NOTICE.

The Tribune has given so much of its space for the last year to the discussion of politics and the new constitution that we thought per chance a change for one week would do our subscribers some good and give them a rest, so we concluded to surprise them this time, by giving them a paper devoted to religion, temperance and morals.

We hope our exchanges will not loose their breath to find that the wicked Benton Tribune has changed to a religious weekly, for one week at least. Its editor is not inclined to one thing all the time, but believes in a change and a change he must have, and this week he is devoting his time to humming religious anthems and writing church editorials.

We believe the major portion of our subscribers are members of some religious denomination, and like ourselves, get tired of so much talk, political, and a change much to them will be relished, now and then. To edit a political paper in a country where its real faith is, is all of the same thing. To be not a very hard thing to do, its cause the general tenor of its utterances are in accordance with those of its readers, but we have found here this, that, to edit a religious journal whose readers belong to six or seven different religious denominations is rather a particular undertaking. Such an undertaking is fraught with many dangers, in fact so many that we could not afford to write many doctrinal articles on faith, repentance, confession, or baptism.

When the idea first came into our mind to give our readers, this week, a paper devoted to the great fundamental doctrines of the bible, it appeared to us, what an article we would write on infant baptism, then after mature deliberation we concluded we would loose at least one-half of our subscribers if we wrote an article either for or against infant baptism, then we thought of writing an article on baptism for remission of sins, but we soon found that would never do, that we would loose at least one-fourth of our subscribers if such an article was put in our paper. Again we thought of writing an article of two columns, showing that a sinner had no right to pray, according to the bible, then we were admonished by a direct communication from the balance of our subscribers that if such an article was printed we would only have one subscriber left and he lives at Yuma, Mexico. We soon concluded to give articles on doctrinal subjects the go by, and leave them open for discussion in the pulpit of the churches all over the country.

We hope our readers will be well pleased and profit by the sudden and unexpected change, and give the columns of the Tribune a careful and close perusal, all of which will do them good.

The man who by voice of his dries up the fountain that feeds missions at home and abroad is in the place of these substitutes nothing, leaving the soul untrained in giving, is worse than an infidel.

Some persons who get in the way of holiness take the wrong end of the road; the end that leads to strife, ill-will, self, and many hurtful things. A good brother preacher who has been badly treated seems to have gotten in the way and to have taken the right end. He writes: "I have no time nor talent for self-defense. It may be the first law of nature, but self-renunciation and self-abandonment are the first law of grace."

The Methodist own a good frame church, at this place in which they have a good and interesting Sunday school, and preaching twice a month. Bro Eddie Steward is the preacher, and he holds service here on the Second and Third Sundays in each month. The church is in a reasonably healthy condition. The membership numbers about 75. S. L. Palmer, is the superintendent of the Sunday school and has been for several years. He is a great Sunday-school worker, and is a very popular superintendent. J. W. Dycus, Dr. Dycus, Dr. Stille, S. L. Palmer, R. G. Treas, Mrs. Martha Ford and W. G. Dycus are some among the most prominent in the church.

The dove is the universal and ubiquitous bird of the world. In every land, and in all but every grove, the dove is found. England has her skylark, France her cuckoo, Italy her nightingale and America her wood thrush or mocking-bird. The dove is common to all. Its an emblem of love and peace, suggesting the universal beauty and applicability of those divinest of the graces. The voice of the dove is the same in all lands, low, sweet and full of tenderness. Is not that also the voice of love? There is a tradition that when Christ was in the world and spake those words, such "as never man spake," that no sooner were they became white doves flying about the world in ministries of love. The spirit was like a dove and it abode on him.

From what we know, the men who devote their lives to the work of the ministry are paid less for their services than from any other class of men. It must be from a worldly standpoint, a great sacrifice to leave home, friends and relations to go among strangers and attempt to preach the gospel to a people who are indifferent to the cause of Christianity, and where the shafts of unjust derision and criticism are hurled with all the powers of the unfriendly. A deep seated feeling and anxiety for salvation of the human family, must be predominant in the hearts of all such men. Preachers are called trifling, hypocritical, unfaithful, greedy, lazy, beggars, and extravagant, and yet in spite of all these unfriendly terms, they do more good for the state and nation than all the politicians on the face of the earth. The truth is they are not paid according to their usefulness.

That was a tender interchange of Christian sympathy which recently passed between the greatest English statesman and the greatest English preacher, on the occasion of the latter's critical illness. Writing to Mrs. Spurgeon, Mr. Gladstone says: "In my own home, darkened at the present time, I read with sad interest the accounts of Mrs. Spurgeon's illness. I cannot help conveying to you an earnest assurance of my sympathy and of my cordial admiration not only for his splendid powers, but still more for his devoted and unflinching character. I humbly commend you and him in all contingencies to the infinite stores in Divine love and mercy." Mrs. Spurgeon replied with a note of thanks, a postscript to which was traced by Mr. Spurgeon as follows: "Yours is a word of love such as those only write who have been into the King's country and seen much of his face. My heart's love to you."

Briensburg has two churches, one a Methodist the other a Christian church. They both have a full membership and preaching regular every month. Bro Wilks is the pastor at the Methodist church, and Bro Utley at the Christian church. There are also two Sunday schools, both of which are reasonably well attended. The Methodist church is good size, and in good repair, while the other is in a dilapidated condition, very much in need of repair. The membership of the Christian church is sufficient both in point of members and wealth to build a new church. The old church is hardly worth repairing. The people around the town of Briensburg are a church going people, and fill there place of worship to overflowing at almost every appointment.

This season is now at hand for revivals to begin, and it would be well for members of all churches, to make the necessary arrangement to aid their ministers in the great work in bringing souls to Christ. One great reason why more good is not done on these occasions is on the account of the cold indifference of the members of the church. Ministers do not meet with the encouragement that they should from the church during the time of protracted meetings; if they did many persons who are now on the outside of the fold, would be lively members in the Masters work. We hope that Christians will see the great importance of a united effort on their part, and go to work, to assist in bringing about the greatest revival of religion ever known in this country. There is less bitter feeling among members of different churches now in this work than is to be found in most any place, and we can see no reason why a great and good work should not be accomplished in all the revivals held during the season. Another need, is more old time gospel sermons, full of such religious sentiments as will touch the sinners heart, even the most wicked.

Oak Level.

This little place has two new churches, one a Christian church the other a Southern Methodist. Bro Carl, preaches for the Methodist, and Bro Pace for the Christian people. It is but a few miles north of there, where the Baptists worship in a good church, called New Harmony. This is the church established by Bro Fletcher many years before he died. This denomination has another church about four miles of Oak Level, at Bethel near Dr. Thomas's, where a good congregation meets every fourth Sunday under the direction of a worthy young minister known as Bro Winters.

Let the church seek the preacher not the preacher the church.

Pleasant Hope.

This is a new Baptist church located between Fair Dealing and Birmingham, which took the place of the old Cap Spring church that was burned down a few years ago. The members of the church and neighbors, friendly to the cause, very generously donated a sufficient amount of money to build a nice frame church house 30x40, which is now being painted a beautiful white, which will be an ornament to the community and an honor to its builders.

It has a membership of about 75 and is now in a prosperous and growing condition. This church is located in a community that, many years ago, paid but little attention to churches; but a wonderful change has taken place among the citizens. They now have good church and school houses, good preachers and teachers and a moral community. The influence of a moral and religious people for good, in a moral community like that, is beyond an estimate.

Their pastor for the present is Eld. J. P. Tubbs, who is an earnest, plous, hard-working christian, and is calculated to do a great good for the cause of christianity during the remainder of his sojourn here on earth. His parents were ardent admirers and members of the Methodist church, of which he was a member for many years, but believing the doctrines as taught and upheld by the Baptist church were more in keeping with the bible he severed his connection with his old church and became a lively member in the Baptist church, where he now holds his membership and is doing a good work for the cause of his master.

Sometimes a preacher takes charge of a congregation. Sometimes the congregation takes charge of the preacher. Woe be to the man who finds himself in the hands of about four hundred people, each with his peculiar notion with regard to what must be done, and how it ought to be done, and ready to become indignant if it is not done his way.

Strayed or Stolen.

Two, three year old horse mules were strayed or stolen from John Lents, one mile south-east of Benton, on or about the 20th of June. One was a black mule with gear marks; also when it left it had a large horse bell on it; the other was a bay mule with gear marks. Any information given of their whereabouts or a return of them to my home will be liberally rewarded. Respt. JOHN T. LENTS.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Marshall Court of Common Pleas, rendered at the March term thereof, 1891, in the above causes, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court house door in Benton, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1891, (being county court day) upon a credit of Six, Twelve, and Eighteen months, in three equal installments, the following described property lying in Marshall Co. Ky., viz:
1st. The south west fractional quarter of section 33, township 4, range 6, east, containing 106 acres more or less.
2nd. The north west quarter of section 5, township 3, range 5, east, containing 160 acres more or less, and known as the land conveyed to defendant F. P. Eggner by E. Gay J. C. Futrell and others.
3rd. The north west fractional quarter of section 4, township 3, range 6, east, containing 114 acres more or less, and known as the Aurora Ferry tract of land, on which said ferry is situated, together with all ferry rights and privileges thereunto belonging or appertaining, including hand ferry boats, and all attachments thereunto belonging.
4th. The south east quarter of section 32, township 4, range 6, east, and known as the Dobson tract, containing 160 acres more or less.
5th. The north east quarter of section 5, township 3, range 6, east, known as the Johnson tract, containing 160 acres more or less.
6th. The 18 acres lying below and adjoining the Aurora Ferry tract and supposed to be off of the south side of the north west quarter of section 33, township 4, range 6, east, and known as the Barnett land.
The above described land will be sold in separate tracts in the order above indicated, or a sufficient number of tracts thereof will be sold to produce sums of money ordered to be made in said actions. For the purchase price, the purchasers, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of replevin bonds. Bidders must be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.
SOLON L. PALMER, Master Commissioner

The above described land is situated on the Tennessee river, about 35 or 40 miles above Paducah, Ky., and is very fine land and some of it is in fine state of cultivation, while the land that is not in cultivation is covered in exceedingly fine timber, such as poplar, white oak, &c., and on one of the tracts to be sold there is a

Large Two Story Frame House

That was said to have cost $6,000 when it was built, besides there are stables, barns, &c., on other portions of the land. In the sale of this property, there is an opportunity offered to the people to purchase some very fine lands, a fine frame dwelling house, the Aurora Ferry, with all the ferry rights and privileges belonging thereto, including the hand ferry boat, &c., at their own prices.

Death of Mrs. Reed.

Mrs. Reed, the wife of Mr. John M. Reed, died at her home in this place last Thursday, the 6th inst. of heart trouble. She had been complaining of chills for a day or so, but was able to be up during the forenoon and get dinner, but while the family was at dinner she lay down on her bed to rest, and one of the boys was in the room and noticed that her head was nearly off the bed, and spoke to her, but she made no reply; he then informed his father, who was in the dining room, of his mother's condition, but when he entered the room Mrs. Reed was dead, life was gone and she lay a corpse. Dr. Stille was called in to see her, but he could do no good, she was dead.

Mrs. Reed was a good kind woman. She devoted her time to her home and to the comfort of her family. She never visited but little, but was an inoffensive christian woman.

She was born in Decatur county, Tenn. Her father died of heart disease, of which she has been affected for years. She leaves a husband, two daughters and three sons, and a host of friends to mourn her sudden and untimely demise.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in this, their great loss.

She was buried in the Thompson cemetery, with appropriate remarks by the Rev. A. J. Bennett.

BENTON, KY., AUGUST 13.

The various women's missionary societies in America have an annual income of $1,730,000.

It is waste of ammunition to shoot at a man if he is dead and his life is hid with Christ in God, you cannot hit him.

Whenever you have a trial, it means that God is trying to tell you how to be a better Christian. Central Baptist.

Some men live as if they had run a partition through the middle of their heart and invited Christ into one half and the devil into the other.

Gen. Booth's great work in England is making wonderful progress. His first provincial shelter has been opened at Leeds. The cost was $19,000.

Some Christians close their churches on account of heat in summer. The devil, however, keeps his places open night and day the year round.

Every day is a little life; and our whole life is but a day repeated. Those, therefore, that dare lose a day are dangerously prodigal; those that dare mispend it, are desperate.

John Randolph, of Roanoke, once said: "The only men I ever knew well, ever approached closely, whom I did not discover to be unhappy, are sincere believers of the Gospel, and conform their lives, as far as the nature of man can permit, to its precepts."

Join the church when young, if you want to make a faithful Christian and do the cause of Christianity good all along life's eventful journey. If you put off the great work until you are old you will not have time to accomplish the good in this world that you could have done if you had joined the church when young.

We will not dictate to men in this matter, but we should hate to wear the shoes of the man on the Judgment day who have spent more money for tobacco than he has for clothing for the poor. We believe that there are some who are too stingy to spend money for either tobacco or clothing for the poor. They need not begin to congratulate themselves.

A whole family in heaven! Who can picture or describe the everlasting joy? No one absent! Nor father, nor mother, nor son, nor daughter away! In the world they were united in faith, in love, and peace, and joy; in the morning of the resurrection they ascended together; before the throne they bow together in united adoration; on the bank of the river of life they walk hand-in-hand, and as a family they have commenced a career of glory which shall be everlasting. Hereafter there is to be no separation in that family. No one is to lie down on a bed of pain; no one is to sing into the arms of death. Never in heaven is that family to move along in the slow procession, clad in the habiliments of woe, to consign one of its members to the tomb.

The way how to help your pastor is to be cold to him. Criticize his sermons and his style. Say: "I like the pastor of such and such a church much better than my own. He is so cranky." Wait to be coaxed. Do everything but what he wants. Sneer at him. Be a hindrance instead of a help. Go to church late. Go to sleep. Whisper during the service. Make remarks about people. Don't take part in the league or in the Sunday School. Post. Grumble. Don't attend prayer-meeting. Read novels to the exclusion of scriptural reading. Do your duty with a frown, as if you were a much injured individual. Or say: "I ain't going to do so there." Backbite. Raise a fuss among the members. Object to everything you do not originate yourself. Affect sensitiveness. Be egotistical and selfish. You can be a thorn in the flesh, and keep your pastor humble.

Sinner, it will not be long until God will either do something for you or something with you. Which will you have? If it is something for you, it will be to take away your sins. If something with you, it will be to banish you from His presence forever. You are to choose and the time is short.

Judgment day is Coming.

Now listen, Seven hundred millions of dollars is the snug sum which this Christian nation spent last year for rum, wine and beer. At least so the national statistical bureau affirms. Would it be too much to add twice that amount for the direct and indirect consequences of the tariff? Twenty hundred million of dollars! But what is the sense of talking about dollars when you undertake to estimate poverty, wretchedness, blight, tears, bleeding hearts, the ruin homes, body, mind, soul, eternity? This is the darling that is so tenderly fondled by politicians, and protected by the laws of the nation and common wealth. But the monster will not always be used so well. His judgment day is coming.

Do Good Now.

Dr Johnson wisely said: "He who waits to do a great deal of good at once, will never do anything." Life is made up of little things. It is once in an age that occasion is offered for a great deed. True greatness consists in being great in little things. How are railroads built? By one shovelful of dirt after another; one shovelful at a time. Thus, drops make the ocean. Hence, we should be willing to do a little good at a time, and never "wait to do a great deal of good at once." If we would do much good in the world we must be willing to do good in little things, little acts one after another; speaking a word here, giving a tract there, and setting a good example at all times; we must do the first good thing we can, and then the next, and the next, and so keep on doing. This is the way to accomplish anything. Thus only shall we do all the good in our power.

The Paducah District Conference speaks out plainly on the whisky question. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1. That the strongest possible moral obligations rests upon every member of our church, not only to do everything possible for the promotion of temperance and sobriety among the people, but, in the sovereign exercise of the highest prerogative of an American citizen, to cast their votes for men only who, regardless of party affiliations, openly and fearlessly declare their intention as legislators to use their influence unreservedly in favor of prohibitory laws, and, as officers of the law, to use their utmost endeavors to have all the laws faithfully carried out.

2. That every pastor in the district is requested and urged to read this report at each appointment in his charge, and to accompany the same with a discourse on the evils of the liquor traffic and the duty of church members to work in every honorable way for its overthrow.

A Word to Boys.

If we are to have drunkards in the future, some of them are to be of the boys to whom I am now writing, and I ask you if you want to become one of them? No, of course you don't! Well, I have a plan that is just as sure to save you from such a fate as the sun to rise to-morrow. It never failed; it never will fail; and it is worth knowing. Never touch liquor in any form. That is the plan, and it is worth putting into practice. I know you don't drink now, and it seems to me as if you never would. But your temptation will come, and it will probably come this way. You will find yourself sometime with a number of companions, and they will have a bottle of wine on the table. They will drink and offer you the bottle. They will regard it as a manly practice; and very likely they will look upon you as a milk sop if you don't indulge with them. Then what will you do? Will you say: "No, no! I have said stuff for me?" Or will you take it, with your common sense, protesting and your conscience making the whole draught bitter, and then go off with a hot head and skulking soul that at once begins to make apologies for itself, and will keep doing so all its life? Boys do not become drunkards.

Do You Help To Pay It?

Think of six hundred million of dollars for tobacco, annually. Do you help to pay this sum? It means $12. for every man, woman and child in the United States. And yet it is unnecessary, and a filthy luxury. Yaw, worse, it is a fearful injury to the race. If men only knew the view, we and misery its use entails upon the race, we feel sure there would be such a sentiment created that it would soon produce a public revolution. America! Let us have the right, and let the nation come.

Jewels of a Woman's Life.

There are so many jewels that may be worn day and night; so many gems that are always at your own, that you need not grieve for those that how their brightness only by day. There is the jewel of sympathy, that you wear just over your heart; there is the moon-shine of hope, that may glitter over your brow, filling your eyes with brightness; there is that brilliant stone of sympathy, the one that makes you put out your right hand of help; and there is the beautiful one of loving kindness that makes the left hand help the right. But above all, overshadow with all, pinning down your treasures is the diamond of true love—love which endureth all, suffereth all, hopeth all. Are not these better than jewels dug out of the ground? For, indeed, these jewels come from the heaven above.—Ladies Home Journal.

The Kind Of Religion We Need.

I do not want to be misunderstood. I want a revival of religion—a religion that converts people, renews them in the spirit of their mind, creates them anew in Christ Jesus, delivers them from the bondage of sin, injects new ideas, purer, better than the old, brings them out of the world and separates them unto Christ; a religion that redeems a man from all sin and sets him on holy living, on self denial, pain-taking, circumspection and prayer—that imbues his spirit with love, seasons his conversations with grace and makes him a witness for the truth as it is in Jesus; an example, a model, an Israelite without guile or hypocrisy or wavering. In a word, let us in the name of the Lord have a revival of pure, and undefiled religion—a sin-killing, sin-bating, sin-forsaking, debt-paying, God-serving, man-loving religion; a religion that makes the church liberal, that lifts up the fallen drunkard, sets him upright on his feet, makes and keeps him sober—that crucifies the pride of life, the lust of the eye and the lust of the flesh—root out the love of the world and fills the soul with the love of the Father; a consistent, steadfast, uncompromising religion always abounding in the work of the Lord.—Bishop Pierce.

The Odell Type Writer.

$20 will buy the Odell Type Writer with 78 characters, and $15 for the Single Case Odell, warranted to do better work than any machine made.

It combines simplicity with durability, speed, ease of operation, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is neat, substantial, nickel plated, perfect and adapted to all kinds of type writing. Like a printing press it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days. We offer $1,000 to any operator who can equal the work of the Double Case Odell.
