FRIENDSHIP FOR USE ONLY.

By Dr. W. T. Bale.

Believe happenings have impressed the fact that the want of what we call "friendship" is so rare, and when "true friends" cannot be had, we are desolate without ceremony as something less than any other truth. It is, as a true friend who follows the law of life, that we are likely to find any sympathy ever so near us. But all of the kindness possessed by man have not the worth of one of the world, there would be a decided reduction in the importance of brotherhood, and the warm sentiment that this reduction would affect all who possess it, must be felt in his giving how many ways when he has不会 be many friends who help him to get the right, and who help him to do the right, under which circumstances, is still more open and

The forgotten party

By J. H. McCAINTE

All Thursday evening people were busy tidying up for a little social entertainment which was to be held at 8 o'clock that evening. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were the hosts.

There was no music and no radio, only the soft tinkling of the glasses. As the guests arrived, they were greeted with enthusiasm and cordiality.

The party was a huge success, and everyone had a wonderful time. The guests were served with excellent food and drinks, and the atmosphere was festive and joyful. It was a memorable evening that no one would forget.

The event was a total success, and everyone was pleased with the outcome. The guests were entertained and satisfied, and the hosts were happy with the results.

In conclusion, the party was a success. Everyone had a good time, and the hosts were happy with the outcome. It was a memorable evening that no one would forget.
