Warriors On The War Path In C. of C. Drive

War has broken out in Fulton, and the aright citizens are either joining one of the two factions or are taking to the tall timber in an effort to keep out of the fight.

Big Chiefs Shankle and Gus Bard have gone on the "war path," to procure new members for the Chamber of Commerce, and the streets echo with the war-cries of the Reds and the Blues. "Chief Joseph" (Joe Davis) followed by "Chief" Fall, are on the trail early and late with War Chief Bard in close touch, steering the campaign of the Blues.

Head Chief Shankle is not quite so much in evidence, but the echos of his big "War Drum" may be heard rumbling forth from his wigwam in the City National Bank, and his many sub-chiefs may be seen scouting along the highways and byways of the city, their trusty "blanks" in hand and brandishing a well sharpened pencil.

Chief Fall's mighty war whoop is frequently heard, resounding through the streets and the number of scalps that he has hidden away for the great pow-wow on February 10th can only be guessed at, while the trophies of the Reds will certainly make a great showing at the final smoking of the peace pipe.

The only safety for the "pale faces" is to become "blood-brother" of one or the other tribes, as there will be no quarter for the unattached.

When such a bunch as Shankle, Bard, Davis, Fall, Franklin, Clarence Pickering, Roberts, Clyde Williams, Joe Browder, Lon Jones and a few others of their well known persuasive powers start out to get a man to "join up" there is very little chance of escaping, and our advice to any one that is approached by the "braves" is to surrender at discretion, because one of the other sides is going to land you.

Both chiefs sent out the War Arrows recently, bidding the members of their tribes to gather for the war dance, and when the two bands become fully organized there will be a broad trail of prisoners to the war lodges of the two great warriors.

Take warning in time and avoid the slaughter by joining one of the bands at once, or your teepee will be the scene of a "horrible catsafterme."

GOODMAN MURDER CASE AT UNION CITY

Not since the famous night-riding cases has so much attention been given a trial as that of Gilbert Goodman, this week at Union City, Tenn. murder in the first degree for killing night Policeman Moss of that city.

The killing of Policeman Moss brought about a general clean-up of all suspicious characters in the Tennessee town. Indignation meetings were held, resulting in the organization of a league of the best citizens for protection and to prevent, if possible, another deplorable murder.

It was the second policeman wilfully murdered in that city at short intervals and was enough to stir up the wrath of all who respect law and order.

When Goodman's case was called for trial Monday, a motion was made before the court for a change of venue, which the court overruled, after hearing the evidence of many witnesses. A motion was then made for continuance of the case, which was also disallowed by the court. The defendant, Goodman entered a plea of not guilty, waived a formal arraignment and a jury was empaneled and the hearing of evidence proceeded.

Hon. R. A. Pierce and Joe Fey represented the defendant and the State by Attorney-General John M. Drane, assisted by C. N. Lannom, H. H. Lannom and Fenner Heathcock, city attorney.

Who Will Be the Next President?

The end of the fiscal year of the Chamber of Commerce will occur on the 10th of next month and it is time for the leading members of that organization to begin thinking of whom they will elect to direct its destinies for the ensuing year.

The year of 1925 is bound to be one of the most important in the life of Fulton, and the careful selection of a president for the Chamber of Commerce is of the gravest importance to our city, as there will be a number of important matters to be handled by that body, and they must be placed in the hands of the most competent men that the community can select.

With the increased population that is sure to follow the demands for laborers due to the construction of the new terminal yards of the I. C. Railway, the housing problem will assume very serious proportions, and will undoubtedly reach the point where individual endeavor will not be able to cope with it, and then it will become the part of the Chamber of Commerce to step in and provide means for the rapid building of homes for the incoming workers, and the natural influx of business that will follow the increase in population.

While it is a fact that the Rotary and Lions Clubs will do their full share of this work, the Chamber of Commerce will have to bear the brunt of the struggle, both on account of its greater age and because of its more diversified membership, and the fine traditions for accomplishment that are a part of its history.

Our best men have been selected in the past to head the organization and the members should be most painstaking this year in seeing that the very best man available is drafted for its head and that he is supported by officers and a board of directors that will work heart and hand with him to accomplish the most good for the whole community.

ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM

Fulton will observe the fifth anniversary of National Prohibition Friday night at 7:30 at the First Christian Church.

There will be brief addresses by the city pastors and the best representatives of legal talent. The program will be instructive as well as entertaining.

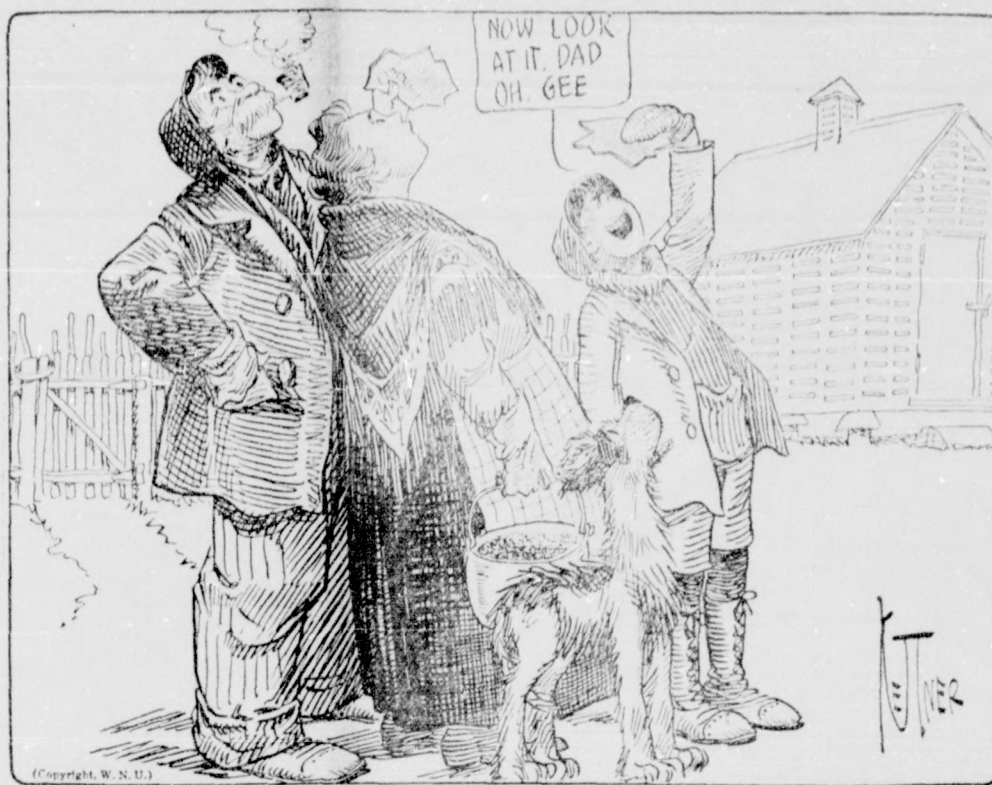

The public is cordially invited.

FULTON BOY IS MAKING GOOD IN MEMPHIS

Paul E. Bugg who is now working in Memphis, holds a nice position. His Fulton friends will be pleased to learn that he was recently promoted with a raise in salary. Paul is a young man of good moral character and attentive to his work. No wonder he is appreciated by his employer.

The Eclipse

Baptists to Complete Church Building

Campaign to Raise Funds Gets a Substantial Start at Sunday's Meeting

The mass meeting of the men of the First Baptist Church held last Sunday afternoon was a great success and a spirit of enthusiasm and unanimity prevailed. The purpose of the meeting was to ascertain from the man power of the church whether we shall go ahead with the building program and complete the building of the church house during the year. The cost of completing the building will be approximately thirty thousand dollars. The movement of the mass meeting was to launch a campaign to raise fifteen thousand dollars between now and the first of July. Forty men out of the crowd pledged five thousand dollars, besides others who pledged substantial support but were not in a position to state the exact amount they would put into the enterprise at this time. This leaves us more than twice as many more men besides 500 other members from which to procure the remaining ten thousand dollars.

The records of the building fund secretary shows that already nearly two hundred and fifty separate contributors are registered.

The building, when completed will be one of the best equipped and one of the handsomest church edifices in this section of the country. The congregation has already put into the building more than fifteen thousand dollars. When completed the church building property will represent a financial outlay of approximately sixty thousand dollars.

Pledges at the Sunday afternoon meeting ran from ten dollars to five hundred and fifty dollars. These pledges were made contingent upon raising the fifteen thousand. The rest of the men and women of the church, and their friends, should meet the challenge of these forty men and subscribe the other ten thousand dollars, otherwise we will have to stand a reduction in these subscriptions. This is not a big task for our people if every one will only do his duty.

We make the appeal to the conscience of every one who has the future of the church at heart. We are now in a position to take our place among the other churches and make ourselves felt in the country.

There is nothing quite as hard to overcome as indifference. We plead with every member of the church to get your shoulder to the wheel and altogether with one united forward push we can put this program over during the coming summer. "Don't put it off, but put it over."

Merchants Meet

A meeting of the merchants who recently put on the Trade Day Campaign was held at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday afternoon and the reports of the various committees who were in charge of the campaign were made.

It developed that a considerable fund in excess of the cost of the undertaking was left in the treasury and the meeting decided that as the efforts of the merchants had been such a great success that it would be well to put on another campaign in the near future, and carry the fund over for the next campaign.

The old committee of arrangements was continued under the efficient chairmanship of Lon Jones, and the addition of Paul DeMyer, representing the grocery trade, and Paul Hornbeak to represent the bakery trade, was made to the committee.

The chairman will call a meeting of the executive committee in a few days and arrange the details of the new campaign, and as soon as this is completed the members will be notified when it will start.

A short "Experience Meeting" was held and a number of the merchants expressed their ideas as to the benefits that accrued from the efforts of the merchants to increase their business. It was the firm opinion of nearly everyone that the campaign had been one of the most successful drives that Fulton had ever experienced.

Burglars entered the office of Swain-Karmire Lumber Company Sunday night and carried away their adding machine, typewriter and check protector. The thieves gained entrance by the window route. Nothing else was disturbed in the office.

MAUPIN MACHINE SHOPS VALUABLE ASSET TO FULTON

R. H. White, Formerly of the Illinois Central, Manager

The Maupin Machine Shops, located rear of Lake street is a valuable asset to Fulton's industrial life. Only recently B. D. Maupin purchased of Little & Read this valuable property and in the deal two handsome apartment houses in Memphis, valued at $50,000, became the property of Read & Little.

After buying the property Mr. Maupin got busy to obtain a manager and placed R. H. White in charge. Mr. White had been a valuable employee of the Illinois Central railroad company for years, and in selecting him as manager of the big shops did the wise thing, as he is a natural born machinist and a young man of good moral character and held in the highest esteem of all who know him.

Under his supervision the reputation for high-class work will be maintained. They do all kinds of steam fitting, acetylene and electric welding and make a specialty of machine work and auto repairing, employing only skilled machinists. The entire force formerly employed by Messrs. Read & Little were retained; R. Q. Moss, Jesse Jordan, Luther Pewitt, Paul Kendall, Tom Hayes and Bob Guinn.

RICHMOND MOORE DIES SUDDENLY

Richmond Moore, son of T. W. Moore, formerly of Clinton, Ky., died suddenly at his home in Brandon, Miss., Sunday night. The deceased was well known in Fulton and his friends will regret to learn of his untimely passing away.

AMERICAN LEGION BAN- QUET A BRILLIANT AF- FAIR

The American Legion Banquet Thursday evening, Jan. 23, at Smith's Cafe, was a delightful event and all who were fortunate enough to attend are loud in their praises upon the splendid spread and oratorical feast.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in national colors, with American flags predominating.

The music rendered by our Home band was a pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment.

Assisted by Legion members, Albert Smith served the dinner in a unique way. Every foot of space in the large dining room was taken up and seated at the long tables were more than one hundred Legion members and their guests.

As Commander and master of ceremonies, Ramsey Snow was equal to the occasion, and the evening's program was carried out to perfection.

The splendid talks should be an inspiration to the higher ideals of community life. The members of the American Legion deserve all that we can do for them and now that they are making a campaign for funds to establish a club house and permanent home for Fulton Post No. 72, they need your assistance in a substantial way.

As hosts, Legion members of Post 72 cannot be surpassed and Fulton is proud of its large membership of nearly 200 young men—the very cream of our citizenship.

Among the out-of-town guests present were R. D. Rose, Thomas Doss, Joe White, Dr. J. W. Dennis and Mr. Dollar of Milton Talley Post, Union City, Tenn.

Fulton guests—Hon. Heber Finch, city attorney, Dr. A. C. Boyd, rector Episcopal Church; Rev. O. J. Sowell, pastor First Christian Church; Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor First Baptist church; A. G. Baldrige, president Chamber of Commerce; Harry Murphy, president Lions club and Legion member; Joe D. Davis, president Rotary club, Ed. Hannephin, Exalted Ruler B. P. O. Elks; F. D. Clark of the Illinois Central R. R. Co.; J. H. Moore, editor Daily Leader; R. S. Williams, editor Fulton Advertiser; City Judge H. F. Taylor; H. F. McGinnis, local manager American Cigar Co.

NEW LAW FIRM

D. Fred Worth, late of the San Antonio, Texas, bar and Heber Finch, of Fulton, announce to their friends that they have associated themselves together for the general practice of law in all the courts of Kentucky, Tennessee and the Federal court, with offices in the First National Bank building in Fulton.

We are glad to welcome Mr. Worth to our city. He comes from the Alamo City of the Lone Star State, highly recommended as a gentleman, citizen and lawyer. He is not altogether a stranger in our midst, having visited the late Gus Fields in Fulton, making many friends and acquaintances. He is a brother-in-law of our live automobile dealer, Ira W. Little, and will be a valuable addition to the local bar. His partner, Mr. Finch is City Attorney and too well known for us to attempt an introduction.

Warren Graham, Junior member of the Graham Furniture Company, is in the markets replenishing stocks with handsome and up-to-date furniture, draperies and house furnishings.

The friends and acquaintances of Mrs. George Ridgeway sympathize with her in the loss of her son, J. W. Ridgeway, who died at the home of his mother on Jackson street, Friday, Jan. 16.

METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. J. O. Freeman, Pastor

Sunday school 9:30 a. m.
Epworth League, 6 p. m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday
7 p. m.
Preaching service both morning and evening, 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The Junior Missionary Society met this afternoon at the home of Elva and Charlott Davis at their home on Eddings street. The children presented an interesting program and enjoyed a very pleasant social hour.

Attorney and Mrs. Heber Finch announce the birth of a son, John Dwight, born Sunday at their home in Fair Heights.

Mrs. Kate Bondurant, who has been ill at her home on Eddings street is improving.

Miss Mollie Hall has returned home from Mayfield where she was in the hospital for treatment. Friends are glad to know she is doing nicely.

Mrs. Dave Lowe is quite sick at her home on Carr street. Friends wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. W. L. Carter left Wednesday to visit his mother and father, near Lexington, Ky.

The attendance at Prayer meeting is increasing. Mr. A. G. Baldridge was the leader for this week. Be a booster for this service. Come next meeting and bring a friend.

Mrs. Chas. Brann has recovered from her recent illness and resumed her place in the choir. We wish her much success in this venture and we will enjoy the children singing.

The Senior Epworth League of the M. E. church met last Sunday night at its usual hour. The leader for the evening was Milton Exum. He was ably assisted by Mayme Bennett, Mildred Graham, Louise Binford and Wade Joyner. A committee composed of Louise Binford, Mayme Bennette, Alexander Inman and Paul Kendall, was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions in honor of the late Mrs. Jessie Carter. There is a gradual increase in attendance and a good program was enjoyed by those present.

East Fulton Circle met Jan. 19, at the home of Mrs. J. S. Pope. This being the election of officers, business session opened with Mrs. W. R. Butt, presiding as the president of the V. M. S. Officers elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. J. S. Pope, captain; Mrs. Lon Jones, chairman of Devotional and Program; Mrs. Ernest Bell, treasurer; Mrs. Butterworth, agent for the voice; Mrs. T. M. Exum, chairman of social service; Mrs. J. A. Norment, Recording secretary; Mrs. Dick Bard, membership chairman.

In the absence of the president, devotional was led by Mrs. Lon Jones; prayer by Mrs. J. V. Freeman; Reading, "Southern Methodism," by Miss Kate Thompson, also a reading on "Sisterhood," which will be the central thought throughout the year, was given by Mrs. Jon Jones, followed by a very instructive talk by Mrs. Butt.

18 members present and 3 visitors. 5 visiting officers. Mesdames Butt, Barrett, Nolen and Moorehead and Winstead. Collection of dues. Adjourned by repeating the Lord's Prayers, to meet next with Mesdames McDade and Joyner. Meeting was turned over to the hostess who was assisted by Mesdames Erle Boone, Blanche Boone and Master Cecil Whelen in serving delicious refreshments.

LENIOUS DAVIS OF MAYFIELD, LOSES FOOT

Was Returning Home from Fulton When Accident Happened

Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 20.—An accident which cost the young man his right foot, and at the same time barely escaped his life, happened at the south end of the platform at the railroad station yesterday afternoon about 4:45 when young Lenious Davis, aged 22 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Davis, of southwest of the city, lost his right foot in alighting from a fast moving freight train on which he had come from Fulton. The accident was witnessed by a number of people gathering for the accommodation No. 121, and the company's physician, Dr. H. H. Hunt, was immediately summoned, as was the ambulance of McCurdy & Byrn, which made a hurried run to the place and took the young man to the Mayfield hospital where the foot was removed and other medical attention.

Fulton, Route Seven

Hunting season is over. Guns are silent; birds are again enjoying their freedom; bird dogs are lounging in the yards. If a good season for tobacco would come much would be handled the next few days; some are through stripping and some have only begun.

Mrs. Annie Roach spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Frank Ferguson, near Crutchfield, Ky.

Several boys and girls met at the home of Mr. F. D. McKinney, Saturday, January 10, and spent a delightful evening. Among the number were Misses Grace Crockett, Laura Hazlerigg of Fulton; Messrs. Fred and Tilghman Nanney of Route No. 7.

We feel proud of the fact that Martin will open a hospital Feb. 1. It will be a great convenience to the surrounding community. Why not erect one at Fulton?

We hope Pierce will succeed in procuring the canning factory. Then much of our vegetable crop will be utilized which would otherwise be wasted. Also, more employment for busy people. Wouldn't it be a dream if Fulton and Pierce were to be one united town? Nothing like push.

Mr. Albert Robey, formerly of Fulton, Route 7, but late a resident of Martin, Tenn., died suddenly at his home, Jan. 17, 1925. His remains were brought to Johnson Grove where the services were conducted by Bro. Doc Huggins, and Bro. Jones, the undertaker, after which his body was buried beside his wife and son, Benny, who preceded him several years. Mr. Robey was past 50 years old. Twice married. To the first union was born three boys and three girls, four of which still survive him. Also a wife and four brothers. Mr. Ely Robey of this route being one. The neighbors and friends extend their sympathy to the bereaved.

Mr. Clarence Shelton of Paducah, Ky., spent Monday with relatives in Fulton.

OPPOSES SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLAN

DEMAND WITHDRAWAL OF WATER BE STOPPED

RESOLUTION IS BITTER

Chicago Accused of "Brazen Spectacle of Trying to Induce Congress To Sanction a Bold Theft Into An Honest Act."

Cleveland.—The secretary of war is requested to urge Chicago to install a modern system of sewage disposal in the Chicago district in a resolution adopted by the Great Lakes Harbor Association her. The resolution protests against any congressional action diverting lake water for this purpose.

About 300 delegates from 80 Great Lakes cities attended the conference and subscribed to the resolution.

The fight is of interest to the entire Mississippi Valley as river leaders contend that the withdrawal of adequate water from Lake Michigan for Chicago's drainage system will permit the upper link in the lakes to Gulf waterway to function.

The resolution follows: With astounding disregard for the rights of her neighbors and in defiance of law and justice, under the pretext that the sanitary welfare of that city made the dilution system of sewage disposal necessary. Chicago has, for 20 years, been abstracting water of the Great Lakes in colossal quantities.

This abstraction of water has caused the lowering of the levels of the lakes to the injury of commerce, and raised the levels of the Illinois River to the injury of land owners of that region. The sewage which Chicago is carrying into the Illinois River is polluting the waters of that stream. Thus, to gain an advantage for a single community, a two-fold injury is inflicted.

The dilution system of sewage disposal employed by Chicago, once deemed both expedient and practical must today be regarded as the most gigantic engineering blunder of its time.

Chicago now presents the brazen spectacle of undertaking to induce the National Congress to sanction a bold theft into an honest act.

When the defenders of the Chicago water diversion realized that the amount question at issue was for the navigation, they immediately maintained the 10,000 cubic feet per second formerly demanded for sanitation are necessary for the operation of a proposed nine-foot barge channel across the State of Illinois. Anything in excess of 10,000 feet is unnecessary for channel navigation. The War Department has repeatedly and consistently held that such a large volume of water will create currents that will render navigation on the channel both difficult and dangerous. And to hold that this volume of water is necessary to render the Mississippi River navigable during the months of low water stages is even less tenable. It raises the question whether, in order to hold Mississippi River navigation for two months, the Great Lakes shall be robbed for 12 months in the year.

Awaits Result of the League Conference

Washington.—Conditions in Europe still preclude any move by the United States toward another arms conference in the opinion of President Coolidge.

The Washington government consequently is making no further move toward the calling of such a conference.

The White House authorized a flat denial of published stories that an arms conference would be called early in the spring.

Mr. Coolidge still feels that the United States should await the outcome of the move made by the League of Nations to bring about limitation of armaments, and should do nothing in the matter until the success or failure of that move is developed.

Tars Given Medals

Washington.—Secretary Wilbur commended George Maples, runner's mate on the United States ship Melville, and Herbert Jack Ross and Norman E. Hartman of the naval reserve force, for acts of heroism.

LAUDS U. S. FOR JOINING EUROPE

AMERICA AN "INSURANCE POLICY" ON INDEMNITY.

CITES GAIN TO FRANCE

"American Participation Beyond Price—We Should Have Been Glad to Pay for It" Declares French Minister.

Paris.—America's participation in European affairs by sharing in the Dawes annuities "is an insurance policy on the payment of reparations," Finance Minister Clementel told the Chamber of Deputies in making an explanation regarding the conference of allied finance ministers just concluded.

The bureau of Mr. Clementel's explanations of the results achieved at the conference was that France "for once had abandoned and ceded nothing."

"It was impossible to refuse America a participation in the Dawes annuities. The most important result is that America has been brought back to active interest in European affairs."

"It was our duty to associate America with the question of reparations during the entire duration of the Dawes plan."

Furrying to an interruption on the right who had shouted: "You paid a high price," Mr. Clementel said: "American participation is beyond price. It has cost us nothing. We should have been glad to pay highly for it."

Citing figures, Minister Clementel showed that the participation by America in the Dawes annuities would cause no detriment to France. He said:

"We obtained the repeal of the Wadsworth agreement under which yearly payments would have been most difficult during the first years. The most important result was to have brought America to active interest in European affairs."

Regarding negotiations with England, M. Clementel assured the chamber that no definite settlement could be made without ratification by Parliament. His closing words were a repetition of his expression of satisfaction that the United States was once more associated in the reparation question.

The finance minister stirred the chamber to enthusiasm by recalling Belgium's role during the war.

"It would have been unworthy of France to ask Belgium to make any concession before her priority was extinguished."

"She had the right to receive every last centime due her under priority," he added.

ORDER TEXAS RANGERS TO CEASE OPERATIONS

Adjutant General Gets Permanent Injunction.

Austin, Tex.—For the first time since 1874, when the Texas ranger forces were organized the State of Texas was without protection of that famous organization in compliance with a perpetual injunction granted by the fifty-seventh district court of San Antonio. The order to suspend operations was sent to the five ranger captains by Adjutant General Thomas D. Barton.

The order instructed the captains to suspend all operations until further advice from the adjutant general's department.

President Will Leave Consideration To Their Desires.

Washington.—President Coolidge will leave it to the Senate to decide whether it should consider the administration world court proposal at the special session at that body to be convened on March 4 to act on cabinet appointments.

The president will call the usual special session of the Senate to meet on inauguration day to act on nominations and will be guided by the desire of the Senate with respect to inclusion of consideration of the world court proposal in his call.

Roumania Seeks Loan.

Bucharest.—The minister of finance, the minister of industry and commerce and the governors of the National Bank of Roumania are on their way to London to conclude the details of a substantial loan which has been estimated as high as 20,000,000 pounds sterling. The objects of the loan are currency stabilization, railroad reconstruction and industrial development.

To Punish Sunday Workers

Indianapolis, Ind.—A bill which would make working on Sunday a misdemeanor punishable with a heavy fine was introduced in the Legislature. The only exceptions granted in the bill are for necessary labor and they are made contingent upon observance of another day of rest each week. Provisions against operating amusement and refreshment places on Sunday are contained in the bill.

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Winchester.—L. R. Veach, paperhanger and painter, attempted suicide by trying to shoot himself in the head.

Lexington.—As she was taking in a pot she had won in a poker game with high stakes, Mrs. Joseph Kearn fell dead across the table.

Columbia.—Herbert McLean is the first candidate to announce for a county office in Adams County. He seeks the Republican nomination for jailer at the coming August primary.

Paris.—Mrs. J. S. Banta of near Middlesburg, who overpowered a nurse at the Massie Memorial Hospital and leaped from the second story window while delirious, was in a serious condition.

Louisville.—Educational work to crystallize the demand for an automobile drivers' license law was recommended by J. E. Gilmore, Jr., manager at the annual dinner-meeting of the Louisville Safety Council at the Elks' Club.

Whitesburg.—Virginia Blankenship, 5-year-old daughter of Claude Blankenship, died of pneumonia which resulted from burns suffered in a fire at the Blankenship home in Allais, a mining town in Perry County below here.

Winchester.—The head of a dog, which was reported to have bit four persons in and near Winchester, and which was sent to the State Board of Health, shows indications of hydrophobia.

Lexington.—The Lexington sub-office of the United States Veterans Bureau, serving former soldiers of Central and the greater part of Eastern Kentucky, will be moved to Louisville from Lexington in the early spring.

Danville.—Stella Barnes, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harford Barnes, of Parksville, was found dead in her bed when the parents went to awaken her. Death was the result of strangulation caused by a violent attack of croup.

Hartsville.—W. B. Yocum of Saltville, this county, section foreman, has received $20 in gold from the Southern Railway for the best kept section of railroad between Danville and Lawrenceburg, and Lawrenceburg and Lexington.

Frankfort.—Three delegates, Miss Linda Neville, Desha Brockbridge, of Lexington and George Stoll, of Louisville, were named by Gov. W. J. Fields to represent Kentucky at the ninth International Prison Conference, to be held in London, Eng.

Frankfort.—A verdict of $2,500 against the United Casket Company, whose truck ran over Sarah Elizabeth Reeves, 6-year-old daughter of George M. Reeves, at Brook and Breckinridge streets, Louisville, January 6, 1922, was affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Leitchfield.—In the spelling contest held here to determine the champion of Grayson County, Harry Hatfield, 12 years old, of Big Clifty, a seventh-grade pupil, was chosen. He will go to Louisville to compete for the State championship in The Courier-Journal contest.

Hodgesville.—The Rev. Dr. J. L. Slaughter, former assistant to the Rev. Dr. J. McKee Adam at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, left the Buffalo Baptist Church, Luray County, to become pastor of the Central Avenue Baptist Church at Richmond, Va.

Frankfort.—Gov. W. J. Fields named W. E. Summs, of Woodford County; Joseph Harkins, of Prossburg; Dr. William H. Wilson of Frankfort; J. E. Robinson, of Lancaster and Carl King, of Lexington, delegates to represent Kentucky at the Southern Forestry Congress in Little Rock, Ark.

Frankfort.—The average price paid at warehouses in Kentucky for the 1923 crop of tobacco was $15.98 for one hundred pounds, and $15.92 for 100 pounds of the 1924 crop, in the month of December, the monthly report of all warehouses to Chas. Coleman, commissioner of agriculture.

Shelbyville.—The Fiscal Court was entertained by the Exchange Club and heard Prof. Kilpatrick, of the College of Agriculture, on the needs of a county farm agent. The court afterward appropriated $1,200 to supplement the amount locally subscribed and furnished by the Department of Agriculture for this and other farm extension work. The court also renewed the salary of the county road engineer, J. E. Robertson, for $2,100.

Mayfield.—The trachoma clinic and examination was held in this city and county, Dr. C. B. Robert, a specialist from the State Board of Health, and Miss Rickett, trained nurse, having arrived for the purpose. During the first part of the week the time was given over to visits throughout the county where any cases have been reported or are suspected, and the treatment rendered. Operations necessary were performed by Dr. Robert at his rooms at Hotel Hall, or in the rooms of the Health and Welfare League.

CUT LAND TAX IN TIMBER CRISIS

LOUISIANA'S LEGISLATIVE ACTION RECEIVES BIG INCENTIVE FOR REFORESTATION

Similar Measure Suggested for Kentucky—President of Hardwood Company Sees Early Advance in Retail Price of Hardwood, Due to Increased Demand For 1925.

Louisville.—Elimination of taxes on all lands in Kentucky where reforestation is under way as a solution for the timber crisis illness that is facing the state, was advocated by C. H. Sherrill, president of the Sherrill Hardwood Lumber Company, which owns 35,000 acres of hardwood timber land near Merryville, La.

Mr. Sherrill pointed out that reforestation would be carried out only on lands that as a rule will not produce sufficient crops to pay for their cultivation.

Mr. Sherrill sees an early advance in the retail price of all hardwood merchandise due to the sudden demand that has hit the industry thru the 1925 prosperity prospect route. An increase in retail prices of from 10 to 20 per cent, he predicted, he said.

"Manufacturers of automobiles, musical instruments and furniture dealers are drawing heavily on the wholesale lumber dealers," Mr. Sherrill said. "The reserve supply is only normal, with the rainy season at hand."

"Altogether I have never seen a brighter prospect for business in general than is witnessed now."

Mr. Sherrill was organizer and first president of the Hardwood Manufacturing Institute, which is now headed by E. B. Norman, of Louisville. Mr. Sherrill is also president of the Sherrill-Russell Lumber Company, of Paducah, Ky.

In discussing the reforestation idea, he pointed out that two of the South's largest lumber firms have taken up the plan purely from a business standpoint.

"Freeing the land of taxes by the Louisiana Legislature revived a big incentive for the reforestation movement," Mr. Sherrill said. "The hardwood companies have never taken up the idea because it would take from 100 to 150 years for the trees to grow to sufficient size, and in that length of time there might be an invention to take the place of hardwood."

Crittenden Has Woman Candidate.

Marion.—For the first time in more than twenty-five years, Crittenden County has a woman candidate. Twenty-five years ago Miss Mina Wheeler was elected county school superintendent and did splendid work in that office. From that day until this, however, no woman had undertaken to win an election in this county.

Miss Leatha Wilborn, for sixteen years deputy County Court clerk here and for many years county treasurer, has announced as a candidate for the office of County Court clerk subject to the action of the Republican primary in August. Miss Wilborn, who is very popular in all sections of the county, has many friends, both men and women, who are glad to see her get in the race which is regarded as one of the most important in this county.

Cock Fight Investigation

Frankfort.—Gov. W. J. Fields has requested Herbert Moore, county attorney of Clark County, to make a thorough investigation of the cock fight held last week in Clark County. Information was received by the Governor last week to the effect that a cock fight was to be held in Bourbon County. Upon receipt of the information the Governor wrote D. D. Cline, county attorney of Bourbon saying that he had been informed that a chicken fight was to take place in Bourbon County and urging an immediate investigation to ascertain the truth of the report.

State Approves Rail Extension.

Frankfort.—Extension of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad to catch business in Eastern Kentucky and in the coal area has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to Richard Tobin, secretary of the State Railroad Commission. The company will take over twenty-eight miles of road from Ashland to Seaton, Ky., on the Long Fork and Miller's Creek Railroad lines, he said.

Senator's Brother Dead.

Covington.—John P. Ernst, president of the Covington Savings Bank and Trust Company, died at the Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati. Mr. Ernst, a brother of United States Senator Richard P. Ernst, was born in Covington, November 16, 1845, where he spent the greater part of his life. He was a son of the late William Ernst, who was prominent in Kentucky banking circles.

Dispute Telephone Rates.

Owensboro.—The city commissioners have informed the officials of the Cumberland Telephone Company that they will not agree to allowing telephone charges under a unified system of more than $3 for residence phones and $6 for business houses. The officials of the telephone company threaten to take the matter to Federal Court, claiming they will be entitled to a rate of $2.25 for residences and $3 for business houses under the expenditures they propose to make in Owensboro combining the two systems.

W. M. Hill & Sons

A Firm That is a Real Asset to Fulton

A business concern that is adding much to Fulton's growth is that of W. M. Hill & Sons, contractors and brick manufacturers. In our rounds over the city, we stop here and there to admire the beautiful work of the firm, because there are few houses built of brick in Fulton but what the work has been done under the supervision of this firm. Employment is given to a large number of persons, skilled in masonry, plastering, etc. The senior member of the firm can tell you exactly the number of brick in practically every business block and public building in the city.

In the manufacture of brick, they are in the lead, and ship out of Fulton carload after carload of their products. This helps to bring cash money into town which circulates through all channels of business. They pay, perhaps, the highest wages of any business concern in Fulton; some of their skilled workmen demand $11.00 and $12.00 a day.

All of the members composing the firm are Fulton products. They have grown up with the town and believe in its future and will go the limit in any enterprise for the upbuilding of the community.

We need more firms like this—firms that are valuable assets to the town.

BILL TO REGULATE FISHING ON REELFOOT LAKE

Proposed by State Game Warden, Claude Williams, of Tennessee

A bill to be entitled "An Act to regulate hunting and fishing on Reelfoot Lake and to provide for the supervision of the Lake, the islands, the lands owned or to be owned by the State, and to provide penalties for any violation of this Act, and giving grand juries inquisitorial power over any violations of this Act."

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee that shall be unlawful for any person or persons to catch, kill or wound any fish in what is known as Reelfoot Lake, by poison, dynamite, giant powder, gun powder, fish berries, lime or any other poison or explosive. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be a felony, and upon conviction, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of not less than one year and one day, nor more than five years.

Section 2. Be it further enacted, that it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to catch, take or wound any fish in Reelfoot Lake by means of gill, gun, seine, gill net, set net, hoop net, barrel net, basket, trammel net, or any other contrivance whatsoever, except by pole and line and trot-line. Any violation of this section is a misdemeanor, and upon conviction the person or persons shall be fined not less than fifty dollars.

Section 3. Be it further enacted, that fishing for the market or for sale, in the water of Reelfoot Lake, or adjoining waters belonging to the State, is hereby prohibited, and any violation of this section is a misdemeanor, and upon conviction the person or persons shall be fined not less than fifty dollars.

Section 4. Be it further enacted, that fishing for pleasure and not for sale, with pole and line and trot-line is hereby declared lawful, provided all resident fishermen, fisherman, or boy or girl of the age of sixteen (16) years shall pay a license of one dollar, said license to expire December 31 of each year. Any person or persons of the age of sixteen years or more violating this section shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty-five dollars.

The above is only a few sections of the bill, but sufficient to give the public an idea as to the proposed regulations to fishing in the lake.

Rosette Disease Affecting Wheat

Malady Has Been Confined to Two States; Cause Not Determined.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A disease of winter wheat known as rosette disease because of the excessive tillering in the spring and because the affected plants remain in the rosette stage an unusually long time, has appeared in Illinois and Indiana in infested fields every year since its first discovery in 1919. For several years the disease took great tolls of the wheat crop in certain sections of Illinois and Indiana, says the United States Department of Agriculture. So far as is known, however, the disease has not been located in any other section of this country. The cause of the rosette disease has not yet been fully determined, but certain control measures have been worked out by the department.

May Ruin Affected Crop.

Farmers' Bulletin 1414 has been issued by the department, covering the subject thoroughly. According to the bulletin, where conditions are favorable for its development, the rosette disease may ruin the affected crop. Usually, however, the disease occurs in more or less irregular, scattered spots of different sizes. In all except the most severely affected fields, the reduction in yield has been less than 30 per cent.

The disease is recognized in the field in the spring by stunted and rosetted plants and by the bunchy, dying plants in the disease spots. All plants affected with this disease produce tillers excessively and look bunchy. At first they are dull blue in color, but they subsequently turn brown and often die.

In late spring, this disease may be confused with Hessian fly injury. In both cases the color of the affected plants is about the same. The rosette disease, however, shows no symptoms in the fall, while the fly causes marked injury. Later, the rosette-diseased plants may be distinguished by the much greater tendency to tiller.

Progress With Control Measures.

Various control measures for the disease have been studied and tested, and important progress has been made. It is known that the soil carries the causal factors, whatever they may be. Attempts to control the disease on infested land by seed treatment, therefore, are useless. Numerous varieties have been studied to determine their relative resistance to the disease. Red Wave, Early May, Shepherd, and Turkey are particularly immune. The general use of these immune varieties on infested land is now serving to control the disease perfectly.

A copy of the bulletin may be secured, as long as the supply lasts, from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Sour Milk of Immense Value to Poultry Raiser

It is at least possible to reduce the amount of meat scrap in the mash ration if you keep sour milk or buttermilk before the hens at all times. Some have found it possible to do away with the meat scrap entirely, but this is not always a success in cases where it has been tried. It is best to reduce it to about one-half to one-third of the regular quantity called for in the mash, and then allow the sour milk or buttermilk for the hens.

Entirely aside from the food value in the milk, there seems to be a regular, low quality to the sour milk. The fowls will remain healthier if given the milk at all times. It stimulates a healthy appetite, particularly for the laying mash. The sour milk seems to do away almost entirely with the difficulties generally traceable to close confinement, such as the clogging of the digestive organs, and for that reason, particularly for flocks in winter quarters. It is hard to overestimate the value of an abundant supply of sour milk.

United States Leads in Machinery on the Farm

Farming leads all industries as a user of power and, in turn, the American farmer has more power and machinery at his command than the farmer of any other country, according to E. W. Lehmann, University of Illinois. Most of the machines of production for the farm have been developed during the last 75 years, and in that time the farmer has changed from "the man with a hoe" to a user of power and a large scale producer.

The last twenty-five years especially have seen a marked increase in the use of machinery and mechanical power on the farm.

Garden Recreation

The American people spend millions of dollars annually in recreation. They go on vacations in order to be better fitted to do their work when they return. Others who cannot afford the expense of a vacation trip often find recreation in their daily change of scene in their own dooryard, either with flowers or with a vegetable garden, from which they draw a supply of fresh and wholesome food.

Community Building

Beauty and "Homeyness" in Frame Construction

The building of a home should never be considered in the light of an investment. If you build for investment, build a house, but if you have in mind the building of a home, build it according to your ideals and incorporate all the contentment and happiness features into the general plan, in so far as they do not interfere with common sense construction.

If you prefer frame construction and feel that it is more homey, then that is the material you should use. Lumber is one of the best possible materials to build a home. Its permanence is sufficient to satisfy every owner except one in the competing material business.

In the New England and Southern states we find homes which were built before the Revolutionary war still standing, sound and true and with no signs of depreciation.

Lumber imparts a particularly homey aspect to the house; it seems to take one back to their old home and childhood and brings out the best there is in one. It is conducive of happiness and contentment and, after all is said and done, that is all home is for, anyway.

On the silver screen a woman was bemoaning her fate at not having found happiness and was reminded that she was promised success, not happiness, and the same may be true of a house. It may be a house, not a home.

Build of frame if you wish this type of construction; keep it well painted and it will last as long as you can wish.—Boston Herald.

Fighting for Ideals in City Managements

A municipal duel is under way in cities big and little of the country. The fight is between two ideas—an old idea and a new idea. R. L. Duffus states, in the New York Times. The new and challenging idea is the city manager form of municipal government. In the last notable encounter between the two systems, in the recent election, the city manager form won a victory, and another big city—Cincinnati—is added to the list of those municipalities, now more than 300, which have adopted the idea. Five million citizens are now under the city manager form of government.

What will the outcome be? No man may yet say. Will some one of the great cities of the country try the new system?

Among the cities and towns now under this plan, in addition to Cincinnati are Cleveland, Dayton, Pasadena, San Diego, Colorado Springs, Miami, Wichita, Portland, Maine; Grand Rapids, Niagara Falls, Springfield, Ohio; Knoxville, Beaumont, Texas; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, Clarksburg and Wheeling, W. Va., and Auburn, Newburgh, Sheriff, Watertown and Watervliet, N. Y. Only four cities which adopted the plan by popular vote have ever discarded it.

For Expert City Planning

Charles H. Cheney, city planner of Los Angeles, suggested as a remedy for the "ugliness and jumbled appearance of most of our American cities" the establishment of competent committees or art juries to pass upon all designs for structures and suppress those not up to a reasonable standard of attractiveness.

Regional planning as a thing of intercommunity interest of metropolitan unity was brought out as a successful actuality in the vast growth of Los Angeles during the past ten years by Hugh R. Ponorey, secretary and member of the Los Angeles planning commission.

In mentioning the problem of regional transportation, Mr. Ponorey reported "a greater spirit of co-operation and tolerant understanding, than ever before" on part of government agencies, civic bodies and railroads.

Artistic Brick

Structurally, brick is the soundest possible material. In the first place, the size and form of brick make them an easy material to handle and adaptable to the master mason's skillful craftsmanship. He builds them one by one into a solid wall fabric, strong and durable. Then the brick themselves, hardened and matured in fire, submit to the heaviest pressures and resist both the attacks of flame and the corrosions of time. Brick may well be called an everlasting material, because they neither burn nor decay. Their history affords sufficient testimony, and the scene of any conflagration shows the brick walls and chimneys as solemn witnesses of their enduring strength.

National Capital's Beauty

True beauty combined with utility defies time and forms a basis of real estate values. Washington's wide streets and sensible building regulations prevent any part of the city from choking to death with congestion. Moreover, those wide streets and numerous little squares and circles which are such an attractive adornment are also valuable checks to the spread of fire and are contrivances to admit in the form of fresh air.

THE GIRLS IN BUSINESS

The truth is that the girls are getting the better of the boys in many lines of genteel employment. The boys may complain of this as they will, but the fact stands. The young women in this, and many towns after a certain hour, are quite as much in evidence on their way to work as the young men; and the man at the window can see that they look trim and neat, that they hold up their heads as if they were ready to meet the world as their employers. They have none of the appearance of having deprived themselves of the necessary amount of sleep, or of carrying a headache along with them. Indeed, on a frosty morning it is pleasant to see how their eyes sparkle and how their cheeks glow. They are getting the better of the boys because they can be trusted to come to their work in good form. They may not be as strong as the boys, but they take care of their strength. They don't smoke, they don't chew, they don't drink, they don't gamble, they don't loaf. Society puts up arbitrary rules for the girls, and they must abide by them or lose caste. The boys are suffered to make their own rules and take the consequences. Many a boy thinks he can be gay and deceive everybody, and he runs along until he loses his job. By that time he is apt to think that somebody has undermined him and to look quite past himself in an attempt to locate the guilty party. Business is all the time putting up bars against the gay young man. Positions of responsibility, positions of trust, positions requiring reliability and regularity are being closed against him. He may not see that he is bounced because he isn't honest, for he may be able to swear with clear conscience that he never took so much as a nickel in his life that did not belong to him. But he has taken time that did not belong to him. He has had to be sent for. He hasn't been faithful. He has lied as to why he was late, and as to where he was last night. He has gone upon the theory that it was nobody's business how he occupied his time outside business hours. Yet the growth of a bad character, if you are at all close to it, is about as obvious as the growth of a corn field. The prudent business man does not always wait until he has a case in court. He prefers to settle the little things with his employees before they have gone that far. Business is becoming more and more exacting on the point of individual character. It is looking out for integrity, and it is saying that whatever the head of the house is the salary list must be clean. This demand opens a wide door to the girls, and there is only one way in which it can be closed against them, and that is to meet the competition, and by the removal of it through consolidation.

After all there is a good deal in talk. Let a man talk dull times and it is infectious, everybody talks dull times. Instead of rustling around to take care of what business there is, they go sit down and mope over dull times. If a customer does happen to drop into one of these "dull times" stores he actually gets frightened out of one-half as much as he expects to buy, because things look so blue. He catches the spirit of the store and resolves to hang on to all his money with a death grip, even if his business goes to pieces on account of running short of goods to fill up the empty shelves. The bug-bear of hard times should be sat down upon. It is doing more to kill business than anything else. Tell a man he is sick, keep it up, and you will eventually hound him to death.

Microbes in everything you eat and drink, and if you eat and drink microbes you will surely die, and if you don't eat and drink you will still surely die. Bound to surely die in any event, you had better pay no more attention to microbes than your granddaddy did. They ate and drank everything they wanted and they lived long and prospered. What did Methuselah know about microbes in his time? East and drink everything you want, microbes and all, and you will live until you die and that is what old Methuselah did—he lived until he died.

Why is it that nearly everybody who attends church likes to sit in the end of a seat and hold onto it like grim death and every person who gets a berth in that pew must stumble over them? Well, we confess we do that sort of a thing. It is to get out quickly in case of fire—we sinners are quite strongly reminded of fire, flames and brimstone that is pursuing us, and we can't tell just exactly when it is going to come. We want to be in position to make a quick get-a-way

Did you ever notice that tobacco is always clean? If a man drops a piece of meat, no matter how clean the floor may be, he will either give it a kick or pick it up and lay it to one side. He will never eat it. But let him drop his plug of tobacco on the ground and no difference how dirty the spot where it fell, he will pick it up and give it a careless swipe on his coat sleeve or on the bosom of his pants and then take a chew with greater relish than ever.

An experienced teacher says that pupils who have access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who do not, are better readers, better spellers, better grammarians, better punctuators, and read more understandingly, and obtain a practical knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires others. The newspaper is decidedly an important factor in modern life. This will not be disputed by any one who has taken the trouble to investigate the matter for himself.

Lesson for January 25

JESUS COMFORTS HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 14:1-51.
GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."—John 14:6.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Heavenly Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Walking in Christ's Way.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Comforts His Disciples.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sources of the Christian's Comfort.

The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. Jesus had told them that He was going away, and that they could not follow Him. Their hearts were flooded with grief. He consoled them by

1. Pointing to the Reunion in the Father's House (vv. 1-3).

1. He Asks Them to Trust in Him Even as God (v. 1). Faith in the God-man, Christ Jesus, will steady the heart, no matter how intense the grief or how great the sorrow.

2. He Informed Them That He Was Going to the Father's House in Heaven to Prepare a Home for Them (v. 2). He assured them that there was abundant room for all. Heaven is an eternal dwelling place.

3. He Assured Them That He Would Come Again and Escort Them to Heaven (v. 3). Jesus will not wait for His own to come to Him, but will come and call forth from the graves those who have died, and transform living believers, and take them all to be with Himself in the heavenly home forevermore (1 Thess. 4:16-17).

II. Revealing the Way to the Father's House (vv. 4-11).

Jesus informed the disciples that those who know the place to which He was going and the way, to this Thomas interposed a doubt, in answer to which Christ asserts that He is

1. The Way to God (v. 6). He is something more than a mere guide or teacher. He is the way itself. He is the door of the sheep-fold.

2. The Truth (v. 6). He is not merely the teacher, but the truth incarnate. In His incarnation the spiritual and material worlds were united, therefore every line of truth, whether spiritual or material converges in Him. No one who does not have Christ can ever have the real truth about anything. In Him we have the truth about man, what he is, what he ought to be, and what he shall be in eternity. In Him especially we have the truth about God.

3. The Life (v. 6). Christ is not merely the giver of life, but He is the essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the true sense. Since He is God incarnate, to know Him is to know God.

III. Assuring Them That His Work Was to Continue (vv. 12-14).

Jesus' going away was not to end the work which He had begun. This no doubt meant that through the ministry of the Spirit-filled disciples, the work which Christ began would assume larger proportions. There would be a much greater number of conversions than under His ministry. After the Day of Pentecost the gospel did take a much wider range. During His ministry the message was confined to the Jews, while under the ministry of the disciples it was only limited by the world itself. The disciples' ministry was ushered in by the conversion of three thousand in one day.

IV. Promises Another Comforter (vv. 15-17).

The word comforter means literally one called to the side of another to give help, protection and deliverance. This comforter was the Holy Spirit. Jesus was the Comforter while here in the body. The Holy Spirit was to be "another comforter."

V. Assuring Them of His Return to Them (vv. 18-24).

Although Christ went away He did not leave His disciples as orphans. The Father and the Son make their abode with the disciples who love and obey Jesus Christ.

VI. Assuring Them That the Holy Spirit Would Aid Them in Remembering and Understanding His Words (vv. 25-26).

This the Holy Spirit does by illuminating the minds of the disciples.

VII. Giving the Legacy of His Peace (vv. 22-23).

By His peace is meant the serenity of soul which one enjoys who is reconciled to God, who knows that his sins are forgiven.

Richest Hues Are Given Preference

Latest Color Combinations in Dress Are Vivid, Yet Harmonious.

Styles appear in waves, notes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. They come and go like the ocean surf, rolling forward and receding, each one moving a little farther and carrying the whole volume onward. When the movement has spent itself the reverse occurs. The tide goes out.

A long period of simplicity, or repression, in types of fashion, in form and color, gave way lately to the resurgence of extreme modes, elaboration of detail, fabrics gorgeous and costly, and vivid hues. Innovations that required the most radical readjusting of standards of taste were illustrated in a new silhouette. There were new and varied skirt lengths, new line of décolletage, new sleeve and new waistline. The figure of woman was almost made over.

Little by little have preconceived ideas, old patterns and prejudices been overcome, and the startling has become the commonplace, the extreme is accepted as the usual. In this evolution some obvious benefits have been received and some features have been introduced that establish a far finer, better model. The stunts that were so harmful now seem so hideous that it is almost certain they will never again be seen. Crinolines and hoops, bustles and sweeping skirts of street frocks have gone the way of other evidences of folly and ugliness. As for modesty in dress, that has been ever a subject of lively discussion. One need only look over the pictures of the great ladies in the illustrated history of other ages to feel quite comfortable and at peace with the ways of the woman of fashion in this day.

Color, Style Change.

The most conspicuous change in the accepted styles is in color. The Oriental, to whose art and culture we owe a great debt, and to whom our ideas appear so crude, revelled in color. Gratefully they accepted the inspiration of sky, field and ocean, and devoted centuries to appreciative reproducing of the colors they saw in nature. They were unafraid, and their dyes are always suggestive of warmth and luxury.

Lately the Paris creators have demonstrated the courage of their convictions in using the most colorful materials, in tints and combinations more attractive than the modern world had ever before seen. An absolute genius for color is displayed by some of the artists who do not seem to devote their talents to raiment for women.

The most enchanting things are done. The pastel idea has gone. There is definite life and beauty in the popular colors and their diversified shades. Afternoon and evening gowns for the interior, the ball and the opera were never more lovely, never more important, than those of the present seem to be. They appear, somehow, to have become allied to the fine arts, and the more because their colors represent the imagination of artists of high rank. Poetry and beauty are expressed more than conventional forms.

All in all, the new designs and their makers command a respectful attention such as mere clothes have never before.

Two-Piece Dress in Black Crepe Satin, Plaited; Piping of Scarlet.

force in this generation received. It is especially interesting to hear from men expressions of admiration for the latest styles, and there is evidence of a new order of things in the distinction shown to the authors of these styles.

Every high-class shop, every importer of French models, has on display an unprecedented assortment of gowns and wraps in delightful colors and color combinations. You do not see the spasmodic splashes of color, the intense dyes and sharp contrasts that you saw occasionally in the styles last year and the year before. The new things have harmony.

The most praiseworthy among Parisian designers are leading the way in this new idea, and are doing the most successful things of their career. Callot, whose lines have always had a sure touch and whose colors have always been important, is doing beautiful color things, using much green. One of his latest evening gowns is made of three shades, beginning with emerald green, overlapped with a lighter shade, and growing fainter to a tint that has in it a light sparkle almost like that of champagne. Another of Callot's masterpieces is an evening gown of almost classic severity in its silhouette and length of line, of flame-colored satin, untouched with trimming or material of any other sort.

Features Gay Colors.

Dress is pointing with a large brush and a bold stroke this season, using royal purple, violet and mauve.

and some luscious shades in red—wine, dahlia, fuchsia. Lelong's latest models are lovely in color, his robes being especially smart, and his costumes showing nice consistency and symmetry.

Red is having a gay vogue in Paris at the moment, and some of the best couturiers go in for it strong. Chanel is showing some charming gowns in red. One, in burgundy, is an afternoon dress of a new, lightweight corded woolen combined with flat crepe in the same shade. The crepe, finely tucked, is inserted in bands at top and bottom of the straight blouse and in the skirt of the tunic, which hangs slightly full. Chinese red is liked by Chanel as well as by some of the other designers, who introduce it more often in some part of the ensemble than in an entire frock.

Lavie, for whom a particularly engaging shade of green is named, seems to be leaving to others, this season the diversion of illustrating its charm while she gives attention to model in more sensitive shades. One of her most distinguished costumes for evening combines white and silver, a shimmering moonlighty thing of beauty. It is introduced large motifs of silver, and pearl-gray beads and silver lace. A trailing scarf of silver gray satin is attached to each side of the gown at the line of the hip.

Rene's latest models show a tendency to delicate colors and a preference for blue. In one adorable little dance frock from this artist two shades of blue are used, the dress itself being of pervenche blue chiffon, with a border trimming on the skirt of velvet in a darker shade, applied in stripes to form a lattice. The waistline is very low, just at the hips; the skirt is held close with a crush girde and has the new circular flare.

Jean Patou also is fond of this pervenche blue. In it he demonstrates the circular inset, varying the design of a satin evening frock for dancing. The dress itself is plain from shoulder to hem, the bodice without trimming.

But for two or three evening shades, Patou's best models are done this season, as usual, in black, in which he has a rare prestige. Nothing could be more smart and elegant than Patou's gowns in all black for afternoon and evening.

Colors in New Coats.

The most conspicuous color innovation is illustrated in the newest coats. Formerly a coat meant a black coat, or, to be quite extreme, one in brown, tan or, for summer or sports wear, white. But in the last two seasons coats have been shown in all colors, vivid greens, reds, orange and saffron, and in bold patterns in which many colors are blended. Just a little while ago a coat of bright color appeared farcical in the category of styles, but now the gayest tints are shown among the most chic and exclusive models. A coat of full length, of intense vermilion woolen material, is trimmed with bands of natural fox fur. Another, in orange color, is banded with skunk. One of tanvina green kasha cloth has an enveloping collar and deep cuffs of fox fur of brilliant orange.

Hunter's green, cerise, henna, burgundy, blue and beige are some of the colors in which the new coat models are presented. The coats, almost without exception, are fur-trimmed. The assortment in dressy coats and evening wears is such that one can find every color known is shown.

HOME, SWEET HOME

"I am satisfied of one thing at last: I found where my husband spends his evenings," remarked Mrs. Gadabout. "You don't say so, dear; how did you find out?" questioned the excited Mrs. Gossip. O. K. Laundry is a Credit to the Town; J. J. Owen, Proprietor

Perhaps you had not given it much thought, but did you know that the O. K. Steam Laundry is a valuable asset to Fulton's business life? And few men in our city have paid out more cash money for labor than John Owen, the proprietor.

This is a model establishment for laundry work, dry cleaning and renovating hats, etc.

It has always been from its inception, has occupied a conspicuous position in the front ranks of Fulton's industries. It has always been Mr. Owen's pet hobby to keep his plant equipped with the very best and up-to-the-second machinery. His latest addition was a new hat blocking and cleaning machine. Here they take an old hat and make it practically new.

Auto delivery with courteous drivers call for and deliver laundry bundles and garments promptly, which is the subject of much praise in the community.

Branch offices are maintained in Covington, Tenn., Arlington, Clinton, Wickliffe, Bardwell and many other nearby towns.

John J. Owens, the proprietor, has resided in Fulton for the past 30 years. He is a practical laundryman and one of our best and most popular business men.

Employment is given to a large number of persons, principally girls, and the payroll is among the largest in Fulton. This money is in turn spent at home, and the O. K. Laundry is, therefore, of great benefit to the city in this respect.

NEW HIGHWAY COMMISSION ORGANIZES

The Union City Commercial says County Judge J. B. Waddell has just announced the appointment of the County Highway Commission, which is composed of T. R. Reynolds, of Union City, R. B. Gray, of Clinton, W. T. Call, of Elbridge, J. L. Pickle, of South Fulton and Newt Whipple, of Woodland Mills.

All of the members except Mr. Whipple met in Union City Wednesday and organized by electing Mr. Reynolds as chairman, and set the first Wednesday in each month as regular meeting days.

HARRY SCATES SOLE OWNER OF FORD AGENCY IN FULTON

Some months ago Jack Marks and Harry Scates purchased the Ford agency in Fulton from Charles Holloway, who had built up an enviable automobile business here, probably the best and largest in this entire territory. Several days ago Mr. Scates purchased Mr. Marks' interest and he is now sole owner. The Ford Agency is considered one of the best automobile businesses in the city. Large stocks of accessories are carried, good repair shops maintained and large quarters for displays, office and storage purposes are all in the same building.

We are in hope Mr. Marks will find some other lucrative business in Fulton to hold him here as he is a live, progressive business man and a good citizen.

QUITE TRUE

The farmer met the horse dealer at the market a few months after they had done business together.

"Look here, you," said the farmer heavily, "that horse you sold me, he's been running away and even tries to tear his stable to pieces. You said when I bought him that I wouldn't part with him for five hundred dollars."

"That's right," said the dealer, moving away, "you won't."

Railroad and General News

Loading of revenue freight during the first three months of 1925 is expected to be the greatest in history, according to a report submitted to the board of directors of the American Railway Association by the car service division of that organization, at a meeting in Washington, January 6. Total loading for the three months' period is estimated at 11,844,125 cars which is an increase of 256,851 cars above the first three months in 1924.

The estimate is based on information given out by the car service division from the commodity committees of the various shippers' regional advisory boards in regard to their respective business for the first three months of this year, compared with the same periods in 1924 and 1923.

In view of the fact that shippers' regional advisory boards have been established in all parts of the country and the various commodity committees of those boards represent agriculture and all other branches of industry, it can be said that this estimate is based on reports from virtually all industrial activities of the nation.

No estimate as to what the total for the year will be, can be made at this time, but from information now available, the indications are that the railroads will be called on to handle the largest carloading business during the year 1925 of any year on record.

Work Progressing on Edgewood Cut-Off

Economy for Mexico

President Calles of Mexico says his country must live within her income and must pay her own way, without recourse to foreign loans. Economy will be the keynote for his administration. Budgets must be balanced and graft eliminated at any cost.

We must say this is indeed a fine slogan for any country to adopt, the last sentence of which, would have been a fine motto for some of our retired government officials, as well as the present and future ones.

No Need for Worry About Oil Supply

The Oil and Gas Journal estimates petroleum reserves at end of 1923, equal to six years' supply based on 1923 rate of production. World reserves were 39,131,496,704 barrels, equal to 38.7 years' supply. "As world requires oil and can pay for it, petroleum will be forthcoming," says the Journal, "no matter how arduous the physical obstacles or how burdensome the expense of exploration, development and transportation. The earth has been scarcely scratched for oil, says the Journal."

Radio Communication for Directing Marine Equipment

The New York Central Railroad has in progress, in New York harbor, a test of radio communication for directing the movement of one of its tug boats in harbor service. The test will extend over a period of one month, and will be handled in cooperation with the Radio Corporation of America. The system of communication which is being tried out is intended to replace the present practice of directing the movements by the chief dispatcher of railroad tugs and steam lighters by land telephone orders communicated to the captains of those vessels when tied up to piers throughout the metropolitan harbor district. The object sought by the New York Central, in utilizing the radio is to speed up the movement of that proportion of its traffic handled by marine equipment.

For the present, all communication are being handled on 600 and 660 meters, but as the service develops, the system will probably be changed to radio telephony and shifted to some special band of short wave length below those now used by the broadcasting stations. This would enable the tug boat captains to talk directly with the chief tug boat dispatcher.

The New York Central, if it adopts the system of radio telephony, dispatching will install receiving and transmitting sets on a total of 43 tug boats and steam lighters now in service in the New York harbor district.

Forecast of Prosperity

The prospects are that the general trend of business will be upward during 1925. It promises to be a year of increased industrial production, less unemployment, raising wholesale prices, wages, cost of living and interest rates. These advances, however, are not likely to get out of hand, but to be so gradual and on the whole so steady as to give firm foundation to all classes of business and industrial production.

Money rates, it would seem, should be slightly higher in the spring than present levels, and the cost of commercial accommodations seems very likely to be a full 1 per cent higher by autumn. Such an increase in money rates will be entirely comfortable, however, and conducive to business expansion. Lower rates, such as prevailed through May and October last, would have a strong tendency to compel the banks to tie up their funds in long-term capital investment, while rates in prospect for the coming year offer every inducement to keep funds liquid, accommodating regular business turnover and thus capitalizing prosperity.

Leather Exports from U. S.

During the past 11 months the United States exported leather manufactured goods valued at $18,155,114 an increase of about 20 per cent over 1922. There was, however, a decrease of 11 per cent from 1923. The Department of Commerce states. Exports of footwear included 6,027,019 pairs valued at $14,095,491, against 7,149,746 pairs, valued at $16,636,034 in 1923.

RAIL CLERKS GIVEN INCREASE IN WAGES

ILLINOIS CENTRAL IS ONE OF THE ROADS AFFECTED.

87,000 TO GET RAISE

Nearly All Clerical Employees On Nineteen Railroad Systems Are Affected by Order of Railroad Labor Board.

Chicago.—The United States Labor Board authorized increases of one to two cents an hour in the wages of 87,000 out of 162,000 clerical service employees who were represented before the board. The decision affects nearly all clerical service employees on 19 out of 45 railroads and variously affects particular classes on other roads.

The schedule of increases follows that promulgated by the board in October, 1922. The board ruled that each of the forty-three carriers should apply the scheduled increases "in so far as a dispute exists... except that no increases are authorized for the class of employees of the carriers herein involved which were increased by the previous decision."

The schedule extends increases to all employees represented by Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, except messengers and other employees under eighteen and switchboard operators. The principal roads not covered by the previous decision, and upon which increases are granted to employees with whom there was dispute, are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Illinois Central, Chicago Great Western, Michigan Central, Minneapolis and St. Louis, Missouri Pacific and Northern Pacific. The increases were extended also to employees on the Boston & Albany, who did not participate in the 1922 award.

Increases were granted to clerks, clerical supervisory forces, crew and train carlers, gatemen and baggage and parcel attendants on the Lake Erie & Western districts of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis.

Increases were granted to freight handlers, perishable inspectors, stevedores and the like on the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas.

HICKMAN MERCHANT COMMITS SUICIDE

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 17.—Orvis C. Sullivan, well known young merchant of this city, member of the firm of Sullivan Brothers, men's clothiers, committed suicide this morning at an early hour by shooting himself through the head with a pistol, the bullet entering just back of the right ear and coming out behind the left ear. He had retired at 10:30 o'clock last night at the Riverview Hotel but failed to come to breakfast and failed to open the store as was his custom, and sometime later his brother, T. T. Sullivan, became alarmed and started search for him. He was found about 10 o'clock in the storage room above their store by J. O. West and Roscoe Stone. It was later learned he had gone to the power room of the Kentucky Light & Power Company at 1:30 o'clock this morning and asked the engineer to loan him his pistol as some one had been trying to enter his room for several nights and it is thought he then committed suicide about 2 o'clock. He received word yesterday that a cousin had died in Texas, also his favorite uncle in Mayfield, Ky., his former home had just died yesterday and it is thought this caused his depression and act. He was 34 years old and unmarried. The body was taken to his former home in Mayfield, Ky., tonight where there will be three members of the Sullivan family dead as the body of the cousin from Texas will arrive today with that of the uncle and Young Sullivan, making three.

ELABORATE BANQUET AT PADUCAH

In its issue of January 17th, The Paducah News-Democrat's society editor in part, said: "No more elaborate and superbly planned banquet has been given in the city than that which the Business and Professional Women's club gave Friday evening at half after six in the club rooms, in the Guthrie building."

In the membership list of the club, we were pleased to see the name of Miss Lorraine Bruce, the talented and accomplished young daughter of Mrs. Bessie Bruce, formerly of Fulton. Since going to Paducah, Miss Lorraine has been engaged in newspaper work when not in school. Today she is a brilliant society writer and expert proofreader on the Evening Sun's staff.

The biggest shoe sale ever inaugurated in Fulton is now on at Morris & Fry's, "the All-Leather Shoe Men."

FLOODS CRIPPLE RAIL LINES; 10 DIE

MISSISSIPPI, GEORGIA AND ALABAMA HARD HIT.

MANY TRAINS DELAYED

Some Alabama Towns Partly Inundated—Tourist Traffic to Florida Demoralized by Overflowing of Many Small Rivers.

Atlanta, Ga.—No further details had been reported as the result of the flood situation in several southern states, but the steady downpour of rain caused rivers and creeks to continue their rise, seriously crippling railroad traffic. Many rail tracks have been abandoned.

Many towns in central and lower Mississippi were suffering from flood conditions. Alabama and Georgia, however, were hardest hit.

Southern trains between Macon and Atlanta were being routed over the Central of Georgia tracks. The Central of Georgia, however, had not been able to repair a washout near Fort Valley, Ga. Because of washouts the Macon, Dublin & Savannah Railroad stopped operating.

Officials of the Southern stated they hoped to route their trains from Macon to Jacksonville over the Georgia, Southern and Florida route as soon as the tracks of the latter company could be repaired for operation. Train service north and west of Atlanta still was in operation.

A total of ten persons has been reported as dead or missing as a result of the flood situation. In a Southern Railway wreck near Selma, Ala., two trainmen lost their lives. An engineer was killed and a N. C. & St. L. passenger train hit a slide near Cartersville. Four negroes were reported drowned near Hammond, La. A negro drowned at Columbus, Ga., and two white men who disappeared Saturday and were believed drowned at Albany, Ga., are still missing.

SECRECY SURROUNDS BANKER'S SUICIDE

Officers Refuse to Divulge Contents of Notes.

Hannibal, Mo.—Continued refusal of officers of the Farmers & Merchants Bank at Frankfort to divulge the contents of a note left by J. D. Smith, cashier, when he committed suicide, left the situation surrounding the banker's death unsolved.

Little information as to causes back of Smith's act was brought out in the inquest, at which neither the note to the directors of the bank or another to the widow were read in full. The verdict of the jury was that Smith came to his death by gunshot wounds self-inflicted.

TWO PERSONS DIE IN CHICAGO EXPLOSION

Blast Wrecks Door of Building; Fire Follows.

Chicago.—Two bodies were taken from the burning building of Frank S. Lewis, varnish manufacturer after an explosion.

The victims were Frank Kordo, the watchman for the varnish works, and Russell Watson, a chauffeur for a distributing company.

Before the explosion a gasoline truck stopped in front of the building and the driver went inside. The blast tore off the door of the building and flames enveloped and destroyed the truck.

Burning gasoline flowed down the street, and firemen prevented it from spreading to gasoline tanks across from the plant.

The concussion of the explosion knocked down Mrs. Pearl Rathrich, wife of a baker in the neighborhood, and Joseph Kurowsky, a bread wagon driver, who were on the sidewalk.

Tapestry Loaned.

Philadelphia.—A resolution granting the request of Jules J. Jusserand, retiring ambassador from France, that the Gobelin tapestry presented to Philadelphia by the French government last June be loaned to France for exhibition at the coming exposition of decorative arts in Paris, was adopted by the city council. The tapestry will be returned at the close of the exhibition.

Mr. Jusserand said the tapestry was one of the most important works of art produced in France of late years and it would come back "more famous than ever before."

Heads Live Stock Men.

Albuquerque, N. M., Fred H. Bisby of Long Beach, Cal., a member of the president's agricultural conference, was re-elected president of the American National Livestock Association at the closing session of the convention. His election was unanimous.

Cigaret Rings Now.

London.—Women are now wearing wide band rings to protect their fingers from cigarette stains.

SPARKS OF THE FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

O. J. Sowell, Pastor

The pre-Easter campaign begins next Sunday. This gives every one in the church new inspiration for the winning of souls for the Master. Our slogan will be, "Every member win a soul," between now and Easter Sunday, which will be the climax of our campaign.

Mr. R. E. Pickering is doing a fine work as superintendent of the Sunday school, it is the duty of every loyal Christian to stand back of him in his work.

Last Sunday's services were well attended. The pastor preached on the subjects, "The First Question God Asked Man," and "The End is Come." Two confessions were taken at the morning service. Mrs. T. F. Thomson and Mr. Stuart Brown rendered the special music for the services.

Messrs. Ben Evans, John Culver and John Strange were formed into a committee to complete the getting of pledges for the new addition to the church.

Mr. John Culver has returned from a hunting trip with several friends.

Mr. W. W. Morris spending a few weeks in Texas.

Rev. O. J. Sowell spent one day last week with his parents in Mayfield.

Mrs. O. J. Sowell, who has been spending several weeks with friends and relatives in Oklahoma, reports a very fine time. She is expected to return in about two weeks to take charge of her husband.

Announcements

(No announcements accepted for this column unless the cash accompanies same.)

For County Attorney

We are authorized to announce Lon Adams as a candidate for re-election to the office of County Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election, August, 1925.

CONGRATULATIONS, PADUCAH

Official announcement from C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, that the company will build new shops in Paducah to cost $6,000,000, was received by residents of our neighboring city with overwhelming joy. They had a hint of this development before but nothing official until Thursday evening, Jan. 15, in a long distance telephone message to George H. Goodman, publisher of The News-Democrat from vice-president H. B. Hull authorized by President Markham.

This is one of the biggest single enterprises that Paducah has ever had, says the News-Democrat, and The Fulton Advertiser congratulates Paducah and Western Kentucky on its good fortune. This is only a part of the gigantic development program that great railroad company has under consideration and other announcements will be made from time to time that may be of even greater interest to Fulton than the locating of the World's largest repair shops at Paducah.

The officials of the Illinois Central Railroad Company have an eye on Fulton. Some of the best men who ever breathed Kentucky air have been promoted from the division offices here, and are now in closer touch with real development work contemplated along the line. They have a kindly feeling for Fulton because Fulton has a kindly feeling for them, and it may be that the largest plum on the tree has not ripened sufficiently to fall in Fulton's lap.

The shops were sent to Paducah because it was considered the best location. Big railroad corporations don't jump at conclusions in a second, sometimes it requires months and years to work out plans by which a big development can be made. The officials of the I. C. have viewed from every angle the location of the big shops and finally let the plum drop in Paducah's lap and Kentucky as a whole will enjoy her good fortune.

The brilliant and inspiring talks made at the American Legion banquet Friday evening, hit a tender spot. In Fulton, Post 72, has a good live membership, one of the liveliest auxiliary units formed anywhere, and a very live bunch of citizens behind it, therefore, the campaign for raising funds for the establishing of a Legion club house and home should meet with success. The Twigg property, if it can be procured, at the corner of Carr street and Commercial avenue, would make a desirable home. The 2-story house on the lot is practically new with modern conveniences and the location is fine. The lot is sufficiently large for additional building purposes or any other attractive features.

The good work taken up by the Lions Club to get an additional telephone line to Hickman from Fulton, brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce, will no doubt result in better service between the two points. The Lions Club, the Rotary Club and the Woman's Club are valuable assistants of the Chamber of Commerce and splendid work is being done along all lines.

REDS AND BLUES IN BATTLE ROYAL

If you are not a member of the Chamber of Commerce now is the opportune time to identify yourself with this live organization.

To achieve prosperity for this community it becomes the paramount duty of all concerned to work in harmony to labor to one common end—to protect the homes that give us shelter and conserve the interests of the people who constitute the community.

We may make of this community a hive of industry and a realm of peace, prosperity and happiness, or we may just drift along with the tide, pick up the crumbs that are thrown our way and grumble because the Lord provides for others and apparently forgets our existence.

It will be as we make it—no other way. The Lord has provided us with intelligence and health, and energy, and the power to accomplish things.

With that, His work is done, and the rest is up to us.

If we make the best of that which He has given us we will soon become prosperous, and happy and contented—a people enjoying to the fullest the blessings of life.

But if we neglect the gifts with which He has endowed us the penalty of failure will fall upon our own shoulders—the responsibility will be ours alone—the commercial stagnation of our common community will be but the natural sequence of our own short-sightedness.

In unity there is strength. The Chamber of Commerce needs you, and assuredly you need the Chamber of Commerce. In the membership of this organization you will find men who are going the limit to make Fulton what it should be—a happy and united people—just like one big family all under the same roof.

Be a good citizen—join the working forces—and do your bit in making your home town prosper and a better place in which to live.

With good times hanging on to our coat tails, the proper stunt is for you to stop yelling "wolf" and identify yourself with the Fulton Chamber of Commerce and go to work for the best interests of the town.

An ad in this paper is as convincing as a flea beneath your undershirt. It produces quick action.

A self made man and a tailor-made man are shining examples of present day possibilities.

Try to live so your conscience will be a cheerful companion and you will be a pretty good citizen.

J. Kelly Woods is in the city shaking hands with old friends and acquaintances. For some years Mr. Woods and family have been making their home in Washington where they have prospered. Mrs. Woods having held a high government position while Mr. Wood was engaged in closing out large stocks of merchandise. JOHN HUDDLESTON REMOVES HIS SHOP TO 206 CHURCH ST.

The plumbing business of John Huddleston has grown to such an extent until it has been necessary for Mr. Huddleston to obtain larger quarters and he is now located at 206 Church street. Here he is displaying all of the newest and up-to-date articles required to complete a first class job of plumbing in a modest cottage or a palatial home. In fact, no job is too large or too small for John to handle with perfect ease. Mr. Huddleston is not a new man in the plumbing business in Fulton. For more than twenty-five years he has been satisfying pleased customers and holding the prices down to the minimum on first class work.

He is always pleased to submit figures on any job and invites your inspection of his stock.

PLANS FOR NEW HOME

In Sunday's Commercial Appeal was a splendid picture of the plans of the handsome home for D. K. Galtney and wife, nee Miss Virginia Fields, of Corinth, Miss. The house will be built of stone with clapboard work and wood shingles. The design is a happy combination of the English Cottage type and a modified American Colonial. The interior will contain an entrance hall, living room, dining room, sleeping porch, two bedrooms and two baths, all on a single floor. Mr. Galtney is a prominent automobile dealer in Corinth.

Miss Amelia Crume and Miss Elizabeth Graham and Messrs. T. Davis and Ray Spicer of Clinton, were the guests of Miss Ruth Moss Sunday evening.

MISS MIRIAM REBECCA MASON PASSES AWAY

Miss Miriam Rebecca Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Mason of Mayfield, and one of that city's most prominent young women, passed away at the Mayfield hospital Tuesday morning at 8:20 o'clock, following an operation about a week ago.

Miss Mason was 22 years of age, and was a graduate of the Mayfield High School, class of 1923.

NARROW ESCAPE

Had not the members of the family of R. W. Lewis of Fulton, Ky., says a special from Cairo, tired of sitting in their Ford sedan while Mr. Lewis pumped up a flat tire, it is probable all would have been drowned when the car slipped off a jack and sped down the levee slope near a ferry landing and into the Ohio River, knocking the owner down and not stopping until it was 30 feet beneath the water. Mr. Lewis' wife and children had just gotten out to stretch when the accident occurred. The family was en route to Fulton from Lexington, Ky. They continued by rail, while the machine was fished out with grappling hooks for repairs.

An unavoidable accident occurred Tuesday at the intersection of Lake and Walnut streets when the car driven by Clem Oliver is said to hit Thomas Underwood who was on a bicycle. The accident is to be regretted and while the young man was not seriously hurt Mr. Oliver regrets that it happened and says he did all he could to avoid it.

Through sleeping car service between Chicago and Oklahoma City via Tulsa, has been established by the Illinois Central and the Frisco Lines, according to the Illinois Central in the Daylight Special from Chicago to St. Louis and in the Diamond Special from St. Louis to Chicago. Westbound from St. Louis car is handled in the Frisco Meteor, and eastbound from Oklahoma City in the Oklahoma City Special. The schedule is twenty-three hours between Chicago and Oklahoma City.

J. Kelly Woods has arrived in the city from Washington, D. C., to make his future home. Mrs. Woods arrived in the city the early part of the week. Paducah News-Democrat, Jan. 17.

PIONEER CITIZEN OF UNION CITY PASSES AWAY

Tuesday evening, Jan. 12, 1925, "Uncle Joe Nailing," as he was familiarly known, died at his home in Cayce, Ky., aged 78 years. Thus another old Confederate soldier passes to his reward to join his comrades who were with Forrest in Faulkner's regiment.

The writer met Uncle Joe in Union City where he lived the best part of his life. He was a member of the Methodist church and at all times, under all circumstances he walked in the well beaten path of righteousness and when fully conscious that he was nearing the last of his earthly life, he appeared to be fully impressed with the idea that at the end of time eternity began, and that the bright faith which sustained him during the trying hours of suffering would only grow brighter and brighter as he journeyed toward the infinite, and the final gloom of death be dispelled by the radiance of God's love. Could all live the just and upright life Uncle Joe lived, and die in his trusting faith, death could no longer be called "The King of Terrors," for he inspired no terror there.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two sons, Dr. W. A. Nailing of Union City and John Nailing; one brother Robert F. and one sister, Mrs. Geo. Holman, of Harris, Tenn.

His remains were laid to rest in the city cemetery at Union City. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. P. Hamilton.
