THE BENTON TRIBUNE.

VOL. III.

BENTON, KY., THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1891.

NO. 44.

OFFICIAL COUNT.

Brown Defeats Wood by a Plurality of 28,081.

The New Constitution Carries by the Small Majority of 138,339.

The return of the vote at the last election, as received by the Secretary of state, are all in. The vote for Governor stands as follows: Brown, 144,198; Wood, 116,087; Harris, 3,391; and Erwin, 25,931; Brown's plurality, 28,081.

On the constitution the total vote of the state is as follows: For it, 312,920; against it, 74,381: majority for it, 138,339 votes. Thirteen counties show a vote against the constitution, viz: Bell, Breathitt, Boone, Cumberland, Estill, Harlan, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lincoln, Nicholas, Pike and Russell.

The total official vote at the state election four years ago, stood as follows, excluding Jessamine county, which failed to make returns: Buckner, 143,270; Bradley, 126,473; Fox, 8,394; and Cardin, 4,434, aggregating 282,571 votes. At the late election the aggregate vote for governor on the issues already mentioned, was 389,123, or an increase of 6,552 votes. As Brown received a thousand more votes than Buckner, and Wood more than 10,000 less than Bradley, it is easy matter to determine from where the people's party drew its strength.

The total vote for and against the constitution was 387,501, which is 1,652 less than the total vote cast for the four Presidential candidates in 1888, which was 344,779 votes.

Comparing the Presidential elections with the two past state elections and it is seen that 92,203 voters failed to avail themselves of their right as freemen at the state election four years ago, and that 55,929 failed to do likewise at the recent state election.

The democratic party is not dead yet in Kentucky, but the republican party is badly in the soup.

The School Teachers Institute, will convene here next Monday. The Superintendent claims this will be one of the most important Institutes that has been here, for years. He has secured the services of Prof. Willis, who is said to be a distinguished educator and will greatly add to the interest of the cause of education in this county. Every teacher and trustee of the common schools, should make it convenient to be present, every day during the meeting, and take such a part as will encourage the teachers and inform the trustees as to their duties and responsibilities. Trustees as a class do not take interest enough, in the important duties they are sworn to perform. Let every body attend and make this one of the most interesting and valuable gatherings of the kind that has ever been held in the county. It will not be more than one or two years, before the per capita will be over $3.00. Now is the time for young men and women to prepare themselves for teaching.

While the population is increasing numerically in all altitudes, its relative movement is decidedly toward the region of greater altitudes, and is most marked in the country lying between 1,000 and 6,000 feet above the sea.

The density of population is greatest near the sea level in that narrow strip along the seaboard which contains our great seaports. The density diminishes gradually and rather uniformly up to 2,000 feet where the population becomes quite sparse.

The average elevation of the country, excluding Alaska, is about 1,500 feet. The average elevation at which the inhabitants lived, taking cognizance of their distribution, was 687 feet in 1870; in 1880 it had increased to 739 feet, and in 1890 to 788 feet.

The county Judge issued summonses for several persons, living at and in the vicinity of Gilbertsville, to appear before his honor, that he and the county attorney might examine them, relative to the murder of Tom Lindsey, but after a day spent in examination the court was soon of the opinion that Tom, was not murdered, but was killed by the train that came by there at 12 o'clock that night. There has been a great deal of gossip and talk, and as many opinions as there are people almost, as to the mysterious cause of his death, but in spite of all the theories advanced by those who believed that he came to his death at the hands of a redhanded murderer, the public is forced to believe that he unconsciously went to sleep on the track, and lay there until, the cannon-ball came thundering up, when in a fit of fright he raised his head, just in time to meet his death, by the death blow of the engine. The public may get wrong in times of undue excitement and people may say things they ought not to say, yet after a proper investigation and due reflection, its judgment in the main is nearly right. But in this case persons have no doubt been wrongfully accused and censured, by people who are too easy to get into a state of suspicion and excited frenzy. Persons can be done great damage by idle talk, and careless remarks, and people cannot be too careful in insinuating that such and such were implicated in the murder of any one. The charge of midnight murder either directly or indirectly is a very serious charge and we should all be very careful about such things without proof positive.

Gilbertsville, Ky.

Mrs Ben Houston has returned from a five weeks visit to her mother in McLean county. The squire is now a happy man again.

Sam B. Houston is visiting in Gibson county Tenn.

J. A. and G. W. King, of Gibson county Tenn., have been in this part of the country for a week looking after their land and prospecting for future homes.

J. W. Houston of Rutherford Tenn., for a week past has been visiting his brothers Ben and G. W. Houston.

Elder L. B. Duncan is very sick at his home. He is pastor of Bethel (baptist) church, there was no preaching at Bethel on Saturday and Sunday last.

It is true that Tom Lindsey is dead, and was killed, but we the citizens of this community do not believe he was killed by a rail road train.

Corn crops are very flattering at this time. A few timely showers and Freedoms corner will have corn and to spare.

Master Crow Houston is now convalescing from a three weeks spell of Billious fever.

The Honorable J. J. DuPriest Marshall county's venerable Judge passed through the city on his way to Grand Rivers' Saturday and returned Sunday.

Methodist Paper in Louisville.

The Kentucky Methodist is the name of the paper recently removed from Lexington, Ky., to Louisville. It is an eight-page paper, with five broad columns, in good type, and with excellent print, and is published at the low price of $1.00 per year. Address The Kentucky Methodist, Louisville, Ky., for a sample copy. An agent is wanted for this county, to whom a liberal commission will be paid.

As almost every denomination, except the Methodist, have a strong paper in the state metropolis, it would seem that the Methodists would also want one. If so, they should give this paper a hearty support, as it is, or will be, the best they can ever hope to have. We will club it with the Benton Tribune at $1.65 for both papers.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." E. C. BACOT, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." Ed. JENNINGS, Mt. Savage, Md. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Insist upon having

BENTON, KY., AUGUST 27.

At Church in Paducah

We attended church at Paducah, last Sunday, at the Christian church. We had the pleasure of hearing an interesting sermon, delivered by Elder J. W. Lowder of Fort Worth, Texas. He is an able preacher and a good man. It has been four years since he left Paducah, but he left a host of friends who are anxious to hear him again in the pulpit, and otherwise give him a hearty welcome. The Christian church in Paducah, is not as fine a one, as such a congregation is able to own, but we noticed that this church had added a fine pipe organ to it, which greatly added to the music. The choir made very good music, but the order kept by it, was not such as generally go with a fine pipe organ.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, the Almighty God has seen fit in his wisdom to take from our lodge, Farmers' & Laborers' sub-Union, No. 1,005, a member, W. D. Jones, who departed this life May 21st, 1891,

Resolved, that we lost a worthy brother, and the community a good citizen, and that while we mourn his loss we realize that there is, above us, an all-wise creator who doth all things well, and be it further resolved

That a copy of these resolutions be presented to his wife and two copies sent to each the Benton Tribune and Paducah News for publication.

C. W. T. EGNER, Sec.

M. L. JOANSTON.

Sued for $10,000.

Rufus Iglehart, and Joe Smith have each brought suit against George Slaughter, for $5,000 damages for defamation of character. These suits grew out of what he should have said about them regarding the death of Thos Lindsey. It appears that he had used this language:

"Iglehart and Joe Smith killed Tom Lindsey." The pitiful old Tom Lindsey. "I believe Rufus Iglehart and Joe Smith killed Tom Lindsey."

For having said this, Mr. Smith and Iglehart claim the small sum $5,000, each.

If Mr. Slaughter is found guilty and he pays the sum of $10,000, for damaging the character of these two gentlemen, it will take some of his pocket change.

There is some talk now of a compromise, but from the information we now have, it is hardly probable such will be the case.

600 ACRES!

Of Fine Timber Land For Sale.

This fine body of land, situated one mile south of Benton, Marshall county, Kentucky, on the P. T. & A. R. R., is offered for sale, in whole or in lots of 100 acres, at very low figures. It is well timbered with white oak, red oak, poplar, hickory, beech and gum. It has about 40 acres of fine land in a high state of cultivation. There is also a good saw mill, with everything necessary to do good work, located nearly in the center of the land, directly on the bank of Clark's river, that can now be bought for one-half of its value. A log wagon and other articles are for sale at low prices.

This is a very desirable body of timbered land and can be bought at very low prices.

CAMP WICKMAN,

Near St. Joseph, Mo.

Aug. 9th, 1891.—The press surroundings of your correspondent indicate, clearly, that a week is to follow bringing new experiences and heretofore an unknown reality, but which, from a few minutes, od-ervance, demonstrates that though we are at peace with our neighbor, yet necessity commands us, "In time of peace, prepare for war."

The National Guards of Mo., are here assembled in annual encampment pursuant to a call from the governor. Your scribe, with ninety other young men of Springfield, Mo., signed the muster roll, one year ago, and were sworn in by the highest power given to man, to support the constitution of Mo., and if necessary surrender our lives in maintaining peace throughout the commonwealth.

What the fascinating features of belonging to the National Guards of a state are, will, doubtless, be revealed ere the week closes, but suffice it to say, however, we are here. The Governor, Adjutant General, &c., give us plenty to eat and make our burden of each day's labor light and we will serve you to our utmost capacity.

For the benefit of the readers of the Tribune, who are not familiar with state militia forces and their necessities. We will briefly preface our remarks by saying that each state in the union supports a militia of sufficient strength to suppress any riot, strike, or uprising contrary to its constitution.

Missouri has at her command a brigade of 2,500 militiamen and as all other states has her annual encampments, at which place the governor calls the troops together to receive instructions in the movements of armies, so that the most effective steps may be taken against the enemy in any case of hostility.

When the strength of a state proves inadequate, then the governor may call upon the militia of an adjoining state for aid, as was the case in Tenn., during the recent Briceville trouble, between the miners and convicts. In this case the governor of Tennessee called upon the governor of Georgia for troops.

Again should the United States, at any time declare war against some other nation and the regular standing army is too weak for the emergency, then the secretary of war has the power to call the state troops to the recruit.

Missouri supports four regiments. Your correspondent is one of the boys in blue, and belongs to company F, 2nd regiment known as the Springfield Rifles of Springfield Mo.

To day we are "in it" does not half express it.

The special train of nine coaches, that brought the entire second regiment into "Camp Wickman" to night left Springfield at 9 o'clock, one on the Frisco road with ninety men, 74 of whom were the trigger pullers and 16 in the band. Each regiment is furnished with a regiment band and a drummer boy. As our train pulled out of the depot with our colors flying, and the band playing Dixie, no doubt brought back memory of 1861 to 1865, to the old veterans who came out at that early day to bid us God speed. A brighter day never dawned than this; the sun climbed the gray stairs of morning, through a cloudless sky, and all nature seemed to smile at us, as we came flying Northward, at the rate of 40 miles an hour, over miles and miles of the finest prairie land on earth. Crops were never better in Missouri, and to mention the lead mines of South west Mo., is to mention a household word. The mines of Joplin Webb city, and many other mining towns have a national reputation and are becoming famous throughout the entire world for their enormity and weekly out put of lead and zinc.

We wander from our subject, but its magnitude may be given later.

Our first stop from Springfield was made at Pierce city, where company E, joined us 25 strong, thence we sped along to Carthage, where the light guards of that lovely city hailed us. Here we left the St. Louis and San Francisco road and are transferred to the Missouri Pacific, which landed us safe into Camp at 9.30 p.m.

Throughout our trip through Mo. and eastern Kansas we were met at every town by thousands of curious people, eager to catch a glimpse of a regiment of soldiers, fully equipped with every vestige that belongs to a regular army in route to a battle field of actual war. At Nevada, Sedalia, Butler and Independence, we were strengthened by additional companies, and before arriving at Kansas city our regiments are all on board and number 400, and known as the 2 Mo. N. G. M. A stop over of 30 minutes was announced at Kansas city, and your correspondent was one of twelve detailed to served on picket only around our train while in the magic city of the west.

From Kansas city we crossed the Missouri river into bleeding Kansas and on every side our eyes were met by enormous fields of corn, that will yield this year, corn equal to the Mississippi river bottom. The honey handed sons of toil, are elated over the bountiful crop of corn.

The way the oppressing mortgage of Kansas will be liquidated this season, will be no longer.

From Kansas city we proceeded the Mo. river as far up as Afton at which point we crossed back into Mo., which brought us within 20 miles of St. Joseph. One of the most ridiculous and yet characteristic features on the Mo. river was expressed by one of our boys this afternoon, as we were running up the Kansas shore of the muddy Mo. river, remarking that the river was so near all real estate that he actually saw clouds of dust rising from the waters. We gave him the hard laugh but his veracity was not to be questioned, and it actually seemed to be the case. Howbeit the Mo. river can not be claimed as one of the placid streams of the Miss system, the terms of navigation ceases at K, and no steamers run above that point save those used at ferries.

Camp Wickman, named in honor of our Adjutant Gen. is situated on Lake "country," 2 miles from St. Joseph, a more beautiful spot could not have been located in the state than this. Upon an arrival at the depot we were taken to our quarters where we are to be domiciled for a week in acquainting ourselves in the tactics of war. What the requirement of our dress will be, is yet to be determined. 16 hours of travel to day has a telling effect upon the writer and nature demands that I repair to my couch of straw & blanket, and soar away in morpheus until the artillery on the hill blurt its awakening call in the morning.

What! Is it possible, I am called by the Corporal of the guards to serve on picket tonight? Great heavens! I exclaimed, I feel sick, hungry, and worn out by travel, but no excuses now expected.

I close through necessity, to respond to the call.

Mr. Editor let me assure you here and now it is no picnic, we are here to participate by any means, I can scarcely walk, yet I must shoulder my carbine and serve on picket through this lonely night.

If I survive you will hear from me later in the "wild and woolly west."

Yours from the Purchase.

JONTHA.

Say some dealers who try to sell a substitute preparation when a customer calls for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not allow any such false statements as this induce you to buy what you do not want. Remember that the only reason for making it is that a few cents more profit will be made on the substitute. Insist upon having the best medicine—Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is Peculiar to Itself.

Serofulous Humor—A Cure

"Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed, and at times, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well."

"Early in 1881 I went to Chicago to visit my sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Cure,' in which were mentioned cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, with the result of curing me of my disease. I have since been well and in good spirits, and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEMON, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

A Dozen Pitchers of Ice Water Sent to a Bridal Chamber.

"The funniest experience I ever had," said Col. L. A. Leonard, of Cincinnati, recently, "was during a visit I recently made to New York in company with my sister. We went to the Grand Union hotel, and I requested the clerk to give us a couple of adjoining rooms. 'I understood the clerk to say that we were assigned to rooms Nos. 98 and 101. We were conducted to the rooms, and I was shown to No. 99. Shortly afterward my sister informed me that she could not succeed in getting anyone to answer the bell, and I requested her to ring mine and order a pitcher of ice water for her. I rang and requested the boy who responded to take a pitcher of ice water to room No. 101. Before going down stairs, a few minutes later, I asked my sister if she had received the ice water, and was informed that she had not. I rang again and told the second boy to take a pitcher of ice water to room No. 101. I went below and soon returned, and was surprised to learn that no ice water had been delivered in my sister's room."

"By this time I was interested, and told my sister that I would see that she got some ice water if I had to go after it myself. So I rang once more and told the bell boy that a pitcher of ice water must be taken to room No. 101 right away, and he said that he would send a boy to get it."

"After waiting some time I made inquiry of my sister again, and she said that no ice water had come, and begged me not to bother myself about it, as it seemed to be a hopeless task. But I replied that water was cheap, and she should have some sure. I went to the person in charge of our corridor and preferred a request that a pitcher of ice water be sent to room No. 101. I received a promise that it should be attended to instantly. But it wasn't. I went to the elevator boy to take a pitcher of ice water to room No. 101. He declared that he would do so on the next trip."

"He failed. In despair I went to the office of the hotel and asked the clerk if it were possible to have a pitcher of ice water sent to room No. 101."

"'Certainly,' was the answer; 'that can be done without any trouble.'"

"I have been trying to have it done ever since I came here, and I haven't made the rifle yet, I said, 'and it is a possible thing I would like to have it done.'"

"Later I stepped into the elevator, and the boy there asked me if I were going up to the 101 floor."

"'Yes,' I responded. 'Why?'"

"A hundred and one reasons, you know, out of the window if he catches you," said the boy."

"'What are you talking about?' I asked."

"'Why there is a bride in a room in 101 and you have been firing ice water into the room all the evening, and the maid is wild. He swears he will murder you.'"

"Upon investigation I found that my sister's room was not 101 at all, but was 97. My room was 99, and as my sister's room was next to it, I thought it was 101. There I had sent about ten pitchers of ice water to 101, and didn't know it."

APARTMENT HOUSES IN PARIS.

Large as to size, but Poorly Arranged and Ventilated.

We self-satisfied Americans boast of our great buildings and think nothing approaches them, or any other features of our modern development. Yet the first thing that impresses an American in Paris is apt to be the great size of the buildings in the residence portions of the city. The people live in flats, to be sure, and these great tall half blocks and whole blocks, faced with yellow stone, house the population of villages, but how tiny our New York dwellings are, beside them! How small most of our apartment houses appear by contrast! In the great honeycomb in which I tented one cell I got an idea of how this mode of living is ordered. I entered the building by a carriage-way that led into a great court. There was a side entrance to the court, which for some reason was in use after eight o'clock at night. On either side of either portal were stairs leading up to the upper stories—the ground floor being taken up with stores opening on two streets. Exactly opposite the main entrance was the office or headquarters of the concierge, commanding a view of the court and both entrances. I saw an old woman there always, and I made my acquaintance for the purpose of asking me to call out the name of the family with whom I had taken lodgings whenever I came in after nightfall. I wish now that I had once failed to shout my landlord's name, in order that I might know what would have happened in that event. I saw few finer-looking or larger establishments than this, and yet I will not say that it was typical. Speaking for it and no other, I will simply say that grand as its exterior was and clean and tidy as it looked from the street and from the court, it was none the less a perfect trap for fever and a mine of untidiness. The condition of the closets on every floor was execrable. I can never be brought to believe that I should have escaped typhus fever if I had not kept my windows wide open all the time I was in doors. The stairs were rude, narrow, uncarpeted, dark, and dirty, and the odors of neglect and carelessness weighed the atmosphere in the public parts of the houses. Let most of us have been in other Latin countries say whether this is a general condition in them. I have been in Cuba and in France only, and every breath I drew in doors in Paris reminded me of my tour through Cuba. It was the same in the hotels as in the houses in both countries.—Harper's Weekly.

Advice as to Lead Tea.

If you must drink lead tea fill a glass with cracked ice, but leave room enough on top for three spoonfuls of powdered sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Then pour in the hot tea from the pot. Don't use tea which is already cold and has stood for some time. Cold tea is not lead at all. It is tannic acid and the alkaloid known as theine. Oolong makes the best lead tea.—Buffalo Express.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPIES

—All fresh meat should be put to boil in hot water, but for soup in cold.

—Drop Cakes.—Having grated two accounts of ordinary size, add to the pulp an equal amount of sugar, one quart, half a cupful of ground rice, and beat all well together. Bake as for the cookies.—Good Housekeeping.

—Berry Pudding.—Three pints blueberries, five cups flour, one pint molasses, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Boil in a buttered mold or on a tin three hours. Half of this receipt is enough for a small family.—Boston Budget.

—For fruit shortbread crush a quart of fresh fruit to a paste, add the juice of a lemon and two pints of water, as preferred. Let the mixture stand for an hour, then strain to remove seeds; add granulated sugar to taste, and stir until dissolved. Pour over cracked ice in tumblers, and drink when quite cold.—N. Y. World.

—Grape Catsup.—The juice of twelve pounds of grapes; boil well and skim. Sugar, eight pounds; vinegar, one quart (pure elder); black pepper, one table-spoonful; cayenne pepper, one table-spoonful; mustard, one ten-cent box; cinnamon (pulverized), one ounce; salt, one teaspoonful. Boil thoroughly; bottle and seal.—Dorchester's Monthly.

—If you want to send milk off in bottles, with a basket of dinner or a traveler's lunch or for the baby's tea, first put into the bottle if, one pint, two tablespoonfuls of lime water, or if a quart, four tablespoonfuls. Keep sweet, and if you wish wrap the bottle in a wet cloth and then in a dry one, it will keep cool into the bargain.

—Sausage.—Take cooked, or uncooked scraps of meat. Cut into very small pieces and put into a stew pan with the bones (chopped), pepper, onion, a good quantity of onion, double the quantity of raw potatoes and cold water to cover. Simmer gently for about three hours. Remove the bones, and serve the sauce very hot. A profitable way of using up cold meat.—Detroit Free Press.

—Water Soupy.—Plaice, flounders, or any fresh water fish are good for a soupy. Boil the fish; stand aside the best looking and boil down one or two pieces in the liquor, of which there should be about two quarts. Pulp the fish which is boiled down, and chop the parsley fine. Return them to the liquor, heat the fish in it, and serve in a deep dish accompanied by thin slices of brown bread and butter.—Boston Herald.

—A delicious way of serving ice cream is to fill watermelons with that delicious dainty. The fruit must be cut in halves, and the seeds taken out before the ice cream is put in, and a piece of the pulp should accompany each helping of cream. Another novel idea is to cut a slice, and place it in a little round saucer, on each of which is placed a spoonful of ice cream. This cannot be conveniently eaten without a dessert knife, but is a delightful combination in very hot weather.—Boston Budget.

REARING CHILDREN.

Firmness the Grand Essential in Their Management.

Hood says of his "Irish Schoolmaster" that he "spoiled the rod and never spared the child." Of the two, perhaps it is better to spoil the rod than the child, but it is not necessary to spoil either.

Firmness is the grand essential in the management of children. Nothing reasonable should be required of them, but that which is reasonably required should be rigidly exacted. The rules laid down for their government should not be harsh or severe, but they should be like the laws of the Medes and Persians—absolutely, imperatively, "binding days" of the cunning little creatures for whose good they are framed should ever induce a parent to violate them, or to waver in their enforcement. No promise made to a child should ever be broken or evaded.

Boys and girls know how to observe, and are more prone to imitate the weaknesses and vices of their teachers than to emulate their virtues. If you break faith with them they will fit to you, justifying themselves by their little consciences by your example. They will tell you as much if you push them hard. Never, therefore, attempt to terrify them by threats which you do not intend to execute, or to stimulate them by promises of reward which you have no thought of fulfilling.

A doting, over-indulgent mother is the most cruel enemy a child can have. The insane kindness of such mothers has ruined thousands of sons and daughters who, under proper management, would have been a comfort and a credit to their parents. Compromises may sometimes be expedient in the case of children, but it is doubtful if any wholesome principle is waived or sacrificed; but in family government they are always unwise. All this may be said, is so true that it is true; yet, in view of the lawlessness of the children of our generation, it cannot be too often reiterated.—N. Y. Ledger.

According to Altitude.

How the population of the United States is distributed according to altitude is indicated by a census bulletin just issued. Below 500 feet line are the people engaged in manufacturing, foreign commerce, and most of those engaged in the cultivation of cotton, rice, and sugar. The prairie states and the grain producing states of the north-west are located on the interval between 500 and 1,500 feet. East of the ninety-eighth meridian, 1,500 feet elevation is the upper limit of population. The area between 3,000 and 8,000 feet constitutes almost every where the debatable ground between the arid region of the Cordilleran plateau and the humid region of the Mississippi valley. In the altitude of 3,000 feet irrigation is necessary for agricultural operations. The occupation of the population living above 6,000 feet is mining. The movement of population is toward the higher altitudes, and is most marked between 1,500 and 6,000 feet. The greatest density is on the sea board, and decreases uniformly until the altitude of 2,000 feet is reached. At this point it becomes quite sparse.—Chicago Tribune.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Marshall Court of Common Pleas, Ky.

W. M. Reed and C. H. Philleby, Executors of R. McCain, deceased, Plaintiffs,
AGAINST
M. H. Egner and others, Defendants and
T. F. Palmer, Administrator of P. Palmer, deceased, Plaintiffs, AGAINST
C. W. T. Egner and others, Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Marshall Court of Common Pleas, rendered at the March term thereof, 1891, in the above causes, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court house door in Benton, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1891, (being county court day) upon a credit of Six, Twelve, and Eighteen months, in three equal installments, the following described property lying in Marshall Co. Ky., viz:

- 1st. The south west fractional quarter of section 33, township 4, range 6, east, containing 100 acres more or less.
- 2nd. The north west quarter of section 5, township 3, range 5, east, containing 160 acres more or less, and known as the land conveyed to defendant E. P. Egner by E. Gay J. C. Futrell and others.
- 3rd. The north west fractional quarter of section 4, township 3, range 6, east, containing 114 acres more or less, and known as the Aurora Ferry tract of land, on which said ferry is situated, together with all ferry rights and privileges thereunto belonging or appertaining, including hand ferry boats, and all attachments thereto belonging.
- 4th. The south east quarter of section 32, township 4, range 6, east, and known as the Dobson tract, containing 100 acres more or less.
- 5th. The north east quarter of section 5, township 3, range 6, east, known as the Johnson tract, containing 160 acres more or less.
- 6th. The 18 acres lying below and adjoining the Aurora Ferry tract and supposed to be off of the south side of the north west quarter of section 33, township 4, range 6, east, and known as the Barnett land.

The above described land will be sold in separate tracts in the order above indicated, or a sufficient number of tracts thereof will be sold to produce sums of money ordered to be made in said actions. For the purchase price, the purchasers, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of replevin bonds. Bidders must be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

OLON L. PALMER, Master Commissioner

The above described land is situated on the Tennessee river, about 35 or 40 miles above Paducah, Ky., and is very fine land and some of it is in fine state of cultivation, while the land that is not in cultivation is covered in exceedingly fine timber, such as poplar, white oak, &c., and on one of the tracts to be sold there is a —Large Two Story Frame House—

That was said to have cost $6,000 when it was built, besides there are stables, barns, &c., on other portions of the land.

In the sale of this property, there is an opportunity offered to the people to purchase some very fine lands, a fine frame dwelling house, the Aurora Ferry, with all the ferry rights and privileges belonging thereto, including the hand ferry boat, &c., at their own prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Karnes the father and mother of the young man that was killed and Mrs. Estes the mother of the young man who committed the deed have the sympathy of all their neighbors.

Miss Addie Rickman was sitting by a window in the school house the other day, during a thunder storm, with her arm resting on the back of the seat, near the window, when an electric current passed near her, and burned a blister on her arm. For a few days it was painful, but is now nearly well. She was very much frightened.

J. C. Hicks our popular jeweler marries to day at 2 o. c. in the city of Mayfield to Miss Martha McMannus a former resident of Benton. Mr. Hicks is lucky in gaining the hand of so estimable lady as Miss Martha is a business woman and a lady of many good traits of womanly character. Mr. Hicks is a young man who came from Trigg county a few years ago, when quite a boy, and by close attention to business, and honest dealing, has built himself a good business and made many friends. We congratulate the young couple and bespeak for them a happy and useful life.

Miss Ida Morgan came over the other day, and swore a bastard child to Oscar Gregory. Oscar is not in the county at present, nor do his friends think he will be here for some time. A warrant was put in the hands of a constable for H. L. Aston but before it could be served, he too had skipped the country. It will be remembered that this is no new case, but the charge is about three years old, but Mr. Aston has never been before the court. He had returned home and was living with his family in peace and quietude, but in due time he was gone again. He claims he is not guilty of being the father of a bastard child, and does not propose to pay one cent in its support.

Supt. Wallace attended a trustee meeting at Birmingham Tuesday. There seems to be some trouble in the school there, and the presence of the superintendent was desired, but the trouble was not amicably settled, but we hope it may soon be blown away.

Notice.

To the trustees and teachers of Marshall county and persons who anticipate teaching. You are hereby notified that the twentieth annual session of the Teachers' Institute will convene in Benton, Ky., Monday, Aug. 31st, 1891, and continue five days as authorized by Article 10, Sec. 6, 2 and 3 Common School Law. It is made the duty of the county superintendent to revoke the certificates of those who fail to attend the full session of the institute. County superintendents and teachers of surrounding counties are invited, together with the trustees and friends of education.

J. C. Willis, of Shelbyville, Ky., has been employed as conductor of the Institute.

BENTON, KY., AUGUST 27.

There are eighteen physicians in this county "who as it were" hold the lives of the people in their hands. They are men whose avocation in life, is of much importance to the people, that they cannot do too much to inform and improve themselves in every department of their profession. There is nothing the "do" that will tend more to improve them in the diagnosing of the diseases of the country, than to meet together in their county medical association, and there discuss all of the peculiar ailments and remedies that one or all of the members may have attended to in their respective practices. The society that met here the other day had an enjoyable, and interesting meeting, and were all more than confident, that the members, who remained away missed a life time opportunity, in failing to see and examine a patient brought here by Dr. Stone from Lyon county who was so peculiarly affected that but few physicians see such a case in a life time, and if they did they would not be able to give it the proper and necessary treatment, but in combine counsel their wisdom and power, in knowledge, that cannot be found in hardly any single individual.

These associations do not meet for the purpose of attending to the private business of its members, in the way of regulating and fixing the prices that its members should charge, but discuss important points found in the practice of its members. In other words these associations are little social schools of education that benefit both the doctor and the patient, and when a doctor stays away from his meetings he not only does himself an injustice but the people among whom he practices his profession.

If they would meet together, three or four times a year, and meet each other socially, and strengthen their professional friendship and discuss such subjects as would be of interest to every body, they would have better success in the treatment of all diseases common to this country. They could make it a day of profit and enjoyment. It would do them good to get away from their patients at least one day, and order a fine dinner at the hotel, and all the doctors in the county together with their wives, meet with each other at the table and spend an hour in eating and drinking. Doctors like other men are not as social and friendly with themselves as they should be.

We are no physicians, but we do believe such associations, would stimulate the doctors to better inform themselves, and love each other more and please the public better. Gentlemen attend your associations.

Our Duty.

133,339, is a very healthy majority for a new constitution to carry in Kentucky after such a systematic and combined effort on the part of a certain class of people to defeat it. The people took great interest in this constitution, and more of them read it, and studied it, than ever studied a constitution in Kentucky since it was a state. It received the almost unanimous support of all classes of men, from the most ignorant to the ablest and best informed. It contained, in the main, such provisions as the people have been asking for twenty years, and there was no power either in front or behind the throne that could check the onward march of the people, for a new constitution. We were astonished at the weak conception of some of its opponents, of the strength it had in the hearts of the people.

It carried by a larger majority, in proportion to the population than did our present one, forty years ago.

Now since it has been ratified by such a voice from the people, the people of Kentucky, as one man should move to the front, and keep our state space with Indiana, Ohio and like.

The old element that has for twenty-five years retarded the progress of the state, can now take a back seat, and let young Kentuckians carry the state to the front.

A Look at the Vote.

A close examination of the vote in the first congressional district given on the first Monday in this month reveals some very valuable information.

Thirteen counties compose this district. Four years ago only two candidates were voted for, for governor, Buckner and Bradley. Buckner received 14,353 votes and Brown received 13,413 votes. At this election, in the same district, Brown received 13,413 votes, 939 votes less than Buckner received. Bradley received 7,408 and Wood 9,500, a difference of only 900. Now it will be seen that Buckner received only 939 votes more than Brown, and that Bradley received only 900 votes more than Wood, making only a difference of 89 votes in the two majorities. But it will be seen that the difference between the majorities of Buckner and Brown, and Bradley and Wood, added together make 1,839 more votes polled four years ago than now. Irwin the People's party candidate received 4,304 votes and Harris 332, making a total of 5,236, that were polled outside of the old parties.

It is claimed by some that the two old parties lost heavily by the new party. This is not true, for the old parties only lost, both together, 1,839, but there were 3,397 more votes polled in the late election than in the one four years ago. Some one will ask, where did these 3,397 votes come from, if not from the old parties? This can be easily answered. The two old parties lost, doubtless, the difference between the votes of 1887 and 1891, which is 1,839, but the 3,398 votes did not come out of the two old parties, but were cast by men who have long since alienated themselves from the republican and democratic parties. There are about 4,000 voters in this district that have heretofore been refusing to vote, because there were no candidates in the field that they could afford to support. So the democratic party in the "Old First" has not suffered so much after all, at the hands of the new party.

This was only a chance for the greenbackers, the prohibitionists and the high kickers to get to vote. These have been laying idle for some time, but showed their hand in this election to their sorrow. The democratic party has not been weakened, but strengthened. These men who have been doing all in their power, for the past few years, to disorganize and disrupt the democratic party, can now go to work and do all they can to beat us, but every effort that is made, will only tend to strengthen and cement the democratic party. It will stand.

Marshall Co. Medical Society. At our meeting August 19th although the attendance was small, the interest was never better. The absent members missed an opportunity to have seen an interesting case presented by our president.

The people have at last learned that we will not permit any member of the society to refer to or discuss in any way the subject of doctor's fees or charges.

In these meetings our only business is to teach each other all we can and then benefit the unfortunate invalids, who are dependent upon us as general practitioners. Our next meeting Sept. 9th, it will be an exceedingly interesting and profitable one.

PROGRAMME.

Crops.

The heavy rains that have fallen since our last issue, have done a wonderful good to corn, and tobacco. The corn crop this year, will be the largest in this county since the war. The oldest citizens, now living can hardly call to mind, such a beautiful corn crop as there is now in Marshall county.

The tobacco crop is a failure. The average is small and the quality very inferior. It has not done well at any time, during the entire season. The grasses, fruits and vegetables were never better, nor the people more happy. With such democratic victories, and beautiful crops, we can but believe, that we are on the side of the great high priest.

The Odell Type Writer.

$20 will buy the Odell Type Writer with 78 characters, and $15 for the Single Case Odell, warranted to do better work than any machine made.

It combines simplicity with durability, speed, ease of operation, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is neat, substantial, nickel plated, perfect and adapted to all kinds of type writing. Like a printing press it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days. We offer $1,000 to any operator who can equal the work of the Double Case Odell. Reliable Agents and Salesmen wanted. Special inducements to Dealers.
