They are Liver Pills

Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They act directly on the liver, make more bile secreted. This is why they cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headache. Ask your doctor if he knows a better laxative pill. We certainly do not. If he does, then use his kind. We have no secret! We publish the facts for the benefit of all. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

After sixty years' TESTING, I have no uncertain judgment as to the CHARACTER and ABILITY of the men and women who come from her walls. She prefers to be THOROUGH rather than SUPERFICIAL. She does not place chief emphasis upon cheapness (though the expense of board may be had at cost), nor upon short and quick results, knowing that FOUNDATION WORK in CHARACTER and REAL SCHOLARSHIP require time and patience. Free scholarship to young ministers and to BONA FIDE TEACHERS. For catalogue and booklet write President J. W. CONGER, Jackson, Tenn.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY, COUNTY AND STATE.

Vol. X. No. 7

FULTON, KY., WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 17, 1907.

10 cents per week

AS TO THAT COWHIDING

We ask just a word of explanation for some of the "news" items that have appeared in the Leader recently—all of which were inserted without authority of the President and Editor, and most of the directors of the paper.

Mr. Ayres, the President and Editor of the Leader Company owns a majority of the stock in said company and has been away from Fulton for some time, till recently.

There appeared in these columns a few days ago an account of the whipping of Rev. Hawley, a minister, for the supposed breaking up of a certain man's home in Fulton. The article was written by the attorney of the man who claimed that his home had been destroyed.

The unwritten law was appealed to (in the article) and the man employed by the Leader to whom the article was furnished by H. T. Smith was assured that he (Smith) would be responsible for said article. The article was unsigned and the Leader does not claim the name of the author.

We are not proposing at this time to take the side of any body, but when a lot of cowards take a man out and beat him unmercifully and appeal to the unwritten law, we do not propose to let the Leader stand, or be used for their conduct.

The husband, we suppose, had a right to adopt any tactics he might desire to avenge his wrong, but when four or more ruffians hand-cuffed and assaulted this minister, and alleged he was a home breaker, then the "unwritten law was a farce."

We have always stood on the side of right and law, but have never favored a subterfuge for "revenue" or for the protection of "revenue."

Our sympathies are on no side of this case, and will not be till we learn who is right and who is wrong. We may later take up these men one by one who assaulted Hawley. As to the husband, we have naught to say just now.

As to the authorship of this article, no one will have trouble in discovering it, as anyone at the Leader office is authorized to furnish the information. Unwritten law is one thing and the assistance of a gang of cowards to carry out a well formed plan another.

We favor the unwritten law as strongly as any man but abhor crime committed in its name!

AN UNFORTUN- ATE AFFAIR

Last night as Eugene Gordon was sitting in Milner's furnishing store talking to friends, Laban Burton came in and walking up to Gordon abused him roundly, and in the course of his remarks warned him to leave town and told him if he appeared on the streets of Fulton to-day he would kill him. Burton said he had made Gordon leave town once before.

It is said that Gordon replied that he proposed to remain here and would be on the streets of Fulton to-day.

This morning Gordon and his father were both in town, as was Burton also, but at press hour nothing sensational had occurred. Friends of both parties have been doing what they could to keep down trouble.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. Burton became estranged. Both were raised here and have a wide acquaintance throughout the state. Mrs. Burton was Miss Mattie Morris before her marriage and has always been popular in local society circles. Mr. Burton is well known in business circles and is connected with the Fulton Lumber Co.

$250 REWARD

The National Board of Fire Underwriters are offering a reward of $250 for the detection, conviction and punishment of the party, or parties, who may on trial be found by the Court guilty of the crime of incendiaryism or arson, in firing the Carr building on Lake street on June 3 and 5th. This offer is good for one year and will no doubt cause a renewed effort on the part of detectives to ferret out the case, as it is generally believed that the above fires were of incendiary origin.

Leonard White Dead.

Leonard White who has been a patient sufferer of that dread disease, consumption, was called to his heavenly home this afternoon. Leonard had just returned from Texas where he had been in search of health, but feeling that his time to die was near at hand, came home with that expectation, as he wanted to leave this cruel world surrounded by loved ones. Leonard was about 19 years of age. The sad news reached us just about press hour. The Leader sympathizes with the bereaved.

It is a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Pulmonary diseases. Every mother should keep supplied with this wonderful cough medicine. For sale at Bennett Bros.

WILL FINISH THIS WEEK.

Men Sent Here to Re-rate Town
Getting Along Rapidly
With Their Work.

The men sent here by the Kentucky Fire underwriters to re-rate the town are moving along rapidly with their work. They have already finished rating East Fulton and will complete West Fulton this week.

It is hardly expected that rates will be reduced. In fact, in some instances, they will be raised. When a town has as many incendiary fires as Fulton the people have to pay the bill. A new chemical engine and a few other additions to the fire department, with two or three paid firemen would make a big change in the rates. Our volunteer fire department is all right and does good work, but think what they could do with up-to-date fire fighting devices.

BIG IMPROVEMENT.

The office in the Meadows block that is being converted into a store room is nearly ready for occupancy. The Par- is Drug Co., one of Fulton's leading drug firms, is moving the swiftest drug stores in the city. This also gives the above firm an ideal location next door to postoffice. The improvement is a great one over their old stand, notwithstanding that they have always enjoyed an excellent business.

AN OLD RELIC.

A solid walnut chair, said to be about eighty years old, and a wedding gift of Mrs. William Nolen, deceased, was being packed for shipment at Joe Wade's furniture establishment this morning. The chair is now the property of Mrs. Nolen's grand daughter, Mrs. Gillie Hays who resides at St. Joseph Mo. and where the chair was shipped to-day.

BUYS ANOTHER SHOW OUTFIT.

Wayne Thomas is in Mayfield to-day making arrangements to start another 5 cent show in that city, provided he can make a deal with parties to buy an outfit already located there.

The Leader is the recognized advertising medium of Fulton and Western Kentucky.

New Location.

A. J. Burrow has moved his piano and organ store into the room next door to the book store, in the Meadows Block.

For Sale Cheap.

WATER WORKS DOING BUSINESS

For the first fifteen days in July the Illinois Central railroad has used over 5,000,000 gallons of water from the Fulton water works. This quantity of water under the contract price amounts to about $253.00. Captain Tyler says if he had a few more customers as good as the 1,000 he would go fishing.

SMALL FIRE

The smoke house of Grand DeMyer's market caught fire this afternoon and was totally destroyed. Mr. DeMyer had been rendering lard and left a 22-gallon kettle on the fire in the house while he went to dinner. The contents of the kettle became too hot and caught fire. The fire company responded quickly and extinguished the blaze. Mr. DeMyer's loss will probably aggregate $150.

The End.
A little while and all is ended—
The life we live—and death—
Our hate and love, on cycles waning,
But follow on where Fate is reigning.
Our striving, straining, laughing, weeping,
Complete, will find a kindred reaping!
The gold we won, or treasure hidden,
The love we gained or love unbidden,
Our failure or success are blended—
And all is naught when Life is ended!

Before we came the world was throbbing,
Was filled with laughter and with sobbing;
Was warm with hope and love and gladness,
With human woes and human sadness!
And try its valor with our battle—
And after us still will be raging!
The changes that the years are bringing!
But always Life and Death are blended—
A little while and all is ended!

A skull and cross-bones and a wreath,
A Bible, resting underneath—
And under all the line obituary,
That bluntly questions: "WHAT'S THE USE!"

The Fourth of July.

Somehow the Fourth of July of to-day seems tame and listless compared to the Fourth of our boyhood days. We suppose it is dyspepsia, or point of view, but, anyhow, we are honest when we casually remark on the utter shortsightedness of the celebrations of to-day. Now, when we were a boy, there was Bill Sprunt. Bill was an old soldier with several good streaks in him, two of them being early vegetables and patriotism. William was the town cannonader. He made an annual canvass every July 3 to secure funds with which to buy powder for the village cannon, an awesome bit of ordnance that never failed to lift up its thunderous voice when primed and rammed by William Sprunt!

On the morning of July 4, along about the time ma was getting worried over Bille and her beau in the hammock, Bill would let 'er loose for the first time!

"Boom!"

A detonation rent the air for miles, echoing and re-echoing among the hills we knew and loved. The town folks turned over in bed and tried hard to go to sleep, realizing that Morpheus and Bill Sprunt were started on a battle royal! Then the town had boys pulled the church bell ropes until the sextons had epileptic fits. The extra board of the C. & E. R. was in Memphis last night. The extra board of the C. & E. R. was in Memphis last night.

And biggest batrachian in all the puddle was William Sprunt. Charge after charge he fired, while early pedestrians gathered about and cheered our hero in his army clothes. All day long he held the fort, a powder-stained, flag-loving, noise-creating, worshiped savior of his country.

But, alas, as night came on and the noise died little by little of weariness, Bill Sprunt would steal away to where the adder lurked, to seek false patriotism in the stinging cup.

Late at night the veteran of the war, the field was taken home, mute and as helpless as the town cannon, but he had done his duty well.

Year after year he primed and fired the shot that sent the Fourth of July message around our little world. Others endeavored to steal in upon his honors by being wounded on the July field of battle, but triumphantly he held his own. Despite his lapses from sobriety's path, public sentiment accorded him a place of honor at the touch-hole of the town cannon. He had his bad streaks, but when St. Peter needs a cannonader up above, we feel sure that Bill Sprunt will wear a crown above his soldier's blue.

But, anyhow, we know the Fourth of to-day don't amount to much compared to those we celebrated when a boy.

Rights of a Country Editor.

According to the terms and conditions of the past now in use we are privileged to walk on the right of way of the railroad, either in the center of the track or on the ties outside the rails. We are further privileged to take with us our wife, the devil and the office cat, if we wish. Frequent stopovers are also allowed and the amount of baggage allowed is only limited by our enduring qualities and our physical possibilities. During the first year of this arrangement the ties will be left as they are, the next year let us hope, they will be planked or put a little further apart, as they are a little close together to accommodate the stride of average newspaper men when in a hurry to go somewhere—P. D. Swick.

Weather Report.

Flowers and bees and sunny weather, Blooms and breezes all mixed together— This was the spring that made the bow! Northers and snow and chilly air, Bluster and blow beyond compare— This is the lemon they hand us now!

A GOOD RESULT.

Under the operation of the new pure food laws, baking powders now generally bear on the labels a statement of the ingredients. This is of utmost importance because of the harmful ingredients used in many cases.

Royal Baking Powder is known to be the only baking powder made of Royal Grape Cream of Tartar, and this no doubt explains its greatly increased sale here.

Careful housekeepers are taking advantage of the protection which the law affords, and turn on the back of the label before adopting any brand for use in the home.

When in place of the words Cream of Tartar the "alum," "aluminum" or "phosphate of lime" appear among the ingredients, they heed the warning and avoid baking powders containing these substitutes.

The Masher.

He wanted to flirt with the maiden in blue.

But she stared at his feet!

He bowed and he ogled—and winked at her, too.

But she stared at his feet!

He feared that his shoes were not looking just right.

He gazed some and she noticed his plight—

And she stared at his feet!

His face got as red as a broiled lobster.

But she stared at his feet!

He shifted them some like to get a good view.

Still she stared at his feet!

He couldn't see anything wrong with the style.

But why did she rubber so, all of the while?

And she stared at his feet!

Perhaps 'twas his socks that were catching her eye.

But she stared at his feet!

Oh, maybe his garter had missed and slipped by.

And she stared at his feet!

With a face like a can of red paint in the sun.

The masher jumped up and he left on the run.

And she stared at his feet!

She said to a friend who had noticed his pace:

"That's better than stepping a Cholly-Boy's face."

You just stare at his feet!"

Idiotish Thoughts.

When a man wants a woman to get right down to business, he should announce before he proposes that this time will be the last.

The young man turned down the gas, the young lady turned down the young man, and her father put him out!

It is better to be a busy little body in this world than a little busy-body.

Many a man who thinks he can run the boss's business better than the boss, can't run even a garden back of his house. P. S.—This does not refer to the spring of 1907. It is "generally speaking."

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, but the older a man gets the more likely he finds in the bottom of the breast.

Yes, dear, if the man really tell over the handles of the wheelbarrow, skinned his shin, broke his new straw hat and tore his trousers—all without swearing, you are safe in accepting him. He has a most lovable and lovely disposition.

And means to go on a basting thread.

Idiotish Thoughts.

When a man wants a woman to get right down to business, he should announce before he proposes that this time will be the last.

The young man turned down the gas, the young lady turned down the young man, and her father put him out!

It is better to be a busy little body in this world than a little busy-body.

The girl is not always angry at the mustache against which she sets her face.

Many a man who thinks he can run the boss's business better than the boss, can't run even a garden back of his house. P. S.—This does not refer to the spring of 1907. It is "generally speaking."

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, but the older a man gets the more likely he finds in the bottom of the breast.

Yes, dear, if the man really tell over the handles of the wheelbarrow, skinned his shin, broke his new straw hat and tore his trousers—all without swearing, you are safe in accepting him. He has a most lovable and lovely disposition.

And means to go on a basting thread.

GREAT

MID-SUMMER CLEARING SALE!

In announcing our Great Mid-Summer Clearing Sale, we come to our friends and patrons with a straight forward business proposition. It has always been our custom, as well as that of other merchants to anticipate the wants of our customers every season. In order to do this and to offer our goods at attractive prices, we have been compelled to buy in large lots.

Anticipating the usual mild and early spring which we generally have in this country, we this year bought an unusually large and attractive stock—however the mild and early spring failed to materialize, and now when we are preparing to buy our Fall stocks warm weather goods are just beginning to move. We can't wait for them to go out in the regular way now; the time is too short. We must prepare for our Fall and Winter stocks, yet before we do this we must dispose of the stock now on hand. There is only one way to do it—CUT THE PRICE. With this object in view, we have gone through our entire stock sparing neither lot nor line, and have reduced prices (in many cases the reductions amount to 50 per cent from the always exceedingly reasonable figures) to a point that will move the goods quickly.

If low prices will clear this stock, we intend to do it; for it is one of the fixed principles of our business that we WILL NOT carry goods over from one season to another. For just this reason we are offering this stock of High-grade, strictly seasonable merchandise at prices far below its real value—in many instances much below the cost to manufacture. Remember that while these goods are becoming unseasonable to the dealer, they are now and will be for several months, strictly seasonable for the consumers.

It is our intention to make this the greatest bargaining event in the merchandising history of Fulton and vicinity. You may come expecting the biggest values you ever saw for your money—we will not disappoint you, and put our personal guarantee of your entire satisfaction back of every transaction.

We extend you a cordial invitation to call at our store, look through the stock, get our prices, and figure up the saving on your purchases. We guarantee you many profitable and pleasant surprises. Come in and see how we redeem our promises—Will you do it? Remember the Sale will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, July 20, and will continue for ten days.

REMEMBER the Best things go first. If you don't come early some one else will get your share of the Bargains. Come early and often, and don't forget that the sale begins Saturday, July 20, at 9 a. m.

A STEADY DRAIN.

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Makes You Ill, Languid Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual draining of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcasting the seed of disease. Loss of Albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Fulton cures prove it.

Mrs. W. A. Harpole, living corner Fourth and Pearl streets Fulton, Ky., says: "For the past four years, Doan's Kidney Pills have been just as effective in stopping backache in my husbands case as they were when they first came to his notice in the summer of 1903. They have always warded off to be recurrences of backache and always proved conclusively to him to be a genuine kidney remedy. His work is heavy and requires more or less strain on the muscles of the back which at times caused him much pain and distress. When ever he feels an attack coming on, he at once resorts to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, procuring them at Irby Bros. drug store, and they have never yet failed to give him prompt and effective relief. He has the greatest confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills, and recommends them at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
