NUMBER 39.

Dunn and Drysdale Return to 'Beats'

In a special session of the mayor and city council held at the City Hall Monday night, the suspension case of two local officers was taken up. Fred Dunn and Earl Drysdale who have been on patrol duty with the Fulton police department for several years, have been suspended the past three weeks. An investigation and hearing of facts in the case were discussed at the council meeting, and the two officers were exonerated and reinstated.

The two officers were temporarily suspended, it is alleged, on account of personal differences, but these have been adjusted and they expect to go back into harness in perfect harmony. They went back on their "beats" Tuesday night.

K. P. Dalton and Dud Outland served in the places of the suspended officers. Dalton will continue on duty the remainder of this month, maybe longer, it is reported.

1,255 ANCIENT SITES LOCATED IN STATE

Archaeological and Anthropological sites have been located in all but ten of the 120 counties of Kentucky. It has just been announced by Professors R. S. Webb and W. D. Funkhouser of the University of Kentucky, who have spent the last 20 years in excavation of this character. Of a total of 1,255 sites located in the state, 667 represent earth mounds, 21 shell mounds, 39 earthworks and fortifications, 162 camp and village sites, 170 cemeteries, 108 rock shelters, 57 inhabited caves and 33 such things as springs, flocks, workshops, quarry sites, caches, pictographs and fishtraps.

The investigations of early men in Kentucky have been carried on thru the University of Kentucky by Professors Webb and Funkhouser, and have been pursued most vigorously in the last five years. In 1930 the Smithsonian Institutions cooperated in the work.

Full information may be obtained from Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners at the post office in this city.

CAR WRECKED BUT RADIO TALKED ON

Early Monday night Bert Wells had a wreck with his car near the overhead bridge on the Union City highway. Although the car was badly smashed up when a local passage was called to send out for the wreck, the radio was still in operation.

AT THE ROTARY CLUB

The Rotary Club held its regular meeting Tuesday at noon at the Methodist church. A musical program was given under the direction of Miss Sara Butt. Mrs. Montelle Stanley, Misses Lucille Adams and Tommy Nell Gates rendered several interesting numbers, with Miss Butt as accompanist.

The 'News' Spotlight

A district staff meeting of Metropolitan Insurance company agents convened here Friday night in the local office of this company in the Cohn building on Walnut-st. The following attended: Messrs. Higgs Paduch, Bagby, Waldrop and Boyd of Mayfield, Stinnett of Wickliffe, Shelton of Murray, Adkerson of Hickman, Hicks and Parker of Fulton.

The Bluegrass Flying Squadron, comprising many speakers of State and National reputation, including former Congressman, William D. Upshaw, were scheduled to address citizens here yesterday on prohibition. Ladies, gentlemen, wets and dries, bootleggers and moonshiners were invited.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hales on College-st. was completely destroyed by fire Sunday night. Mrs. Hales and her daughter Miss Mary Moss Hales, were in Chicago at the time. But Mr. Hales and son, J. D. had been at home several hours before the fire broke out, building a fire in the cook stove to heat bath water, and it is believed the fire originated by soot burning out of the flue. The loss was estimated at $3,500, and the house and contents were partially covered by insurance.

Local officers were called to the roadside stand near Lu's Switch Monday night to quell a disturbance. Lillian Cress and Boy Bynum of this city were taken into custody and brought to the city jail.

Tough Battle Faces Bulldogs

The Bulldogs still smarting from the defeat handed them by Martin last Friday night, are determined to regain the favor of the loyal Fulton fans, when they clash with the Gleason Yellow Jackets on the local field Friday night at 7:30. Gleason will come to Fulton to avenge the six to nothing defeat of last year when Red Curdin snatched a pass out of the air and ran across the goal line.

In practice this week the Bulldogs showed more fight and drive than any other time this season. Bill Cheniae, who will likely get a chance to start this game, seemed to stimulate the whole team by his never-ending charging and driving. Burnett did have part to arouse the Bulldogs. As a result of the efforts of these two boys the entire team was rejuvenated.

New life and pep in the team forecasts a return to form that will enable the Bulldogs to Fulton people. Even now the team is preparing themselves for the Murray and Mayfield games.

FORDS TAKE HONORS AT MONTERREY, MEX.

Monterrey, Mex., Oct. 18.—Tearing thru to victory on Mexico's most famous road race course, three Ford cars, two of them V-8's and one a 1931 Model Ford four, came in for the first three prizes to upset all records for the Laredo-to-Monterrey run.

The two Ford V-8's established the fastest time on record for the course in the annual event staged by the Mexican Automobile Association, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association of the U. S. This week's event marks the third time the historic race has been run over its present course, since the new Pan-American highway between Laredo and Monterrey was opened three years ago.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Jones and daughter, Maudelle, and Miss Martha Taylor are visiting the former daughter, Mrs. R. H. Black in Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bell on Maple-av had as their guests for Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dycus of Covington, Ky.

Mrs. W. E. Sanders and daughter, Ruth and Miss Alma Walker have returned from a visit to the Century of Progress in Chicago.

'News' Is Now Under A New Management

With this issue of The Fulton County News we announce that it is under new management. J. S. Dawes and E. P. Dawes have disposed of their interest in the publication.

The same high purposes and ideals will be carried out under the new management, and every effort will be exerted to give the community a newspaper that strives for the moral, cultural, industrial and agricultural uplift and improvement of this section.

No other changes have been effected other than that the Dawes brothers have sold their interests in The News. J. Paul Bushart and David J. Capps will now be in charge, and will appreciate any business turned their way. Efficient, pleasing service and cooperation will be given advertisers, and to those desiring quality commercial and job printing.

Dr. Haws Heads Fulton Hospital

Staff members of the Fulton hospital met in regular session Monday night, at which time Dr. M. W. Haws was elected president, and Dr. R. L. Bushart vice president of the hospital. The first Wednesday night in November has been designated for election of other officers. Among other things discussed at the meeting was the group hospital plan, which will enable the physicians to maintain the Fulton hospital and provide hospitalization for the people at small cost.

Certificate holders in the group hospital plan will receive free hospitalization at the Fulton hospital, the subscription being 50c a month for a single person, and $1 a month for a married person, which would entitle every member of the family below the age of 18 to hospitalization.

This plan is quite popular and beneficial to persons of average means, Dr. Haws pointed out. It has been adopted at the St. Joseph and the Methodist hospitals in Memphis, the Kentucky Baptist hospital in Louisville, and at the Baylor hospital at Baylor, Texas.

DEATHS

Aaron Cashon, 21, died at the home of his father, Tom Cashon, near Dukedom. Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon from Good Springs Presbyterian church by Rev. T. T. Harris. Burial followed at the cemetery there with Winstead Jones & Co. in charge. The deceased is survived by his parents, four brothers and three sisters of the Dukedom neighborhood.

Laura E. Gowan, 82, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Almus Colley east of Fulton Thursday morning. Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at the Oak Grove Church of Christ with Elders John T. Smith and Homer Royster officiating. Burial will follow in the cemetery there with Winstead Jones & Co. in charge. Mrs. Gowan leaves one son, El Golden of Sedalia, and two daughters, Mrs. Almus Colley and Mrs. Sam Colley.

Tennie C. Collins, 72, died Monday night near Harris, Tenn. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Johnson Grove by Rev. V. A. Richardson of Martin. Interment was in charge of Winstead Jones & Co. at the church cemetery. She leaves three sons, D. W. and Dewitt of Harris, and J. P. of Paducah; two daughters and other relatives.

Mrs. Mary Wright and Miss Mae Sikes of Mt. Carmel, Ill., who sustained serious injuries in an automobile accident near Fulton last Thursday, left the Fulton hospital Wednesday of this week to go to Gibson, Tenn., where they were en route to visit relatives. Both received painful injuries when the driver lost control of the car which left the highway and overturned.

SURVEY BEING MADE

A surveying crew has been active this week along the Illinois Central railroad right-of-ways. The telephone lines are being checked in preparation for repairs between Memphis and points north.

Bro. Bandy was a visitor in the school Friday and conducted a very interesting chapel exercise.

The Obion county health officers were in school this week and gave the children physician examinations.

Thursday night a party was given in the Home Ec department of S.F.H. in honor of the girls basketball team of the Junior class, who won the school championship over the freshman team in a recent tournament. The room was decorated in the red and white, school colors. Thirty-six guests were present. Games were played and prizes offered in two contests, which were both won by Katie Frazer. Delicious refreshments were served.

Friday night, Oct. 20 at 7:45 the basketball season will be launched at South Fulton High. The fast Troy teams will be here to meet the red clad lads and lassies in a double-header. Practice has been under way for some time. Coach Thomas has an array of talent that has come along nicely in training. His boys look better every day and have rapidly learned the short pass system that took the Thomas coached teams close to the Mississippi state championships during the past two years. In Cooley, South Fulton has a star of first magnitude, Ferguson, Jolley Payne, Mansfield, Parrish and Bushart are other players that show up well. J. Lancaster a first year man is a deadly shot and one of the coolest men in the squad. Moss and Brundage are also sure to make valuable cogs in the Thomas machine.

The girls team is a big question. At present there is but one player trying for a regular position who has ever been in a game. Blakemore failed to return to school. Maynard has been sick of malarial fever; Tucker has developed a side ailment; other players that are showing up well are finding difficult in obtaining parental permission to play and a brand new team must be built of first and second year material that is without experience. Geneva Sharp, Katie Margaret Allen, Irene Doran and Olga Mills have made satisfactory progress at the forward positions. Marie Hastings and Florence Eleanor Pickle seem likely to get the call as jumping centers while Mary Thomas Covington and Minnie Etta Gilliland stand out at side center. The problem at the guard positions must be solved with Irene Todd, Oma Lee Polsgrove, Myrtle Williams, Hattie Lou Stubblefield, Gwendolyn Payne, Louise Freeman and others. The Red Angels will have an abundance of spirit and before the season is over will be holding their own in every game.

The partially completed schedule follows: Oct. 20, Troy here; Oct. 27 open, Halfway'en stunt night; Oct. 31, Troy there; Nov. 3, Woodland Mills here; Nov. 17, Rives here; Nov. 24, Rives there; Dec. 1, Woodland here; Jan. 16, Hickman here; Feb. 6, Hickman there.

Law Violators Put On Spot

Those who have been getting by with non-observance of the law and the city ordinances are warned to conform to the regulations in an ultimatum issued by Chief of Police Bailey Huddleston this week. In an effort to bring about more rigid observance of the law the council went on record for strict enforcement of the law. Chief Huddleston points out that the city has been without a regular police judge in recent months, since the death of Judge H. F. Taylor, but now a campaign to bring about readjustments will be carried out.

A general clean-up of unlawful operation throughout the city will be effected, and Chief Huddleston asks the cooperation of all law-abiding citizens in making this possible. Warnings have been issued to operators of gambling joints and devices, and sellers of illegal liquors. These violations must stop according to the new decree from the police department.

Among other things on which more strict law enforcement will be made are reckless driving, breaking speed and parking regulations. Motorists are asked to cooperate in this movement for the general safety of the public, and urged to keep their brakes, lights, and other mechanics of their cars in good condition in interest of their own and others safety. License tags should be properly attached on all vehicles.

It is pointed out by Chief Huddleston that public cooperation will be of great assistance in enforcing the laws, and he will appreciate the support of the citizenship.

In conversation with Lon Adams, who will be Fulton's new police judge the editor of The News learned that he is expecting his commission from take the official chair soon. Judge Adams was elected by the people in the August primary to serve the next term as city judge. Governor Laffoon and probably will

R. H. Slaughter Is Released on Bond

Deputy Sheriff John Smith of Obion county and Chief of Police Raymond Roach of South Fulton arrested R. H. Slaughter of South Fulton early this week on a charge of possessing stolen goods. Believing that Slaughter was implicated in the robbery of the Brewer Machine Shop in Fulton, Ky., on September 28th, he was brought before Squire C. J. Bowers on the Kentucky side Tuesday, and bound over on $300 to await a hearing before the next regular term of court.

Wednesday night, Sept. 27, the Brewer Machine shop was entered, and a welding and cutting torch was stolen. This torch was found Monday in a truck which had been in Slaughter's possession. He denied any knowledge of the torch. Slaughter formerly worked at the machine shop from which the acetylene outfit was stolen, but quit a few weeks prior to the robbery.

OWNERS OF BONDS HAVE NOT BEEN FOUND

In checking up on the bonds which "Buck Bushart and Ike Read miraculously found left in their possession while in Chicago attending the World's Fair several months ago a News reporter was told that the owners of the bonds have not been located. They are safely deposited in a local bank, and total $26,000 in valuation, it is alleged.

SISSON CHILD INJURED

The little six-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sisson of South Fulton was accidentally struck by an automobile driven by J. T. Brundage Wednesday morning. The child ran across the highway near the White Way service station into the path of the passing car. The machine did not pass over his body but struck him and knocked him down. It is said, and altho the injuries were painful they were not serious.

INEVITABLE

Germany's renunciation of the league of nations and withdrawal from the disarmament conference probably means the complete wrecking of the conference and dismantling of the league itself. This move made by Adolf Hitler has precipitated the most serious crisis since the world war, and every capital in the world has been shaken by the news. Apparently, six years of labor to advance peace has been wrecked.

War clouds are gathering blacker over Europe. Secretary of State Hull lays the blame for smashing the peace efforts squarely upon Hitler, and if the people of Germany back him up, the peace of Europe becomes an impossibility. Death seems to be not only certain for the league of nations, but European nations are likely to fly at one another's throats unless things take an unexpected turn in the opposite direction.

Japan was the first to flout the league of nations when she withdrew in order to carry out her own purposes to settle differences with China. Now Germany follows suit. Japan led the way in tearing down the postwar peace society, and it was inevitable that other nations should break from the pact. What will result only time will tell, but if war should start it will probably spread over the continent quickly. Germany alone, however, cannot be wholly to blame if war should occur. Fear, envy, hatred, economic crisis, thwarted ambitions—these tinder-boxes lie scattered over almost the whole of the map of Europe. Many of these things were the product of the last war, whose devastation has given us four years of world depression. It seems incredible that European nations would consider solving anything by another war.

Consequences of another malstrom of death and destruction is horrible to think of. During years of anxiety general staffs of European nations have perfected plans for far swifter action than was possible 20 years ago. Planes and standing armies, with new death-dealing instruments and poisonous gases that can take a terrible toll of lives, will be on the move almost instantly; mobilized millions will be en route to battle fronts practically overnight.

No one can guess where war will break. That, of course, will depend upon the event which brings on the final crisis, and upon the nation finding a "just" cause for starting the fireworks. But when that is found it will break with spectacular suddenness. This "hair-trigger" situation demands the utmost coolness and diplomacy on the part of those in control of the various governments. Armies and navies, or armed conflict to settle differences and disputes, will never bring prosperity and contentment to any nation.

But this should be a lesson to the United States. If war should break out again on the continent, our government would do well not to loan money to conflicting nations with which to spill the blood of another. It is probable that when the time should come to pay back that money which would be taken out of the American taxpayers' pockets, these nations would be too "poor" to repay the loans.

And, is it any wonder. They have to be armed to the teeth and waste millions in an attempt to keep "a place in the sun," while the wheels of industry and progress remain idle. It's the old, old story—"you can't get blood out of a turnip." So why worry about the turnip.

THE CITY MANAGER PLAN

It is significant that the city manager plan of municipal government is gaining headway and popularity among many cities throughout the nation. And the reason for the wide acceptance of this plan is its efficiency and economy.

The city manager form of administering municipal affairs has been proposed in several Kentucky cities including a few West Kentucky communities. Paducah will change to this plan next January. Citizens in many municipalities are watching the results and accomplishments under the plan.

Lexington, Ky., operating under a city manager, in two years has lowered its tax rate 28 cents. The assessment has been cut $2,987,179. These two reductions left in the pockets of the citizens the sum of $232,174, which otherwise would have been collected as taxes. A booklet recently issued by Lexington stated:

"Both decreases were made possible by unceasing economy. The administration slashed operating expenses by $143,974 in its first year and added $72,339 to that saving in the budget for the next. And still it finished 1932 with $11,613 on hand, the first time in 16 years that the city had ended the year with a cash balance. It pruned the bonded debt by $331,000 and paid off an inherited debt of $48,465. Because of increasing distress among the unemployed, it added more than $50,000 to appropriations for charities and spent more than $21,000 for materials and equipment in order that the R.F.C. labor might be put to work on worthwhile projects. Numerous improvements were made in the public service rendered by the city under the city manager."

Here's how it was done. The people of Lexington elected four outstanding citizens of the community as commissioners. These commissioners employed a capable, trained professional city manager, with a record of achievement elsewhere, to manage the city's business. He ironed out the wrinkles, systematically eliminated deficiencies in operation, and by taking politics out of the city government, put Lexington on its feet again in the face of the worst depression known in this country for many decades.

This plan is a move in the right direction. If the people elect politicians or job-seekers for commissioners, how can they expect to obtain economy, reduced taxes, decreased indebtedness or improved services that city management assures. Let's take politics out of our government—municipal, county, state or national.

THIS-THAT

The most important economic benefit from repeal of the eighteenth amendment will probably be "the restoration to federal and state treasuries of huge sums that were diverted from them to the pockets of racketeers and gangsters at the time of the adoption" of the amendment, according to the Index published by the New York trust company. Had it not been for national prohibition, it is estimated, the federal government would have received more than $6,250,000,000 since 1919. The above sum is greater than the accumulated federal deficit, is more than half of the total amount of the war debts, more than half the aggregate bonded indebtedness of the railroads of the U. S., and almost three-fourths as great as the total amount of farm mortgages now outstanding in this country.

The public works administration has allowed funds at the rate of more than $17,000,000 a day for construction of federal and non-federal projects since its organization July 8. Approximately $1,709,000,000 of the $3,300,000,000 fund set aside by Congress to create hundreds of thousands of jobs for unemployed workers has been allotted. More than 7,000 federal and non-federal projects have been approved. More than 100,000 men are directly employed on federal projects financed with public work funds. At least 200,000 more are employed in factories and mills producing construction materials.

Swift retribution was the lot that befell three men convicted of murdering and robbing a 71-year-old woman at Madgeburg, Germany last week, when they were beheaded only six days after the crime was committed. It seems that many nations of the world are waging concerted efforts against crime.

A military prison on Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay, is now being designated as the United States' own devil's island. The prison there has 600 cells and no one has ever escaped. The island itself is 12 acres in area, of high rock formation, and is swept on all sides by swiftly running currents.

Goods produced in Germany, Italy, Russia, China or any other country which forbids free organization of labor unions will be boycotted by the American Federation of Labor. It agrees to support President Roosevelt in his national recovery program.

Our wabbling dollars is increasing in value if we are to take the opinion of European money dealers. If the government continues its policy of a few and precious dollars, the American "Eagle" may go to 68c or back where it was about $1.68. However, the good old American prosperity is not likely to go up correspondingly. If the government fails to make money more plentiful, trouble is certain, and such trouble as has never yet been seen.

Mrs. Mary Stapleton, "the world's tallest woman," died the other day of pneumonia. She was six feet six inches tall and was billed in the Barnum & Bailey circus for many years. Her height was unusually tall for a woman, but we have many men in this country nearing this peak. Even Fulton has its "Stork" Weaver, who will play with the St. Louis Browns next season.

Even the hoboes of America have a national organization which is known as the International Itinerant Workers' Union, with Jeff Davis of Cincinnati, president. This fraternity of gentlemen of the road has its own particular lingo or language idioms, such as "bindle stiff," "ringtail," "dingbat" etc.

The Twentieth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States abolishing the so-called lame-duck session of Congress is now effective. Besides changing the dates for the inauguration of the President and the beginning of Congressional sessions, the amendment established a record for being the only change in the constitution that had the unanimous approval of the 48 states. It wipes out the age old lame duck session that used to begin on the first Monday in December after the fall elections. Instead Congress shall meet on January 3 and remain in session as long as necessary. The date for inauguration of presidents has been moved up from March 4 to January 20.

With Florida voting four to one for prohibition repeal, the records show 33 states for, none against.

There's no more voting until Nov. 7, then six states: Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Utah. The federal courts are quietly clearing their dockets of prohibition cases, while the White House and several states are studying liquor control plans.

The famous Prince plan for consolidation of the nation's railroads into seven major systems, one for each section of the country, has been quietly revised and submitted to Federal Rail Co-ordinator Joseph B. Eastman. A permanent reorganization proposal will probably come before the next Congress. A Mississippi Valley system would revolve around the Illinois Central, Southern Railway and Central of Georgia.

Henry Morgenthau, famed diplomat, and envoy to Turkey when the last conflagration burst upon us, predicts war in Europe in 1934. It is foreshadowed, he says, by signs ominously similar to those which were visible in Europe in 1913, and attributes these reasons why war has not come in recent months: Nations wanted this year's crop in before facing the inevitable test, and they seek to avoid the stigma of "aggression"—they would rather make it appear before the eyes of the world as "just," and a war of "defense."

FULTON STUDENTS ARE ELECTED AS OFFICERS

At a recent meeting and election of officers for the Sock and Buskin Club of Murray State College two Fulton youths were elected as officers. Miss Elizabeth Williamson was chosen treasurer, and Daron Grisom will serve as sergeant-at-arms.

Col. L. O. Stephenson and J. F. Lewis of Mayfield were visitors at the News office Friday. Mr. Stephenson will leave for California this week.

A LARGER TASK

Within a few decades the funeral director has evolved from a mere seller of funeral merchandise to a professional man rendering an important human service. He now performs a multitude of tasks made necessary by the complicated conditions of modern life. In addition to supplying everything needed for the funeral, he lifts many burdens from the shoulders of the bereaved family.

Watch Your Step

By "Me."

Folks, here it is again. We've had so many ask us what'd become of this column, that we thought maybe it best to get on the job. To start off, I want to caution Joe Hall on "putting his foot where it belongs." He must have misjudged his "subject" for it turned out harder than he expected. Better luck next time, Joe.

What a shock! Tennessee lost their first football game in three years Saturday when they bowed to the Duke of Durham. Many Fulton fans well realize it, for they lost their bets. I know several whose "Eagles" took wings and flew away.

A prominent young Fulton attorney—Steve Wiley—does have another name. Not many know him by name other than "Steve"—but we learn that his full cognomen is Steve Rudd Wiley. But if anyone around here should receive a check or official looking paper signed that way, they wouldn't ever dream of S. R. Wiley being the familiar Steve.

Kelly Lowe has evidently "handled out" several lunches to itinerant carvers recently. In his window are many carved objects—chains, chairs, anchors, baskets, etc., "whittled" by drifting artists of the knife.

Columbus "Keaty" Forrest, the man of the hour, is fast becoming Fulton's most famous arbitrator. He is among the best in these parts, judging from the success he was in the Union City games this season. His services were pleasing and the crowd never booed him on any of his decisions. Watch your step now Keaty or you might find yourself yonder before long. Even the Memphis Chiefs were pleased with his "calling 'em."

Henry Forrest, assistant at J. T. Powell's shoe shop, has always vowed I couldn't get anything on him. Henry, be careful who you are seen whispering with in the dark. Shall I name the girl?

who has been taking treatments at the Curlin-Neill hospital, has recovered sufficiently to return home.
