Employers Should Support Hour-Wage Control

Employers sacrifice nothing in agreeing to maximum hours and minimum wages under the National Recovery codes, Percy S. Straus, president of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York's largest department store, told fellow members of the Association gathered at a conference to discuss their status under the Recovery Act.

"I have heard employers say, in agreeing to maximum hours and minimum wages," Mr. Straus said, "we are making a sacrifice to labor. We must not do it without getting something in return."

"I say to you that we employers sacrifice nothing in such an agreement. Insofar as the code controls every unit in every industry, no one suffers by comparison with his neighbor or competitor."

Wages and hours are not absolute factors; they are purely comparative. If I pay no lower wages and work no employees no longer hours than others in my occupation, I gain nothing and I lose nothing by agreeing to such limitations. Wherein, therefore, lies the justification of employers in asking for something in return for that which they claim to have conceded, but which, in actual fact, means no material concession at all?

"The purpose of the National Industrial Recovery Act is obvious. It aims to increase employment by decreasing hours of labor and increasing wages that are now below standard. These objectives, however, have been completely misinterpreted by many business men, both manufacturers and merchants."

"This is no time for petty arguments. All must quickly realize the implications of the act and its possibilities for overcoming most of the difficulties that stand in the way of the return of prosperity. There is no need for wholehearted cooperation by large and small businesses if industrial recovery is to be achieved. We are at war against depression. There is no place for slackers in industry."

"I have heard business men say that they cannot afford to pay higher wages and work less hours unless competition is so regulated that profits will be assured. To me, that seems a contradiction. Competition whether or not it be the life of trade is mother of efficiency. Without it neither higher wages nor profits will be possible."

Joe Browder Shows Pictures at Mission

Joe Browder, Fulton's most enthusiastic maker of motion pictures, entertained approximately 500 people at the Mission Monday night. The home was so crowded that people were standing. The showing was highly entertaining and Mr. Browder explained the scenes as they were flashed on the screen. Views were shown of scenes in Fulton, in Cuba, Canada, Alaska, Mexico and Florida.

Mr. Browder has a hobby of taking pictures and has been at it for a number of years. Those shown at the Mission Monday night were his latest, and were excellent evidence of his adeptness in the work. Especially interesting were views taken at the World's Fair, some from a blimp hundreds of feet in the air.

The pictures made in Fulton showed people coming out of local churches, getting off trains and views made at Carr Institute and the Mother day celebration at the Mission were shown. Mr. Browder has indicated a fine spirit in giving his time and means for the pleasure of the Mission children.

And, we know the editors of the News appreciate the subscriptions and co-operation you gave as much as we do the votes obtained by them. Again, we want to thank you one and all, and only wish we could tell each one of you personally, how sincere we are in our appreciation.

FULTON COUNTY NEWS

Again We Reach A Goal

EDITORIAL

The editors of the Fulton County News are overjoyed with the results of the circulation campaign just completed. It surpassed our highest hopes and expectations — thanks to the hard-working contestants and the good people who supported them and us.

We feel that we not only owe each and every participant in the campaign our sincere and deepest appreciation—but, we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to those sturdy and faithful friends who have become our readers. We want to invite each and every one of you to visit our office any time you feel like coming.

Our fondest desire is to give the people a community newspaper they will appreciate. We are not only always open to constructive criticism, but we invite your cooperation in making this paper a "newsy" one, striving for the general good and welfare of the community as a whole. We hope that we may play some part in the upbuilding and growth of Fulton and the surrounding territory.

Quite a few pessimists told us that it couldn't be done—BUT IT WAS DONE! The circulation campaign went over in a bigger way than we even expected. We gave away the prizes as we advertised that we would, and on scheduled time, despite some knockers who went about declaring we wouldn't.

The edition of The News actually printed in Fulton came out March 3, just a day before President Roosevelt was inaugurated on March 4. The president started his "new deal" working immediately, and the confidence of the people began to grow. Conditions are gradually but surely improving, and if we all, as citizens of this nation, will throw our shoulders to the wheel in our own community, we can lend material aid to the general plan of recovery. There's work to be done everywhere and no one should lay down on the job and shift the burden to others who have their own to bear.

Prior to the installation of our own machinery on March 1, The News had been printed for some time out-of-town until the publishers could purchase and install equipment. Since then many changes and additions have been made for improvement and others are to follow. Such is necessary in the natural growth of an industry.

The News is prepared to print anything you might want in the way of commercial printing. We invite those who wish to put their message before the people through the advertising columns of our newspaper to investigate the coverage that we are able to give them. We have no claims to offer, but urge you to learn the TRUE FACTS by looking over our extensive subscription lists, which are open to advertisers at any time.

The News offers its patrons advertising service which includes illustrations for any line of business. Make your advertising appealing and new — many years of experience in the preparation of advertising qualifies us for the service that we offer.

Results are what you want from advertising. And to obtain maximum results you must have an interesting medium with a large coverage. Don't guess about your advertising—KNOW. Study the psychology of copy-writing, the appeal in lay-out, learn the true facts about the field you wish to cover, know that your advertising is being read. Advertising and merchandising go hand in hand and your business deserves concentration in getting your merchandise and values to the people who are readers of The Fulton County News.

Farmers Of Five Counties Invited To Participate

Farmers in five counties—Fulton, Hickman, Graves in Kentucky, and Ohio and Weakley counties in Tennessee—have been extended an invitation by Fulton County Fair Association to participate in the five-county fair to be held at Fulton, September 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Liberal premiums are to be awarded for mules, cattle, swine, poultry, agricultural and home-made products and the farmers of these county exhibits in the fair. Extensive premium lists in the various departments are offered as inducements and encouragement and the many prizes are expected to bring large displays this year.

Besides the livestock and agricultural exhibits harnessed will be held daily. Some of the South's finest thoroughbreds will toe the mark for these races, which will be one of the outstanding features of the fair. Many of these race horses are scheduled to race in Illinois fairs, at the Jackson, Tenn., fair, and at the Mid-south fair in Memphis. The fair at Fulton is a little later than usual, the being set up to other fairs in adjoining states, in order that faster and better races might be obtained.

The stables at the Fulton fair grounds are used by a number of trainers as winter headquarters and is no uncommon sight to see fast-stepping being broken to their pace. Stable owners and others who follow the races, give the track at Fulton the name of being one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the South. This track is in excellent condition, and is given year-round attention.

Numerous free and specialty attractions have been arranged by the fair association, providing plenty of fun and entertainment in wide variety. But, of course, a fair must have a midway and a large carnival will furnish novelty, rides, confetti and whatnot for those who like a composite program of merriment.

"A fair is always a gathering place for farmers and city folk alike, where old friendships are renewed," states J. W. Gordon, president of the Fulton county fair association. "We want the people of the five counties around us to rub shoulders and have a jolly time while they are about it. We want the exhibitors to take pride in their displays, and it is hoped that this fair will mark the passing of another milestone in the agricultural and social progress of this entire section. May each year of the fair be a memorial of accomplishment, which the people will retain in memory and strive, not only to bring even better exhibits to the fair the next year, but to improve their rural homes and products."

Those desiring to enter exhibits in the fair at Fulton this year may write R. H. Wade, secretary of the Fulton County Fair Association, Fulton, Ky., for a catalog and full particulars.

HUNDREDS OF READERS ARE ADDED; NEWS NOW HAS EXTENSIVE TERRITORY

The big circulation drive that has been in progress at the Fulton County News for the past two months, came to an end last Saturday night. Out of a large field of workers who entered the campaign in the beginning in an effort to win the various prizes and earn good commissions, only four contestants remained in the race until the finish. These were Mrs. J. L. Hagan, Mrs. Clyde Howard, Mrs. Marie Howell and Miss Nedra Marlin.

First prize, a beautiful master six Chevrolet Coach from the City Motor Company of Fulton, was awarded by the judges to Mrs. Hagan. Second Prize, a vacation trip to Panama, was received by Miss Nedra Marlin. Third Prize, commission and bonus, was awarded to Mrs. Clyde Howard. Following were the standings of the contestants after the final count by the judges Saturday night:

Mrs. Hagan, 7,766,000 votes; Miss Marlin, 6,539,675 votes; Mrs. Howard, 5,847,075 votes; with Mrs. Howell taken fourth place with a little more than one and a half million votes. Votes were given during the campaign on each subscription turned in by the contestants, with the campaign being divided into periods. Every candidate in the contest worked hard, and their friends gave them splendid co-operation.

The purpose of the campaign was to build up an extensive circulation for THE NEWS, and the results were highly successful. In fact, even greater accomplishments than expected were attained, and many hundred of new subscribers have been added to the subscription list. The News now has an unusually large paid circulation, with coverage in the twin-cities themselves and throughout the rural district of this trade territory, affording an advertising medium of unexcelled merit.

WHEAT REDUCTION PLAN TO BE PUT INTO EFFECT IN FULTON COUNTY

County Agent O. R. Wheeler is securing the names of wheat growers in Fulton county, in preparation for launching the government's wheat reduction plan. Under this plan farmers may secure payments on crops harvested in 1933, 1934 and 1935 by reducing their wheat acreage during the next two years.

As soon as instructions are received from Washington, including application and agreement blanks, the acreage allotment for the county and other information, Mr. Wheeler will name a committee of local persons to assist in holding meetings where the provisions of the wheat control plan will be put before the farmers.

Every wheat grower will be given an opportunity to benefit from the government's plan to decrease production and increase the price of wheat. Agreements will be ready for farmers to sign before wheat sowing time.

Just how much farmers will be asked to reduce their acreage has not been announced, but it will not be more than 20 percent of their average acreage of wheat harvested for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932.

The wheat control measure will be organized in this state by the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station at Lexington, through county farm agents and local committees.

J. B. VARDEN, 60, BURIED AT EBENEZER SUNDAY

Injuries sustained by J. B. Varden 60 year old farmer of Cayce, when he stepped a team of mules from running away and was dragged across a horse lot and thrown up against a fence on Wednesday, July 12th, proved fatal last Thursday morning. Mr. Varden died suddenly. The immediate cause of his death due to a blood clot which formed around the base of his brain and then went to his heart. He was dead when Dr. J. L. Jones, his physician, arrived after having been only violently ill for about ten minutes.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. E. Holt at the Ebenezer church near Cayce, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial followed in the cemetery there with Hornbeak Funeral Home in charge. Mr. Varden is survived by a widow, one son, Grady Varden of Fulton; two daughters, Mrs. Ernest McCollum, Mrs. Virgil Davis of Fulton; one brother, George Varden of Waverly Tenn; one sister, Mrs. Milton Horner of Union City; two grandchildren, Joe Trease and Norma Marie Davis.

DR. U. R. BELL, SPEAKS TO MURRAY STUDENTS

Dr. U. R. Bell, president of the Paducah Junior College, spoke to the students and faculty of Murray State College in chapel Monday morning, July 24, on "Those Things Which Cannot be Shaken".

S. J. Snook, member of the board of regents, introduced the speaker. Dr. Charles Hire, in the absence of Dr. Carr, who had gone on his vacation, presided.

Using as his text the passage that declares: "Yet once more do I shake that those things which cannot be shaken far remain," Dr. Bell declared that there are three forces prevalent in a permanent civilization: the courthouse, the school house, and the meeting house.

The present age of transition, he said, has brought experiences never before encountered by any civilization.

Dr. Bell declares that the present world has passed through the stage of denying God, and that it is now asking, "What are the activities of God?"

To test whether or not God is moral, Dr. Bell suggested that one should study the behavior of God. The fact that astronomy and mathematics are accurate and orderly shows that the laws of God are dependable and that God is moral, the speaker averred.

The day of Rotary "drives" and humanism has passed, Dr. Bell stated. Merely living by the Golden Rule is not true religion, for when the Golden Rule fails, man's faith fails. If he, however, ties his faith to an eternal God, he can feel that Right will win. It takes more than facts to give permanence to civilization; it takes faith, he said.

A weak heart and weak knees are not needed in this present age the speaker concluded, but rather courage and faith in a just and moral God.

NEGRO WOMAN GETS STEWED

Delit Johnson, better known as "Drunken Bessie" to the inhabitants of Missionary Bottom here, was all set to take a berth on a bus going to Union City, Saturday afternoon, but she took "a back seat" in the city jail instead. The colored woman lives on the Morgan Davidson place west of Fulton on the middle road. She came to Fulton Saturday and got drunk as an owl. Officers chased her in after a terrific struggle and a commotion which brought down the town. To be more clear, she as so drunk and frantic that the officers had to carry her to the jail, limber as a rag, only when she was kicking like a mule, as officers Drysdale and Shupe will testify.

Tried before Esq. Bowers' court Monday, she was fined and released, calm and peaceful—for she had sobered up.

Vote For WALTER J. McMURRY

A PERSONAL MESSAGE

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:—

Because the duties of my office take so much of my time that I now see it is going to be impossible to make a house to house canvass of the county, I am taking this means of reaching all the voters, believing you would rather have me stay on the job and protect your interests than spend my time campaigning. I hope you will consider this as a personal call and a personal message.

Four years ago you selected me for your County Judge, and now as that term of office is drawing to a close, and you are preparing to make your selection for that office for the next term, it is incumbent on me, as your servant, to render to you an accounting of my stewardship in office. At the beginning of my term of office, on January 1, 1930, the county had a floating indebtedness of $66,530.75, and a balance due on bonded indebtedness of $485,000.00 which my administration inherited from the preceding administration.

We were then, and still are, in what is termed the depression. Bank failures, unemployment, deflation of market values have placed us on the verge of bankruptcy and ruin. In the last four years the assessed valuation of real estate, including town lots, has declined from $8,381,855 to $6,047,775, or a loss of $2,334,120.00; bank shares have reduced from $33,436.00 to $234,410.00; tangible property from $942,780.00 to $546,640.00, making a total reduction in assessed valuation of $2,849,256.00, the taxed revenue from which is lost by the county, but is saved to the taxpayers. But in spite of the depression, bank failures, unemployment and deflation in values, the outstanding floating indebtedness of the county has not been increased but reduced, and the bonded indebtedness has been reduced by $24,000.00 in the last four years.

On December 1, 1922, the county issued funding bonds to the amount of $100,000.00, and on February 5, 1924, by a vote of the people the Fiscal Court was authorized to issue $450,000 in bonds for the purpose of building hard roads. On July 1, 1924, the Fiscal Court issued $100,000.00 of these bonds, and on March 1, 1925, they issued $100,000.00 and on March 1, 1926, they issued $100,000.00 of these bonds, making a total of $300,000 of road and bridge bonds issued; and on September 1, 1928, the county by its Fiscal Court, issued $115,000.00 in bonds to take up that much of its floating indebtedness consisted of notes $31,991.46, warrants 1924, $10,886.83; warrants 1925 $36,411.80, and warrants 1926, $35,919.87.

We have been operating the county expenditures under the budget system, anticipating the revenues in the same amount as charged to the Sheriff as tax collector, and limiting the expenditures so as to come within our revenue or income each year.

No bonds have been issued during this administration, and in no year did we exceed revenue. I have endeavored to administer the fiscal affairs of the county in a conservative way, realizing that the revenue of the county had to be cut and further realizing it's unsafe to spend more money in any year than the taxes for such. Many readjustments have been made and are being made, and if you see fit to give me another term I feel certain that other reductions can and will be made in that old indebtedness and to that end I hereby pledge my every effort.

In settlement of the estates, and in the trial of all cases, I have tried to be fair and just to all parties concerned and have tried to perform every duty of the office in a safe and sane way, with malice toward none, and I promise, if you see fit to endorse me for a second term, to perform the duties of the office in a plain and simple manner with fairness to all. You know me, you know my policy, and you know what to expect. Why change? I assure you that I greatly appreciate all past favors and will appreciate any and everything you may do for me in this campaign.

RESPECTFULLY

W. J. McMurry

VOTE FOR
HARREL "BIG BOY" HUBBARD
for
OF FULTON COUNTY

He will make a good Sheriff--He's the Peoples' man

"Big Boy" Hubbard who is in the race for Sheriff of Fulton County, is well qualified and experienced for the position which he seeks at the hands of the people.

He has served as Jailer of this county, and his experience in this capacity has familiarized him with the duties of the sheriff's office, and also with details of policing the county, and in handling those who have broken the laws of this commonwealth.

He is a man in which the people can place their confidence without fear of a broken trust. "Big Boy" is not allied with any political ring but is seeking the sheriff's office at the hands of the people purely on his qualifications and experience.

THE DEBT TO BOOSTERS

When people work actively for the development of their city, the community owes them a debt. People should see to it that the folks who are so generous with their time and effort do not lose by their sacrifice.

If the chance comes to throw something in their way, if we can patronize them in their business, we should keep it in mind to do so. It would seem rather careless and inconsiderate if people constantly send money out of town to build up some bigger place, and if meanwhile many of our home folk are striving for the success of their city and not getting much recognition for it.

HOME TOWN ENTHUSIASTS

Some people are natural enthusiasts for anything that promises to benefit the community. While the average man is plugging for his own success, and may not have very much time for public causes, yet this element of enthusiasm keeps them interested in a broader range of activity.

If you want them to serve on some committee, they will robustly reply

"We live on long hair and whiskers."

"The Old Mill Wheels Are Turning"

Perhaps it is just as well to look on the bright side. For every dark cloud has a silver lining. The darkness is rapidly disappearing, and the silver is returning to the surface, from where it has been hidden. And after we have passed over the rough places, we will be wiser and richer in experience.

As time rolls on people still live on. One of the necessities of life is bread. For 25 years Browder's Mill has been supplying the people of Fulton, and the surrounding community with flour of the highest quality, striving at all times to supply the people with the very best flour that modern machinery and skilled millers can produce.

football team. Opposition and difficulties meant nothing to him then, nor do they now. Thru the diligent efforts of Baxter and his fine personnel of capable assistants, the theater building here has as splendid sound reproduction and acoustics as may be found anywhere.

Fulton, sitting on the state line with Sunday shows has been drawing many Tennesseans over to see the latest and best productions in the screen world. Lee Goldberg, the hard-working supervisor of this circuit, has been shooting the pictures to Fulton, and in many instances showings have been made here for the first time in the state.

Let's hand the personnel of the Warner theater here a few flowers justly due them. They are efficient, progressive and courteous. We predict bigger and better things for Buster Shuck.

ISN'T IT A FACT?

The Walnut street crossing over the Illinois Central tracks is in bad state of repair—and it needs immediate attention. Railroad officials and local civic clubs should think it over.

Fulton is upholding its name as the "hub of highways and railroads." People in this community should concentrate on every effort to make these transportation systems even more valuable to us.

The overhead bridge leading out of Fulton to Riceville is "all broken up," sway-back and what not. Something should be done to improve this bridge before some car goes through the rails. A federal highway passes over the bridge, and each year traffic grows heavier and heavier over it.

These things are pointed out in the spirit of constructive suggestions, and we hope that some organization will get behind a movement to remedy these deficiencies.

Mrs. Charles Griffin and Mrs. Bonnie Cummings of Dukedon, and their little niece Willia Dean Ethridge of Paducah, Ky., all spent Saturday with Mrs. C. L. Humphrey on Third-st.

Think It Over

BY THE MEDITATOR

If You Like This Column Tell Us.

Prominent preachers of a middle-west city not so long ago stirred up a nest of hornets by proposing the expurgation of the Old Testament. Such stories as that relating Noah's drunkenness they say ought to be omitted. One minister hazarded the guess that 25 pages would contain all that is now vital in the older books of the Bible. Another preacher added fuel to the flames by remarking that such men as Abraham, Jacob, David and Solomon ought not to be held up as examples to our young people. One answer is "They are not." Ideas of right and wrong change in every age. The rules of conduct advocated in the New Testament are much finer than the principles approved a thousand years before Christ. The Old Testament is filled with narratives of deplorable exploits of sometimes good men. The first man and the first woman sinned and their eldest son was a murderer. But the very fact that the Bible has recorded the bad with the good, the failures with the success, the weaknesses with the strength and the infamy with the glory gives it immortality.

The United States is a great industrial nation. There is much room for further expansion and there is a wide field for investment. We are entitled to judge the future by the past. In the last 2 years in this country have given us machine production, electric power, the telephone, the automobile, the gas engine, chemical processes, the x-ray, the motion picture, the radio, television, and a thousand devices that have widened the horizons of the people. The fruits of industry, and employed capital in ways that were not seen in advance. Like other industries which have contributed to national welfare for generations past, new industries are making themselves a primary need. Modes of life have changed completely with new modes of travel, new modes of thought and new mechanical inventions. Opportunities of this country are so great that as times goes on, production is bound to increase while buying power expands, lifting to higher levels the standards of our national life.

A man's brain is often "a house divided against itself." There is Hope, painting rosy pictures, and Fear, foreseeing disaster. Most of us stand, because we listen alternately to Hope and Fear. One says Go, the other says Wait, be careful. We stagnate in uncertainty, and the end of life finds us still hesitating, wavering, neither going nor coming, staying about where we were originally. As with an individual, so with a community, a state or a nation. There is absolutely nothing to fear except our own fears. Nothing is wrong except with ourselves. Let the optimistic side of your brain imitate the humorous little "joy" gentlemen, get rid of fear and gloom. THEN GO A-HEAD.

These hot summer days bring thoughts of pleasant vacation days. We dream of the cool of the mountain breeze, the refreshing feeling of a plunge in a lake or some secluded stream. Some distant vacation land seems to call to us. When we go away for a summer rest, some people want to get as far as possible from human contacts, while some rush into the biggest crowd they can find, and do not seem satisfied unless some one is stepping on their toes or jostling their elbows every minute. But to me, there is a refreshing quality in silence. A person seems to grow physically and spiritually, as a result of quiet contact with forest and sky. Not so many people would never have breakdowns, if a lot of them would go off and camp in the woods each year. A few days of quietude and tranquility in the woods, by the side of a forest stream or lake, is refreshing and invigorating. After a well planned vacation, the humble toiler can return to his work with new enthusiasm and a deeper sincerity of purpose.

Judge Elkins was elected 16 years ago on the proposition that Judge Jones had held the office of Judge for 12 years, which was long enough. Compare the 12 years Judge Jones served with the twenty-four years Judge Elkins is asking for; the sum of $35,000 Judge Jones drew with the $136,000.00 Judge Elkins will draw, if elected, and then determine how you will vote.

A Statement

FROM

LANE

Candidate For

STATE

Representative

From the 1st. District

For 16 years I had never missed a day from work because of illness and yet it was my misfortune during this campaign to get down in bed with a bad case of malaria fever coupled with the bronchitis and was sick for about three weeks and am still very weak even though I have been out some of late, and due to the fact that I got out too soon and did not take care of myself the bronchitis has not cleared up and it is with difficulty that I talk very much in private conversation and cannot attempt to make any public speeches and my physician, Dr. J. C. Morrison has warned me against it for the present as I am having to take daily treatments at his office.

Previous to my sickness I have been mixing and mingling with the voters and discussing with them my views as to certain legislation and also their views and sentiments so as to more properly represent them in the Legislature in the event of my election.

I want in this manner to state my views on some special things of interest altho there are many other things that may arise when the General Assembly convenes.

I believe the license fees on automobiles and trucks should be reduced as it is a burden on owners to pay same during these hard times and a great number have never bought license for their cars and trucks, but if all were in operation and being licensed at cheaper rate, more money would probably be realized for the road fund in the long run as the operation of these idle cars would bring in lots of gasoline tax.

I am in favor of at least one-half of the license fees or some of the gasoline tax being allotted equally to the counties to take care of the road bonds and interest or to help construct and maintain our county roads other than the present state highways. This will in turn increase the county income and will decrease the amount you will pay in taxes.

I shall vote against the proposed SALES TAX and have so stated through the columns of all four newspapers in the two counties and there are merchants who received letters from me stating my stand on this question before my opponent ever announced and they have letters and will also make affidavits to this effect. I will never vote for the SALES TAX regardless of what my opponent and his supporters may say. I gave my pledged word before and since I had opposition and if the Lord lets me live and I am elected I will carry out my pledged word.

We must in the future as we have in the past give to each and every child throughout the state equal opportunities and advantages in gaining an education. The basis of our great public school system is to be found in the rural district and it shall be my intent to work steadfastly for first and above all, a continued development of the rural school system and then secondly for the higher institutions of learning. I was reared in the country and lived there until I was 22 years old, I attended the country school and appreciated it and I am in agreement with my opponent in this. I am opposed to the consolidation and elimination of country schools and shall vote for a bill to elect the county supt. by the direct vote of the people.

There are certain changes that should be made in our fish and game laws and these things shall have my earnest support.

My wide acquaintance in both counties will enable me to represent the sentiment in both counties and I am stating to you emphatically that I will represent the sentiment of the district if elected. I favor economy and will vote to consolidate any state departments that might be performing kindred functions and will vote to abolish all useless bureaus. I also believe that under the present system we are compelled to hold too many elections, we have some sort of an election every year and this is a great expense to the taxpayers.

If you elect me to the office of Representative, I will represent you faithfully and conscientiously and when my term of service shall have expired I will return to you with a record clear and open and no one shall have occasion to say that I have been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

I trust that I may have your vote and support.

Respectfully

GLENN W. LANE

WILEY SPOKE TO VOTERS OF HICKMAN COUNTY

Steve Wiley, Fulton attorney, spoke before a large crowd of Hickman county voters Saturday afternoon, at a gathering near Fulgham. A number of other candidates were present and canvassed for support in the August primary.

Mr. Wiley set out his platform in brief style to the people of the Fulgham neighborhood.

Among other things he opposes the proposed sales tax, favors the maintenance of the rural elementary schools against some attempts being made to bring about consolidations and removal to the disadvantage of the school children, and advocates a division of the state gasoline tax revenue among the counties for construction and maintenance of county systems.

A special registration was held at the city hall here last Saturday for the benefit of those becoming 21 years old before November 5, or those who have been in the state for one year by then, and also for those who have moved from one precinct to another.

The registration clerks were as follows: C. G. Fields and Lloyd Boaz, Democrats; Mrs. Joe Clapp and Miss Martha Kendall, Republicans. The polls opened at 9 a. m. and closed at 7 p. m., and candidates were on the job to see that as many eligible voters as possible were registered.

Miss Helen Maddox of Nashville is the guest of her parents on Cedar street.

Think It Over

BY THE MEDITATOR

If You Like This Column Tell Us.

One of the most important of the motives that induce people to locate in certain cities and towns, is the character of the government of such places. If a city is well governed, people say it is a good place for a home or a business, and they are more inclined to locate there. So that when people neglect the interest of municipal politics and allow such problems to settle themselves, they take a position, which if generally followed, will operate against the growth of a city. No municipality is likely to be well governed, unless the citizens generally take an interest in that government. A municipal government cannot rise much above the level of public spirit. If public spirit is indifferent, the results accomplished by the public officials are likely to be the same.

Mr. Citizen, are you interested in the development of your own city—or don't you care? If some important new improvement is projected, are you interested to hear the discussion that goes on about it, as reported in The News, or does such strike you as dull and uninteresting? If there is a public discussion about administration of schools, police work, care of the unfortunate, taxes etc., are you interested? Or do you pass it up, and turn over to something "more exciting" like sports, crime, scandals, etc? The good citizen feels that he is a partner in the business of running a city, and he does not propose to let the rest of at least listening to what they are saying, and occasionally taking a hand in the discussion himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerr Fronz and children of St. Louis spent several days with Mrs. J. J. House and other relatives. They were enroute to New Orleans.

POLICE RUN DOWN THIEF SUNDAY

Police here apprehended Sunday Wesley Burton, colored, "the clothes line" thief, who has been operating in this city for the past several months. Officers have been on his trail or some time, connecting him with the theft of clothing from the lines of Mrs. J. T. Price and Mrs. Ual Killebrew some time ago, but the negro left town. He has been back several times since but police were unable to make an arrest Sunday when he was lodged in jail. He was tried before Squire Bowers, Monday charged with petit larceny and pleaded guilty. He was bound over to the grand jury, and unable to make bond was taken to the county jail at Hickman.

COLORED MAN RELEASED

Robert Coleman, colored was picked up by officers in the Missionary Bottom last week, with a large supply of dresses, which he claimed belong to his sister, who he contended was "beating" her way from Chicago to Memphis, where he said his home was. Being unable to discover whether the dresses had been stolen in this section or not Coleman was released. He left without asking for his "bundle" of dresses.

THIEVES CUT HOLE

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fronz of St. Louis, visitors of Mrs. J. J. House, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Newhouse and other relatives in Fulton, suffered the loss of wearing apparel left in their car overnight, when thieves cut a hole in the top to gain entrance. The visitors were staying with Mr. and Mrs. Wade Joyner Sunday night when the theft, and the robbery was not discovered until next morning.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

The local police department have been warned to watch for a stolen Ford car taken from Mayfield after midnight, on the morning of July 26. The auto bore license number 262-338, and was light blue in color.

FULTON STARTING POINT FOR THOSE ATTENDING FAIR

Fulton is the logical starting point for people of this section who are going to the World's Fair in Chicago. Scores of Fultonians and citizens of surrounding towns and communities have taken Illinois Central trains out of Fulton, the hub of railroads. C. R. Collins, local agent for the Illinois Central System, reports that inquiries are coming in daily from people who wish to take advantage of special excursion rates.

"My recent inspection of the World's Fair, made at the invitation of the railroad, convinced me of the reasons for the success of the enterprise," declared Mr. Collins. "It is unquestionably the outstanding travel bargain of 1933. Nowhere else is it possible to see and do so many varied things for so small an expenditure as in Chicago this summer."

"Admission to the fairgrounds entitles the visitor to view without further charge exhibits costing millions of dollars, housed in buildings constructed by the fair management itself, by the United States Government, by the states, by foreign nations and by individual exhibitors. There are several complete manufacturing plants in operation, full size. Weeks could be spent studying the industrial, agricultural and scientific displays."

The visit made by Mr. Collins to the World's Fair well qualified him to advise prospective visitors and he says he will welcome inquiries both as transportation and as to the attractions of the fair.

FULTON-HICKMAN ROAD GETS NEW SURFACE

Work in blacktopping Highway 94 from the junction with Highway 51, three miles northwest of Fulton, to Hickman is well under way. When completed this route to Hickman will be in first-class condition, and motorists should find it much easier than on the old gravel base.

Highway Commissioner Broadbent has promised to rebuild a bridge in Fulton at the junction of Lake and Carr streets. This bridge is on the federal highway, and much traffic passes over it. It needs straightening and widening and it is hoped Mr. Broadbent finds sufficient federal funds to carry out this project.

CIRCUIT JUDGE of the FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT

QUALIFIED

EXPERIENCED

His Honesty and Ability Never Questioned. Endorse His Splendid Record.

DOES IT PAY TO BE CAUTIOUS?

Many people of Kentucky have fallen into the habit of accepting reports with reference to some candidate as being facts without making an investigation. This habit is one of the things that is causing people to lose confidence in their government and often results in the selection of the wrong man to hold public office.

During the present campaign you have heard it reported that Judge J. E. Warren is too cautious and that his deliberations are costing the taxpayers a great deal of money. In order to satisfy ourselves as to the truthfulness of these reports, an investigation was caused to be made of his record. We soon learned that the greatest item of expense in operating the circuit court is the jury fees. In order to compare jury fees, paid out for jury service to that of other judges, the investigator went back to the year 1907. It was found at that time that by an act of the state legislature, the juror only received $2 a day for his services.

Then the investigator checked for sixteen terms of court, which cover a period of more than five years. Then, likewise, he checked a similar period of his successors up to the beginning of Judge J. E. Warren's administration. Then the investigator checked five years of the administration of Judge J. E. Warren and found during Judge Warren's administration that the legislature had increased the pay for jurors from $2 to $3 per day and the legislature alone was responsible for this increased expense.

The records of the judges since 1907 show that the entire costs during the administration of Judge Warren compares most favorably with that of the preceding judges. And this fact can be determined by any voter interested if he will but call at the office of the circuit clerk and view the report of the trustee of the jury fund; also he can call upon the auditor of the state of Kentucky, and if he is interested enough in the record of the man who has been serving in this official capacity to determine whether he had been faithful to his trust, facts can be obtained without cost.

This paper believes that everybody should have a fair deal and with this view, we gladly publish the results of the investigation, made by a public official who is not interested in this race.

As further proof that it pays to be deliberate, the investigation, discloses that Judge Warren's disposition of cases compares most favorably with his predecessors. The number of commonwealth cases, the number of common law cases and the number of equity cases disposed of during Judge Warren's term on the bench, furnish a favorable comparison with previous circuit judges. What criticism can a man offer for a judge being cautious? He is one empowered to pass upon the lives and liberty of men, to pass upon questions of property rights, and to try to discover the right and wrong of every lawsuit. Who would want for judge a man, who would force a man charged with a crime to trial without giving him opportunity to secure his witnesses or make preparations for his trial? Who would want a judge to pass upon the property rights of men without giving each litigant an opportunity to present his evidence and prepare his case for trial? And who is there among us but does not want a judge who would give proper instruction to the jury, so that when the case is decided, the Court of Appeals would affirm his decision?

It has been stated and found to be a fact that the cases appealed from his court to the Court of Appeals have received very favorable comment from the judges of the Court of Appeals and the percentage of affirmances in the Court of Appeals stand and compare favorably with any judge in the state.

It has been found that his record has been clean, that his decisions have been sound, that he gives to every litigant a fair opportunity to present his case and get it prepared for trial, that he has been courteous to every lawyer representing a litigant, that he has been very considerate of every litigant in his court. What better record should the people of the district want than the record Judge J. E. Warren has made?

The Advantages of Municipal Light and Power Plants—Why Every City, Town and Village Should Own Its Own.

By CARL D. THOMPSON, Sec. Public Ownership League of America

A municipal light and power plant is a money maker. It pays for itself. It is safe to say, that no municipal light and power plant in the country, if managed with the slightest degree of efficiency or integrity, has ever cost the taxpayers a single cent. On the contrary, municipal plants by the hundreds, everywhere, all over the country are paying for themselves, paying interest charges, paying off the funds borrowed to start them, and besides, many of them are paying for their extensions and improvements out of earnings and contributing to other public expenses that actually reduce tax burdens.

The smallest city can make it succeed. We insist without fear of successful contradiction that, with the modern equipment, machinery and methods now available any municipality, no matter how small, or what its conditions, can, if it will own and operate a municipal light and power plant at less cost and greater advantage to its people than any private "high line" or superpower company.

A better lighted city. A municipal light and power plant is a community builder. It means, first of all a better lighted city. A privately owned plant must charge the city for its current for street lighting at rates that will yield the usual rate of return on the capital account. A municipal plant serves the city at cost, at most, and in a great many cases supplies current without any charge. In any event, the cost of current for street lighting and for lighting parks and public buildings supplied by a municipal plant is only a fraction of what is charged by a private company. As a result more current may be used and the city is better lighted.

Better homes. A municipal electric light and power plant means better homes in the community. It reduces rates. And every reduction in domestic electric service within the reach of more homes. It also enables those who use the service to use it more freely and for more purposes. A municipal plant, therefore, means more electric homes in the community. And an electric home is a more convenient, more comfortable and a more efficient home.

Better business. A municipal plant means better and more business for the local business men. In the first better wages than a private plant. That means more money from more people going over the counties of home merchants. A private plant is almost certain to become, sooner or later, a substation on the high line of some superpower system. That means fewer people employed in town, fewer purchases—less business.

Moreover, the power companies are everywhere entering the merchandising field selling all kinds of electrical equipment, fixtures and attachments at prices below cost and making up the loss by charging high rates for electric service. This is driving the local hardware merchants, electrical dealers and others out of this field and slowly but surely putting them out of business. In some cases it has gone further and by helping the independent manufacturer out of field. In this way the private way the private power companies are monopolizing and thus destroying a legitimate field of private enterprise. This hurts business and restricts community progress and prosperity.

Stimulates Industrial Development. With low electric light and power rates, industries can develop and multiply—new ones can be drawn to the city. The growth and prosperity of a community depends upon the development of industries. Industries go where there is power—at low rates. Rates are kept down only by municipal owned plants.

Earnings Stay at Home. If the city owns its own municipal light and power plant, the earnings stay at home. If a private company owns the plant, and especially if the company belongs to one of the great superpower organization, mergers or holding concerns, the earnings go out of town to pay interest and dividends to security holders elsewhere.

Under company ownership the surplus earnings ranging from $10,000 or $12,000 a year to $100,000 and on up, depending on the size of the city, are taken out of the community and sent abroad. To this extent the local community is exploited to enrich other communities. And this exploitation under private ownership goes on forever. And what is more it is going on in ever increasing amounts.

Under municipal ownership, on the other hand, the earnings all stay at home and thus go to the upbuilding of the local community, the surplus earnings go either into the extension and improving of the plant, or are applied to the payment of other public expenses, or, finally are absorbed by reducing rates. In either case, they stay in the community instead of being taken out of it.

Developing the Agricultural Background. Another advantage a city has in the ownership and operation of a light and power plant is the use it can make of it in helping the nearby farmers and rural communities and thus developing and attaching to it an agricultural background. There are nearly 200 cities, towns and villages in the United States now that are serving one or more other communities in this manner. Scores of American cities are already helping surrounding districts in this way—and helping themselves at the same time.

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles' Nerveine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

A Message
To The Voters of Fulton County.

To the voters of district No. 2 of Fulton County Kentucky, I wish to express my gratitude in having been selected 4 years ago to serve you (in my opinion) the most important office of the County in which I have endeavored to serve in an humble and honest way. Time is short and a lot of bridge work to look after, have had no lumber for the past two months, so if I do not get to see you please consider this a personal call. At the beginning of my term of office, on January 1, 1930, the county had a floating indebtedness of $66,530.75, and a balance due on bonded indebtedness of $485,000 which this administration inherited from the preceding administration.

We were then, and still are, in what is termed the depression. Bank failures, unemployment, deflation of market values have placed us on the verge of bankruptcy and ruin. In the last four years the assessed valuation of real estate, including town lots, has declined from $8,381,855 to $6,047,775, or a loss of $2,334,120.00; bank shares have reduced from $333,436.00 to $234,440.00; tangible property from $942,780.00 to $546,640.00, making a total reduction in assessed valuation of $2,849,256.00, the taxed revenue from which is lost by the county, but is saved to the taxpayers. But in spite of the depression, bank failures, unemployment and deflation in values, the outstanding floating indebtedness of the county has not been increased but reduced, and the bonded indebtedness has been reduced by $24,000.00 in the last four years.

On December 1, 1922, the county issued funding bonds to the amount of $100,000.00, and on February 5, 1924, by a vote of the people the Fiscal Court was authorized to issue $450,000 in bonds for the purpose of building hard roads. On July 1, 1924, the Fiscal Court issued $100,000.00 of these bonds, and on March 1, 1925, they issued $100,000.00 and on March 1, 1926, they issued $100,000.00 of these bonds, making a total of $300,000 of road and bridge bonds issued; and on September 1, 1928, the county by its Fiscal Court, issued $115,000.00 in bonds to take up that much of its floating indebtedness consisted of notes $31,991.46, warrants 1924, $10,886.83; warrants 1925 $36,411.80, and warrants 1926, $35,919.87.

We have been operating the county expenditures under the budget system, anticipating the revenues in the same amount as charged to the Sheriff as tax collector, and limiting the expenditures so as to come within our revenue or income each year.

No bonds have been issued during this administration, and in no year did we exceed revenue. I have endeavored to administer the fiscal affairs of the county in a conservative way, realizing that the revenue of the county had to be cut and further realizing it's unsafe to spend more money in any year than the taxes for such. Many readjustments have been made and are being made, and if you see fit to give me another term I feel certain that other reductions can and will be made in that old indebtedness and to that end I hereby pledge my every effort.

Too, I have letters in my possession from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and Milo R. Canahan of East St. Louis, Ill., regarding a loan to the county in order that we might redeem our outstanding bonds that are now quoted far below par. If such service can be rendered we will be able to cut our county indebtedness one half.

If possible you may on August 5, see fit to endorse me for re-election, I shall use every effort to handle your affairs to your satisfaction.

T. W. STALLINS
