BRITAIN IN ACCORD WITH THE FRENCH

AGREES TO FURNISH ARMY IF FRANCE AGAIN INVADDED.

RHINE IS THE FRONTIER

German Consent Will Bring Into Being a Four-Power Guarantee Against War in Western Europe—Italy Not In.

Geneva.—Great Britain and France reached a complete accord on the problem of European security, and Germany, to whom the accord will soon be sent, agrees to the conditions, a four power pact will come into being based on the inviolability of the Rhine frontier as delimited by the Versailles treaty.

The pact will include Great Britain, France, Belgium and Germany. Italy is not included, though the text will be communicated to her for reasons of courtesy, and Poland and Czechoslovakia are not directly affected though they will benefit by the operation of France's alliance with them.

The next step in the negotiations will be the dispatch by France to Germany, also in behalf of Great Britain and Belgium, of a letter replying to Germany's offer to negotiate a pact of guarantees for the German frontiers bordering on France and Belgium. There are some indications of disappointment in Polish and Czechoslovakian circles that their countries do not specifically enter the domain of the proposed pact.

It is understood that Great Britain agrees to come to the support of France with her entire military, naval and air forces in case France is attacked or in case of any aggression across the Rhine district. This constitutes an elaboration of an obligation already contained in the Versailles treaty whereby the allies agree to regard as a hostile act any infringement of the demilitarized zone between France and Germany.

Great Britain gives rebirth to the old Wilson tripartite pact on the ground that her national interests demand peace in Western Europe. She declines to commit herself to guarantees concerning Germany's eastern frontiers, because she realizes that the British dominions would not approve of such a commitment.

Italy's exclusion from the pact is due to the fact that it is based on the Rhineland, and Italy is free to make a separate agreement with Austria and Germany.

The conclusion of the Rhineland pact is conditioned on Germany's entering the League of Nations, and this agreement, like the others, will be linked with the league covenant and operated under it.

ITALY CAN'T PAY OFF, SAYS CABINET LEADER

Officially informs Italian Senate to That Effect.

Rome.—Finance Minister De Stefani announced in the Italian Senate that Italy, at the present moment, was not in a position to consider the funding of war debts. "No systematization of the inter-allied war debts can be accepted," he declared, "unless subordinated by the possibility of payment, and such possibility can only be offered by the financial situation of a state and by the budget of international payments which budget today can not support any further burdens."

Referring to the credit of $50,000,000, which the government had arranged with the American firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., the finance minister asserted that it was not a debt and could not be transformed into a debt, as, he added, the officials of the banks of emission, handling the credit, were governed by rigid instructions not to use more credit than can be converted immediately to avoid the risk of needing gold covering.

A GREAT DAY IN FULTON

Co-operation and community spirit was never more beautifully demonstrated than on Sunday, in Fulton, when nearly four thousand men assembled at Carr's Park to take part in the day's program sponsored by Marshall Alexander Post 72, American Legion, resulting in a glorious victory in the attendance contest between the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Church and the Dyersburg Methodist Church and Busy Men's Bible Class of the Fulton Methodist Church.
The losers are to give the winners a big fish fry on Reelfoot Lake.

It was an ideal summer day with a gentle breeze sufficient to make 80 degrees pleasant beneath the giant forest oaks and in the large open auditorium.

While the great multitude was gathering the sweet strains of music by Fulton Band No.
45 enlivened the occasion.

The address by Congressman Gordon Browning was a masterpiece. This brilliant young orator of the Eighth Congressional District of Tennessee thrilled the audience with his oratory and every word of his lecture had a ring of true Americanism in it.

We heartily agree with the Hon. H. T. Smith in saying "the best was saved for the last."

The program was interspersed with music and singing. The splendid singing by the choir and the beautiful solo by Mrs.
L. E. Holliday, of Dresden, and the duets by Misses Kimberlin and Golden, were greatly enjoyed.

At 11:00 o'clock Rev. C. H.
Warren, pastor of the First Baptist Church, delivered a sermon to the crowd, augmented by women, estimated at nearly 5,000. Dr. Warren's message was inspiring and said to have been the best this popular pastor ever delivered in Fulton. Elsewhere in this issue we publish his sermon complete. Read it carefully. Every word has a meaning applicable to each individual of this community, and if lived up to will make Fulton the brightest spot on the map and an ideal place in which to live.

At 2:30 in the afternoon the Masons held their Memorial Services, and again Congressman Browning inspired his hearers with an address, declared to have been the best ever heard in Fulton on an occasion of this kind. The music and singing was unusually good and greatly enjoyed.

We are delighted to have had Congressman Browning with us and all who took part in making the recent contest a grand and glorious success.
We trust that the splendid efforts put forth in the campaign will be for everlasting good and that Fulton will some day be recognized as one of the biggest Sunday school, church going towns in the county. Just bear in mind at all times that cooperation and community spirit as displayed Sunday will make our town a happier place in which to live.

WHAT COMMUNITY SPIRIT MEANS

The recent contest which was waged between the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Church of Fulton and the Men's class of the church at Dyersburg, awake a new spirit in Fulton. Too long in past years had Fulton been in the throes of slumbering inactivity.
But that state of dormancy has passed with the ushering in of the campaign to increase the attendance of the Busy Men's class.

Beyond all doubt this contest has proven that where there is a thriving community spirit and intensive efforts are made to accomplish the set goal, success is awaiting just a step ahead. It is up to the people of a community as a whole to combine their efforts in order to obtain the desirable. The prosperity and happiness of a municipality or community lies within the power in which the united efforts of every man and woman are exercised. It was unison and conformity that brought Fulton out of the contest in the lead over Dyersburg.

Men dropped all other matters to make an extensive campaign in the interest of the community services which were held at the Carr Park last Sunday. Business and home duties were forgotten for a while.
The civic pride of a community was at stake, and ways and means had to be provided so that a record breaking crowd would attend the all-day services and help Fulton win in the contest. When such vim and vitality is put into a campaign something is bound to break somewhere. In this case Fulton went over the top, and broke through Dyersburg's defense. Nor would the local class have been victorious if the people had not responded willingly and readily to the trumpet call of Fulton's light brigade. It was a gala day for Fulton, and will go down as one of the most memorable days in the history of the city.

The contest performed a twofold duty. First, it increased attendance of the Men's Bible Class and also church attendance generally, reaching into the most remote parts of this section and urging the people to attend services. Second, and without intention, it drew men and women from other sections to Fulton. Although the contest was not planned to bring people to Fulton just to attract attention, those who came to Fulton Sunday will remember the meeting and the place where it was held. So in a way Fulton was benefited by the advertising campaign. Advertising means development and expansion. Thousands are attracted to Florida and California because those states are well advertised in newspapers and magazines.

Besides attracting outsiders advertising is largely responsible for stimulating the spirit of enthusiasm in local people and in helping them to get a broader vision of their opportunities.
The live town is often made alive by virtue of local advertising. The dead town is one in which comparatively little advertising is done.

Today the most important thing in towns of the South is to wake up the local people, and this can come only through the tonic of cooperative efforts and well worded advertising.
Fulton has awakened to the footsteps of progress, and it is up to the people to lend their support and cooperation. Here is to the progressive town.

QUICK—OR DEAD?

Is your child quick—or dead?

This is the rather pertinent inquiry or a warning issued in connection with National Safety Week.

The reason for it is: Of 19, 000 persons killed by automobiles in the United States in 1924, 5,700 were children.

The assumption then is that the child that is not quick and on the alert every moment of the time spent on the streets, is of few years on earth.

Reckless autoists take this terrible toll of child life, and since they are not being curbed very rapidly, it behooves parents to use the greatest precautions in guarding their children against such an untimely death.

A study of statistics regarding this phase of automobile fatalities shows that the overwhelming majority of youngsters are killed while running errands are going to and from school. The loss of life among children playing in the streets is comparatively small.

No community escapes the blight of this ever present menace. Though accidents are less numerous in small towns, they are no less in proportion to population than in the large cities.

Though speeding, reckless automobile drivers may be punished, the vengeance of the law will not bring back the little life that might have been spared, had more care been exercised.

CHURCHES—GUARDIANS OF THE MORALS OF THE COMMUNITY

That the churches in any community exercise a most potent influence for good, is conceded by all except the most rabid or blatant infidel, whose egotism and self-conceit blind his mind to the inestimable value of Christianity. But to what extent are the churches valuable in this community? The Gallilean Teacher said of His disciples: "Ye are the light of the world." "Ye are the salt of the earth." Hence, if all His disciples are the light of the world and the salt of the earth, the logical conclusion is that they are the light of the community in which they live.

These declarations, however, do not preclude the possibility of the light going out—being hid under a bushel or the salt losing its saltiness. But certainly no reasonable or fair minded person would accuse the churches of being wholly composed of united bands of hypocrites. For it matters not to what extent sin, in its many forms, may prevail in the ranks of the church, you will find, within its membership, consecrated men and women. And it should be borne in mind that it only requires a few of the above-mentioned class to become the light of the community.

There is not a man in our town, however indifferent to the claims of Christianity, who would want to rear his family here if there were no churches or church influence, for he at once recognizes them as the guardians of the morals of the community. The high moral standing of our city is due to the fact that it has been permeated by Christian influence and education, such as have radiated from the various church organizations established here.

CARLISLE-FULTON ROAD CONTRACTS LET

Low bids on two federal aid construction projects in Carlisle and Fulton counties were announced at the State highway department Tuesday. They were:

Federal aid project 131, section B, Carlisle, 6.97 miles, grade and drain, Bardwell-Clinton road, Costello Brothers company, Knoxville, Tenn., $62,622.25.

Federal aid project 130, sections B and C, Fulton, 6.087 miles, grade and drain, Fulton-Hickman road, Costello Brothers company, $54,590.20.

The highway commission met to award the contracts, to hear county delegations and to recommend federal aid. The contracts went to Costello Brothers, the low bidders on the two projects, the only projects considered. Governor Fields sat with the commission.

Put an ad in this paper, then,
regardless of the weather, the fellow you want to

If he is a prospective buyer

One extra buyer often pays

An ad in this paper reaches

First Baptist Church Lays Corner Stone For New Building

On Wednesday evening, June 3, 1925 at 7:00 p. m., a large congregation of the members and friends of the First Baptist Church, met at the church building in an impressive Corner Stone service. The huge lime stone had been placed in the corner the day before by the contractor and everything was made ready for the service. The pastor, Rev. C. H. Warren, was in charge of the service. Cars were parked for some distance away while a great crowd lined the streets in both directions. After a song and a brief prayer led by the pastor of the church, a brief history of the church was read. Appropriate scripture bearing upon Jesus, the true and tried stone was read. The roll of all the church officers and officers of the various organizations, consisting of more than one hundred names was read and ordered placed in the corner stone.

E. Goldsby, one of the deacons and a trustee of the church made an interesting speech on the meaning of the church. He developed his talk along the idea of a home. The talk was both instructive and inspiring. As the iron box containing a copy of the Bible and many other interesting mementos was being placed in the vault of the stone a beautiful and touching prayer was led by Robert Davis, one of the deacons of the church and teacher of the Men's Bible class of the Sunday School. The service was in every way a very delightful one. It is not expected that this stone will soon be removed as the building is quite a large one and can be added to without having to raze the whole building.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, OF FULTON, KY.

In the year of 1878 when Fulton was a very small town there stood at what is now Fourth street and Lake street a small school which was then known as "The Old Seminary." It was in this building in the above named year that Rev. J. N. Hall and another Baptist Minister by the name of Hobbs held a protracted meeting. The results of that meeting are not known to this writer further than that at that time sixteen Baptist church members from various places banded themselves together into a Baptist church known as the Fulton Baptist Church.

These sixteen names of the charter members are as follows:

D. L. Norman, Sarah Norman, Mrs. Jess Whitesell, Mrs. Jim Freeman, J. Hayes Blair, Mrs. Callie Terry, Noah Norman, J. C. Benedict, A. B. Atherton, Rev. J. N. Hall, Mrs. J. N. Hall, J. H. Wright, M. E. Shaddock, a Mrs. West and Mr. and Mrs. Watson. Rev. J. N. Hall was the first pastor of the church.

The new church carried on its work and worship in the Old Seminary for a considerable time until the lot on which the church building now stands was donated by Mr. Billy Carr.

Mr. Jess Whitesell had burned a kiln of brick for the purpose of building the house which now stands just west of the city. After he had completed his splendid home he had enough brick left to build another house. These he donated to the Baptist Church with which to build a house of worship. This house finally proved inadequate for the work of the church and in 1901 was dismantled to make place for a better and larger one.

The erection of the new building was begun in 1901 under the ministry of Rev. W. D. Turnley and was completed sometime during the next year under the ministry of Rev. M. E. Dodd.

For twenty or more years this building continued in use. But it also finally proved too small and another was begun under the ministry of the present pastor, C. H. Warren. The present building is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by the first of October of this year, 1925. The basement of the present building was opened for services April 1st, 1924, and has served the organization quite well for more than a year. The new building, when completed will cost approximately sixty thousand dollars.

Those serving as pastor of the church since its organization are:

Revs. J. N. Halls, W. G. Reeves, F. M. Sharp, Martin Ball, Judson Taylor, W. H. Williams, Ben M. Boread, W. D. Turnley, M. E. Dodd, M. E. Staley, M. E. Miller, P. P. Gattin, E. F. Adams and C. H. Warren.

During these two score years the membership of the church has grown from sixteen members to more than 700. During this period more than two thousand have come and gone. The church has passed through some very stormy periods such as none but one planted by God's own hand could have survived. It would be difficult to find a church anywhere today in more beautiful harmony and in better working condition than this one. This church stands for the whole Bible as the revealed word of God. It stands for a regenerated membership. It stands for and practices world-wide evangelism, beginning at Fulton and reaching to the remotest end of the earth. Throngs of our young people are engaged in the work of training in B. Y. P. U. Our women are organized into mission bands of the W. M. U. Our Sunday School is a real live organization with more than five hundred enrolled. The prayer meetings are largely attended. Many of the men of the church are banded together in a brotherhood which is doing much good in training our men to speak in public and in Bible study.

The present pastor has been on the field for more than six years and has found the people of the church willing workers and willing to be taught.

ALL TESTS NEGATIVE

A card from Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Townsend, who are at Mayo Brothers hospital in Rochester, Minn., says: "Our boy has been through the clinic and every test was negative, so they are making all tests over. Don't have an idea what they will do. We are having a very pleasant stay here."

More Hard Roads in Obion County

Connecting Union City With Fulton and Dresden

The good road program in Obion county has not been abandoned altogether like some may think. A recent survey between Fulton and Union City will connect the two towns with a road 10 1-2 miles shortening the present distance of travel several miles.

The Union City Commercial says:

"It will no doubt be good news to the people of this section of the State and particularly those of Obion County, to learn of the campaign of State highway construction for this section of the State contemplated by Commissioner Creveling, which embraces for early contract the road on the Bristol to Memphis highway from Dresden to Union City, the road on the Jeff Davis highway from Troy to Obion and from Fulton to Union City, the latter connecting with the Kentucky campaign of construction at the State Line, and the road from Obion to the Dyer county line.

A Word To Candidates

The time has arrived when the candidates in the Democratic campaign for county offices should meet and arrange a program for speaking dates, etc. All realize that the women voters are big factors in the coming election. Household cares and duties of the majority of women often deny them the privilege of seeing the men they are to vote for on August 1, notwithstanding the fact that they are anxious to see the candidates and know something about what they stand for, to say nothing about their looks. It is distressingly annoying to have callers and not be able to welcome them. But, if a program was arranged conveniently, every candidate could get an audience with the prospective voter and save a great deal of time and expense.

Just at this time it is almost impossible for some of the candidates to make a house to house canvass, but in assembling the voters together occasionally at convenient points throughout the county the people and candidates could get better acquainted with each other.

Some of the candidates are so well known throughout the county that a mere announcement that they are in the race is sufficient, but others are not so fortunate.

One of the amusing features of a campaign is to see a man out for office who overlooks the importance of making his formal announcement through the columns of the newspapers. Past experience teaches us, however, that some enter the primary race just to get acquainted.

Since the above was written we understand the candidates met at Cayce to arrange a program for the campaign.

THOUGHTLESS BANK DEPOSITORS

Have you ever stood in a Fulton bank and seen some thoughtless client dump a lot of dollars, quarters, dimes and nickels through the window of the receiving teller and stand idly by while he separated the "chicken-feed" and made out a deposit slip. If not, just "stick round" any bank here for half an hour and see how some of the "dear public" impose on the good nature of the bank employees.

In most banks of places where there is any appreciable amount of business done, the tellers are too busy to do the work of the depositors and require that the deposit slips be made out in advance, with all silver properly wrapped in packages, nickels in packages of one dollar, quarters in five dollar rolls, halves in ten and dollars in twenty dollar rolls. All bills have to be "faced" so that they may be readily noted and bills of different denominations placed together.

Just why Fulton people should expect the busy bank employee to do his work for him is something that surprises newcomers or visitors and possibly if Mr. (or Mrs., too, for that matter) had their attention called to this imposition on good nature, the practice would cease.

Mr. Editor, if you care to publish this "gentle reminder" I am sure the banks will appreciate it, and perhaps the writer may write another "piece" later.

Yours truly,
A. JAY WALKER

GOOD IMPROVEMENT

One of the most noticeable improvements in the business section recently is the new glass front at C. C. Williams confectionery store and Linton-Chowning News Stand on Fourth street. This is a neat and attractive place and passed by hundreds of strangers visiting Fulton daily, as it is located at a prominent point between the passenger depot and hotels.

BEAUTIFUL HOME

The beautiful brick residence recently completed on Third street for Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Smith, is a handsome structure. The architecture is unlike anything in the city and is being admired by all who see it.

NEW LUNCH ROOM

HOLDUP VICTIM SHOT

Winer in Gambling Game Gets Worst of the Deal

Hickman, Ky., June 8.—Ertha Perry, 25 years old, young farmer residing 10 miles below here, is at death's door here with almost no hope for recovery, paralyzed from the waist down, as a result of a frameup at an early hour this morning when he was shot by Will Estess, one of his friends. Several had been in a gambling game, Perry winning all their money. Three of his friends, Jack Henderson, Frank Burgess and Estess framing a holdup as he went home. The former two accompanied Perry to where Estess was concealed on the roadside, Estess stepping out and demanding they hold up their hands, which all three did. He then searched Henderson and Burgess, ordering Henderson to search Perry.

Perry recognized Estess' voice, then tore the mask from his face and grabbed his money. As he turned and fled, Estess shot five times, the second shot entering his spine. All have been arrested and brought to jail, Estess making complete confession.

BELGIUM WANTS TO REFUND DEBT

AMB. CARTIER TAKES UP QUESTION WITH MELLON.

MOVE COMES SUDDENLY

Belgium Government Will Send Over to Washington a Commission Headed by M. Theunis and Including Financiers.

Washington.—Baron de Cartier, the Belgian ambassador, informed Secretary Mellon that his government desires to initiate negotiations at an early date for funding of the Belgian debt to the United States.

The ambassador who conferred with the treasury secretary for an hour, plans to call soon for home to confer with his government on the question, and upon his return will be accompanied to Washington by members of a commission to take up negotiations.

The move by Belgium came with striking suddenness, and was based, it is understood, on cabled instructions to the ambassador to notify the American treasury of his government's intentions before leaving Washington for Brussels.

After the conference, Mr. Mellon, who heads the American debt-funding commission, dictated the following statement:

"On his return from Cuba, where he represented his government at the inauguration of General Machado, the Belgian ambassador, Baron de Cartier, after consultation with the secretary of state, called on the secretary of the treasury and informed him of the desire of the Belgian government to initiate, at an early date, negotiations with the foreign debt funding commission for the definite settlement of the Belgian obligations to America, and that the Belgian government will send over to Washington a committee headed by Mr. Theunis and which will comprise prominent Belgian financiers. Baron de Cartier plans to call shortly for Belgium to confer with the Belgian government and intends to return to Washington with the members of that committee."

The government will for special Moroccan war credits asked for 317 million francs until the end of June, but states it is impossible to estimate the real expense of the campaign and that a revision of the Moroccan expenses will be asked in the budget later.

ORDERS GERMANY TO REDUCE ARMY

NOTE CALLS FOR DISMANTLING OF MUNITIONS PLANTS.

KRUPPS PLANTS MUST GO

Many infractions of the Versailles Treaty Laid Against Germany — Allies Declare Germany Has Basis for a Modern Army.

London.—Germany's failure to carry out the disarmament requirements of the Versailles treaty were outlined in detail in the note the allied powers have presented to the German government, the text of which was made public here. The note was handed to Chancellor Luther in Berlin by Baron d'Abernon, the British ambassador, representing the council of ambassadors.

Germany must comply with an extensive list of rectifications and demands before the disarmament obligations of the peace treaty are considered fulfilled. Justifying the evacuation of the first, or Cologne, zone of occupation "in accordance with article 429 of the Versailles pact."

The chief of these sweeping demands includes radical modification of the Reichswehr's general staff, reduction of the country's military forces to 100,000 men and suppression of short term enlistments. The military character of the security police must be abolished and the force itself reduced from 180,000 to 120,000 men. Wholesale destruction of industrial plants of the Krupps and a dozen other big concerns, which, in their present state are held adaptable for the production of war material is demanded.

The note itself is not a long document, but it was accompanied by very long detailed annexes, setting out in tables and in minute details what the allies consider Germany's defaults, and the requirements which alone will justify the commencement of evacuation and the withdrawal of the allied control commission.

After referring to previous communications and the report of the control commission which established Germany's short-comings, the note states the allied governments "consider it of capital importance to place in the foreground of their argument that the defaults unless promptly rectified, would in that case enable the German government eventually to reconstitute an army modeled on the principles of a nation in arms."

After referring to the accompanying memoranda of defaults and requirements, the note says:

"The allied governments are convinced it merely requires good will on the part of the German government to see that the rectification of the defaults are carried out in a relatively short period. In fact, it now rests with the German government itself to create conditions under which evacuation can speedily be effected."

The note takes up Germany's complaints about non-evacuation of the Cologne zone. It declares that the allies intend scrupulously to observe the terms of article 429 of the peace treaty, and that the allies cannot leave unchallenged the German allegation that the non-evacuation of the Cologne zone on Oct. 1 constituted a measure of reprisal. Furthermore, the allied governments do not admit their decision was an act of severity out of all proportion to the importance of the military obligations still remaining unfulfilled.

In this connection, the note points out new serious infractions of the treaty committed by Germany. These are the incorporation in the Reichswehr of short-term voluntary recruits, the authorization of numerous organizations to carry out the military training and the encouragement of certain kinds of factories.

BLAME BIG POWERS FOR CHINESE RIOTS

LED BY BRITAIN, THEY INFLICT DRASTIC MEASURES.

SPLIT AMONG RADICALS

Communists Accused of Discrediting the Whole Patriotic Chinese Movement for Personal Gain. Turn Against Russia.

Berlin.—Erich von Salzmann, noted Peking correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung, reports:

"The Chinese rebellion is expanding from day to day. Military measures of the big powers led by Britain only increase the Chinese agitation and intensify the hatred against foreigners. A spiritual movement cannot be put down by force of arms. It is hoped that an investigation by a commission of diplomatic representatives and Chinese officials will be held to solve the difficulties."

The Vossische Zeitung comments that it is apparent from the dispatch that violent measures taken by foreign powers are responsible for the continuation of disorders.

Shanghai.—An indication of a split in the ranks of the anti-foreign agitators and rioters was apparent in the general distribution of a circular from a new Chinese organization called the Shanghai Patriotic Aim Association, which denounced the leaders of the Communists in the pay of soviet Russia and accused them of discrediting the whole Chinese patriotic movement for selfish purposes and Russian gold. The circular charges the Communists with the responsibility of the anti-foreign character of the agitation and declares the Chinese Communists are receiving from the Soviets $50,000 for every student killed, and states that the real responsibility rests with the Chinese Communists who work with Moscow.

The Chinese commissioners sent here to investigate the situation for the government were immediately bombarded by radicals and threatened if they did not listen to the radical viewpoint. The labor bodies, union shopkeepers and shopkeepers' union have presented the government representatives with demands that the powers call off the martial law, that the naval forces be withdrawn, that the arrested leaders be liberated, that the police responsible for the firing be placed on trial for murder, that the foreign settlement compensate the families of those killed, that the British and Japanese governments be required to make a joint apology, that the British secretary of the municipal council be discharged, that the Chinese residents in the foreign settlements receive the right to print newspapers and circulars without interference, that the international mixed court be restored to Chinese control, that the foreign consular jurisdiction be abolished, and that the British and Japanese navies be withdrawn from Shanghai forever.

There were indications of the gradual breaking of the strike shown in the gradual return to the factories of laborers and the opening of shops.

London.—An Exchange Telegraph Agency dispatch from Amsterdam regarding the financial crisis through which the Stinnes organization in Germany is passing, says the Stinnes interests are not able to meet liabilities abroad, totaling 120,000,000 marks.

The difficulties have been caused, says the Exchange Telegraph Agency, by various foreign credits of the Stinnes interests being called in. Efforts to obtain new credits in the United States failed, it is stated.

DYING BOY TELLS OF PUNISHMENT

INMATES SAY THEY WITNESSED FLOGGINGS CHARGED BY LOUISVILLE YOUTH

Subject Was Kicked and Struck, They Allege—Doctors Testify Carrico's Death Was From Disease, Not Cruel Treatment.

Lexington.—An investigation into the causes leading up to the death of the Good Samaritan Hospital here May 28, of Thomas Edward Carrico, 18 years old, Louisville, an inmate of the Kentucky House of Reform at Georgetown, was begun by the State Board of Charities and Correction and Henry Kemper, Commonwealth's Attorney, at the reform school.

Following a session lasting more than four hours, during which the testimony of two physicians, several inmates and the superintendent's stenographer was heard, the board adjourned until May 31, when Dr. J. Morgan, superintendent of the institution, will be heard.

The final statement of the Carrico boy, in which he gave a detailed account of a beating received at the hands of Lieut. F. Quinn, former military director and assistant superintendent at the institution, and subsequent punishment, was read by Mr. Kemper and the two physicians attending him testified as to the causes of his death and the absence of indications of undue punishment.

Several of the inmates, called to the stand, testified of witnessing the beating alleged to have been administered to young Carrico, and of beatings which they had received at the hands of Lieut. Quinn.

Dr. John Scott, Lexington, who treated the boy upon his admittance at the hospital here, was the first witness called. He testified that he gave young Carrico a general physical examination, observed the condition of his whole body, made laboratory tests and came to the conclusion that he had died of chronic nephritis or Bright's disease and that his condition suggested that he had been suffering from the disease for several years. He said he was certain the boy had the disease for several months.

The only marks on the boy indicating any bodily harm received at the institution, Dr. Scott said, were two small bruised places, one on the thigh half way between the hip and the knee, and another on the rear part of the hip. He said he did not believe that blows administered to him could have contributed materially to the advancement of his disease but that the exertion of long hours standing at attention, if not allowed periods of rest, might have aggravated his condition.

Regardless of any treatment he might have received at the hands of Quinn, according to the physician, the boy "would have died just the same." The treatment he received at the reformatory did not cause his death, the doctor said.

The statement brought out the fact that Carrico was sent to the institution September 30, 1923, on a charge of breaking into a store and had been an inmate for twenty months when the statement was made.

His punishment at the hands of Quinn resulted from his hiding tobacco in the reformatory print shop, according to the statement.

"I went to the barracks, January 5, 1925, for having tobacco," he said. "I got it from some other boys and hid it in the print shop. Another boy told Mr. Quinn."

"When they took us over there and beat us up they never laid hands on him. Mr. Quinn led me over there, (the barracks) and told me to take my clothes down. I took them off and he (Quinn) took his sweater off and told me to bend down and take hold of the bars. He hit me seventy-six licks with a strap four or five feet long and six inches wide. I asked him not to kick me but he kicked me as hard as a person could kick. He hit me three or four times with his fists on my face."

The beating lasted about twenty minutes, according to the statement. Carrico said he had been captured and was afraid Quinn would kick him in the rupture. He said Quinn told him he had to give him the tobacco and he did so.

Following the beating, according to the statement, Quinn locked Carrico in a cell for sixty-three days during which time he was forced to stand at attention, with his toes on a line and his arms behind him, from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night with only twenty minutes for meals. He said he was supposed to get ten minutes of exercise every hour but sometimes did not get it. He said that Major Norman knew his treatment and that twenty-four cells were occupied at the time of his confinement.

Several boys testified they saw Quinn beat Carrico.

Georgetown Lifta Fraternity Bn.

Georgetown.—The ban on fraternities at Georgetown College was lifted by a vote of the Board of Trustees. More than four years ago, following prolonged discussion, fraternities were denied the right to operate in the college. Up to that time the Beta Delta Chapter of Kappa Alpha, and the Alpha Lambda Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, had flourished. There has been extensive discussion of the matter among both students and alumni. Both fraternities and societies will operate freely at the college.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

city authorities, Lions and Rotary clubs have repaired the auditorium and repainted it and obtained a watchman who will prevent vandalism in the future, and keep the place clean and ready for use at all times.

It was voted that the Chamber join the recently organized Inland Traffic Association, an organization for the securing of just freight rates throughout the southern states that are not reached by competitive river rates.

Considerable controversy was met in this movement and during the debate it was shown that due to the efforts of the Chamber's Freight Rate Committee very substantial reductions in freight rates had already been secured, with several cases pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission that would undoubtedly bring much further relief.

Joe Browder spoke on the subject of the funds still needed to improve the grounds of the Negro school, a contract for the erection of a new building having been let, which contract requires all the available funds of the board. Negroes have assumed $500 and some $1,000 is still needed to complete the work. It was voted that members of the Chamber would assist in securing the amount by subscription.

J. T. Watkins reported a fairly satisfactory increase in the membership of the Fulton Poultry Association and asked that more Chamber members join, as all the dues will be added to the Fair Association prize list, and so help build up the poultry industry in this section. It is virtually assured that the Fair Association will provide the larger building needed for the exposition of the fowls, and all those interested in better poultry were asked to join and help make the poultry display the best that has been seen in Fulton.

President Shankle stated that it had been suggested by several members that it was always difficult to keep up the interest of the members during the hot weather, and that many were of the opinion that it would be for the best interests of the Chamber to forego the meetings during July and August. A vote was taken and carried that the meetings be suspended until the second Tuesday in September. It was explained that the Chamber would continue to function during this period and that no movement of importance would be overlooked, as the Board of Directors and the officers would be on the job all summer, and if occasion arose, the members would be called in a special session to take the necessary action.

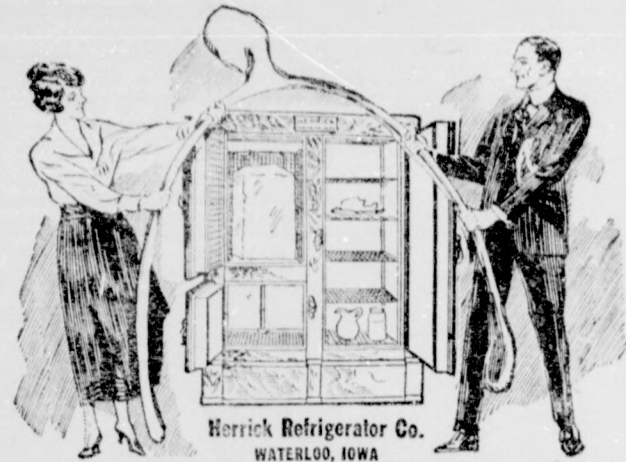

At the close of Mr. Shankle's remarks, Mr. C. A. Stephens announced that the Entertainment Committee would have charge of the rest of the evening's program, and introduced Miss Elizabeth Etheridge, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Etheridge, who recited a Negro version of Daniel in the Lion's Den. Miss Etheridge, has been attending the Centenary College, Cleveland, Tenn. Her reading was very well delivered and was received with hearty applause. The young lady shows careful training and seems destined to make a really first class elocutionist. It is to be hoped that she will give the members of the Chamber another opportunity to hear her.

The refreshments of the evening were served by Misses Etheridge, Ruth Atwood, Odessa Shankle, Dorothy Granberry and Mildred Huddleston. Mr. Clarence Pickering took occasion to thank the young ladies for their kindness in serving and said that though the members had frequently enjoyed refreshments at their meetings, never before, had such charming young ladies been present to minister to the wants of the inner man.
