HERE'S A LETTER

... WITH EASTER SEALS FOR YOU use on your letters as a bright symbol of hope for ALL crippled children. Your Kentucky Society for Crippled Children sends these every year and the proceeds from them help provide treatment, braces, special schooling, and other services for all types of crippled children.

The Kentucky Society for Crippled Children (a voluntary agency over 25 years old) was the first such organization to help Kentucky's crippled, and through its efforts brought about legislation in 1924 creating the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission (the official state supported agency responsible for medically treating Kentucky's indigent crippled children).

Since that time the Society and the Commission have worked hand in hand for the benefit of crippled children — the Society annually supplementing Commission funds to produce a fuller program than state and federal appropriations afford.

Spearheading new measures to aid the handicapped, the Society worked for, and achieved, a Division of Education for Exceptional Children within the State Department of Education (1948 legislature); opened a Curative Workshop in Louisville, a new type of facility for treating handicapped, popularized by the Army and proving its worth; is building a 48-bed Convalescent Home near Lexington; and is assisting with many other projects of which Kentuckians can be proud.

Lead Poisoning Is Taking Big Toll Of Nation's Waterfowl

Lead poisoning taking a toll of over a million waterfowl, finding a way to erase this malady is the first step in the fight to protect the waterfowl.

Four No. 6 lead pellets of a commercial shot proved fatal to nine of ten domestic mallards fed on corn.

The rate of mortality of wild mallards under similar conditions was even higher than the domestic ducks.

Whatever the experiments uncover, it is well to know that "experts" on will-fe are on their toes and battling to keep our outdoors protective in enjoyable and clean sport.

And with the cooperation of all sportsmen in worthy projects, we need not fear that the outdoors we know it will vanish.

some Pekin ducks that were dosed with as many as 25 No. 6 pellets survived when they were fed a balanced diet. But giving the same dose of lead pellets, then fed on corn, led within a few days.

Looking back over our school year we have many things for which to be proud. I think we are happy over our many improvements in the lunch room, the purchase of a $600 refrigerator, 2 new Hotpoint stoves, new divided restaurant plates, silver ware utensils to cook with, all paid for and a fund left over to start with next year. The woodwork has also been redone.

We have learned to prepare nourishing food for large numbers. The seventh and eighth grades planned menus for one project. A popular menu included milk, oleo, green peas, mashed potatoes, lettuce, bread, apple sauce, and ginger bread. He learned foods should be colorful, of various textures and textures should be piping hot. We learned to include raw vegetables and fruits for spice and variety as well as health. Mrs. Bernwell, luncheon supervisor, helped us to learn more about foods.

The PTA was more than good to us and each room was given money for supplies. It paid $100.

The bathrooms are very attractive and we are very grateful to the PTA and our teachers who helped us with our projects.

INSECT POWDER SHOULD BE USED ON FIELDS SET IN STRAWBERRIES

Insects are responsible for more reduction in strawberry yields than is commonly realized, according to J. H. Miller, County Agent. Thousand of dollars are lost each year as a result of two relatively new insects in this area. The strawberry weevil, which feeds on the blossoms and buds, and the strawberry root weevil, which feeds on the roots, have been observed last year where yields were reduced at least 50 per cent. The tarnish plant bug causes fruit to fail to develop to normal size and have a hard, leathery tip. They are often called cat face or buttom berries. These two have

 Security of a Free State
 "A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." so reads the Second Amendment to the Constitution. Our Founding Fathers recognized that free people must be ready to defend their freedom. In Army Day observed this week, we recognize that obligation.

JIM WILLIAMS ENTERS JAILOR'S RACE TODAY

To the Democratic Voters Marshall County.
 I respectfully submit for your consideration this, my formal announcement for the office of Jailer of Marshall County. Subject to the action of the Democratic primary election on August 6, 1942.
 I was born in this County, and lived here all my life. For the past 25 years I have been engaged in farming on Route 3 near Palma. I am married and have one daughter.
 This is the first time in my life that I have asked the people for any public office, and assure if elected it will be my last, as I sincerely believe four years in office is enough for any person.
 I am mindful that the office to which I aspire carries many duties, and responsibilities, involving those of custodian of your court house and lawn, as well as feeding and safe keeping of those confined to the jail. If the people of Marshall County will elect me as your next Jailer, I promise to be on the job at all (Continued on page 6)
