Dress-Up With The Gladsome Springtime

The spirit of spring is abroad in the land. Every peeping bud on every leafing bough tells us spring is here and nature has awakened from her winter slumber. 'Tis the time when youth calls to youth—the bird seeks its mate and all creation preens itself for the season of sunshine and summer.

What could be more fitting than for men, women and children to give heed to their personal appearance—to discard the worn and ragged garments of bleak, cold days and step forth adorned in raiment harmonious with the gladsome Springtime?

All up and down the nation cities and municipalities are uniting to emphasize the coming of these days. Societies, clubs, churches, organizations of all kinds, are joining hands with individuals, stores and merchants in a whole-hearted effort to bring home to men and women the stimulus of a new thought—that we should, for one brief moment, lift our careworn faces from our tasks, and like the carefree birds of the air rejoice that SPRING has come—and, dressed up in our "best bib and tucker," reflect in our outward appearance the joy of our inner life.

When nature sings all the world is atune—why not we? Let's banish dull care—forget the biting winds of winter, discard all that reminds us of the shadows of the long nights—off with the old and on with the new—DRESS UP.

There's not a woman among us so fair but whose beauty may be enhanced when she steps forth in her new apparel—carrying in her heart and eyes the smiling spirit of Spring. There's not a man among us so modest but who will pause for self-appraisal when he sees reflected in his mirror his glad, new togs and feels in his soul the stirring spirit of Spring. And as for us plain folks—more's the need for us to garb ourselves in the happy raiment of the season.

Let's not be selfish, but in true harmony with the spirit of the day let's touch with the fairy hand of grace every chic and child of our household and the household itself. Yes, even more, let's "Dress Up," the home, the yard, the garden, that all the environs of our life may reflect the joy that is within us—that is within all nature.

Vegetables and Berries from South Moving North

I. C. Sells Travel Club Certificates

The Illinois Central now sells travel club certificates at all stations. With these certificates weekly payments may be made on round trip tourist tickets to certain destinations for future use. The plan is designed for the convenience of persons who expect to go on vacations six months or a year hence and who wish to pay in periodical installments. By paying a small sum weekly, transportation can be provided by the time it is needed. In addition to the partial payment method, a further inducement is offered prospective travelers in reductions from the regular round trip tourist fares ranging from 8 to 10 per cent. This is equivalent to interest paid by the railway company on advance payments.

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS MILITARY FUNERAL

The American Legion of Fulton conducted a military funeral for the late John T. Stephenson, brother of E. W. Stephenson, who is a telegraph operator on the Illinois Central Friday of last week.

The deceased was 45 years of age, and died in the Government hospital for soldiers in Denver, Colo. Although he did serve in the last war, he is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, and was entitled to a military funeral. A brother of the deceased, a lieutenant-colonel of the regular army, was in Fulton for the funeral, and stated that he appreciated very much the honor paid his late brother by the local Legion Post.

Members of the American Legion in Uniform formed a firing squad, and marched to the funeral home on Carr street. The color bearers, which consisted of the man with the flag, and two armed guards, entered the funeral home and stood at the head of the casket at rigid attention during the entire services which were held at the funeral home, and which were conducted by the Rev. Ollie Sewell. Immediately after the service was concluded at the funeral home, the Legion formed a guard of honor and marched to the cemetery where the firing squad fired the salute, and the bugler sounded "Taps."

The ceremony was indeed very impressive, and indicated the feeling that men who fight together, or for the flag of our country, have for each other.

We understand the new owners contemplate erecting an apartment house of 4 or 6 flats on the property. There is not a better location in the city. The deal was made through Moss & Bushart, the live wire real estate dealers.

SOME OTHER SIGNS OF SPRING

In the inspiring Springtime season Nature takes on its most inviting appearance and the condition is reflected in the mind and activities of man. With the advent of Spring we redouble our activities. We get up a momentum that carries us through the balance of the year. Fulton is in the Springtime of her commercial season. Everyone realizes a big development era is at hand. The wise ones are preparing for it.

At the Read & Little Garage on Fourth street, the large building has been divided so as to take care of the increased business of this institution. The new arrangement and remodeling of the premises provide a large space for the repairing department in charge of experts and skilled mechanics. A large display and storage room where new cars are kept. The entire front of the building is occupied by office and sales room where all kinds of auto accessories and parts are displayed. The office has been remodeled and beautified in keeping with the progressive ideals of the proprietors, Dr. I. H. Read and Ira W. Little.

This is one of Fulton's oldest automobile establishments. They are exclusive Dodge dealers and enjoy a nice business.

J. J. Owen Showered With Bouquets

Last week J. J. Owen, proprietor of the O. K. Steam Laundry, handed out hundreds of beautiful, fragrant flowers to visitors at his establishment when he held open house. This week, great bunches of flowers direct from heart's gardens, made up in the choicest bouquets that brilliant minds conceive are being showered on him from all directions. Bouquets of gratitude in appreciation of his generous gifts in cash to all churches whose membership registered as many as 100 visitors at his establishment during his open house. An extra $25.00 in cash was given the denomination registering the largest number of its membership as visitors. The registration was over one thousand, divided as follows: First Methodist, 424; First Baptist, 292; First Christian, 135; First Presbyterian, 124; Rice City Methodist church, 48.

Announcement

To the Voters of Fulton County, Kentucky:

I take pleasure in announcing my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Fulton County, subject to the August Democratic Primary.

At the outset, I would like to say that I am not in this race to defeat any particular candidate or to cause the defeat of any particular candidate, but am in the race to win the nomination and beat the field if it is possible.

I have been considering entering this race for several months and finally decided to do so at the request and solicitation of many friends in different parts of the county, they having convinced me that I can win the nomination in the August Primary.

I won the nomination for the office of sheriff in the primary of 1917 and I greatly appreciated the honor conferred upon me at that time and I again solicit the support and influence of the voters of Fulton County in this campaign and, if elected, will again appreciate to the fullest extent the support given me and will to the bottom of my heart thank those who support me and use their influence in my behalf.

When I was sheriff before, I tried to treat everyone fairly and squarely regardless of their station in life and if elected again to the office of sheriff I will do my best to enforce the law, treating everyone equally, fairly and squarely, as I did before.

Thanking those who supported me before and again soliciting the support of everyone, I am,
Very truly yours,
SWAYNE WALKER.

BUREAU OF PUBLICITY

The Department of Commerce, through its Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, will shortly publish a Directory of Commercial and Industrial Organizations which will be distributed to all countries of the world, showing the commercial and industrial organizations of the United States, and thus advertising the products of the country.

This publication is periodically revised by the government at Washington and contains the very latest information obtainable. Among the other matters of interest is a complete list of the Chambers of Commerce of the country, thus affording those in search of this information an authentic list of such bodies.

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce has been invited to furnish the required information regarding itself and the reply has already been sent to Washington, thus assuring that Fulton will be put before the world as possessing a live, up-to-date Chamber of Commerce.

WELCOME ANNOUNCEMENT

The announcement made by the Rev. C. H. Warren, Sunday morning, to his congregation at the First Baptist church that the note at the bank had been paid off and the new church building was free of all indebtedness with funds on hand to continue the building program, was glad tidings joyously received by the membership.

The Baptists started out to erect their new church building on the pay-as-you-go plan and are living up to it. The basement was built with that end in view and is used for all church purposes. It is handsomely finished with large auditorium and Sunday school rooms comfortably seated. The rapid growth of the church membership and large congregations, however, crowd the basement auditorium each service and the completion of the building will be pushed forward as quickly as possible.

Tobacco Deliveries Heavy Last Week

The week ending last Friday was the heaviest of the season for the Association barn in Fulton, 281,400 pounds being received, which was an increase of 57,110 pounds over the previous week, which had been the best of the season to that time. Total receipts for the season up to last Friday night were 1,736,595 pounds.

Sales for the week were also particularly heavy, amounting to 239,635 pounds, and shows an increased activity among the buyers over the preceding weeks. Not only were the buyers more numerous, but Mr. J. M. Farra, Director of the Purchasing department, was a visitor here and expressed himself well pleased with the increase shown in deliveries at this point.

The best grade delivered for the week was the same as that of last week, being B2D24, bringing $30.00. There was a slight improvement shown in separation and classification of the tobacco brought off the past week, but employees say that there is still much room for improvement in this direction, and some of the farmers who have made a second delivery have profited by the advice of the men at the barn and thereby have made better grades on the second delivery than the first.

The new hydraulic press is expected to be in operation by the last of this week and then the handling of the weed to be prized will be much more rapid than has ever been seen in Fulton, and it will undoubtedly be an interesting sight to see the rapid packing and heading of the hogsheads, as the manner of handling is considerably different from the way it was packed by the old screw method. The new system will permit the pricing of thirty hogsheads per day, which will far exceed anything ever done in Fulton before by any of the screw batteries.

One reason for the quicker handling of the deliveries is that the new barn has a driveway that is sufficiently wide to permit of an empty wagon being driven out of line and on out of the barn, thus making room for other wagons to enter, whereas, at the old barns, if a wagon in the lead of the line was still unloaded all the wagons behind it were compelled to wait, not being able to get out till all wagons ahead of it were emptied.

SPECIAL NEXT SUNDAY FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

MORNING SERMON
"The Christian's Victory"

EVENING SUBJECT
"Fulton's Idolatry"

BIG MUSICAL PROGRAM.

First Christian Church O. J. Sowell, Pastor.

Sunday was another great day for our Master in the First Christian church of our city. Bro. Sowell went into his services full of power and enthusiasm, and gave to his large audiences two soul-stirring messages.

The subject of the morning sermon was, "Self Responsibility." This was a message full of truth for the church members of today. Every church member must realize their self responsibility, before the power of Jesus Christ can be demonstrated to the un-Christianized world. The church cannot have influence unless the individual members have influence for the members make up the church. Christ is simply the head. The preacher can't make a church, it takes the united effort of each member of the great organized body. There were two additions at the morning service, one for baptism and one for membership.

A great crowd was present for the evening service. The topic of the message was, "Life's Railway to Heaven." This was a great soul stirring message with a striking contrast to the sermon of the week before on "The Taxicab to Hell." This was a message of power and oratory and the great crowd of hundreds of Fulton people enjoyed every minute of the service.

Mrs. Tressa Hertzler Sowell read Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," for the evening service. The great crowd stayed to witness the baptismal service after church Sunday night. Bro. Sowell baptized three fine men. The fourth candidate was sick and unable to be present.

The Sunday school is progressing in a fine way under the leadership of R. C. Pickering as Superintendent.

The Junior Endeavor gave a fine program Sunday evening. A great crowd was present and Brother Sowell presented them with a handsome new Bible for the whole church.

O. J. Sowell spoke to the Junior High School Monday morning on the subject of "Finding Yourself and Development."

The Official Board met in the City National Bank Monday night. Many things were thrashed out relative to the church life.

Mrs. O. J. Sowell is in the Paducah hospital this week, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

Mrs. S. A. Hutzler of Ralston, Oklahoma is with her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Sowell, who is in the hospital.

Mrs. J. M. Culver is improving after being ill for several days at her home on Third street.

Miss Georgie Long is quite sick with pneumonia at her home on East State Line.

Mr. W. H. Spradlin is still sick at his home on Pearl St.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Taylor have been quite sick at their home on Washington Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Ligon were visitors in Memphis over the week end.

Mr. J. M. Culver was in Louisville on business last week.

Watch our Sunday programs and be sure to attend Sunday school and church next Sunday.

GOOD TAXI SERVICE

WILLYS-KNIGHT AND OVERLAND SIGN A BEAUTY

The Estes Motor Company, of Fulton, has just erected a handsome sign in front of their place of business on State Line street near the O. K. Laundry. This handsome sign bears the name Willys-Knight and Overland, the cars sold by this firm. We stopped in to take a look at one of the new Willys-Knight six-cylinder sedans. It's a beauty. Ordinarily, a product has to find a market and create its own place in the world after it is introduced—but the new Willys-Knight Six is an extraordinary exception to the rule. A big market and a big place in the world existed for the new Willys-Knight long before the car was produced. People have wanted a six-cylinder Willys-Knight for a good many years.

This is not just a new "model," this Willys-Knight Six—but a new car. It is not, however, just a new car with a six-cylinder engine—but with a six-cylinder sleeve-valve engine—the identical type of engine used in big, expensive European motor cars which import in America at $5,000 to $10,000 each.

We understand the Estes Motor Co., have contracted for six carloads of Willys-Knight 4 and 6, and Overlands, 4 and 6.

The Estes Motor Car market with Fred M. Towles, manager, is an interesting side feature of the company. Used automobile sale every day. Lots of good used cars for sale or trade. Cash or terms. Pay as you ride. Fords, Dodges, Buicks, Chevrolets, Overlands and other makes. Sales are conducted on the large lot at Walnut street railroad crossing. "Easy payments and your credit is good," says Mr. Towles.

What is the Chamber of Commerce?

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of the city. It reflects the ideals of the community.

It expresses the aspirations of the people.

It gives direction to the aims of the Citizenship.

It combines the efforts of those who think in terms of helpfulness.

It reduces unorganized elements to an organized unit.

It speaks in defense of the good name of the city.

It defends the city against the trader.

It is the spotlight that reveals activities that are worthy.

It pleads in behalf of the voiceless.

It is the center of worth while enterprise.

It is the magnet that draws the outside world to your midst.

It is the clearing house of civic pride.

It is the power house of progress.

It is a composite picture of a city as its citizenship would have it.

Its Spring Pressure Feature Insures Better Disking

We have in stock, ready for your inspection and use, a supply of disc harrows that are noted for doing a better job of diskings their entire width when going over ridges or depressions, or on side hills, as well as on level land. Come in and inspect the

JOHN DEERE Model "B" Disc Harrow

By means of the third lever, spring and John Deere pivoted yoke, this harrow can be given the required pressure to penetrate at even depth its full width under all the above conditions.

It is a really flexible harrow—penetrates, pulverizes and packs in conditions where rigid harrows fail to work all the soil. Each gang works independently, like separate harrows, and both can be given the proper angle to pulverize under varying conditions.

It is strong—will last years longer than ordinary harrows because of its all-steel main frame and double bar, riveted gang frames. It has oscillating scrapers with lock-down and lock-off features, and the most convenient grease cups—easy to fill and out of the dust and dirt.

We can furnish the John Deere Model "B" with rear gang and hitch to convert it into a double action, horse- or tractor-drawn harrow—a good way to save money and yet get good results.

The Dahlia

No Flower Garden is Complete Without It. Easy to Grow

The Decorative Dahlia is the pride of all Dahlias, standing out pre-eminently. In the garden the plants are strong, sturdy, vigorous growers, with heavy, dark green foliage, and a remarkable constitution. The blossoms are produced in great profusion, which is exceptional for a type of giant flowering Dahlias. For cut-flower purposes they are unsurpassed, having long, straight stems of wiry stiffness and producing their flowers in a pleasing upright manner; then principally their lasting qualities when cut they are unequalled, lasting longer than any of the other types. As an exhibition flower the Decorative Dahlia is the most gigantic of all Dahlias, possessing having beauty, substance, quality—all essential characteristics of a true "Model of Perfection." As a decorative flower they are first in every respect, being graceful, adapted to designs, and most artistic. No flower garden is complete without Dahlias. But all Dahlias are not alike, there are a number of varieties. It is just as easy to grow the best varieties as the ordinary kind.

GOOD-BY, DOLLAR

Every dollar you send out of town flies away with a value that rightfully belongs to your community. Spend it at home, with your home merchant, where its value stays with you and helps to build up your interests. When you come to think of it, there are only two kinds of dollars—the "Dollar with Wings" and the "Development Dollar." The "Dollar with Wings" goes to build up the Far Distant City, the Big Metropolis, with its vice and crime and low wages and poverty. The "Development Dollar" goes to build up the Home Town. It helps to build up a nation of real men and women. Then, let us make the dollars we spend "Development Dollars," home-town builders, building for us and our neighbors and our children, and making our community more prosperous, more happy, more contented.

Community Building

Move to Encourage Ownership of Homes

"To encourage and facilitate home building, reduce needless burdens in household operations, raise standards not only of the home, but of the community and the nation, is a task of profound importance for the welfare of America," declares Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, president of Better Homes in America, in an opening statement concerning Better Homes week demonstrations for 1923, which will be held May 10 to 17.

Mr. Hoover's statement is made in a foreword to the "Better Homes Guide Book," issued by the organization of which he is the head, which tells how communities may be organized for better homes demonstrations. In the last three and a half years the Better Homes of America organization has reached a steadily increasing number of communities and urged importance of encouraging home building and home owning.

"It is in the home," says Mr. Hoover, "that character and high ideals are best developed. The right kind of home life makes for true success in life and means progress for the nation as a whole."

"To own a home and to make it convenient and attractive, a home where health and happiness, affection and loyalty prevail, brings out the best that lies in every member of the family."

"Saving for home ownership, for instance, develops thrift and self-denial. A thing of lasting value is kept in the foreground and all energies are bent toward attaining it. Hours devoted to keeping a home in good repair, in making improvements that beautify it or lighten the burden of housekeeping, develop persistence and thoroughness and bring more direct returns as well. Neatness, order and cleanliness are invaluable habits, and the careful observation and forethought needed to insure lasting satisfaction from money spent for decoration, furnishing and equipment can be applied in many other ways."

Skillful Remodeling Adds Life to Structure

Remodeling of old houses has become more general today than in years. Many dwellings in the United States offer opportunity for improvements to make them more attractive, larger and more in line with present architectural design. These changes generally can be made at a comparatively small cost, considering the value added to the house itself.

Among the changes which can be made is the addition of dormer windows, which not only break up the monotony of the roof surface, but make available additional room space under the roof. A treatment suggested for houses having a rather flat exterior is the use of a porch or porches. The many different styles available, as shown in dwellings erected in recent years, offer opportunity for improving the appearance of the home, and usually at a moderate cost.

Greater balance in the general scheme of a house frequently can be obtained through the construction of a small addition on one end or additions to both ends. Change in the roof plan, whereby a purely two-story dwelling is converted into a semi-detached type with low-hanging eaves, now in great favor, is another alteration that may do much to make the house of more modern appearance, with a consequent increase in selling value.

Realty Investments

The constantly growing demand for property justifies consistent increases in the prices paid for buildings, for, after all, the value of real estate is determined by the service it renders to an individual, industry or community. Just like anything else, therefore, the trend of property values is ever upward and always will be, was the assertion made by a prominent Detroit real estate man recently.

There isn't a single individual who cannot look back for a period of years of greater or lesser extent, and recall property which went to him at a low price, and yet today that same piece of land is worth a fortune. This is true of the neighborhood, the city, state, nation and of the world.

Strengthens Family Ties

No family can ever feel for a rented house that deep-seated affection which is naturally developed for a home they own. There is little incentive to adorn and beautify the house and the yard which belong to another.

But when the place that shelters the family group is their own, every added beauty, every tree and shrub and flower planted adds new charm and binds the happy hearts.

Homebuilding Progress

Progress made in homebuilding since the days of the pioneers to the beginning of the twentieth century can be termed little more than phenomenal. It merely followed the general trend of educational and industrial development, but occasionally took great leaps with resultant attractions that were chiefly notable for their showing extravagance in the use of materials. Much of this progress is due to the fact that the

RAISE SPECTRE OF JAPANESE WAR

RAMSAY MACDONALD ATTACKS PLAN FOR NAVAL BASE.

BRIDGEMAN REPLY FRANK

Tories Cheer and Laborites Boo Defense of Singapore Project. Labor Leader Says It Nullifies Spirit of League.

London.—The spectre of war with Japan was raised by former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald during debate on navy estimates in the House of Commons.

The labor chief delivered a violent attack on the Tory government's plan to build a great naval base at Singapore. First Lord of the Admiralty Bridgeman replied with a defense of the British policy.

The speech was unusually frank. "If there were any signs of wavering about Singapore some other nation might show its teeth," was Bridgeman's closing remark.

"Of all dangerous policies for this country to adopt," Bridgeman declared, "the most dangerous would be to imagine this government can foresee when the next war is coming."

MacDonald quoted a resolution of the League of Nations association of Japan to the effect that the Singapore base is out of harmony with the spirit of the league and nullifies the effect of the Washington arms conference.

"What do the members think Japan's reply to Singapore will be," he asked. "It won't be in new naval activities at all, but in the creation of a new political policy in Far Eastern Asia."

The Singapore base, he continued, "must inevitably lead us to creation of a new Pacific fleet. All this is not in accordance with what continues to be policy of hope for the British empire. It means an increasing burden on the taxpayer after we have been told the burdens would be lightened and leads not to peace or security but inevitably to war."

Emphatic defense of the Singapore project was voiced by Sir Robert Home, former chancellor of the exchequer, who said the authors of the Gva protocol found they could not find peace by adopting resolutions, "only by force."

"What was to be the instrument of that force?" he asked. "The British navy. Yet without Singapore the navy would be crippled in eastern seas."

The Tories cheered this loudly; the Labor benches booed. Sir Alfred Mond, for the Liberals, criticized the Singapore project.

SCORES INVISIBLE RULE.

Gov. Al Smith Says G. O. P. Fears Budget Bill Will Sap Control.

New York.—Gov. Al Smith declared New York State is "ruled by an invisible government," and the business of the state is transacted on lower Broadway, in a speech at the annual luncheon of the United Neighbors' House at the Hotel McAlpin. "The reason why political leaders and those who are not elected to office can rule the state is because of the appropriation bill which gives them power to take over the administrative powers of the government," he said.

Gov. Smith said the Republican leaders at Albany have opposed the Democratic budget bill because it "would take away their power of control."

"Everything except government has progressed in the United States during the last 50 years," he said.

THE secret of good paint is "Purity." Ask any master painter the ideal materials for use in a house paint and he will tell you Pure Carbonate of Lead, Zinc Oxide, Linseed Oil, Turpentine and Drier and there you have the formula of Monarch 100% Pure Paint.

No substitute or cheapeners ever find a place in a can of Monarch 100% Pure Paint and you will always find "100% Pure" the "Sterling Mark" of paint on every can of Monarch you buy.

Give your home the best paint protection available by using Monarch 100% Pure upon it. It requires a 100% Pure Paint such as Monarch to really protect the surface over a period of years and it is poor economy to use cheap paint that will not withstand the elements.

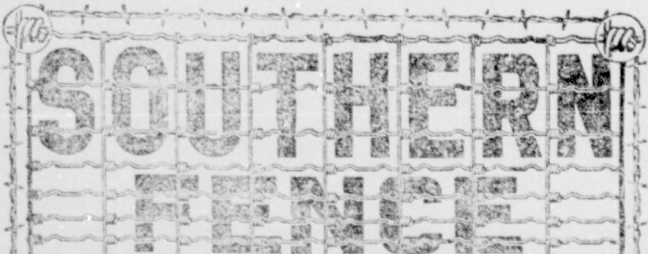

It will cost you less in dollars and cents if you specify Monarch 100% Pure Paint and you will always be satisfied.

Fulton, Route Seven

Everyone welcomes spring, after being shut in during the winter. Every member of the farm home is busy. Men preparing for their crop production; women setting hens, etc.; but best of all, gardens will soon be ready to supply a portion of our daily ration and our grocery bills will be somewhat reduced.

No deaths, marriages or births to report this week, but several are on the sick list, among whom are Mr. Dave Crockett, Miss Ada Belle Roach, and Master Blue Smiley. None are seriously ill.

Raymond A. Roach returned to Washington, D. C., last Friday to assume his work at Walter Reed hospital. He has been working for the government some time.

Mr. Edd Mansfield has purchased a new DeLaval separator. Every farm house should have one. It means the work of caring for milk much easier and gives a better quality of milk and butter. If you sell cream your gain will be equal to one ordinary cow.

Mr. Tilghman Nanney intends to go to Wyoming if his plans are successful.

Mr. Frank Ferguson of Crutchfield, Ky., Route No. 1, spent Monday with relatives on Route 7.

Mr. Paul Jones is suffering with a broken leg. He received the fracture in a scuffle.

We are glad to have Mr. Grover Hazelrigg and family to return home for the summer. They are splendid neighbors.

Miss Abbye Long of Bowling Green, Ky., is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. D. McKinney. She will probably spend the summer.

Mrs. J. R. Wilson, Raymond, Miss., will reach her 80th birthday on the 7th of April. The children, Robbie, Herbert, and Mrs. W. L. Nicholas, formerly of Fulton, want to give her a post card shower. It is requested that all her old friends and neighbors send a card to reach her by that date. Mrs. Wilson is well known in Fulton as she made her home there a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Donohue of Union City visited Mrs. Donohue's father, Mr. Walter Brashears Sunday.

Miss Lidia Kinney is in Memphis taking a course of study at the State Normal. Miss Kinney is a brilliant young lady and deserves a good position when she returns home.

Miss Laura Hazlerigg reports that she likes her work very much. We hope her much success. Route 7 should be proud to furnish a trained nurse.

Their position is like many others, it is trying, but all should choose some profession young in life and make a special preparation for the same. Too many make a mistake and wait until middle age to begin a career which causes a great many failures. Let us urge all boys and girls to prepare for some line of work early in life. Opportunities are at hand now. Consolidated country schools and city High schools in reach, so no excuse only indifference. Hope we haven't any of those kind of boys and girls.

SWEET LITTLE CHILD LAID TO REST

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Blaine deeply sympathize with them in the loss of their sweet little three-year old daughter, Sarah Catherine, who died at their home in Memphis, Monday. The remains were brought to Fulton and taken to the home of Mrs. Blaine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Arnn, on Fulton street. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning, conducted by the Rev. T. F. Moore, interment following at Fairview.

The Fulton Undertaking Co. had charge of the burial arrangements.

Joel Thompson took some young lady, one night last week, a large box of candy. We understand why Joel wears such a smile when he is on the rolling floor.

Daisy Beadles spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Nany moved from State Line to the country but Mrs. Nany will continue to work with us.

Misses Pearl Pewitt, Monette Jones, and Mr. McGinnis, Charles Seabrough spent Sunday afternoon in Martin and McConnell, Tenn.

Mr. Haupt spent a few hours with us Monday morning.

Has any one noticed how "thin" Oma Adams is getting? Well, it's over the fact that there's a hole in her Red Stockings.

Miss Ola Mae Adams says she doesn't intend to work later than June. Say, Ola Mae, did you get the results from that letter you wrote before Christmas.

W. P. Murrell Spoken of For Mayor

In our rounds of the political arena the past week we heard much talk regarding the candidates announced for county offices and some who anticipate entering the race. But probably the most talked of man mentioned for chief executive of our city is W. P. Murrell. It is not the first time we've heard Mr. Murrell mentioned as being a good man to succeed Mr. Wade as Mayor of Fulton. For fourteen years he has served the city as councilman and often times as Mayor when the chief executive was out of the city. No one can say that W. P. Murrell ever shirked his duty at any time during all these years as a public servant. He has given much of his valuable time from his private business to advance our city's best interests. He is a man of unselfish civic enthusiasm. His best endeavors have been to make Fulton a city which men and women love for business, instruction and inspiration; a happy and profitable place to live in.

While urgent demands will no doubt be made on Mr. Murrell to announce for the office of Mayor, we doubt very much if he will consider the pleadings of his admirers seriously.

We can all remember, however, that it was W. P. Murrell, chairman of water works committee, and his co-laborers, that Fulton today has one of the best waterworks systems of any town in the state of our class.

In fact, the present city administration has done a great deal for which it has been given no credit. It has been a clean, economical administration working under a great handicap.

THE TEARS OF APRIL

We have with us the tender,
tearful, gentle month of April.
It is the month in which Nature is in her most motherly mood. When she weeps over the young things beginning life about her. It is the month when the world awakes from its winter's sleep. It is the month in which plant life, aroused by the winds of March,
is soothed by the tears of April.

March is dead. Her gusty sighs are hushed. Her turbulent lamentations are silent. To April, a tearful and tender mother, March has left a wonderful world of growing things young in fields, in woods, in gardens, in all of Nature's reaches.

All of the smells of spring come sweetly to us in April and while her tears are falling she still has flowers in her hand and sunshine in her eyes.

For centuries April has wept over the young things in her charge. In a brief space of time she will yield these young things to the harder and merrier month of May.

Not only does Nature awaken the sleeping plant life in April, but there is the material awakening in other hearts as well. The call of the mockingbird and the thrush, in the quiet hour of dawn is heard.
The hollow tapping of the woodpecker is echoed in the woods. There is that cheerful spirit of the mating season among the birds. They are busy looking for nesting places, the oriole to tie her swinging nest
to the end of a slender twig, the mocking bird in some thorny hedge, while her mate thrills his love songs near by.

Creation touches a triumphant chord in April. The glory of the day may be uncertain.
Across the soft blue sky of the afternoon a light wind may be busy shepherding sluggish flocks of white clouds only to be changed into a cheerful scene, for April weeks when least expected. It is the tear of April that paint the woods
in subdued by virgin tints.
There is a sacredness in the tears of April. Tears are not the marks of weakness in either men or months. They tell in April of the power yet to come.
They speak to the farmer more eloquently than ten thousand tongues. They are silent messengers. The plowed earth drinks in their warning of the drouth which will come in June and July, and the torrid weeks of summer.

The tears of April cannot conceal her happy smile, for it is the smile of love.

It was Sir Walter Scott who declared that "love is loveliest when embalmed in tears," and while in this month of sweetest promise, April's tears may dampen the strings of Nature's lyre, we must all remember that the notes grow more tender for it, and ring truer in the end. If April's tears are welcome and fall frequently, April also has a sunny smile, a smile that is always bright and helpful, warm at times, but always filled with encouragement, a smile that is always bright and beautiful, and after the shower one listens in joyous awe to the cataracts of sound that come hurling through the budding trees.

The starved woodlands, so long gaunt and gray, have since the days of ending autumn thirsted for April's tears and the encouraging caress of May.

Winter months weep, but their tears are cold and a cold rain is unkind to the flowers.

When rainbowed in the tears
the tender tears of April, all of the rarest hues of Nature take on an unexpected radiance.

The hyacinth, the tulip, the jonquil and crocus, in woods
the dogwood and redwood, the wild plants, more beautiful at this season than in all the months to come, when bathed in April's tears seem consistently appealing to the human eye.

April's tears are tender
tears which humanize the soul and like human tears, the softening showers make us all the more appreciative of the great Father who tempers the whole World with His infinite goodness and mercy.

DON'T SLEEP ON THE JOB

Few movements started in the United States have been so readily taken up as the Clean Up and Paint Up idea. A great deal of credit is due to the originators of this movement for it is a good work and worthy of the support of every man, woman and child in the country.

There is only one poor feature in regard to the movement and that is there are too many people who have not sufficient pride to keep up their property
all the year, but wait for clean up time to do a year's cleaning and painting, the same as some wait for "Go to Church Sunday," never thinking that they could "Clean up," or "Go to church" at any other time than that designated by the promoters of civic improvements.

Although the Clean Up and Paint Up idea is still in its infancy, the movement has developed in Fulton at a great rate
during recent years.

Occasionally one meets a man who says: "I don't care whether the yard is clean or the sheds painted. I have to live there and its suits me." Such a man is wrong. It is not only an obligation that he owes his city, but it is an opportunity for him to show his good citizenship as well. Why not declare war upon all of the unsightly things and use soap and paint as ammunition.

The American people as a whole are lovers of beauty,
whether natural or artificial.
The attractiveness of homes and yards is just as important as the show places, such as the parks.

To make a truly beautiful town requires the cooperation of every inhabitant. The Clean-Up and Paint Up time has arrived, do not close your doors and sleep through such a campaign.

SWAYNE WALKER AN- NOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

In today's paper will be found the announcement of Swayne Walker, candidate for the office of Sheriff of Fulton county, subject to the Democratic primary election, August 1, 1925.

There is not a more popular young man in the county than Mr. Walker, or a man more capable of filling the Sheriff's office, and his friends have urged him to enter the race with a full determination of working for him until he is safely over the home plate.

Mr. Walker is a son of Col.
C. L. Walker, of Hickman, and possesses a host of friends all over the county.

In his aspirations to be Sheriff, Mr. Walker appeals to the people purely upon his qualifications and promises to discharge the duties of the office with loyalty to his party whose support he solicits. He has been tried and not found wanting. During 1918-22 he served the people of Fulton county as their Sheriff to the best of his ability and if elected this time promises to do the same thing.

Crossword Puzzles Have a Bad Influence on Their Addicts

Last week we owned a good dictionary, a Cruden's Concordance and a Holy Bible. First the dictionary went, then the Bible disappeared, and now the concordance is gone.

For many years these books or their honored predecessors have been mainstays of the office, second only to the foreman and the devil.

We wish no one any harm
who may have them. A man who will steal a dictionary is enterprising and there is hope for him.

A man who will steal a concordance is a hair-hung and breeze-shaken sinner who is dancing on the sulphurous flames of a four-letter word meaning Cairo, Ill.

But a human billy goat who will calmly walk off with the Bible for no nobler reason than to get aid in solving crossword puzzles has a vacuum where his brains were, a garbage can where his heart was, and is also a cross between a five-word letter word meaning civet cat and a fighting word meaning a number of things.

But if he will return the concordance he can keep the other books and he be a six-letter word meaning fried-in-his-own grease in his use of them.

HILL'S "America"

THE ROSE OF THE CENTURY

This superb rose, for which the horticultural world has been waiting for so long, is now ready for distribution, and we consider it a great privilege to help the E. F. Hill company in its dissemination.

We have tried it out in our test garden. It blooms continuously from early May until heavy frost, on stems two to three feet long, and the color is the most glorious glowing rose-pink imaginable. The buds are long and pointed and open up most artistically as the outpetals fold back, leaving the high-pointed center fully exposed.

It is as near disease resistant as a rose can be, always having a clean, glossy foliage at all seasons of the year. It rivals the American Beauty in size of flower, and if you are looking for a marvelous rose you will make no mistake in growing "America."

This wonderful rose has captured the prize in every rose show where it has been exhibited. In Paris and New York International show it was awarded the gold medal for being the best pink.

The price is $1.00 for 2-year old plants, guaranteed to bloom
this year. R. S. Williams, Ful-

Telephone Growth Continues

THE growth and progress of Kentucky last year was strikingly reflected in the large investment in additions and extensions to the telephone system.

Such an active year of construction has rarely been experienced in the State, and, as a result, the telephone service is more extensive and more valuable than ever before.

In Kentucky last year the telephone workers handled 23,539 telephone stations, making a net gain of 2,715 new telephones and involving gross additions to plant of approximately $1,373,390.

To accomplish this big task required the services of 2,359 workers, whose annual wage bill was $1,700,062.

The investment in service in Kentucky as of December 31, 1924, was $12,044,316, and there are now 110,000 Bell telephones in the State.

Some of the items included in the investment are 184 central offices, 358,192 miles of wire, 8,525 miles of pole line and 382 miles of underground duct.

There is a bigger task ahead this year, and your considerate interest encourages the telephone workers in their effort to serve you even better.

RIGHT TO SPAN
OHIO APPROVED

U. S. TO PAY HALF COST IF BRIDGE FROM HENDERSON IS CONSTRUCTED

Five Privately Owned Bridges Cross the Ohio River from Kentucky: Between Louisville and New Albany, Ind.; Covington and Cincinnati, Newport and Cincinnati and Russell and Ironton, Ohio.

Frankfort, Ky.—There are no bridges, owned by Kentucky, crossing the Ohio River, but there are five toll bridges, privately owned, crossing the river from Kentucky, one into Indiana, and four into Ohio, according to records just prepared by Mark Galt, bridge, federal engineer here, for the State Highway Department.

The State Highway Commission has approved a plan whereby the Ohio River may be bridged at a point in Union County or at a point in Henderson County opposite Evansville, Ind., in Vanderburg County.

Kentucky would pay one-quarter, Indiana, one-quarter, and the federal government one-half the cost of construction. An enabling act has been passed in Congress. G. Lucien Deury, of Union County, informed the commission, providing for the federal government's participation.

Evansville is willing to shoulder the cost to Kentucky in building the bridge, over and above the sum of $200,000, which sum is to be paid by Kentucky at the rate of $75,000 a year. In the years 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930.

The five private toll bridges that cross the Ohio from Kentucky cross between Louisville and New Albany, Ind.; between Covington and Cincinnati; another between Newport and Cincinnati, and between Russell, Ky., and Ironton, O.

There are no provisions for making these bridges free of tolls at some future date, Mr. Galt said.

The bridge between Louisville and New Albany, Ind., was built in 1915. It has a twelve-foot roadway carried over from the railroad bridge on each side, and is 2,543 feet long, owned by the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge and Railroad Company, the Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago Indianapolis and Louisville and Southern Railways. It represents an investment of about $350,000 for the highway part of the bridge, and brings an income of about $800 a day, according to the Louisville Automobile Club, and has a probable length of life of forty years.

The suspension bridge between Covington and Cincinnati was built in 1868, and rebuilt in 1880, and 1915, a twenty-foot roadway carrying two street car tracks and eight-foot sidewalk on each side, representing an investment of $4,000,000, with a probable length of life of twenty years, owned by the Cincinnati Bridge Co. Representing an investment of about $3,000,000, the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company's bridge between Newport and Cincinnati was built in 1890, with probable length of life of twenty years. It is 2,618 feet long and carries two street car tracks.

Another bridge between Newport and Cincinnati, built in 1890, is owned by the Broadway and Newport Bridge Company, and is 3,000 feet long, with a twenty-four-foot roadway. It carries two street car tracks and sidewalk eight feet on each side. The bridge has a probable ten-year life.

The fifth bridge, between Russell, Ky., and Ironton, O., is owned by the Ironton and Russell Bridge Company, Inc., representing an investment of about $800,000. It is 2,840 feet long, of cantilever type, with twenty-foot roadway and one six-foot sidewalk, and has a probable life of forty years.

CAPITAL LAND IS BOUGHT.

Property of Mrs. Cromwell and Others Assessed at $11,000, To Cost $32,025.

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky will pay Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell, Secretary of State; Mrs. John W. Reiman and the Frank Olson estate $32,025 for unimproved land along the west side of the approach to the Capitol. The land last year was assessed at $11,000 for purposes of taxation.

Mrs. Cromwell is a member of the Sinking Fund Commission which approved the purchase. She was not present when the commission voted to buy the land.

Records at the office of the City Clerk showed Mrs. Redman's lot was assessed at $4,000 last year. The Board of Supervisors raised it to $9,000. The Frank Olson estate owns fifty front feet on Capitol Avenue. It was assessed at $2,000. The supervisors increased it $500.

Marion To Get New Waterworks. Marion, Ky.—After a struggle of twenty-five years in that direction, Marion, the county seat of Crittenden County, made a fourth class city by special act of the state Legislature, is at last to have a modern system of waterworks. Two years ago a bond issue was voted sufficient to install the system and after various legal tangles the site has at last been bought and paid for and work will begin soon on the actual construction.

PRESIDENT NAMES
SHOALS COMMITTEE

DIAL, LAME DUCK, IS THE DEMOCRATIC MEMBER.

TO REPORT IN DECEMBER

Five Members Will Draw Down $30 Day and Expenses—Prof. Curtis, of Yale, Is Chosen on Commission.

Washington.—President Coolidge named a committee of five "to examine into and report to him upon the most practical method or methods of utilizing to the best advantage the Muscle Shoals facilities."

The commission is expected to have its report ready for submission when Congress assembles next December.

Former Representative John C. McKenzie of Illinois, supporter of the Henry Ford offer in the last Congress, heads the president's commission. Mr. McKenzie retired voluntarily from Congress on March 4.

Former Senator Nathaniel B. Dial of South Carolina, Democrat, is the other congressional members of the commission. Senator Dial was defeated for the Democratic nomination last year, losing his seat to Cule Blease.

It was known that Senator Dial was one Democratic lame duck upon whom Coolidge looked kindly, but who the Democrats in the Senate particularly dislike. Dial has been going along with the administration, even courting favor to the extent of launching a bitter attack on Democratic policies.

The other three members of the commission are Prof. Harry A. Curtis of Yale University; William McClellan of New York City, and Russell F. Bower of the Farm Bureau Federation.

Professor Curtis is an authority on chemical engineering. He was consultant to the Department of Agriculture in the reorganization of its fertilizer work and was at one time executive officer of the nitrogen research office in the army. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado and the University of Wisconsin, and for several years prior to becoming a member of the Yale faculty was engaged in chemical engineering work.

Mr. McClellan is an electrical engineer. He is past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and has had large experience in construction and operation of electrical equipment. He is a graduate of the university of Pennsylvania, and was at one time dean of the Wharton School at the university.

Mr. Bower has been engaged for some time with the Farm Bureau Federation in studying the agricultural aspects of the Muscle Shoals problem. Professor Curtis, Mr. McClellan and Mr. Bower thus represent in the president's mind the three principal phases of the Muscle Shoals problem—electrical power, nitrogen and agricultural interests.

DISCUSS EUROPEAN COTTON HANDLING

SHIPPERS ADOPT RESOLUTION OF CORRECTIVE KIND.

REQUEST MAKE CHANGES

American Association at New Orleans, Over Which Memphis Presides, Names Objectionable Practices at Liverpool and Havre.

New Orleans.—Resolutions regulating certain European practices in handling American cotton were adopted at the first annual convention of the American Cotton Shippers' Association attended by shippers and exporters and representatives of European cotton exchanges.

Liverpool and Havre cotton dealers were requested in a resolution to discontinue their present system and adopt instead the paid arbitrator system in settling trade disputes.

Another resolution advised Havre that the association desires that no cotton be weighed there until it is assembled. It was said cotton was weighed in Havre bale by bale as it came from the ship, while some of it was exceedingly bone dry.

A third resolution advised the Europeans that an indirect shipment is designated as that carried on a ship which may touch one or more American ports and then one or more European open ports before reaching the port of delivery. The direct shipment may be carried on a ship which may touch one or more American ports, but which after leaving America must sail direct to the port of shipment. This information was particularly for Bremen cotton receivers.

The association adopted a resolution declaring that "it shall be unlawful for any member of the association to sell cotton subject to claim for internal damage." American shippers were said to have lost heavily because of European claims for such damage.

Other resolutions adopted established a working basis by which the Co-ordinated Cotton Association of America can lay down set rules governing conditions at European ports.

Edward T. Robertson, of Bremen, Germany was appointed official controller of the association in Europe.

C. W. Butler, of Memphis, Tenn., president of the association, presided, and in the principal address of the day, urged the enactment of laws requiring uniform tare and adopted in the cotton trade of a system of salaried arbitrators, representing all of the interests involved, to adjust disputes in connection with the exportation of cotton in Europe.

The Europeans present did not participate in the discussions, which were limited to members of the association, but they took part in committee meetings.

SAID'S REBELS TAKE AND SACK THE CITY OF URFA

Seventy Thousand Turks Being Concentrated Against Insurgents.

Constantinople.—Sheik Said's rebels captured and sacked the town of Urfa and then abandoned it.

There are between 20,000 and 30,000 mounted and well armed fanatic rebels and under their protection the green flag of the prophet is flying over 200 miles of mountainous country between Diarbekir and Ezerum, and more than 100 miles between Kharput and Bitlis—a defiance of Ankara.

A Turkish communique announces that the rebels have again captured Silvan, between Diarbekir and Bitlis, and that they are driving the Turkish troops north of Kichib, in the vilayet of Ezerum. At least 70,000 Turks are concentrating against the rebels—the Turkish also are keeping their eye on Mosul—and as the rebels everywhere are carrying Korans and green flags of the prophet, the troops are being carefully isolated until the beginning of operations to prevent their infection with Said's religious propaganda.

VIVE LE ROI SUNG IN PARIS STREETS

"SHAME ON HERRIOT," CRY ROYALIST STUDENTS

FIGHT WITH RADICALS

Pantheon Hill Is Scene of Wild Demonstration—The Communist Shouts Are Drowned Out With "Vive La France."

Paris.—Royalists and conservative republican students of the law school of the University of Paris and the Sorbonne prevented Prof. Georges Scelle's second attempt to give a lecture and turned their vociferous protests into a real political demonstration against the government. For three hours Pantheon Hall, known as the Mountain of St. Genevieve, rang with "Conspuez Herriot," freely interpreted as "Shame on Herriot," alternating with the royalist anthem:

"Long live the king; down with the republic."

Prof. Scelle, who is the minister of labor's principal secretary, recently was appointed to the chair of international law, an appointment that did not meet with the approval of the students.

There were many clashes between the police and students and 54 of the police were wounded, eight of them seriously. The student casualties are believed to have been large, but their number is not known. Thirty students were arrested, including three ring-leaders.

A demonstration of Communist students, which took place after Prof. Scelle's particular opponents were dispersed, was broken up by the police after a severe fight in front of the Pantheon. The students used chemical bombs, canes, fists and feet, while the police battled furiously after the Communists had called them "assassins" and "cattle."

The prefect of police, M. Morain, superintended the operations in person. Amid jeers and insults he addressed the students in the Place du Pantheon, saying: "You are free to manifest your opinions, but you must not resort to acts of violence."

A Royalist student interrupted, shouting: "How about the Communists, who have just cried—down with the fatherland; long live the internationalists?"

M. Morain smiled and replied: "If they shout down with the fatherland, why you might use your fists, but don't use canes."

The Rue Saint Jacques, which is an old Roman road connecting Paris with Orleans, re-echoed this afternoon with the shouts of Herriot's supporters: "Long live peace," and Royalists' shouts of "long live Daudent" in praise of the leader of their party. When the Communists got unduly obstreperous, the Royalists and the more conservative of the young Republicans drowned them out with yells of "vive la France!"

PASSING OF TOLLGATE ON THE SHILOH ROAD

Quarter Century Fight At Last Won For the People.

Washington.—Officials of the War Department have let it be known that the fight which has been going on for more than a quarter of a century over the construction of a hard-surfaced road from Corinth, Miss., to Shiloh battlefield, has at last been brought to a close.

About a year ago Representative Rankin of Mississippi, after a hard contest in the House, secured the adoption of an amendment to the army appropriation bill, providing that the government should take over and maintain this road as a part of the Shiloh National Park.

The road in Tennessee was owned at that time by a turnpike company which operated toll gates on it, and as the amendment provided for the widening of the road, it was necessary not only to secure title to the road from the turnpike company, but also from the adjacent land owners. This has at last been done, the last toll gate has been removed, and the War Department is now free to proceed with the construction of the road.

Power Line Cut In.

Huntsville, Ala.—The Alabama Power Company announced that the Hopgood transmission line to Huntsville by way of Decatur is ready to be cut in and that several thousand horsepower will be added to the hydroelectric power available to Huntsville industries.

New York.—Isadore Siegel walked out of Tombs prison probably the happiest young man who has ever done a "bit" in that "hostelry." He left the Tombs a pleasant place for his being there. Siegel's work was the redecorating of the chapel on the fourth tier. From bare prison walls, with the aid of oil paints, he has created a little Italian marble shrine, so realistic that visitors catch their breath at sight of it. Father Cashin, veteran prison chaplain, thinks it is beautiful.

BOOM PERSHING FOR U. S. SENATE

BOOMED TO TAKE SPENCER'S TOGA AWAY FROM HIM

GENERAL HOLDS SILENCE

Declares, However, He Would Not Take Orders From Dawes, Formerly Under His Command in the Expeditionary Forces

Chicago.—General John J. Pershing, if elected a Republican senator from Missouri, would not guarantee to take orders from Vice President Charles G. Dawes, his former subordinate in the A. E. F., he said on alighting from a Pennsylvania train here. He was to leave at 6 p. m. for Lincoln, Neb., where he will visit two sisters.

General Pershing was greeted with the observation that if he should go to the Senate, as had been suggested in some quarters, he might have to take orders from Brigadier General Dawes, former general purchasing agent in his command.

"Not necessarily," said General Pershing. "He's only the presiding officer. I would not have to take orders from him."

The general met further questions about a possibility of his becoming senator, with thick silences, vouchsafing only the comment that he thought it unlikely. There had been reports that he was mentioned by friends as a likely senatorial candidate.

General Pershing said he would rest in Lincoln, preparatory to going to South America on his appointment by President Coolidge to help supervise the Tacna-Arica plebiscite in the old controversy between Chile and Peru.

BLAST WRECKS SCHOOL AND JANITOR MISSING

Believed Killed—Reward Offered For Possible Bombers.

Pittsburgh Pa.—An explosion wrecked the public school building at Swissvale, a suburb. Jacob Jacobs, the janitor was reported missing, and police and firemen are searching the ruins in the belief that he met death in the blast.

Officers believe the explosion was not accidental and a reward of $1,000 was offered for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for wrecking the building.

The blast occurred shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning and rocked houses and broke windows within a radius of several blocks. One corner of the two-story brick building was wrecked completely and the remaining walls and roof were cracked and left swaying under the weight of unsupported rafters. A one-story frame annex was blown to splinters.

A fire alarm was turned in but firemen were unable to find any trace of fire, leading to the belief held by some fire and police officials that the building had been bombed.

DuPont to Marry.

Baltimore.—Miss Anne Thompson, a nurse at John Hopkins Hospital, admitted the truth of a report that she was engaged to marry Ernst DuPont, a member of the Wilmington, Del., family. Her home is in Raleigh, N. C. The romance began last October, when Mr. DuPont, who is president of the United States Flashless Powder Company, and is about 42 years old, was taken to the hospital with a fractured leg. He met Miss Thompson when she entered the room to take over the duties of nursing him.

VON LUDENDORFF IS CANDIDATE

FORMER ARMY LEADER WANTS TO SUCCEED EBERT

TWO ELECTIONS FORECAST

No Candidate Can Win in First Election, Which Comes Sunday, March 29—Simple Plurality Sufficient in Election of April 20.

Berlin.—"Monarchism is not an issue in the German presidential election," declared Gen. Erich Ludendorff. Gen. Ludendorff has come out as candidate No. 7, for president.

"A kaiser in Germany today, or in the near future," he continued, "would be nothing more than a 'scotte' to the allied powers. That is quite a sufficient reason why even the contemplation of a restoration of the monarchy does not enter into the campaign and is beyond the consideration of sensible people."

"If the question of the restoration of the monarchy does ever come up it will not be until Germany is again a sovereign independent nation of which there is little prospect in the next few years."

"I am too good a monarchist to want to be emperor by the grace of foreign powers. Abroad I am represented as wanting to restore the monarchy. At home I am attacked in monarchistic circles, because I have consistently, all these years, taken the attitude that the question should be allowed to rest at this time since we cannot now have and moreover do not want the restoration under existing circumstances."

Gen. Ludendorff said that he had permitted himself to be nominated "to keep national opposition alive." He considers that he personifies this opposition better than anyone else.

"I am certain of one thing," he said, "and that is that I will not be elected president of Germany. I shall not even make one campaign speech."

He denied that he is fighting the Catholic Church, saying:

"I believe everyone should have his or her religion, but I stand firmly on the American principle that religious organizations as such, must not be given the right to dominate or interfere with the government."

With seven candidates and a confusion of issues to choose from under the most democratic election system in the world, the German voters will go to the polls Sunday, March 29, to cast their ballots in the first popular presidential election in the young German republic.

Although Fritz Ebert, whose death precipitated the election rather suddenly, was the first president, he was elected by the national assembly. The coming election therefore, is the first time in history that the German people themselves will be able to select the head of their state and express with unequivocal the kind of government they want and what policies they want it to pursue.

As the German people are still the most numerous and potentially the most powerful in Western Europe, the German presidential election has a world-wide importance. Though the election system is the most "democratic" in the world, the candidates are still strictly boss picked party horses about whose selection the people have nothing to say. Candidates are expected to bring out the party strength but little more.

Hexylresorcinol 50 Times As Powerful As Carbolic Acid.

Baltimore—Dr. Voador Leonard, chairman of the committee on internal antiseptics, National Research Council, explained further before the Baltimore medical society the action of hexylresorcinol, the antiseptic which he recently discovered. The new drug has been described as 50 times more effective than carbolic acid in its power to kill disease germs in the genito-urinary tract.

While the antiseptic is as irritant to the stomach and has been administered with oil in capsule form, Dr. Leonard declared it to be non-irritating to the genito-urinary tract. He described his discovery as potentially germicidal, soluble to a high degree and capable of being eliminated in high percentage by the kidneys.

Huge Kentucky Hydro-Electric Dam On Dix River Now Near Completion; Engineers Close Tunnel To Fill Lake

More Than 1,000 Men Are Working Day and Night to Complete Dix River Dam, Which Is 270 Feet High, 920 Feet Long and 700 Feet Thick At Base. At Right Is Intake Tower Through Which Water Will Plunge To Three Turbines In Power House Below the Dam Where Generators Will Produce Current of 30,000 Horsepower.

By JOHN E. DAVIS

FIRST steps in actual operation of the great Dix River hydro-electric dam, near High Bridge, Ky., were taken March 15 when engineers closed the tunnel through which the river's flow has been diverted during a major construction period of fifteen months.

This will start formation of a lake thirty-four miles long whose carefully controlled waters soon will be driving three generators with a total capacity of 30,000 electrical horsepower. Before the end of summer this plant, developing more power than the famous Roosevelt Dam in Arizona, will be sending electricity to Indiana, Virginia and Central and Southeastern Kentucky.

Tremendous activity now marks the scene at Dix River dam. Nearly 1,000 men with dozens of steam shovels, derricks, donkey engines, power drills, concrete mixers, cable ways, locomotives and dump cars are pushing the big job to completion at top speed. Day and night the air is filled with the clatter and rattle and dust and smoke of large scale industry.

270 Feet High, 920 Feet Long

The dam is 270 feet high, about the height of a twenty-one story modern office building. At the river bed it is 700 feet thick, equal to the length of two ordinary city blocks. Between the abutting cliffs which form the river gorge, it is 920 feet long. The top of the dam is twenty-four feet wide, which some day will be paved and made a stretch of scenic highway. The largest rock-filled dam in the world, the highest dam east of the Rocky Mountains, the structure is 100 feet higher than the falls of Niagara.

More than $7,000,000 has been spent on the development. Power house, transformer sub-station and steel tower transmission lines are practically ready for the opening of giant valves that will turn water into turbines propelling three generators producing electricity of 13,000 volts. From the power house the current will go to a transformer sub-station nearby, raised to 60,000 volts and put on the transmission lines leading to the outer world.

Pioneer Development.

The development is owned by the Kentucky Hydro-Electric Company, a subsidiary of the Kentucky Utilities Company, which operates nearly 1,000 miles of transmission lines and supplies 192 towns, besides 350 industrial concerns, with electricity.

Hydro-Electric Company officers are Samuel Insull, chairman of the board, Martin J. Insull, president, Lewis B. Herrington, first vice president, Harry Bell, second vice president, A. A. Tuttle, treasurer, Mrs. Florence A. Tate, secretary and Miss R. E. McKee, assistant secretary. There are 4,500 stockholders in sixteen states and six foreign countries.

Dix River dam is the pioneer hydro-electric development in Kentucky. It is destined to play an important part in the industrial expansion of the state. According to Martin J. Insull, the Dix River plant is the first movement toward utilization of Kentucky's water-power resources, and will occupy a key position in the super-power transmission network to be built in this and adjoining states during the next ten or fifteen years. It is further destined to be an important unit in the light-collecting super-power development which will cover the entire United States—a recently projected co-operative plan encouraged by the Department of Commerce.

Herrington's Dream Comes True.

Scaffolding and trestles will be torn away, construction machinery and pools removed, and the completed work turned over to its owners by the L. E. Myers Construction Company, the contractors, early in the summer. Then Mr. Herrington will see materialized his dream of almost two decades.

Likewise the hovering shade of Daniel Boone presumably will smile triumphantly over the vindication of Old Dan's engineering judgment after almost a century and a half of waiting. In 1784 Daniel Boone wrote in a book on Kentucky, "Dick's river affords many excellent mill seats . . . and (they) . . . will have plenty of water in the driest seasons."

While he was operating the electric light plant at Richmond, Ky., in 1909, Mr. Herrington, then in his late twenties, saw in the swift-flowing, cliff-walled streams of central Kentucky enormous potential hydro-electric power. He began to explore the streams of the region as he found time to do so. With G. T. Bogard, now chief engineer of the Kentucky Utilities Company, he covered hundreds of miles—afloat, on horseback and in canoe.

Finally the present site of Dix River dam was chosen as most suitable by these two young men. A dam site and a big idea and no capital do not, however, resolve themselves into a $7,000,000 hydro-electric plant overnight—not by a dam sight! But Mr. Herrington had this vision, his enthusiasm and no small fund of perseverance. He went to work.

Power Company Formed.

After three years, during which a great amount of data was collected, Mr. Herrington and fourteen friends organized the Dix River Power Company. His partners were: Harvey Chennault of Richmond, Ky.; Harry Reid, now president of the Kentucky Utilities Company and the Interstate Public Service Company; Mr. Bogard; J. H. Dean and J. J. Greenleaf of Richmond, Ky.; G. A. McRoberts, J. S. Van Winkle and L. P. Yonell of Louisville, Ky.; J. Q. Ward and Sidney G. Clay of Paris, Ky.; C. P. Kennedy of Burgin, Ky.; R. L. McDonald of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; S. W. Forgy of Elkhart, Ky.; and Hite H. Huffer of Louisville.

Mr. Herrington continued to gather vital facts. He made a record of the monthly rainfall of the region and of the daily amount of the river's flow at the dam site covering a period of two years. Then the interest of two of the foremost public utility men in the country was enlisted—Samuel Insull and Martin J. Insull, respectively chairman of the board and president of the Middle West Utilities Company. Formation of the Kentucky Hydro-Electric Company out of the old Dix River Power Company followed, and with the backing of the Middle West Utilities Company, in capital and credit, and in administrative, financial and engineering experience, the Dix River dam project got under way.

The Insulls Brought Success.

"Our success in this great enterprise is due to Mr. Samuel Insull and Mr. Martin J. Insull," Mr. Herrington says. "Their hearty support and their wide knowledge of the public utility business materialized a dream and built an everlasting monument to industry and progress."

Following the birth of the new company, came an advance army of engineers headed by Arthur P. Davis, who planned and built the Roosevelt Dam. G. W. Hamilton, chief engineer of the Middle West Utilities Company, L. F. Harza and George W. Howson, famous as planners and builders. Mr. Harza is chief engineer and Mr. Howson resident engineer of the Dix River dam development.

After surveys were made, the company bought hundreds of acres of river bottom farm land which will be submerged by formation of the lake. The area of about twenty square miles to go under water includes many homes and other farm buildings, two bridges, several miles of the Lexington-Danville state highway and of the Burgin-Buena Vista county road, in Boyle, Garrard and Mercer counties.

Beginning of Work.

Actual construction began in the fall of 1927. A tunnel, 905 feet long and twenty-four feet in diameter, was bored through the east cliff, which forms one of the dam abutments. It extends from a point immediately above the dam to a point just below, is located 100 feet back of the face of the cliff except at the points of entrance and discharge, and has been used temporarily to divert the river flow during construction.

The dam is composed of rocks, varying from a coffee-pot to a roll-top desk in size, to the amount of 1,500,000 cubic yards. Over the loose rock is a covering of hand-packed rock in places over thirty feet thick, and this hand-packed wall is embedded under a solid concrete blanket on the upstream side.

To move a million and half cubic yards of rock into a pile requires a tremendous amount of work and a lot of equipment. Nine hundred to a thousand men have been continuously employed. They have been living in a temporary town composed of bunk houses, restaurants, offices, power plants, repair shops, a hospital and even a movie theater—with electric lights, waterworks and sewers.

Artificial Earthquakes.

The rock for the dam has come out of two quarries on opposite sides of the river. Two great blasts blew hundreds of thousands of tons of material off the cliff tops into the river bed where it would do the most good. For the largest blast 81,000 pounds of explosive was packed into two wells and fired. For the next largest, 28,000 pounds of dynamite was put into 157 holes and exploded. As 500 pounds of dynamite makes a big blast, these two upheavals were artificial earthquakes.

The remainder of the rock was loosened with smaller blasts and carried in trains shunted over standard gauge railroad trestles built on the rising pile and dumped. As the pile mounted to the truck level, the old trestles were abandoned and new trestles erected—a process somewhat like nature's construction of coral reefs. Nine locomotives, sixty cars and two and a half miles of switch-back track have been used in this phase of the work. Dispatchers, operating a block signal system, control the trains.

The L. E. Myers Company has handled more material in a given time and worked faster on the Dix River job than on any previous work, company officials say.

A system of radio communication was recently put into operation between Louisville, Dix River Dam and the stream generating plants of the parent company at Pineville, Ky., and Pocket, Va. Engineers call it the "wired Wireless" because the radio current follows the high-tension line.

Old Bridges To Go.

Besides the dam, power house and transformer sub-station, the construction includes 110 miles of transmission lines, an intake tower 265 feet high, a spillway 250 feet wide, 100 feet deep and 3,000 feet long, a waterworks pumping station and filtration plant for the city of Danville, several miles of modern highway and two expensive bridges.

The intake tower, connected with the upper end of the tunnel, looks like a tall factory chimney. When the plant is operating, water will flow into the tower near the bottom, pass through the tunnel and pour into three tubes, or penstocks, connected with the turbines. The waterworks station and filter, the bridges and highway will take the place of those submerged. Kennedy bridge, three miles above the dam, is 253 feet above the present water level and 900 feet long. Chennault bridge, thirty-five miles above the dam, is 100 feet above water level and 500 feet long. Both bridges replace picturesque covered wooden structures of the Civil War period.

Recent issues of newspapers in Garrard, Mercer and Boyle counties have published warnings to families living in the Dix River bottoms above the dam to vacate at once.

Dix River Dam is situated in the heart of the Blue Grass region, abounding in picturesque scenery, with the famous Shaker town a few miles away.

THE BLESSINGS OF PENTECOST

LESSON TEXT—Acts 2.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."—Acts 2:38.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes People Glad.
JUNIOR TOPIC—What Happened on the Day of Pentecost.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Story of Pentecost.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in the Church.

1. The Day of Pentecost Fully Come (vv. 1-13).

1. Significance of the Day (v. 1).
Pentecost is from a Greek word meaning fifty. It was the feast held fifty days after the wave sheaf offering (Lev. 23:16). The wave sheaf typifies the resurrection of Christ (1 Cor. 15:20-23).

2. The Gift—Holy Spirit (vv. 2-4).
On this day the Holy Spirit descended upon the disciples. This does not imply that the Spirit was not in the world before this, for throughout all the ages He has been in the world giving light and life to it. It means that from that time forth He would work on a new basis, having the crucified, risen and ascended Christ to present to the world.

3. Upon Whom the Spirit Came (v. 1); cf. 1:13-15.

The twelve and others, both men and women to the number of 120, showing that the gift of the Holy Spirit was for all believers.

4. The Marks of the Spirit (vv. 2-4).

(1) External.
a. The sound of a mighty wind (v. 2). This is suggestive of the mysterious, pervasive and powerful energy of the Spirit.

b. The tongues of flame (v. 3). Each of the 120 was crowned with such a tongue. Tongues show the practical purpose of the Spirit's gift—witnessing, and the fire indicates the purifying energy burning up the dross and making effective witnessing for Christ.

c. Speaking in foreign tongues (v. 4). This was a temporary endowment for this special purpose.

(2) Internal.

This is seen in the transformation wrought in the disciples. Though little while ago they were trembling with fear, they now have great courage and self-possession.

5. The Effects (vv. 5-13).

(1) The multitude were filled with amazement and wonder. The gift of the Spirit transforms common men into men of power and influence.

(2) Some mocked and foolishly attempted to account for this remarkable occurrence. They accused the disciples of being intoxicated. The world today mocks men and women who testify in the power of the Holy Spirit.

11. Peter's Sermon (vv. 14-47).

Peter's sermon is as wonderful as the gift of tongues. It demonstrates the presence and power of the Spirit, since Peter was a Galilean fisherman without literary training. His analysis is perfect. He begins with a brief defense and scriptural explanation of the phenomenon of tongues (vv. 14-21). This is followed by a threefold argument to prove the messiahship of Jesus (vv. 22-36). The conclusion is an appeal to repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus.

1. The Introduction (vv. 14-21).

(1) Defense of the disciples against the charge of being drunk (v. 15).

(2) A scriptural explanation. He showed that this was a partial fulfillment of that which Joel predicted would come to pass (vv. 16-21; cf. Joel 2:28-32) before the messianic judgment, viz., an outpouring of the Holy Spirit and the salvation of all who call upon the name of the Lord.

2. The Proposition, or Theme (v. 36).

This was the messiahship of Jesus.

3. The Argument (vv. 22-36). It was threefold.

(1) From Christ's works (v. 22). He was approved of God among the Jews by His miracles, wonders and signs which God did by Him in their midst.

(2) From His resurrection (vv. 23-32). The Old Testament Scriptures had foretold the death and resurrection of Christ (Ps. 16:8-10).

(3) From His ascension to the right hand of God (v. 32). The proof that He had ascended on high was the wonderful miracle of the Spirit's operation in their midst, for He had said that upon His ascension into heaven He would send forth the Spirit.

4. The Effect of the Sermon (vv. 37-42).

Many people were convicted of their sins. Some three thousand repented and were baptized.

The services of last Sunday were well attended and Rev. Freeman preached two splendid sermons. Mrs. Lloyd Emery, of Paducah, played the organ for the morning service. Mrs. Emery was formerly organist of the church, and everyone enjoyed hearing her play again. Rev. Freeman announced the letters of five: Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stubblefield, Ralph Stubblefield, Mr. and Mrs. Puckett. The members are glad to welcome them into the church.

Prayer service last week was a splendid one, and well attended. Mr. Cheek lead and used for his subject, "Ships and Fishing." Those who did not attend missed a splendid talk.

The East Fulton Circle will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cequin, on Walnut street, with Mesdames Cequin and Normant, also Miss Kate Thompson as hostesses. A full attendance is desired.

The Primary Department of the Sunday School is to have an Easter egg hunt for the children Easter Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. J. Owen. All the children are urged to attend. A prize egg will be hidden. Place of meeting will be announced later.

The Junior Missionary Society will meet this afternoon at the home of Francis Cook Walker. A good program has been prepared by the Superintendent, Mrs. Hardin, and a fine attendance is desired.

The Woman's Missionary Society held an especially good business session at the church Monday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Butt, and opened with song. "Blest Be The Tie." Devotions were led by Mrs. R. B. Beadles, with prayer by Mrs. Bouten.

The minutes of last meeting were read, followed by splendid reports of the various officers and circles. Mrs. Nolen, treasurer, gave an extra good quarterly report of $171.00 collected, including the $25.00 presented by Mr. Owen.

Mrs. Butt gave talk on the new mission study book, entitled, "Life as a Stewardship." Mrs. Vodie Hardin, Superintendent of Juniors, gave an excellent talk on the "Junior Mission Study Work."

Church News

There was no evening service at Trinity church last Sunday. The pastor, Dr. Boyd, was taken ill at the morning service and was barely able to conclude the service. Afterward, he went to the rectory and to bed and sent for a physician, who found his heart had become weak and was not functioning sufficiently, having decreased greatly in normal pulsation. It is thought he has overworked, having been called out to call for some of his sick people almost nightly and sometimes all night for the last two weeks. He will need to take a rest and do light work for a while. If possible he will attend to short Lenten services this week.

Mrs. Webb, mother of Mr. John Hoar, of Jackson, Miss., was called last week to the bedside of her sick daughter, Mr. John Hoar, at the Southern Hotel in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hoar accompanied Mrs. Webb to Jackson, Miss., last Friday, where Mrs. Hoar for some time will be under the care of her mother. Mr. Hoar expects to return to his employment with the I. C. R. R. offices here, as soon as it is possible for him to leave his wife, who will remain with her mother.

edly be the means of keeping some $40,000 to $50,000 at home that now goes out of the community to enrich the stockholders of such institutions in other communities. This in itself should be worth the consideration of every one who can afford to invest in the undertaking.

A Publicity Committee composed of Bro. Warren, Joe Davis and Leslie Weeks was appointed by Chairman Murrell and this committee will spend the time between now and the 20th of April in making public the plans and aims of the whole committee.

Beginning Monday, April 20th, and ending Saturday, April 27, the entire week will be given over to the soliciting of applicants for bonds and will be known as Hospital Week. During this time five teams, to be captained by members of the regular hospital committee, will make a drive to obtain applicants. These teams will not confine their efforts solely to the confines of Fulton, but will visit the farmers and afford them an opportunity to become holders of this stock.

Members of the present committee and of the former committee, have been told by numerous farmers that they would be glad of an opportunity to take stock in such an institution and it is felt by the members of the committee that there are many more public spirited men living in the country who would be glad to be of service to their neighbors, even if there were no change of receiving any returns on their investment, but with the assurance of a reasonable dividend on the money invested, it seems certain that an even greater number of investors will be glad to come in.

The stock will probably be placed at such a figure per share that no one will be obliged to make a big outlay in order to become a member of the undertaking, while at the same time, those who are able to take larger holdings can be accommodated.

When incorporated, the officers will be selected for their known ability as sound business men and the financial direction of the institution will be the best that the community affords, thus assuring every stockholder that his interests will be guarded at all times.

Another feature of the plan is that when the time comes for the selection of the surgeon in charge, it will be done in a most thorough and careful manner, and the man finally selected for the post will be the very best that can be obtained.

LETTER FROM MRS. W. LEVI CHISHOLM

Mr. R. S. Williams, Editor Advertiser.

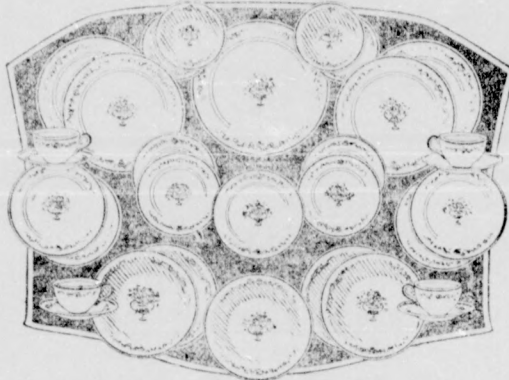

We had a very interesting trip from Fulton to Los Angeles. At San Antonio we met your brother, Rev. Sid Williams, evangelist, who treated us with great courtesy and we appreciated the kindness. He drove us around for some time. Went to the Alamo, aviation field and other points of interest.

I think he meant to go to a ranch (possibly his own) that night. He said he had lived in that city thirty years and had conducted 32 protracted meetings during that time in San Antonio. We drove by a tabernacle where he had just closed a meeting.

In crossing the Rocky mountains we found many things of interest. When we reached a height of 5,082 feet above sea level we enjoyed that fine air, but when we went to 250 feet below sea level, with the temperature at 110 where we had to keep all windows down, to keep out heat and sand, we found it quite different.

We saw the Mohawk mountains which resembled an Indian Chief's head on top. The Great Salt Lake, on our left, extending 25 to 50 miles. We saw all this while in the desert. Then about 5 p. m. we came to the snow capped mountains which was very interesting to us. They told us that the snow on the mountain tops melted during the day, and formed those beautiful white lines of art running down the mountain sides, and freezing again at night. All the scenery from this point was beautiful clear on to Los Angeles. We saw several large orchards of apricots, pears and peaches. We arrived at Los Angeles at 7:50 p. m., almost worn out, after coming through that hot desert. We went at once to "Hotel Trinity," obtained a good front room, had a hot bath, good bed and rested well.

We went to Long Beach Sunday and took in some of the sights. We went to Hollywood Wednesday 25. Tom Mix was at Pantages in person. Wednesday at this place.

Mr. Chisholm joins me in best wishes to all.

Your friend,
Mrs. W. Levi Chisholm.

PURINA COW CHOW FEED

MAKES A FULL BAG

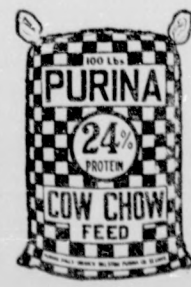

Two or three pounds more milk in every cow's bag every day means a big extra profit at present milk prices.

This increase is possible by the use of Purina Cow Chow Feed, which costs only about a cent a cow more per day than the average ration.

The reason Purina Cow Chow Feed produces such heavy increase is that it contains 20% digestible protein (24% crude), the maximum amount a cow can assimilate and keep in the best condition.

Every ingredient used in Purina Cow Chow is a feed of recognized value. There is no cheap filler. Every pound yields more milk in the pail.

Try a ton and you will understand why dairymen insist on Purina Cow Chow.
