MY WIFE!

My wife has been a great sufferer from catarrh. Several physicians and various palest medicines were resorted to, yet the disease continued unabated, nothing appearing to make any impression upon

it. Her constitution finally became impaired, the system being in her blood.

I secured a bottle of B. B. B. and placed her upon its use, and to our surprise

the improvement began at once, and her recovery was rapid and complete. No other preparation ever produced such a wonderful change, and for all forms of Blood Disease I cheerfully recommend

B. B. B. as a superior Blood Purifier.

GREAT GRIEF.

From the Athens (Ga.) Banner-Watchman.

Uncle Dick Sauter says: Fifty years ago I had a running ulcer on my leg which refused to heal under any treatment. In 1853 I went to California and remained eighteen months, and in 1873

I visited Hot Springs, Ark., remaining three months, but was not cured. Anputation was discussed, but I concluded to make one more effort. I commenced taking the B. B. B. about six weeks ago.

The fifty-year sore on my leg is healing rapidly, and yesterday I walked about fifteen miles fishing and hunting without any pain, and before using the B. B.

B. I could not walk exceeding half a mile. I sleep soundly at night for the first time in many years. To think that six bottles have done me more good than

Hot Springs, eighteen months in California, besides an immense amount of medicines and eight or ten first-class physicians, will convince any man on earth that it is a wonderful blood medicine. It has also cured me of catarrh.

S. S. Entertainment.

There will be a S. S. entertainment in the lecture-room of the Cumberland Presbyterian church on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, to which the school invites all its friends.

Died.

Mrs. Geo. O. Thompson departed this life Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the 63rd year of her age. She was a lady of great strength of character and strong Christian devotion. For more than twenty-five years she has been an invalid and through all of this period her faith never wavered but her trust in the Lord grew and strengthened as her bodily infirmity increased. She was kind, charitable and just. Her good deeds will live after her, and many friends are left to mourn her loss. The funeral service was held at the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon. The interment took place immediately thereafter in the city cemetery and a host of friends gathered around the grave to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom all loved and cherished.

At the residence of her father, Dr. Hickman, Mrs. W. P. Gray passed away Saturday evening in the 27th year of her age. Mrs. Gray was born in Elton March 28th, 1858. Early in life she came with her father's family to this city, and for a number of years was a leader in the social circles of our community. She was charming in her personal appearance, and bright and winning in her deportment. She was a lady of the highest culture and her qualities of heart and soul won for her lasting friendships wherever she was known. She was married to Mr. W. P. Gray, of Ohio, Dec. 13, 1878. Her life was all bright and happy till a few months ago, when declining health compelled her to return to her father's residence for treatment. Since that time she has been a constant sufferer, but through it all her genial disposition shone out till the last. Saturday afternoon it was evident she was sinking and early in the evening she passed away. The interment took place Monday morning, and a host of friends, who had known her and loved in days gone by, followed the remains with solemn hearts to their last resting place.

The Trial of W. W. Caldwell.

W. W. Caldwell was tried before Esquires Anderson and Rogers Monday morning on the charge of wounding and killing George Stevens on the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 24th, on the Greenville road in this county, in the section known as "Wild Cat Hollow." The circumstances of the killing, as gathered from the evidence, are as follows: On Sunday Dec. 20th, a woman of doubtful character came to Caldwell's house and stayed there several days. Soon the neighbors began to talk about her presence in the community and much indignation was manifested. Monday morning Stevens with several other gentlemen were at Hunter & Wilson's store. They remained there till in the afternoon when Stevens started home in company with Ben Cason. Just as they passed Caldwell's house Stevens dropped a sack of flour that he was carrying. He got down off of his horse to pick it up, but instead of remounting he walked back to Caldwell's house and entered. Inside he found Caldwell, the woman and another man eating dinner. Stevens said nothing to Caldwell, but told the other man he must take the woman out of the community, which he agreed to do. At this point Cason rode up to the door and says he saw Stevens standing in the doorway with a knife in his hand, and he heard him remark to Caldwell "not to make a move towards him or he'd cut him." Caldwell replied "this is my house and I'll rule it." Stevens then left the house followed by Caldwell. When he came to where Cason was, he took from him an unloaded rifle and a powder horn, but did not load the gun as he had no bullet. Caldwell then walked up with a pick in his hand and, without saying a word, struck Stevens, driving the pick through his neck. Cason galloped off to get some assistance, and, when he returned, he found that the wounded man was dead. After hearing the evidence the Court committed Caldwell to jail without bail. As stated in Saturday's New Era, Caldwell was arrested and brought to this city Friday. Only one witness testified, Mr. Ben Cason, as the other man and woman left for parts unknown shortly after the occurrence.

Walker, who was shot by deputy sheriff Handberry at Lafayette last Saturday, is fast recovering and will soon be out.
Lewis Merriweather, colored, struck his brother Bill with a rock Christmas night, for which Judge Brashear fined him $5 and cost yesterday.
Have you seen the display of Christmas goods in the show window of Howe's Jewelry Palace? "It takes the cake."
Rev. A. C. Biddle will be married today at 1:30 o'clock to Miss Henry Belle Cooper, at Sharon Grove Church, Bennington, by Rev. H. F. Perry.
For Rent.—The store room lately occupied by M. W. Grissam, deceased. Apply to W. T. Cooper, Phoenix Hotel, or J. S. Summers, Longview.
The hop at Howe's Hall Wednesday evening promises to be an elegant affair. Excellent music has been secured and over 200 invitations have been sent out.
Don't buy anything for Christmas presents until you have seen the attractions at Howe's Jewelry Palace. His stock surpasses anything in town.
Died, near Cerulean Springs last Wednesday, Mrs. Martha Goodwin, in her 60th year. She left many friends to mourn her loss. She was buried at the family burying ground the following day.
If you want to buy a Christmas present, do not while away your time looking at small stocks of old style goods, but go to Howe's Jewelry Palace and see more fine Christmas goods than you ever saw before.
Mr. Dan Taylor will move his saloon and restaurant into the house formerly occupied by Gus Hall, on 7th, between Main and Virginia streets, on January 1st, where he will conduct a first-class establishment in all its details.
At a meeting of the ladies of the different churches Saturday, held at the residence of Mrs. Perry, it was agreed that the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association should be furnished at once, and the ladies hope to have the rooms comfortably furnished for the Association within the next week. The ladies would be glad to receive contributions of articles of furniture, and any of our citizens desiring to assist in the work in this manner can send their contributions to the rooms over Russell's dry goods store.
It is a rare treat to go into Howe's Jewelry Palace and see the elegant line of Christmas goods. Mr. Howe has just returned from the Eastern markets, and has brought with him hundreds of beautiful and rare attractions. Many of which have never been seen in Hopkinsville before.
A committee of ladies from the several churches of our town, will give in the latter part of January, at Holland's Opera House, a "Dickens Festival." The proceeds of this entertainment are to be devoted to the furnishing of the rooms recently procured by the Young Men's Christian Association. This object in view, with a varied programme, the literary works of the famous author being most prominent, is sufficient to arouse the interest and patronage of our people in general. As to the exact date, due notice will be given, as also the programme in full.

On Wednesday evening the Bowler Comedy Company will appear at the Opera House in their new play, "In the Swim." It is a three act comedy, adapted from the German for this company and is produced by a strong cast, consisting of Messrs. Chase, Bowser, H. M. Pitt, Victor Harman, Selley Brown, Howell Clark, Misses Rillie Deaves, Marion Russell, Ella Hunt, Mrs. Sol Smith. It is a ludicrous farce comedy. The plot hinges on the attempt of Hercules Todd, assisted by his office boy Piper, to give a party without consulting the ladies of the family and in order to pay his social debts. Through a mistake in the date of the invitation cards, complications arise which lead to the most comical situations and business. The play is bright in dialogue, quick in action and farcical in climaxes.
$5,000 worth of diamonds on exhibition at Howe's Jewelry Palace; also the largest and most attractive stock of ladies' and gentlemen's gold watches and chains, rings, charms, lace pins, bracelets, gold pens, tooth-picks, silver spoons, knives, carving sets, etc., all to be sold very low for Christmas presents.
The Hartford Herald pays the following compliment to a former citizen of this place: Mr. J. J. Bumpus, from Shillito's mammoth dry goods house in Cincinnati, spent several days in town a few days ago. Six years ago Mr. Bumpus applied for and secured a position at Shillito's, in Cincinnati. The position was salesman of the commonest fabrics, salary about four dollars per week, board fifteen dollars per month. He started with three hundred men between him and the top. In a few months he was promoted with an increased salary. In one year he stood half way up the line, and in two short years he stood at the top and occupied the highest position among the salesmen in the country, and to-day draws a larger salary (away up in the thousands) sells more goods, is the most honored, enjoys the confidence of more people, especially merchants—has more friends, is the most courteous, and at the same time the most independent and dignified gentleman that you will find probably in the commercial circles of this or any other country.

NOTICE.

The members of the Republican Executive Committee for Christian county are requested to meet at the County Court room in Hopkinsville, at 1 o'clock p.m., on Monday, January 4, 1886.
NED CAMPBELL, Ch'm.

Tobacco News.

HENDERSON.
The Henderson Times of Saturday says: A rough estimate on the amount delivered already places it at three million pounds; about one-fourth of the sum total raised. One-half of the crop is thought to be sold.
THE LUG "CORNER."
The N. Y. Tobacco Leaf says: "We hear of a combination embracing the great factors of this city and extending far and wide westward."
"The course of trade here having been sluggish of late, and therefore, unsatisfactory to the merchants who are the holders of most of the old tobacco suitable for one of the heavy European buyers, they have, for self-protection, as alleged, united their stocks into one lot, and without the least desire to advance prices, but for the purpose of selling their holdings at a fair market rate. This movement is said to have had its influence upon the markets, where similar quantities of new tobacco have considerably advanced."
"We are informed that all the dark lugs in the New York market have been placed with Messrs. Sawyer, Wallace & Co. for sale. It is innocently stated that the object of this pooling is not to corner the market or any firm, but to obtain protection. The Leaf is always staid, so it does not smile at this.

A leading broker says: "There are two weak points in the scheme of Sawyer, Wallace & Co.'s syndicate. The first is that the lug class covers so many grades. The term 'lugs' embraces a large variety of low grades, trash, non-descript, scrapings, rag-tags and what-not." To effect a corner all this must be bought up—not a small undertaking. The second weak point is in the fact that the Spanish government lets the contract for three years, and does not specify that the supply shall be of any particular year. This enables the contractor to have option of the lug market in the present, past and something of the future. He can buy up old stock of various characters. Whether the Spanish government would accept the new crop coming in, until it has been properly cured in the hoghead, I do not undertake to say. But be that as it may, the syndicate has a large undertaking in attempting to corner the lug supply of Spain.

The Louisville Times says of this corner: The demand from Spain is for dark lugs. When the New York representatives of the regular contractor came to make his purchase this fall he found Messrs. Sawyer, Wallace & Co., of New York, with some 6,000 hogheads of the desired article on hand. The agent of the firm refused to sell unless he would take the whole lot. This he declined to do, and immediately began looking elsewhere for supplies to meet his contract, which calls for a delivery of some 9,000 hogheads to his government in January. One of his first acts was to give orders to Mr. Etienne Girard, Vice Consul of Belgium, and a tobacco broker of this city, to make large purchases of desirable dark lugs. Of course, Messrs. Sawyer, Wallace & Co., and others soon heard of this through their branch house here, and they at once set about forming a syndicate for the purpose of making a corner on the dark lug market, and thereby forcing the regular agent to make purchases of them and their prices. The pool was soon formed and the firm entered the contest. The house in this city was telegraphed orders to buy up the supply of dark lug tobacco without regard to cost. To this end Mr. Walter W. Bourne was appointed representative of the syndicate at this point, the firm here, it is said, desiring to be unknown in the affair.
Mr. Bourne immediately entered the lug market, and soon showed a strong hand. Mr. Girard's orders bade him run up the tobacco, and under the strain of competition this brought about the market quickly showed a strong upward tendency.

Shadows.

The Christmas tree, although lighted with joy, casts a passing shadow over scenes of pleasure. Even as the festive harp twined with flowers is sounding its notes of happiness, in its pauses are heard the notes of the passing bells for those who are wearing for the last time the flowers of heart upon their lifeless bosoms. Two wives and mothers, honored and beloved, have left their home-circles during the sunny brightness of the holidays to return to them no more. The elder one a helpless martyr to suffering for many years, deprived of all social enjoyments, devoted her brief intervals from pain to the culture of flowers, and made a miniature Eden of her beautiful home. Sadly will the flowers miss their enthusiastic friend whose thin pale face bent over them as lovingly as though she were their guardian angel.

The other departed in the freshness of life's early morning. Bright, joyous and lovely the graces had blended in her fair form every charm which makes woman attractive. The earth seemed brighter where she walked. The air balmy where she spoke in loving words to her many friends. Her departure to them seems like the close of some melody which even after it has ceased moves the soul with its wondrous harmony.
Thank heaven the shadows are cast by flying clouds which only for a moment darken the sun.
In a beautiful German parable the twin angels of Death and Sleep walk together in the evening, on the hills. As the angel of Sleep sows the seeds of slumber and young and old yield to their influence, the angel of Death laments his fearful mission. But the angel of Sleep embraces him and consoles him by saying that they too whom he has silenced shall awaken in the beauty of immortality in the morning of the resurrection.

Let the shadows fall. They must pass away in a coming brighter light. The sweet spirit whose presence was a delight and whose voice was music in the homes of earth, shall reappear, as stars hidden for a time by flying clouds, reappear in greater beauty and splendor.

JAMES PYE & CO.

The Louisville Semi-Weekly Post

PROSPECTUS.

During the past few months the demand for Tag Post has greatly increased in the country, its popularity being particularly marked in the interior of Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana. Some difficulty has been prevented, however, because it could not reach remote sections as soon after publication as was desired, owing to the existing regulations that control the movement of trains, while in other sections it has enjoyed advantages over the morning papers in this respect, and we have been enabled to furnish a portion of our subscribers with the latest news from twelve to fifteen hours in advance of our contemporaries. In order to meet the difficulty suggested we have determined to issue a SEMI-WEEKLY edition, which will contain carefully selected matter, full and accurate reports of the markets and other features which cannot fail to render it attractive and almost indispensable to the farmers, merchants and to the general readers of the interior. We are enabled, too, to furnish this interesting edition to subscribers in any part of the country for only $1.25 per annum. The cheapness of the SEMI-WEEKLY POST should cause no one to detract from its merits. The day for high-priced newspapers has passed. We have found that the cheaper the paper the more readers it has and the more its columns are sought by advertisers.

Terms invariably in advance.
