrs. T. J. Kramer, a full counselor for the young people's division; Mrs. Shelton, representing the adult dept.

As Others Think

LET HIM FINISH THE JOB

There has been little said about the election of a mayor and city council for the city of Fulton at the Democratic primary to be held August 5, 1933. And it is time that the people think about the men who are to handle the affairs of the city for the next term. The next administration should be highly capable in bringing readjustments in the city's revenue and outgo, as this is a period of reconstruction and retrenchment.

Mayor Paul DeMyer has plainly indicated his stand on economy and public interests at the council table. He has put the knife to various departments in an effort to reduce the city's expense, and has unhesitatingly and flat-footed come out and opposed the granting of a long term contract to the Kentucky Utilities to furnish electricity to the city of Fulton. He has started a job which must be finished, and there is not a better man, who is striving for the common good of the people, to carry out a program for placing Fulton in better standing in the face of prevailing difficulties.

Mayor Paul DeMyer has faced many grave problems of city administration, unflinchingly and unwavering. He has stood by the faith the people placed in him when elected to the mayor's office. Yes, in many instances, he has had opposition in the council rooms. Certain elements now exist on the council that must be readjusted at the poles in the coming election. In the matter of the city light franchise it is a well known fact that one member of the council, and the advisor to the city, our city attorney, have reason not to take action against the Kentucky Utilities. The general public should know all the facts well, and take these in consideration when it goes to the poles to vote for the incoming mayor and council.

A VOTER.

Fulton Sponsors Rooster Trade Day Saturday

Franklin Observes National Cotton Week May 15-20

Franklin Dry Goods and Clothing Co., one of Fulton's oldest and largest department stores, is offering special prices next week, May 15 to May 20, in observance of National Cotton Week. This store has arranged to merchandise, especially cotton goods, in connection with this week, as an expression of their faith and confidence in the future of the country, the South and this community.

It is pointed out that the price of merchandise is advancing, as is proven by a study of climbing markets, and that never was the opportunity greater to replenish your supply of needed dry goods and clothing for the family at low cost. Unusually attractive prices are being featured in this big event, and thrifty shoppers everywhere are invited to visit this store.

Council Has Special Meet

Mayor Paul DeMyer called a special session of the council Thursday in an effort to force immediate action on the electric franchise question here, which has been held up some time pending action of the Ky. Utilities company which seeks a new franchise.

Altho the city recently advertised for sale a 3-year franchise at reduced rates, the utility company did not bid. However, they propose a 5-year franchise with slight reductions under the old rates now in force. J. A. Brown, representative of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., St. Louis, was present. His company proposes to erect a municipal plant to be paid for out of plant revenues. Mayor DeMyer and the council took under advisement a plan to have a complete analysis of construction and operation costs and actual revenues that could be realized by operating a municipal plant.

It is proposed that a plant be erected in order to obtain lower rates and turn the revenue back to the city as the utility company holds out for what the council feels are excessive rates. Fulton being a four class city, it will be necessary to take the matter of issuing revenue bonds for construction of this plant before the state legislature to get a special act passed legalizing the sale of these bonds, which are self-liquidating thru revenue from operation of the plant.

Deisel plants are operating in other cities and are bringing in good revenue for the people, saving them thousands of dollars in taxes and reducing electric rates to consumers according to figures presented by Mr. Brown. A similar plant would pay for itself inside of nine years, he states, basing his facts on operations of like plants in other towns the size of Fulton.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MAKE LIBRARY DRIVE

The library board of the Women's Club will start a drive for funds for continuation of the city library and local people will be solicited to co-operate in keeping the library open. The Woman's Club has been active in keeping the library in operation, and the drain on its treasury has been heavy.

A statement issued by the club says: "School will close soon and the young people need the library thru the summer months. The public library is one of Fulton's most valuable assets. You are urged to assist the Woman's Club in keeping it open."

ELKS DANCE

All graduates of the Fulton High School will be admitted free to the dance given Friday night, May 19 by the B. P. O. E. at the Elks Hall. The dance starts after the exercises at the Science Hall and all graduates are cordially invited.

SWIFT & COMPANY AND MERCHANTS OFFER INDUCEMENTS TO FARMERS TO VISIT FULTON

Saturday, May 13, has been set aside as "Rooster Day" in Fulton. Hundreds of people are expected to gather here for disposal of their roosters at the highest market prices and to purchase merchandise at real honest-to-goodness savings for everybody. The Fulton plant of Swift & Company, under the management of W. P. Ayres, is offering 5% a pound for roosters on this day, and is in the market for 20,000 pounds or a solid carload of cocks.

But to make the day a bigger one, several Fulton merchants have joined in the Rooster Day Drive, and besides offering special prices, some offer to pay 6% a pound in trade for roosters. This inducement, backed by unusually low prices on merchandise should prove a big drawing card to thrifty-wise shoppers throughout this territory.

It doesn't matter whether you have roosters to sell or not, it will pay you to come to Fulton Rooster Day, when you will have every opportunity of making your dollar go further in the purchase of any line of merchandise. But if you do have roosters to sell never was the time better to get more money out of them than now.

Spring is a time when the family wardrobe must be renewed. And those long-needed household items should be bought during this opportunity event. Grocery and market products are always in demand, and it will pay you to study the values being offered by Fulton merchants in this issue of The Fulton County News.

There's one sure way of preventing regrets—and that is to come to Fulton Rooster Day this Saturday. Bring the whole family and don't forget the roosters! Enjoy the day, meet old friends and make it a big homecoming event. Your friends will be here—so why not you!

HISTORY IN THE MAKING
By J. Paul Bushart.

At a municipal election held at Mills' Point (Hickman) Monday, June 6, 1841, the following town trustees were elected: John Betts, Minor Winn, B. M. Hughes, J. B. Hubbard and F. W. Behn. A meeting of citizens gathered the day before to make arrangements for the celebration of the national independence, July 4th. B. W. Mcintosh presided as president, with William Harper, secretary. The following resolution was passed:

"Robt. Marr is to deliver an appropriate oration; B. M. Hughes to read the Declaration of Independence. Rev. J. B. Hubbard to open and close day's ceremonies with prayer." Messrs. J. Hanna, B. Hanly, G. W. Thompson, John Shaw, A. Shuck, E. W. Nevill, R. Powell, Joseph Freon, George Waters, E. W. Smallwood and Robt. Lewis were nominated as a committee of arrangements and prepare for a free barbecue.

Just to give you an idea of business and professional firms of that day look these over: H and R. H. Marr, attorneys-at-law; F. W. Behn receiving and forwarding merchant; Chas. Amos, baker of crackers, pilot bread, light bread, cakes and dispenser of spruce beer; S. M. Thompson & Co., dry goods, hardware, groceries; Larmon & Brother, wholesale and retail; W. E. Brinkley, general merchant; J. F. Sawyer, operator ferry boat; Thompson and Ragsdale, book and grocery store; Dr. J. B. Hubbard, physician and dentist; Drs. Thompson and Walker physicians; Wm. Hereon, merchant; Chas. Noggarrath, M. D., surgery, obstetrics and dentistry.

Even back in the forties there was agitation and plans for good roads. Citizens met at the various county seats of this section to discuss the road problems, especially improvement of roads leading to Mills' Point. A shipping point Mills' Point held an advantage over river towns for the counties of Graves, Hickman, McCracken, Weakley, Obion, Henry, Gibson, Madison and Dyer. Freight was only $4 per hundred from there while current rates from upper Mississippi, Ohio, Cumberland and Tennessee rivers had been fixed at $6 per hundred all season.

Roads were few in those days, and as a rule were terribly soggy in wet weather. Even the old stage road from Mills' Point to the interior was impassable at times, and was known as the old "plank road" because it was overlaid in many places with small trees split in half. Toll bridges were frequent, and a trankpike now and then was operated as a private enterprise. To ride over these bridges and turnpike a toll had to be paid.

The census of 1840 gave 776,023 population; 587,542 white, 7,309 free colored, and 182,072 all others. At that time there were 890 distilleries in the state with a production of 1,700,705 gallons. An advertisement in a newspaper of that time: read "Wanted a person of good character to go as partner in making rum, brandy and gin out of common whiskey." Also another one: "Wanted a good landkeeper, good wages, Mills' Point House."

Coffee houses or barrooms were common places of business. But there were no tables, nothing but bars where everyone ordered drinks, shook hands with friends and acquaintances, and passed on at their business. Strangers and friends alike were invited to partake at the expense of the host. Some people would call those the "good old days."

Ten well filled stores did business at Mills' Point in 1841, and they provided everything desirable for provision and wearing apparel. A wharf accommodated navigators of the river. Three large warehouses received wagon loads of produce which arrived hourly for transportation. Four experienced physicians attended the ailing. Two fashionable tailors kept the men well dressed. Three spacious hotels accommodated the travelers. Many coffee houses served the thirsty, where everything but coffee could be bought. Plenty of carpenters, smiths, cabinet makers, shoe makers, saddlers, bakers, mechanics plied their trades. Judge Bush, at the police court, resigned with an iron hand and undisputed sway.

A Thespian Corps was formed by Mr. Betts, an old hand at the "bellows," who fitted up his house with a neat little stage, good scenery and a full wardrobe. And with the assistance of Mrs. Betts, Miss Stannard, Capt. John Betts and Mr. Linden, small performances were given. Damon and Phthias was enacted Friday, Oct. 25, 1841, with a good crowd present.

Markets were well supplied with the exception of molasses and whiskey during the summer of 1841. Prevailing prices then were: Sugar 8c and 9c lb; coffee 14c and 15c lb; Salt $3 per sack; superior whiskey 35c gallon; nails 9c lb; Ohio flour $5 bbl; Porter and Ale $12 per bbl; candles 40c lb; brandy 75c to $1 gallon; Cognac $2 to $2.50 gallon.

County elections were often accompanied by riots, fights and drunkenness. But quiet prevailed during the election of Aug. 5, 1841. Election returns from the Mills' Point district for representative to the legislature that year gave Lewis, 128; Jenkins 31; Willingham 4 and Sanford 1.

The Hickman Circuit Court in session July 22, 1841, was presided over by Judge Wiley P. Fowler. Several candidates for the legislature were as follows: F. W. Behn, president; B. M. Hughes, vice president; L. D. Deutelmeyer, clerk and assessor; W. E. Brinkley, treasurer; G. W. Puckett, marshal; E. W. Smallwood, wharf master; C. W. Belknap, secretary of the Masonic Lodge, announced regular meetings each second and fourth Tuesday of the month. Mr. Belknap was also a dealer in iron, nails, flour, porter and ale and other merchandise. Capt. John Betts secured an experienced cigar maker in October, 1841, who manufactured cigars from Kentucky tobacco and Cuban leaf.

Notices often appeared in the local paper about runaway slaves, offering rewards for the return of the negroes. Many escaped by fleeing thru Missouri. Often miscreants or criminals escaped penalties by crossing the river into Missouri and taking up residence in the neighborhood of Indian lands, often adopting their habits, manners and costume.

As far as is known F. W. Behn was the first to open an insurance agency at Mills' Point, as a representative of a Connecticut company. He insured goods, wares or merchandise, or produce, shipped by steamboat or flatboat.

Altho there were other ferries adjacent to Mills' Point S. Richardson obtained a license in November, 1841, to ferry across the river near the foot of Island No. 8. He also operated a tavern where travelers were entertained in case they were delayed because of ice, wind, Mr. Richardson owned a road to his ferry landing, which brought Troy within 22 miles of New Madrid, and the distance between New Madrid and Mills' Point only 18 miles. His was a horse ferry boat, propelled by the horse walking around in circles to furnish power by a contrivance connected with a stern wheel.

More history for you next week. If you like these accounts, comments are not out of place.

AGENT DISCUSSES FAIR

The big topic for discussion among the members of the Illinois Central System organization right now is the approaching World's Fair at Chicago, according to C. R. Collins, Agent. Extensive bulletins have been issued by the railroad describing not only the Fair but also how to get there and how to pay most conveniently for the railway ticket and the other minimum expenses of the visit.

The fair will celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of Chicago's birth as an incorporated village and will portray in light, color and movement the world's scientific and industrial progress of the last one-hundred years. The fairgrounds, consisting of land reclaimed from Lake Michigan, border Chicago's downtown lakefront and provide ample opportunities for both land and water spectacles. The site is more than three miles long, more than 400 acres in extent and now holds $30,000,000 worth of structures designed for exhibition and entertainment.

In addition to the permanent structures of the Field Museum, the Shedd Aquarium, the Adler Planetarium and Soldier Field, the Fair itself offers a dozen principal exhibit buildings of its own, plus an equal number or special exhibit buildings and a great variety of concessions, the latter culminating in the Fair's principal landmarks, the towers of the Sky Ride, which reach 620 feet into the air. Ultra-modern architecture prevails throughout, and color and illumination will produce memorable effects.

The management of the Fair is figuring on a normal attendance of 350,000 visitors a day for the five months the fair will be open, extending from June 1 to October 31. Peak attendance on special days is expected to reach 1,500,000. The size of the crowds, with its threat of traffic congestion on the highways, is expected by the railwaymen to cause a good many visitors to use the trains who otherwise would depend on motor transportation.

P. T. A. HAS DAD'S NIGHT
The mothers of the Parent Teacher's Association gave a 'Dad's Night' program in the High School auditorium Thursday evening. In spite of the rain about sixty came and enjoyed a program that was a bit different. The dignified part of the program presented by Mrs. Lon Berninger was:

Two numbers of the High School Orchestra.

Address of welcome by Prof. Martin.

Response by Joe Davis.

Piano solo.

Violin duets by Jane Lewis and Bob King accompanied at the piano by Janice Puckett.

Ae reading "Friday afternoon at School" by Miss Caroline Beades.

Saxophone solo by Ernest Berninger, piano accompaniment Janice Puckett.

The last part of the program, the less dignified part, was prepared by a lonesome preacher (no other preacher was present). It consisted of a couple of intelligence tests especially for parents and teachers. Only two teachers were present. But it is just as well for those present didn't do so well. The purpose of these tests was really that we might be able to report to the children the I. Q. standing of their parents and teachers. We are sorry to say there is nothing to report. The one or two did real well the per cent of those passing was far below normal and some of the individual tests were a disgrace. The I. Q. standing of these folks can be improved only by a more systematic attendance at the P. T. A. each month. We hope that before others tests are given they will have improved greatly. Joe Davis and Clarence Reed simply could not light a candle. Of course they were placed in an embarrassing position for the task but really neither of them won in the contest. The audience would not cast a vote for either of them. Preparations are being made for a more elaborate program along the same line for the next "Dad's Night".

A certain young Fulton lady is becoming "fond" of the new beer. All because some "authority" has declared that beer is healthful and will put on weight for the skinny. Although she avows she had just as soon take a dose of medicine as drink beer, she is helping "round out" her figure, so she's going to stick it out for a while.

Hearing about the "Picture Scatcher" at the Orpheum Sunday, we were reminded of the young fellow about town who has been collecting pictures for his art gallery. Photos of girl friends adorn his album and picture gallery. He has 'em from kodak size to large, hand-painted ones. My what a parade of femininity. Many young Fulton ladies shine out from the collection. Watch out girls, he has got your number—and he goes for pictures in a "big way."

A fire in Missionary Bottom was quite revealing. Firemen, insurance men, reporters, bootleggers and on-lookers were there. Said fire exposed a lot of "bootleg"—and was it running—tucked under the coats of rescuers, who evidently expected to be in dire need of a thirst quencher after such a "hot time." Those strutters from "dark town" could lose their liquor.

It seems to be quite popular these days for "modern daughters" to puff away on ready-made cigarettes. And take it from me many of Fulton's daughters enjoy their little "smoke" on the sly. No need to mention names but they can't be counted on your fingers. Mother and Dad may not know it in many instances but quite often they do. Comments by "boy friends" who have any respect for them indicate that they think a smoking and drinking woman loses her true femininity, and lower the respect of men for them.

Young people who are inclined to be carefree and careless at times, will lovingly remember "mother" this Mother's Day. Many mothers are due for surprises when they receive gifts this year.

Solomon wasn't the only wise person. A few days ago a Fulton husband called his wife and told her he was going out of town on a business deal. But that wife thought she needed a "pleasure trip" and said she would go along. My, what a sinking sensation he must have had.

Love works in mysterious ways to perform, according to logic of old. Yes, it is peculiar that way, it seems for a couple of young graduates are to wed when school is over, if the report is true. We'll let you guess who.

Homer Roberts, Fulton Citizen, Announces For County Court Clerk

In this issue of The Fulton County News we are authorized to announce the candidacy of Homer Roberts, popular young business man, for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 5, 1933.

This announcement will be of interest in all parts of the county, for Mr. Roberts is well known in all sections. He has friends, too, in every locality who have urged him to get into the race and these friends will now begin to work for his nomination.

Mr. Roberts was reared on a farm near this city, and lived in the county practically all his life. For the past several years he has made his home in this city, where he has engaged in business. His friends know that he has the qualifications to make a good county court clerk and if he should receive the nomination everybody knows that the duties of the office would be adequately taken care of.

Mr. Roberts has never held public office, although he has at all times been willing and ready to aid in party work. He served in the United States army during the World War, and had a good record. His record as a citizen is clean and above board, and if elected to the office he feels he will discharge the duties of the office with credit to himself and with fairness to the public.

Between now and the date of the primary, Mr. Roberts will conduct an active canvass, and will endeavor to see and talk to all the voters. In the meantime, however, he asks that the voters refrain from promises of support to any candidate until he has had an opportunity to explain his claims and qualifications for the office.

W.C. Tipton Announces For Office Of County Judge, Fulton County

Woodard C. Tipton, well known resident of Fulton County, farmer and attorney, will make the race for county judge of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary on August 5. Mr. Tipton authorized The Fulton County News to make formal announcement of his candidacy in this issue. Mr. Tipton has been urged for some time to make the race for this office.

Mr. Tipton was born in Tiptonville, finished school at Webb school, Bell Buckle, Tenn., studied law in an office at Caruthersville, Mo., and was admitted to the bar in Missouri on May 25, 1908. He made something of a record in this respect, as he had read law in an office only 15 months and passed the bar examination of the Missouri State Board of Law Examiners with good marks. For a short time Mr. Tipton practiced law in Caruthersville, then engaged in farming.

He has been a resident of Fulton county some ten years and is well known to most of our people. He told The Fulton County News that he felt he was qualified to handle the duties of this important office in a way to please the taxpayers and other citizens, and that he would devote his entire time to the office if he is elected. Mr. Tipton said if the people elected him they would find him on the job at all times, ready and willing to serve their interests to the best of his ability.

Mr. Tipton promises that if he is elected he will be the judge himself, and that every person in the county will have the same fair and square treatment at his hands. Mr. Tipton also stated that in cases that come before the County Court, if he was in the least doubt as to the law in the matter, he would postpone his decision until the following day in order to have time to check up on the law.

For some time Mr. Tipton has made a study of local governmental affairs and he is well posted on the Lon Adams, Seeks Police Judge Seat Of Fulton, Ky.

SERVED AS ATTORNEY FOR FULTON COUNTY AT ONE TIME.

Lon Adams, a well known and capable attorney of Fulton, seeks the office of Police Judge of Fulton. He has authorized The Fulton County News to formally announce his candidacy in this issue. Mr. Adams has many friends in Fulton and throughout the county, and is highly respected by all who know him.

He has been practicing law in Fulton and Fulton county for a number of years. Many people will remember his faithful and efficient service while filling the office of County Attorney. His has made an enviable record of success, honesty and efficiency. Mr. Adams believes his experience in legal matters, and his familiarity with regard to the office which he seeks, fits him for the judgeship of the city of Fulton. He promises to serve the best interests of the people, with justice for all and impartiality to none.

Mr. Adams has many friends who will be interested in his announcement. He asks the consideration, support and votes of the citizens of this community, with the promise he shall execute the duties of the office to the best of his qualifications. He feels that his experience and connection with the courts of the city and county will be of material help in fulfilling the duties of the office faithfully and efficiently. Anything that you may do in his behalf will be deeply appreciated.

LES HINDMAN OUT FOR CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE

In this issue The Fulton County News is authorized to announce that Judge L. L. Hindman, well known attorney of Clinton, is a candidate for the office of Circuit Judge of the First Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary on August 5.

Judge Hindman, known throughout the district to his hundreds of friends as "Les", is qualified in every way to fill this high office with distinction to himself and a credit to the people of the district. His splendid record in public office, as a practicing attorney over the district, and as a man and citizen clearly proves this to every one who knows him. Judge Hindman is the highest type of gentleman in every way.

Born in Hickman county, he was educated in the county schools there and at the state university, taking his law work at Cumberland University, where he graduated in 1907. He was admitted to the bar that same year and began the practice of law in Clinton. In 1914 he was elected county attorney of Hickman county, serving in that office until 1922. Since then he has been practicing law in Clinton and has built up a large practice in this section.

Judge Hindman is also deeply interested in church and civic affairs and is generous with his time and means in all these enterprises. Affordable to all, fair in all his dealings with his fellow men, always determined to do what is right, he has drawn many friends to him in all parts of the district. There is little need to say that he is a life-long Democrat, one who has given of his best to the party.

He expects to make an active campaign during the coming months, but it is harder to see all the voters in five counties than in one, so Judge Hindman takes this means of respectfully asking the voters of Fulton county to give his claims due consideration with the assurance that their vote and support will be deeply appreciated. We call your attention to the picture and personal statement by Judge Hindman on page 5 of this issue.

James B. McGehee Enters Campaign For County Tax Commissioner

James B. McGehee, well known farmer and citizen of the Cayce and Jordan communities, will make the race for tax commissioner of Fulton county. With this issue of The Fulton County News, Mr. McGehee has authorized us to make formal announcement of his candidacy subject to the action of the Democratic primary on August 5.

Mr. McGehee, who is known to a host of friends throughout the county as "Jim," is well qualified to fill this important office. He is a graduate of Draughon's Business College at Paducah, and had the record of finishing the bookkeeping course there in less time than any other student. He also has had six years experience in bookkeeping and business.

There is little need to introduce Jim McGehee to the people of Fulton county. His family were among the early pioneer settlers in the county. He was born and reared in the county and has spent practically all his life within its confines. He is known as one of the county's outstanding farmers and breeders of purebred live stock. His reputation as an honest, progressive citizen is well known to almost every one. He has always taken an active interest in all church, school and community affairs and has long been regarded as one of the county's substantial citizens.

Mr. McGehee has been a lifelong Democrat and has always given liberally of his time, efforts and money to the success of the party. He comes of a family of staunch Democrats, and a family that has never asked the voters for a public office.

Mr. McGehee will make an active campaign, but takes this means of letting his many friends know he is in this race to win, and that he will deeply appreciate their support, influence and votes. His personal statement to the voters follows:

To the Voters of Fulton County:

In announcing my candidacy for tax commissioner, I wish to say that I have never before been a candidate for any public office and I am not unmindful of the obligations and responsibilities of the office I am seeking at your hands.

I do not come to you making promises I know I cannot fill, but, if elected, I will be glad at all times to render any assistance to the taxpayers that is in my power to do so. I promise I will give you honest, faithful and efficient service. I also promise to fulfill the duties of this office according to the laws of the state of Kentucky.

I hope to be able to see each and every voter in the county and to personally solicit your vote and influence, but if by any chance I fail to see you, I ask you to take this as my earnest solicitation for your support.

Sincerely and Respectfully,
JAMES B. MCGEHEE.

Elvis J. Stahr Enters The Race For Attorney Of Fulton County

The Fulton County News is authorized to announce that Judge Elvis J. Stahr is a candidate for re-election for the office of County Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 5, 1933.

It has been generally known that Judge Stahr would ask for re-election, and hundreds of friends have asked him to again enter the campaign. His formal announcement will be good news to his many friends in all parts of the county.

During the past four years Judge Stahr has made a splendid record in the County Attorney's office. He has devoted his time and attention to all legal business involving the county and has protected the county in every possible way. He has been ever mindful of the fact that due economy was the watchword these days. He has been fair and courteous to every citizen, yet he has sought justice in every case and has been zealous in carrying out every duty of the office.

Judge Stahr is so well known to the people of the county that an introduction is scarcely needed. He was born near Hickman, attended and taught county schools, and later took a law course and began to practice law in Hickman. He was quite successful as a practicing attorney, and later was elected to the office of County Judge. During his term as County Judge the county was handled in a most business-like way under the guiding hand of Judge Stahr. He was never too busy to render his utmost for the benefit of the county, and many important improvements were made in county affairs during his years as County Judge.

During the years of his residence in Hickman he has been a wheel-horse in Democratic ranks. There is probably no member of the party in the county who has given more of his means and time to party work, and during the last presidential race he served as campaign manager and led Democratic forces to one of the biggest votes ever marked up. He is now county chairman and is giving liberally of his time to party work.

Judge Stahr is highly qualified for the office which he seeks. County affairs are well known to him. He knows the people of the county well and they know him. The people know that no trust is too great for him, and that he will carry out any trust that is placed in him faithfully and well. He feels, and justly so, that with one term in the office, with his experience, he is even better qualified than before. He asks that every voter consider his claims and The Fulton County News believes that his claims will be given full consideration. We can cheerfully recommend him as being qualified in every way for the post that he seeks.

"THE NEWS" INTRODUCES MANY CANDIDATES IN RACES FOR OFFICES

As the political campaign in Fulton and Fulton County grows nearer to the end, it also grows hotter. This has been a big week for candidates in Fulton, inasmuch as the Circuit Court met here. The following 15 candidates have announced through The News:

FAMOUS THOUGHTS—Hearken to the warnings of conscience, if you would not feel its wounds.

ADVERTISING AN EXPECTED SERVICE

Advertising has developed to a stage where the people expect the service it renders as much as they look forward to the publication of news. A newspaper without well-displayed advertisements would be a queer thing and undoubtedly regarded upon by the public mind as undesirable of attention much less support.

Advertising has improved so wonderfully that it has become a kind of directory of market offerings. It spreads before the people in each newspaper issue a story of business conditions. You can read it and find out what kind of goods are being bought, what the style and fashions are, what kind of service the people are demanding, what suggestions the merchants have to offer as to meeting household and personal demands.

Having read the advertisements the shopper starts out with a thorough knowledge of prices and the trend of commodities. Correctly informed there is no need of canvassing the entire town in search of an article for that shopper already is familiar with the goods carried by the merchants. Thus both time and money are saved by reading advertisements.

Once there was a time when merchants were dubious about the qualities of advertising—but that time has long since passed, and now they realize thousands of dollars from this means of reaching the buying public. And today both public and merchants are benefited by the far-reaching effects of concentrated advertising.

The Fulton County News carries attractive advertisements of local business firms, and endeavors to act as a medium of information on market conditions and prices, as well as community news.

UNITY OF PURPOSE

Fulton faces the future undaunted by the adversities of yesterday, growth of this city and community must be carefully considered and acted upon. The question in hand is whether we shall pull together as an organized group or cater to reckless abandonment of co-operation and unity of efforts.

Everywhere people are realizing more and more how inter-dependent we are upon each other. The only individual who is self-sufficient, in this day of vigorous agricultural, industrial and business activities, is a hermit who hasn't developed beyond the stage of primitive man. Individuals, communities, states and nations—all are dependent upon the actions of others.

The keynote—the foundation of civilization—is the family. Our family altars sacredly guarded are the keynotes of happiness. We all concede that. And we're rapidly coming to realize that our own home town and community—is just a great big family—simply the family unit a little bit extended through neighborly cordiality, friendship and pleasant social intercourse.

Common good will and recognition of our human obligation is a deeper currency than any money system ever invented. But it is also to our advantage on the material side of life—it rebounds in better practices, living conditions, more generous impulses. It makes Fulton a better place to live.

Stored up energy not put in use is wasted by stagnancy. Real power is given when the wheels of progress are set in motion by the throwing of the switch of activity. Electricity has been harnessed by men of science and as a result, today we have our great power plants, industries lighting facilities and electrical appliances of many kind. If Fulton and surrounding communities are to enjoy the prosperity so much desired, we must develop our natural farming resources, and take advantage of personal talents and opportunities.

Pioneers blazed the way for the establishment of the country and today we are blessed with the inheritance of their accomplishments. Power is generated by the "will to do." There are a lot of onlookers who merely stand by and watch. But what Fulton and this community need are "doers" who get behind progressive moves and push with all their might.

Let's make our home town and community a closer knit union. Let's be generous with our good will—realizing that the prosperity of the individual is directly reflected in an added prosperity to our community. Your life and happiness are dependent upon the development and growth of your community.

In this period of reconstruction everyone plays a vital part. It is imperative that you do not fail in your responsibilities to your family, your community and yourself.

THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL
Sunday is Mother's Day. As this being written the prospect is it will be a beautiful day. It is well. The world looks bright. It is a beautiful world; as it came from the hand of the Great Creator, it was perfect. O, what a mess man has made of it!

As you look out on this morning you see the beautiful flowers the great fringe of green along the streets, the green grass and hear the twittering of the birds, and out from the leaf mold at your feet there springs with a certain gallant defiance, or creeps with a degree of shyness, species of flowers, beholden alone to the Creator for the perfection of their loveliness. Here we see the lavender glory of the phlox, the royal purple of the violet, the delicate hue of the bluebell, the numerous crimson, yellow or white beauties, some of them tiny indeed, but each and all testifying in their perfection of shape, color, and contour, the Divine intention that this world should be beautiful.

And as look on them all I am lost in amazement of how God's plans could have gone awry! How it happened that war, destruction, sin sickness and death and ugliness and despair, came in to challenge and battle with all this unoffending beauty.

Turning from the contemplation of all the beauty and glory of the world as it came fresh from the hand of the moulder and what do we behold? Conflict everywhere! Everything battling in some form for existence. The complexities of life beget numberless kinds of battle! The clash of armies on fields of battle is only a small part of the mighty conflicts that are being waged! The things that survive, do so only with the death and destruction of other things. The world is full of wars and rumors of wars—science battling with disease, politicians struggling for office, the average citizen battling for the opportunity of earning his daily bread.

But if we look for them we can still discover in this world of teeth and claw, spots of beauty that recall the age of innocence and happiness when Adam walked with pleasure in the Garden of Eden, at the dawning time, hand in hand with "the woman thou gavest." There are trees, busy with their annual miracle of leafage, pondering a redoubt lifting its crimson branches toward the sun. Over there is a stately elm spreading its great arms out, covered with a beautiful emerald sheen. Just beyond is a giant magnolia lifting its shimmering foliage-clad limbs to please the eye. All around is beauty and gladness. And nature and nature's God are still with us.

Though we cannot forgo the struggle that is going on all around us, we can cultivate an aspiration for the beautiful, the merciful, the good and we can assume the attitude that ugliness and pain and hate and death are interlopers in God's world, and we can still strive to drive them out.

So on this beautiful Mother's Day won't you take the time to—Think it over.

MAN'S "PRINCIPLES"

In this day and age we hear much talk, and see much in print about "principles" of men. The fact is a man's principles are influenced very largely by his need of bread and butter. Now before you condemn me for that expression, suppose you consider your own case. If you are a normal man your "convictions" that you are wont to boast of, are generally of the kind that are best suited to your personal welfare and these enable you to keep your job, your social position and your friends. You couldn't change them without losing something of importance and value to you, could you?

I once had a very intimate friend who was a minister. He had a desire to write a book, to become an author. I suggested to him that he start in and write a book, taking for his theme his job, and tell the truth about it. Do you know what he said? "If I should do that I wouldn't have any job after the book got to the public."

And that was probably the truth. He wouldn't have any job if he told the truth about his "convictions." So he kept them to himself simply because his opinions were moulded by his desire for bread and butter. And that is the truth about you, to a large extent. It isn't just a coincidence that your "convictions" happen to be so nicely fitted with your interests. They are formed, in some measure by expediency.

The high tariff advocate in for high tariff because it is to his interests to have high tariff. He would welcome free trade on what he has to buy and a high tariff on what he has to sell. His "principles" are formed by his personal interests. And so are yours.

When I hear a politician prating about his "principles" I at once begin to probe for his interests, and it is not hard to find. This doesn't mean that men are hypocrites, necessarily; it doesn't prove anything except that it is man's nature to be in favor of the things that benefit him, and opposed to those that tend to injure his pocketbook. That's all. Convictions, so called, are not products of reason, rather they are the products of selfishness. We favor the system under which we prosper and the one question that confronts us in considering a proposition is—not is it just—but "how much am I going to get out of it?" And on the answer to that question we base and build our "convictions," form our "opinions" and take our stand.

O, you can accuse me of being a pessimist and declare I am "dead wrong" in my estimation of the source of man's opinions, but the fact remains that man's "convictions" are simply a fence calculated to protect his own vine and fig tree, or a ladder which enables him to climb over into his neighbor's garden and pilfer his fruit. I have lived a good many years and I have been observing and it is my observation that no man advocates a "principle" which if put into practice, would benefit others at his expense.

The thought I am trying to get before you, crude as my efforts are, is this: A man's "principles" usually harmonize with the tone of his dinner bell. Think it over.

WHAT OUR PRESIDENTS SAY ABOUT EDUCATION

Calvin Coolidge: "If there is one thing more than another a citizen has a right to demand from organized society, it is education."

"Education for the children of all the people, extending from the primary grades through the university, constitutes America's noblest contribution to civilization. No child or youth in the United States need be deprived of the benefits of education suited to his age and degree of advancement."

Franklin D. Roosevelt: "We have faith in education as the foundation of democratic government. . . . Our schools need the appreciation and co-operation of all those who depend upon them for the education of our youth—the state's most valuable asset. Our schools are today enabling America to achieve great results, and they can help her to even greater accomplishments."

Woodrow Wilson: "Popular education is necessary for the preservation of those conditions of freedom, political and social, which are indispensable to free individual development. And . . . no instrumentality less universal in its power and authority than government can secure popular education. . . . Without popular education, moreover, no government which rests upon popular action can long endure. The people must be schooled in the knowledge, and if possible, in the virtues, upon which the maintenance and success of free institutions depend."

SURVEY OF REELERTON ROAD NOW BEING MADE

Survey work is now being completed on the Reelerton-Fulton-Metropolis road John Wright, magistrate in Hickman county and other citizens are back of the project, and it is hoped that this road will be surfaced in a short while.

Parsons Pi-Line

Sol Slocum says "some people stop and think—other just stop." Which reminds me of two business men who were talking about their office boys. One of them said, "My boy just worries me to death. He whistles all the time he is at work." "You are lucky," said the other man, "mine just whistles."

Next to radishes thottlessness is about the worst vegetable on the market. A man and his friend seated themselves at a table in a hotel when a very sedate young waitress approached. Eager for a little variety the man said to the young lady, "Nice day, little one." The pretty waitress replied, "Yes it is. And so was yesterday and my name is Grace and I know I am a pretty girl and have lovely blue eyes and I've been here quite a while and I like the place and I don't think I'm too nice a girl to be working here. My wages are satisfactory and I don't think there is a dance or a show in town tonight and if there were I would go alone. I'm from the country and I'm a respectable girl and my brother is the cook in this hotel and he was a college football player and he weighs over three hundred pounds—now what will you have, roast beef, roast pork, Irish stew, hamburger, or fried liver?" The man turned crimson. "O give me a bottle of milk and put a nipple on it."

The parson does a lot of talking but not all of it; the Ladies Aid and the men's club meet often. As Rastus Johnson said, "I was thinkin' what a nice peaceful world dis here universe would 'a been if it wasn't for the movements of the human underjaw."

Man is the only animal that can be skinned more than once. He is also the only animal that bites at anything. And he is the only animal that blushes or that needs to.

Yours for more of of Human Kindness.
