THE BIG CIRCUS.

Largest Crowd That Was Ever Gathered Here Saw Robinson Show.

Murray well sustained its record Monday of being the best show town anywhere in this region, the crowd which assembled here to see John Robinson's circus being estimated as the largest which has gathered in this city for years. The show management report that the business done here was as satisfactory as that given them in any of the larger places. In the afternoon the seating capacity proved insufficient and probably 1,500 persons were forced to sit on the ground, and hundreds were refused tickets. When it is remembered that the seating capacity of the big tent was 8,000 the immensity of the audience can be realized. At night the main tent was again well filled. Nearly everyone who has been heard to express himself was thoroughly pleased with the show. The circus features were fully up to the standard and many had never been seen here before.

While the circus reaped a golden harvest, the merchants all over the city report the best day's business which they ever had on a circus day. The country people flocked to town primarily to see the show but their combined business with pleasure and while here many of them laid in their supply of winter clothing. When closing time the merchants and their employees were tired out but all wore smiles of satisfaction at the well filled money drawers which showed the result of their day's labor.

Work On Masons.

Masonic officials recently sent out letters all over the country to members of the order, warning them to look out for a bold fraud which is being worked among Masons.

The fraud is being carried on under cover of the mails by swindlers, who are collecting funds on a bogus subscription scheme for the erection of a monument to the late President McKinley. Members of the Masonic order have been selected as the victims. Thousands of Masons in the west have recently received letters sent out under the chain system. The letters purport to come from prominent eastern Masons, and ask the receiver to contribute ten cents toward a fund which is being raised for the erection of the monument.

In addition the receiver is asked to write three letters to brother Masons or friends, asking each to send in ten cents, and in turn write three letters to their friends. They are directed to send the money to Judge William R. Day, at Canton, Ohio, one of the best known Masons in the United States. In each original letter there is enclosed a number of envelopes addressed to W. R. Day, Esq., Canton, O.

Through accomplices at Canton the letters have been intercepted, by a simple ruse. The confederate of the swindlers called at the postoffice several days before the replies were scheduled to arrive and asked for mail addressed to "W. R. Day." When the letters addressed in this manner did begin to come, the postal clerk, familiar with the man and his name, reserved them for him, as Judge Day's mail was seldom addressed in this way.

It is estimated that the amount secured by fraud will reach many thousands of dollars. Few who received the appeal neglected to respond.

As far as can be learned the swindle was confined to the western states. In San Francisco the victims included practically every official of the local lodges. A dispatch from Judge Day to a California Mason states that he knows nothing of the chain letter scheme.

The United States secret service officials have taken the matter up and are searching for the swindlers. Thousands of letters at the Canton postoffice, received since the swindlers took flight and ceased calling for their mail are being returned to the senders.

LARGE CROWD

Heard Beckham and James Speak Here Monday In Circus Tent.

The largest crowd ever gathered in this county to hear a political speech greeted Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and Congressman O. M. James here Monday. The great throng was estimated at 10,000 people.

The management of the John Robinson shows tendered the use of their big circus tent for the occasion, and the capacity was taxed to accommodate the crowd.

For one hour and a half Gov. Beckham compared the splendid condition of state affairs during his administration to the chaos, bloodshed and political riot and ruin of the Bradley and Taylor administrations. He compared the tax rate, expenditures, public debts and accomplishments of the administrations and was greeted with round after round of applause as he mercilessly unmasked the charges of the republican candidates. He was given close attention throughout his speech.

He was followed by the big and brainy Congressman, Hon. O. M. James, who is a particular favorite in Calloway. Mr. James stated in the beginning of his speech that he had tackled nearly every sort of political contest, and had been "up against" knotty problems during his life of every known character but this was the first time he ever tackled anything as big as he was, a four-ringed circus.

His speech pleased the great crowd and he was tendered a rousing ovation.

It was a great day for democrats, and the thousands of voters who heard the speakers went away better satisfied than ever to vote the straight ticket.

Land Sales Monday.

The sale of lands by the master commissioner last Monday attracted much attention and was attended by large crowds. Spirited bidding for the various places was a feature.

The principal sale was of the Hamlin estate. This property was sold in tracts and the whole brought $10,916. Ninety-eight acres including the store, was purchased by Mrs. Joe Thurman at $4,200. B. F. Schroeder purchased 160 acres for $4,701. The Blood river tract was purchased by W. A. Patterson at $2,005.

The Rowlet property was purchased by L. E. Herndon, of Stewart county, Tenn. Purchase price was $1,112.

The Irvan property of Wadesboro, and the Coleman property was bought in respectively by Mrs. W. R. Irvan and Gus Coleman.

The sales included some desirable real estate and fancy prices were realized.

I Want to Sell.

I want to sell the Hamlin land that I bought as described in the sale as No. 3 and 4, reserving the timber. Will sell in lots to suit the purchaser, and whatever land you may want to clear I will pay for the working of the timber into ties, etc. If interested come and see me.

B. F. SCHROEDER.

Mr. J. M. Sexton and wife, of Stewart county, Tenn., were the guest of their sons, J. D. and Bert Sexton, the first of the week.

Mrs. R. L. Grogan was the guest of her son, Jos. R. Grogan, of Paducah, the past week.

BUSY MEETING.

Association Awards Prizing Contracts and Recommends C. A. Hood for Salesman.

The meeting of the county committee of the tobacco association was convened Monday morning at about 9:30 o'clock and until 12 o'clock was kept busy disposing of the business before them.

Thirteen of the fourteen members were present and participated in the meeting. The only absent member being J. V. Adams, of South Brinkley. A number of resolutions that concern every association prizer was passed at this meeting.

It was ordered by the committee that no firm be given a contract to conduct a prizing house at more than one location in the county.

A resolution was adopted providing that no firm be granted a prizing contract and warehouse contract. The object of this resolution, as stated by the committeeman who introduced it, was to separate the prizing from the warehouse business.

A resolution was unanimously adopted to the effect that all prizers charge the association rate of 75 cents for prizing and that contracts would be refused firms who refused to do this.

After the adoption of the above measures the applications for prizing contracts were taken up and the following firms awarded contracts.

Miller & Harris, Harris Grove. J. A. Belcher, Almo. J. Y. Brandon, Hazel. A. C. Smith, New Concord. Brooks I. nn, Crossland. Mizell & Tarry, Dexter. Denham & Marshall, Hazel. Smith & Cochran, Murray. W. A. Patterson, Hymon. C. E. Farmer & Co., Murray. Purdom & Swan, Murray.

Additional contracts will be awarded at the next meeting, as several firms who expect to engage in the business did not have their applications before this meeting.

The matter of recommending a name for salesman was, on motion, left to a vote of the committee. The names of J. J. Jones, C. A. Hood and J. K. Rogers were placed before the committee and a vote by ballot resulting in Hood and Rogers each receiving six votes. The chairman cast the deciding vote for Mr. Hood.

W. C. Nance, D. O. Clopton and Epi Miller were applicants for the position of inspector and a ballot vote resulted in the selection of Mr. Miller.

The committee adjourned to meet October 10th, at which time the books will be closed. It is earnestly desired that all persons who intend to prize or conduct a warehouse in the county have their application before the committee at this meeting. All pledges must be turned in to the secretary on this date.

It is the intention of the committee to wind up the work of the year with a big rally and those who fail to join by this date must remain out.

It's a fine girl at Eulis Pucketts. Miss Eunice Clayton, daughter of James Clayton, was married to Wit Barnett, son of J. W. Barnett of the Bishop old mill neighborhood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. S. Vandermint at the home of the bride Sunday 11 o'clock a. m.

Most of the people are done cutting tobacco in this section.

There was a colt show at Hazel Ellis's Saturday evening with a number of good colts.

George Miller has started his sorghum mill at this place. He is making some fine molasses.

Enoch Sherman moved a house for Pen Cole the past week.

Some tobacco sold in this section bringing fair prices.

W. W. Humphreys spent one day the past week in Murray.

Mike Erwin was through these parts last week baling hay.

Tom Miller will move to his farm near Crossland in the next few days.

Dutch Dunn and family spent last week in Hickman, Ky.

John Miller has his new barn about completed.

Wheat Growing Profitable.

To the farmers of Calloway and adjoining counties:

You had better sow some wheat this fall as the prediction is wheat will reach $1.25 per bushel by next year. So says George C. Howe, of Duluth, Minn., one of the largest wheat growers of the northwest.

The Protect Association is taking it in charge among the wheat raisers like the tobacco of our counties, and determined to place wheat to the $1.25 mark and hold it to this.

The farmers had better raise more wheat this next season than they have in the last two years. Wheat can be raised here very profitably at $1.25 per bushel. When following tobacco it can be put in very cheap. A start in time will save and make some one money on wheat within twelve months. FARMER.

Events Of Circus Day.

It was the biggest crowd ever in the town. Not less than 12,000 were here. It beat the big Woodmen picnic July 4th.

Splendid order was maintained throughout the town and upon the circus grounds.

Only four arrests were made during the day, three drinks and one little scrap.

Only one "con game" with the circus and the operator paid the county a fine of $50.

Hundreds of folks failed to see the show. The big show tent was closed before the performance began, crowded beyond its capacity.

It was a big day, a jolly time, and the folks enjoyed the occasion.

Nat Ryan, the merchant, has been quite ill for the past several days.

BRYAN, OCT. 8

The Great Champion of Democracy Will Speak in Murray.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, twice the democratic nominee for the presidency, will speak in Murray on the evening of October 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Senator Linn, who is chairman of the county campaign committee, returned from Louisville last week where he completed arrangements with the state committee for Mr. Bryan to come to Murray.

Mr. Bryan will arrive here on a special train at about 7:30 o'clock and will speak at 8 o'clock. Mr. H. A. Fruitema has tendered the use of his big tobacco prizing house for the occasion and preparations will be made at once to put the big house in shape.

Many prominent Kentuckians will be in the party and it goes without saying that the great champion of democracy, of the people will be heard by a great crowd of Calloway citizens.

OTHER OPINIONS.

Capt. W. J. Stone, former congressman from this district, who became disgruntled because he was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor by Senator Goebel in 1899, has returned to the faith and is again on the stump urging the voters to test their ballots under the rooster. Capt. Stone started out a few weeks ago as an independent candidate for State Senator in the third district, but he was soon brought to see the folly of his candidacy and he withdrew from the race and announced his purpose of heartily supporting the entire Democratic ticket. Judge Yost of Muhlenberg county, who left the party in 1899 and was one of Wm. S. Taylor's chief advisers, has also got back in line and will take the stump for the Democratic ticket. These are healthy signs in politics.—Clinton Gazette.

The people of the First congressional district, and of Hickman county especially, should bear in mind that in voting the Democratic ticket in November they cast a vote for John Hendrick for Attorney General. Politics aside, John Hendrick is one of the best men in the State. He is not only a lawyer of great ability, but a pure and honest man, such a man as the State needs in the attorney general's office. He wears no man's collar, and while a loyal Democrat, has never hesitated to tell the truth, whether it hurt or not. He would never become a part of a self-perpetuating political machine, for he abhors such things. Nothing could influence him to do other than his sworn duty, and as the attorney general of the State he would earn his salary ten times over every year. The voters would make a great mistake should they fail to elect such a man to fill this important office.—Clinton Gazette.

Under the will of Thomas E. Patton, late treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Pennsylvania, his entire estate, valued between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, is devised to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania for the education and support of male orphans of Master Masons.

A BROKEN SLATE.

Our attention is called to an article published in this week's issue of the Times, and which is signed by R. T. Farley, as chairman of the city democratic committee, and K. Robertson, secretary of the same organization. We exceedingly regret the necessity of giving the article passing attention, and were it not for the fact that democratic principles and usages were assailed this notice and comment would not be published. Concerning the unwarranted personal attack upon the editor of the Ledger we will make but brief reference. We covet the esteem of all men, we even court the friendship and good will of the Flee puppy, but we do not realize that it matters much whether we are the recipient of the last named affection or not.

But directly to the matter in question. We do not believe that big-hearted, broad-gauged, gentle-demeaned Rufe Farley had ought to do with the tirade of abuse that is contained in the article, and charge that his clean record as a democrat is dragged into the matter to shield a less scrupulous, would-be political boss and slate maker. Then follows, naturally, that Mr. K. Robertson is the sire of the literary abortion, in as much as his signature is thereto appended.

Again we repeat that the policy of this paper under the management of Jennings is to call a spade a spade, mark a line and hew to it, disregarding where the chips may fall or the howl of hit canines. If the shoe we picture fits wear it, if it pinches the public generally hears the squeal. We endeavor to give every man a square deal, we demand like treatment; we will not play the dual role of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; we will not occupy the prominent pew of the church and drink longest from the neck of a black bottle; we will not champion one cause secretly and espouse another openly; we will not advocate a principle we honestly oppose nor urge popular measures to advance a personal financial interest in the face of an honest contrary opinion. Our head may be severed, gaunt hunger may stare us in the face and gnaw relentlessly at our vitals, and we will suffer the pangs smilingly, even welcome them cheerfully before surrendering an honest conviction to advance a selfish interest.

The excuse, seemingly, for this tirade was the fact that the Ledger called attention to the action of the city democratic committee assuming to select or "pick out" a set of candidates for city councilmen to succeed the present board, charging that this authority was not delegated to any committee. Let's see how far amiss the Ledger went when it stated these assertions. Mr. Robertson denies that the committee, acting in its official capacity, "picked out" a list but says, and we quote from his article: "We did then and there as individuals do thus and so. We deny you, sir, as an individual the right to 'pick out' or make a slate for the people to ratify, and again declare that this is a guaranteed right and is only vested in all the people of this city, and is a right they will exercise, regardless of your dictates, in the mass convention Friday night. It matters not to us whom you selected, or whether you selected them as a committee or as an individual, your selection may be composed of the best and most capable men in the community, these facts are not germane to the issue, we still affirm that you shall not abridge the rights of the people by selecting their servants. We grant that you possess a personal privilege of "picking out" your own candidates but you must not and we will not permit you to make our selections.

Regarding the writer's official acts as a member of the city council he only begs to say that he assumed the guaranteed free right of acting as he honestly believed for the best interest and advancement of the city he was serving and entertains not a single apology for his conduct. If he is to be damned for this he accepts the verdict willingly. The new council may repeal every measure passed by the body now serving, that will be its business, and while we might think such action contrary to the interests of the people we are unquestionably endowed with a sufficiently generous mind to concede that they will act honestly and as they deem best. We long ago learned that it was not possible for all persons to agree upon any subject.

Now, regarding the personal references to the editor of the Ledger, we only entertain a passing comment. We have been in the newspaper business twenty-five years or more, we have encountered hundreds, vea thousands of fellows no larger than you physically, Mr. Robertson, but we'll be danged if we ever saw a smaller one mentally. And this we give you as fatherly advice: Don't attempt the defense of such action again, don't imagine you can write an article for publication. Now, honestly, if we had no more gray matter than you possess we wouldn't even attempt to run a grocery store.

Hon. Jas. Breathitt, republican candidate for attorney general, and Capt. Ed Farley, republican postmaster of Paducah, spoke here last Friday. A very small crowd heard them. They didn't even make a ripple on the political waters.

OLD-TIME BASEBALL

GREAT GAME PLAYED AT AN NAPOLIS IN '68.

When the Jeffersons met the Monitors and had to work to win—loving of men who are since fameless.

"In the early days of baseball it was a wonderful thing for our local teams to make visits to other towns and cities, and our embryo tourists regarded the trip down to Annapolis, where they met the future rulers of the sea, as a top-notch," said old Muddy Record, who scanned the copy at the sporting editor's desk, according to the Washington Star.

"It was a pretty long trip in those times. You had to get up with the sun if you wanted to reach Annapolis the same day, as the then fast going Baltimore & Ohio only had one train out that connected with that 'air line' that worked its way from the junction and stopped at every signal, like our old-time horse cars.

"The first team to visit Annapolis from Washington, and, indeed, perhaps the first from any place, was that lively bunch of amateurs called the Jeffersons, who were just coming to the front in 1868 as the leading ex-ponents of their class of ball tossers.
This visit took place on Thanksgiving day, so you can see here also that on that national holiday baseball was the real thing, though at this progressive period it is football. In honor of the navy had made historic, and their uniform consisted of white flannel shirts and knickerbockers, trimmed with blue, and blue stockings, quite a surprise for the visitors, as the Jeffers-sons at that time, as most of the clubs elsewhere, except the famous Red Stockings, were still wearing long trousers as a part of their uniform.

"The game was exceptionally brilliant for those days. Some of the fielding catches of the midshipmen would reflect credit on the best professionals now before the public and would warrant extra space in today's writings as phenomenal.

Midshipman Calhoun, afterward Admiral Calhoun, played his position like a Lajolo, as he went after and captured everything that came his way with the ease and elegance of a seasoned player, while the backstop work of Billingham was as good as dug Allison shown with the famous Red Lions of Cincinnati. Wainwright, at left field, was the admiration of the large crowd, his excellent work bringing out applause from the Jeffersons.

"The Jeffersons won the game on their merits, but it required the best individual and collective work of the team to surpass that of the midshipmen. Their clean-cut work made them best of friends, even among the young ladies present, and every one knows how hard it is for civilians to make an impression on the fair sex when brass buttons are around.

"This opening event in athletics at the academy was soon followed by visits from the other organizations of Baltimore and Washington, in which not only baseball played an important part, but boat races and other sports were included. These have been maintained these many years, and it is remarkable that 95 per cent. of the midshipmen who have figured in the annals of athletics have also filled niches in the history of our country and become famous in war and the development of the service."

Russia's National Anthem.
Russia's present national anthem is probably the only one that was ever adopted as the result of an open contest. The musical committee appointed to do the first rough work of selection, rejected all the anthems except two, the respective merits of which were left for the emperor himself to determine. One was by Glinka, the renowned composer of "Life for the Czar," the other was by Ludov. Glinka's anthem was thoroughly Russian in character, and in the form of a march; Ludov's was more scholarly, but much less original. He even, however, that a highly military strain of instrumentalization would appear, and the drums and trumpets decided Nicholas in favor of it.

Easily Explained.
"The city boarder was angry all over."

"Look here!" he blurted. "You told me that you didn't put water in your milk, I found live evidence in the last pail."

"Live evidence?" drawled the old farmer, blandly. "What was it, neighbor?"

"Why, I found a frog."

"The old farmer laughed and stroked his long yellow whiskers.

"It's a frog! Don't let that worry you," he answered. "That frog came from the food of the old brindle cow."
"And what have the been eating?"

"Hops!"

Wring Time.

"It seems queer," remarked the thoughtful thinker, "that hammocks are used only in the summer."

"What's queer about it?" queried the dense person.

"The experience of the average man would lead him to believe they were built for the fall," explained the thoughtful thinker.

CARE OF SILK HANDKERCHIEFS.

Precautions Necessary During the Process of Washing.

In washing, silk handkerchiefs care should be taken to prevent their turning yellow. A silk handkerchief should never be boiled, nor have any soil rubbed upon it.

Make a lather of finely shredded white soap and water, wash and squeeze the handkerchief in it, press out all the moisture, and dry quickly in the sun; leaving them while they are still damp, should not be done.

White silk handkerchiefs used as neckties are sometimes cleaned very well with dried and powdered starch in which a little powdered blue has been mixed.

The handkerchief is spread over a clean linen cloth, and with a pad of clean white linen the powder is rubbed over the silk, then dusted out, after which, with a moderately hot iron and two folds of slightly damp linen laid over the silk, on the right side, the handkerchief is ironed, which brightens it considerably.

SERVING UP COLD MUTTON.

Fashioned Into Croquettes It Is an Appetizing Dish.

Take a pound of cold mutton, chop it very fine, and mix it well with rather more than tablespoonful of flour.

Chop an onion small and boil it in a cupful of broth and add it to the meat and flour, flavoring with pepper, salt and nutmeg, boil for five minutes.

Pour the mixture on a plate and set it aside to cool, then divide it into small portions, make each one a croquette. Fry and crumb them twice over, and fry in hot lard which should entirely cover the croquettes.

Drain well and serve hot, garnished with sprigs of parsley.

If the mixture should be too stiff, add a little more broth or boiling water.

Housework and Physical Culture.

There are plenty of women who scoorn housework, but are devoted to gymnastics. Now, the best of all around, indoor exercise is to be found in the manifold duties of housekeeping. Dusting, even cooking, bring more than one set of muscles into play, and none of them is more destructive to the beauty of the hands than gymnastic work and outdoor games. We are not advocating the performing of all of the household duties, without assistance of any kind, but of parts of them. Of course, if you have a liking for the work, and the strength to do it all, if you want to, but this is not advisable unless lack of money is the inducement. There are so many ways in which time can be profitably spent—What to Eat.

Left Over Steak.

When you have a small piece of cooked steak on hand, hardly enough to serve alone, try this plan: Moisten with hot water and reheat in a hot oven. Cut in long, thin pieces, finger-lengths first. Make as many pieces of toast as you have pieces of steak, cut the bread in the same shape. Make a gravy as follows: Cream together in the frying pan a small piece of butter and a spoonful of flour. Add gradually soup stock or any gravy until the mixture is smooth. Add one small onion, finely chopped, a few capers, and shreds of celery if wished. Put the bits of steak on the toast and pour the gravy over all.

Jellied Chicken.

Cut up a four-pound fowl, put in a stew pan with two slices of onion, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until the meat falls from the bones.
When half cooked add a tablespoonful of salt. When chicken is tender remove and remove the skin by cutting to three-fourths of a cupful, strain and remove fat. Decorate a mold with celery and hard-boiled eggs, sliced.
Put in the meat freed from skin and bone and well seasoned. Pour over the hot stock and place until firm. In warm weather a teaspoonful of gelatin may be added to make the jelly firm.

Chicken Curry.

Cut a three-pound chicken in pieces for serving. Put butter in a hot frying pan and cook the chicken ten minutes, then add the liver and gizzard and cook ten minutes longer. Use one-third of a cup of butter. Cut two onions in thin slices and add to the chicken with one tablespoonful of curry powder and two tablespoonfuls of salt. Add enough boiling water to cover and simmer until chicken is tender.
Remove the chicken, strain and thicken the liquor with flour, pour gravy over the chicken and serve with a border of rice.

Imitation Buckwheat Cakes.

These are delicious to serve with maple syrup, and, best of all, perfectly hygienic. In the evening mix four cups whole wheat flour, one-half cup cornmeal, one cup wheat flour, and one-half yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water. Add enough milk or water to make a thick batter and let it stand overnight. In the morning add a half level teaspoonful soda dissolved in enough milk to make batter of the right consistency. Bake on a well-greased, hot griddle, and serve at once.

Chap Suey.

For two persons, take one pound of round steak cut for beef tea, slice and cut into small pieces, half teaspoon salt, and let it cook in a hot oil for about three-quarters of an hour, and add one large onion cut in two, six medium potatoes, cut in small squares, boil quickly until potatoes are done.

DOG'S DAY IS OVER

AT LEAST SO THINKS ONE WEARY PILGRIM.

Writing in Tribulation and Sorrow He Recounts His Sufferings and Consigns the Whole
Race to Perdition.

"I have come to the conclusion," said the weary pilgrim, who was in a shocking humor, "that this world would worry along some how if they weren't dogs. 'Course, long ago they had their uses, though I ain't never had no use for 'em."

"The monks of Saint Bernard kept a lot of big dogs one time an' named the place in honor of the beasts. An'
the monks would send them out on bad nights an' try to lose them, but ain't no tourist in this 'ere world an' lug him back home. Each dog carried a little barrel of booze on his collar an' in that way made himself popular with total strangers. Them days air past now. They have moved th' Swiss Tyrol to th' Chicago amusement parks. So th' dogs, b'lieve 'em out of a job, air no more use to nobody."

"Oh, yes, I aint hev a dog about."

But from ev'rythin' with shoe leather an' profanity every time he make a plumb foot of himself I'm wore to a shadder. An' every time I am bereaved of a dog by some blame dog that I can't never hev another.

But it never ain't very long till someone else sticks me for a thoroughbred pointer with a pedigree made on th' spur of the moment.

"I brought one home th' other night and put him in a nice box of straw.
He waited till I was abed and then he set up th' worst lament you ever heard. I went down an' shut him in th' barn. Three minutes later I put him in th' henhouse. No good. He was back under th' winder again th' works of Edgar Allan Poe as per several times previous. Then I went down an' turned a washbub over the pup an' set on it. I lit a pipe an' held down the wall'n' monster for three hours. Then th' 'ol' woman stuck her head under th' winder an' said she had to butt in an' see if I was doin' th' best that could be did, but how would it do to tie th' dog in the outhouse? Th' him up! Shucks!
I never thought of that. It worked fine."

"They say a dog is man's best friend. That's all right, but you never kin tell which man I bet a large freckled kyoodle once that would run th' crocer boy off th' place, chase th' new minister up a apple tree, scare th' wash lady into gallopin' convulsion fits an' then escort a frowzy tramp up to th' house a-wagin' his tail plumb up to his ears. I got sore at th' dog when he halted me one night an' jus' wouldn't let me come anigh th' house.

I got an awful of paving stones an'
bed bust two holes in th' kitchen wall when I discovered in th' most natural way in th' world that th' dog was hidin' me chawin' my leg. An' only th' mornin' the brute had let a bill collector walk right into th' house."

"Yes, sir, th' dog has outlived his usefulness. All dogs has, from th' bowlegged bulldog to th' monkey-faced pug. Doggone the doggone three years. A. Thompson, in Chicago Daily News.

A Favorite Resort.

Marienbad, whither King Edward goes for his annual "cure," was almost unknown a century ago. It was visually discovered by Dr. Nehr, who published a booklet in 1815 describing the marvelous results upon patients of his who had been drinking the waters.
But Dr. Nehr recommended that all invalids repairing to Marienbad should take their beds with them, because no accommodation whatever was then provided in such a sequestered spot.

Marienbad had not much improved in 1820, when Goethe visited Marienbad and drank the waters, for he wrote to a friend: "I feel as if I were in the American solitudes, where the forests are cut down to build up a city within three years." Nearly 20,000 invalids now annually make pilgrimages to Marienbad.—Dundee Advertiser.

First Universal Language.

One of the earliest and most confident attempts to establish a universal language on the lines of the modern Esperanto, was that of Sir Thomas Fry, who in 1653 issued his "introduction to a universal language which for variety of diction in each part of speech amounteth all the languages of the world." An expectant public was bidden to look out for subsequent volumes, but they never arrived. Bishop Wilkins, who flourished about the same period, had his own ideas about a universal language, but they did not materialize. He was an optimist of the first degree, and was firmly convinced that it would be possible to communicate with the moon by means of flying machines.

Not Charlie's Gum.

"Now, Charlie," said the sweet-faced little woman, "before you come into Sunday school, don't you think it would be nice to take a run out of your mouth?"

"Yessum; but it aint mine, it's my brudder's."

The Size of It.

Daggs (reading the morning paper) —see that a trust has a grip on the world's affairs, and that it is likely the price of diamonds will go up.

Mrs. Daggs—What a shame! How do these monopolists expect us poor folks to live?

THINKS WHILE HE WORKS.

One Man Who Saves Money for the Firm.

There once was a man who did not do things. He was running a certain section of a certain large firm's business, and people began to talk of him.

"What's the matter with that fellow?" said they. "Do you notice how he does nothing? All he does all day is—nothing, or, not much, at all events. How does he manage to hang on?"

The other fellow made reply to the effect that "He does not hang on."
He's anchored here. If he wasn't, he'd be let out. But he'll never get any further up. Watch him."

And everybody watched.

One day this certain firm happened to have a certain something on its hands that stirred everybody up. It was a big contract, and there was something wrong with the article, as the firm had to win a big law-suit or lose a lot of money. And all the people in the firm, everybody who did things, began to run around and say:
"What are we going to do? What are we going to do?"

And the man who did not do things sat at his desk and smoked.

Finally everybody had turned in their suggestions and the firm was going to begin to fight the case, for none of the suggestions suggested anything else. And then the man who did not do things spoke.

"See, see I go over and see the other firm and try to frame up a compromise," said he. "We'll both lose money if it goes into the courts.
They'll lose; well lose. Suppose we see if we can't make them see it in the same light."

The head of the firm threw up his hands and collapsed.

"Good heavens," he gasped, "why didn't somebody think of that before?"

And the man who did things made reply: "I've been too busy planning the fight to have time to think about it."

And the head turned to the man and said: "How in the name of all that is profitable did you happen to have such an inspiration?"

And the man laughed.

"That's no inspiration," he said;
"that's common sense. I simply have sat back here—not doing things—thinking. And I know we can square it up."

And they did.

Moral: Don't do things—all the time. Think a little.

Atmospheric Changes.

Prof. Milne, the great British seismologist, has demonstrated that at least part of the weather and changes in the atmosphere's temperature seem to come from below instead of directly from the sun. He has been in the habit of leaving an ingenious photographic arrangement in quarries at night. The photographic paper, when examined later, was found to be marked from time to time by dark bands, black spots and what are called streakings. Some of these markings occurred at the time of earthquakes, but by no means all. Scientists say that most minerals become luminous at frequent intervals. The cliffs of Dorset have been seen, suddenly to gleam and blitsoes become visible in the darkness. The conclusion is that the disturbing forces which go on even at the very center of the earth are converted before they reach the surface into heat and light and make all manner of difference in climate and weather.

Another Kind of Infant.

She had been looking under the drug and toilet goods department of one of the big shops for some time when a clerk approached her.

"Have you been looking for anything there?" she asked, holding up a rubber teething ring.

"None," responded the clerk, "those are the hardest that come."

"Oh, dear," said the woman, "he has chewed up three of those already."

"Chewed them up?" exclaimed the clerk. "I don't see how a baby—"

"Oh, it isn't a baby," she explained.
"I want it for my little dog."

Errors of Lawmakers.

Some absurd changes have found their way into certain acts of the British parliament. One statute enacted punishment of 14 years' transportation for a certain offense, "and upon conviction one-half thereof should go to the king, and the other half to the informer." Then there is an act of parliament for the rebuilding of Chelmsford prison which stipulated in one clause that the prisoners should be confined in the old prison until the new one was built and in another—an amending—clause, that the new prison should be constructed out of the material of the old one.

Money in Small Inventions.

The man who invented the common and necessary shoe lace realized $2, 500,000 from that alone. The man who obtained the first patent on the um-kinds of shoes have been made. The inventor of the metal hospital made $1,500,000 annually on a royalty on his simple invention.

want more pay. And what's more, I want to be called a chef."

Preserving Forests.

Precautions are now being taken to preserve the forests which were once reserve to fight the fire.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what the medicines are made of and explains the reasons why. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, puerile, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The Favorite Prescription is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs directly concerned. It is also a soothing and invigorating nerve and circulatory stimulant, and cures nervous prostration, neurasthenia, hysterical spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attending upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recognized each of the several ingredients of which Favorite Prescription is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is so well adapted to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Friend, and Surgeon-in-Chief, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

RECIPES FOR FRENCH CAKES.

Dessert Dishes from the Land of Good Cooking.

Lorraine Cakes.—Take one quart of flour, a half pound of butter, a small teaspoonful of salt, and two eggs. Mix and knead these well together. Flatten on the board to the thickness of two silver dollars. Flatten a pie dish and line it with the paste, making a rounded edge at the top. Put it in the oven for 15 minutes, and take it out. Beat two eggs together, with a pinch of salt and a half pint of cream. Pour in to the paste. Scatter over a few small pieces of butter and put it again in the oven for another 15 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Biscuit de Savoie.—Take four yolks of eggs and mix them with three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Add and mix two ounces of rice flour, a tablespoonful of vanilla and the whites of the four eggs beaten to a froth. Beat for a moment, put in the mixture and cook it in the oven for about 20 minutes.

Quarter Quartz Cake.—Weight four eggs and mix with them their equal weight of sugar, the same weight of flour, as much of butter and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Butter a mold, put the mixture in and bake it in the oven for 20 minutes.

Sauce of Pigs' Feet.

Another substantial addition to the lunch hamper for a fishing or camping party, where men "grow up" in the ascendency, are pickled pigs' feet made in the good old Dutch way. The sauce should be made a day or two before using, but it will keep for days. They may be eaten cold or broiled over the campfire, as preferred. Put the desired number of well-cleaned pigs' feet in a kettle, cover with boiling water, and cook for half an hour. Remove and plunge into cold water. Drain and return to the kettle. Cover with water and vinegar in equal proportions, adding to each gallon of the liquor a tablespoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a tablespoonful of whole peppers, a bay leaf, three blades of mace, four large onions cut fine, and a teaspoonful of thyme tied in a little bag. Cook until the feet are very tender, remove and pack in a stone jar. Strain the liquor over the feet, and when cold cover tightly and keep in a cold place.

White Bread.

Chop into a quart of flour a tablespoonful of shortening, wet with a quart of warm water, add a tablespoonful of white sugar and beat in a half-yeast cake that has been dissolved in warm water. Beat hard for ten minutes, cover and set to rise over night. In the morning work in two and one-half quarts of white flour that has been sifted with a tablespoonful of salt. When the flour is thoroughly incorporated, turn upon a pastry board and knead for 15 minutes, then set to rise until double its original size. Knead each loaf for five minutes. Set to rise for an hour, then bake.

Lima Beans Served in White Sauce. A delicate way of serving lima beans is in a white sauce. Soak one pint of beans over night. About three hours before dinner drain, cover with two quarts boiling water and simmer gently for two and a half hours. Drain, saving the water for soup. Put into a saucepan a heaping tablespoonful of butter, a half tablespoonful of flour, a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to season. Stir into this a pint of hot milk and cook, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Season the beans with salt and pepper, simmer 15 minutes longer and serve.

Fruit Cake. Four eggs, beaten separately; one cup sugar, two cups molasses, one-half cup butter, one pound each figs, dates, raisins, currants, and nuts; one-half pound each candied orange and lemon peel; one-half pound citron; one teaspoonful each cinnamon, spice, cloves, and nutmeg; one teaspoonful baking soda, sifted with five cups of flour. Chop and flour well separately all fruit, mixing a little at a time in the batter. Put in a well greased pan and bake in a slow oven two and one-half hours.

A Unique Dinner. At a dinner given one of this summer's debutantes, whose name is Lily, two long dining tables were arranged in the form of an L. The decorations were green and white and in the center of the L-shaped table a lily pond was formed by placing flat upon the table a large mirror and bordering this with smilax. Water lilies and their leaves were arranged over the surface of the mirror as if to seem as if they were growing there. The place cards were in the shape of lilies, and the lilies were frozen in lily molds.

Fruit Gelatins. Pare and core a dozen small apples, put them in a pudding dish with a cup of sugar and half a pint of water, and bake until tender. When cool, lay in a glass bowl. Have wine or lemon jelly made, and when it begins to congeal pour it over the apples and set on ice. Whip some cream, flavor it with wine or lemon, and put around the jelly. Sliced peaches or bananas are also nice thus.—Good Housekeeping.

Fruit Cocktail. Cut in small pieces three or four varieties of fruits, cooked or fresh, mix with sugar or sugar syrup and the juice of the fruit. Wine may or may not be added. The whole is served cold in sherbet glasses in hollowed out pineapple or orange shells especially prepared for it.

WANTED

FARM LANDS.

I have some northern buyers who want to settle up neighborhoods of their own as follows:

Six or eight families want 600 to 800 acres of good farm land with moderate improvements ready to occupy.

Ten or twelve families want 10 to 12 small farms, about 50 acres each, would like to have this property suitable for good truck farms, all joined and a residence on each 50 acres. However if the most of it is in cultivation and a few moderately good buildings with good building sites on the balance it would be acceptable. This land must be in a solid body, not necessarily a square block but all joining farms.

One purchaser for a good, cheap stock farm of 200 to 300 acres. Must be well watered and within 3 1/2 miles of Railroad Shipping point. The land is the main feature in this proposition. No objection to paying for fence but don't want any costly improvements. Good cheap land well watered is the main points.

Here is your hills and hollows, old fields and gullies. I want ten to twenty thousand acres for sheep and goats. Must be well watered and dirt cheap. Don't care how poor or how hilly if the price is according to quality.

Now if you people who have the land will let me know about it, we can fill the bill for all those tracts at several different points in the county. Any of those people would be a credit to any community and they will not come here unless they are sure that the community will be no discredit to them. They are all northern farming people, looking for moderate priced land in a milder climate.

If I can find 3 or 4 or half dozen farms somewhere in the county all joining and for sale at reasonable figures I will be glad to take up the matter with the owners and have the representatives for these buyers to come and see the property. The thing to do, is for each owner who has land for sale, to give me the price and description and whenever and wherever I can find several farmers joining who want to sell I will look over the premises and endeavor to work up a deal for the whole thing in a lump sum under one head. In this way I can sell out a whole neighborhood in one transaction.

Now come forward and let me know what you have and what you want for it. Remember that it does not cost you a cent and you are under no obligation to me or any one else in any shape, form or manner. If a deal is made I pay each man his price and you are not out one cent, trade or no trade.

In the meantime I have buyers in my office everyday, yes every day except Sunday, and I am directing them to parties who have listed with me. Many of the farms listed have been sold directly through this exchange and I have never received, asked or expected a single cent.

The Immigration Bureau pays me for my services, pays for this article and it does not cost me anything to give a buyer your name if you are on my list. So come on, come up the steps over Corner Drug Store. Look for the sign.

VIOLET SHADE WELL LIKED.

Has Attained Much Popularity for Bedroom Furnishing.

A charming wall paper displayed in a store window shows an arched design of light purple shades upon a cream ground, says the Chicago News. Purple tones are so fashionable now that they are, and very rightly, used considerably for furnishing. They are particularly clean and pretty for a bedroom; that is, if the violet or lavender shades are selected. For a sunny exposure violet gives a cool effect.

Most women select blue or pink for their bedrooms, but if violet is becoming it is every bit as effective, and if the solid tone is not used the dainty floral designs in papering are not sufficiently pronounced to contrast seriously with a delicate for the color.

In a spare room violet is very pretty. One room facing north and east is furnished with old mahogany, although the two little beds are of brass. The mattress is violet and white, with two or three woven rugs of the same coloring.

The paper shows clusters of violets on a cream-colored ground, and the colonial fireplace and deep-embossed windows are of snowy white paint. The white flowered muslin curtains have played ruffles. Can any one imagine a cooler apartment for a welcome guest?

DISH OF MEXICAN ORIGIN.

"Chili Colorado" for These Fond of Highly Seasoned Viands.

A dish that cannot fail to delight the palate of those who love highly seasoned viands, and yet, strangely enough, will not induce an increase of the body's internal heat, is recommended by Harry Loughton, whose talents as an amateur cook are quite on a par with his ability as an actor. This is a Mexican concoction, called "Chili Colorado," and those who care for such delicacies will find it a most delicious mixture. To make it, Mr. Loughton takes a quart of boiled tomatoes and one onion that has already been chopped fine. To these he adds three tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar, one tablespoonful of the prepared ground Spanish pepper—common to the market—may be purchased at any first-class grocery store—and a little salt. The mixture is then permitted to stew rather slowly for some 20 or 25 minutes, when, if it seems too dry, a little water is added.—The Bohemian.

Fruit Dumping.

Sift one pint of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, rub in a heaping tablespoonful of butter and mix in a stiff dough with three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Toss the dough onto a well-floured board, knead it slightly and roll out one-third of an inch thick. Cut into rounds with a large cutter. Put half of a pared peach in the center of each, draw the dough up over the peach and roll carefully in the hand until the folds have disappeared and it is smooth and round like a ball. Butter the perforated pan in a steamer, arrange the dumplings on it so that they will not touch, cover tightly and steam 20 minutes. Serve with fruit sauce. Rub one-fourth of a cupful of butter to a cream, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar and beat until light and frothy, then beat in gradually one cupful of sliced peaches. Set in a cool place till hard. Serve the same as hard sauce.

Browning Crumbs.

The majority of cooks who attempt to prepare escallops or other dishes that are supposed to be finished with a top layer of browned crumbs usually spread the bread or cracker crumbs over the surface, finally dotting them with bits of butter. As the inevitable result such a dish is always browned unevenly. The butter, spreading as it does in spots, browns nicely, but all around these spots are unbrowned spaces that give a most unattractive if not unfinished appearance to the dish. To avoid this it is only necessary to stiff the crumbs fine and then mix them with the melted butter before spreading them over the space to be browned. Those who have never practiced this method cannot fail to be delighted with the improved appearance and flavor that may be imparted so easily to any preparation of this kind.

Cucumber Pickles.

Use the smallest cucumbers you can procure. Make a brine of one pint of salt to a gallon of water, and let them remain two days in this. To one gallon of best cider vinegar add one cup of sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard seed, one teaspoonful of pepper, one of cloves, and a dozen blades of mace. Put the spices in bags, add them and the sugar to the vinegar, bring to a boil, and pour over the cucumbers. Repeat this four mornings, seal while hot and drop a small piece of alum in jar.

Double-End Pillow Slips. When making pillow slips, if both sides are left open instead of just the one, there will be no hard corners to turn in washing, and they are easier to iron. Both sides can be trimmed with lace and insertion—two buttons and buttonholes on each side to button the pillow in. They look so pretty on the bed pillow shams are not needed.

Keep Food Hot.

Instead of putting food into the oven to keep hot for late comers, try covering it closely with a tin and setting it over a saucerpan of hot water. This plan will keep the food hot and at the same time prevent it from drying.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because the blood is not pure and healthy, as it should be, but is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which has corrupted and polluted the circulation. Those most usually afflicted with old sores are persons who have reached or passed middle life. The vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to decline, and the poisonous germs which have accumulated because of a sluggish and inactive condition of the system, or some hereditary taint which has hitherto been held in check, now force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body. The place grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding tissue until it becomes a chronic and stubborn ulcer, fed and kept open by the impurities with which the blood is saturated. Nothing is more trying and disagreeable than a stubborn, non-healing sore. The very fact that it resists ordinary remedies and treatments is good reason for suspicion; the same germ-producing cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble is an inherited one. Washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can remove the sore with caustic plasters or the surgeon's knife make a lasting cure. If every particle of the diseased flesh were taken away another sore would come, because the trouble is in the blood, and the cure must come by a thorough cleansing of the blood. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is an unequalled blood purifier, and goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all poisons and taints. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and forces out every trace of impurity and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the blood so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes the irritated, inflamed flesh with healthy blood.

The cure begins to heal, new flesh is formed, all pain and inflammation leaves, the place scabs over, and when S. S. S. has purified the blood the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is for sale at all first-class drug stores. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers and any other medical advice you desire. We make no charge for the book or advice.

Criticism of Women of Fashion.

Bishop Williams, of Michigan, speaking to a New York congregation, said: "The body of many a woman of fashion is often no more to her than the dummy in the milliner's window—merely the lay figure on which to display her gowns, fashioned after the latest designs set for the demimonde of Paris."
