Popular Preacher Leaves Fulton

Will Complete Education and Enter Evangelistic Work

Rev. Ollie J. Sowell and wife left Tuesday for Oklahoma, where the Rev. Sowell will complete his ministerial education and enter evangelistic work.

Sunday night at the First Christian church he delivered his farewell sermon to a crowded house. It was said by all who heard it to be one of the most eloquent orations ever delivered on the subject, "Carry On," prefaced by a splendid reading by Mrs. Sowell, on the same subject.

Fulton has been greatly benefited by having Mr. and Mrs. Sowell live in our midst, even for so short a time and it is the wish and desire of the entire community that some time they return.

The resolutions published in this paper from the church he served so loyally tells of the high esteem in which he was held by its members.

At the close of his sermon Sunday night he opened an envelope containing a letter and $100.00 in cash from the K. K. K.'s. The letter commended him for the splendid work he had done in Fulton and wished him every success in his future life of endeavor.

A delightful feature of the evening services was the musical program by the choir and band No. 45. Also the talk by Mr. Nichols, representing the Church Board in thanking Rev. Sowell for his faithful services during his pastorate.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, Reverend Ollie J. Sowell has served the First Christian church of Fulton, Ky. as pastor for the past year, and that his pastorate has been crowned with wonderful success, and

Whereas, he is a young man of natural oratorical ability and a tireless worker in the Kingdom of God, a good social mixer and full of energy and enthusiasm, and

Whereas, our Brother and Pastor has deemed it wise and prudent to sever his official connections with this church in order that he might further prepare himself for his work in the vineyard of the Lord.

Be It Resolved, by the Official Board of the First Christian Church of Fulton, Ky., in meeting assembled, that we sincerely regret the departure from our midst, of him and his esteemed wife, who is a Reader of rare ability, and that our deepest appreciation of the wonderful work done, be expressed to Brother Sowell, and while his leadership will be sorely missed by us, we will pray for him in his labors of further preparation.

Be It Further Resolved, that his influence for good will not only be missed in the local church, but in the community as well and we predict that he will become one of the outstanding leaders of the Brotherhood.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be delivered to Brother Sowell, a copy spread on the minutes of the meeting of the Church Board and a copy published in the Fulton papers.

Official Board, First Christian Church,
By W. P. ALLBRIGHT,
Chairman.
D. C. LIGON,
Secretary.

Nashville Boosters Visit Fulton.

The Nashville Boosters Club visited Fulton on Wednesday and made a fine impression on our citizens, and we sincerely hope that we, in turn, made as good an impression on our visitors.

The special train, composed of eight coaches, including a diner, was parked in the rear of the Chamber of Commerce and as the train pulled in, a band composed of the Fulton Band and the musicians of the Smith-Willis Dramatic company greeted the arrivals.

The visitors numbered one hundred and were a live, representative bunch of business men.

After a few minutes spent in exchanging greetings, the Fulton band headed a procession composed of the visitors and an almost equal number of Fulton citizens paraded the length of Lake street, stopping at the intersection of Walnut and Lake streets, where Aubrey Nugent introduced Director General Alf H. Williams of the Nashville Club, who in turn introduced W. S. Dennison, a Nashville city councilman, who made a stirring talk on the booster work that each town and city should make a part of its civic religion.

Howard Ainsley, president of the Nashville Lions Club, was the next speaker, and he told us he had nothing to sell, as he was the head of the Tennessee Power Company, and so could have only fellowship and good wishes to extend to Fulton and her people.

Both speakers praised Fulton highly, and the last speaker said this was the first place visited that thought enough of them to greet them with a brass band, and he felt sure that we were the very liveliest town in Kentucky.

The visitors carried their own band, Rose's Band of twelve musicians, and they were good ones, too.

After the speaking, the pilgrims were placed in automobiles and taken for a short ride over the town, even the band being included.

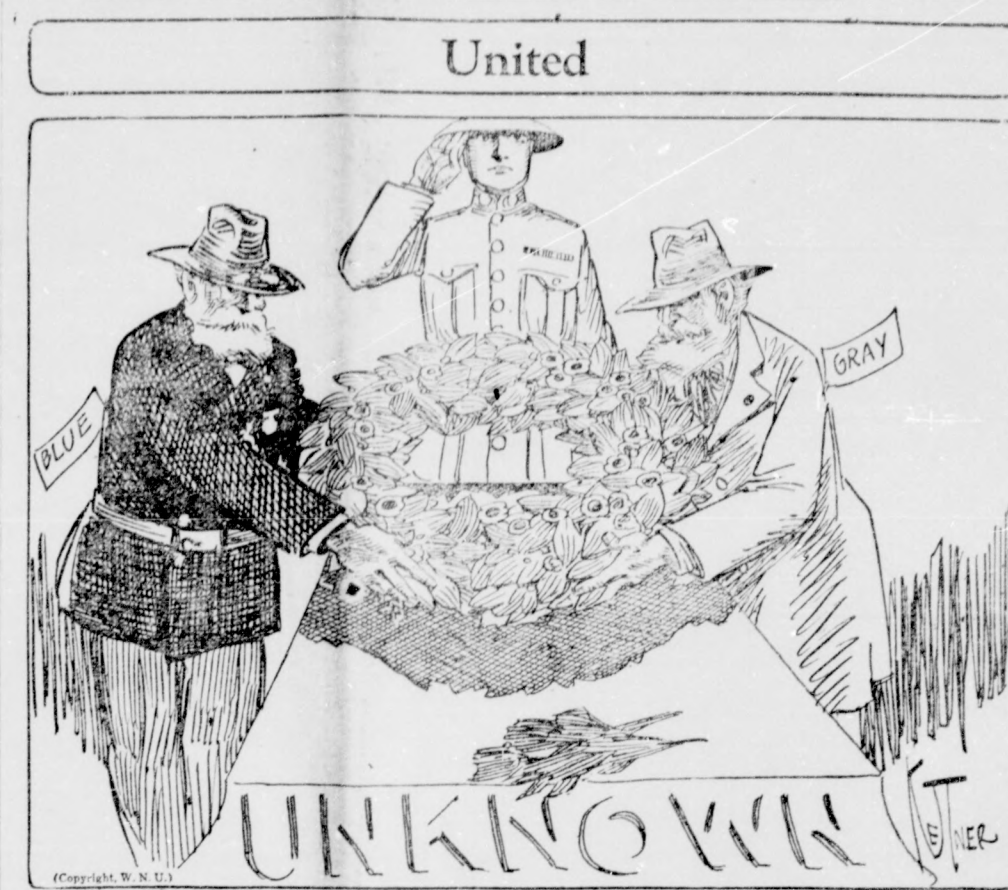

The Fulton people turned out in large numbers, and the number of business men being present was a most gratifying display of public spirit and good fellowship.

The entire fleet of the H. L. Hardy Taxi Company was at the service of the entertaining committee, gratis.

REV. WARREN'S SISTER DIES SUDDENLY LAST FRIDAY

Expressions of sympathy were heard throughout the entire community the past week in behalf of Rev. C. H. Warren, who was called from the city last Friday on account of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. Lula McNeill, at her home in McCracken county. So another good woman, loved and highly esteemed by all who knew her has fallen asleep to await the resurrection morn.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Walter McNeill, two children, Reble and Vernon, also by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Warren, three brothers, the Rev. C. H. Warren, Fulton; Attorney Joe E. Warren, Mayfield; Ray Warren, of Graves county, and one sister, Mrs. John Mack.

Tobacco News

Over Three Million Pounds of Association Tobacco Delivered

Many farmers are doomed to disappointment in not being able to deliver their tobacco, as the Association barn closes today, and the officials figure that there is about a quarter of a million pounds of tobacco that has not been delivered owing to the recent unfavorable weather. The registrations for the week, up to last Saturday, showing only 7 men who were ready to bring off their crops up to that date.

The deliveries for last week only amounted to 161,150 lbs., making a total for the season of 3,023,855 lbs.

The sales for last week amounted to 125,000 lbs., and the prizers turned out 58 hogsheads. The total for this last department for the season amounts to 470 hogsheads.

It is figured by the department heads that the prizer will run up to the middle of June, at which time the entire crop on hand will have been prized. In order to do this the present force will be somewhat increased, and every effort will be made to finish the season as early as possible.

There is a remote possibility that the barn may be reopened later should there be a favorable turn in the weather that will allow the tobacco to come into condition, though the officials were not particularly inclined to make any positive statement on this feature.

The hope was expressed by several that the present weather conditions would have a tendency to induce the farmers to make more earnest efforts next season to bring off their crops so that they may receive their money and also allow the association managers to close down sooner and thus make a more appreciable saving to them on the season's work.

The windstorm of last Sunday caused a number of farmers to fail to make their deliveries and also was the cause of many more not being able to get their crops into shape to deliver in time.

Next Thursday the District Council of the Dark Tobacco

Growers Association will hold its monthly meeting at the City Hall at 10:00 a. m., at which time the councilmen will make their reports for the month. Only two members were absent, at the last meeting and it is hoped that a full attendance will be had this time as it will be the last meeting before the general meeting at Mayfield at which will be present all the councils of the western district.

The afternoon meeting will be held in the City Hall at 2 p. m., at which time a well known speaker will be heard, and the general public is most heartily invited to attend.

The public meetings should be attended by every one who is interested in the growing of tobacco or its marketing, as the speakers are always men of experience and training along these lines and bring out many points that the average man would like to know more about. Such men as Col. W. R. Howell, Geoffrey Morgan and others who have spoken here are men who bring messages of importance to those who are interested in the tobacco game and no one should miss an opportunity to hear these messages.

The Smith-Willis Stock Company

Playing to Capacity Crowds This Week in Fulton

The performance tonight and Saturday night will conclude the week's engagement of the Smith-Willis Stock Company, under the auspices of the local fire department. This company of entertainers have given Fulton some of the best performances witnessed here in a long time, and the bill for tonight and Saturday night promises to outclass them all in entertainment. The Smith-Willis Stock Company carries their own band and orchestra, and present plays of the better class with vaudeville between acts. The attendance all during the week has been good and only words of praise have been heard from the people who have witnessed the plays.

The fire department is to be congratulated on obtaining this clean and up-to-date aggregation of show people to come to Fulton.

The free band concerts in front of the big tent each evening have been greatly enjoyed.

Make It a Great Day Sunday

Hon. Thomas B. King of Memphis Will Be Fulton's Guest

Another treat is in store for the Busy Men's Bible Class and visitors Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, when the Hon. Thomas B. King, of Memphis, will deliver an address at Carr Park auditorium.

Few men in the entire Southland are better known than Mr. King, and the people of Fulton and surrounding country are indeed fortunate in having an opportunity of hearing him Sunday. He comes with a special message which will be delivered in the most instructive, forceful and impressive manner as only this gifted orator, who has delighted so many audiences can do it.

Of course you will want to hear this eloquent speaker and also want to assist in the victory over Dyersburg, therefore, make your arrangements now to be present at 9:30. A pleasing musical program will be a part of the entertainment. Also tell your friends about it and get them to go with you. Let's fill the auditorium to greet Mr. King.

The attendance last Sunday was 507 in Fulton and something more than 800 at Dyersburg.

Now listen, good citizen, don't go to sleep at the switch. We must wake up and get busy if Fulton expects to beat Dyersburg. We can do it if we put forth the effort. So do your utmost.

The final number on program for Commencement week for the South Fulton schools will be held tonight, when Dr. William George Dean, Professor of Education in the West Tennessee State Normal school at Memphis, addresses the senior graduating class. Dr. Dean is an outstanding educator and lecturer, and honor students will be inspired by the thoughts he will leave with them.

This has been an active week for the South Fulton school. The annual class day exercises were held in the South Fulton high school auditorium, Monday night, and they proved to be well arranged and highly entertaining.

Pupils of the grades presented "The Dolls' Symposium" in the school auditorium Tuesday evening, opening the performance at 8:00 o'clock. The play was intensely interesting and well rendered by the students.

Wednesday night a carefully prepared program was given by the third and fourth grade pupils, and the manner in which it was performed is creditable of the instructor and of the little folks. Graduates of the eighth grade received their diplomas, and the program for the evening was interesting and enjoyable.

"All On Account of Polly," a clever comedy, which was presented by the senior class under the direction of Prof. H. L. Jones, drew a large crowd Thursday night, and was a pleasing and meritorious production.

The senior graduating class includes eight girls and five boys. Names of students in class follow:

Waylon Johnson, valedictorian, Milton Tucker, salutatorian, Lucille Jonakin, Alta Gates, Era Lewis, Margaret Griffin, Norma Brann, Mozelle Swiggart, Gladys Elam, Lennie Martin Chambers, Ned Jonakin, Neal Sellars and Howard Elam.

A DISGRACEFUL PERFORMANCE

William Jennings Bryan abruptly left the stage amid boos and hisses before concluding an address before Brown university students at Providence, R. I., who did not agree with his arguments against evolution.

Mr. Bryan was quoted as saying that he had paid his own expenses to Providence to "bring his gospel of faith to Brown students," and when he was not given the consideration befitting one of his experience and ability, he cannot be honestly criticized for retiring unceremoniously.

Mr. Bryan was chagrined when a Brown student, during a question period, publicly admitted that he did not believe in the Bible. When another student stepped to the stage and propounded a question, the veteran political campaigner and public speaker declared he would have to retire "before this magnificent, bubbling fountain of wisdom on my right."

However one may disagree with Mr. Bryan politically, his stand for the religion that has withstood the test of centuries, is deserving of universal commendation. And the attitude of Brown students responsible for the inconsiderate treatment of Mr. Bryan should be severely censured.

For the welfare of future generations, it is to be sincerely hoped that the sentiment of Brown students expressed at the Bryan meeting does not accurately represent the trend of college and university thought in the controversy between the fundamentalists and the evolutionists. If it does, there are many fathers and mothers who will hesitate to send their sons and daughters to college.

FISHING PARTY HAS EXCITING EXPERIENCE

Johnny Stuart headed a party of fishermen last week to Number Nine Lake and with the aid of R. C. Wilkerson, the grader at this point, staged a realistic shipwreck for the entertainment of the party.

After seeing that all the guests were properly provided with lines, poles, bait, etc., these two disciples of the great Isaac, betook themselves to the middle of the stage, or pond, and proceeded to catch several fish of one kind or another, when suddenly one of the aforesaid disciples hooked something (just what, was not stated) and the excitement began; both tried to occupy the same end of the canoe at the same time, with the result that the sudden shifting of ballast caused the overloaded end to subside below the level of the lake, and the fish, fishermen, and bait all got mixed up.

There were no casualties, as both gentlemen were on deck Monday morning, but the details of the rescue and subsequent explanations are too vague to make a satisfactory story.

Besides the above two gentlemen, Col. W. R. Howell, of Hopkinsville, was a member of the party, and it is said that the Colonel, with the aid of other members, brought home a creditable catch. However, Johnny, and "Wilk" are not making any great claims as to their contributions to the general take.

LESLIE BATTS PASSES AWAY AFTER HORRIBLE ACCIDENT

Our little town was shocked Saturday afternoon when the news was circulated that Leslie Batts, local manager of the Standard Oil company, when attempting to board a slow-moving freight train near the Fulton Ice company's plant, was thrown beneath the wheels suffering the loss of his left leg and his right foot cut off, together with other terrible cuts on the body. Mr. Batts had planned to ride to the oil tanks of the oil company a short distance up the track, and lost his footing after taking hold of the moving train, so it is said. As quickly as possible after the horrible accident, he was taken to the office of Dr. Seldon Cohn where local surgeons did everything in their power to save his life but he expired on the operating table several hours later. Notwithstanding his mutilated condition he was conscious up with in a short time before he expired and talked freely with loved ones who had reached him.

Mr. Batts was well known throughout the city as a man of sterling character and highly esteemed by his associates and in business circles. His untimely death has caused a gloom of sadness in the community and expressions of sympathy go out for the bereaved wife and child, and relatives.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. V. Freeman. Interment following in Fairview cemetery.

The Masonic order of which Mr. Batts was a member, conducted their beautiful services at the grave.

The K. K. K.'s of which the deceased was a member, also conducted impressive services at the grave.

A Key to the Situation

By ANNA R. BURR

(By 1924 Western Newspaper Union.)

MISS BENT felt herself remarkably lucky that her window overlooked the Jewett's back garden. When one sits in the same room sewing, day after day, winter and summer, it means much to have something pleasant to gaze upon—something, too, which is shut from the rest of the world by a high wall. The Jewett garden seemed Miss Bent's particular property. The maple trees, the grass plot with the bed of scarlet camass, the border which saw the seasons through from daffodils to dahlias and the little summer-house. All this was like a stage set for small, pleasant happenings; the coming to and fro of ice man and grocery boy; children at their games; the kitten capering after a bit of paper—a drama (domestic) for an audience of one. Miss Bent's spectacles would stare at it, her tired old face brighten, she felt a stitching harder than ever. It belonged to her; and when a child got its feet wet or the kitten mewed for its forgotten saucer of milk, Miss Bent almost rang the door bell. Once or twice the play had a society scene in it, such as Molly Jewett's garden party, and then the audience was rapt. A striped tent, rug on the grass, and waiters who ran about with ice cream and strawberries! Molly herself, aged eighteen, wasn't happier than the uninvited guest. Susan Bent came (at noon, with the ice cream freezers) and stayed until dusk; hid the last glimpse of departing young people. She was in an ecstasy; although she would have to sit up all night over her neglected work in order to finish it on time.

Her sense of possessing the garden she looked at, had led to an odd incident—odd, because of Susan's nature. She was honest as the day, honest in fact than many April days; but when she picked up a key on the sidewalk, which had plainly fallen out of the garden door, she kept it. She kept that key, though it unquestionably belonged to the Jewetts; and she hung it up on a nail by her lookingglass. Somehow that key confirmed her queer sense of ownership in the garden. In her twilight hour of rest she would sit and twist it between her fingers, to look dreamily out on the maples and the red camass and sage, and always she dreamed of another party—she longed for it.

This hope grew very high when Molly Jewett began going with the Taylor boy. He was a nice looking boy, Roddy Taylor, if rather thin; he had a turn-up nose and he wore a long came along about five o'clock. Later on the pair took to going in and out by the garden door. Sometimes they stayed at the gate a long time, and then Miss Bent would rise hurriedly and leave the window. What she saw there once or twice made her feel uncomfortable like an eavesdropper; she realized humbly that it had nothing to do with her.

One afternoon that spring she saw them coming but there was something different somehow. Molly was walking stiffly, very far away from the Taylor boy, and his young face looked proud and angry. When they reached the garden door it was plain that this time Susan Bent need feel no delicacy about staying at the window. So she stayed and stared; she could hear nothing, but she saw very well. She saw Molly's angry toss of the head and that she pushed open the door and ran within, slamming it behind her, and leaving Roddy Taylor on the wrong side. Once alone, the girl turned uncertainly toward the house and then paused and ran instead into the summer house in the corner. The watcher from the window could see the bright head beat on her arms.

"My land!" cried Susan Bent. The party; the reception with the tent and the guests and the refreshments, which had seemed so certain—was it put in peril? There stood Roddy Taylor, dumb and dazed, outside the short door in the garden wall. His miserable face looked up and down the street. If he walked away—well, there would be no reception that spring. Susan Bent wasn't sentimental; she didn't care about the silly young creatures, not she! But she did want her bright hour! With an inspiration, up she threw the window and called aloud:

"Roddy Taylor!" "Roddy Taylor!" Instinctively, the boy looked up and a heavy key clattered on the pavement at his feet. "The summer house!" Miss Bent cried wildly, and under her breath she added: "You gump!"

Then she jammed down the window and turned into the room, covering her eyes. I think probably she prayed.

She heard a rush of quick steps and then silence fell. 'Twas a long time before she went to the window again; it had grown quite dusky. But a bright light from the Jewett's hall door showed two persons on the path; that is, Miss Bent's recent experiences made her judge them to be two persons. Otherwise she would have thought they were one.

A great sigh of relief came from her as she turned to light the gas. "After all," she said aloud, "the very nicest weather for a wedding reception is in June!"

The Disc Cultivator with Automatic Horse Lift

None of the work of raising the rigs at the end of the row falls on you; all you have to do is to trip the handy balance lever and up the rigs go with the pull of the team—no work at all for you and no increased draft for the horses—that's one of the many features you will be sure to like on the

JOHN DEERE JA

This is the handiest disc cultivator ever made, and it can't be equalled for thorough work.

Width of cut can be changed by sliding disc head in or out on notched crosshead plate.

Cutting angle is regulated by forward ratchet on disc head, and tilting of gangs by upright latchets. No bolts to loosen—no wrench necessary.

Changing gangs from one throw to the other requires the removal of only two cotter pins.

Handy levers for adjusting rigs accurately for depth.

The oscillating scrapers are another important advantage—by merely turning a hand lever on the scraper bar, scrapers may be instantly set to the inside or outside of disc.

The automatic frame shift on the JA insures easy and perfect dodging on crooked rows. The discs are always parallel with the wheels, insuring effective work under all conditions.

It's easy to convert the JA from a disc to a shovel or spring-tooth cultivator. We can furnish the rigs desired.

Come in and see the John Deere JA.

NEW BOOKS FOR LIBRARY

The Fulton Public Library has just added some sixty odd new books to its ever growing list. These books comprise a number of the best and latest of the season's output, both for children and grown-ups.

Some 15 or 20 of them are for children, particularly for boy scouts, and cover the field from scout work to Indian and western stories by such writers as J. A. Altshuler and James Willard Schultz and dog stories by C. G. D. Roberts and Albert Payson Terhune.

A few of the old books have been replaced by new copies, making the list of old favorites more complete, where volumes have been so worn out as to be unreadable.

The efforts of the members of the library board are continually being directed towards obtaining the best books possible and while the funds at its disposal are not as large as might be desired, the expenditures are only made after a careful selection of books that will be most effective in filling the wants of the reading public.

DECORATION DAY AT PALESTINE SUNDAY

Sunday is Decoration Day at Palestine. An interesting program has been arranged and all are invited to attend and bring well filled baskets. Rev. C. A. Riggs, pastor of Palestine church will be in charge.

It will be a children's service, a home coming and a decoration day service.

The cemetery committee requests that all who have flowers come and bring them before the 11 o'clock service.

The tentative program for the day is as follows:

PUBLIC WORK EXPECTED TO HELP UNEMPLOYED

PADUCAH, LEXINGTON AND LOUISVILLE MAIN FACTORS IN MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS

Road Building, Sewers, Rail Shop and City Hall To Be Built—75 Per cent Of Work Figured To Be Finished During Present Year.

Louisville.—Highway construction and municipal improvements on a large scale throughout Kentucky during the summer are expected to absorb much of the present labor surplus in the state, a survey conducted by the United States Employment Service here indicates.

Road building contracts under way amount to $9,000,000 and another $2,000,000 will be spent for reconstruction and maintenance of highways in the state. Seventy-five per cent of the new work will be completed during the present calendar year if nothing interferes to delay the schedule, the employment service survey found.

Municipal improvements involving unusual amounts are under way in Paducah, Lexington and Louisville, the report said.

Paducah now has under construction a six million dollar railway shop and two locks and dams. Lock and dam No. 2 and lock and dam No. 5 each will cost about $3,000,000, and at Golconda, thirty miles above Paducah, dam No. 1 is under construction. A $200,000 expenditure for sewers and a $200,000 expenditure for an extension to the city water plant are contemplated, it was stated.

Lexington will spend $100,000 on a city hall and auditorium, the survey revealed, and $100,000 on sewers. Other improvements include installation of an incinerator costing $30,000, a sub-fare station valued at $20,000 and street improvements costing about $75,000. Small towns near Lexington plan municipal improvements which are expected to get under way soon.

In Louisville an elaborate system of grade crossing elimination will cost about $5,000,000, and another $5,000,000 is being spent in sewer construction already under way.

Repairs and reconstruction of city streets will amount to $1,000,000 and sixty new automatic traffic signals are to be added. A $1,000,000 rubber city hospital is being erected.

Enlargement of the city park system will cost $300,000 and a new swimming pool to be built this summer is planned for $60,000. Water front improvements and extensions are under way, the school system is being enlarged and a new trade school is to be established soon. Reports from Newport and Covington, Bowling Green, Henderson, Ashland, Hopkinsville, Madisonville and Frankfort assure a large amount of highway work and municipal construction work to local labor in each section. Some surplus now exists in each city, it was found.

RAIL PROJECT VETOED

Interstate Commerce Turns Down Proposed O. & C. Line.

Owensboro, Ky.—The news of the action of the official examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission making an adverse report on the proposed Owensboro, Rockport and Chicago Railway was received with surprise and regret by some of the Owensboro promoters, while others said they expected as much. Whether or not there will be application for a rehearing, was not indicated in Owensboro.

It has been pointed out that promoters must show the necessity for the railroad and the further fact that it will not become a pauper railroad but a safe investment for the stock holders.

It appears that the promoters have failed to convince the examiners on these essential requirements.

Circuit Docket Light In Scott.—Georgetown, Ky.—Circuit Court convened in Georgetown with Judge Ben Williams on the bench. The docket was one of the lightest in the history of the county. Most of the cases were defaults and common law suits with practically no cases of importance.

Mercer Women Jurors Honored.—Harrodsburg, Ky.—Judge Charles A. Hardin, presiding in Mercer Circuit Court, and Mrs. Hardin entertained the ten women who served on the grand and petit juries during this term of court with a luncheon at the Hotel Harrod.

Slayer Sentenced to Seven Years.—Cloveport—John Spies, who was tried at the May term of Breckinridge Circuit Court, was given seven years in the penitentiary when convicted of killing John Frank. He pleaded self defense.

Boys Arrested In Marion Raid.—Marion, Ky.—Prohibition officers from Hopkinsville arrested two boys, Roy and Coy Gilliam, 19 and 21 years old, near Marion, six miles from Marion. The officers searched the motor for the boys were in and it is reported, found twenty-five gallons of moonshine whisky in the car. The officers took them to Hopkinsville. Hoper Cole also was arrested and lodged in the county jail by Sheriff James I. Wright. He is charged with deserting his wife and children.

WILLIAMS NAMED AS U. S. SENATOR

ST. LOUIS JUDGE APPOINTED TO
U. S. SENATE

MANY OBJECTIONS ARISE

Choice for Senator Was Made by
Gov. Baker Without Consulting
His Party Organization, According to Reports

Jackson City, Mo.—Judge George H. Williams of St. Louis County is the new junior United States senator from Missouri.

Gov. Baker announced the selection of Judge Williams to succeed the late Senator Selden P. Spencer, who died a week ago Saturday night in Washington.

The choice of Judge Williams came as no great surprise. Since the governor went to St. Louis last Wednesday for Senator Spencer's funeral, Judge Williams generally has been picked as the governor's probable choice.

The new United States senator was born at California, Mo., and his father, the late Judge John Williams, was prominent in Republican politics for many years.

One of the big questions now to be settled is: "Will the choice of Judge Williams meet the approval of the Republican opposition in St. Louis and out-state?" The choice having been made by the governor without the advice of his party organization, undoubtedly there will be some hesitancy among the opposition leaders to place their official stamp of approval on the selection.

Many objections were raised to Williams among the Republicans gathered last week in St. Louis at the Spencer funeral. As the governor refused then to see the local party leaders, the objections reached him only through the governor's personal advisers, letters and telegrams.

MARINE HAS EASY TASK IN RULING SAMOAN ARMY

Washington, D. C.—How it feels to be commander-in-chief of the Samoan army, whose members anticipate his slightest wish, is told by Sergeant Nelson Huron in recent official correspondence to Marine Corps headquarters here, from his station at Pago Pago in the South Sea Island.

Sergeant Huron is the only U. S. marine in Samoa. His stalwart native guards recognize him as "Chief of the Fita Fitas." No eastern potentate ever commanded more loyal followers. The three stripes and a diamond on his sleeve, insignia of a first sergeant's rank, hold more sway over the Fita Fitas than a king's scepter.

Huron is a rough-and-ready sergeant of the old school. He has had his share of campaigning in many climes. His campaign ribbons are evidence of service in the Spanish American War, Philippine Insurrection, Chinese Boxer Rebellion and the World War. He disclaims all distinction as a hero, and finds it trying to assume the dignity of a chief, while in reality he is a most unassuming marine.

Through a treaty signed in 1909 the United States acquired a number of the Samoan Islands, including Tutuila with the town of Pago Pago, where the Fita Fitas are stationed to guard naval property. Since that time the native troops, about 70 in number, have been commanded by enlisted men of the navy or marine corps and for the past fifteen years by a U. S. marine.

The sergeant fell heir to his tiny army last July, after he had been selected for this duty by Major General Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps. He is supplied with a completely furnished home, and a garden where oranges, pineapples, bananas, cantaloup, alligator pears and other tropical fruits grow in abundance. An eighteen-piece band furnishes frequent concerts for their chief.

"When my troops turn out for inspection," writes Sergeant Huron, "they wear turbans made of bright red navy muslin, sashes of the same color and material as the turbans, lava lavas (or skirts) of navy blue serge, and white cotton undershirts. The Fita Fitas never wear shoes, and the undershirt is worn only on dress occasions.

SPRIT OF COOPERATION

For the past several Sundays
we have observed the enthusiasm that has been injected in the campaign of attendance at a local Bible class against Dyersburg. We have seen men so enthused over the work that they have given much valuable time from their business to be present at the morning service. We have been to the class and heard the various speakers who have been brought here, men of other towns who have been willing to travel some distance in order that they might lend a helping hand to the good work being done. We have observed these loyal workers invite men who have resided here for a long time, and prospered in their business, who have believed in boosting their home town and thought that everybody should do their utmost to make it grow in size and influence, and some of these same men turned a deaf ear to the appeal being made.

For some untold reason Fulton has some men who have not realized the necessity of helping in a cause of this kind.
They console themselves by saying that they have no real reason why they should go to Sunday school, nor be interested in helping Fulton to best Dyersburg; that they and their families are prominent in the city and community, and that their prominent influence should not be lent to such a small thing as the Bible class.
This is a very erroneous idea
these people have; an idea that tears down instead of building up; one that builds the spirit of "Let George Do It;" creates knockers instead of boosters, and in the end, tears down the organization for the betterment of society.

With the proper support from the citizens of Fulton, the class of Dyersburg can't win in this contest, and it is up to us all to help. It will help Fulton materially to win because of the publicity that has been given, and because of the comfort it will give to the untiring workers—and we might say in passing that these same workers are always to be counted on in any other campaign that we have—and because of the good influence that will be felt for a long time to come. Allow us to suggest that every man in the city put his shoulder to the wheel and push this load over the hill.

JUDGE GARDNER'S ORATION

Fulton people have been treated with a number of delightful lectures recently by some of the most brilliant and talented minds of the country, but Judge Bunk Gardner's oration at Carr's Park auditorium
last Sunday to the Busy Men's Bible class of the First Methodist Church and visitors, was the most eloquent and effective of them all. It can truthfully be said that Kentucky has produced some of the brainest men of the nation—men who have gone down in history and will ever linger sweetly in the memory of all whom they came in contact, but in Mayfield, we find more brilliant minds to the square inch, filled with the spirit of helping their neighbors than any city in the nation.
Thus, during Fulton's contest with Dyersburg, three of Mayfield's illustrious sons have been called upon to assist us to victory.

FULTON

"Not the oldest, nor yet the youngest; not the richest, nor yet the poorest; not the largest,
nor yet the least; but take it
all in all, for men and women,
for flocks and herds, for fields
and skies, for happy homes and loving hearts, the best place outside of Heaven the Good Lord ever made."

FACTIONALISM

The history of political parties demonstrates the danger of factionalism. Division in any organization formed for political, civic or business purposes
will bring disaster.

It is too well known to require any argument, that a house divided against itself, cannot stand, yet we see communities every day that are divided into cliques and factions
that hinder their progress.
Business once taught that competition is the life of trade,
but business men are learning that not competition, but cooperation for the benefit of the customer is the best means of giving service, and therefore the best business.

The same holds true with the working out of civic problems.
If one man or group of men suggest some worth while improvement for the community,
another group should not immediately take a position in opposition. The community that is so unfortunate as to have this condition existing, is doomed to a bleak existence with chances of getting ahead being practically eliminated.

And it should not be forgotten that a community is not bounded by the corporation line. A community extends to the most remote farm home that is linked with the town in social and business relationship.

The problems of the rural section and the county seat or other trading center are not unlike, in that each affects the other. The idea that their interests follow different lines is gradually being overcome, but occasional factionalism crops out, demonstrating that there are still many people who will not place community good above selfish individualism.

DELINQUENT PARENTS

Five school boys and five girls, some of them under high school age, were found guilty of delinquency in a big city juvenile court. They had participated in a "wild" party at the fashionable apartment of one of the boy's parents.

It developed that the mother of the fifteen-year-old host was in Florida and his father was out of the city on business.

The only error was that the children were found guilty of delinquency, instead of the parents.

Parents who permit boys and girls of this age to remain away from home all night, or permit them to have possession of their home without any supervision,
are delinquent.

Such parents should be amenable by law. If they feel no responsibility for the moral welfare of their children, they do not deserve the privilege of rearing children.

The law says that men and women shall support their children and give them the necessities of life, but they may permit boys and girls to grow up as moral perverts to prey upon society when they become mature men and women.

FULTON CITIZENS SHOW NASHVILLE BOOSTERS GOOD TIME

A large crowd of Fulton boosters took charge of the Nashville boosters who arrived in the city Wednesday morning and did all in their power to make their short stay in Fulton pleasant. They came on special train and remained in the city an hour. It was a live bunch, representing Nashville's leading business firms. They carried their own band and everything to make their travel pleasant. Yes, it was a real band of well trained musicians that delighted Fulton folk with their music.

This booster trip is an annual event with Nashville, and has been the means of closely uniting the trade territory of which they serve.

We are glad they came and found that true hospitality and warm handclasp that characterizes Kentucky's illustrious sons.

The Dahlia

No Flower Garden is Complete
Without It. Easy to Grow

The Decorative Dahlia is the pride of all Dahlias, standing out pre-eminently. In the garden the plants are strong, sturdy, vigorous growers, with heavy, dark green foliage, and a remarkable constitution. The blossoms are produced in great profusion, which is exceptional for a type of giant flowering Dahlias. For cut-flower purposes they are unsurpassed, having long, straight stems of wiry stiffness and producing their flowers in a pleasing upright manner; then principally their lasting qualities when cut they are unequalled, lasting longer than any of the other types. As an exhibition flower
the Decorative Dahlia is the most gigantic of all Dahlias, blossoms having beauty, substance, quality—all essential characteristics of a true "Model of Perfection." As a decorative flower they are first in every respect; being graceful, adapted to designs, and most artistic.

No flower garden is complete without Dahlias. But all Dahlias are not alike, there are a number of varieties. It is just as easy to grow the best varieties as the ordinary kind.

Prospects for Large Tomato and Bean Crop Very Favorable

We understand that the prospects on the Tennessee Division of the I. C., for a large tomato and bean crop are very favorable, and the Illinois Central are preparing to handle this business as heretofore, as expeditiously as possible.

This class of business in this section of the country, has increased very materially in the last few years, and if it continues at the present stride, it will eventually be a large output, perhaps as large as the present strawberry business.

There is also quite a large amount of sweet pepper, blackberries, as well as other vegetables shipped from the Tennessee Division by the I. C.

I. C. Increases Speed of High Class Freight Traffic

The Illinois Central has shortened the time of their manifest and time freight which is high class loading, perishable, etc., between New Orleans and Chicago, twenty-four hours, in order to place this class of traffic on the market in Chicago earlier. This, of course, will mean a slight increase in speed over the entire system, and calls for more expeditious handling through yards. This will be of material benefit to the southern perishable products raisers, as it will enable them to place their products on the market 24 hours earlier, and save some expense in re-icing and the possibility of damage to perishable freight.

For this service the Illinois Central has placed on these runs over the Tennessee Division, the large mountain type passenger engines, that they have been using to handle strawberries, now that the strawberry crop is over. It is felt that no difficulty will be experienced in maintaining the new schedule with this class of locomotives.

The Illinois Central is constantly improving its service, equipment and road bed, in order that it may more efficiently and expeditiously handle the large volume of business from the southland to the north and vice versa.

Superintendent Williams of the I. C. held a fuel conservation meeting Monday of this week with his staff, at which the matter of conserving fuel was discussed.

Mr. J. W. Hevron, general superintendent of the I. C. was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Superintendent H. W. Williams attended the regular monthly expense meeting of the I. C. at Chicago Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robbins spent a very pleasant day on Number Nine Lake Friday of last week, and report a nice catch.

Mrs. J. R. Graves of Humboldt, Tenn., and Mrs. Isabelle Sutton of Alamo, Tenn., are visiting Mrs. A. E. Covington, on Arch street, this week.

Mr. Thomas Nabors, gardener on the I. C., has been in the hospital at Paducah, but has returned and is rapidly recovering.

Mrs. Walter Wills has returned from the hospital at Paducah and is recovering at her home on College street.

Mr. Parker Chastain, Time Inspector out of the Chicago Office of the Illinois Central, has been in the city several days doing some checking work at the Division office.

Mr. A. R. Mollison, inspector from the Interstate Commerce Commission, Bureau of Safety, Washington, was in the city first of the week, making certain checks at the Division Office.

Brotherhood of Railway Clerks Visit Martin.

After the regular meeting, the Fulton delegation was served supper by the Martin members.

ROBERT D. BRADFORD

Bradford, Tenn., May 25.—Robert D. Bradford, aged 92, this town's oldest citizen, the man for whom the town of Bradford was named and who was personally known and loved by every person in this section of Gibson county, died last night at his home on East Main street. He moved to Gibson county from Bedford county, Tenn., with his father and mother, Absalom Bradford and Margaret Bradford, in 1836. His father, Absalom Bradford, was a soldier in the War of 1812, and was with Jackson on his Seminole campaign. Robert D. Bradford is a direct descendant of Gov. William A. Bradford of Plymouth Colony.

KICKED BY MULE

Hickman, Ky., May 25.—Theodore, the 10 year old son of Mrs. Maymie Jones, residing about six miles south of Hickman, was kicked in the face this morning by a mule and seriously injured. The boy was putting the mule in the stable when the mule kicked and struck him in the face, crushing his entire face and parts of the cheek bones had to be taken out. The child is in a very serious condition and the doctors think his injuries will prove fatal.

PROMINENT MALARIA EXPERTS
KILLED IN SYRIA

GRIEF FELT AT GENEVA

Dr. Darling, of Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Luthian, Designer of War Kits Used by British, Two of Victims.

Geneva.—Dr. Samuel Taylor Darling of the Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Norman Luthian, epidemiological expert of the League of Nations, and Anastasia Besson, a French secretary, were killed in an automobile accident in Syria in an automobile accident. Word of the accident was received here.

The automobile in which they were riding went over a precipice.

The two physicians were members of the malaria commission which has been investigating conditions in Syria, Palestine, Sicily and Spain in behalf of the league. Dr. Luthian was a prominent Scotchman and the designer of the war kits used by the British army. He was engaged to marry Miss Peggy Ray, who recently resigned her position as a secretary with the League of Nations and was going to England to prepare for her wedding.

The mission was insured, but the council of the league plans to compensate the dependents. Dr. Darling was a leading authority on malaria.

MARINE FROM MEMPHIS
ATTENDS CHINA WEDDING

Larry P. Sloane Writes Interesting Letter to Friend.

Memphis.—Larry P. Sloane, who enlisted in the U. S. Marines at the Recruiting Station at the Post Office Building, Memphis, last June, writes a very interesting letter to a friend here. Sloane is now serving in Chinese waters with the marine detachment on board the U. S. S. Huron. His latest stunt was attending a Chinese wedding at which follows.

A Chinese wedding lasts for three days during which time eating and drinking are the paramount features, with an occasional game of mah jongg thrown in for amusement. Although eating and drinking are the features to begin with, the whole affair soon assumes the aspect of a drinking bout before its conclusion. Sloane claims he was champion at this wedding and soon had all his companions under the table. He was seated at the first table where all food was brought first, and it was his privilege and duty to taste all food before it was served to the others. During the meals the bride was brought around by her three maids and as she came to each guest that guest was required to drink tea with her. The bride took this opportunity to thank the guests for the presents she had received. This is done through her maids as she is not allowed to talk to anyone. The bride wears a queer beaded veil, and if a guest wishes to see her face, they must request the maids to draw the veil to one side so her face may be seen. All during the time the bride does not speak or raise her eyes, as this is considered bad taste. After the bride has visited the tables, the groom and his servants come around, and the guests drink with him. According to Sloane, the groom does not drink tea. After this visit by the groom, the guests are free to drink with whom they please and as often as they desire. The ultimate result is easily seen. Mah jongg was played after this, but Sloane, becoming mellow, tried to introduce the well known Marine Corps game of Black Jack, but had little luck.

Troops Clash With Rebels
Sofia, Bulgaria.—A battle is reported to be in progress eastward from Sofia between 1,600 troops and a band of insurgents. The Bulgarian government is perturbed over the insistence of the council of ambassadors that the 10,000 auxiliary troops which Bulgaria was permitted to add to her militia in order to cope with the recent disturbances in the country be dismissed. General Vukoff, the war minister, told newspaper representatives that Bulgaria would be unable to suspend martial law until the country was entirely clear of Communists.

Lawyer Does His Stuff.
New Haven, Conn.—"Manslaughter means manslaughter, and it's spelled the same way," shouted defense counsel Joseph Koletsky in his plea to the 12 Connecticut farmers who will decide the fate of Olympia Marci, young opera singer pupil and unwed mother, on trial for the murder of her alleged betrayed, John (Sholk) Baganono.

POULTRY

COMFORTABLE HOUSE
ENCOURAGES FOWLS

The poultry house is both the home of the hen and the factory where winter eggs are produced, and unless it provides suitable living and working conditions the hen cannot be expected to lay well. To be comfortable the house must be dry, well ventilated, well lighted and have sufficient floor space to provide exercise by scratching. Dryness is insured by having a good roof, keeping the floor of the house higher than the surrounding ground, and by providing good ventilation. Ventilation must supply plenty of fresh air without drafts. This is secured by having the south side relatively open and the other three sides absolutely tight. The importance of light in the poultry house has not been properly emphasized in the past. Recent experiments with artificial lights show that by furnishing more light so that the working period for the birds is lengthened the egg production can be materially increased. In many farm poultry houses no windows are provided and the house is in constant twilight on cloudy days even when the door is left open. Needless to say, this condition does not favor activity on the part of the hen. To insure good natural light in a poultry house the openings in the walls should equal about one-fourth of the floor space of the house. At least half of these openings should be for open-front ventilation, and the windows should be so arranged that the maximum amount of sunlight will be available to the birds. Wherever possible windows should be placed in the east and west ends of the building so that the early morning and late afternoon light will be secured. To insure room for scratching not only must sufficient floor space be provided but the droppings must be kept off the floor and a deep litter of straw or similar material be supplied so that the birds can be made to scratch for their feed. To keep the droppings off the floor every poultry house should be provided with a droppings platform arranged underneath the roosts to catch the manure.

Dried Buttermilk Found
Profitable for Poultry

At the Indiana experiment station several tests have also been made with dried buttermilk for laying hens. In one of its bulletins on this subject, A. C. Phillips, who conducted the tests, in which dried buttermilk was compared with liquid buttermilk, says: "The income from the liquid buttermilk-fed pen was $7.13; from the dried buttermilk-fed pen, $8.21; and from the no-milk-fed pen, $2.39." Stating the same facts in different words, Mr. Phillips continues: "The profit over feed cost from the liquid buttermilk-fed pen was $4.92; from the dried buttermilk-fed pen, $5.99; and from the no-milk-fed pen, 78 cents."

Thus we see that the pen fed dried buttermilk is a proven carrier, made the largest profit per bird per year. The pen that received no milk of any kind netted less than $1 per hen per year. In addition to getting more eggs from the dried buttermilk than from the liquid buttermilk, that institution also obtained greater hatchability in the eggs from the dried buttermilk pen than from the one fed liquid buttermilk.

Emden Geese Popular

The Emden breed of geese is one of the best known and most popular of all the varieties known. Individuals of this breed are large, and beautifully formed. The back is fairly straight while the under part of the body is canoe shaped, or, almost crescent. They have blue eyes, orange bill, shanks and toes and pure white plumage. Size and vigor are the principal features to be considered when mating these birds. It is quite common for the females to develop a "dewlap" or loose pouch of skin under the body.

Poultry Facts

Keep strong, healthy, vigorous stock and care for it properly.

Know the preferences of your market and strive to meet them.

Never wash eggs unless they are to be used immediately by local trade.

Don't wash dirty eggs. Washed eggs spoil quickly and are of lower market value.

The first essential in marketing quality eggs as required by the new egg law is quality production. When proper methods are employed it is easy to produce and market quality eggs.

Keep the hens off the droppings boards by putting three-fourths inch wire netting immediately under the roosts.

Watch for cracks and do not have strong drafts in the roosting rooms. If you neglect this, you will have to fight colds and roup later on.

Confine the hens to the poultry house when the yards are muddy until the middle of the afternoon, when most of the eggs have been laid. This will mean fewer dirty eggs.

FARM

GATHER EGGS OFTEN
IN SEVERE WEATHER

Success in selling hatching eggs or in getting good hatching eggs for your own incubators to supply you with chicks for the baby chick trade is dependent a great deal upon gathering the eggs during the winter months at frequent intervals; but even market eggs require the same attention in order to get the best results.

In freezing weather the eggs may lie in the nest three or four hours before freezing, but there is no reason for subjecting them to such a temperature for any length of time. If they are to be used for hatching purposes, or sold for hatching eggs, you owe it to yourself or your customer to gather them as soon as laid, if possible. Any unnecessary exposure to the temperature will affect, more or less, the hatching quality and the vigor of the chick.

Where it is at all possible, especially in severe weather, it is advisable to visit the nests every 30 minutes and gather such eggs as can be gathered without disturbing hens on nests. So long as there is a hen on a given nest, the eggs under her are in no danger. Those who are fortunate enough to have double-walled and frost-proof houses are not in as much danger of loss as those whose hens are indifferently housed.

The ideal way to handle winter hatching eggs is to put them in the incubator the same day they are laid, says a writer in Successful Farming. However, this is not often possible, unless one has a large flock laying enough to fill the incubators. Some hatcheries remedy the situation by having small incubators and setting them every day or two during the season; or, where large machines are used, setting separate compartments.

Where this is impossible and the eggs must be stored a few days before placing in the machines or shipped to customers, it is best to place them in a clean and dry, but well-ventilated place, where an average temperature of about 40 to 45 degrees is maintained. A regular incubator cellar is good for this purpose; but do not place the eggs in a damp, poorly ventilated or musty vegetable cellar. If you do not have a clean cellar, it is better to place them on a ground floor where the room is heated sufficiently to keep it from freezing.

In storing eggs for hatching purposes, it is best to place them in flat wooden trays, incubator trays not in use are good for this purpose, or trays may be made along that style. A cabinet may be made of a number of these trays nailed together which will be handy and serviceable.

Turn the eggs every day from the time they are taken from the nest until they are placed in the machine. This is to prevent the germ sticking to the shell and rendering the egg worthless for incubation purposes.

Get the eggs into the machine or under hens or off to the customer at the earliest possible moment. Every day that passes lessens the chances of the utmost success. Evaporation is the constant enemy of the held-over hatching egg, and the longer this progresses the less the chance of getting a strong, viable chick.

Scientist Finds Goiter
in Minnesota Chickens

Two cases of that rarest of poultry diseases, goiter, have recently been diagnosed by Dr. H. C. H. Kernkamp, assistant professor of veterinary medicine, University of Minnesota. Both were in White Orpington hens which came from the same farm in Ramsey county.

In one of the specimens the thyroid gland had become so enlarged that it pressed against the trachea and inferior larynx and caused the former to become flattened. The heart had also become slightly displaced by the growth and the lungs were pressed against the walls of the thorax.

Records of the veterinary medicine division at university farm show that of 2,400 autopsies on poultry sent in from all parts of Minnesota for investigation and study the last six years, these two cases were the only ones of goiter observed in birds. Carpenter, a veterinary scientist of California, did not find a single case of goiter in 1,000 autopsies on chickens.

Height for Perches

Dropping boards should be level, and the perches arranged about six inches above them. The perches should be on a level, also, and of 2-by-2 material. They should be fastened to 2-by-4 supports that are hinged at the back end of the house so that the roosts can be raised out of the way while scraping the dropping boards.

Damp Sawdust Is Bad

Damp sawdust is not very desirable to use as insulation in a wooden walled poultry house, not only because the dampness is likely to increase rather than decrease, and is bad for poultry, but because damp sawdust has only a small part of the insulating value of dry sawdust. If the cool clinders were crushed into fairly uniform small pieces, it probably would work very well for insulation, but the ordinary clinders are too coarse to have much value for insulation.

Sunday School Lesson

REV. P. H. FITZWATER, D.D., D.D., of the Sunday School, kindly made the article of a lesson.

Lesson for May 31

PETER AT LYDIA AND JOPPA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:32-43.
GOLDEN TEXT—And they went forth and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following—Mark 16:20.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Wonderful
Things That Peter Did.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of Two Miracles.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Two Great Miracles.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—The Place of Miracles in the Spread of the Gospel.

In order to grasp the significance of this lesson, we should recall the condition which prevailed in the church as suggested in verse 31.

1. Freedom From Persecution.

Saul, the ringleader of the persecutors, had only recently been converted, thereby organizing their forces and causing the church to enjoy a breathing spell. This period of rest was not used for growing lax in inferior, worldly and forgetful of God, but for growth in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.

2. Spiritual Growth and Development.

Most blessed will be the results
following the times of outward peace if the members of the church will but spend time in building it up. The real meaning of the word, "edified," is built up. This does not mean merely that the members were being instructed and comforted, but that strenuous efforts on the part of individual members, as well as the body as a whole,
were being made for the advancement of the divine life. As suggested by another, this metaphor involves:

(1) A Foundation. This is Jesus Christ. No other must be laid (1 Cor.
3:12-16).

(2) Continuous progress. This means that a Christian's activities are purposeful, and that the work he undertakes moves forward with the proper progression.

(3) Persistent effort. This means that the present day's work begins the foundation upon which tomorrow's work must be built. Thus day by day his life is being raised higher and higher as each separate round of material is being laid by strenuous efforts.

(4) Completion. Finally the work is done. The building is completed, the top stone is brought forth and placed.

3. Outward Growth.
Building up within the church
causes the whole work to be admired and respected by those without. In doing them to come and identify themselves with it.

1. Peter's Tour Among the Saints
(v. 32).

This resulted in securing new converts.

2. Two Stupendous Miracles (vv.
32-43).

These were the greatest signs wrought since the days of Christ. The dreadful malady of palsy is vanquished, and a corpse is reanimated by the departed soul. The Lord had promised these signs as they went forth with the gospel message. They were given as encouragements to the disciples to convince them that the gospel did not lose any of its power by being spread, but rather it increased in power.

1. The Healing of Aeneas (v. 32-35).

This man's needy condition appealed to Peter just as men today should appeal to us in their semi-dead state.
Like his Master, Peter could not refuse the needed help. In this he does not direct attention to himself, but confidently appeals to the power in the name of Christ. He said, "Jesus Christ, heal him." The man who had kept his bed for eight long years immediately arose and made his bed.
Peter wisely kept this miracle from being the end by making it the means to the end—that end was the preaching of the gospel.

2. The Raising of Dorcas (vv. 36-43).

This woman was full of good works and almsdeeds which she "did," not what she talked of doing. She was a practical Christian woman. Her death was a real loss as was evidenced by the mourning of those who had been helped. If all professing Christian women would use their needles as Dorcas did there would be much less of that profitless fancywork done.
When this good woman fell sick and died, the disciples sent for Peter.

This shows their growth in faith in the Divine power. Peter again imitated the example of Jesus in waiting till all forth. At his command her soul came back to live in her body.
This again caused the people to be glad on the Lord.

In God's Purpose

In no case does origin determine value. From the religious point of view, the dignity and worth of man lie in any case in God's purpose concerning him, and that purpose is not affected by the particular method of his working.—Henry Churchill King.

Much Difference

There is as much difference between self-reliance and self-conceit as there is between the North and South poles
—all the difference in the world!

FULTON, KY.

WHY BUYING FARM LANDS IN FULTON AND ADJOINING COUNTIES IS A GOOD INVESTMENT

To view the fertile lands of Fulton and adjoining counties is enough to give any one a new inspiration of love for the country in which we live, surpassing in productiveness the high priced lands of many parts of the country.

Fulton and surrounding counties is in the midst of one of the finest agricultural sections of the entire South. The surface is mostly a rolling level inclining toward the Mississippi river. The soil is as versatile as it is rich and will grow to perfection corn, wheat, cotton, all cereals, clover, alfalfa, grasses, tobacco, the dark variety; fruits, potatoes and vegetables of all kinds.

It is an ideal stock section, on account of the freedom with which grasses grow. The country is well watered by living streams. It would be hard indeed, to find any section of country so well adapted to so many leading crops, to stock raising and all kindred lines of agriculture, and it is inhabited by a happy, prosperous, progressive people.

During his visit to Fulton county some years ago, Morgan O. Hughes, the best authority in America on farming, said it was not factories Fulton county needed, the production of the soil was sufficient.

Prof E. S. Good, head of animal husbandry of the College of Agriculture during his visit some years ago, said, "Blessed is that county that can raise the crops and stock such as raised here."

During their visit here, Messrs. Hughes and Good talked to the farmers and all who heard the addresses were benefited, because every word uttered by these gentlemen was instructive, giving each and everyone an inspiration for higher ideal on the farm.

No farmer in this section is ashamed for you to view his beautiful fields of growing crops, sheep, hogs, cattle, etc. A trip through this section of the country will cure any man who has the "Florida fever."

INVEST IN FULTON PROPERTY AND GROW WITH THE TOWN

Fulton, Ky., is one of the most progressive, healthful small cities to be found anywhere and property values are the lowest. It has a population of about 6,500 and is growing steadily; more than one hundred homes having been built within the past year with extensive railroad improvements in course of construction which will make Fulton the hub of the great Illinois Central, destined to be one of the large terminal points on its system.

Having two main lines of railroad, Fulton has direct through service to and from Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis and Chicago on the North; New Orleans, Birmingham, Memphis, Nashville, Atlanta and Jacksonville on the South, making it one of the most accessible cities in the "Jackson Purchase." Being the largest city between Cairo, Ill., and Jackson, Tenn., it is the distributing center of a large and rapidly developing section; the commercial center of Western Kentucky and Northwestern Tennessee. It is a city of business enterprise and progressive ideas; a city of thrifty, intelligent, cultured, hospitable people, a city of churches and Christian homes.

"The Square Deal" characterizes its municipal life, and integrity is a distinguishing feature of its business life; the atmosphere of its social life is pure and wholesome, while the tone of its moral and religious life is high and refreshing.

Its banking institutions are safe and accommodating; its capitalists are ever ready to assist in establishing and maintaining manufacturing enterprises, its real estate men are always in position to offer inducements in building sites for homes, business houses, or factories, and the city government will do its part to encourage the new-comer on every hand, and only "Fair Play" is asked of all who become citizens of our city.

The public schools of Fulton are unsurpassed. The eight churches of Fulton represent the leading denominations.

A splendid water system, pure and refreshing.

Her climate not only makes Fulton a pleasant place at all seasons, but is such as to be conducive to healthfulness, and the country surrounding is such as to insure the future of Fulton.

But Fulton can boast of something greater than a city of material prosperity in the midst of a fertile region; more promising than a city producing only wares and merchandise; grander than a city made up of factories, banks and stock exchanges; more to be lauded than a city of much extent and traffic; more to be desired than any other products of civilization—For she can boast of her homes. These are her pride; in them is her happiness; on them her hopes center; from them radiate that influence which has made the future promise better things.

For the professional man, the business man, the laboring man and the capitalist, Fulton has a welcome.

"Come, and if you go away, you will then return to stay."

JULY 4 SELECTED AS DEFENSE DAY

COOLIDGE INSISTED ARMISTICE DAY BE LEFT ALONE

TEST TO BE VOLUNTARY

States Will Not Have to "Mobilize" If They Do Not Want to, President Notifies the War Department

Washington—President Coolidge gave his approval to a national defense day test, but he put his foot down on holding the demonstration on Armistice Day.

In a letter to Dwight F. Davis, acting secretary of war, the president said:

"If you consider it desirable to hold the defense test this year, I would suggest July 4 as being a most appropriate day, otherwise I think it desirable to get authority of Congress if any day not a national holiday is proposed."

At the same time, the president made it plain to Mr. Davis that in his communications to the governors of the states it should be emphasized that the test is purely voluntary. He added:

"I mention that for the reason that their action must necessarily be predicated on what they consider to be the best interests of their states."

War Department officials indicated that the president's suggestion would be followed and that July 4 will be national defense day.

Last year, some one called national defense day "mobilization day" and there was quite a fuss about it. The Democrats charged militarism, but the mobilization was not large enough to be classed as militarism.

A conference of general staff officers to begin work on plans for the master was called at once.

Mr. Davis and his military advisors have felt that such a limited period of preparation would be insufficient, but they decided immediately that the educational value of the demonstration in promoting public understanding of the new military policy which requires national wide civilian co-operation warranted efforts to hold a creditable muster July 4.

Incidentally the president's suggestion of the July 4 date and its acceptance at the War Department, result in the test being held on the fifty-third anniversary of his birth.

BORGLUM YEARNING TO WORK ON MEMORIAL

Has Made New Models for Stone Mountain.

San Antonio, Texas.—Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, around whom the Stone Mountain Memorial hot discussion has raged, has completed new models in place of those he broke several weeks ago upon his retirement from the association.

Gorglum is visiting friends here. The new models have just been completed.

"I am not going to fight the association," he declared. "I will wait until the present board falls of its own accord, which, it will undoubtedly do, because of lack of financial resources."

When he was asked whether he will go back to complete the memorial, he answered:

"Would I go to get my child if he were kidnapped and left at the corner, because the kidnaper could not carry him off?"

The sculptor seems to be in good health and full of enthusiasm for the project as originally planned.

LIEUT. KYLE KILLED IN LEAP FROM PLANE

Lakehurst, N. J.—Lieut. James I. Kyle, Jr., of Lynchburg, Va., was instantly killed here when he either leaped or fell off the wing of an airplane when the motor went bad. Kyle and Lieut. James Schildauffer were on the wings of the plane to make parachute jumps, but Kyle's parachute did not open until he was a few feet above the ground. The plane was only 200 feet up.

Chief Petty Officer Starr, who is in charge of the parachute school at the naval air station here, signaled the two men to leap when the motor gave trouble. Lieut. Schildauffer released his parachute and was pulled off the wing, landing safely. Kyle's parachute failed to open. Chief Starr was in the plane to direct the jumping, while H. E. Juno piloted it.

SIR JOHN FRENCH YPRES HERO, DIES

HIS RETREAT FROM MONS ONE OF TRIUMPHS OF STRATEGY.

ADMIRER OF NAPOLEON

Leader of the "Old Contemptibles" Dies at a Time When His Name Is Under Cloud in Own Country. Asquith Slighted Him Recently.

Deal, Eng.—The death here of the earl of Ypres, who as Field Marshal French was a British World War figure, came at a time when his great reputation was somewhat under a cloud and while controversy raged over his military strategy in France. The earl, who was 73 years old, had been ill since March 19, when he underwent an operation for appendicitis in a private hospital in London.

The controversy concerning the earl of Ypres has been before the British public particularly since he published his book on the war entitled "1914," which contained much outspoken and adverse criticism of his subordinates and some French generals, and which did not except Lord Kitchener. The argument has been especially bitter concerning the battle of Le Chateau and General Smith-Dorrien's part in that battle. Just at the time of the operation on the earl, Smith-Dorrien had published a book making a spirited defense against the earl of Ypres' attacks on him in connection with the battle.

It is considered a coincidence that a week ago in a public speech Lord Oxford, formerly Herbert H. Asquith, paid tribute to the five great men of the war, Lords Haig, Jellicoe, Kitchener, Gen. Sir John Cowans and ex-Prime Minister David Lloyd George, but made no mention of the earl of Ypres. This significant omission was much commented upon at the time.

The earl of Ypres' command of the "old contemptibles," as Great Britain's first small expeditionary force to France became known, will, however, always be remembered with gratitude by his countrymen who will desire to honor him in his death. There is also the memory of his long and great services to his country in many fields of public endeavor, including his services as lord lieutenant of Ireland during the troublesome times after the end of the war until the creation of the Irish Free State.

The earl of Ypres never fully recovered from the operation for appendicitis, he underwent in a London nursing home in March. His condition had improved by the end of April, but about a fortnight ago he had a relapse, and he was taken to his home in Deal last Sunday. He was said to have stood the journey well, and this gave rise to renewed hope of recovery, but as it now appears the doctors concealed his real condition, and he was only taken home to die.

Rising to the highest places and honors in British military circles, the earl of Ypres often was characterized as "the luckiest man in the army," and French luck became almost proverbial among the British soldiers. Later events, however, caused a difference of opinion as to whether the luck had been on the soldier's side or on that of the British army and the British empire.

Perhaps the most important event of his career which had to do with these two ideas was the historic battle of Ypres in the World War, the winning of which barred the channel ports from the Germans and saved England from probable invasion. It was at Ypres that the Germans first resorted to their deadly gas attacks a form of warfare that impelled the British commander to deplore the fact that an army would stoop so low.

Crippled for Life.

New York.—Hit by an automobile while playing on the sidewalk last October, Little Catherine O'Brien can never play again like other children, but at least she is to have the best surgical attention that the $55,000 awarded to her in supreme court can obtain.

French Finance Plan Approved.

Paris.—The French cabinet at a meeting approved the preliminary measures of Finance Minister Camille Auloy for balancing the budget. Details were not revealed, but it is understood the plans including levying of additional taxation and the withdrawal of receipts from Germany under the Dawes plan payments from the budget, so as part can be devoted to payment of interrelated debts.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED

On Tuesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vodie Hardin on Third street, occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie Davis to Mr. Louis B. Weeks.

As the beautiful strains of the Wedding March, rendered by Mrs. Lloyd Emery, floated through the rooms, the bridal party entered. Overhead was a beautifully constructed arch festooned with delicate and fragrant flowers intermingled with Cupid's darts and hearts.

Rev. J. V. Freeman, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke the words which united the two hearts for the remainder of life's journey, while Mrs. Emery softly played Mendelssohn's Spring Song.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Ira D. Seay sweetly sang, "Until," accompanied by Mrs. Emery.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of Irene Castle model of poudre blue crepe, patterned in the ensemble fashion, with accessories in harmony. Her flowers were a corsage of valley lilies and sweetheart roses.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Davis, of Vinita, Okla. She is a young lady of many graces of mind and person, who is capable of filling the home she will adorn with happiness and will prove to be truly a helpmate and companion by the husband she has chosen of honor with her hand.

The groom is a son of Mrs. P. H. Weeks and is considered one of the substantial and coming young business men of Fulton, being a member of the firm of P. H. Weeks' Sons.

After hearty congratulations were extended, the happy young couple left by motor for St. Louis, thence to Vinita, Oklahoma.

Upon their return to Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Weeks will make their home with the groom's mother, on Third street.

The congratulations on the happy event are numerous and the paper is greatly pleased on this occasion to add its hearty good wishes to those being so freely extended.
