I. C. Officials Inspect Construction of New Line

The following officials of the Illinois Central make inspection of new Edgewood Cut-off construction:

Mr. A. E. Clift, Senior Vice-President; Mr. J. J. Pelley, operating vice-president; Mr. A. E. Blaess, chief engineer; Mr. E. L. Cruger, engineer of construction; Mr. H. W. Williams, superintendent Tennessee Division; Mr. J. R. Lessel, assistant engineer; Mr. J. W. Kern, district engineer; Mr. S. J. Holt, roadmaster; Mr. F. W. Armstrong, assistant engineer.

These officials were accompanied by Mr. H. W. Nelson and his staff over the work. They left in automobiles in the early morning and spent the day inspecting the construction of the new line. It is understood that the matter of the construction and location of the new yards at Fulton, which has been under consideration for some time, was also discussed. We are not however, at this time in possession of information as to just what decision was reached, but gained the impression from conversation with some of the railroad people, that the work would proceed, just as soon as the location was decided upon, which would be in the near future.

The people of Fulton are of course anxious to see this work start, as Nelson & Company, we are informed, will establish a camp near the new location, and will employ several hundred men in this work.

The work on the new line is progressing very rapidly, and everything possible is being done to complete the line on schedule time. There has been much discussion as to the disposition of the new line, that is, whether it will become a separate division, or whether this end of it will be absorbed by the Tennessee division. We are told that this feature will be decided later, and at present no definite decision has been reached by the officials of the Illinois Central, regarding what will be done.

Division Safety Meeting

Supt. Williams held his regular safety meeting with officers and employees last week, at which many new methods of safety work were discussed, as well as prevention of personal injuries.

The meetings are held regularly to keep fresh in the minds of employees the matter of safety first. You will recall the Illinois Central held a joint safety meeting in the City Hall at Fulton recently, at which moving pictures of safety were shown, and much good was accomplished. The Railroad is endeavoring to get the public interested in the hazard of grade crossings, which is, indeed, splendid work, and is a matter in which the public should take active interest, and cooperate with the railroads in their efforts to decrease, if not eliminate grade crossing accidents.

It seems a bit difficult to believe now, but nevertheless it is a fact that in 1911 only 501,000 motor vehicles were registered in the entire nation, and 14,000 of them were trucks. A few days ago there were 17,500,000 registered. What a growth! This only goes to show why it is necessary for us to take active interest in the matter of safety at grade crossings, and we would like to call your attention to the new poster gotten out by the railroads, which reads, "Think, Driver, Think," as well as the one that reads "Cross Crossings Cautiously."

General Superintendent Heyron and Superintendent Williams, made a motor car inspection trip over the Hickman District, from Hickman, Ky., to Dyersburg, Tenn., Friday of last week.

President C. H. Markham, accompanied by several members of his staff passed through Fulton Tuesday of this week en route south.

District Engineer J. W. Kern of New Orleans, was in the city a day or two last week.

Johnnie Miles, who has been storekeeper at the roundhouse at Fulton, has been transferred to Memphis.

Fred Wade, clerk at freight house, who has been quite sick for several days, is out again.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Williams are visiting relatives in the city this week. Mr. Williams is on his vacation.

Announcement

I take this opportunity to announce myself a candidate for Mayor of the City of Fulton.

After due consideration and advising with friends and at the request of a large number of friends I make this announcement.

I feel that I am qualified to fill the office of Mayor and to do the many things for the city that it needs.

My personal business is such that it will not interfere with my giving the office all the time required to care for the business of the city.

I feel that there is not much to be said at this time by me as everyone knows me personally and knows my records as a justice as I served this district. I appreciate the friendship shown me then and I will put forth every effort to push Fulton forward. If elected to the office of Mayor, I will do everything I can for Fulton.

I feel that the people should know for what I stand and what I think should be done for Fulton. I will from time to time during the campaign make my views known. I will appreciate anyone coming to me and telling me what they think should be done for our city and I will consider, and think the matter over and tell you what I think about any suggestion you may make, and assure you if it is good, will take it up, and fight for it. I know that there are people in Fulton who know what Fulton needs as well as I do, and I want what you think. I do not take it to myself that I know it all, and that I must be consulted before anything is permitted to be done.

I will appreciate your vote and influence, and will do my best for the people and for the good of the city.

W. O. SHANKLE.

BOY SCOUTS ARE BUSY

The busiest boys in town are the members of the Boy Scouts, who are all hustling to make money to enable them to attend the Scout Camp to be held on Duck River, near Waverly, Tenn., the last of August.

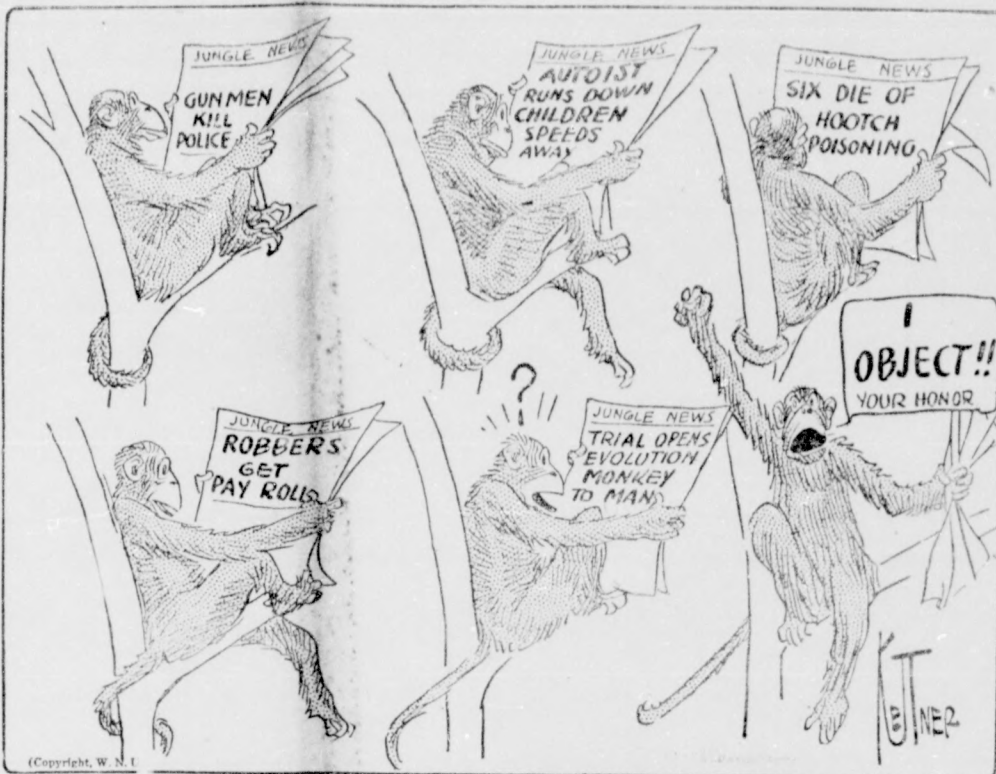

Every member is trying to "make the grade" for this event, and the earnestness of the boys in locating jobs is entirely in accord with the rules of that splendid organization.

Every citizen who has "odd jobs" to be done should make it his business to hunt up a scout to do it. The boys are in earnest to make money, and it is a rare occurrence that one of them falls down on the job.

There are innumerable small tasks to be done about the homes and business places that require outside help, and the boys should be given first consideration, not only because they stand for a fine citizenship, but, because, as stated above, they always make an honest effort to "deliver the goods."

GOOD GAME OF BALL

Fulton Chancellor Club Wins from Martin Chancellor Club

The Fulton Chancellor Girls gave Martin its second defeat July 4, on the Martin diamond. They gathered a 42 to 19 victory. Jones, Fulton's pitcher, had a good day, fanning ten, and allowing but two home runs, while Fulton cleaned up the bases seven times. Martin crew tried to get its swack going but the Fulton girls smothered it out in the start, with their hard hitting and fast fielding. Fulton carried about 200 fans. There was a riot of fun among the fans from both towns, but the Martin girls played bravely. Fulton girls will play at Milan next Saturday, July 11; Paris will play at Fulton the 18th and Martin at Fulton on the 25th. All come and boost the home team.

AMERICAN FLAGS PRE- DOMINATE IN FULTON

The American Legion certainly did a good job when it induced the merchants to purchase and display the American flag before their places of business.

July Fourth, last year, I only saw one lone flag displayed in front of a business house, the City National Bank, but last Monday there were more than 50 flags flying before the doors of business houses.

I also am wondering if all the churches display the American emblem in their places of worship. If they do not, might it not be well for the Legion members to call on the ministers and ask that this be done? Personally, I can see no objection to this to this, and it certainly seems that a community so extremely American in its composition should make its Americanism manifest in this manner.

Patriotism is as much worth while as Christianity, and there should be no hesitation in making it manifest to the world by displaying "Old Glory" in every pulpit in the city.

One of the prettiest and most enjoyed social events of the summer was a lawn party given Tuesday evening by Johnnie Owen at the palatial home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Owen on State line. The lawn was artistically lighted by Jack-o-lanterns and seats were arranged for the guests. Interesting games and music was enjoyed, and at a late hour a dainty ice course was served to sixteen boys and girls who enjoyed Johnnie's hospitality.

At the regular meeting of the City Council, Monday night, the following ordinance was read and approved.

Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the City of Fulton, Kentucky, as follows:

CANDIDATES DRAW FOR PLACES ON PRIMARY BALLOT

The various candidates for the offices to be voted for in the August primary, met at the courthouse in Hickman, Tuesday and drew for position on the primary ballot. It was a lively bunch of candidates and everything went off good naturedly and all seemed to be pleased with positions drawn with the exception of a few who were not fortunate enough to head the list. The last name on the list is often the one who gets the most votes so what difference does it make?

TO THE PUBLIC

I regret that, owing to an unforeseen change in my business, I will be unable to get out to see the voters of this county, as I had planned, so have withdrawn from the race for the office of Tax Commissioner. I want to take this opportunity, however, to thank the many loyal friends who had promised me their support and to assure them of my sincere appreciation of same.

DeWitt Reid.

GOOD STREET WORK

The street department of the city has seemingly done some good work on the two new blocks of paving recently put down, one on Washington street between Main and State line, and on Arch between Jefferson and Jackson.

These two blocks were graded and oiled and the traffic shut off long enough to give the oil a chance to thoroughly soak into the gravel before the traffic was allowed to carry off the oil that had been put on the surface.

Judging from appearances, this is the most satisfactory manner to handle the oiling proposition, and the head of the street department is to be congratulated on the new system.

EDITOR HAS A DAY OFF

The 4th of July in Fulton was lonesome for those who remained at home, while those who visited nearby towns enjoyed boating, attending ball games, etc. The editor and wife joined a party in Union City and spent the day picnicking and fishing. The finny tribe were biting good and twenty nice fish were caught for supper.

MAIL FRAUDS IN FOUR COUNTIES ARE PROBED

25 WOMEN SAID TO BE INVOLVED IN ALLEGATIONS IN MOUNTAIN DISTRICTS

Grayson Men Indicted—Ex-Postmaster and Two Sons Charged With Swindling Postal Order Houses.

Louisville.—Wholesale mail order frauds, in which at least twenty-five women are said to be involved, are alleged to have been recently perpetrated in Magoffin, Wolfe, Breathitt and Perry Counties and are under investigation by Government Postoffice Inspectors. It was disclosed at the Federal Building.

At the same time, it was revealed that W. T. Cherry, former Postmaster at Dickey's Mills, Grayson County, and his two sons, M. L. and W. H. Cherry, are under Federal indictment for fraud, as the result of an extensive swindle of which a large number of mail order houses, it is said, were victims.

There is no connection between the Grayson County charges and the inspectors' allegations concerning fraud in the mountains. Different methods are alleged to have been used in the two cases.

According to the indictment, Cherry and his two sons would order goods from mail order concerns and then file claims that the orders had not been received or that they had been received in a damaged condition. When the firms wrote to the Dickey's Mills postoffice to verify these statements, the senior Cherry, it is alleged, would reply that they were true. His official position made the scheme an easy one to work, Federal agents said.

The swindle which, it is charged, has been practiced in the mountain counties depends, it is said, on the use of printed letter heads and checks of mythical banks. In ordering goods from mail order houses, the alleged swindlers would enclose one of these checks made out for the amount of the order. Then, when the firm would write to the bank named on the check for reference, those involved in the scheme would use the fake letter heads to reply, giving themselves a good financial rating.

Federal officials declared that the scheme was in vogue in mountain counties about a quarter of a century ago and has recently been revived.

The indictment of the three Cherrys was returned by a Federal grand jury at Bowling Green in May, the case having been presented by Claude Hudgins, Assistant United States District Attorney. The case has been transferred to the Louisville docket and each of the defendants is under $4,000 bond.

Among eighteen concerns said to have been victimized by the Cherrys are the Weatherly-McKenzie Company, Louisville, and W. G. Barrett & Co., Owensboro. To what extent the men profited by their alleged scheme was not estimated by Federal officers.

Frank Robeson, a special agent of the Illinois Central Railroad, assisted in the investigation.

W. T. Cherry was succeeded as postmaster at Dickey's Mills October 28 by Charles Sanders.

CONDUCTOR KILLED IN FALL

Hurled Out by Lurch, Victim Drops Eighty Feet to River from K. & I. Bridge.

New Albany, Ky.—An Interstate Traction Company car, crossing the Kentucky & Indiana Terminal Railroad bridge at twenty-five miles an hour, lurched suddenly and threw its conductor to his death in the Ohio river, a drop of eighty feet.

The car had reached a point near the middle of the third span from New Albany, and the body of the conductor, Morris Stiles, 22 years old, a border at the home of Andrew James, 1718 Elkin avenue, New Albany, struck the water near the head of Sand Island, where the river is about six feet deep.

Four men, one a passenger on the car and the others motorists on the highway of the bridge, saw Stiles pitch from the rear vestibule and saw his body hang for a moment on the rail guarding the highway. Then he slipped off through a space three feet wide into the river.

"Human Fly" Falls at Owingsville

Louisville Scene of $100,000 Fire

Clegg, a shipping clerk for the company, narrowly escaped with his life when he was blinded by smoke and nearly overcome with fumes in getting out of the building. Three firemen were overcome by the smoke and one was injured. They were able to resume their duties after first aid treatment, however. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

GERMANY-RUSSIA
NEAR BREAK

DEATH SENTENCES TO STUDENTS INCENSES ALL GERMANY

"TRUMPED UP CHARGES"

Russia's Relation With England Also Strained—Entire German Press Demands That Drastic Action Be Taken.

Berlin.—A wave of bitter anti-Russian sentiment swept over Germany as a result of the imposing of the death sentence by the Moscow Communist tribunal on two German citizens and a German from the Baltic named Dittmar, on what is declared to be a trumped-up charge that they had been indirectly sent to Russia by German authorities to assassinate Trotsky, Stalin and Zinoviev.

The news of the death sentence acted like an electric shock to German-Russian relations. Almost the entire press demands that the German government take drastic steps against Russia. A conference lasting several hours in the foreign office was held to draw up a line of action.

The Russian court action was taken by order of the communist party without considering the fact that it had no proof of the accusations. The Luther government sent a strong protest note to Moscow.

The students Herren Kindermann and Wolch, belonged to a group of intellectual "pinks." They nursed a phantastic plan to walk from Russia to China, earning their living on the way by doing odd jobs. On the border of Russia a customs official discovered a revolver hidden in Herr Wolch's suitcase. Herr Kindermann carried a small traveling kit with medicine and drugs and the usual tourist outfit. The drug kit and revolver were produced in court as proof that Herren Kindermann and Wolch planned an anti-communist attempt.

M. Von Dittmar of Baltic origin, joined the students in their trips. Friends of the Moscow red regime believe he was an agent of Russia, who tried to free himself of the Russian suspicions by denouncing Herr Kindermann and Herr Wolch.

Nine months ago the three wanderers were arrested in Moscow and cooped up by Agent Provocateur Hermann, who claimed Kindermann had confessed that he was a member of the German Fascist. Now this cannot be true because Kindermann is Jewish and this organization is the strongest anti-semitic in the world. In court Kindermann solemnly declared his so-called confessions in Moscow were extorted by M. Bauman. The poison which the Soviet court claims was in his traveling kit was kept by them, Herr Kindermann declared, and student friends and who were rushed to Moscow by the German embassy testified to the effect that the drug supply was chosen to protect the students against illness on their tour.

The "Bolshevistic inquisition of the adventurous students" will make it easier for Germany to enter a pact with the nations of Western Europe. Until recently a strong group of politicians was still considering the possibility of collaborating more closely with Russia—their aim was reduced to silence unless Moscow gives in to the demands of the various imperious note sent by the German government.

BROKERAGE FIRM IN $35,000,000 FAILURE

Creditors of Dean, Onativia Firm Safe, However

Paris—A wild Indian from Connecticut, named Edgar LaPlante, alias Chief White Elk, who has been scolding credulous Europeans for the past 25 years, has finally been thrown into prison at Geneva, Switzerland, for a year for fleeing hotels there of $5,000.

Slays Babe in Mother's Arms

Philadelphia, Pa.—A three-year-old baby was shot to death in its mother's arms here as the mother fled from an enraged husband in their home. Joseph Beatty, the husband, was home for the holidays. A quarrel with his wife arose, she grabbed her baby boy, Joseph, in her arms and fled upstairs. A shot roared behind her and a bullet struck little Joseph in the head, killing him instantly.

The husband is held in jail on a charge of murderous assault.

To the Voters of Fulton County:

The time is drawing near for you to cast your vote for the various officers to represent the people of this county for the next four years. In making your selection for the responsible office of Sheriff, for which I am a candidate, I wish to give you a few facts that are worthy of your very careful and serious consideration. I have been an officer for the past 14 years; three years night police of the city of Fulton, four years as deputy sheriff, ten years as special detective for the Illinois Central railroad. I have come in contact with all classes of criminals and have prosecuted all cases with credit as an officer and without fear or favor. I am not a candidate for any political clique or any rash promises, but am a candidate of the people and for the people, and if elected to the very important office of Sheriff, I promise and pledge to the citizens of Fulton county a clean, upright and efficient administration, and will at all times execute the duty of Sheriff to the entire satisfaction of the law abiding citizens of Fulton county. My record as an officer is an open book and my record will also show that I have never through heat of passion taken the life of a suspected criminal, but have treated them kindly and with a heart of human respect.

I am truly conscious of the very great need of a Sheriff who is thoroughly conversant with the duty of the Sheriff's office and whose experience thoroughly equips him to serve the people in the most satisfactory and efficient manner. I feel in asking your support I am thoroughly prepared to meet the great and necessary demand of an untiring Sheriff. I shall deeply appreciate your careful consideration and shall at all times be grateful for your support, and if elected I pledge you a clean, upright and honorable administration. Thanking you in advance for your vote and influence, I am,

Most sincerely,

Millions for New Service

THE telephone construction programme outlined for this year is the largest ever undertaken by this company. It calls for new and additional plant costing more than $1,810,000.

The large, additional investment is but a reflection of the demand for service in this and other Southern States. The new plant is necessary to meet the service needs of present and prospective subscribers, whose business and social activities require adequate, efficient, comprehensive service.

After all, the telephone system is merely the joint trustee for those who own the property and those who subscribe for the service. In no other industry are there as many owners as in the Bell System. There are approximately 750,000 security owners and more women than men stockholders.

The enormous sums of new money constantly required have greatly increased the investment per telephone, making it necessary to earn greater revenue per telephone, in order to meet the growing cost of producing service and leave a reasonable balance for profit.

Our efforts to keep pace with the growth and progress of this State and to measure up fully to our serious responsibility are aided in no small measure by your friendly encouragement.

COMMUNITIES WITH CHARM

American tourists will leave millions of dollars in Europe this summer. They travel across the Atlantic for old world tours because the European cities possess the reputation of having a certain romantic or imaginative "charm."

Yet this so-called "charm" lies often in some simple thing that can be developed. Many American cities and towns have such features now, but they are not appreciated because they are so close that they are overlooked.

It has been said that the charm of Paris lies in a large in the beautiful trees with which the famous city is profusely planted, and which are preserved with the greatest care, even in the business localities.

Any American city or town, no matter how large or how small, can in due time obtain that same charm and attractiveness. If the people have been negligent in this respect, they can plant quick growing varieties that will transform the community in a few years.

Too frequently the hustling American folks will cut down a noble tree merely because it blocks the sidewalk a little, or for some other trifling reason.
But by cherishing their trees, planting those fitted to the soil and climate and preserving them against the inroads of pests, the inhabitants of any community can give it a rare beauty.

One does not have to travel across the wide seas to find charm. It can be found right here in Fulton and we can make more of it by giving proper attention to beautifying the home surroundings.

Fulton has a distinctive charm because its people have developed a home pride. If there are any backsliders, they should recognize that their failure to do their part in beautification shows a lack of interest in their community that can't easily be forgiven.

GOLF AND LONGEVITY

When our well known business and professional men begin to take on that "middleage spread" and show symptoms of the gout, the doctor wisely prescribes golf.

In doing so, the doctor is following the modern tendency to advise outdoor exercise for indoor workers and he invariably says "play golf and live longer."

But it's not new—this golf "bug" that is as virulent as the most deadly germ ever discovered by science because more than 150 years ago Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the first professors of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in a book "Sermons to Gentlemen on Temperance and Exercise" prescribed golf as an exercise and a remedy for ills.

It is only in recent years that golf, once regarded as a rich man's game, has been popularized and has been taken up by men of modest means, and has placed many invalids back on the road to health.

The community that has its own golf course is indeed fortunate for it places within reach of the man in very ordinary financial circumstances, a type of recreation that makes him better physically and mentally and develops a better type of citizenship.

RURAL HEALTH

The examination of 3,478
male students in a large state university of the middlewest showed that a city of 50,000 or more is distinctly more healthful than small cities, villages and countrysides.

This is a blow to the common conception that rural life is inherently wholesome and healthful.

The crystal waters of the old farm well, fresh food from field, garden and dairy, the gymnastic exercise the plow, hoe and saw provide, the mental serenity that goes with outdoor life and contact with nature have been so lyrically extollled by orators and writers that the idea of the country being more conducive of health is firmly implanted in the average mind.

But we will have to give way to new ideas when convincing proof is offered. And those of us who live in the smaller communities should profit from the lessons our big city cousins teach, and adopt all of the modern safeguards against disease that it is possible to utilize outside large centers of population.

OUR FIRST BILLIONAIRE

Bitter though the pill must be, Wall street is forced to declare that Henry Ford is the country's first billionaire. Wall street watches Henry Ford like a hawk watches a chicken —and hates him. But it was Wall street that first called attention a few days ago to the fact that the balance sheet of the Ford Motor Car company shows a valuation of $853,060,

000 and that in addition to owning almost all of that plant, Ford owns a railroad, a steamship line, several big lumber camps, a string of Kentucky coal mines and goodness only knows what else. Last year was Ford's best year. He sold cars at the rate of 250 an hour, 24 hours a day, for 300 working days. He paid his employees $253,001,528 in salaries during the year. And when we realize that the Ford company was incorporated only 22 years ago with a capital of but $22,- 000 it knocks the wind out of the young man who complains that there isn't a chance for a fellow to get anywhere in this country any more.

FIGHT LOOMS ON LOWER TAX PLAN

MELLON USES SURPLUS AS PAYMENT ON PUBLIC DEBT

BUT TAXES WILL BE CUT

Principal Fight Will Be Pitched on Whether Surtaxes or the Incomes Of Small Taxpayers Will Be Given Precedence

Washington, D. C.—Announcement that the secretary of the treasury had used the entire treasury surplus of over $250,000,000 for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1925, as payments on the public debt, has caused much speculation in Washington as to whether such action will cause a curtailment of the tax reduction program.

There are hints in official circles that the administration will stand for reduction of the high surtax brackets, first, and then will move for more relief to small tax payers. There was some complaint that the use of the $250,000,000 treasury surplus gives too much room for jockeying on the part of the administration.

From sources outside of the administration group, it is clear that there will be an insistent demand to reduce taxes all along the line, rather than confine it to surtaxes in the interest of "scientific revision and reform." The Democratic program for example, so far as it has been expressed calls for exemptions up to $5,000 incomes in order to give relief to the "little fellow," while there is a growing demand for wholesale slashes in the consumption tax field. The surplus can always be scaled down by utilizing it to pay off the public debt, a program which increases the burden upon the present generation for payment of the war. The same process, it is explained, can be stopped whenever desired, or slowed up, so the surplus can be increased at will.

Observers of the situation point out that it will be possible for the administration to take care of the demands of business at this time, by reductions in the higher brackets, described as "tax reform rather than tax reduction," leaving an accumulated surplus to be used for a wholesale tax reduction just before the presidential election in 1928.

Representative Celler (D., N. Y.) went on record as opposing the federal entry into the inheritance tax field, leaving that field exclusively to the states.

"Our secretary of the treasury," he said, "has very wisely used the entire Treasury surplus of over $250,000,000 for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1925, towards the reduction of the national debt. This should not, however, chill enthusiasm for tax reduction. In all likelihood, when Congress opens in December there will probably be a surplus of over $200,000,000, most of which will still have to be used for the payment of the national debt, but a great deal of it will be available for the purpose of lessening the burden of taxation."

"The question arises as to what taxes should be reduced. I am for the reduction of the surtax, only on conditions, however, that there be proportional decrease in the tax on incomes below $5,000. First and foremost, however, there is one kind of federal tax that the government should reduce, if not withdraw from entirely, and that is the inheritance tax. That tax was increased to 40 per cent by the last Congress and as a bait to catch the unwary, deduction was permitted from the federal estate tax to the extent of 25 per cent of the estate tax paid to any state. There is now talk by Chairman Greer of the ways and means committee of doubling this deduction to 50 per cent. To my mind, doubling the deduction is quite beside the point and inconsequential."

FRENCH DEBT BOARD COMING IN AUGUST

Paris—A French commission for the consolidation of debts will go to America in August, as previously announced by the World News Service. This decision was made by the council of ministers and Foreign Minister Briand announced the approaching departure of the commission at a luncheon he gave at the ministry of foreign affairs to members of the American mission to the exposition.

Dog Stands Guard Over Body

THIRD TERM BOOM AMUSES CAPITAL

"PREMATURE" IN OPINION OF POLITICAL OBSERVERS

MUST WAIT UNTIL 1928

If Things Aren't Prosperous, G. O. P. Might Not Enter Coolidge With Additional Handicap of "Third Term" Bogey.

Washington.—No serious importance is attached to the declaration of David W. Mulvane, Republican national committeeman from Kansas made at Swampscott putting President Coolidge in the race for a third term in 1928.

It is simply an occasional form of the old oriental greeting: "O, great king, live forever."

In 1912, Mr. Mulvane, being a staunch regular, was conspicuous in the fight to deny Theodore Roosevelt just what he now wishes to award Calvin Coolidge. Then he was insistent that the spirit of the third term inhibition meant that no man should be president more than twice; now he points out that Mr. Coolidge merely carried out President Harding's policies for the fractional term and therefore is really only serving his first term.

At this particular stage of the Coolidge administration every regular Republican politician is bound to be for him if he wants the presidency again; anything else would be political treason. Senator W. two months ago sounded the same note in denying his own presidential aspirations. The Ohio senator, charged with starting on a speaking tour with the White House in view, replied in much the same language as that employed by the national committeeman from Kansas, that the nomination of 1928 belonged to Mr. Coolidge and that nobody else could go after it unless the president disclaimed any intention of running again.

That is something Mr. Coolidge is not at all likely to do. His natural habit of reticence will prevent his making the dilemma for himself that Roosevelt did in the flush of his election to the presidency after having served out McKinley's term, when he proclaimed his belief that the country did not want a man to be three times in the president's chair, whether by election or succession.

COOLIDGE PLEDGES AID TO EUROPE'S SECURITY

Urges Nations To Arrange Peace Alliances

Cambridge, Mass.—Near the spot where George Washington took command of the continental army President Coolidge called on the nations of Europe to enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, pledging the moral support of the American government if they do so. "While our own country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests," he declared, "such covenants would always have the moral support of our government and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world."

5,000 Austrians Seek Entry to U. S.

Geneva.—Prospects for obtaining a modification of the United States immigration law to enable 5,000 "white collar" Austrians to enter the United States is receiving the consideration of the international labor office as a result of an appeal made by the Vienna Chamber of Labor.

Rap Child Labor Act.

Indianapolis, Ind.—A resolution specifically naming the proposed child labor amendment to the continued support of the National Education Association to its passage was defeated by the association at its final session here.

Burglars Fire House

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—A fire of undetermined origin, but which officers believe was started by burglars after they had looted the home, destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bennett in Ashcroft, a suburb. The loss is estimated at $4,000. Members of the family had been away some time when the fire was first noticed.

London.—Orchestras in the leading vanderbilt houses are to be equipped with saxophones. The saxophones are rather rare in England.

The number of one-day volunteers, however, was only 728,000, a little more than half of the turnout of this class on the first defense test last September 1.

SUPER-TITE Asphalt Shingles give every advantage of other roof coverings—plus—two distinctive features combined in the same shingle.

They give double and triple thickness over the entire roof area—with the addition of a LOCK-BUTT to prevent curling or blowing up.

When laid, there is no part of a Super-Tite roof which has less than double thickness coverage—and—over 48 per cent of the roof area is triple thickness. This greater coverage, with the LOCK-BUTT feature, makes a roof covering which defies sun, rain, snow, wind or sleet. Super-Tite Shingles cannot curl up—blow up—nor can they warp.

QUOTE ROOSEVELT TO BALK CHANGES

PLAN TO "REMODEL" INTERIOR IS STRONGLY FOUGHT

"IDEAL," DECLARED T. R.

Coolidge Believed to Favor Making French Interior "Colonial," Roosevelt's Letter Proved Effective During His Regime.

Washington.—The appeal of a president dead to a president living was made to President Coolidge to preserve the present interior style of the White House.

The influence of President Roosevelt was brought into the struggle to prevent altering the interior as proposed by the commission authorized by the last Congress headed by Robert W. DeForest. A letter written by the former president to Cass Gilbert, famous architect, urged that the White House should not be "marred" or "changed" from its present architectural style.

The letter was forwarded by representatives of the American Institute of Architecture. In this letter, President Roosevelt said that if he had it in his power, he would like to leave the right to guard the White House as a legacy to the Institute.

It was learned the institute members will leave no stone unturned to prevent changing the French empire style in which the interior is finished to the colonial.

So far as known, President Coolidge approves the proposed remodeling.

It is reiterated that nothing will be done until September, but the supporters of the plans worked out by Charles F. McKim during the Roosevelt regime, fear that steps will be initiated which would compel a continuation of the work as proposed by the new commission.

BRITISH COAL MINING FACES SEVERE CRISIS

Wage Reductions Will Be Opposed By Workmen

London.—The entire British coal mining industry faces what many observers believe to be a most alarming crisis. J. Cook, representing the miners, met Mr. Lee, secretary of the Mining Association, in an attempt to reach an agreement. It is reported that Mr. Cook is unwilling to countenance the terms of the future agreement Mr. Lee outlined. Wage reductions will be fought bitterly and the operators' proposals will not be accepted, the miners state. The question of a guaranteed minimum, which is already below the level, is one of the most important points up for discussion. The dwindling coal trade on the continent of South America threatens to place one of England's most vital industries into bankruptcy.

Two Drowned in River
Nashville, Tenn.—The Cumberland river claimed two lives here on July 4.

Bernard Rich, 50, president of the American Syrup and Preserving Company, of St. Louis, Mo., met his death while shooting the dam on a surf board on the United States government lock No. 2.

Paul Larrimore McWhirter, 16, was drowned at Williams' Ferry.

Leaves Large Estate
Tarrytown, N. Y.—John D. Rockefeller used to give many of his shiny new dimes to Byron O'Loughlin, the old Irishman who tended the crossing at Pocantico. And at Christmas, because the old man lived in a box car and seemed needy, Rockefeller would send him $10.

O'Loughlin, who had lived in the box car for 14 years, died this week. He left $23,000.

Fire Hits Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, Cal.—Fire threatened the quake-stricken city of Santa Barbara when a blaze broke out in the San Marcos building in the heart of the ruined business district. The flames were controlled after all the city's fire fighting apparatus had been rushed to the building.

30 Million Trees
London.—More than 30,000,000 trees have been planted by the British government during the last year to make up for the depletion of forest during the war.

Seven Million in War Test
Washington.—Defense day was participated in by 7,264,287 persons in the United States, according to a compilation of reports to the war department from the commanding generals of the nine corps, as follows:

Lira Gains Strength
Rome.—The government won its first victory in the fight against the fall of the lira. The victory was the result of a quiet agreement with the large and small bankers and brokers.

A High
Easy Lift—

A Marked Improvement in Mowers

You who have used the ordinary mowing machine will truly appreciate the high, easy lift on the John Deere. It is so easy to operate that any boy old enough to drive a team can run the John Deere and do it just as easily and as thoroughly as you can.

John Deere High-Lift Mower

With the foot lift the bar is quickly and easily raised from 25 to 35 inches at the outer end. And with the foot lift and hand lift combined the bar is raised 44 inches. Ordinary or unusual obstructions are easily cleared.

A great feature, particularly in rough uneven fields or on roadsides, is the great flexibility of the cutter bar. It hugs the ground and operates perfectly with the outer end several inches above or below the inner end.

You will find the John Deere a powerful cutter. Here's why—one set of drive gears offsets the thrust of the other pair. This prevents binding and undue wear. Maximum power is delivered to the knife—and because of the special arrangement of the gears, pitmen and thrust is entirely overcome.

With an ordinary wrench you can take out all lag in the cutter bar after wear develops or re-center the knife right out in the field if necessary. You can keep the John Deere in good order for many years at mighty little cost.

Before you buy a mower we want you to see the John Deere. You want a good machine. We think we have the best. Give us a chance to show you.

TRUE HOME TOWN PATRIOTISM

PATRIOTISM, like other homely virtues, begins at HOME. It is only given to the few to serve in HIGH places. But all of us have the opportunity to serve at HOME. Loyalty to the HOME town is the test of REAL patriotism. When we fail to support Home Trade and Home Industries we fail in our loyalty to our country and to ourselves. Great are the rewards of Home Town Patriotism. Great are the results of it. It brings prosperity to us and ours, employment for all, activity in business and progress in every direction. Clyde, the Clown

By ROSCOE G. SCOTT

(© 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

EVERY town has a Clyde Davis. God saw fit in His great plan for this world to send down into each community somebody to make other people laugh. Everything Clyde Davis did was funny—at least to us, who spent our rather listless days in Middletown, Ind. When he came after his mail the post office always rang with a good shout of old fashioned merriment. Our church socials went flat if Clyde happened to be away in Indianapolis seeing a show. He won more baseball games for our school team than all the members of the nine.

In our amateur theatricals he shone best. Our home newspaper would merely have to say:

The play given next Tuesday evening at the Opera House has a talented cast, the chief comedy role falling into the capable hands of our true humorist, Clyde Davis.

That was the trouble with Mildred Walker. She took Clyde's love making as a joke. Not that she didn't care. She did. Mildred Walker would tingle under the quaint bits of love making performed by our town humorist—until she saw his face and then she would break from his arms with laughter—saying his face looked so much like Buster Keaton's.

A year before, Millie graduated from the local high school. Clyde had been out of school three years and was trying with friendly overtures to build up a defunct little garage business taken over from a slipshod uncle. He had the promise of a good automobile agency when he got on his feet and he would have been standing there erect months ago, had he had Mildred. But she pooh-poohed such an extravagant compliment.

Then to make matters far worse, two things came along. The first was a catastrophe—Millie Walker inherited nearly a hundred thousand dollars from her Grandfather Walker. The second was the advent of a dramatic coach, who hailed from Boston and coached plays for a living, after an alleged successful fling in metropolitan vaudeville. The whole thing looked like the makup of the old fashioned melodrama with Clyde Davis the dejected hero, Millie, the pure hearted heroine, and DeVoss Langdon—he of Boston—the villain. Langdon talked knowingly of "back stage acting" and "hogging the spotlight" and very early he branded Clyde a "ham comedian"—but he retained him in the cast, for there was none other to be found.

One hesitates to jump to conclusions, but at the local hotel several of us booby unwisely told this Langdon of Mildred's fortune, by way of getting reflected glory for ourselves.

The night of the play I saw Clyde take Millie to the darkest corner of the theater and I saw her run away from him. I knew the jig was up between the two. Clyde snuffed every chance at a laugh that night and was funny only because he was so miserable and acted so rottenly.

She came to him afterward. I think she felt guilty maybe. He told us that DeVoss was leaving after business arrangements the next night and Millie was going away with him. He confided in me the whole story. Millie had told him that her folks were set on Clyde and thought her love for the coach infatuation. "But gosh, he," he said to me tragically, "it's the real stuff." He told me how he had offered his clowning to help her get away, for the Walker home is less than fifty yards from our little depot and facing away from the tracks onto the Main street. Clyde was to amuse the family with stunts just at train time and Mildred was to beat it with her suitors. My protests were hushed. He said he wanted to.

I watched him the afternoon of the elopement. I had a point of vantage that nobody has ever seen. He started his fooling with Millie's little sister, Beesie. But nothing would tempt the parents from the house. For some strange reason Clyde's feeling had lost its charm. He clowning with the little sister, with Millie's great Dane, he called in vain to the house for them to see his stunts; once Mrs. Walker came to the door; but she went back and far away the engine of the East-bound train whistled for Middletown. Her folks had always come out before to smile over his antics. Millie might think he was not honest in his desire to serve. If he failed she would only despise him. DeVoss had gone to the train in the hotel back fifteen minutes before. Millie was prisoned by parental eyes.

An idea! His fooling was forgotten. I saw him stagger about. I heard him shriek, "Oh God, I am dying!" Then he fell headlong and before I could get to him, Millie's father and mother were bending over him and he was half laughing, half crying. Into our circle came Mildred, parting us savagely and taking up his head in her arms. I heard him whisper to her in a true stage whisper that she must rush. But she held on and he was not allowed to explain. And the Boston dramatic coach disgustedly boarded the train and the villain had been—true to form—foiled.

"I am so glad you did it, Clyde," she said as she cried over him. "I thought it was all real and then I knew how much you meant to me."

When all goes to prove that the old melodramas were not so far off after all!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School ' Lesson '

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Synagogue School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(C. 1915, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 12

THE GOSPEL IN ANTIOCH OF PIDISIA.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:13-52.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Behold, I have given him for a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander to the people."
—Isa. 42:1.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Strangers
About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Barnabas and Paul in Antioch, Pisidia.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Early Victories of Foreign Missions.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Preaching and Its Effects.

I. In the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-16).

From Paphos Paul and Barnabas, with their companion Mark, went northward to Perga. Here Mark, for some reason, perhaps because of hardships, went back. He was ready to go again when they started on their second journey, but Paul would not give his consent (Acts 15:38-39). Before Paul's death he testified in Mark's favor for he had found him profitable unto him for the ministry (II Tim. 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia, and here they entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. From this we see that though Paul was sent to the Gentiles, he did not depart from the order of beginning with the Jews.

II. Paul's First Recorded Sermon
(vv. 17-41).

This sermon is worthy of careful study. In its analysis we find four parts:

1. Historical (vv. 17-23).

In this section we see how Paul, in a conciliatory way, led them gradually through a series of changes in which God had dealt graciously with them, finally giving them Jesus, His Son.

(1) God chose and exalted the people (v. 17).

(2) He delivered them from Egyptian bondage, and led them through the terrible wilderness (vv. 17-18).

(3) He destroyed the Canaanitish nations, giving their lands to the Israelites (v. 19).

(4) He gave them judges as their deliverers when distressed by surrounding nations (v. 20).

(5) After they had selfishly chosen a king, He rejected the dynasty of Saul, and chose David, a man after His own heart (vv. 21-22).

(6) Finally it was God who from David's seed raised up unto Israel a Savior, Jesus. This demanded proof, which is given in the next section.

2. Apologetic (vv. 24-37).

That this Jesus is the seed of David and therefore the promised Messiah, he proves by three lines of argument:

(1) The testimony of John the Baptist (vv. 24-25).

John disclaimed all power as their deliverer, and pointed to Jesus as such.

(2) The prophecies of Scripture were fulfilled in their rejection and crucifixion of Jesus (vv. 26-29).

(3) By His resurrection from the dead (vv. 30-37).

Having proved Jesus to be the seed of David, he proceeds to follow the doctrinal teachings growing out of such proof.

3. Doctrinal (vv. 38-39).

The great doctrine derived from this proof is justification by faith, the very marrow of the gospel.

(1) The ground of justification is by Jesus. He took our place as a sinner that we might have His place as sons (II Cor. 5:21).

(2) Who are justified? Those who believe in Him.

(3) From what is one justified? All sins. The one who believes in Jesus is freely forgiven. His sins are all blotted out. This is the missionary message for all times. May we strive to get our pupils to believe in Him.

(4) Practical (vv. 40-41).

The application of this sermon was a warning lest the judgment spoken of by Habakkuk should fall upon them.

III. The Effect of the Sermon (vv. 42-52).

1. Many of the Jews and proselytes asked to hear these words again (vv. 42-49).

Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. This great crowd incited the jealousy of the Jews.

2. Open Opposition (vv. 50-52).

This jealousy could not long be restrained. It broke out in open opposition. The persecution became so violent that Paul and Barnabas were expelled from the city. This persecution was answered by Paul's rejection of the Jews and his turning to the Gentiles.

3. The disciples were filled with joy and the Holy Ghost (v. 52).

Jean Paul Richter Said:

"The life of Christ concerns Him, who being the holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy, lifted with His pierced hands empires off their hinges, and turned the stream of centuries out of its channel, and still governs the ages."

HAY RIDERS AT BRADFORD WITNESS HORRIBLE ACCIDENTS

Mrs. D. D. Murphy, wife of I. C. Agent at Bradford, Tenn., was the victim of a horrible accident Monday night when she fell from a wagon and broke her neck. Death was almost instantaneous. Mrs. Murphy was out with a crowd of young people chaperoning the party on a hayride, when the team suddenly turned and threw her out.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy formerly lived in Fulton and have many friends here who regret Mrs. Murphy's untimely death.

MRS. ADEEBAH HOMRA.

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeebah Homra who died in a Memphis hospital, July 1, following an operation, was held from the Methodist church, Sunday, conducted by Rev. J. V. Freeman, interment following at Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Homra was born in Syria, but came to this country at about the age of 16, and was married to Mr. Asbir Homra soon after her arrival here. She was about 35 years of age. Her husband died only about six weeks ago and her death leaves six children without either father or mother, two sons and four daughters, as follows: Foad, Victoria, Freda, Adeline, Fred and Lillian. She also leaves two brothers, Ed and Richard Homra, of Tiptonville, Tenn.

The death of this young matron, coming so soon after the death of her husband, brought a shock to the people of Fulton and the hearts of many go out to the children who have lost both father and mother in so short a time.

We join a large circle of friends in sympathy for the bereaved.
