Beloved Citizen Called To The Great Beyond

Mrs. T. F. Moore, aged 76, widow of the late Rev. T. F. Moore for many years connected with the Baptist Flag Publishing Co. of this city, died here Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock after an extended illness of several months. She was the mother of Bob and Hoyt Moore, publishers of the Fulton Leader, and had been active in newspaper work herself for many years until illness forced her retirement.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning from the family home on Washington-st by Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Interment followed at the mausoleum at Fairview cemetery, with Hornbeak Funeral Home in charge.

The pallbearers were J. O. Lewis, Claude Freeman, Vodie Hardin, Joe Davis, Reuben Allen and Percy McDowell.

Mrs. Moore is survived by three sons, Hoyt and Bob Moore of this city, Tom of Memphis; one daughter Mrs. Minnie Wheeler of Memphis; one sister, Mrs. Alice Bowman of McKenzie; several grandchildren, Martha and Jack Moore of Fulton; Chas. Wheeler Jr., Mrs. Leonard Pate, Mrs. Archie Henry, Miss Mattie Sue Wheeler, Frank Wheeler of Memphis.

Mrs. Moore was born in Carroll county, Tenn., being Miss Martha Jackson Dinning before her marriage to Rev. Thomas F. Moore in 1875. She was a member of the Baptist church of Riceville, where her husband was pastor until his death in 1926.

Mrs. Moore has many friends here and in Tennessee where the family lived for a number of years. They will regret to learn of her death and will extend heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved. Deep and sincere condolences are offered by The News.

History

In April, 1845 it was ordered that the county be layed off into five Constable Districts as follows:

District No. 1—Commencing at the Mississippi river at the end of the levy opposite the town of Hickman, thence with the Sand Street to south boundary of section 10, township 1, range 5 west, thence east to the Troy Road, thence with the railroad to the state line continuing all of county of Fulton west of the boundary line. William A. Downing was the first constable of this district.

District No. 2—Bounded west by No. 1, south by the state line, east by Mud Creek as laid down by Henderson map and north by Bayou de Chien and the Mississippi river. G. W. Packett was first constable of this district.

District No. 3—Bounded on the west by No. 2, south by the state line, east by the section line one mile east of township one, range 4, north by the county line and the Mississippi river. Thomas Gore was the first constable of this district.

District 4—Bounded on west by No. 2, south by the state line, east by the county line and north by the state road. M. L. Herron was the first constable of this district.

District 5—Bounded on south by No. 4 and state line road and north by the county line and west by No. 3. Richard Stephens was the first constable of this district.

The first will and testament ever recorded in Fulton County Court was that of Brice M. Hughes. He desired that all his houses, land and property with the exception of his trust-worthy slaves and personal property be converted into money so all his just debts could be disposed of and that the remainder of the money and property be equally divided between his wife, Katherine, and his only child, Mary Elizabeth Hughes. "I will and desire that my slaves not be sold unless there are not sufficient funds to pay my debts and that they be jointly owned by my wife and daughter in equal shares. I bequeath that after payment of my debts there shall be left $4,500 in available property that $500 be left to my nephew, E. H. Hughes. I will and desire that H. O. Batty and A. N. Nance be my executors, Katherine be guardian of my child until she become of age."

FARMERS BANK CASES REMAIN UNSETTLED

The case of J. R. Dorman, state banking commissioner, against Selton Cohn, a stockholder in the defunct Farmers Bank of this city, has been continued until the January term of court. In the case of A. Huddleston, et al. against Dorman, brought by the board of directors of this bank to have declared to them a preference of certain funds into the bank, the action was dismissed and their claim only allowed as a general claim.

The case of J. E. Melton, bringing suit for himself and other creditors and depositors of the bank against the board of directors, alleging negligence in the management of the affairs of the bank, was discontinued until the January term or further orders.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. MOORE

There is no death!
An angel-form
Walks o'er the earth
With silent tread;
And hears our best-loved
things away,
And then we call them "dead."
Where'er he sees a smile
too bright,
Or heart too pure
for taunt and vice,
He hears it to that world
of light,
To dwell forever in Paradise.
Born unto that undying life,
They leave us but to come again;
With joy we welcome
them the same,
In that land without sin or pain.
Although it was, indeed,
a severe blow
To Bob, Hoyt, Tom and Minnie,
God decreed that she must go Where there's rest and happiness a-plenty.

We lovingly dedicate this thought in memory of that beloved old lady and very dear friend, Mrs. T. F. Moore, who passed this life on Monday of this week. As tranquil in death as in life, she went to rest with a peaceful solemnity that was extremely touching to those who loved and knew her well.

Having known Mrs. Moore for many years, worked in the same office with her, and visited in her home, she gained a warm spot in our heart which can never be erased. Her quiet, exemplified life, her devout sincerity and lovely personality have left an impression with her many friends and acquaintances and a lasting memory with us. Always courteous, friendly, ever-willing to please, yet living her life unblemished by the world, she made many friends who deeply regret to learn of her passing. Her husband, the Rev. T. F. Moore, that fine, old gentleman respected by all, preceded her in death, and from this shock she never fully recovered. Now she has journeyed to that undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler returns.

God sent so many blessings here, He filled the world with joy and cheer. But one dear gift surpassed all others, When he created loving mothers. Mrs. Moore was a kind, loving mother, and she will be greatly missed by her children. Our sincere and heart-felt sympathy goes out to them in their bereavement.

Prominent Insurance Man Called Home

The funeral services were conducted from the family residence Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church here officiating. Interment followed in the Greenlea cemetery.

Mr. Bondurant was well known and highly respected in this community, having been born and reared here. He had been employed with the Prudential Insurance Company for 21 years. Only last year he was rewarded for his faithfulness and efficiency when the company gave him a diamond locket and a 20-year service medal in appreciation of his services.

WEST KENTUCKY GROWS MANY BALES COTTON

As little as you think about thousands of bales of cotton are grown and ginned in West Kentucky, despite the fact that this territory is commonly considered outside the cotton belt. Gins here and at Clinton, Bardwell, Murray and other places in the Purchase turn out much lint during the ginning season.

Cotton is several weeks late for the market this year because of heavy rains and delayed planting early in the spring, but the local gin situated on Central-av in South Fulton has been receiving cotton in a steady stream the past week. Some farmers are selling their crop outright, while others are having it ginned, baled and stored. Cotton is a good cash crop in Fulton county, especially in the western end where hundreds of acres of fertile bottom lands are kept in production.

RELIEF WORK TO BE RESUMED

Notification of a $563,179 federal relief grant reached Kentucky early this week as the state's relief organization, directed by Harry L. Gattton and the Kentucky Relief Commission resumed activities on a state-wide scale. The federal funds were allotted by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to match $250,000 raised by state warrants and $83,000 raised by Kentucky municipalities for relief work.

The local Kentucky Relief Committee reports that the office here has not received notification to reopen, and is awaiting instructions from headquarters at Louisville. But it is expected that the office here will resume its activities, which ceased on August 15, at an early date.

Below we print an editorial, which appeared in the Fallon (Nevada) Eagle. It only goes to show how vital the railroad problem affects individuals, businesses and communities. Inasmuch as Fulton is a railroad town in many respects, local citizens will be interested in the viewpoints expressed therein.

"Just how important the railroad is to this county was emphasized when the Southern Pacific and Southern Pacific Land Co., between them, paid to the Churchill treasurer a total of $56,464.85 for the first installment of the 1932 taxes.

"Of course the Southern Pacific has been doing that very thing for years—paying a large share of all the taxes paid in this county. But what made it so noticeable this year was that, with most of Nevada's banks closed, tax payments were comparatively few and the

"We live on long hair and whiskers."

COURTEOUS and EFFICIENT
SERVICE AT ALL TIMES
RELANCE BARBER SHOP

Southern Pacific checks filled a big
gap.

"County employees will get their pay, or at least part of it. Other people who have claims against the county will get all or part of what is due them. High school teachers will have payments on salaries two months due. These folks, in turn, will pay merchants who have been carrying them, or will pay their own taxes, which had to be allowed to go delinquent.

"In short, as matters stand, the Southern Pacific and others who have been able to dig up their tax money, are Churchill County's bankers and have had a large share, with creameries and turkey buyers,
in turning enough cash loose in this community to keep business from being completely paralyzed.

"An institution which means so much to any community—is entitled to fair consideration at the hands of the public. The community better its own condition by supporting and helping to develop the railroad, which, in turn, will maintain and add to its taxable valuation, returning more money to the public treasury.

"Railroads are not faultless. Although they have been hedged about with restrictions which have hampered their exercise of initiative and judgment in coping with modern conditions, they are still at least partly to blame for the situation in which they find themselves today by reason of motor competition. They have found it extremely difficult to alter their methods of doing business, learned in the days when railroads constituted practically the only mode of transportation.

"There is, certainly, a place for the motor truck in the present day distribution setup. If the charges made by the rails are true, however, there is much work to be done by public service commissions in this and other states to render the competition of the truck lines fair to the railroads and to the public.

"Here in Nevada, as was pointed out recently by the state auditor, the gas tax is inadequate to care for maintenance of the roads built with federal aid money and there has had to be a tax levy upon property for this purpose—The truck lines pay comparatively little property tax and the railroads, with their enormous valuations, are placed in the ironical position of paying a heavy share of the cost of maintenance of the right-of-way used by their motor competition while at the same time bearing all of the expense of maintaining their own roadbeds,

and paying taxes for the privilege.

"The railroads are entitled to respectful hearing and to fair, impartial judgment of their rights. We can't get along without them and they should be given an even chance to prosper.

SIGNS ARE FAVORABLE

Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery chief, in a recent letter significantly analyzed the gains shown in the country's present economic condition, and suggested that industry step up its selling efforts. General Johnson pointed out reasons why fear is losing its grip on the American people, and said we are returning toward normal trade conditions. For example, he said:

"Factory employment is up 24 percent in August, 1933, as against the same month last year. Industrial production is up 71 per cent in July, 1933, against the same period last year. Business failures show a decrease of 47 per cent in August, 1933, as against the month last year. Farm prices are up 33 per cent in July, 1933, as against the same last year.

We do not base our conclusion solely upon the thousands of friendly letters received here daily from private citizen (gratifying as they are); nor upon such spontaneous outbursts of enthusiasm as the N. R. A. parade in New York City (250,000 in line, with onlookers estimated at 4,000,000, who stood watching for ten hours). Our evidence is based upon recent nation-wide reports.

"Payrolls are up 40 per cent in August, 1933, as against the same month last year. Carloadings are up 23 per cent in August, 1933, as against the same month last year.
Automobile factory sales are up 38 per cent in June, 1933, as against the same month last year. Steel ingot production is up 245 per cent in
month last year."

New hope and new vision have swept away the mists that have beclouded a sick nation unnecessarily.
United effort has paved the way toward a new day.

This - That

Napoleon was not a Corsican but a Breton, born not in the Italian island which just before his birth became French, but in Brittany, according to Louis Beaufre, specialist in Breton. He avers and give reasons for believing that Napoleon was born in the Chateau of Penanvern, near Morlaix, his mother being Laetitia Bonaparte, nee Ramol no,
and his father was Louis Charles,
count de Marbeuf, one time governor of Corsica. What an upset this is in history.

"The iron maiden," a faithful reproduction of the original, which is on display in the castle of Nurem-burg, Germany, may be seen at the Century of Progress in Chicago. In the middle ages the "iron maiden" an iron frame in human form with a spike studded interior, was but one of numerous instruments of torture for the purpose of extorting evidence in heresy trials. Torture, as a means of compelling testimony in judicial proceedings and

for extorting confessions of crime, was generally common, however, before the religious inquisition period.
The more horrible torture instruments were abolished under pressure of public sentiment in the 16th century. Today they are preserved as interesting antiquities. Other medieval methods of torture, which first were used in ancient Greece and Rome, were the rack and the wheel. The rack or clamp forced the victim to remain in one position as long as he was confined, and the victim was often further tortured by having vinegar poured in his eyes and nose, and burning brands pressed against his flesh. The wheel was a round frame to which victims were bound—then slowly their bones were broken. Today we have good reason to be thankful for the liberties we enjoy.

The so-called "baby market" seems to be as brisk as ever despite the depression, for there are too few children for folk who want to adopt babies if we are to judge from reports of institutions that take care of these babies and place them in homes. Modern womanhood, especially in our richer or better-to-do-homes dislike the physical suffering that accompanies child-birth. What is to become of the human race if this inclination continues to gain favor?

"The short Bible," a new book translated, arranged and introduced by Prof. Edgar Goodspeed, University of Chicago, which begins with Amos and ends with Titus, may be called a scholar's eye view of the holy writ from the lofty vantage point of scholarly detachment. Altho it is not intended as a substitute for the Bible and is expected to aid in understanding that book, the great common people, no doubt, will adhere to reading their old family Bible even though it may be "bewildering to the average man" as Prof. Goodspeed puts it. What right

does even a world renowned scholar have to change the canonical order of the Bible?

The United States has been built upon a foundation of two parts. One is the great industrial and manufacturing development. The other is an independent, vigorous, virile agriculture, made up of individual families.
The farming industry is fundamentally conservative because it is individualistic. It is anti-communistic, anti-socialistic, and essentially Democratic. It is the greatest bulwark of the democratic form of government that the United States possesses.

Congressman Gregory states that there is an average of 350 births every month in the First Congressional District of Kentucky with a population of 240,000 in the thirteen counties.

If you are one of those persons who have had eyesight, but hate wearing frame glasses, you may now have invisible spectacles made for each eye, according to the latest announcement from London. Each eyepiece is a tiny, shell-like slip of glass, slightly larger than a dime, fitting directly on top of the cornea
of the eye, under the lid, and adhering to it by suction. "Contact glasses" is the name of the new invention, which cannot be felt even with the eyelid, it is claimed.

Isabella of Castile, Spain, became immortal because of a single deed—her gallant sponsorship of Columbus. And just because Columbus is credited in history as the discoverer of America, Isabella is assured a niche in history. Her character was a surpassingly strange blend of femininity and strength, of ruthlessness and mercy, of bigotry and generosity. But at birth she was destined to rule a great nation in the old world and be instrumental in founding a new one.

Statisticians calculate that the actual count of noses by direct solicitation will reach tens of thousands of employers who do not report regularly through ordinary channels and may show that between 4,000, 000 and 5,000,000 persons have found work since the low mark of last winter.

All glory to the name of Columbus (Thursday, October 12 being observed throughout the nation as Columbus day) but—historians now generally agree that the mainland of America was visited and colonized by Norsemen, blond and bearded giants from the Scandinavian peninsula and Iceland, centuries before the time of Columbus. A missing chapter in the story of the Vikings has been found in the strangely carved stone discovered near Kensington, Minn. The famous Kensington stone and ancient Viking weapons are pointed to as proof that Norse explorers penetrated North America as far as Minnesota in 1362.

World Adventurer Visits In Fulton

Jack Lloyd, a soldier of fortune, adventure, soldier of several wars, globe trotter, newspaper man and wanderer, paid a visit to the News office last week end.

Lloyd is known throughout the entire world as the "World's Greatest Boomer" having never missed a boom in the last forty years, although 65 years of age, he appears many years younger, and his genial appearance, his manners and dress, help him through the country, he is known in almost every newspaper office in America.

Jack is quite an eccentric character, he wears a distinctive black hat of the old western regane at a dashing angle, he is quite a talker, and he tells of the days that he walked from Cape Town, South Africa to Johannesburg to help edit the Tribune in that city during the days of the boom of the Veldts on the Kimberly.

Again Jack speaks of the time that he bobbed with many of the celebrities during the gold rush in Alaska. It was here that he met Tex Rickard, the late Jack London, Rex Beach, Bob McCormick, and the theatrical king Pantages.

Traveling through the country as one of the millions of unemployed, Jack "makes" his way by talking before civic clubs of his experiences and also tells of his various adventures.

"So That's Where the Doctor Comes From!"

Babies may not understand, but mothers know the priceless feeling of security the telephone brings. And priceless it may sometimes be to hear the reassuring voice of the doctor saying "I'll be right over."

But emergencies are unusual—and the telephone has another important job in the home, smoothing off the rough corners of everyday existence. It runs errands, saves time, trips and waste of energy.

For your leisure hours, it forms a quick contact with friends to arrange a spur-of-the-moment trip to the movies, or an informal evening of bridge. When your friends want to reach you, why—your are as near as your telephone. Your own experience tells you in how many ways the telephone can serve you well, and at a cost so small that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it. If you do not have a telephone, ask about the service at the telephone Business Office.

FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY OCTOBER 13, 1933.

Mrs. T. F. Moore, aged 76, widow of the late Rev. T. F. Moore for many years connected with the Baptist Flag Publishing Co. of this city, died here Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock after an extended illness of several months. She was the mother of Bob and Hoyt Moore, publishers of the Fulton Leader, and had been active in newspaper work herself for many years until illness forced her retirement.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning from the family home on Washington-st. by Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Interment followed at the mausoleum at Fairview cemetery, with Hornbeak Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Moore is survived by three sons, Hoyt and Bob Moore of this city, Tom of Memphis; one daughter Mrs. Minnie Wheeler of Memphis; one sister, Mrs. Alice Bowman of McKenzie; several grandchildren, Martha and Jack Moore of Fulton; Chas. Wheeler Jr., Mrs. Leonard Pate, Mrs. Archie Henry, Miss Mattie Sue Wheeler, Frank Wheeler of Memphis.

Mrs. Moore was born in Carroll county, Tenn., being Miss Martha Jackson Dinning before her marriage to Rev. Thomas F. Moore in 1875. She was a member of the Baptist church of Riceville, where her husband was pastor until his death in 1926.

Mrs. Moore has many friends here and in Tennessee where the family lived for a number of years. They will regret to learn of her death and will extend heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved. Deep and sincere condolences are offered by The News.

History

In April, 1845 it was ordered that the county be layed off into five Constable Districts as follows:

District No. 1—Commencing at the Mississippi river at the end of the levy opposite the town of Hickman. Thence with the Sand Street to south boundary of section 10, township 1, range 5 west, thence east to the Troy Road, thence with the railroad to the state line continuing all of county of Fulton west of the boundary line. William A. Downing was the first constable of this district.

District No. 2—Bounded west by No. 1, south by the state line, east by Mud Creek as laid down by Henderson map and north by Bayou de Chien and the Mississippi river. G. W. Packett was first constable of this district.

District No. 3—Bounded on the west by No. 2, south by the state line, east by the section line one mile east of township one, range 4, north by the county line and the Mississippi river. Thomas Gore was the first constable of this district.

District 4—Bounded on west by No. 2, south by the state line, east by the county line and north by the state road. M. L. Herron was the first constable of this district.

District 5—Bounded on south by No. 4 and state line road and north by the county line and west by No. 3. Richard Stephens was the first constable of this district.

The first will and testament ever recorded in Fulton County Court was that of Brice M. Hughes. He desired that all his houses, land and property with the exception of his trust-worthy slaves and personal property be converted into money so all his just debts could be disposed of and that the remainder of the money and property be equally divided between his wife, Katherine, and his only child, Mary Elizabeth Hughes. "I will and desire that my slaves not be sold unless there are not sufficient funds to pay my debts and that they be jointly owned by my wife and daughter in equal shares. I bequeath that after payment of my debts there shall be left $4,500 in available property that $500 be left to my nephew, E. F. Hughes. I will and desire that H. O. Batty and A. N. Nance be my executors, Katherine be guardian of my child until she become of age.

The case of J. R. Dorman, state banking commissioner, against Solomon Cohn, a stockholder in the defunct Farmers Bank of this city, has been continued until the January term of court. In the case of A. Huddleston, et al. against Dorman, brought by the board of directors of this bank to have declared to them a preference of certain funds into the bank, the action was dismissed and their claim only allowed as a general claim.

The case of J. E. Melton, bringing suit for himself and other creditors and depositors of the bank against the board of directors, alleging negligence in the management of the affairs of the bank, was discontinued until the January term or further orders.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. MOORE

There is no death!
An angel-form
Walks o'er the earth
With silent tread;
And bears our best-loved
Things away,
And then we call them "dead."
Where'er he sees a smile
Too bright,
Or heart too pure
For taint and vice,
He hears it to that world
Of light.
To dwell forever in Paradise,
Born unto that undying life,
They leave us but to come again;
With joy we welcome
Them the same,
In that land without sin or pain.
Although it was, indeed,
A severe blow
To Bob, Hoyt, Tom and Minnie,
God decreed that she must go
Happiness a-plenty.
We lovingly dedicate this thought In memory of that beloved old lady and very dear friend, Mrs. T. F.
Moore, who passed this life on Monday of this week. As tranquil in death as in life, she went to rest with a peaceful solemnity that was extremely touching to those who loved and knew her well.

Having known Mrs. Moore for many years, worked in the same office with her, and visited in her home, she gained a warm spot in our heart which can never be erased. Her quiet, exemplified life, her devout sincerity and lovely personality have left an impression with her many friends and acquaintances and a lasting memory with us. Always courteous, friendly, ever-willing to please, yet living her life unblemished by the world, she made many friends who deeply regret to learn of her passing. Her husband, the Rev. T. F. Moore, that fine, old gentleman respected by all, preceded her in death, and from this shock she never fully recovered. Now she has journeyed to that undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler returns.

God sent so many blessings here, He filled the world with joy and cheer. But one dear gift surpassed all others. When he created loving mothers. Mrs. Moore was a kind, loving mother, and she will be greatly missed by her children. Our sincere and heart-felt sympathy goes out to them in their bereavement.

Newton Miller Bondurant, aged 52, died here Monday afternoon at his home on West-st., after an illness of about one month. The funeral services were conducted from the family residence Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church here officiating. Interment followed in the Greenlea cemetery.

Mr. Bondurant was well known and highly respected in this community, having been born and reared here. He had been employed with the Prudential Insurance Company for 21 years. Only last year he was rewarded for his faithfulness and efficiency when the company gave him a diamond locket and a 20-year service medal in appreciation of his services.

WEST KENTUCKY GROWS MANY BALES COTTON

As little as you think about thousands of bales of cotton are grown and ginned in West Kentucky, despite the fact that this territory is commonly considered outside the cotton belt. Gins here and at Clinton, Bardwell, Murray and other places in the Purchase turn out much lint during the ginning season.

Cotton is several weeks late for the market this year because of heavy rains and delayed planting early in the spring, but the local gin situated on Central-av in South Fulton has been receiving cotton in a steady stream the past week. Some farmers are selling their crop outright, while others are having it ginned, baled and stored. Cotton is a good cash crop in Fulton county, especially in the western end where hundreds of acres of fertile bottom lands are kept in production.

RELIEF WORK TO BE RESUMED

Notification of a $563,179 federal relief grant reached Kentucky early this week as the state's relief organization, directed by Harry Gattton and the Kentucky Relief Commission resumed activities on a state-wide scale. The federal funds were allotted by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to match $250,000 raised by state warrants and $83,000 raised by Kentucky municipalities for relief work.

The local Kentucky Relief Committee reports that the office here has not received notification to reopen, and is awaiting instructions from headquarters at Louisville. But it is expected that the office here will resume its activities, which ceased on August 15, at an early date.

LOOKING AT THE RAILROADS

appeared in the Fallon (Nevada)
individuals, businesses and commu-
citizens will be interested in the
viewpoints expressed therein.

is to this county was emphasized
when the Southern Pacific and Southern Pacific Land Co., between
them, paid to the Churchill treasur-
installment of the 1932 taxes.

what made it so noticeable this
year was that, with most of Neva-
were comparatively few and the

whiskers."

gap.

"County employees will get their
county will get all or part of what
go delinquent.

money, are Churchill County's bank-
ers and have had a large share,
with creameries and turkey buyers,
being completely paralyzed.

"An institution which means so
helping to develop the railroad,
which, in turn, will maintain and
add to its taxable valuation, return-
ury.

with restrictions which have hampered their exercise of initiative
alter their methods of doing busi-
only mode of transportation.

"There is, certainly, a place for
distribution setup. If the charges
made by the rails are true, however,
the railroads and to the public.

out recently by the state auditor,
the gas tax is inadequate to care

with federal money and there has had to be a tax levy upon prop-
lines pay comparatively little prop-
the ironical position of paying a heavy share of the cost of maintenance of the right-of-way used by their motor competition while at the
same time bearing all of the expense
of maintaining their own roadbeds,
and paying taxes for the privilege.

to prosper.

Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery chief, in a recent letter significantly analyzed the gains shown
in the country's present economic
condition, and suggested that industry step up its selling efforts. General Johnson pointed out reasons
why fear is losing its grip on the
ditions. For example, he said:

same month last year. Industrial
production is up 71 per cent in July,
year. Business failures show a decrease of 47 per cent in August, 1933,
as against the month last year. Farm
prices are up 33 per cent in July, 1933, as against the same last year.

We do not base our conclusion
ly letters received here daily from private citizens (gratifying as they are); nor upon such spontaneous
line, with onlookers estimated at
ten hours). Our evidence is based upon recent nation-wide reports.

August, 1933, as against the same
month last year. Carloadings are up 23 per cent in August, 1933, as
against the same month last year.
Automobile factory sales are up 38
per cent in June, 1933, as against
the same month last year. Steel in-
month last year."

New hope and new vision have
clouded a wick nation unnecessarily United States has paved the way toward a new day.

This - That

island which just before his birth
became French, but in Brittany, according to Louis Beaufre, special
reasons for believing that Napoleon
was born in the Chateau of Penan-
Laetitia Bonaparte, nee Ramol no,
and his father was Louis Charles,
count de Marbeuf, one time governor
history.

production of the original, which is
on display in the castle of Nurem-
burg, Germany, may be seen at the

for the purpose of extorting evidence in heresy trials. Torture,
as a means of compelling testi-
was generally common, however, be-
fore the religious inquisition period.
The more horrible torture instru-
century. Today they are preserved
first were used in ancient Greece
pressed against his flesh. The wheel
was a round frame to which victims
ties we enjoy.

babies if we are to judge from re-
these babies and place them in
homes. Modern womanhood, espe-
favor?

by Prof. Edgar Goodspeed, University of Chicago, which begins with
point of scholarly detachment. Although it is not intended as a substitute for the Bible and is expected to aid in understanding that book, the great
Bible even though it may be "be-

have to change the canonical order
of the Bible?

The United States has been built
turing development. The other is an independent, vigorous, virile agriculture, made up of individual families.
dividualistic. It is anti-communistic,
anti-socialistic, and essentially Dem-
of the democratic form of government that the United States possesses.

Congressman Gregory states that
there is an average of 350 births every month in the First Congressional District of Kentucky with a
counties.

If you are one of those persons
who have had eyesight, but hate
have invisible spectacles made for
announcement from London. Each
eyepiece is a tiny, shell-like slip of
glass, slightly larger than a dime,
fitting directly on top of the cornea
of the eye, under the lid, and adher-
es" is the name of the new inven-
the eyelid, it is claimed.

her gallant sponsorship of Colum-
bus. And just because Columbus is
niche in history. Her character was
a surpassingly strange blend of femi-nity and strength, of ruthlessness

ity. But at birth she was destined
ing a new one.

Statisticians calculate that the actual count of noses by direct solici-
tation will reach tens of thousands
of employers who do not report reg-
and may show that between 4,000, 000 and 5,000,000 persons have found
winter.

All glory to the name of Colum-
served throughout the nation as Columbus day) but—historians now
America was visited and colonized
by Norsemen, blond and bearded giants from the Scandinavian peninsula and Iceland, centuries before the time of Columbus. A missing
chapter in the story of the Vikings
carved stone discovered near Ken-
Norse explorers penetrated North
1362.

World Adventurer Visits In Fulton

Jack Lloyd, a soldier of fortune, adventure, soldier of several wars, globe trotter, newspaper man and wanderer, paid a visit to the News office last week end.

Lloyd is known throughout the entire world as the "World's Greatest Boomer" having never missed a boom in the last forty years, although 65 years of age, he appears many years younger, and his genial appearance, his manners and dress, help him through the country, he is known in almost every newspaper office in America.

Jack is quite an eccentric character, he wears a distinctive black hat of the old western regime at a dishing angle, he is quite a talker, and he tells of the days that he walked from Cape Town, South Africa to Johannesburg to help edit the Tribune in that city during the days of the boom of the Veldts on the Kimberly.

Again Jack speaks of the time that he bobnobbed with many of the celebrities during the gold rush in Alaska. It was here that he met Tex Rickard, the late Jack London, Rex Beach, Bob McCormick, and the theatrical king Panjagles.

and friends in this community. Miss Ruth Hampton of Hickman spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hampton.

"So That's Where the Doctor Comes From!"

Babies may not understand, but mothers know the priceless feeling of security the telephone brings. And priceless it may sometimes be to hear the reassuring voice of the doctor saying, "I'll be right over."

But emergencies are unusual—and the telephone has another important job in the home, smoothing off the rough corners of everyday existence. It runs errands, saves time, trips and waste of energy.

bridge. When your friends want to reach you, why—you are as near as your telephone.

Your own experience tells you in how many ways the telephone can serve you well, and at a cost so small that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it. If you do not have a telephone, ask about the service at the telephone Business Office.
