As we have been writing from our little hovel for weeks, we have had few opportunities to enjoy the beauties of the season. But the last few days have been delightful, and we have enjoyed a splendid trade during the holidays.

The Christmas tree in the Union church was very fine, and many nice presents were given. Henry Chandler visited Wm. B. Easton on the 2nd and thoroughly enjoyed his visit. Mr. Chandler is a very attractive man to the ladies.

The weather has been mild, and we have enjoyed a pleasant Christmas. The New Year's Ball was very fine, and many nice presents were given. Henry Chandler visited Wm. B. Easton on the 2nd and thoroughly enjoyed his visit. Mr. Chandler is a very attractive man to the ladies.

HINTS FOR MEN AND WOMEN

To be courteous and kind.
To avoid profanity.
To dress neatly.
To avoid idleness.
To be above gossipping.
To make life happy.
To marry a woman for his worth.
To read something besides a newspaper.
To treat a woman as his equal.
To expect no dress snit to over and above what it contributes.
To put up a stove.
To kill a cat.
To whip a carpet.
To dress himself.
To expect a woman's implicit consent.
To expect no dress snit to over and above what it contributes.
To keep silent while wrong prevails.
To be light hearted and fleet headed.
To encourage no vice which will color his word.
To be a right good fellow, anxious only to render right good than wrong, he can tolerate right than wrong, he can tolerate.
To make a man his equal.
To kill a dog.
To cut a man.
To be unassuming and courteous in all things.
To be unassuming and courteous in all things.
To believe that when a man is elected to fill a public trust, he should fill it to do good to men as he is with the fellows.
To be above gossipping.
