Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla cures the tired feeling, creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." J. C. BROWN, Editor Blueprints, Belleville, Mich.

NO PAPER NEXT WEEK.

It is customary with most country newspapers to omit one issue on Christmas holidays, in order to give the printers a rest and that they may enjoy one week in taking Christmas, and for that cause there will be no paper next week.

We hope that this explanation will be satisfactory to our subscribers.

We are making preparations to still improve the TRIBUNE next year and make it one of the best country newspapers in Kentucky. Every one knows what a hard job it is to build up a newspaper patronage in Marshall county, yet we have succeeded beyond our expectations, and hope to do so to the satisfaction of the people during the year 1892 and ask a continuance of their patronage.

The total valuation of the property of the city of Louisville, is $55,150,000. The tax rate on the one hundred dollars for that city, is $2.17. If our people were to pay $2.17 on the $100 worth of property, we would certainly have Rome howl, but as it is the tax is not very high.

The Tribune, predicts that Calhoun, Marshall, McCracken, Lyon and Livingston, will compose the second Judicial district of Ky., under the new appointment. How will this suit the people? We can see no objection in this so far as affects the convenience or business of these counties. It may be that Lyon county will go with the third Judicial district.

Dr. Keley's biochloride of gold elixir for the cure of drunkenness has enriched himself to such a degree that he intends to establish dispensaries for it at London, Liverpool and Manchester, in England and at Glasgow and Edinburgh, in Scotland. Dr. Keley is described by a St. Louis reporter, who met him recently, as a tall, broad-shouldered man, with full flesh-colored features, a kindly manner, a large head of gray hair, and a large gray mustache.

INTEMPERANCE.

And in the flowers that wreath the sparkling bowl,
Fell adders' hiss and poisonous serpents roll.—Prior.

BENTON, KY., DEC 17TH, 1891.
—How often do we hear young men—aye and old ones too—say that they are not afraid of intoxicating liquor; that they can rule themselves, &c. They may not fear it, but they know not whereof they speak.

Some will say that it is no use to worry about the future; that it will take care of itself. That sufficient for the day is the evil thereof.

Then they go on enjoying themselves, saying they will give up intemperance when they find out it is injuring them—thinking all the time that it is not.

But alas! to give up such a habit, after being so permanently formed, is not such an easy matter as thoughtless young men are so foolish to believe.

Let us here draw a picture of a temperate father and an intemperate son, who while yet young, fell into bad company and soon became a poor, idle, irreligious and vicious creature, whom no respectable people loved and whom they all shunned.

Such a man is a disgrace to his country; to his family, and to his friends.

He may not see the evil forthcoming from his low conduct until he is naught but a ruined body and a sin-wrecked soul, and in the dark prison-cell he is cast—the victim of drink.

There he may think of his wasted life, and his wretched wife who was once his sweet-voiced, light-hearted bride, but who is now dragging onward to meet an early grave; he may think of his child—innocent little creature, who ere many years pass by will be motherless and worse than fatherless; he may think of his sisters and the dark shadow he has cast upon their lives, and of silver-haired father and mother, tottering on alone in this wild, wide world, broken-hearted and sad, reeling under the burden of disgrace which he has cast upon them.

But it is too late now for repentance with him, for intemperance has destroyed his respect for man and his fear of God.

But why such intemperance? Can we do nothing to prevent it? Let us all join hands and try to vanish the use of intoxicants, as a beverage, from our land forever. It is a work one might well feel proud of and which none should fear to join.

Liquor is sweeping away thousands and thousands of our fellow citizens annually, which shows how strong is the power of habit, and there is nothing in the world more debasing than to be an intemperate man (or woman) and at last fill a drunkard's grave. Respectfully, J. W. COLE.

Benton will be in the sixth class according to section 156 of the new constitution. It is now in the sixth class, but if it grows in population in the next year as it has done in the one just past, it will be transferred into the fifth class before the 1st of Jan. 1893. This little town is now growing and improving as fast as any of our West Kentucky towns.

A Rallying Cry.

In 1881 the consumption of beer was 8,65 gallons, and spirits 1,38 gallons per capita.

In 1891 the quantity of beer consumed gives 13.66 gallons of beer for each inhabitant of this country, 140 gallons of spirits. This must have cost the consumers not less than $600,000,000.

Must this evil go on? On without abatement, even increasing! Shall we conclude that "high license" is a failure, and prohibition ineffective, and that we may as well allow the saloons to have full sway? No, the battle for prohibition must not be given up.—United Presbyterian.

OBITUARY.

Miss Mattie Downing, daughter of W. H. and Martha Downing, was born in Massac county, Ills., Aug. 31st 1869.

She moved with her parents, to Marshall county, Ky., when a child where she lived till God saw fit in his wisdom to take her to himself. She departed this life on the 24th day of September 1891.

She leaves an aged father and mother a brother and several sisters to mourn her loss.

Mattie professed religion, in the fall of 1887, at Oakland C. P. church, and connected herself with the M. E. church South, at that place, in which she lived a faithful member till death.

For two years she had been a sufferer with Consumption, and during those two years she bore her suffering without a murmur.

She was happy in Jesus, and was submissive to his will.

Mattie, for a year before she died could not speak above a whisper, but she would often motion her parents, brother and sisters to her bedside and talk to them of Jesus and tell them she was willing to go. "Home," as she called it.

Mattie was a dutiful child and dearly loved her parents.

Her mother is blind, but her father was always at her bedside, to attend her wants.

She would often say "we all think we have a hard time, but poor blind mamma has the hardest time, poor mamma."

Mattie would often write for pastime, and a few days after her death, these lines were found in her scrap book, and they prove what her thoughts were "Our earthly cares will soon be ended, after while, after while. Soon we shall pass life's portals, soon we shall fade and die, and then away to Jesus on wings of love we fly."

Her earthly cares are now ended. She has flown to Jesus.

All the family are Christians, and though they weep for their loved one, it is not as those that have no hope.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

"Blessed are the dead, who die in the Lord."

One who knew her.

How can a farmer vote for a party that favors high tariff.

The holidays are now upon us. Congressmen and Legislators are at home.

CRISP will announce his committee to-day. He is taking his time and will do a good job of it. He will be a different kind of a speaker to "boss" Reed.

Now is the time for the democrats to show the country that their party is truly a party of reform. They can do so without the sacrifice of a single principle. Free reform and free silver should be the watchwords.

When democrats, in national convention, assemble next summer, puts a plank in their platform for "free and unlimited coinage of silver" and the usual anti-tariff plank, then the alliance will flock to the party, almost to a man, and the republican party will be in the soup.

One and One-Third Rate.

On Dec. 24th, 25th, and 31st and Jan. 1st, round trip tickets will be sold at the above rates, good returning until Jan. 4th.

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

A double wedding took place last night, at the home of H. W. Estes, between here and Birmingham, at which Keener Chandler was married to Miss Laura Estes and Johnnie Skaggs to Miss Martha Estes.

These are beautiful young ladies, and we congratulate these young men in gaining their hearts and companionship for a journey over life's many changes.

We have known all the parties since their babyhood and we have known them to love and respect them, and it is the wish of the Tribune that their married lives may be lives of happiness and prosperity.

JAMES LINDLEY.

James Lindley, the man who was indicted for the murder of Ike Stergeon, his son-in-law, at the last term of our Circuit Court, pretended last Saturday night like he would take his own life.

In some way he got hold of a pocket knife and about 2 o'clock, in the morning made several gashes on the fore part of his stomach so that the blood showed itself, but upon a close examination it was found that he was only slightly hurt, and from all the circumstances in the case, it is very clear he was playing another bluff. For if he had intended and wished to kill himself he could very easily have done so, because the knife was sufficient in every respect to have done the work necessary to have ended the old man's life, if properly used.

The old man, doubtless, has enough to run him crazy, but he will have to make plenty more such trials as this before he will end his mortal career.

REMINISCENT.

Sketches and Stories of Pioneer Life.

NO. 4.

The means of obtaining an education in West Kentucky half a century ago, were very meager. School houses were few and far between, as is the case in all thinly settled sections. In many instances pupils had to walk four or five miles to school. Then there was the old-time school house—What a striking contrast between our modern institutions of learning. The old-time school house was a rough looking structure indeed. It was built of rough logs, covered with a clap-board, and had the bare earth for a floor. The benches were made of saplings split into halves with the flat side turned upward.

The only qualification necessary for a teacher at that time was a fair knowledge of the three R's—reading, 'ritin' and 'rithmetic'—and a thorough knowledge of how to use the rule, the birchen rod, or perhaps softer the hickory switch, was one of the established and indispensable articles of school furniture. Many a refractory student was made to realize the full force of the Solomon doctrine of sparing the rod and spoiling the child.

The pupils always looked forward to the last day of school with pleasant anticipations, this was the day on which the teacher must treat his pupils, or be unceremoniously plunged into the nearest hole of water. The treat generally consisted of whiskey, cider or apples and sometimes all three. The patrons of the school would assemble at the school house on this occasion, and those of a bibulous inclination would sometimes imbibe too freely of cornjuice and a free-for-all fight would ensue.

In 1835, Johnatha Mullins, kept store at what is known as the Spout Spring, on the Paducah and Benton road. He was our inveterate joker and never let an opportunity pass to have some fun at some one's expense. Bennett Roberts owned an old white horse, one day he rode him over to Mullins' store. There was an other person named John Ford, who happened to be present. Mullins, remarked to him that Spy Roach, a hatter, who lived in the community, wanted a large quantity of horse hair for making hats, and would pay a handsome price for it. He furnished Ford with a curry-comb and sack, and directed him to curry Roberts' horse. It was about that season of the year known as shedding time, and the crop of hair was of a luxuriant one. Ford worked and curried till he had filled his sack. When Roberts got ready to leave he did not know his horse, so changed was he in his appearance. The animal having been divested of his surplus hair looked more like a scare-crow than a horse. It was with difficulty that Roberts was kept from giving the unsophisticated Ford a severe thrashing.

Mullins made frequent trips to New Orleans for merchandise. On his return from one of these trading expeditions he met Hey Williams, and told him that Cooke burns, were in great demand in New Orleans as food for Parrots. The market price was said to be four dollars a bushel, delivered at Smithland. Williams lost no time in gathering a sack of burrs and was soon on his way to the market. Williams being a magistrate and a man of some reputation in his community, did not want the joke to proceed to far. So he trumpeted up a charge against Williams and issued an attachment against him. The papers were placed in the hands of a constable, who intercepted Williams before he got to Smithland and levied on his sack of burrs. When Williams found out the officers' business he became so indignant that he snatched the sack from his hands and sent it whirling into a briar thicket. He then mounted his horse and returned home as mad as a wet hen.

A Short Court.

Circuit Court adjourned last Friday evening after being in session only five days. This was the shortest session of any circuit court held here since the war.

The petit jury was only here two days, and if we are not mistaken, never sat on a case.

The grand jury adjourned Friday after being in session five days. Only five bills were returned—one for each day.

This speaks well for the condition of our country. This is the smallest number of bills ever found at any sitting of the grand jury since the organization of the county.

The peace of our people was never better than now. Less fighting, gambling and local disturbances than ever existed at any previous time.

We can truly say that this is a time of peace and plenty with our people and we are glad to know it.

Judge Randle says it is only a play-thing to hold court in Marshall county.

Mumps are as thick here, as flies in spring time.

The saw mill here is doing a land office business.

Real Estate hereabouts has an upward tendency.

Christmas is really here, and the small boy with his tin horn has already begun to make the nights hideous.

It is rumored that one of Benton's most prominent lawyers will soon visit Columbus's native city, where he thinks of locating.

There is going to be a double wedding here some time during the holidays.

While in Benton the other day, we met the genial Henry Starks, who informed us that he was a candidate for sheriff. Henry is a good man and will be hard to down.

We have ordered a car load of Dynamite and intend to blow up the fellow who accused us of being Driftwood No 2.

There is not a vacant house in town, and hardly a day passes, but what some one is here looking for a location.

The Briensburg gun club, will take its annual hunt Christmas day. On next Wednesday night at the home of the brides father, Mr. H. W. Estes near Mt Carmel, Mr. K. Chandler and Miss Laura Estes, and Mr John Skaggs, and Miss Martha Estes, will be united in marriage, Rev T. N. Wilks, officiating.

ating, Attendants, Mr. Claud Hamilton, and Miss Ruth Dyke, of this place and Mr Luther Carson of Murray and Miss Ruth Hamilton, of this place. The contracting parties of this double marriage are all highly respected young people who are widely known. In advance of the happy event, we offer congratulations, with the hope that the future may be one of unalloyed bliss.

There is more pretty girls in and around this town to the square inch than any other known place on God's footstool.

There is no other name given under Heaven or among men, that is causing as much speculation as that of Driftwood No 2.

THE BENTON TRIBUNE.

VOL. IV.

BENTON, KY., THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1892.

NO. 10.

TO OUR PATRONS.

The old year of 1891 is now numbered with the past, and exist only in the memory of the living, and on the paper of history. Peace be to its ashes.

Let us try to forget its many faults, and remember its deeds of love and charity with a forgiving spirit.

The Tribune, like other people, doubtless committed many blunders during the year that has just past, but it will begin with this number to improve, and we will do all in our power, to create for it a warm place in the hearts of its readers for the year 1892.

We have toiled early and late, to make it a paper that our countrymen will delight to read and patronize, and all the time it has gradually grown and improved, and we now believe brighter prospects than ever are ahead of it.

We will make a special effort to increase its circulation during the year and we hope that the people of the town and country will do us the kindness to aid us in this a laudable enterprise.

Should the present Kentucky legislature appropriate money for a state exhibit at the World's Fair, is now a question that is being agitated all over the state. There seems to be some opposition on the part of a few people to such an appropriation, but we have been unable so far to notice a real sensible article against it. There never has been and may never be again such an opportunity to bring the resources of Kentucky into public notice, as an exhibit at the World's Fair will do, and we can see no reason why the people of the state, should oppose such a business transaction. We have yet to hear or know of one public spirited man who objects to the state legislature appropriating a respectable sum to defray the expenses of an exhibit. Other states make such appropriations and profit thereby, and why not Kentucky. We believe in such an enterprise from a liberal business stand point, and not from a close, narrow contracted policy, for such a policy will not in any way bring in to prominence the vast mineral and other resources of the state. Let Kentucky rank as high at the fair as any of her sister states.

The democrats who met in a caucus, to select candidates to fill the various offices in the Kentucky legislature, did a wise thing when they would not admit a bolter or an independent into the councils of the pure and tried. There is a line to be drawn some where and at some time, and that was the proper time and place to do it. If a man can't work in lines of his party, when it is needed his help, to assist in fighting its battles, he should be shut out of its deliberations after the victory is gained. Thos S. Pettit, the bolter and disorganizer from Davies county, with his few followers, were sat upon, by the democratic caucus in a way, they will not forget for some time to come. These men who are opposed to conventions, and caucuses while they are candidates, should not be allowed to have anything to do in them after they are elected. Relegate them to the rear, where they properly belong, and teach them a lesson on organization, that will do them good. When a bolter runs up against the democracy of Kentucky, he had as well tackle a buzz saw.

E. H. King postal agent on the P. T. & A. railroad running between Paducah and Paris Tenn. became infatuated with a woman, swallowed too much juice, stole a $20 gold piece, was caught and took a pistol and shot out his brains. All this was brought about by Mr. King having a disposition to drink, and being a dear lover of money, wine and women. All three will cause most men to commit suicide.

Both branches of the New York legislature, are now controlled by democrats, for the first time in many years.

Bear in mind Pomroy's Sweet Chill Cure is guaranteed to cure.

THOMAS W. DEUT.

AN OLD CITIZEN, FORMERLY OF MARSHALL.

DIED AT HIS HOME NEAR MILLAP, PARKER CO. TEXAS, DEC. 17, 1891.

The people of this county will remember Uncle Tom Deut. He lived and reared a large family of children near Olive in this county. When he had raised his children, and saw them married and settled down, he moved to Texas, and spent the remainder of his life with a part of his children, who had moved to that state, before he died.

He left nine living children, forty five grand children, and thirty great grand children.

He was seventy eight years old having spent most of his life, as a true and devoted member of the Baptist church, and when he came to die he expressed himself as perfectly ready and willing to die, and that he wanted his children to meet him in Heaven.

Mr. Deut, is well known to the people of the county, and they will join his many friends and relatives in mourning the loss of such a faithful friend.

No one knew him better than the writer of these lines, for it was at his house he first learned to love fair women, and to this good day has no cause to regret the beauty of the lesson.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any Throat, Chest or Lung trouble. Dr. Ling's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money refunded. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good it is. Trial bottle free at J. R. Lemon's Drug store. Large size 50c and $1.00.

THE PAST YEAR.

The story of the past year is one of unexampled prosperity in this county. Our past history, remarkable as it has been in this respect, does not show equal record of general gain and progress. The profits of agriculture have reached figures that were never before realized; and all other branches of industry have enjoyed a like experience. Our exports have exceeded those of any former year. The people of other countries have enlarged their trade with us in a signal degree; the things that we offer for sale have been bought in unprecedented quantities at remunerative prices. All kinds of business have yielded good returns, and all kinds of traffic have been extended in every direction. More debts have been paid than were ever paid before in any one year. The number of homes has been multiplied at a rapid rate, and the appliances of social convenience and advantage have been increased everywhere. There has been no just ground of complaint, no reasonable excuse for unhappiness, no reason on the part of any class of citizens. The prosperity has extended to every element of society and every nook and corner of the nation. In no other land under the sun have the people fared so well; in no other portion of the world is there so much cause for gratitude.

It is likely, however, that a still better year has just begun. That is what all the signs say all the conditions make possible. It is a part of our philosophy to believe in these signs will not fail and these conditions will not be changed. We are an optimistic people, and not without ample justification. Our form of government is optimistic, and our record of progress forbids us to harbor a hint of pessimism. We live more in the future than in the past. The habit of looking ahead is one of the fundamental traits of the national character. We regard things accomplished as things to be improved, and go on outdoing ourselves from year to year. Hope springs eternal in the popular breast, and plans are regulated accordingly. We are always on the alert for new enterprises and adventures. The theory prevails that there is always a chance to make a fortune in some way that has not previously been tried. We pin our faith to the logic of surprises, which is only another way of saying that we have unlimited confidence in what is to come. It is to-morrow and not yesterday that interests, because to-morrow presents opportunities of added triumph, while yesterday is only a tale that is told of victories that must be excelled if we are to live up to our theory of continuous conquest. Thus it comes when a new year intervenes we quickly forget the old one. The past was good enough, and we are glad to have seen and been a part of it; but the future will bring us more, we feel sure. That is our view of the scheme of the universe. There must be steady improvement, or civilization would be a disappointment and human nature a failure. We refuse to accept the self-deprecating idea that the past has exhausted the capacity of the race in any respect. The American doctrine is of a different order, teaching that the achievements of the past cannot only be duplicated, but surpassed; and so we look to the future with a cheerful trust in its promises and probabilities.

SPECIMEN CASES.

(S. H. Clifford, New Cassel Wis.) was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his kidneys were affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepard, Harrisburg, Ill. had a running sore on his leg of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Sseeker, Calaver, Ohio, had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said they were incurable. One box of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. R. Lemon. 3

BIRMINGHAM MEETING.

We promised in the last issue of the Tribune to give a brief account of the Marshall County Medical Society at Birmingham.

On the threshold of this task, I mention the lamentable fact that our Editor was not present, and Mrs. H. L. moved that the ladies of the meeting never speak to him again—carried unanimously. Mrs. Dr. P., suggested that the paper is a bearer of dangerous parasites, therefore will order the T—discontinued—every body agreed to the proposition.

I can not attempt to do Dr. Stone and his friends justice in describing the royal reception given us. No set of M. D.'s, ever had more or better provided for them.

Dr. Thomas could not break the charm, but remained over night.

The Society was entertained by Dr. Thomas, on the subject of Venesection. The president furnished a number of interesting cases for examination, and discussion. Dr. Coleman, of Palma, took a leading part in the discussions, and ever member present was given an opportunity to make diagnosis and direct treatment.

Bro Seers and the ladies present seemed to enjoy our discussion very much. Mrs. H. Locker, presided for the doctors in the evening and certainly displayed good judgment in selecting an aid to digestion as we had eaten to perfect satiety.

For the benefit of the absent members, I will give the language of a lady who says what she thinks and thinks well before she says—"we have but few here to day, but they are the brains of the profession in this county."

Now you are expected to be in our class next meeting and have a good lesson, and somebody will say some good things for you.

God bless those of Birmingham and vicinity who contributed so much to show their appreciation of our profession.

J. W. Johnson, Sec.

CONSUMPTION.

The most to be dreaded of all diseases often begins in a simple cold, simply neglected. No cough should be allowed to run a single day without using the finest remedy in the world, Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It acts like magic, soothing the lungs, allaying all irritation and cures a cough where all other remedies fail, 25 and 50c per bottle at J. R. Lemon drug store.

SYRUP OF FIGS.

Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

Henry McGrigor Shoots Will Smith

Christmas passed away as quietly as it came with but few difficulties or casualties. With the exceptions of a few gentlemanly "tipsys" we have nothing to report of a warlike character that took place near our sanctum door, except the shooting of Will Smith by Henry McGrigor on Christmas Eve night.

Henry is a young married man and a son of Mr. James McGrigor a very worthy citizen living west of town a few miles. Henry came to town on Christmas eve and during all the day, appeared as if he was about half drunk, and was but a little loud and boisterous at times and continued that way during the entire day. In the evening the town was full of men, women and children all fixing for Christmas. There was a Christmas tree at the Union church that night, after the crowd had gone to church he was standing near the front door of Wilson's grocery, when he discovered a negro sitting on an old line barrel nearby, when he took a pistol out of his pocket and fired at the darky, hitting him in the back just below the shoulder blade, the ball ranging in the direction of the spine. Their had been no difficulty between them, Smith having just arrived from his home in Paducah.

Smith was attended by John son and Stille, who are doing all they can for the poor unfortunate. He is in a precarious condition, with all the chances against him.

McGrigor was arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and bound in a bond of $100. Since that time he has been placed under a bond of $3,000, for shooting with intent to kill, and his trial set for the 9th. As to the result of the examining trial, we are not able to foretell its results, but Mr. McGrigor has gotten himself into a bad scrape, without any provocation whatever.

This is another case where a man is now in trouble, caused by fooling around in a peaceable community with a pistol in his pocket.

The Governor's Message.

Gov. Brown delivered his first message to the legislature at the beginning of its present term and although it is a somewhat lengthy document, it deals in a business way with the business affairs of the state and commends itself to the careful consideration of the people. The governor doubts the constitutionality of the act exempting from a period of five years, new railroads and suggests that steps be taken to recover back ones as well as to collect and levy taxes in the future. He also asks that heavy penalties be imposed on county attorneys who fail to see that the county tax is collected on distilled spirits. He recommends the enlargement of the Frankfort penitentiary to a capacity of 2000 and the Eddyville branch as a house of reform for felons under eighteen. He recommends an appropriation for the exhibit at the World's Fair. Many other matters of public concern are discussed in the message with a force, directness and perfect candor that strongly commended it to those who would have an intelligent understanding of matters that concern every citizen and tax-payer. The Legislature will find it a valuable vade mecum in the discharge of the many difficult and important duties that devolve upon that body, than which the Governor truly says: "No general assembly ever convened in this commonwealth had graver or more solemn responsibilities resting upon it."

The essential lung-healing principle of the pine tree has finally been successfully separated and refined into a perfect cough medicine. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Sold by all dealers on a guarantee of satisfaction.

We Have Seen

A young man sell a good farm, turn merchant, break and die insolvent.

A farmer spend so much time in town that there was nothing at home worth looking after.

A worthy farmer's son idle away the prime of his life in dissipation and end his career in poverty.

A farmer too self-conceited to mend his ways and too obstinate to mend his foot-steps.

A poor boy grow rich by industry and a rich boy grow poor by idleness and dissipation.

A man spend more money in folly than would support his family in comfort and independence.

A farmer build a house so large and fine that the sheriff was first to occupy it.

A farmer deliver a fine oration at the agricultural fair with his fence all down, fields overgrown with weeds, stock foraging on a neighbor's field, and taxes unpaid.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J. R. Lemon. [43 1/2]

Adolf Lalloz, carriage manufacturer, 129 Carroll street, Buffalo, N. Y., states: "I was troubled with nausea of the stomach, sick headache and general debility. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."

Mr. Ed Farley has at last been appointed postmaster at Paducah, which will end a bitter sectional political fight. The applicants were all clever men, but the appointment of Mr. Farley was doubtless a great disappointment to some of them. The President could not decide between Barnes and Houston, but appointed Farley as a compromise man, which will cause much complaint and dissatisfaction among the republicans in Paducah, as if he had appointed any of the others. There are too many republicans in Paducah for them to agree upon any one man, so they had as well fight over the appointment of Farley as any one else. Mr. Farley will however make a good postmaster. Mr. Houston will understand accept a high position in the office.

TO DISPEL COLDS.

Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

W. T. Moore, of Harrison county, defeated Harvey Meyers of Kentucky, in the democratic caucus for speaker of the House of Representatives last week, and as a matter of course was subsequently elected speaker, and is now presiding over the lower House of the General Assembly. It was a hard fought battle between the two but Mr. Moore was elected, and from our knowledge of the two men, we think the best one was selected. Mr. Meyers is a smart young man, and makes a reasonable speaker, but he hails from a foul nest of sick politicians, and such men are no the proper ones to preside over a legislature.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, head-aches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

HOUSEHOLD BREVITIES.

—All fresh meat should be put to boil in hot water, but for soup in cold.

—Drop Cakes.—Having grated two cocoanuts of ordinary size, add to the pulp an equal amount of sugar, three eggs, half a cupful of ground rice, and beat all well together. Bake as for the cookies.—Good Housekeeping.

—Berry Pudding.—Three pints blueberries, five cups flour, one pint molasses, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Roll in buttered mold or pan three hours. Half of this recipe is enough for a small family.—Boston Budget.

—For fruit sherbet crush a quart of fresh fruit to a paste, add the juice of a lemon and two pints of water, as preferred. Let the mixture stand for an hour, then strain to remove seeds; add granulated sugar to taste, and stir until dissolved. Pour over cracked ice in tumblers, and drink when quite cold.—N. Y. World.

—Grape Catsup.—The juice of twelve pounds of grapes; boil well and skim. Sugar, eight pounds; vinegar, one quart (pure cider); black pepper, one table-spoonful; cayenne pepper, one table-spoonful; mustard, one ten-cent box; cinnamon (pulverized), two ounces; cloves (pulverized), one ounce; salt, one teaspoonful. Boil thoroughly; bottle and seal.—Demorest's Monthly.

—If you want to send milk off in bottles, with a basket of dinner or a traveler's lunch or for the baby's tea, first put into the bottle if, one pint, two table-spoonfuls of lime water, or if a quart, four table-spoonfuls. It will keep lowest, even in hot summer weather; and if you will wrap the bottle in a wet cloth and then in a dry one, it will keep cool into the bargain.

—Soups.—Take cooked, or uncooked scraps of meat. Cut into very small pieces and put into a stew pan with the good quality of onion, double the quantity of raw potatoes and cold water to cover. Simmer gently for about three hours. Remove the bones, and serve the soup very hot. A profitable way of using up cold meat.—Detroit Free Press.

—Water Soupy.—Place, flounders, or any fresh water fish are good for a soupy. Boil the fish; stand aside the best looking and boil down one or two pieces in the liquor, of which there should be about two quarts; boil in it also a bouquet of parsley. Pulp the fish which is boiled down, and chop the parsley fine. Return them to the liquor, heat the fish in it, and serve it in a deep dish accompanied by thin slices of brown bread and butter.—Boston Herald.

A delicious way of serving ice cream is to fill watermelons with that delicious dainty. The fruit must be cut in halves, and the seeds taken out before the ice cream is put in, and a piece of the pulp should accompany each, helping of cream. Another novel idea is to cut a ripe pineapple into neat little round slices, on each of which is placed a spoonful of ice cream. This cannot be conveniently eaten without a dessert knife, but is a delightful combination in very hot weather.—Boston Budget.

REARING CHILDREN.

Firmness the Grand Essential in Their Management.

Hood says of his "Irish Schoolmaster" that he "spelled the rod and never spared the child." Of the two, perhaps it is better to spoil the rod than the child, but it is not necessary to spoil either.

Firmness is the grand essential in the management of children. Nothing more reasonable should be required of them, but that which is reasonably required should be rigidly exacted. The rules laid down for their government should not be harsh or severe, but they should be like the laws of the Medes and Persians—absolutely imperative. No "coaxing ways" of the cunning little creatures for whose good they are framed should ever induce a parent to violate them, or to waver in their enforcement. No promise made to a child should ever be broken or evaded. Boys and girls know how to observe, and are more prone to imitate the weaknesses and vices of their teachers than to emulate their virtues. If you break faith with them they will fly to their parents, and tell them all the conditions by your example. They will tell you as much if you push them hard. Never, therefore, attempt to terrify them by threats which you do not intend to execute, or to stimulate them by promises of reward which you have no thought of fulfilling.

A dotting, over-indulgent mother is the most cruel enemy a child can have. The insane kindness of such mothers has ruined thousands of sons and daughters who, under proper management, would have been a comfort and a credit to their parents. Compromises are sometimes expedient in politics—although that is doubtful, if any whole-some principle is waived or sacrificed; but in family government they are always unwarranted. All this, it may be said, is so true that it is trite; yet in view of the lawlessness of the children of this generation, it cannot be too often reiterated.—N. Y. Ledger.

According to Altitude.

How the population of the United States is distributed according to altitude is indicated by a census bulletin just issued. Below 500 feet line are the people engaged in manufacturing, foreign commerce, and most of those engaged in the cultivation of cotton, rice, and sugar. The prairie states and the grain producing states of the north-west are located on the interval between 500 and 1,500 feet. East of the ninety-eighth meridian, 1,500 feet is practically the upper limit of population. The area between 2,000 and 3,000 feet constitutes almost everywhere the debatable ground between the arid region of the Cordillera and the humid region of the Mississippi valley. In the altitude of 3,000 feet irrigation is necessary for agricultural operations. The occupation of the population living above 6,000 feet is mining. The movement of population is toward the higher altitudes, and is most marked between 1,000 and 6,000 feet. The greatest density is on the sea board, and decreases uniformly until the altitude of 2,000 feet is reached. At this point it becomes quite sparse.—Chicago Tribune.

Advice as to Teed Tea.

If you must drink tea fill a glass with cracked ice, but leave room enough on top for three spoonfuls of powdered sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Then pour in the hot tea from the pot. Don't use tea which is already cold and has stood for some time. Cold tea is not tea at all. It is tannic acid and the alkaloid known as theine. Oolong makes the best iced tea.—Buffalo Express.

- To encourage no vice which will become a second nature and leave him toothless, gray and bald when he should be in the prime of manhood.
- To keep his mind free from filth.
- To indulge in no obscene songs and stories as an amusement at banquets and stag parties.

To never forget when ladies are absent that there may be gentle men present.

To be a manly man on all occasions.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

"My Daughter's Life"

Was saved by Hood's Sarsaparilla," says Mr. B. B. Jones, of Alna, Maine. "She had seven running sores in different places on her body, but on giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla there was marked improvement and now she is well, strong and healthy."

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

KICKERS

We confess to a liking for a good healthy kicker. He is own cousin to the crank. If things do not go to suit him, he makes his opinions known, and endeavors to set the world moving along in the right direction. He is not content to sit and let "the other fellow take all the good things of this life and deprive him of his share. True he may sometimes go too far, and kick just for the sake of kicking; then he becomes a nuisance. We can forgive him for that, however, when we consider the good he does. If his party nominates an unfit man for a public office, like a good American citizen he kicks over the traces, and endeavors to elect a better man. If the authorities of his town or city disregard the common weal for the sake of self, he kicks until he brings to bear the weight of public opinion upon the offenders. If a majority of his community succeed in securing the enactment of an unjust or oppressive law, he kicks until he secures its modification or repeal. He is usually engaged in war with oppression and wrong-doing, and has no milk-and-water sentiment to impel him to keep silent while wrong prevails. He knows his rights, and knowing them, dares maintain them. Though kicking continually against injustice, wrong and abuse suffered by others rather than himself, he is usually a down right good fellow, anxious only to do right and to induce others to do likewise.

Good luck to the kicker! Of tenor right than wrong, he can not well be spared.

HENRY S. HALE.

Maj. Hale, State Treasurer has at last resigned his position as treasurer of the state, and will return home, to spend the remainder of life with his business and family, at his home in Mayfield Graves county. Mr. Hale is a first class christian gentleman, a popular man and a good public officer, but we can't think he treated his ardent supporters and constituents right. We are one of the men who believe that when a man is elected to fill a public trust, he should fill it. Mr. Hale was appointed by Gov. Buckner to fill out an unexpired term, which gave him plenty of time to know whether he wanted the office or not. He was a candidate before the democratic convention for the nomination for a new term, which he received and now we think he should have remained at his post, and attended to his business for which he was elected. This way of getting a promotion at the hands of the people, and treating it as a play thing, is not in our opinion the proper way to do. Sam Norman of Graves county has been appointed by Governor Brown, State treasurer, vice H. S. Hale resigned. Mr. Norman is certainly in luck, going from ex-sheriff to State treasurer in a few months, but we can see or know of no reason why he should not make a good State officer.

Senator P. B. Plumb died during the last week of December at his post in Washington, and brought to his home at Emporia Kansas, and buried with all the honors that become a generous people towards a worthy Statesman. He was a man whose ability and real worth was never known until a few years before his unexpected death.

A PLEASANT COME LIMENT

Judge Park arrived on the pack at Monday at noon to preside over his first session of the Common Pleas Court in Livingston county. There are apprehensions of the most pleasant kind concerning his rulings. Unassuming and courteous, it is rather impossible that he should not please. It is evident that Judge Park has never sought the newspaper fame that has been accorded him. He is simply fulfilling his official duty as judge without ostentation of any kind, and is deservedly all the more popular.—Smithland News

I have had a better one sore on my hip for 15 years which terminated in a cancer. I tried various remedies purporting to cure, but all without avail until I purchased a box of your Dr. Hale's Household Ointment and with two months' using it has entirely cured it, and I freely give this for the benefit of the people. Truly Yours, Wm. Skelley.

King of Medicines

Scrofulous Humor—A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered, had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well. "Early in 1881 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Cure,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system. I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.
