MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1907.

$1.00 PER YEAR

THE COURTS

Will of B. F. Clayton, Deceased, Filed for Probate First of This Week.

The will of B. F. Clayton was filed for probate in the county clerk's office Tuesday. The instrument was written under date of Feb. 9, 1907, and among other provisions contains the following:

"I give and bequeath to my sister, Matrona A. Lassiter, and my brothers, Wm. A. and Jno. M. Clayton, the sum of $100 each, and I give and bequeath to my sister, Altha J. Melan, the sum of $500, and to my niece, Minnie Beale, the sum of $50. After the distribution of the above amounts I want the remainder of my estate equally divided between my brothers, Dan and Robt. E. Clayton, after paying all my debts if there be any; except five shares of stock in the Citizens Bank of Murray, Ky., which I give to my nephew, Shirley Clayton.

"I furthermore appoint my brothers, Dan and Robt. E. Clayton, executors of this my last will and testament without bond. With the express understanding that my attorney, Jas. H. Coleman, is to be retained as attorney and advisor of my executors."

The executors are instructed to dispose of the estate as they deem best and no part of the provisions of the will are to be executed until a final settlement is made.

The will of Mrs. L. C. Belcher was filed for probate in the county clerk's office last Saturday and contains the following provisions:

"That my executors pay to my daughter, A. E. Short, the sum of $100, to my son, J. F. Belcher, $75, and my grand-daughter, Alie Smith, $25.

J. F. Belcher is appointed executor of the will without bond and is directed after payment of all debts to divide the remainder of the estate equally among the heirs.

Tom Boatright, colored, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretense, was given an examining trial before Judge Wells Tuesday and bound over to the Circuit court.

Circuit court will convene in regular session the first Monday in next month, Aug. 5th.

The special term of the circuit court in session last week was adjourned last Saturday afternoon until Wednesday of this week. The Bank of Murray-Gatlin-McElrath, Sexton Co., settlement suit is being heard.

The Unwritten Law.

We ask just a word of explanation for some of the "news" items that have appeared in the Leader recently—all of which were inserted without authority of the president and editor and most of the directors of the paper.

Mr. Ayres, the president and editor of the Leader company, owns a majority of the stock in said company, and has been away from Fulton for some time, till recently.

There appeared in these columns a few days ago an account of the whipping of Rev. Hawley, a minister, for the supposed breaking up of a certain man's home in Fulton. The article was written by the attorney of the man who claimed that his home had been destroyed.

The unwritten law was appealed (in the article) and the man employed by the Leader, to whom the article was furnished by H. T. Smith, was assured that he (Smith), would be responsible for said article. As the article was unsigned and as the Leader does not claim authorship for said article we now give the name of the author.

We are not proposing at this time to take the side of anybody, but when a lot of cowards take a man out and beat him unmercifully and appeal to the unwritten law, we do not propose to let the Leader stand or be used for their conduct.

The husband, we suppose, had a right to adopt any tactics he might desire to avenge his wrong, but when four or more ruffians handcuffed and assaulted this minister, and alleged he was a home-breaker, then the "unwritten law" was a farce.

We have always stood on the side of right and law, but have never favored a subterfuge for "revenue" or for the protection of "revenue."

Our sympathies are on no side of this case, and will not be till we learn who is right and who is wrong. We may later take up these men one by one who assaulted Hawley. As to the husband, we have naught to say just now.

As to the authorship of this article, no one will have trouble in discovering it, as any one at the Leader office is authorized to furnish the information. Unwritten law is one thing and the assistance of a gang of cowards to carry out a well-formed plan another.

We favor the unwritten law as strongly as any man, but abhor crime committed in its name.—Fulton Leader.

In Harris Case.

In the bankrupt case of Will Harris & Company L. C. Linn has filed a petition in the bankruptcy court, asking Referee Bagby to direct Will Linn and Will Harris to pay to L. C. Linn two-thirds of the $9,000 L. C. Linn paid out of his individual estate to satisfy debts of the Harris firm, of which he was a member.

Will Linn and Will Harris filed answers to this petition, agreeing to being directed to contribute, and doing so they transfer judgments gotten by themselves against others over to L. C. Linn so he can get the money. The two have nothing whatever left outside a judgment or two.

The Harris firm paid all its $25,000 indebtedness and had about $3,000 left over, which is something unusual for a bankrupt firm's liabilities to be less than the resources.—Paducah Register.

Graves County Road Fund.

The poll tax of $1 for road purposes this year in the county, embracing a levy on the head of each male voter will raise a fund of $5,034. From the levy of the 25 cent property tax lists passed up to the Sheriff a gross fund of $21,658.91 and $200 from franchises or a gross fund of $28,000. However, it appears that the net amount to pass to the road fund will not exceed the sum of $22,000, as delinquents, exonerations and collecting commission will reduce the proceeds of the levy.—Mayfield Monitor.

Death In Marshall.

Mrs. H. J. Morrison, 60 years old, a popular matron of Sharpe, Marshall county, died last Thursday afternoon, of dysentery, after an illness of several weeks' duration.

The funeral was at Sharpe, with interment at the Salyers cemetery.

DYNAMITEUSED

Tenn. Outlaws Overpower Guards and Blow to Smithereens Menees' Threshing Outfit.

Adams, Tenn., July 22.—The threshing outfit of Thomas Menees, of Cedar Hill, was completely destroyed at an early hour yesterday morning by a band of "night riders" Mr. Menees has been threshing wheat in this vicinity since the beginning of the harvest and is what is commonly known as a "hill billy." The members of the Planters' Protective association would not permit him to thresh their wheat and he has been taking precautions to prevent the destruction of his outfit.

Monday night Mr. Menees left his maching in front of the residence of J. B. Woodruff, preparatory to threshing his wheat the next morning. He anticipated trouble of some kind and placed three of the crew on guard. About 3 o'clock yesterday morning forty men came up, overpowered the guards and carried them away.

Dynamite was placed in the boiler of the engine and in the separator and touched off. Residents of the home of Mr. Woodruff state that there were four explosions and the machine was completely demolished.

This is the first trouble of a serious nature that Mr. Menees has experienced this season, but many threats were made last season and he was warned to cease operation in that community.

Nothing has been heard of the men who did the work and the guards were unable to recognize any of them.

ANOTHER IN CHRISTIAN.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 18.—The threshing machine of John Fields, which was being operated on the farm of Dr. Word, near Oak Grove, was almost demolished this morning by dynamite which had been hidden in the bundles of wheat and was unsuspectingly fed by the hands into the machine. There were three separate explosions and the interior mechanism of the threshing machine was so badly damaged that it will likely unfit it for further use.

Two negroes who were working about the machine were blown some distance away and one of them, John Garrett, suffered a broken leg and other injuries. The other negro was not seriously hurt.

Dr. Word is one of the largest farmers in Christian county and is not a member of the Farmers' Association. Fields also is not a member of the organization and it is said that he had been warned that he must not thresh Dr. Word's wheat. There is no clew to the perpetrator of the outrage. The community is greatly incensed.

Another From Trigg.

Another Trigg county outrage is reported from Long Hollow, that is even worse than the one reported last week. Nathan Hester, a respectable farmer about 50 years old, was a member of the association two years, but last year sold his crop outside. This year he was notified that he could not thresh his wheat, but he hauled it several miles to a threshing and finally got it threshed.

He has planted a small crop of tobacco, his plants not being molested. Monday night of last week a mob of about 25 men, wearing masks of false faces, surrounded his house about midnight and the leader from behind a large tree demanded that he come out. Hester, partially dressed, hearing only one man, went out and was covered with a gun by a man who was behind the corner of the house and others came from behind the house and seized him. He was taken to a stump in the corner of the yard and flogged with a rawhide. His wife is subject to heart trouble and attempting to follow her husband fainted and fell unconscious on the porch, or inside the door. After he was whipped, Mr. Hester was released and one of the mob kicked him as he started back to the house. His wife was revived with great difficulty, it being necessary to apply a mustard plaster to restore her to consciousness.

It is supposed that the whipping was done by the same gang that whipped Charlie Edwards about a month ago and ordered him to leave the neighborhood under pain of death. Suspecting that Edwards would visit his home about ten days ago the mob organized and lay in wait for him several nights.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Stormed The Fort.

The rumors of an assault made on Joel B. Fort by anti-association tobacco men created considerable interest in this city, where Mr. Fort has many friends. By long-distance telephone Mr. Fort today stated that he was still in the land of the living and not much the worse for the little encounter, which, he said took place on the train near Cedar Hill Tuesday.

Mr. Fort said that he was assaulted by B. H. Sory, ex-sheriff of Robertson county, now one of the tobacco buyers for the Italian contractors at Clarksville. The assault was brought about on account of the dynamiting of a threshing near Woodruff, Robertson county, some few days ago. It is said that Sory owned an interest in this threshing, and that when he saw Mr. Fort on the train he accused him of being indirectly responsible for the blowing up of the threshing; that the speeches Mr. Fort had been making in the interest of the Dark Tobacco association had aroused night riders to the depredations committed, including the wreck of his threshing.

Mr. Fort denied indignantly the impeachment, and thereupon, he said, Mr. Sory attempted to assault him. Mr. Fort defended himself, and both men received several blows but no serious injury was inflicted by either. No blood was drawn nor bones broken. Other passengers separated the belligerents, and Mr. Fort said today that, so far as he was concerned, the incident was closed.—Nashville Banner.

Will Move To Paris.

Mr. Z. T. Gatlin, of Buchanan, President of the Bank of Henry, and one of the most prominent business men and enterprising citizens of the county has traded for the Dr. G. T. Abernathy residence on South Market street and will move to it in a short time. Mr. Gatlin will be quite an addition to the business circle of Paris and his many friends will give him a hearty welcome.—Paris Post Intelligencer.

B. F. CLAYTON.

A Most Splendid Citizen Passes To His Reward After A Lingering Illness.

Mr. B. Frank Clayton died last Thursday night of consumption at the home of his brother, Dan Clayton, two miles east of town. In the death of this splendid man Calloway county and Murray sustains a great loss. No citizen stood higher in the esteem of his fellows than did this man, and none are there to point to his career as a business man or private citizen with other than commendation. A native of this county and resident during his entire life, active in business, sincere in his advocacy of measures that were for the betterment of town and county and the advancement and enlightenment of his fellowman. He was known by nearly every citizen in the county and the announcement of his death carried with it genuine sorrow and regret.

Mr. Clayton was about 52 years of age and is survived by four brothers, Dan and Robt. Clayton, of the county, Wm and Jno. Clayton, Missouri, and two sisters, Mrs. Jane Melan and Mrs. Jake Lassiter, of this county.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Methodist church, conducted by the pastor. After the services the body was interred in the city cemetery under the auspices of the Masonic lodge.

To Locate In Paducah.

Dr. Milton Board, one of the best-known men in the State, has determined to move to Paducah for the practice of his profession. Dr. Board is a member of the Board of Control which has the management of the insane hospitals of the State, but his retirement as superintendent of the asylum at Hopkinsville makes it possible for him to locate in whatever city is best to his liking. While he will remove to Paducah for the practice of his profession, he will retain his legal residence in Breckenridge county.

Dr. Board is one of the leading Democrats of the State, with a large following of friends, especially in the western part of Kentucky. He made a notable reputation as an executive in the management of the Western Asylum for the Insane at Hopkinsville.

Romantic Marriage.

About four years ago a young man by the name of Simon Miller was informed by one of his associates, both being members of the United States army, of a beautiful young lady at Dexter, Ky., by the name of Miss Lucy Cleaver. He wrote her a letter and asked to correspond with her. This was agreeable and the correspondence was kept up until last week, when he met her for the first time in Paducah, where they were married. They are now at the home of her mother and are apparently happy.

Are You Good at Guessing?

Certificate Of Deposit.

To allay any doubt regarding the genuineness of this contest we publish the following:

March 5th, 1907.

This is to certify that there has been deposited in the Bank of Murray by O. J. Jennings, editor and owner of the Murray Ledger, the sum of One Hundred Dollars in gold, which has been placed to the credit of the "Ledger Guessing Contest Fund, and which is deposited for this purpose and is not subject to check for any other purpose. Signed

S. H. DEES, Cashier

Will Be More Than $100.00

The owners of the warehouse will increase the prizes as stated below which will add about $75 to the three premiums:

March 5, 1907.
MR. O. J. JENNINGS,
EDITOR LEDGER:

In order to add more interest to the guessing contest you are running we hereby agree to furnish money to INCREASE the first premium you offer, at the rate of 3 cents for each hoghead over 2000 stored in our warehouse, and will increase the second and third premiums at the rate of 1 cent each for every hoghead over 2000 stored with us; provided you allow our patrons the privilege of making one guess in your contest, for each thousand pounds of tobacco, or fraction thereof, stored in our warehouse. This should cause your readers to become interested in INCREASING the amount of tobacco to be sent to our warehouse.

We presume every farmer understands that he can have the prize to send his tobacco to us to be stored, no matter where it is prized.

Respectfully,
LONG, FRUTEMA & CO.

Can You Use This Money

Here Is the Way to Get It.

The person who guesses the correct number or nearest correct number of hogheads of association tobacco that will be stored in

The Peoples Tobacco Warehouse,
(This is the one operated by Long, Frutema & Co.)

by November 1, 1907, will be presented With $75 in gold; the person who makes the second nearest correct guess will receive $15 in gold, and the person making the the third nearest correct guess will receive $10 in gold.

Conditions.

All guesses must be dated and signed by the person making them, and THEY MUST BE LEFT AT THE LEDGER OFFICE. No employee of the Ledger office, or the warehouse can make a guess. All guesses must be received at this office on or before Saturday, August 17th. The guesses will be polled by a committee of county officials and the premiums awarded Saturday, November 2nd. If two or more guesses are the same and are the correct guesses then the person who made the guess at the earliest date, as shown by the date, will be entitled to the premium.

How to Secure the Guesses.

Every person who pays $1 for a year's subscription to the LEDGER, whether old or new subscriber, will be entitled to TWO guesses. Every person who stores as much as 1000 pounds of tobacco in the "People Tobacco Warehouse will be entitled to ONE guess, and for each additional 1000 pound, or fraction thereof, will be entitled to ONE additional guess. More plainly expressed, you get ONE guess for each 1000 or part of one thousand pounds stored in this warehouse.

Keep Your Nerve

It is nerve energy that runs the organs of your body. The storage battery is the nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord, and from this battery nerve force is sent out through the system of nerves. To keep the body healthy you must have plenty of nerve force; if you have not, the organs work imperfectly, the circulation is sluggish, digestion bad, appetite poor, kidneys inactive, and aches, pains and misery are the penalty.

You can keep the system strong with Dr. Miles' Nervine. It assists in generating nerve energy; it strengthens the nerves and makes the whole system strong and vigorous.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is recommended by the Medical News for its effectiveness in nervous prostration, insomnia and general debility. After several months' suffering from these diseases I find this medicine and tonic gives me relief. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite, and gives me renewed strength and energy. It is a nerve tonic.

WOMAN WHO TALKS

HER WORRIES AT HOME AS AN ANNOYANCE TO HUSBAND.

When the Man Comes Home He Wants to Hear Something Else Besides the Hissing Side of Troubles.

When a man comes home from a business there is one subject that should be talked between husband and wife; the day's worries. A man is expected to leave the cares and annoyances of office hours downtown, and a woman should suppress hers the moment she hears the front door open. If there is a sympathetic hand waiting the two hearts the man will easily agree that the worry lines are due to things which have gone wrong, and he will be grateful for the cheerfulness of the unconplaining wife, while she, on the other hand, will, in a sweet intuition, grasp the burden of the harassed business man. He has come home to rest, to enjoy the quiet and seclusion of family life, and these moments are to refresh him for the next day's struggle.

There is no man in the world so selfish as the American husband and father. Perhaps he lacks the polish which comes of easy work and much leisure, for this is a luxury that the American never indulges in unless the short intervals spent at home can be counted as such. The American millionaire permits himself about one-fifth of the vacation demanded by the English tradesman. Time is something he cannot afford to spend. He has family, sons and daughters who must have advantages denied his own youth, and so he works on into a so-called middle age that has established a habit of work that cannot be broken. This is true of the man and a pity, and it is to the home and the wife that he looks for the reward for his many sacrifices. But does he always receive it?

We insist that the American woman is not spoiled, says the San Francisco Bulletin, but can we move that she is not self-centered and selfish? The great middle class is the majority in every civilized community, and of the vast army of women whose husbands are counted fairly well off, how many stop to think of the effort that it costs to keep the wife well dressed, the children clothed and fed and educated. The bills are paid and she has money in her purse, and the average wife stops there, she accepts, she does not question when she makes a fresh demand.

She tells of her worries with her dressmaker, whose price has gone up; she complains of the servant or servants, and recounts the irritations of the day; she tells how unmanageable the children are and how expensive is the living. In short, she pours her tale of woes into the ears that have listened to hard facts and business methods for the past eight hours, and the tired brain of the overworked becomes dull and apathetic with the increased pressure.

Home becomes a place to sleep and eat in. He remains at his office until the last minute, for between the choice of evils a normal man will see the lesser in the absence of a woman's complaints. Instead of refreshment, sympathetic companionship, he pictures to himself the worried wife, eager with her grievances, and so he flinches until the very last, and then only a sense of duty impels him to drag his lagging feet homeward.

Can any sensible person blame this type of the unfortunate American provider?

Lace and Politics.
The Irish lace hall recently given in Dublin by Lady Aberdeen appears a past brilliant event in Great Britain's social calendar, says the Boston Transcript. Lady Aberdeen's historic hall was one with a purpose aside from providing a few gay hours for her guests, and that the purpose succeeded is seen in the report that Irish lace, already in high favor, is now enjoying a boom. If that term can be used to describe the movement of anything so filmy and delicate as lace, there were Irish lace riots and Irish lace quindries at the hall, a different kind of Irish lace distinguishing each set. Only an expert in lace matters could name the kind of lace on sight, and only a pastmistress in the art of dressmaking could tell offhand the names of the lace effects shown. In the costumes, it was all very beautiful to the thousand or more who saw it. A great Irish industry was helped as never before, perhaps, and the popularity of the Aberdeens became even more secure and lasting, if that were possible.

The Clever Fox.
The report of a parish near Oxford, England, tells this fox story: As he was walking across some fields during a recent fox hunt he heard the cry of hounds. The fox ran into the next field. A fox came running toward him and trotted along by his side, just as a dog would do, wagging his head. The hunter walked on. The hunter, looking about, saw nothing but the cleverman and what seemed to be his dog, and galloped away in another direction. As soon as the coast was clear the fox gave a whisk of his tail and disappeared through a hedge.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the greatest medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been used in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The sample bottle is a five-cent bottle, and one of the five-cent bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Doctor Away from Home when Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Disease like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. By it now; it may save life. For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Guess or come nearest guessing how many hogheads of association tobacco will be stored in the People's Tobacco Warehouse, Murray, Ky., and the Ledger will make you a present of $100 in gold.

THE BEST PHYSIC

SLEEP IS INDEED A SWEET RESTORER.

This is All That Most Victims of Nervous Breakdown Need to Recover Lost Health and Vigor.

One of the features of modern times is the prevalence of what we term nervousness, or nervous breakdown, says the London Express. These names apply to a condition of physical and mental ill-health which is the direct result of the pace in which we live and the pace at which we are living. Massage and electricity and novel "treatments" and "cures" are called upon to repair what we have brought upon ourselves by our untoward ways of life, by hurry and excitement.

There are hundreds of women of the upper and middle classes now bewailing their "nerves" and crying out that headaches and insomnia and depression are ruining their lives. This is a serious matter, and most of the world of men and women not only turn the candle at both ends, but in the middle as well. The nervous life is almost a necessity to the man or woman who is acquiring socially, politically or commercially. We are so anxious to "get on" we attempt to do far more than we are constitutionally fit for, and nervous breakdown is the inevitable result.

Lack of repose is a prime factor in the causation of "nerves," the constant rush in the social and business world, the frantic pursuit of pleasure and amusement are frequent precursors of nervous ill-health. We rarely spend our energy—we have no time to rest, and nobody listens to the advocates and disciples of the simpler life.

Home life, quiet domesticity are becoming more and more "simple pleasures," "homey joys" and the "family circle" are ridiculously old-fashioned terms. Is it any wonder that nervous breakdown and premature decay are on the increase?

The remedy lies mainly with us women—our influence can do a great deal, our example more, to counteract the restlessness and excitement characteristic of this age. We must preach the gospel of rest. Hard work means severe nervous strain, and the constant application to business and professional affairs demands regular periods of quiet and complete rest, if the workers are to retain their health. It is the more important that the home atmosphere be such as will restore the balance and lessen the tension of the inevitable nerve strain outside.

Ungliness in the home, the tyranny of social engagements and worldly "duties," following upon a strenuous working day, gives no opportunity for repose. The power to be quiet, the virtue of repose, is worth cultivating in this age of nervous women; the woman who is constantly on the move, striving after something just out of her reach, diffuses an atmosphere of disquiet and vulgar unrest around her. To be busy does not necessarily mean to achieve; bustling activity is too often barren of real progress.

A Household Necessity.
No household is complete without a pet grandfather, especially if there is a babe to be reared and an air of cheerfulness to be kept up, remarks Tom Mason in Baltimore.

Secure for your purposes a grandfather with a lack of morals, a jovial disposition and about a million dollars. Let him roam at large wherever he will. It does not matter much whether he is a grandfather on your wife's side or on yours. If he is on your wife's side you will secretly dislike him; if he is on your side, she will. But you will both let him be on account of the million.

Never permit grandpa to be out of the nursery when baby is in it. Then, when anything is broken, we can blame him, and "pull his leg" for a new one. Babies and grandpas always go well together. They are both the same age. It is well to bear this in mind. Keep a savings bank for both of them. And leave them both in charge of grandpa. When they are full, carefully remove the interiors and begin all over again.

It is not necessary to provide more than one grandpa, no matter how many children and many have. Two grandpas in one house often lead to an intestine war.

When you go out with your wife, always leave grandpa in charge of the baby. It is not necessary to lend him to mind. He will, anyway, as a matter of course.

When our baby outgrows grandpa, secure another immediately. Remember that grandpa must be changed and that he is simply able to pay for it.

Third Son of Grant.
Jesse Grant, the third son of the great general, leads a simple and uneventful life. He is not in any business. Some mines in the west and a few other affairs occupy him at times. Tarpon, he says, he knew, and he never missed a baseball game when it is warm.

According for it.
"It's bad enough for you to come home intoxicated," said Mrs. Lushman, "but why so late?"
"Well, you show me how my friends thought about me home by messengers."—Philadelphia Ledger.

CHANGE WAS THERE

DELINQUENT DEBTOR PINNED DOWN ON SPOT.

Little, Shabby Old Pop Furnished Surety for "Sport" Who Had Nothing but His Thousand-Dollar Bill.

There is a story current in those circles wherein betting on horse races is spoken of freely and admitted without a blush, that concerns an old sport, a young sport and a $1,000 bill, says the New York Sun.

It seems that some months ago the horses were not running well, or it took an ax to get into a poolroom or something of that kind, and Young Sport, who approached the chief dispenser of the chief dispenser, was not doing well. There was among his acquaintances a little old man, commonly called Pop, who was always shabby and insignificant in appearance, but who, somehow, usually had the faculty of having a 20 in his pocket.

He had one on the day when Young Sport touched him with his hard-luck story, and the 20 changed hands. On several occasions thereafter Pop got unobtrusively in the way of Young Sport, but there was nothing doing.

Pop never asked questions, simple old soul; he just waited. Beggars opened up, and Pimlico, and Aqueduct, but Young Sport persistently guessed wrong, and Pop, if all is to be believed, despaired of ever seeing his 20 again.

Thus ends the prologue, and the first act opens of a recent evening in a dispensary of liquid recuperators on the Great White Way. Enter Young Sport, who approaches the chief dispenser, an acquaintance with a sheepish and yet highly contented smile.

"Say is my face good for a ball?" You see, it's this way. He hastens to add before the chief dispenser can commit the break of turning him down, "I hit the races lucky to-day—simply couldn't lose, and when I cashed in I took the bulk of my winnings in this form, see?" and he displays a $1,000 bill.

"The rest of it was enough, I thought, to carry me over till to-morrow, but I'll be hanged if I haven't run dry. Here I am with $1,000 and can't buy a drink, because it's too late to get this thing changed and it's not to be expected that there'd be all this money in any till on the way."

The dispenser is so impressed that he forgets the all-night bank where change might be had, and acts the part of too much prosperity to indicate his prescription and sets forth the vials accordingly. Young Sport helps himself with many a grateful compliment to the dispenser's over-the-counter judgment, promises to pay to-morrow and departs to be discovered shortly afterwards the central figure in a group of horse lovers at the Hoffman house.

Thither hurries shabby Pop after happening to overhear the aforementioned chief dispenser telling of the man and naming him who flashed a $1,000 bill before his dazzling eyes. Pop insinuates himself into the group of horse lovers and looks hopefully up at the central figure. He doesn't say a word, Pop doesn't, but just looks right appealing like.

"It comes right down to this," Young Sport is saying oracularly, "if you want to beat the races you must have a good, all-round knowledge of horseracing."

Just then he catches sight of shabby old Pop and remembers that there is a man he wants to see farther uptown. The horse lovers have lots of questions to ask, but none so much to the point as that of shabby Pop, who throws reserve to the winds and says: "Say, how about that 20 I lent you last November?"

"That's all right," replies Young Sport, trying to mask his embarrassment under a guise of easy confidence. "Pay you to-morrow."

"But to-morrow may not come," says Pop. "I don't know, something might happen. I'd rather have that 20 now. I hear you hit it lucky today."

"So I did, but I've nothing with me but a $1,000 bill," Young Sport answers, and to relieve the old man's anxiety he displays the bill.

Then, "I can change it," pipes up Pop, and he produces a huge wad of fifties, twenties, tens and fives from his trouser pocket and proceeds to count out $800.

They say that Young Sport had the grace to invite Pop to the bar as he carefully admitted that $800 in small bills was as good as blown in.

Alaska Needs Railroads. The thing that is holding back Alaskan mining and trade is the inadequate railroad facilities of the country—an insuperable obstacle to trade beyond the merest necessities of existence.

At the present time there is only one railroad that penetrates to the interior of Alaska and of that only 50 miles are on American soil. This road runs from Skagway, at the head of Lynn canal, and connects the tidewater with the Yukon river. Except during the four months that navigation is open—from June 1st to October 1st—this railroad controls the trade of the Yukon valley. It is as if the only railroad between the Atlantic and the Mississippi were from Albany to Troy.

Selection. A great deal depends on the manner in which a man selects his friends, says the wise philosopher.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "but the things you attach are what keep the public interested. The most important point is the selection of enemies."

Change Of Constitution.

Frankfort, Ky., July 22.—Secretary of State McChesney to-morrow, in accordance with the law, will advertise officially the fact that at the November, 1907, election there is to be submitted to the voters of the State of Kentucky the question of so amending Section 145 of the Constitution of the State as to provide that a qualification for a legal voter in all elections shall be that at least sixty days before the election at which he offers to vote he has paid in full all State, county, municipal, district and school taxes due by him for the year previous.

The submission of this question to the voters of Kentucky was proposed and adopted at the last regular session of the General Assembly. An impression has gotten out that a law had been passed adding this qualification to the other qualifications of a Kentucky voter, but the Legislature could only adopt a proposition to submit such a matter to the whole people of the State.

In making up the official advertisement to-day Secretary McChesney noticed that, in enrolling the measure, after passage, for the signature of the officials of the Assembly and the Governor, the enrolling clerk used the word "or" where the word "and" is used in the Constitution, making paragraph I of Section 145 read that the voter must reside in the State one year, the county six months "or" the precinct sixty days. The adoption of the amendment to the section as proposed would have the effect of giving a voter the privilege of voting after residing sixty days in a precinct and nullify the provision that he must have been a resident of the State for a year and of the county six months.

We also learn that a stiff fight is going to be made by the Republicans of the district. Wizard Of Fruits.

"Luther Burbank has attracted a vast amount of attention because he has attempted and to a considerable extent succeeded in doing something quite novel, at least in this country," says the Technical World magazine. "He is breeding up plant, fruit, vegetable life. He is the godfather of the sugar prune, a giant in comparison to its ancestors, the French prune, of which California produced 150,000,000 pounds of the dried product in a year. The sugar prune ripens earlier and is of immense commercial value. Burbank is also the maker of the seedless plum which he accomplished by crossing two varieties of the prunes triflora. The white blackberry is another of the wizard of horticulture's triumphs. Sixty-five thousand bushes were used in tests before he developed this phenomenon. He has given to the arid deserts a new species of grass which will grow on the plains without water. He converted the cactus into an edible plant. The wild potato of south America also received his attention. From a single eye of this potato he developed 120 hybridizations and grew a tuber of good quality. Mr. Burbank has made endless experiments with the potato. He keeps, in his farm at Santa Rosa, no less than 10,000 varieties for experimental purposes. He has grown potatoes of every shape and color, round, long, short, square, pure white, pink, crimson purple and yellow. Burbank potato seedlings have been shipped all over the world. The late Cecil Rhodes planted 10,000 of his seedless plum trees in South Africa, until now they have multiplied into the millions."

Call For Convention.

Pursuant to call the Calloway county democratic committee met at the office of J. H. Coleman in Murray, Ky., July 22d, 1907, for the purpose of determining the time and manner of selecting the party nominee for representative, to be voted for at the regular November election this year, 1907. The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock a. m. by J. H. Coleman, chairman of the committee, those present being Dan Clayton, S. L. Holland, T. W. Fair, F. M. Barnett, R. S. Miller, Lee Scholtes, John W. Dalton, John W. Carter, John Carlton, John Brandon, John White, Yank Morris and D. B. Outland.

Upon motion, which was duly seconded, it was ordered that precinct conventions be held in each of the different voting precincts of the county at the voting place, on Saturday, August 31, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m. to be called to order by the precinct committeeman, if present, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention to be held at the court house in Murray, Ky., on Monday September 2nd, 1907, at 1 o'clock p. m. to be called to order by the chairman of this committee.

The representation of each precinct in said county convention, shall be one vote for each twenty-five, and fraction over thirteen votes, cast in said precinct, for the democratic nominee for Governor in the last state election, giving to each precinct the following number of votes in the county convention, to-wit:

West Murray 12; East Murray 9; South Swan 9; North Swan 7; Hazel 9; Fair 5; South Concord 7; North Concord 5; South Liberty 5; North Liberty 7; Almo 8; Jackson 5; South Brinkley 6; North Brinkley 4. J. H. COLEMAN, Chairman Democratic Com. C. C. S. L. HOLLAND, Sec'y. Committee.

Best Medicine in the World for Colic and Diarrhoea.

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. U. L. Carter of Skirm, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

The next legislature should enact a law establishing an Insurance Commission to represent the insurers in the matter of rate making in the various towns and cities. At present the insurance companies have their own officials to make the rates, and the people are never consulted. The insurance people arbitrarily fix the rates and the public must accept them or be deprived of insurance protection. After the cities and towns are rated on a fair and equitable basis, the commission, like the railroad commission, could receive complaints of discrimination and adjust them. On the other hand the commission could investigate all suspicious fires when requested to do so by the companies and in many ways prevent abuses on both sides.—Paducah Register.
