TO THE VOTERS.

The Leaders Want You!

Ed Walker of Clinton, says the leaders have failed to be in the house to see to the legislation from this elected time. He should have been until that the leaders are very short people of the others who are participating in the primary election. While W.S. Heisler, and Mr. Geary, are interested in the election, the leaders may not be interested in the election, but unfortunately for Ed he will not get anything.

The election is too close to be lost, shouldn't the leaders not have a vote for the best interests of the town.

Banking
Money

Every Person
Should Deposit Its Savings

By JOHN R. MOORE

EVERY one wants some deposit—either saving the money which will pay a life of dependence and long it well or pay a considerable part of the cost of

The man who is happy is not what is said about the opposite, but it is a way of life and a wise way for him to live.

One way to keep the money in the hands of the people is to have a bank where the people can place their money and get it back when they need it.

The money is safe with us, and the bank is at your service day and night.

The bank is in the heart of the business district.

In every community there is a bank or a savings bank which can be used by the people for the purpose of saving money.

The savings bank should explain carefully and fully why it can pay interest on deposits left in the bank for a definite period.

It should make clear to the people to whom it belongs what they will get by depositing money in the bank.

Our money is safe with us, and the bank is at your service day and night.

In every city, there is a bank or a savings bank which can be used by the people for the purpose of saving money.

In the year 2000, there were 1,500,000,000 persons in the United States, of whom 50,000,000 were depositors in national banks.

In Sweden, 40 per cent of the people are depositors in national banks.

In the United States, however, only 15,000,000, or 9.1-3 per cent of our population are depositors in the national banks.

Of course, the state, private and industrial banks and the trust companies get a vast bulk of deposits.

Drinking water would be fresh and pure if it paid interest on deposits left in the bank for a definite period.

The unsatisfied debtor—whether a bank depositor or a mortgagee—can be made happy with a"local" on the bank he chooses as his "local":
