Fulton, Hub of the Great I. C. Railroad

The Gateway of the Shortest Route Between New Orleans and Chicago.

Practically midway between Chicago and New Orleans, is Fulton, Kentucky, the gateway of the shortest route between North and South, destined to be one of the big terminal points on the Illinois Central Railroad.

There would have been very little of Fulton without the Illinois Central. In fact, it has been the foundation and backbone of this city since 1874. The principal officials of the company are ever ready to do all they can for Fulton's advancement. On the other hand, our citizens have a deep sense of appreciation for that cordial spirit, and the relations existing between this community and that great corporation, are of the most pleasant nature.

The Tennessee Division of the Illinois Central, passing through the Eastern portion of the county and giving such superior transportation facilities between the North and South, was built in 1873-74 from Jackson to Cairo, as the extension of the Mississippi Central Railroad.

The Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern Railroad was graded in 1860, reaching Fulton in 1861. It formed an important link in Huntington's transcontinental line. About twenty-five years ago the property was purchased by the Illinois Central and is now a part of its system, constituting what is known as its Memphis-Louisville line.

Fulton is headquarters of the Tennessee Division. The company maintains a roundhouse here and other valuable properties.

Besides splendidly equipped modern passenger trains daily in and out of Fulton, the company's freight service is all that could be desired.

But service is the keynote of this great railroad system's success and the recent acquisitive activities will mean much to Fulton and the territory surrounding it. The I. C. has recently acquired control of several Southern Railroads. The practical meaning of these acquisitions is that there will be a greatly increased movement of freight traffic between North and South via Fulton, the hub of the Illinois Central Railroad.

End Almost in Sight

Big Noise Has Simmered Down But the Reds and Blues Continue to Work

With the end of the membership campaign of the Chamber of Commerce almost in sight the efforts of the members of the Reds and the Blues has become more energetic than ever and the members of the two teams have had to hustle more strenuously than heretofore.

The noise of battle has slackened somewhat, but the concentrated energy of the various teams has not been appreciably lessened, and the prevailing opinion of those who can be enticed to talk is that the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will see that organization with the biggest membership that it has ever had.

The committees in charge of the entertainment have not given out any information as to the program for the event, but it seems to be understood that the whole evening will be one of great interest to the old as well as the new members, and interest is becoming quite evident among the people of Fulton and undoubtedly there will not be a single member absent on that evening.

The captains of the two teams are not talking, and their secrecy has been thoroughly maintained by their team mates. If any one in the city wants to know just what will happen on the night of the next meeting they will have to hunt up a member of one of the teams and sign an application in order to find out by being present.

Better Homes Week

Better Homes Week will be held in Fulton from May 10 to 17, and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover has selected Mrs. J. F. Williams to serve as chairman of the local committee.

Over 1,500 enlightened communities throughout the country participated in the Better Homes Week last year, demonstrating how to make the home more attractive and a pleasant place to live, as well as in a more economical manner.

The selection of Mrs. Nichols was a well deserved compliment to one of the most earnest and energetic members of the Woman's Club of Fulton. Mrs. Nichols has demonstrated her capabilities as an organizer on many occasions and we feel sure that with her at the head of this movement it will be an entire success.

RAILWAY CLERKS HOLD MEETING AT CORINTH, MISS.

The last regular meeting of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees which was held at Corinth, Miss., Jan. 25th, was attended by a large number of the Fulton Lodge.

The Fulton Delegation composed of about fifty members, left on the Seminole and were joined by several additional members which were picked up at various stations enroute to Corinth. A body of the Corinth Members met the train and escorted the delegation to the Elks Club where all were entertained until time for luncheon, which had been previously arranged for by the Corinth members. Needless to say, that part of the program was especially enjoyed by the delegation.

At 1 o'clock p. m. the Lodge met in the Elks' Club Rooms, some seventy-five or eighty members being in attendance. The following officers of the Organization were present:

G. B. Butterworth, President; W. N. Whitely, Vice-President; P. M. Newhouse, Financial Secretary and Treasurer; Mrs. J. F. Williams, Recording Secretary; M. L. Brooks, In. & Out. Guard; H. O. Cole, Chairman Executive Committee.

Mr. Price Poyner of Corinth, acted Chaplain and Mr. Robert Witty acted Sergeant-at-Arms, account Mr. P. M. Roberts and Mr. H. F. Dexonia not being present.

A most interesting meeting was held, many good speeches were delivered by members from different points, and it was encouraging to the visitors to know that the membership had grown more in the last year, than any other previous years.

After the Lodge adjourned, automobiles were waiting to take all members for a ride over the town and many interesting sights were seen in the old Southern City and the members from this end of the line were very much impressed with the genial spirit of southern hospitality of the Corinth members of their order.

PIONEER REBUILDS TOWN FOR FILM

An experience rare as it was delightful has come to Colonel William Hawley, veteran of the West, in connection with the making of "The Virginian," the screen version of the Owen Wister novel which is to be seen in the Orpheum Theatre beginning Monday, Feb. 2.

Colonel Hawley laid out the town of Casper, Wyoming, and was its mayor when Owen Wister, the novelist, visited that country and obtained the material which he made into the novel. Hawley and Wister became great friends, and it was to Hawley that the producers turned when they sought to make the screen story of "The Virginian," as near a reality as possible. Colonel Hawley was engaged to lay out in the Sierra mountains a town which should be a duplicate of Casper in the days of the Cattleman's War, the time of the action described in the novel. He accomplished his purpose and in watching the making of the picture became enthusiastic about its reproduction of the pioneer days.

The town—the longest street of which is 1,000 feet—was laid out just outside Alhambra, California, a little town high in the mountains. Its surroundings approximate those of the old Casper and the expense to the producers urged Colonel Hawley to go to get as nearly an exact reproduction as possible opened his eyes to the willingness of the film makers to bring to the screen just what their stories demand. You will miss one of the best if you fail to see this at the Orpheum on Feb. 2 and 3.

I. C. Train No. 103 Delayed Account of Derailment.

We understand that Illinois Central train No. 103, New Orleans Limited, was delayed several hours Thursday morning due to a derailment just north of Kuttawa, Ky., on the Kentucky division of the I. C., between Paducah and Princeton.

It was reported that no personal injuries were sustained by anyone, and that the cause of the derailment is being investigated by officers of the Kentucky Division.

Inspiration

Another Trades Day Campaign

The new Trade Day Campaign that will be put on in Fulton shortly by the merchants of the city will undoubtedly bring even larger numbers of buyers here than did the last one and the merchants of Fulton are to be congratulated for their enterprise in getting such an early start for the coming year.

To any observer the numbers of strange faces on the streets on any of the recent Trade Days was a revelation as to what proper advertising can do for the business interests of a city or town, and the readiness with which the business men of Fulton agreed to put on another drive for cash business is ample proof of their belief in its benefits.

The fact of their voting in the meeting of last week to place the management of the new effort in the hands of the same committee that so successfully conducted the last one is also proof that they were well satisfied with the results obtained by the members, and will auger well for the satisfactory results of the coming one.

When the busiest business men of a community combine to procure a desired end it always means that their every effort will be given to the enterprise, as they do not feel that they can afford to waste their efforts on a failure or a partial success, and it is almost invariably a foregone conclusion that whatever they start to do will be put through to a successful finish.

While it is true that the bigger businesses derive the greatest benefits from such a movement, it is also true that the small merchants derive more than their proportionate share from it, as the fact of bringing so many cash buyers into town naturally brings a large number of those whose purchases must necessarily be made from the smaller merchants, so that the small dealer is amply justified in the participation of the effort.

The Advertiser sincerely hopes that an even greater percent of the merchants of Fulton will participate in the next campaign, and that it will prove even more satisfactory to our business men than the former effort, and that the committee will earn greater laurels for themselves than before.

J. W. RONEY ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

In this issue of The Advertiser will be found the announcement of J. W. Roney for the office of County Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in August.

There is not a better known attorney in this county than Jim Roney. He has resided in and near Fulton and Hickman for 39 years. Mr. Roney was educated in the printing offices of Fulton and the schools of this city, finishing his schooling at Huntingdon, Tenn. He was admitted to the practice of law in this county in January, 1902; served four years as Police Judge of Hickman and two terms as County Attorney. This alone is sufficient proof of his popularity and ability to fill the office he is asking you to elect him to. In fact, he feels better qualified now to serve the people than when first elected County Attorney sixteen years ago.

Since Mr. Roney was admitted to the practice of law 23 years ago he has kept in close touch with county affairs and feels a deep interest in the development program and the work to be done now and within the next few years. As soon as he has an opportunity of seeing you in person he will explain some of the work he has in mind to do if elected as your County Attorney. He will appreciate your vote.

The people of Fulton sympathize with Mrs. W. S. Gayle in the loss of her mother, Mrs. E. W. Avey, who died at her home in Columbus, Ky., Jan. 22. Mrs. Avey was well known in Fulton, she having visited her daughter here on numerous occasions. Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist Church was called to Columbus to conduct the funeral services.

John M. Egan Passes Away

Superintendent Tennessee Division of the I. C. in Fulton, 1915-19.

News of the death of John M. Egan was received in Fulton Tuesday morning with sadness.

John M. Egan was one of the most popular railroad men ever associated with the Illinois Central or Missouri Pacific railroads, says the Commercial Appeal. His promotion to the vice presidency in charge of operations of the latter line on March 1, 1924, came as a recognition of his ability, which every person who had come into contact with him in a business way conceded to him.

Mr. Egan came from a distinguished line of railway men. Born at Amboy, Ill., Sept. 1, 1880, he attended school there and completed his education at De La Salle Institute of Chicago. This was between the years of 1895 and 1898.

He entered the service of the Illinois Central in 1893 as a messenger in the transportation department at Chicago. A year later he was promoted to agent at 104th street, Chicago, which position he held until 1898, when he became timekeeper and chairman of the construction department at Evansville.

Just one year later Mr. Egan became a roadman with the engineering forces of the Illinois Central and in 1900 was promoted to a position in the bridge department. In 1901 he was made assistant engineer and in 1903 was promoted to road supervisor.

The year 1904 saw Mr. Egan promoted to roadmaster of the Freeport Division of the I. C., and he served successfully in that capacity on the Nashville and Tennessee divisions.

Mr. Egan's next promotion came in 1911 when he was named superintendent of the Mississippi division with headquarters at Water Valley. In September, 1915, he became superintendent of the Tennessee division with headquarters at Fulton, Ky., continuing in that capacity until Jan. 1, 1919, when he was promoted to general superintendent of southern lines with headquarters at New Orleans. That position was Mr. Egan's last with the Illinois Central for on April 1, 1923, he was named chairman of the Chicago Terminal Operating Committee for the Chicago territory. He held that position until he became vice-president of the Missouri Pacific. Mr. Egan's experience in various capacities of the Illinois Central Railroad admirably fitted him for the position which he assumed with the Missouri Pacific system. His progress was steady, the result of his untiring effort.

Endowed with the highest personal qualifications which earned for him the splendid co-operation of his subordinates and associates Mr. Egan was beloved by the railway workers as well as those he met in a social way.

Col. A. H. Egan, Mr. Egan's father, is the dean of Memphis railroad men and his position as general superintendent of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad is an important one. He is well and favorably known, not only to Memphians and others in the Illinois Central territory but throughout the United States, all of whom grieve with him in the loss of his distinguished son.

A number of Fulton friends attended the funeral held in Louisville Thursday.

C. R. Young, Superintendent of the Illinois Central at Carbondale passed through Fulton Wednesday evening enroute to Louisville to attend the funeral of the late J. M. Egan, Vice-President of the Missouri Pacific.

Railroad News

The Tennessee Division of the Illinois Central will receive shortly 10 or 12 new Mountain Type passenger locomotives of the 2400 series, like the ones now pulling The Floridan—the crack train from Chicago to Florida.

Safety First

The Illinois Central is organizing Safety Committees at all their local stations, in an effort to prevent accidents at grade crossings and other hazardous places; also, to endeavor to enlist public interest with a view of bringing about close co-operation in this very important matter.

There was a very material increase in the number of injured at grade crossings during the year 1924 over 1923. In the State of New York alone in 1924 there were 515 automobilists and 20 persons in other vehicles injured, against 437 for those riding in automobiles and 37 in other vehicles for 1923. The State of New York has appropriated to date, $4,066,661.06 as its share in the cost of grade crossing elimination at the most hazardous places.

In addition to the above, the Illinois Central are renewing their efforts to increase the membership in the Stop, Look and Listen Club, which was organized during 1924.

It might be interesting to know that there are on the Tennessee Division of the Illinois Central, 641 employees owning automobiles, all of which are members of this club, and carry a sign on their cars reading, "This Car Stops for All Railroad Crossings." This Club is not only for employees of the railroad however, but for outsiders as well, and during 1924 there were 1,049 outsiders who joined this Club and were furnished with the sign mentioned above for their cars.

On the entire Illinois Central system there are 11,189 employees and 29,910 outsiders who are members of this Club; and it is, we are told, the desire of the Railroad Management to double this membership during 1925.

This, to our mind, is one of the most constructive moves that has been fostered with a view of eliminating grade crossing accidents, and if this slogan is lived up to, will be the means of preventing many an accident, which might result in occupants of cars and other vehicles being maimed or killed.

Co-operation between the railroads and the traveling public is indeed very necessary but co-operation should and does not stop there. The inter-relationship between our railroads and the communities they serve in an effort to reduce grade crossing accidents, is exemplified by the fact that so many outsiders have joined the "Stop, Look and Listen Clubs."

Injunction Will Not Prevent Construction of Edgewood Cut-Off:

President Markham of the Illinois Central in commenting on the decision of Judge Foell, stated that the decision would not prevent the building of the Edgewood cut-off. Mr. Markham said, "In some places it has been reported that the construction of the road was enjoined. The decree of the court, however, merely prevents the purchase of stock in the Southern Illinois & Kentucky railroad or the purchase, leasing or operation of its property and railroad by the Illinois Central, or the consolidation of the two companies. The court refuses to extend the scope of the injunction beyond the particular acts enumerated." Mr. Markham stated further that the decree did not prevent the Southern Illinois & Kentucky (which is the title given the new road) from building the cut-off. The adjustment of the entire matter will doubtless require a decision from a higher court, but in the meanwhile, the construction of the cut-off will continue.

Engineer Sentenced to One Year in Jail

At Putnam, Conn., January 14th, Joseph C. Bartlett, Engineer and Joseph Noyer, fireman of a freight train involved in an accident at Mechanicsville, Conn., on October 24, 1924, causing two deaths, pleaded guilty to manslaughter and were sentenced to a year in jail by the superior court judge. The accident was a head on collision between a passenger and freight train, which resulted from negligence on the part of the freight train crew. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train were killed.

Kemp, Jr., was the secretary of the committee and General Foreman Huddleston was the presiding chairman, in the absence of Trainmaster J. J. Hill, who was prevented from attending on account of sickness.

BANDIT HOLDS UP PRIVATE CAR OF PRESIDENT OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL

The train on which Mr. C. H. Markham, President of the Illinois Central was riding, had stopped at Independence, La., for the purpose of looking after a hot box on the dining car. Mr. Markham had retired, but his Secretary was still up. Trainmaster T. K. Williams was accompanying Mr. Markham over his territory, and had just gone out of the car to supervise the work on the hot box when the bandit entered the car, pulled his gun and told the Secretary to hand over all he had, which the Secretary did. The bandit then, in leaving the car picked up Mr. Williams' overcoat and that of another division officer, fired a shot and left. Mr. Markham, however, knew nothing of the affair until sometime afterwards.

MUSICAL GRADUATION

Mrs. R. S. Matthews presented two of her pupils, Mary Lois Williams and Treva Cannel Jones in a piano and vocal recital Saturday evening, Jan. 24, at her home in Forestdale.

The rooms were appropriately and artistically decorated for the occasion; the color scheme being white and green. The class motto was: "Tonight, we launch When shall we anchor?"

The excellent rhythm and expression shown in the rendering of each classical number was a source of much pleasure and enjoyment to those present, and especially so to their teacher, who, by her untiring efforts, had given such rare musical training.

After the presentation of the diplomas, a lovely gold medal was awarded each graduate for proficiency in sight reading, harmony, history and memory work.

Miss Jones is now a successful teacher of piano at Welch's High School, and anticipates going to Boston in the early summer to continue the study of piano and voice.

Miss Williams, now a commercial student at the Fulton High School, goes to Chicago this spring to continue the study of piano and voice.

EDGEWOOD-FULTON CUT-OFF MEANS BETTER SERVICE

Important Link Between North and South, Chicago Tribune Says

The following is what the Chicago Tribune had to say about the Edgewood-Fulton Cut-Off:

"Chicago has a first rate stake in the completion of the new route. It gives a third track to the south and makes possible economies in handling traffic.

Two instead of one crossing over the Ohio will be provided for Chicago business over the Illinois Central. Interruption by flood, which has happened in the past, will be rendered far less likely.

Here are a few items about the new line that will interest shippers and all Chicagoans who keep track of the city's steady advance toward the gulf in trade and investment:

The total rise and fall of the new line will be only 1,349 feet, compared with 2,049 on the present route.

Maximum curves will be two degrees, compared with five on the old line; total curvature on the new line only 613 degrees, compared to 3,393 on the old line—almost the difference between a snake and a tooth pick.

Save $1,500,000 Year Savings in handling traffic are estimated at more than $1,500,000 per year, while to enlarge the old line to take care of an equal amount of new traffic would cost $25,000,000 compared to about $16,635,000 the cost of the new line.

The new territory development is expected to increase freight revenues by $2,750,000 after the fifth year of operation, which signifies a substantial addition to the wealth and taxable values of the state.

The charge that the Illinois Central in building the cut-off is seeking to escape payment of the 7 per cent tax levied upon the gross business of its charter lines—those in which the state reserved that interest when the road was established—is met by the fact that, like every former addition to the noncharter lines of the road, the increased track will throw more traffic to the old charter lines as much from its 7 per cent tax on the charter lines as it did before the Illinois Central began its expansion and provided feeders to its original system.

Shortens the Line Contrary to an impression that seems to have been created, the construction of the I. C.'s new cut-off line, shortening Chicago's communications with the south, is not being delayed by a recent court order. The subsidiary company will construct the line. The court order prohibited the I. C. from purchasing the stock of the subsidiary Southern Illinois and Kentucky Railroad company, or from purchasing, leasing, or operating the property, or from consolidating the two corporations, but did not enjoin the construction of the road, nor the loan of money by the I. C. for its construction, or the grant of rights to the I. C. to use the new road.

Cairo Keeps Service All of the acts that the court did prohibit were expressly authorized by the interstate commerce commission, except consolidation, and on appeal this direct conflict between the commission and the state court must be adjudicated.

The Tribune mentioned when the subject first came up, the new doctrine of vested rights advanced by certain Cairo interests, who maintained that once a railroad has located its line it cannot pick another route.

The Illinois Central has always stated that it has no intention of diminishing service over its old lines through Cairo and other Egyptian towns.

Seams Important The underarm seams of tailored frocks have become important as the point where tailored decorations, usually buttons, are introduced.

Brown Chiffon Velvet Trimmed With Kolinsky

Showing luxuriously trimmed costume suit of brown chiffon velvet, with kolinsky trimming. It is a three-piece affair. The bodice is heavily embroidered in gold and red.

Double-Breasted Coat—Four or Six Buttons

The overcoat of the moment is one that can be used with equal success as a morning town wrap or as a useful garment to slip on after a round of golf, says a Paris fashion writer in the New York Herald. It is cut on the lines of a man's overcoat, double-breasted with four or six buttons, slit up the back, either plain or with a two-inch belt just across the back to the side seams. This is made in fancy English suitings and tweeds and is principally seen in shades of brown, pepper-and-salt or beige.

Attractive and likely to attain a real vogue are the little sports suits shown by Yvett in her midseason opening of winter fashions. Made of all kinds of warm woolen fabrics, mostly with a rough surface, they have short little straight jumpers that leave off abruptly just below the normal waistline. They have a wide hem at the bottom on which is placed a line of small buttons at the center front. These buttons are carried on straight down the center of the skirt, which has its inverted knife plaiting in the front on either side of the row of buttons, giving a line that is new, practical and very effective.

The jumper type of sports costume is often turned into a three-piece by the addition of a shoulder cape reaching to about the base of the hip line, fastening with a narrow cross-over double strap underneath. Straight little jackets, too, are often worn, made of the same material as the skirt which may be of tweed, duvetyne or kasha.

After a long vogue for the group of narrow knife plaits at the side to give fullness, the new sports skirts are made in wrap-over envelope fashion with only one wide plait at the side. For the woman who drives her own car these skirts are made with wide box plaits in front, stitched down for some six inches from the waist and then left free. This is a very practical mode and is becoming as well.

Peaked Crown Becoming to Majority of Women

There are so many different variations of the peaked crown that it is becoming to practically all types; for instance, there is the four-dented crown tip and the three-dented tip, the creased or helmet ridge that runs from side to side or from back to front, or the ridge that is turned over in quite a roll from one side to the other, or from the back to the front.

The peaked or pointed tip is more suitable to the young person. The helmet ridge type which runs from side to side, no matter in what way it is accomplished, is better for the older woman with the heavier type face, for it gives her the width that is so necessary for the stouter and larger face.

Blue for Evening Wear Is Much in Limelight

Smart coats of velvet of various cloths trimmed with light-colored fox, are features of the mode. White foxes dyed light blue, or a wheat shade known as ble are also used on these coats.

Evening gowns are mostly of velvet or chiffon, heavily embroidered with beads, and revealing much use of gold and silver combinations. Almost all shades of blue are expressed in gowns for formal wear.

A broadtail wrap made with a short cape effect was completed with a small felt hat of light blue, having a crystal and rhinestone pin as its only ornament.

Seams Important The underarm seams of tailored frocks have become important as the point where tailored decorations, usually buttons, are introduced.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS IN THE JEWELRY BUSINESS IN FULTON

Everybody who knows anything of Fulton, knows the popular Jeweler, M. F. DeMyer, whose business house is one of the most prominent in Fulton, located at the busy corner of Lake street and Commercial avenue, the hub about which revolves the business of Fulton.

Mr. DeMyer was born and reared in Fulton county, near the city of Fulton, and comes of one of the pioneer families of this section, his father having owned a large estate almost in the suburbs of Fulton.

Mr. DeMyer has been longer in business in the same line in Fulton, with the exception of one or two.

He started in the jewelry business 35 years ago, when Fulton was a mere village. For five years he was engaged in the jewelry business with R. N. Phipps under the Vendome Opera House. The past 25 years he has been in business on Lake street.

Some years ago he turned the active business and repair work over to his sons, Sam and Poyner, and the business is now conducted under the firm name of M. F. DeMyer & Sons.

They carry one of the most complete stocks of up-to-date jewelry of any house in Western Kentucky and enjoy an extensive trade, the public knowing from long years of business dealing that they are perfectly reliable, both in quality of articles and in prices. Their stock embraces everything in the jewelry line, Silverware, solid and plated, fine decorated China, elegant cut glass and everything that is late and up-to-date in the jewelry line can be found at DeMyer & Sons.

Optical Department

They have one of the finest and most complete optical departments in the State under the management of Dr. J. J. House, a skilled optician, a graduate, and who has devoted many years to that special work. He has all kinds of machinery for testing and fitting and grinding glasses and people come from all the surrounding section to be fitted by Dr. House. For this reason the firm enjoys a large patronage in this line of their business.

The firm of DeMyer & Sons stands for reliability and everything purchased there will be found just as represented.

Whereas, on the morning of Thursday, January 15, 1925, God, in his infinite wisdom, called our beloved friend and co-worker, Mrs. Jessie McDade Carter from a consecrated life of faithful service among us, into the full enjoyment of the Father's presence, and,

Whereas, she was one of the most active and efficient members of the Sunday School and Missionary Society and the various organizations of the church; therefore be it

Resolved, 1. That in her passing this church has sustained the loss of a true friend and faithful leader, whose influence over those with whom she wrought will bear fruit through eternity;

3. To the family of our friend we extend our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to the God she served and trusted.

IMPROVED UNION INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for February 1

THE VINE AND THE BRANCHES

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-17. GOLDEN TEXT—He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit.—John 15:5.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Being Friends of Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Vine and the Branches.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Fruit-Bearing Lives.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Union With Christ.

Under the beautiful allegory of the vine and the branches Jesus set forth the spiritual oneness of Himself and His disciples.

1. The Relationship of Jesus and the Father to the Disciple (vv. 1-3).

1. Jesus the Source of the Disciple's Life (v. 1). He is the true vine.

Through the incarnation Jesus identified Himself with humanity, and by virtue of His atoning death and resurrection it is possible for the believer to be a partaker of His life so that between the disciple and his Lord there is a community of life. As the vine pours its life into the branch, so Christ pours His life into the believer. Our salvation is eternal life because it is the life of the eternal Son in us.

2. The Father Has in His Hands the Discipline of the Disciple (v. 1). The "Father is the husbandman." Just as the culture of the vine is in the hands of a husbandman so the discipline of the believer's life is in the hands of the Father. In this disciplinary process he

(a) Removes the unfruitful branch (v. 2). He does not take the trouble to prune the fruitless branch. The nominal church member, the mere professor, He removes.

(b) Purges the fruitful branch that it may produce more fruit (v. 2). He restrains our natural tendencies and desires in order that the virtues of the Lord, the fruits of the Spirit, may shine forth.

3. The instrument by which the pruning is accomplished is Jesus' words (v. 3). The disciples already were cleansed by Christ's words, for Judas the traitor had been cast out. If the believer's life is to be fruitful in character and service the pruning knife, Christ's words, must be intelligently and regularly applied.

4. The Conditions of Fruit Bearing (vv. 4-7).

The supreme object in pruning, the culture of the vine, is fruit.

1. Abiding in Christ (vv. 4-6). As the branches draw sap and life from the vine, so believers must abide in Christ, from whom they derive their purity, strength and wisdom. Indeed, it is a mutual abiding, the disciple in Christ and Christ in the disciple. It is Christ's life expressing itself through the believer. The one thus indwelt by Christ will bear much fruit. So great is the displeasure of the Lord with lifeless, unfruitful branches that they are to be "cast forth," "withered," even burned (v. 6).

2. Christ's Words Abide in Us (v. 7). So mighty is the power of the one who abides in Christ and in whom His words abide that Heaven can withhold no gift from him.

3. A Blessed Issue of a Fruitful Life (vv. 8, 17).

1. The glorification of the Father (v. 8). Through much fruit-bearing, the Father will be glorified (Matt. 5:16).

2. Credentials of Discipleship (v. 8). The only way to prove that one is a child of God is to manifest the characteristics of God in one's acts and service.

3. Abiding in Christ's Love and Keeping His Commandments (vv. 9, 10). The way to abide in Christ's love is to keep His commandments. The one who neglects the words of Christ is destitute of His love. It is folly to talk of being in the love of Christ while disobeying His teachings.

4. Fulness of Joy (v. 11). The way to have fulness of joy is to have Christ's joy in us.

5. Loving one another (vv. 12, 13). The one who abides in Christ and has the life of Christ flowing into him will live a life of love, will love his fellowman, especially his brother in Christ.

6. Friends of Christ (vv. 14, 15). Christ's friends do whatsoever He commands. Being thus obedient He takes us into His confidence and makes known unto us the Heavenly Father's will.

7. Perpetual Fruit-Bearing in Love, With Power in Prayer (vv. 16, 17).

Physical Vigor

Physical weakness is not a sign of spiritual power. All other things considered, the man or woman who enjoys physical vigor will be able to accomplish more than those who are puny and ill.

How Many?

"How many people," says Jeremy Taylor, "are busy in the world gathering together a handful of thorns to sit upon?"

Our Fears

What we fear most is not today's trouble, but that which may happen tomorrow.

Dumb Love

A dumb love is only acceptable from the lower animals.—Doctor Van Dyke.

POULTRY

FIRST REQUIREMENT FOR SANITARY COOP

The first requirement for a sanitary hen house is a roomy, dry building with plenty of window space and easy means of ventilation.

Dropping boards under the roosts are quite essential for the proper maintenance of cleanliness. They should be made of tongued and grooved flooring well laid, and should be at least three feet above the floor of the house. If nests are under the dropping boards, three feet six inches would be better height. In the case of heavy breeds runways up to the roosting perches should be used, but with leghorns and other light breeds they are not necessary.

Dropping boards should be level, and the perches arranged about six inches above them. The perches should be on a level, also, and of 2 by 4 supports that are hinged at the back end of the house so that the roosts can be raised out of the house while scraping the dropping boards.

A hoe with 15 or 18-inch blade is very satisfactory for scraping the dropping boards, and if used regularly once or twice a week will assist materially in maintaining the health of the flock. A small box arranged to hang from and slide along the front edge of the dropping board platform, to receive the droppings as they are scraped from the board, will help to preserve the fertilizer for the garden.

One nest should be provided for each five or six birds, and even more if trap nests are used. Twelve by twelve inches is large enough and one-fourth inch mesh hardware cloth is excellent for the bottom. Wall nests are to be preferred to those located under the dropping platform, but the wall nests require a top placed at an angle of at least 45 degrees, to prevent the chickens roosting on them. The runways along the front of the nests can also be made to fold up in front of the nest openings, which will keep the young birds from roosting in the nests at night and fouling them.

Dry mash hoppers are essential to the economical feeding of the flock; they should be raised on legs 18 inches to 2 feet from the floor.

Water stands should be raised the same as the mash hoppers, and are best made with a slatted top in the middle of which an opening is left to receive a 12-quart pail. The support for the bucket should be about six inches lower than the top of the platform.

A broody coop where feverish hens can be confined and fed is much to be preferred to ducking them or to starvation.

A catching coop is very desirable and almost necessary where any regular and consistent effort at culling is attempted. A heavy wire with one end bent to form a hook and the other end tied to an old broom handle is useful in catching a bird or two, as occasion may demand.

A bin where two or three hundred pounds of scratch grain may be stored in the chicken house is also a labor saver.

Details as to the construction of different items mentioned above must of course vary with the size of the flock and local conditions.

Difficult to Determine Sex of Goose or Gander

Ganders are usually a little larger and coarser than geese. The head of the gander is apt to be larger and the neck thicker. The cry of the goose is rather harsh, while the gander makes a shrill cry. The only accurate way is examination of the organs, or observation of the flock at mating time.

Laying ability of geese depends on the breed and the individuals. Toulouse geese will usually average about twenty eggs, and some produce thirty to thirty-five. White Chinese geese will lay from fifty to one hundred eggs. The Emunds are not generally quite as good layers as Toulouse, although very similar.

The lameness may be due to rheumatism caused by spending the night in a damp roosting place. Gistings sometimes become lame, due to faulty feeding methods caused by lack of mineral matter or animal feed in the ration.

Early Hatching Favored

Hatching in March and April instead of May and June has several advantages. In the first place, the early hatches do not meet the strenuous competition of chicks that are incubated by hens later in the season. The incubator can be made to yield more profitable returns by running it during the early months when farm work has not become heavy.

Winter Egg Production

Winter egg production does not depend entirely on the number of hens you keep. Regardless of the size of the flock they will all do the same thing without a balanced ration. Nearly everyone knows what is needed to feed hens a balanced ration. The problem is to keep all the different items on hand all the time. It really takes skillful management to do it, as many poultrymen work on limited capital and something is always running short.

Beyond Understanding

By G. P. WILSON

(C) 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

I HEARD a fellow make a speech once and he claimed it was easy to learn. It about women. All you had to do was to study them. We wondered since how he got away from his keeper. It's like this. Hazel got sore at me because I said that a ne-man wouldn't clerk in a grocery store.

"It's more refined and takes more brains than driving a mule in a coal mine," she argued, haughty like.

"Meaning that because I'm a 'mule skinner,' I'm shy under the hat," I said, getting sore myself. James Johnson, a clerk in the company store, has been trying to beat me out of Hazel for a long time. Naturally having him thrown up to me didn't make a bit.

"Meaning that very thing," Hazel agreed.

"All right, I'm crazy," I told her sarcastically. "I pull down eight dollars and a quarter every day I work and that 'counter hopper' you refer to doesn't make over twenty a week."

"Money's not everything," I said, looking wise.

"It won't buy culture and refinement," Hazel answered. "What future is there ahead of you? Nothing, but following a mule around until you get too old or all crippled up."

"Well, I'll die game, anyway," I said. "I won't be standing behind a counter going stale with the rest of the cheese. And that's that, as the fellow said when the white mule-kicked him. I'll be around at eight o'clock tomorrow night to take you to the dance."

"If you do you'll have a trip down here for nothing," Hazel told me. "I'm going to the dance with James."

"Where's he going to get the price of two tickets; knock down enough out of the cash sales?" I asked, getting ugly. "I hope I never see you again."

I hated this Johnson bird worse than any of my rivals. He was a classy dresser and a good looking and he sure swung a mean line of talk about ambition and culture. He could spring a convincing line of dope about a laboring man never getting anywhere, and he could show you, with talk, that grimy hands never handled much money. He about had Hazel believing it, too. That's what made me sore. Me making more in two weeks than he did in a month and then him raving about me not getting anywhere.

The dance, I thought I was going to take Hazel to, was to be some affair. It was generally understood, around town that Hazel was my girl and I knew if I didn't take her to the dance that the coal diggers on my run would razz me ragged about it.

After I'd got home and cooled off I gave myself a good cussing for getting into an argument with Hazel, but I couldn't figure out a way to square myself. I did call her up the next evening figuring maybe she had changed her mind or that Johnson couldn't raise the price, but she wouldn't talk to me.

There was a big crowd at the dance. I didn't want to go but I'd helped get it up and couldn't very well stay away. Johnson was there, all dolled up like a clothing store dummy and Hazel was with him, looking like a million dollars.

It made me feel awful blue to watch them dance together, love lost, shattered romance, effect. If you know what I mean, and you do if you were ever in love and had a fellow take your girl away from you. The boys were carrying on pretty high about me losing my girl and that didn't help calm me down any. I'd heard that women were crazy about cave-man stuff, so I figured that if I pulled off a little of the same, it might set me right with Hazel. I watched until I saw Johnson go in the coat room to take a smoke and followed him in.

"You've got your nerve with you, bringing my girl to this dance," I said. "Your girl?" he said, smiling at me. "How do you get that way?"

"Maybe after I get through changing your map, you'll understand," I told him.

"Let me get you right," he said. "Are you trying to pick a fight with me because I brought Hazel to this dance?"

"Not trying to, I'm going to," I answered, and slapped him on the side of the face.

He stepped back and began taking off his coat.

"I hate to do it," he grinned, cool and calm. "Always remember that you brought it on yourself."

Some of the boys who saw the fight say that it was short but fast and furious. I don't remember much about it myself. Johnson did most of the fighting and I did most of the trying. I'll have to admit that he whipped me good and plenty, and I don't think I so much as unussed his hair. After it was all over the boys washed my face and went back to the dance.

While I was sitting there by myself waiting to get enough strength back to leave, Hazel came in. She didn't say anything, but she put her arm around me and began dabbling around over my face with her handkerchief.

"I'll take back what I said about 'counter hoppers,'" I said sheepishly. "They're the best in the world."

"They are not," Hazel grinned, giving my face an extra pat. "I'd rather have a 'mule skinner' myself."

I'll leave it to you. If a guy claims he understands women, he's nuts. Ain't I right?

MRS. ROXIE PEEPLES LOWE PASSES AWAY

The death of Mrs. Roxie Peebles Lowe, beloved wife of W. J. Lowe, has brought the bitter cup of sorrow to the lips of friends and relatives. Mrs. Lowe passed away at her home on Central avenue in this city Monday morning, Jan. 26th, after a brief illness.

It is difficult to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of so noble a woman—one whose everyday life was embellished by the most charming and loving attributes of her sex. A perfect lady at all times, under all circumstances, she seemed born to inspire the love and respect of all who were so fortunate as to be acquainted with her. No one was more willing to aid the suffering, cheer the desponding, sustain the weak and to throw over the frailties of our race, the mantle of Christian charity, and when sickness and death came to her, as it comes to all, neighbors and friends vied with each other in acts of loving kindness and tender solicitude, and many were the willing hands and hearts ready to assist him upon whom rested the heavy responsibility of attempting to fight back the ravages of disease—to avert the inevitable, and in whom were united the devotion of a friend and the untiring skill and watchful care of the conscientious, painstaking physician, but love and skill were equally of no avail. The great destroyer had placed his signet on her brow and today hundreds who loved her living, mourn her dead.

Mrs. Lowe was a member of the Methodist Church and lived a consecrated Christian life. Besides a devoted husband, she leaves five children, Misses Lee Ella and Katherine Lowe, Prof. A. J. and Thomas Lowe of Fulton and Rowen Lowe of New Jersey; two sisters, Mrs. W. W. Armstrong of Memphis, and Mrs. Will Fry of Union City.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home in Forestdale, conducted by Revs. J. V. Freeman and W. W. Armstrong, assisted by the Rev. Riggs. Interment following at Walnut Grove Cemetery.

WILL VOTE ON $300,000 ROAD BOND ISSUE IN HICKMAN COUNTY

The citizens of Hickman county held a good roads meeting recently at Clinton, resulting in petitions being circulated to present the County Court asking that body to call an election for the purpose of voting on a bond issue of $300,000. Should the bond issue carry, part of the road development program of that county will be to connect Fulton and Carlisle counties with a good road through Hickman county. We urge the good people of Fulton county to assist our neighbors in every way possible in the campaign to carry the issue with an overwhelming majority.

BOLL WEEVIL MENACE SERIOUS

CLARENCE OUSLEY WARNS THE SOUTHERN COTTON GROWERS

PEST SURVIVAL NOTED

Variable Crop Going Into Hibernation and With Unfavorable Weather Conditions the Weevils Will Be Ready for Action

New Orleans.—Enough weevils will emerge from hibernation to develop into a destructive army if the weather in April, May and June of 1925 favors weevil development and the drought of the summer of 1924 will not assure freedom from weevil menace to cotton this year, it was declared by Clarence Ousley, director of the National Boll Weevil Control Association, after a visit to the United States Department of Agriculture's boll weevil experiment station at Tallulah, La.

The statement followed: "Contrary to a popular impression which seems rather widespread, there is no good reason for cotton farmers to expect in 1925 immunity from the boll weevil. Last year's weather conditions were happily unfavorable to weevil development and favorable to cotton growers. It is about the third such experience in 20 years and to assume that it will be repeated in 1925 is to make a very dangerous gamble. On the other hand, by the practice of the cultural methods now thoroughly tested and demonstrated in every cotton state by the practice of the processes of control by poison equally tested and widely demonstrated, the cotton belt by intelligence and industry need have no fear of being able to control the boll weevil, provided only that the farmers do not trust to the luck of weather but make the most of the information which has been gathered for them by painstaking research and confirmed by the best farmers in every cotton community."

After a visit to the United States Department of Agriculture's experiment station at Tallulah, La., and consulting the records there, I find there has been a variable crop of boll weevils going into hibernation. In typical regions in the west of the cotton belt, the number is rather small in some sections and about the average in others. East of the Mississippi River the numbers are much larger and in some parts of the southeast very large.

"Observations of survival to this date show variable results. Generally speaking, the survival is no larger than in recent years for which records have been kept; that is, from 1915 to 1924. For example, it varies from 14 at Tallulah, La., to 104 a ton of moss at Washington, La., for the period of late October to the middle of December. At St. George, South Carolina, at the middle of December, it was 192 and in the region of Valdosta, Ga., it was 38. These figures merely indicate the varying circumstances of weather and of location."

"It remains to be seen at the close of the winter, that is, about the last of February or the first of March how many weevils will finally emerge for the spring attack upon the cotton crop; but there is not the slightest reason in the experience of 30 years now in the minutest observations and records of the scientists to believe that the weevil has been eradicated or been reduced below the point of danger."

GEN. WOOD'S PET WAR WITH DUTCH ON AGAIN

Holds Old Glory on Tiny Island of Palmas

Washington.—Nineteen years ago while making an inspection tour of the Philippine territory ceded to the United States by Spain after the Spanish-American War, Major General Leonard Wood visited the tiny island of Palmas, 50 miles southeast of Mindanao.

Flying jauntily from the island staff, floated the colors of the Netherlands.

Gen. Wood ordered it hauled down instantly, and the American flag run up in its stead.

Long months passed, and in due time the Dutch government at the Hague was advised of Gen. Wood's conduct. A protest went forth with it, Washington, and Gen. Wood, in turn was asked to explain his action.

The general explained briefly, he asserted, that a reading of the Treaty of Paris between Spain and the United States disclosed that the island had been ceded along with the rest of the Philippine group.

Cyclone Ruins Town.

London.—A severe cyclone has razed the town of Roebourne, western Australia, and done damage of 100,000 pounds sterling in the village and adjoining territory, according to dispatches here. There is no mention of loss of life.

Calcutta.—The department of anti-epidemic is clearing the ground at the entrance of King Tut Ankhamen's tomb, which will be formerly handed to Howard Carter.

SCIENCE/ENRICHED STUDY OF ECLIPSE

PLANE THERMOMETERS DROP 35
DEGREES DURING TOTALITY

PHOTOGRAPHED IN AIRSHIP

Beautiful Pictures Made of Corona Air Becomes Inky Black at 18,000 feet Above Earth and Haze Below Blots Out View.

Mitchell Field, N. Y.—One of the oldest sciences, astronomy, collaborated with one of the newest, aeronautics, in adding to the sum-total of the accumulated wisdom of the ages.

Uncle Sam's army air service abandoned the pursuit lore to work with scientists, lifting them two or three miles above the earth's crust that they might better record data of the total solar eclipse. Although it was yet too early to forecast the exact scientific value of the data gathered those engaged in the work said they were assured the results ranked with the best ever achieved in this form of investigation. They believed, they said, that scientific knowledge of almost incalculable value would be the fruit of the day's work.

Dr. David Todd, venerable emeritus professor of astronomy at Amherst who has spent most of his 70 years in star gazing, and who was in general charge of operations at the military post here, displayed an almost boyish elation after he had consulted all the observers and pilots who participated in the experiments.

"We will learn much from today's experience," he said. "I cannot say how much. But it is safe to say that the magnificent work of the army air men in collaboration with astronomers will put the science of astronomy a mighty step forward."

Dr. Todd, in a preliminary and unofficial report, said he considered the greatest work of the Mitchell Field expedition the knowledge gained concerning the "jumping rabbits," the phantom shadow bands of the moon's shadow at the moment of the eclipse's totality. Hitherto there has been but little accurate knowledge of these strange ebon bands which leap and frolic grotesquely before the shadow of the moon at an incredible speed.

Major Davenport Johnson of this post, and his observer, Dr. W. J. Luyten of Harvard, centered their attention on this phase of the phenomenon. With the plane floating above West Point, they got a couple of excellent photographs of the mysterious shadows. Captain E. W. Flickinger, in charge of the ground observers of this particular phenomenon, also got pictures recording the mad gallop of the "jumping rabbits" across the shadows of the flying field. Still other ground observers noted the race of the bands across the faces of buildings.

Valuable data concerning the "jumping rabbits" was believed to be also contained in a photograph obtained by Lieut. C. W. Goddard, chief of the photographic division of the air service. This photograph taken a second before totality from a height of 16,999 feet above Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was declared by Dr. Todd to be the greatest eclipse picture in the history of astronomy.

VAUCLAIN PREACHES GOSPEL OF HARD WORK

Master Locomotive Builder Delivers Inspiring Address

Chicago.—If a man is out of work he should mend the gate and paint the fence.

When a million men do that at once it means active paint and nail factories. That is the philosophy of Samuel M. Vauclain of Philadelphia, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, as he spoke on "Optimism" before the Friday forum of the Central Y. M. C. A.

Surrounded by a group of railroad presidents, this 63-year-old young man and "world's master locomotive builder" recommended the gospel of hard work as the country's greatest need.

"Do something," he said. "Work to get work. Despair not the day of small things. Remember the Italian who said 'I make de man on da peanut and I eat it on da banana. This is the day of the peanut—the resurrection of activity is coming by way of small jobs. Peanut sales are all right if you only make enough of them. The wise manufacturer is one who loses no opportunity to make a peanut sale while closing big orders that never materialize."

Girl Slayer Analyzed

Chicago.—Dorothy Ellingson, who slew her mother because she stood in the way of her freedom, is not a new type, but as old as the world. Thus declared Frank I. Norris, famous evangelist, of Fort Worth, Texas, on his arrival here, adding, "Dorothy Ellingson is the product of the social conditions of the age. In her profile, she is the reaping the harvest of its disbelief, its disregard for law, its free love cult, its jazz cabarets, its rolled stockings, its fancy garters, and its bobbed hair."

U. S. PAYROLL

URGES THE ELIMINATION OF SUPERFLOUS EMPLOYEES

THREE BILLIONS IS LIMIT

Budget Leaders Form "Two Per Cent Club" To Lash That Amount Off of the Estimates for Various Departments.

Washington.—Elimination of superfluous employees from the federal payroll was demanded by President Coolidge in an address at the semi-annual meeting of the business organization of the government.

The president urged department and bureau chiefs to hold expenditures for the fiscal year, which will end on June 30, down to an even $3,000,000,000, exclusive of debt reductions and postal expenditures. On the basis of present estimates this will require an aggregate cut of $62,000,000 between now and the end of June.

To effect this saving Director of the Budget H. M. Lord, who also addressed the meeting, proposed the formation of a "2 per cent" club. The membership fee, he said, will be 2 percent, the saving of this percentage of the current appropriation being sufficient to run the government without the $62,000,000.

Commenting on prospects for the fiscal year 1926, President Coolidge said that a surplus of $373,000,000 is in prospect and that he hopes in the budget submitted in December to be able to recommend a further reduction in taxes.

$2,000 for Heirs.

Washington.—A bill introduced in the House of Representatives T. Webster Wilson of Mississippi seeks relief for the dependents of the men who were killed on the battleship Mississippi. Under the terms of the bill the heirs of each man killed would receive the sum of $2,000. There were several Mississippi boys killed in this disaster.

POINT OF ORDER MADE BY VIRGINIA SOLON

Washington.—The postal pay and rate increase bill was given a clear road in the Senate when a point of order against all the proposed rate advances was defeated, 50 to 29, although considerable debate and some changes in these provisions are in prospect.

Further consideration of the measure went over after the vote, which came later, and there is a likelihood also that Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, in charge of the bill, will permit it to be laid aside for the War Department appropriation measure.

Eleven Democrats and one Farmer-Labor, Johnson of Minnesota, joined with Republicans in defeating the point of order against the rate increase section, which, if sustained, would have caused a delay until the House, which has not yet received it from the committee, would act on the bill.

Bandits Take $7,163.

New Orleans, La.—Two bandits entered an uptown branch of the Interstate Banking and Trust Co., representing themselves as gas "meter readers," and seized $7,163 from the cash tills. They then fled in an automobile.

First Hebrew School

Jerusalem.—Palestine's first modern Hebrew university has been started here with the opening of Jewish Institute of Studies. More than 100 students are enrolled.

Austria Seeks Loans.

Vienna.—Minister of Finance Schurf has informed parliament Austria will seek permission from the League of Nations to float a foreign loan of 100,000,000 gold crowns.

Slay Chinese Christians.

Shanghai.—A permanent missionary informed a Reuter's correspondent that the military authorities in the province of Fukien had beheaded 200 Christian Chinese farmers because they refused to grow opium.

President Coolidge's salary, traveling expenses and the upkeep of the White House cost about $125,000 a year.

The Japanese government has granted a subsidy of 180,000 yen to the Japanese Radio Broadcasting Co. for the next fiscal year.

$100,000 Wedding For Daughter

Chicago.—Viewed from all angles, the marriage in Holy Name Cathedral of Miss Loretta Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman, to Howell Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Howard of Dayton, Ohio, will be an outstanding event. Cardinal Mundelein will perform the ceremony, with Bishop Kelley of Oklahoma, singing mass. Pope Plus has sent his blessing and a rosary of crystal beads the bride will wear. The wedding will cost $100,000 or more.

Fulton Ice Company

One of the substantial manufacturing enterprises of this city is the Fulton Ice company. This plant was established in 1898 and its capacity is 50 tons per day. It supplies not only the city of Fulton, but all the nearby towns, as well as hundreds of cars re-iced.

The plant is up-to-date in every particular, using the latest machinery in the ice manufacturing line. And is one of the best in Kentucky. The business has steadily grown and a large new brick storage building has been erected with a storage capacity of 3,500 tons.

Mr. R. H. Wade, the genial manager has been in charge of the plant ever since it started in 1898. He is thoroughly posted in the business and he looks after his business personally, ably assisted by his son-in-law J. Ramsey Snow, seeing that orders are promptly taken care of and that the customers get just what they order. Mr. Wade is one of the most popular and reliable business men in Fulton and Mayor of the city.

The ice of this plant is made from pure, freestone water, coming from a considerable depth in the earth. There is no deposit of any kind in it and the ice made from it is of the clearest, purest crystal and does not melt as rapidly as ice that is made of impure or muddy water to begin with and has a solid body.

This means quite a percentage of saving to the customer. Fulton can feel a just pride in her splendid ice plant.

WHERE CAN I GROW ROSES?

That is a question often asked. Well, roses can be grown almost anywhere, but for the best blooming results care should be given in selecting the location. Several available spaces for the rose-beds are usually to be found on the average home grounds. The writer has had the good fortune to visit a number of rose-gardens that are famous—and others that deserve to be, and this may be said of all: that they lie on the genial, sunny side of a generous tree group or copse, but are open to the gentle breezes, and are not shut in or shaded.

When buying a new property, the selection of the most suitable spot upon it for the house is scarcely more important than the selection of a site for your rose-garden. You will choose a sunny room, if possible, for the indoor nursery, where the little fairies in your home may romp and play on a wintry day; and so, too, will you wish to provide for the happiness and well-being of your rose children, because only a few of them are prairie-born. Only a small section of this large family has been reared to bear the rigors of gusty, sweeping, or whipping winds at any time of the year, and from such, for the best results they must be protected. It is not only the severe, cold winds of winter, or the raw, cutting swish of spring, but the hot, withering winds of summer, too, that may ruin the opening buds and spoil the almost ripe fruits of your labor.

Choose a place, therefore, or establish one, protected either by trees, a hedge, a wall, a building, or some other wind-break. Even a hedge of roses, or climbers, upon a substantial trellis will avail, although a denser screen is more effective. Choose, too, a place where the sun will shine for not less than one-half of the day, preferably the morning. By this you will see that a space opening away to the South or Southeast is to be preferred.

Avoid the too close shade of trees, or the proximity of tree roots; they are ravenous robbers. If the roots can reach over to your rose beds, they will do it and steal away the nourishment you have provided. Therefore, either keep entirely away from them or, if you must dig your bed near them, put in a partition on the tree side to keep back the roots. (To be continued.)

COCK FIGHT FANS MAY DODGE TRIAL

MANY PLAN TO PLEAD GUILTY OF ATTENDING COCK FIGHT HELD IN CLARK.

Mt. Sterling—Many of the 200 persons summoned to appear in the investigation of the cock fight held on the Harry B. Clay farm, nine miles from Winchester on the Paris-Winchester Pike, will plead guilty to County Attorney H. H. Moore of Clark County rather than go through a trial. It has been learned here that Mr. Moore was instructed to investigate the cock fight by Gov. William J. Fields.

A dispatch from Paris told of the wild flight of some of the participants and declared the second day's fight was called off.

No Court, Report.

It is unlikely the court of inquiry will be called in Winchester. It was stated here. It is believed about 450 persons were present. Automobile license plates showed the audience from at least nine States.

The information of the main went even to Governor Fields, who said he had heard the fight would be held in Bourbon County and had instructed the County Attorney of that county to take steps to prevent this violation of the law.

Calls for Inquiry.

The County Attorney of Bourbon reported to the Governor that he had investigated and found the fight was to be held in Clark. His information reached the Governor too late for him to notify the Clark officials.

50,000,000 Pounds 1924 Weed Sold.

Lexington—The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, through its vice president, Theodore H. Kirk, purchased 50,000,000 pounds of the 1924 crop of burley tobacco from the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association at association prices, according to an announcement made by James C. Stone, president and sales manager of the Burley Cooperative, who represented the association in the deal.

In December the Reynolds Company purchased 50,000,000 pounds of tobacco from the Burley cooperative, including all its holdings of the 1922 crop, amounting to approximately 17,000,000 pounds, ready for manufacture, the remainder being taken from the re-dried crop of 1923.

250 Pound Man Overbalances Car.

Taylorsville—Thomas E. Tipton, 50 years old, farmer and stock raiser, was crushed to death beneath an overturned automobile on the Taylorsville Road, three and a half miles east of Jeffersonton, while the driver of the motor tried vainly to extricate himself and so save Tipton. The two men were returning to their home near Taylorsville in a small roadster when the driver, John W. Snyder, 55 years old, a farmer, steered too near the right edge of the newly built road in rounding a curve. Tipton, who weighs about 250 pounds, was seated on the right side of the car. His weight overbalanced the motor, causing it to go over the brink into a five-foot ditch, pinning both men.

Ashland Mayor Attacks Pastor.

Ashland—The Ashland City Council unanimously passed resolutions condemning Mayor William Salisbury for his alleged "wantonly malicious and untruthful attack" on the Rev. E. R. Overley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, whom the Mayor haled into the Police Court for interrogation in law enforcement. The Council declared the Mayor's action was not "decent" and it warned Mr. Salisbury to desist from such practices.

Vigilance Band Organized.

Harrodsburg—Residents of McAfee and Talmadge, neighboring communities four miles from here, met and organized a vigilance band for the purpose of suppressing thievery and other law violations which have been going on in that section and various other places in the county. Tobacco ready for market has been taken from a number of barns, chickens have been stolen and depredations and law violations of various kinds have been so numerous that the organization of the "Citizens' Protective Society" is an effort of the people to protect their properties.

K. K. K. Stages Spectacle.

Marion—The first Ku Klux Klan demonstration in this county was held here on the Judge J. W. Flynn farm. Just north of the city limits, near the new Paducah-Evansville pike. The first indication which the populace had of an exhibition was when two heavy blasts of dynamite were exploded in the Flynn field and a moment later a huge "fiery cross" was seen to burst into full flame. Perhaps a hundred men and women from the town attended.

Dispute Telephone Rates.

Owensboro—The city commissioners have informed the officials of the Cumberland Telephone Company, that they will not agree to allowing telephone charges under a unified system of more than $3 for residence phones and $6 for business houses. The officials of the telephone company threaten to take the matter to Federal Court, claiming they will be entitled to a rate of $3.25 for residences and $6 for business houses under the expenditures they propose to make in Owensboro combining the two systems.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

It is an old saying that two heads are better than one, and on the same principle two heads together are better than when they are facing in opposite directions. It will pay us to keep our heads together in this town, for the good of the town and each individual in the town.

When we are facing in opposite directions and pulling apart we get nowhere and accomplish nothing. The result of our labors is a cipher.

But not so when we get our heads together. Not so when we act as a community and not as individuals. Not so when we all face a definite object and pull until we get there.

It is good to keep our heads together. We learn each other's ideas and ambitions and thoughts, and this knowledge springs the impetus that brings success to any community.

Let's get our heads together in this town, and keep them there.

Some people talk much and do little. Others talk little and do much. A few are betwixt and between and never succeed in setting themselves or the world afire.

There is, however, a happy medium which will afford us the necessary outlet for our thoughts and yet serve the good of the community at large.

Don't be a clam, and don't be a big noise. Talk when you feel like it, but talk sense and talk to people who have sense. When we do that we will gradually bring to the surface the good points in each other; we will open up opportunities for the development of the community, and will be able to hit upon the means of pushing our town along.

The man who talks little but says much when he does talk is often silent when a little talk from him would accomplish wonders. On the other hand, the big noise is known as a noise and commands about as much attention and remembrance as a passing gust of wind.

Talk up, but speak gently and to the point. You will be both heard and heeded.

Every person knows his own mind, but it is not every one who knows how to apply it. Many have positive convictions on certain subjects, but have not the power of will to assert those convictions in the face of determined opposition.

Every person has a mind of his own, but each mind is susceptible to influence from other minds, both great and small. The babies of the fool will sink into the brain of a man of intellect, and sooner or later will have its effect in one way or another. The fool listens to the wise man and immediately imagines that he is himself the fount of wisdom. The man who walks the middle course absorbs both the wisdom and the foolishness of the others.

The fellow who goes through life kicking at other people usually is propelled into eternity by a kick from the devil. Kicking doesn't pay either the kicker or the fellow who is kicked. The injustice of an unjust kick leaves many a heartache behind which rankles and grows into bitterness which lasts for months and years. At times it ceases only with the death of the victim. But the victim is not the only one who loses in the game. The kicker makes a reputation for himself with every kick that he gives, and that reputation follows him through life. When the day comes that he needs the services of a friend he often finds that he has kicked the only people to whom it is possible for him to turn. He loses because he has kicked himself out of the confidence of his fellowmen. Don't kick.

Again we suggest that you speak a good word for this town. If you look around you can find plenty of opportunities for doing so, and the more good things you say of the town the more the people of the town will say of you. The home booster may make a few enemies among the chronic kickers, but he will make hundreds of friends among the solid people of the community. Speak and be heard.

MORE PUBLICITY

In looking over the various newspapers throughout the purchase we often wonder why we see so little publicity given the good features of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association. In fact, we seldom see an item in the papers regarding the Association unless it is about some poor unfortunate weak-kneed brother who is being sued for violating his obligations.

Tobacco Growers Association should have a live publicity department to take care of the work of keeping its members in touch with every good movement made by the organization through the press. The editor of The Fulton Advertiser believes in the principles of cooperative marketing, and we believe in the Dark Tobacco Association, but why not give it the publicity it deserves.

The News-Democrat expresses our sentiments exactly when it says:

"To fail to take advantage of this opportunity to broadcast favorable news to its members and tobacco growers in general indicates to us a failure on the part of those in charge of this department of Association work to realize a fine chance to keep before the public the construction side of the work being done."

"In our opinion it is a mistaken policy on the part of the management that does not take advantage of every favorable development to send out news that will uphold the morale of the loyal members and tend to strengthen the knees of the weak-kneed brother."

PEOPLE YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

There are many people in this town you ought to know, for your own sake. Some of them you may not know, but you should.

You should know the banker. He is the one who supplies you with money when you need it, and cares for your money when you have it. No town can conduct modern business without him.

You should know each merchant. They have the goods you want, and if you know each one personally you also know something of the wares they sell. This enables you to buy judiciously and saves you many a lost penny.

You should know the mechanic. Every time an improvement is made you must call him in. If you know them all you likewise know the one who is most likely to give you the best service.

You should know the school teacher. He is responsible to a great degree for the molding of the character of your children, for the lessons they learn while under his care are not forgotten even unto the brink of the grave. Know him, and help him.

You should know the farmer. He holds the world in the hollow of his hand. To him we look for the production of the sustenance of life, and without him we could not live.

You should know the minister. He is interested in you, though you may give little thought to him. He does not supply you with the bread you eat, or the clothes you wear, but he does beckon you along the road to a better life beyond. Know him, and hear him, and heed him.

And brother, you should know the sheriff. When the devil gets under your hide the sheriff is a good man to know. If you are inclined to kick up a little dust your knowledge of him may cause you to pause before you kick. Yes, brother, know the sheriff, for while you are a good citizen, he is your friend, and when you cease to be good he puts you where you can be nothing but good.

THREE DIED TRYING TO SAVE FRIENDS

GAS-FILLED SHAFT IS SCENE OF STIRRING HEROISM

FOUR BODIES BROUGHT UP

"Big Bill" Martin, a Steel Worker, Faces Almost Certain Death After Four Others Had Perished in Deep Shaft.

Columbus, Ohio.—A small gas filled shaft, 47 feet deep, within a cession of the New American Insurance Union building here, claimed the lives of four men, three of the victims going to their doom as heroes in the eyes of their fellow workers. A fifth man, who went to the rescue of his pals in the shaft came through unscathed and a few hours later a movement was started intended to fittingly reward him for his heroism.

The dead: C. R. Bowen, 22, Greenwood, Ind. Jack Smith, New York City. John C. McCarthy, 48, New York City. John Peterson, 22, Columbus.

All were steamfitters, employed by the John Gill Construction Co. of Cleveland.

Circumstances surrounding the tragedy are not clear. It is believed Bowen was in the shaft fitting pipes when he was overcome and fell to the bottom. Fellow workmen noticed that activity had ceased within the shaft. Then one of the victims climbed down to see what had happened. When neither appeared within a short time, another went down the tube to investigate. They McCarthy, the last of the victims, volunteered and he disappeared through the mouth of the shaft some 18 or 20 feet above street level.

All was quit within the tube and workmen gathered about suspecting that something was wrong. Ambulances and physicians were summoned.

GIRL SHOT LOVER AND THEN KILLS HERSELF

District Attorney Convinced Man's Story True.

Pekin, Ill.—That Mary Eitenmiller, 20, shot him and herself, while he slept in the coupe in which the two had been for two nights and a day, is the new version of the double shooting Tuesday, told by Fred Lichtenberger, 28, farm hand, sweetheart of the Eitenmiller girl, for whose murder he is being held. Developments, including the finding of the death notes of the two, have convinced State's Attorney Dunkelberg that this is the correct story.

Lichtenberger told his new story after he learned the girl died.

Lichtenberger related how a week ago he attempted suicide.

"Mary fired the first two shots," Lichtenberger said. "I didn't want to tell it on her if she lived. I fell asleep in the car and she took the gun out of my pocket. When I came to, I saw the revolver lying at her feet, and blood running down the side of her face. I grabbed the revolver and she said for me to shoot her again and to make sure that both of us would go. I was shot in the head, but it only stunned me. I didn't know what I was doing, I guessed—I closed my eyes and shot, and then I shot myself."

"Mary fired two shots and I fired two."

The crumpled note, found in the car under the microscope, disclosed the following: "Give the Ford to Pete Lichtenberger and pay Henry Stocker $15. Signed Fred Lichtenberger. On the reverse side of the same paper was written: "William Eitenmiller—Goodbye to all. I got what I wanted at last. Mary Eitenmiller."

William Eitenmiller is the dead girl's father.

What is the Chamber of Commerce?

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of the city. It reflects the ideals of the community. It expresses the aspirations of the people. It gives direction to the aims of the citizenship. It combines the efforts of those who think in terms of helpfulness. It reduces unorganized elements to an organized unit. It speaks in defense of the good name of the city. It defends the city against the traducer. It is the spotlight that reveals activities that are worthy. It leads in behalf of the voiceless. It is the center of worth while enterprise. It is the magnet that draws the outside world to your midst. It is the clearing house of civic pride. It is the power house of progress. It is a composite picture of a city as its citizenship would have it.

Twelve Good Reasons for Owning One's Home

Here are a round dozen reasons why the "Own Your Home" movement is worth while for every man to join eventually. "Why not now?"—to use a well-known advertising slogan. The reasons follow:

A home is the best investment you can make, and it will yield the biggest returns on your money.

It creates a feeling of assurance and independence.

It is a big step toward future happiness and success.

You need not wait until you have the full amount in order to begin purchasing your home.

By making monthly payments you pay for your home with the same amount of money, sometimes less than you are now paying for rent.

Each month your equity in the property becomes greater.

When you are living in your home you are not living in an atmosphere of uncertainty.

You will be secure in the thought, "I will not be forced to move from the neighborhood in which I have lived for many years."

You can continue to worship in the same church, your children can continue at the same school and you can continue the association and friendship of your neighbors.

You do not have to importune the landlord, who is deaf to your urgent plea to fix the roof, the furnace or the porch.

When you own your home you add prestige to your standing in the community and among your business associates.

To own a home is a duty you owe your wife and children—almost as important as life insurance.

"Consider this dozen daily," paraphrased another "ad" man.

Would Take Billboards From Public Highways

The National Association of Real Estate Boards has issued a statement expressing approval of a law just becoming effective in Iowa, which prohibits billboards on public highways.

The new Iowa law was enacted primarily as a measure of public safety.

A confusion of advertising signs along the way obscures the official signs placed to warn of turns, sharp curves, railroad crossings and the like. But it is no less valuable as a measure for conserving scenic spots for the enjoyment of the general public, the association points out in its statement.

The view from the highway does not belong to the individual who owns the property along the right of way. It is a community possession. Real estate owners are interested in the whole present movement to eliminate billboards from highways where they are a blot on scenery, a priceless public possession.

Modern Principles

A grocer in a western town has an arrangement with the pastors of the various churches whereby he "swaps" with them the names of new families moving into town.

The merchant and the ministers jot the names down in little notebooks and compare every two weeks.

This is one of the plans used to get the names of newcomers.

They also watch the papers and keep in touch with real estate men. As soon as they learn of a new family in town they call personally.

Finding the right place to attend church or trade is always a job for a woman who has just moved. So she is usually glad to give an order to the one who takes the trouble to call on her. And by starting on a friendly basis they generally succeed in getting her trade and holding it.—The Progressive Grocer.

City's Need of Trees

Beautification of Illinois cities through city control of all trees along the streets, for which there are laws on the statute books, is being brought to the attention of various cities by P. L. Phelps of Rochelle, Ill., scientific forester, supported by the Illinois Municipal league.

"Providing shade," Mr. Phelps says, "should be as much a municipal function as providing lights or sidewalks. To obtain satisfactory results, it is necessary that the city own and control all street trees."

"Nothing adds more to the beauty of a city than its well-ordered trees. This fact long has been recognized, and for many years householders have been planting trees adjoining their property in an effort to beautify that part of the city in which they live."

Change in City Managers

City managers are not invariably regarded by the cities themselves as precious possessions, a correspondent of the London Times in America writes to that journal. Forty per cent of 219 managers have been allowed to serve for less than two years. One city in Oregon has had ten managers in nine years, and Columbus, Ga., had three in one year. Nevertheless, for all its drawbacks, in theory and practice, the city manager plan seems to be making steady headway.

Ask Mary Kate if she has learned to Play Checkers yet?
Some few days ago, one of our new employees asked Mr. McGinnis if she might take a ride on the elevator as she had never had the pleasure of doing so before. Miss Mary Kate Pewitt and Mrs. Nell Williams, our famous funmakers, thinking this a very good joke, immediately started to make fun. Guess Kate and Nell has forgotten their first day at the factory when going home that evening with some friends, stated that they didn't mean to work any longer than cold weather for there wasn't any fireplace, grate or stove in the building and they strictly didn't mean to sit there and freeze to death.
Someone wondered why Lila Jones was always laughing up her sleeve. That's easily solved for there's where her funnybone is.
Hattie Austin while working very hard the other day said: "I wish the Lord had made me a man." Ruth Calbert said, "Maybe he did but you haven't found him yet."
"How long can a person live without brains?" asked Harold. "How old are you?" inquired Pennebaker.
Pete is sure he has erysipelas as his ears have been paining him for two weeks.

IT'S THE EXTRA MILK

That more than pays the slight difference in cost between PURINA COW CHOW FEED and other rations.

What if it does cost about one cent more per cow per day to use PURINA COW CHOW FEED—it makes a cow give from one to three pounds more milk per day.

Then too—PURINA COW CHOW keeps cows in better condition even when on test giving record yields—a 24% protein ration, (20% digestible protein) all a cow can assimilate, with no waste energy and ideal physical condition.

Try a ton and you will realize why PURINA COW CHOW FEED is the most used quality ration in the country.

At Baptist Church Last Sunday

Sunday was a glorious day for Fulton Baptists. At the morning services Rev. C. H. Warren delivered a splendid talk which hit the spot, judging from the spontaneous response which followed for subscriptions to the fund to complete the new church building. From all indications work will begin soon on the upper story and pushed as rapidly as possible to completion. By accepting the offer at once, we understand that the people the Baptists are dealing with, will allow a discount of $7.00 per thousand on brick to complete the building. This means quite a saving and of course the offer will be accepted as the brick being used costs more than $30.00 per thousand.

There were 326 in attendance at Sunday school.

The basement auditorium of the new building is entirely too small to accommodate crowds at the preaching services.

The beautiful anthem at the morning services was a delightful feature.

At the close of the morning services when the invitation was given, four went forward for membership.

WHICH ELEVATOR ARE YOU ON?

St. Peter: "You say you did not subscribe or pay anything on the building fund of the new Baptist church at Fulton?"

New Arrival: "No, St. Peter, I didn't think."

St. Peter: "Elevator No. 2, please?"

New Arrival: "What time does it go up?"

St. Peter: "It doesn't go up. It goes down."

J. W. LEWIS HAS RECEIVED 200,000 POUNDS OF TOBACCO

In speaking of the tobacco situation, J. W. Lewis, independent buyer, says: "We have not had a good season for deliveries and handling of the weed since before Christmas." Mr. Lewis has already received more than 200,000 pounds at his barn, corner of Carr and Second streets. He said the grades are on a par with the 1923 crop, the worst we have had in years, although the prices paid have been very satisfactory to the grower. During the season Mr. Lewis employs a large working force at his barn and thousands of hogsheads of tobacco are prized and shipped out of Fulton by this buyer each year.

It is predicted that between six and seven million pounds of tobacco will be delivered in Fulton this season.

"GRANNY, GET YOUR HAIR CUT"

Granny get your hair cut; paint your face and shine.

Granny get your hair cut short like mine.

If you want to kick high and have a big time,

Granny, get your dress cut short like mine.

Come to the club, with paint on your nose.

Don't mind your dress, so you wear silk hose.

Come to the dance like the gray mule pitches,

Cut a big shine in granddad's breeches.

Stand on your head, Granny, kick at the moon,

Like we girls do when we want to marry soon.

Don't be ashamed, nor think you are fast.

For modesty and virtue are things of the past.

We'll go to the ball-ground, where the boys play bat.

And we'll go to the park where the girls skin the cat.

We'll ride the gray mule, without skirt or saddle,

For now the men walk and the women ride a-straddle.

Come to the bathing pool, Granny, and dive like a shad.

Like we girls do, when we hide with the boys from dad.

Come to the movies where all silly women come,

For that which was once vulgar is now only fun.

Then, Granny, get your hair cut, caper and shine,

Granny, get your dress cut short like mine.
