Business Is Steadily Climbing Upward

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAINS SHOW ADVANCE SALARIES RISE

Many Industries Putting on More Help; Business Generally Looks Up With Bright Hopes.

Business is still on the upswing despite the fact that the normal seasonal expansion has passed. Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., in a weekly review said this week.

More than $89,348,000 in public and private construction contracts has been let in the South this year. Of that sum $6,066,000 was contracted for private jobs—dwellings, stores, etc.—and The Manufacturers Record considers such awards a healthy sign.

Stocks, bonds, cotton and grains are higher on the markets this week. Sales by one of the country's largest automobile manufacturers have increased during the month of April, with consumption 3000 units greater than for same month last year.

Four hundred employees of Sears, Roebuck & Company at Memphis received ten percent increases in salary this week.

4,598 POUNDS BUTTERFAT BOUGHT HERE LAST WEEK

Farmers from rural districts in all directions out of Fulton brought 14,598 pounds of butterfat to local markets during the past week. Approximately $2,773.62 was paid out by cream stations here, with the farmers receiving an average of 19 cents per pound for their butterfat during the week. These figures do not include the amount paid for cream received from other sections.

MCDOWELL OFFERS TREMENDOUS VALUES

INJUNCTION AGAINST FISCAL COURT OF COUNTY SUSTAINED

In the J. E. Melton injunction suit against the Fulton county fiscal court heard here before Judge J. E. Warren in the Circuit Court last Friday, the injunction was sustained and the fiscal court restrained from further payment of any sum for the maintenance of the health department, or the employment of the county agent, home demonstrator, county poor farm supervisor.

Attorney Lee Hamilton of Louisville assisted county attorney E. J. Stahr, Jr. F. Nichols was acting attorney for Mr. Melton. The court held that, under the construction and the ruling of the Court of Appeals, the fiscal court was without authority to appropriate any sums whatever for the county health department or the county agent; or for any other purpose than strictly governmental functions, because the outstanding indebtedness of the county exceeds the income.

The injunction will not stop any further payment of any amount for the health and farm departments, but will prevent the fiscal court from carrying on road work. Opinion differs widely in regard to the withdrawal of operations in the health departments, and arguments are presented for both sides of the question.

"HAPPY JACK" PAYS VISIT TO FULTON

Lately "Happy Jack" Doty, 27, who attained much fame throughout the South while he lay in special oven at a Memphis hospital for nearly a year, in order that he might beat the Grim Reaper to retain his life, was in Fulton this week. It seemed none the worse for his narrow escape from death, and was smiling as usual.

It will be remembered that "Happy Jack" was injured in an automobile accident, when a car in which he was riding turned over and caught fire nearly taking his life. Two others died in the flames. The accident occurred while enroute to Reelfoot Lake from Memphis for an outing.

"Happy Jack" is a cousin of J. W. Stockdale of Fulton.

A MESSAGE FOR ALL THE PEOPLE

(EDITORIAL)

A local newspaper should place the interests of the community above everything else, and strive to promote the growth and development of the community in every respect. Serving the people unselfishly and impartially should be the highest ideal of any local newspaper. It is the "home" newspaper which boosts the town, which takes the lead in every enterprise that has for its purpose the upbuilding of the community.

We frequently hear it said that the old time independent spirit of the newspaper is gone; that its editorial policy is now subservient to the business office. Yet this is far from always being true. There is more unselfish idealism in the average local newspaper than in any other business enterprise. It frequently speaks out in a way which it believes will be for the good of the nation and the community.

The local newspaper should be the principal booster for the community, and should do its boosting often without hope of material reward. Unfortunately the community without such a newspaper. An untrammelled press, swayed only by the best interests of the people, is one of the greatest benefactors the people can have. Freedom of the press should make a newspaper a public forum, through which any citizen is privileged to speak his mind on any subject of community welfare.

Never was the time more imperative than now for careful, honest and business-like administration of the government. President Roosevelt with his unbounded courage and initiative, is proving to the American people what individual leadership and well thought out plans will do in bringing about drastic readjustments for the improvement of our national welfare, and in giving relief of the great multitudes he represents. He has shown his willingness to give succor and help to the masses.

This newspaper has striven, and will continue to strive, for the best interests of all the people. We are proud of our friends who have come to us to express their appreciation of the efforts we are making. We believe that the public at large feels that we have at heart our community—above everything else. Being a native of this community, we have watched its progress and its trials. A city is nothing more than a large group of individuals who have joined hands in mutual regard to compose a community. When you live in a community long enough, and you are inclined to study human nature and observe the ups and downs of mankind, your sympathy goes out to friends in their sorrow. When they are happy you are happy. So after all, we are so closely allied in our interests that it is vitally important that we pull together for the common good of all.

In this period of reconstruction very grave and pregnant problems face every man elected by the people to represent them in the halls of justice. Every man chosen by the people should feel that he bears a deep responsibility, and should strive with all his strength to serve them in a faithful and unswerving manner.

With millions of people suffering throughout this great nation of ours. With thousands of children undernourished and poorly fed. With whole families wiped out by improper care and disease. With hundreds of thousands traveling back and forth across the country in search of work; with crime and lawbreaking increasing—it is no time to dabble in politics. What this country needs and every community in it needs, is honest, square-shooting men, men who will resort to sound and REAL STATESMANSHIP in order to bring about readjustments in our economic life.

"AM I NOT MY BROTHER'S KEEPER" should be their motto, and all personal aggrandizement should be forgotten in an effort to restore the multitudes to a peaceful life, health and happiness. It's a big undertaking, but it must be faced if our community and civilization is to recover. Every community has its own problems to work out. The people have their part in this work. Too frequently the overburdened taxpayer and citizen has neglected to go to the polls and vote. But today they are awakening and realize that something must be done. All indications seem to point to an unusually large vote at the polls this year.

Fulton and Fulton county have some very capable and public spirited citizens. Many have declared themselves on questions of vital importance to the people, and they have not been slow or timid words either. Candidates running for office should have a platform and live up to it, after the people have taken them at their word and elected them on it. Mealy-mouthed and fence-straddling as quite commonly known in old-time politics have fell by the wayside. THE PEOPLE WANT NONE OF IT!

This is a day of decision—WHEN OUTSPOKEN STANDS must be taken on issues affecting the welfare of the people.

REWARDS OF PUBLIC SERVICE

People who do public work, either in municipal or state office, or in community organizations, do not usually realize all the advantages that come to them from this service. Neither does the public appreciate in many instances the services that these public-spirited citizens give unstintingly.

Many men of this type sometimes fill paid positions but they get very little compared with what they could earn in business. Or if they are taking unpaid work in organizations they give a great amount of work without any compensation whatsoever.

Those who hold the offices and serve on committees in all our local organizations perform a task that often seems rather thankless. If they do fine work, and strive to protect the public's interest, they often receive very little recognition of their efforts, and sometimes are even wrongly criticized when criticism is not due. Public office is much harder to fill to the satisfaction of everybody today than ever before, due to the general unrest of the people's mind in these times when a living is harder to earn than in more prosperous times.

Fulton has in its civic organizations men who are striving for the welfare of the entire community, giving their time and money for its interest. These men are to be praised for the work they are doing, and the community is indebted to them. Their efforts, backed and supported by the people, will bring about future developments that will benefit the community as a whole. When any worthy cause is brought up, let us all fall in line and co-operate in every way for the most good.

Remember when you are inclined to pass criticism to always stop long enough to think about the good that has been done by that particular person. Most people are human, and prefer what is just and right—do unto others as you would that others do unto you—has not been forgotten by any means.

Parade, Speakers, Mayor On Big Opening Program

WOMAN'S CLUB MAKES DRIVE FOR LIBRARY MAINTENANCE FUND

The drive for library maintenance funds was conducted here this week by the Woman's Club raised approximately $98, which is below that subscribed last year. The purpose of the drive was to raise enough money to continue operation of the free public library here, and pay the librarian's salary of $120 for the next six months. Insufficient funds have been obtained and the public is urged to co-operate in efforts to maintain the library.

The library is of much public benefit and service, and is used extensively, especially by the young people; and even more so during the summer months and vacation time. Every effort should be made to keep the library in operation, and if you have a contribution to make please co-operate with the Woman's Club in its efforts. Contributors may report to the library or to The Fulton County News. All money will be turned over to the chairman of the library board of the Woman's Club, Mrs. P. R. This parade will form at the lower end of Lake-st and march through the town and on out to the park where the remaining part of the program will be carried out. Bailey Huddleston will lead the parade through town. He will immediately followed by the local Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion, then the two clubs of Warners and Fulton Ice Co. who will play the first game. This will be followed by the Souk band and then all the cars and trucks in town that will participate are urged to do so.

Steve Wiley will deliver an address at the park and will present Mayor Paul DeMyer who will pitch the first ball marking the opening of the season.

The lid popped off the 1933 season of the Twilight League here Tuesday, when the first game of the year was waged between the Warners and White Ways. The Warner boys broke right out with a swift attack to cinch the first game in a 4 to 0. The second game was a toss up between Swift and the OK Laundry. This was a closely fought contest, and in the end each team had four points to their favor. The final score was 4 to 4. Game called on account of darkness.

"Situations in South America" was discussed at the meeting of the World's Affairs Club of Murray State College by Fred Walker, Tuesday morning, May 16. New officers were elected after Mr. Walker's talk.

Kenneth Oliver, of Cayce, Ky., was elected president of the club. Harry Ford was elected vice-president and Miss Evelyn Bondurant of Cayce, Ky., was elected secretary.

Mr. Walker said that Paraguay and Bolivia are in a dispute over a territory called Chaco. This territory has no definite boundary but is in the south central part of South America on the Paraguay river. It is a low, marshy mosquito infected region and has not been very important until lately. There is also poor transportation in this region. Mr. Walker stated.

"Paraguay owns Chaco at present but Bolivia wants it to get an outlet for her tin and oil. She wants to get control of the Paraguay river which is in this region. Bolivia has no coal to develop her tin industry so she wants to find an outlet to ship it to other countries."

If Bolivia gets this territory it will effect the United States for Bolivia would send her tin to the United States, according to Mr. Walker.

KANE'S BOOK GIVES OFFICIAL TRIBUTE TO GENIUS

"Famous First Facts," a 757-page book written by Joseph Nathan Kane of New York City and published this year by the H. W. Wilson Company officially credits Nathan B. Stubblefield of Murray, Ky., with the honor of demonstrating the first radio broadcast in 1892 and the first radio marine telephony in 1902.

Accompanying the article in the book is a half-page reproduction of the picture of "First Demonstration of Wireless Telephony, March 20, 1902." The photograph was provided by L. J. Hortin, director of publications at Murray State College, to whom a credit line is given in the book.

The excerpts follow: "THE FIRST RADIO BROADCAST was demonstrated by Nathan B. Stubblefield in 1892. He was the first person to receive the voice by air without the aid of wires. He gave a public exhibition of his invention on January 1, 1902, and on May 30, 1902, in Fairmont Park, Philadelphia, Pa., his voice was heard a mile away from the transmitter. He obtained patent No. 877,357 on May 12, 1898, but due to his peculiar idiosyncracies did not permit knowledge of his invention to be spread throughout the world. Inability to obtain a fabulous sum for his invention, as well as fear of impairing its secret before the patent was granted, deprived him of the fame which by right of priority would have been his."

"THE FIRST RADIO MARINE DEMONSTRATION of wireless telephony was held on board the steamer 'Bartholdi' on the Potomac River, March 20, 1902. The apparatus and equipment used was the invention of Nathan B. Stubblefield of Murray, Ky.

Mr. Kane, author of the book, mailed Mr. Hortin a personally autographed copy of his book which is listed for sale at $3.50. The H. W. Wilson Company is one of the foremost publishing houses in the world and is known for its Reference Shelf books which are accepted authorities on all kinds of statistical information.

In the introduction to the book Mr. Kane states: "The purpose of this book is to present the real facts in the hope of placing the laurel wreath on those who deserve it. There is not attempt here to remold public conceptions, but merely to present impartial facts."

The author also calls attention to the fact that many persons are frequently credited with the same invention, but he adds: "Whenever rival claims have been put forth, the one best substantiated has been given credence. Only those 'first' for which there are definite records are included."

CIVIC CAMPAIGN

Of all the parasites, the human species is the least tolerable. It is possible to find a reason in nature for every kind of parasite save the human kind, for there is no reason natural or invented, which can excuse any man for not standing on his own feet. And yet, hosts are primarily to blame. The parasite cannot fasten save where he is permitted.

"The Old Mill Wheels Are Turning"

Perhaps it is just as well to look on the bright side. For every dark cloud has a silver lining. The darkness is rapidly disappearing, and the silver is returning to the surface, from where it has been hidden. And after we have passed over the rough places, we will be wiser and richer in experience.

As time rolls on people still live on. One of the necessities of life is bread. For 25 years Browder's Mill has been supplying the people of Fulton, and the surrounding community with flour of the highest quality, striving at all times to supply the people with the very best flour that modern machinery and skilled millers can produce.

ted to. Disease germs can lodge only in an unhealthy body. Industrial parasites can lodge only in a business whose pulse is running below normal. The parasite is not an intake, but a drain, nor does he drain off waste, he drains the vigor and responsibility of his victim—he it man or business.

The old idea of "everyone for himself" in a city is now seen to be obsolete, and a community where that spirit prevails will not make much gain in population or wealth. The people must get together, show their willingness to co-operate, and someone must do a good deal of work. Some must contribute some money.

Some cities have spread-eagle speeches on civic progress and improvement, but they do but little real work. After absorbing a good dinner and applauding the good speeches, the people go home and forget all about it until the next dinner.

What is needed to accomplish progress in a city, is for some organization or organizations to survey the needs of the place, decide what are the more obvious lacks, and go to work to supply these deficiencies. That takes organization, system and energy, but the results pay many times over.

OLD-TIME REVIVALS.

The old-time revival was good enough for the old time because it succeeded in doing the main thing it was intended to do. It brought men face to face with the opportunity for decision and it caused them to decide in considerable numbers to live the Christian life. The modern revival does not always do this. It produces spectacular "trail hitters" a very large proportion of whom are already church members and who take that opportunity to shake the evangelist's hand just for the sake of doing it. As for the others, large numbers give way to the "spirit of the occasion," and offer very little evidence of changed lives and firm faith.

The old-time revival and the simple, old-time religion of our forefathers is what the honest and true man wants and needs.

FLAVIOUS B. MARTIN

Flavius B. Martin, Commonwealth Attorney of the First District, should be returned to office. Mr. Martin has given twelve years of efficient and faithful service as commonwealth attorney, and has proven beyond doubt his capabilities and integrity in serving the people in this capacity.

All who know him recognize his impeccable character and innate personality. There is not a better read man of the law in this district, and he has consistently carried out the duties of his office with favoritism and partiality toward none. His every action in protecting the commonwealth of this district has been governed by the letter of the law.

When the people go to the poles in the August primary, they will do well to take in consideration the qualifications and past record of Flavius B. Martin. With crime steadily increasing, and justice to be handed down in our courts, it would be unwise to place a prosecutor of unknown quantity in an office so important as that of commonwealth attorney.

Mr. Martin's record and experience are outstanding reasons for replacing him in that office.

JAMES BOWLIN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

James Bowlin, son of Ernest Bowlin, of Clinton, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Crutchfield Wednesday night of last week, died of cerebral hemorrhage at the Curlin-Neill hospital.

Mr. Bowlin was a young man being only 19 years of age. He and several friends were riding in an automobile on the highway near Crutchfield enroute to Fulton, when their car collided with a berry truck. After the crash he was found unconscious and seriously injured. Little hope was held out for his life from the first, altho every medical aid was given.

RECOVERING FROM A SNAKE BITE

L. F. Veatch, north of town, who was bitten by a snake while working in his corn crib last week, is reported recovering. He was given treatment at the Curlin-Neill hospital.

SURVEY ROUTE OF PIONEER HIGHWAY PROJECT IN STATE

Mayfield—Engineers of the State Highway Department have begun a survey which probably means that the Fulton-Metropolis highway, one of the oldest road projects in Kentucky, may become a reality. A crew of state engineers is already going over the proposed route, and citizens in three counties are urging construction of the highway.

The proposed route would be a direct route from Fulton to Metropolis missing Mayfield entirely. Old plans routed the highway in the vicinity of Fulghum, Dublin, Fancy Farm, Pottsville, Lowes, Melber, Lovelaceville, Massac, and north to Metropolis. A survey of the route was made years ago and blue prints of the survey were lost when the State Highway Department headquarters burned in Frankfort a few years ago.

Think It Over

BY THE MEDITATOR

If You Like This Column Tell Us.

ARE YOU INDEPENDENT?

"I don't care what people think; I'm independent."

I heard a man make such a declaration at the court house the other day. He was expressing an opinion. I wondered if he knew how far off he was. The fact is, no man or woman can go through life wholly independent of others, independent of their neighbors and friends. Yet it is not an uncommon thing to find men and women who take the attitude this man took—that whatever they do or say concerns no one but them; men and women who believe they should be permitted to follow solely the dictates of their own judgment.

I have seen radical reformers and agitators start out to rule the world according to their ideas, but they always find certain established rules and practices. They cannot do just as they please. And so it is with individuals when they attempt to go their own way without regard for the wishes and rights of others. Human rights are human rights, whether it be in the seats of the mighty or the humblest homes of the lowly and where human rights are respected. Where people are friendly and considerate of others, there is an ideal community.

I have observed that adopting the policy of respecting the opinions of others, and at the same time being firm in your own convictions, need not destroy your own initiative or crush ambition. Some of the most courteous people I have come in contact with in my life have been the "most pronounced in their own views. But they did not attempt to force them on others. Neither did they attempt to travel their own way through life, crushing and stamping out the lives of all who disagreed with them. Think it over.

It is all too seldom in these days that an individual can really sound a note of distinction and live in a separated type of life in the untrammeled liberties of his own choice. If he tries such a life amid the crowd, we call him a "nut." If he goes off alone in patient pursuit of his desires, we call him a hermit. However, for both "nut" and hermit we have an inquiring interest. We cannot but admire the individuality that will persist in its individualism. The crowd that so completely conceals most of us menaces us like the huge walls of a great prison.

To live is more than to make a living. Progress requires that each man make his own living by lending himself to the general plan. If all he gets out of it is his living, he is like the man who goes on cleaning out the gutter while the king's pageant sweeps by. More than half of life is to know the times in which we live.

You will be told that those copy-book maxims of honesty and decency and justice are now hopelessly out of date. This country would be all the better for having a mammoth edition of these old copy-books circulated throughout the continents. They should be read and digested by politicians and public servants of all kinds.

Never leave off studying, for when a man feels that he has come anywhere near mastering a subject, then nine times out of ten he's slipping.

Cleanliness is one of the strongest factors in the advancement of the individual—spiritual as well as physical cleanliness.

Life owes no man anything. But every man may make of life what he will. Environment is man-made. Roll your own.

Have a reason or the hope that is within you, or back of every feeling there's a reasonable cause.

Dollars and cents paid do not correctly denote value, for foolish men have paid enormous sums for the cheapest things in life.

The proneness to observe weaknesses in others is too often the manifestation of a reflex influence.

The bigness in every man is best exemplified in his ability to do team work, for any darn fool can work by himself.

This is moral perfection: To live each day as though it were the last; to be tranquil, sincere, yet not indifferent to one's fate.

Rich is the person who can count among his acquaintances a group of trusty friends.

Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body.

Individual happiness is experienced only as one has promoted the happiness of others.

The more one knows the more he realizes how comparatively little he's really acquainted with.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

By J. Paul Bushart.

Formation of Reelfoot Lake

Continuing the history of this section. An earthquake was felt December 27, 1841, being the severest since the earthquake of 1811 which formed Reelfoot lake. It is appropriate here to give a full account of the formation of Reelfoot Lake. Dr. Lewis F. Linn, U. S. Senator from Missouri, who witnessed that severe phenomenon wrote in 1836 as follows:

"It was the most alarming and extensive earthquake, the most serious in its effects, that ever occurred within the United States east of the Rocky mountains. It spent its force in Kentucky and around New Madrid, Mo. But it shook the entire Mississippi valley to its center and extended its vibrations all over the Ohio valley to Pittsburgh and beyond. It passed the Alleghenies and their connecting mountain barriers and died away along the shores of the Atlantic Ocean.

"During the continuance of this appalling seismic experience, that started by distant rumbling sounds, succeeded by discharges as if a thousand pieces of artillery were suddenly exploded—the earth rocked to and fro. Vast chasms opened, whence issued columns of water, sand and coal, accompanied by hissing sounds, caused perhaps by the escape of pent-up steam; while ever and anon flashes of electricity gleamed thru the terrible clouds of night, rendering the darkness doubly horrible.

"The Mississippi river current was driven back on its source with the greatest velocity for several hours, in consequence of an elevation of its bed. But this river was not to be stayed. Its accumulated waters came booming on, and overtopping the barrier thus suddenly raised, carried everything before them with resistless power. Boats, then floating on the surface shot down the declivity like an arrow from a bow, amid roaring billows and the wildest commotion.

"The day that followed this night of terror brought no solace in its dawn. Shock followed shock. A dense black cloud of vapor overshadowed the land, thru which no struggling sunbeam found its way to cheer responding hearts. Man in silent communion with himself was compelled to acknowledge his weakness and dependence on an everlasting God. Hills disappeared; lakes were found in their stead. Numerous lakes became elevated ground, over the surface of which vast heaps of sand was scattered in every direction. In many places the earth for miles was sunk below the general level of the surrounding country, without being covered with water, leaving an impression in miniature of a catastrophe much more important in effects, which has preceded it ages before."

In a keelboat moored to a small island in the Mississippi, about 18 miles below the boundary line of Ky.-Tenn., the crew (all Frenchmen) were helplessly frightened by the terrible convulsion. This was just before two o'clock in the morning of December 16, 1811. At 2:00 a. m. another, only less terrible shock came, a shock which made a chasm in the island four feet wide and over 300 feet long. Twenty-seven shocks, all distinct and violent were counted before daylight. Others continued every day until December 21 with decreasing violence. Indeed, they were repeated at intervals until February, 1812. The center of the violence was ascertained to be about Island 14, twenty-two miles below New Madrid, Mo., which is opposite Fulton county, Ky. An eye-witness near New Madrid, on a flatboat loaded with produce bound for New Orleans has narrated the scene. For mutual protection and self-defense several of these boats kept in company for safety against the southern Indians.

"Ducks, geese, swans and various other aquatic birds, whose flocks were quietly resting in the eddies of the river, were thrown into the greatest tumult, with loud screams expressed their alarm in accents of terror. Violent agitation of the shores, tremendous bubbling, boiling of the waters of the Mississippi in huge swells, rolling of the waters below back upon the descending stream. The sandbars and points of the islands gave way, swallowed up in the tumultuous bosom of the river, carrying down with them the cottonwood trees, crashing, cracking, tossing their arms to and fro, as if sensible to their fate, while they disappeared beneath the flood. The water of the river, which the day before had been tolerably clear, being rather low, changed to a reddish hue, and became thick with mud thrown up from the bottom; while the surface lashed violently by the agitation of the earth beneath, was covered with foam which, gathering into masses the size of a barrel, floated along on trembling surface.

"The earth of the shores opened in wide fissures, closing again; threw the water, sand and mud in huge jets, higher than the tops of the trees. Atmosphere was filled with a thick vapor or gas, to which the light imparted a purple tinge, altogether different in appearance from the autumnal haze of Indian summer, or that of smoke. Those on the boats tried to keep them in mid-stream for safety, while others were overwhelmed by caving banks of the shores. Many wrecked on old trees and snags thrown up from the bottom. Sulphurated gases that were discharged during the shocks tainted the air with their noxious effluvia, and so strongly impregnated the water of the river to the distance of 150 miles below that it could hardly be used for any purpose for a number of days."

New Madrid which in 1805 contained 300 to 400 inhabitants was almost depopulated. The people fled from the scene. The reasons so few were destroyed was due to their dwellings being built of wood instead of stone or brick. The "great shake" was so severe at St. Louis that domestic fowls fell from the trees as if dead, crockery and chinaware fell from the shelves and were cracked from the ground to the top leaving wide fissures in their walls. Earth cracks can be traced in the bluffs on the Kentucky side of the Mississippi, but are more conspicuous on the Missouri side near New Madrid and in Obion county, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiggins spent Sunday in Palmerville, Tenn.

Mrs. J. R. Foster, who has been the guest of her brother, R. H. Wade left Saturday for Mariana, Ark. to visit before returning to her home in Okla.

Mrs. C. M. Bone of Clinton was a week end guest of her mother, Mrs. R. J. Lega.

Mrs. E. C. Graham and children of Obion were guests of Mrs. R. T. Taylor.

WATCH YOUR STEP

(By 'ME')

Some of Fulton's young men had "the badger game" played on them recently. You know that old game where you are led to believe one thing, and it turns out to be a "raspberry"—and oh my, is "my face red" with hundreds of people looking on while they were taken "for a ride" by one of broadest jokes known.

It is said that the Fulton County Taxpayers League is going to invite candidates to address that body on the platform they have chosen in making the race. It seems the taxpayers want to know what they may expect after the election.

One of our city's wisecrackers who enjoys a good laugh on the other fellow, got a bitter dose of his own medicine last week. It fairly took the wind out of him, and since then things have been "all quiet on the western front." Just after pulling one of his pet jokes on a "suffering" friend, he accidentally stepped on a banana peeling, and like that old saying his "feet flew up and hit the ceiling." He landed in a bad crack-up. No bones broken but his feelings were terribly hurt.

In Judge Warren's court here last week, the local police department was commended for the handsome way they prepare their cases for trial. Everything seems to go off like clockwork in the court room when a culprit caught by the police here is given trial. You'll have to hand it to our police department for the efficient way they dig down after the evidence. Is it necessary to warn lawbreakers to watch their step?

All you young love birds listen to this one. How would you feel if you were parked somewhere, and a big, bold highwayman came right up and commanded you to "stick them up?" That's what happened to one of Fulton's young men and his "best girl" not so long ago. They were scared half out of their wits according to what we gather, and take it from me they'll think twice before such a predicament occurs again. It might have been only a practical joke, but any way it was serious and dangerous business.

A well known man about town has a new car. It's a whiz of a car, and he thinks so much of it that you see him out "currying and petting" it like a thoroughbred. Some say that his wife is beginning to believe that it is alienating his affections, and is growing a wee bit jealous. Now, madame! Don't be like that. Just borrow "the boat" for a while and put it through 150 paces—you'll fall for it, too.

Women, judging from appearances, must be more romantic than men. Did you ever notice how the young ladies go for some of the screen stars—take Clark Gable and Bing Crosby, for instance. They are always at the show to see "their favorite," and dreams and fancies are rampant. You can see them bubbling over with that spark of vivacious romance, and you should hear the comments they pass.

Parsons Pi-Line

The parson observes that in spite of the fact that many say they are looking for a job they nearly always shy around one when it gets in their way. Even tramps are in a hurry to catch a train when they are asked to do something about the house. Our advice to folks today is: when you come to the crossroads choose the one that has a little up grade. There is no free gate to anything worthwhile. Not to skill nor health, nor to success, nor friendship, nor even to the lasting love and respect of those who are nearest and dearest to us. These are the items that make up the best income that any human being can have, and the sum of that income will be measured by the sum of what we are willing to pay to get it.

Every little bit added to what you have makes that much more to lose. If you don't want losses to hurt you arrange to have nothing to lose. The things in life which have the highest value we really can lose once we really possess them. Let's invest in the coin of the Kingdom of God.

We might get alone pretty well now if the government would let us keep our tax money and take the rest. Maybe these new sales taxes and "breakfast taxes" are going to take the rest any how and then we will have nothing to worry about then at all.

Sometimes the parson has folks to say to him, "I wish I could live my life over again. I'd be a better man." A person once asked, "Can you tell me the way to heaven?"

"Certainly," I replied, "Turn to the right and keep going straight." "Don't cry over a mashed toe. Start just where you are and live just as hard as you can until you die."

If you bump your crazy bone, just comb your hair right and the bump won't show.

QUILTING

An all-day quilting was held last week at the home of Mrs. John Adams on Church-st. Thirty guests were present, each guest bringing their own plate of food. One quilt was finished, another partially finished.

an interesting ceremony marking the unveiling of "The Crucifixion," an oil painting by Mrs. Monette Willingham, who gave it to the church in honor of her mother, Joe Davis received the painting for the church with Rev. Fain leading in prayer for the donor.

Mrs. Willingham worked on this painting for four years, and it is a beautiful piece of art. It now hangs in the spacious auditorium of the Methodist church. The artist has done many works of art, but this is regarded as her outstanding accomplishment. The following comment about the unveiling is made by one of Mrs. Willingham's friends:

Sunday morning at the Methodist church an exceptionally beautiful tribute was paid motherhood when an inspirational painting of The Crucifixion was formally presented. The pastor, Rev. Galen Fain, praised the skill of the artist and donor who had labored lovingly and reverently for four years to complete this most excellent reproduction of one of the world's most revered paintings; and commended her for presenting it to the church at this time in appreciation of her mother, Mrs. Maude Reed Parsons.

The unveiling deeply affected the congregation. J. D. Davis graciously accepted the gift for the church and Rev. Fain offered a fervent dedicatory prayer. All the citizens of Fulton join the Methodist in their appreciation of the gift which hangs in the nave just back of the pulpit. The painting is 52x72 inches and is enhanced by an 8 inch hammered brass frame. It depicts our blessed Saviour on the Cross with His mother and the beloved disciple, John, standing near; His aunt and Mary Magdalene are kneeling. In the rear are the Roman soldiers. It appears that the Cross has just been placed in position, blood flows from the nail-lacerated hands and feet. One can easily imagine the Saviour as just having said to His mother, "Woman, behold thy son," and to St. John "Behold thy mother."

We are visibly reminded "that we are bought with a price"; saved by His blood. It recalls the noblest of the Bible. Everyone present felt the sublimity of the hour. The modest young artist deserves our unreserved praise and eternal gratitude.

Kelly Lowe, Fulton's well known restaurant operator, was missing a Chevrolet coach Sunday night, when thieves stole his car from under the eyes of Mrs. Lowe, who had stopped at the home of her sister in East Fulton. Mrs. Lowe left the car running at the curb, and saw the car go off as it was driven away by the thieves.

The machine was recovered Tuesday morning near Water Valley. The seat covers were badly damaged the trunk, two extra wheels with metal covers were missing. The license tag had been exchanged for a Trigg county plate. When found the car was abandoned.
