bett, his father and grandfather have been honored with various positions of public trust and responsibility, and have taken an active and beneficial part in molding the policy of county and commonwealth. Over the record of his public career there falls no shadow of wrong, or suspicion of evil, his capability and fidelity to duty being such as to win for him admiration and high regard. Thomas H. Corbett, father of our subject, was born in Hickman county, Ky., Jan. 8, 1830. Educated in the Kentucky Military Institute, near Frankfort; he later began the practice of law in Blandville, until when in 1876, he moved to Paducah and engaged in the tobacco commission business. During his life he served his state in the general assembly for ten terms and was always an active leader in all questions concerning the welfare of his state. He was appointed by President Cleveland in 1893, receiver of the land office at Guthrie Oklahoma, holding the office for four years. His death at Frankfort in May, 1902, marked the end of an honorable and distinguished career.

Jacob Corbett, our subject, the second son, was reared and educated in Blandville, commencing his public life as page in the Kentucky house of representatives, 1869 to 1873. He studied law under Hon. James D. White, of Blandville, and was admitted to the bar in July 1878. Mr. Corbett, has always been prominent in politics, serving as city attorney of Blandville, private secretary to Governor Blackburn during his full term, late private secretary to Governor Knott, secretary to the first Kentucky board of equalization, enrolling clerk of the house of representatives, sergeant at arms one session, and deputy in the office of the state land register.

Many times called to public service by those who recognize his ability and his thorough devotion to the general good and the trust reposed in him. He has always labored earnestly and very effectively for the welfare of his party, being the secretary of the democratic state campaign committee in 1888. From 1893 to 1896, he was cashier of the government land office at Guthrie Oklahoma. 1898 found him practicing law in Wickliffe Ky., where in 1901 he was elected prosecuting attorney of the county.

In 1893 Mr. Corbett was married to Miss Emma V. Smith, a native of Milan Tenn. They reside on a farm about a mile and a half from Wickliffe, where Mr. Corbett combines the pleasure of farming with the practice of law. He has been so blessed that he is in character and talents, a worthy scion of his race. His own career has reflected great credit upon the family name, which has always been associated with the records of honorable service in Kentucky. It is quite probable that Mr. Corbett will be a candidate to succeed Ollie James in Congress. If so he will be a formidable factor in the race.

his oath of office. During the night rider troubles, so state wide was the attention given him, that he was universally endorsed over the state by leading men of both parties, when he became an applicant for membership on State Board of Control, which office he is now filling with dignity and honor. As a member of the Board of Control here are some things that he has done: Suggested the placing of the Educational department of the Kentucky institution for feeble minded Children at Frankfort on a Manual Training and industrial basis and was appointed a committee by the Board of Control for Charitable Institutions to do so. Entered upon the work at once and today we have such a school of this character as is a great credit to the state. Suggested the lack of system in collecting accounts, was appointed a committee by the Board to formulate a proper plan, made a report of a plan in writing to the Board which was adopted and is proving a great saving to the state. Took a leading part in solving the very difficult question of an adequate water supply at the Lakeland Asylum. Has been an earnest advocate of the abolition of restraints at the different asylums. Has given earnest and efficient aid in placing the management of these institutions on a high plane till today it is known of all men that never before in their history have they been so successfully managed. As county Judge A. J. G. Wells was the pioneer in real road building in Calloway county. Notwithstanding the fact that providence had placed most all over the county the finest gravel is great abundance, no effort was made to gravel the public roads until he was elected County Judge, whereupon he began to agitate the feasibility of the plan, and a few weeks after his election, prepared an order, and earnestly presented it to the Fiscal court as the best and cheapest way to permanently improve the highways of the county. This order providing that the county meet any community of citizens on what was known as "The half way plan" in graveling of the roads in any section was adopted by the court. This was the beginning of gravel roads in Calloway county. So well has the plan worked that now the county has between one and two hundred miles of the prettiest and best gravel roads to be found in the state. Nor is this all, although we were a half century beginning it is now certain that

HON. J. C. SPEIGHT.

J. C. Speight was born 40 years ago in "dear old Georgia," and that's good enough for anybody. He is the Mayfield member of the firm of Acres & Speight and they command a large practice. Mr. Speight stands high as a lawyer and citizen, and is known as one of the strongest men before a jury in Kentucky. He always has his cases well prepared and his contemporaries regard him as an opponent worthy of any man's steel. Mr. Speight occasionally takes a hand in politics and the same may be said of him in that field of endeavor. However, he wins more cases in the courthouse than he does on the hustings. Physically Mr. Speight is a rare type of perfect manhood. We utilize little hesitancy in saying that he is a handsome, graceful, and with the manners of a cultured and refined Southern gentleman.

When he came to the Hopkinsville schools there were two buildings and one other in process of construction, all with a valuation of $50,000 and a faculty of 23 teachers. When the two new high schools, one for the white and one for the colored people, shall have been completed during this year there will be six buildings at a total cost of $200,000 and a teaching force of 46. A. J. G. WELLS.

Judge A. J. G. Wells, member of Kentucky State board of Control of Charitable Institutions. Democrat, former county judge of Calloway county, was born Oct. 23, 1868 in Calloway county, son of Andrew J. and Mary M. Wells. He was educated in the Murray schools, and Southern Normal University, later principal of Tresevant (Tenn.) Male and Female College and structor of Southern Normal. He graduated in law and began practice in Murray with Rainey T. Wells. In 1904 he was nominated for county Judge by democrats and in 1908 that office by a large majority. He served with great distinction and commendation

JUDGE C. H. BUSH.

Judge C. H. Bush, of Hopkinsville was born in Montgomery county, Tenn., but came to Kentucky with his parents at the age of seven and has lived in Christian county nearly all his life. He read law and was licensed to practice in Paducah, Ky., and located in Hopkinsville Ky. in 1881 and has been unusually successful in the practice of his profession, in both civil and criminal business. Judge Bush has been twice married. His family consists of a wife and five children, three of whom are grown, one married, and two yet in school. Judge Bush is regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in the state and has been connected with many celebrated cases. He has never engaged in politics to any extent, though he made the race for circuit judge in 1903 against Judge T.

P. Cook and was defeated after a campaign voted for its well, noted for its vigor. Judge Bush is a companionable man, quick in repartee, and his quaint retorts are relished and often quoted by members of the bar in Western Kentucky.

JAMES BREATHITT, Attorney General.

Was born Sept. 4 1852 at Hopkinsville, Christian County, Ky. He is a son of John William and Catherine A. Breathitt, and comes from a long line of distinguished ancestors. His father was a prominent Kentucky farmer and merchant, grandson of James Breathitt of Logan County Ky. a well known attorney in his day. James Breathitt was educated in the common schools of Hopkinsville and Christian county later a graduate of Law from the Cumberland University of Lebanon Tenn., in the year 1877. Before attaining his majority Mr. Breathitt had been appointed to the important offices of both Deputy Sheriff and Deputy County Clerk of Christian county. His political life has been a series of advancement: beginning with the city attorney of Hopkinsville, he later served his county for two years in the state legislature. He was elected Judge of the Third Circuit Court District to fill out the unexpired term of Judge John R. Grae. Afterward elected County Judge of Christian county and was in the tenure of that office when elected Attorney General of the state. In 1889 he married Miss Olive Thompson of Hopkinsville, and to this union has been born four sons and three daughters. Mr. Breathitt is considered one of the foremost attorneys of the state, a speaker of force and eloquence, and one of the best campaign orators of the state. He established an enviable record as head of the Commonwealth's legal department, and his intimate and political friends have urged him to make the race for the republican nomination for Governor in 1911.

JUDGE S. P. SIMPSON.

Judge S. P. Simpson, head of the police court of Murray for 16 years was born in Shelby county Kentucky, October 25, 1835. He moved with his parents to west Kentucky in 1845 first locating in Christian county then in Ballard. Mr. Simpson moved to Murray in 1892. Recognizing his worth the citizens soon elected him to the bench by popular vote, a place he has filled nearly ever since, with credit to himself and honor to the community.

He has tempered justice with mercy, but he has been especially severe upon the boot-legging element, usually giving them the limit. Judge Simpson is a Kentuckian of the old school. His grandmother Simpson was a niece of Daniel Boone. He was married November 8, 1860 to Miss Fannie Washburn of Shelby county. They have two children, Miss Florence and Mr. R. D. Simpson, the last named being one of Murray's substantial business men.

E. A. HUGHES, MAYOR.

Now serving his second term as Mayor of Murray was born on a farm near Coldwater, Calloway county, in 1867. He is a son of W. L. Hughes. Like nearly everybody else in Murray Mr. Hughes was reared on a farm and received his education in the common schools. Mr. Hughes was married in 1892 to Miss Morgana Radford, daughter of the late J. M. Radford. They have five children, all girls.

They moved to Murray about twelve years ago and Mr. Hughes accepted a place in the Bank of Murray, and for several years he has held the place of assistant cashier and is also a director in that old reliable institution. Mr. Hughes is very popular especially with the active young men, and with the business men of the town who do things. As mayor he has always stood for progress and his energy and influence has been given toward the advancement of the town. He stands for a greater and better Murray and ere his present administration ends we predict that there will be great improvement of public utilities in the town.

A. S. BROOKS.

A. S. Brooks, deputy marshal of Murray, is a son of John and Sarah Brooks. He was born in Calloway county Dec. 24 1857 and reared on a farm. He was married Nov. 12 88 to Miss Cleo Morris. They have two children, Clyde a grown son, and Miss Rexie. Mr. Brooks served as deputy sheriff under J. M. Radford, and deputy assessor with Bert Peterson. He was elected deputy marshal by the city council of Murray in 1907. He has been a native of Murray for seven years and no man stands higher in the estimation of the people. He has made a faithful official in the positions he has occupied.

GUS NIX.

Gus Nix, city marshal of Murray, was born on a farm in Calloway county 33 years ago. He is a son of Myers and Bettie Grogan Nix. He served as deputy sheriff under Edwards and Holland and was elected marshal in 1908 which position he has filled to the satisfaction of everybody. He attends to his duties without bluster or noise, without fear or favor.

Mr. Nix was married 10 years ago to Miss Artie Huie. He is a brother of Riley Nix, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Washer. He comes of a family long prominent in the affairs of Calloway. Mr. Nix is a member of the W. O. W. He is a past master in the work of handling the unruly element.

Mrs. Holly, whose name is a tribute to all who hear it, was of the young people's School class, and was one of the very best teachers we have in the Gibson Sunday School. Had the interest of each heart, and we could not look into her face, as she stood before us each Sabbath and instructed us, and in fail to see the divine interest she had in each member of her class. The children, Herbert and Milber will be long remembered by their little friends and associates here. the real spirit of progress; no man deserves so much credit as does Frank Beaman for his introduction into the county a fine strain of hogs and sheep. His famous Poland China sire: Greenwood Meddler - 75035 farrowed, March 31, 1909, is known all over Western Kentucky. The dam, Greenwood Sunshine - 152352, head of the Oakridge herd, is equally well known. Others equally as good are: Sunlight - 168472, and Martha - 2302. The thorough bred Shropshire, sheep shown were bred on the farm by Mr. Beaman. Such enterprise as is shown on the farm will meet with success. Practical methods and common sense is the basis of this plan's success. His advice on hogs and sheep is that of a man who thoroughly understands what he talks about.

C. A. SINGLETON, Editor Hazel News.

The subject of this sketch is a native Calloway boy, having been born and reared on the west side of the county. At an early age he took up the profession of teaching and followed this avocation for four years, being awarded the principalship of some of the best schools of this and Graves county.

In the fall of 1902 he, together with his brother, purchased the Hazel News from Perry Melton, and has since devoted his time principally to newspaper work. In the summer of 1908 he leased his Hazel property and migrated to New Mexico where he was given a position at a good salary as managing editor of the Gradya Record published in Quay county, N. M. After spending about two years in the "Sunshine Territory" and having also acquired title to a government homestead in the meantime, he resigned his position and returned to Hazel to assume the management of the Hazel News. By a close application to business, and having the loyal support of the people of his town and community, he has built up a splendid patronage for his paper.

In 1880 Mr. S. Higgins came to Murray and opened up a small jew- elry store and repair shop in a store- room about 8x10 feet. His patron- age was not large, for before that time a fellow who wore a ring was regarded as "stuck up" and if a man came through Murray with a diamond stud on he was regarded with either suspicion or admiration-- some thinking he was a bank robber, others that he might be a duke or a count. But Mr. Higgins' business steadily grew, though by no means meteoric or spectacular. He early established a reputation for keeping reliable goods and for honestly rep- resenting every article he sold. If he told you it was gold it was gold. If he said it was a diamond it wasn't glass. That reputation he still main- tains and today he has one of the largest jewelry stores in Western Kentucky, beautifully displayed in his own building.

WEAR'S DRUG STORE

We take great pleasure in saying to our many friends and patrons that we have recently, at considerable expense, remodeled and enlarged our building.

And are better prepared than ever to care for All Business Entrusted to Us.

NEW PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

It is the most complete of any in the city--large, well lighted and convenient--stocked with the Very Best and Finest Drugs, Chemicals, Pharmaceuticals, etc., from the leading drug houses of the country, such as Parke, Davis & Co., John Wyeth & Bro., Eli Lilly & Co. and others. Thirty years of practical experience, close application and study fully equips us for supplying your needs in this, the principal feature of the drug business, and the only feature that lifts the calling above that of an ordinary tradesman.

Our methods are thoroughly correct and down to date. We use every means known to modern pharmacy to elimi- nate error and safeguard the health of our customers.

We carry always a fine line of Drugs, Medicines, Toilet Preparations, Paints, Varnishes, Brushes, Etc., Cigars, Tobacco and Fine Candies.

We solicit your trade upon merit alone. No prescription too difficult for us to fill, no matter where it may come.
