Observations

Perhaps Old Kodger is an old Kodger, but it appears to me it is long past high 12 in trying to get conditions in a sound basis once again. A news dispatch out of Washington last week told of a one BILLION dollar deficit for the First QUARTER (3 months) of this year. Our state money changers are crying aloud concerning getting Doctors to take charge of one or two hospitals, and they make much ado about this because it touches the heart strings of the people. What they don't tell you is, that if the minimum was made double that of today, that we would still probably get some broken down Doctor-politician to head our hospitals, persons who cannot build up a practice that would exceed any state hospital salary.

If we listen to the appeal of the money changers in our capitol and our own towns and cities, a fellow gets the idea we are behind the rest of the world in everything. Perhaps we have too many little men in big places already. Everytime a new line is hatched out of some college, the first thing he thinks of is growing a mustache and going into big finance or showing the world how to rule the people's treasury. The community, the state, nor the people of the nation would not know such an object existed if he or she did not cackle-whether an egg had been laid or not.

Taking the $5,000 year limit off of Kentucky's will not help the little fellow who actually needs it. If will put money into the pockets of many who are already over paid. Once the limit is taken off all hell and high water could never get them down again when needed most. If we would stop or wish to stop the laborer's 10 cent per hour increase in order to get back to earth again, why is it a crime to halt the politician who gets his pay not from private capital, but from the pockets of the tax payers?

Many of our public officials get more than the limit now. They have expense accounts that are padded, and many of them are secretaries or presidents of this or something else that brings in more money than is not included in salary and most assuredly not known by the public. It is easy to picture the plight of anyone where there is no opposition and where the public is uninformed about the total income of the politician. To listen to them you'd think our grand old commonwealth is down in the dumps. We appear to be "holding our own," in spite of the claims.

Think it over and arrange now to go to the polls and vote your sentiments on this very important question.

Mrs. G. C. McClain attended the Ky-Miss. game at Oxford, Miss., Saturday.

Mrs. E. M. Wolfe and Mrs. Homer Solomon visited Mrs. Christine Threest in Camden, Tenn., this week.

Prof. Ray Hall, of Calvert City, was a here Wednesday in the interest of the Calvert City Fair.

Miss Lellie Huggins, Mrs. Winnie Payne and son, Bobby Bankenship, of Watertown, Tenn., Mrs. Louise Beard and son, Lynn, of Lebanon, Tenn., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Hendrickson here.

LEONARD JONES MAKES STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS OF MARSHALL COUNTY.

We have only approximately 30 days until you will vote in the General election which includes voting for County Judge, other county officials, and the Constitutional amendment on salaries of certain state officials.

August 1 I won the Democratic nomination over two hard-hitting opponents. In this primary I did, make a clean campaign and with- out any mis-lingering and it is my hope that I can do the same during the next few weeks of cam- paign.

It has been whispered about my personal life: about my qualifications, but have never been accused of being dishonest. In 1928 I was a member of the graduating class of Paducah academy, and since that time I have en- gaged in various jobs which included construction work and I am qualified for the office. I would not seek the office of our best County Judges have been men of education, plus honesty, and the desire to serve.

42 years of age - young enough to get out and work the roads of the county and to look after the af- fairs that come under the jurisdiction of the County Jud- ge and old enough to be conservative, frugal, and honest in the discharge of County money entrusted to the County Courts.

I have always been a Democrat and can and will work harmoniously with the Democratic members of the Fiscal Court. It will not be my desire to dictate to the court but to work together with them for the best interests of all Marshall county, seeking the advice of our County Attor- ney on all legal matters coming before the Court. Marsh- ally county is fortunate in having good men in Magis- trates' offices.

In my opponents announcement he reviewed his life, his exception of two years when the folks honored him with this office, resigning after two years. You gave me a chance while a young man and he quit, but if you will honor me with the office, I promise you I will not quit, but will do everything in my power to make the best County Judge you ever had.

Be an Honest, Fair Administration VOTE FOR

LEONARD JONES

H. A. RILEY MAKES STATEMENT TO VOTERS

As a candidate for the office of City Judge of Benton, I wish to ask every citizen, especially all voters, to give me due consideration.

It is perhaps useless to make any personal mention of myself as I have been a resident of Benton more than 25 years and almost everyone knows me.

After giving me due consideration and you decide that I am the type of man you want for city or Police Judge, your influence and vote on November 8, will most assuredly be appreciated.

I have no promises to make, other than to use my own best judgment in all matters pertaining to the duties of Police Judge or Police Court.

Respectfully,
Harvey A. Riley
(Political Ad.)

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to express to all kind friends and neighbors for acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and gifts of beautiful flowers. We especially thank the Revs. J. Frank Young and Gough, for words of comfort; Dr. Miller for faithful service; and the Llan Funeral Home, at the time of illness and death of our beloved mother and grandmother.

W. P. Brien and family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank members of the Baptist church of Calvert City, for the lovely gifts and the ice cream and cake for the old folks' home.

Elmer Young and Mrs. Q. R. Fleming, Keepers.

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 6
DEVOTIONAL READING: Hosea 14

What is a Call of God?

Lesson for October 2, 1949

IF YOU knew exactly what God wanted you to do, would you do it? Of course you would. The trouble is: How does any one know what God's will is?

For example, a young man is thinking about his life's work: what shall he choose? Most young men would do what they were sure God called them to do, but what is a call?

The story of Dr. Foreman Isaiah throws some light on this problem. (We are beginning this week a three months' study of the great prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah.) True, he lived some 2700 years ago, and half way to the other side of the world; but human nature has not changed in 2700 years.

From Man about Town To Man of God

ISAIAH was a young man about town. In the small but wealthy city of Jerusalem, about 700 years before Christ. He was a personal friend of all the important people, a man of good education, with wide horizons of interest, of independent means, eloquent, polished, the sort of man who makes a good career diplomat.

He tells in some detail the story of how he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their cries, just as Isaiah saw and heard them.

What we do know is that that experience changed Isaiah's life. Up to that time (on his own showing) he had been a "man of clean lips;" from that time on he began to be a spokesman for the Lord. Let us try to say what the story of that life-changing vision, that call, means in terms of our own experience.

The Flame of God

FIRST there was the overwhelming sense of God's reality and power, and holy majesty. No one can ever experience a call who does not take God seriously.

A God "afar off," a God who is only a problem, an idea, a hypothesis, never called any one. God alone can make himself real to man; and only a man with a real sense of a living God is going to hear his call.

Next came Isaiah's realization of his own unworthiness and sin. A man who feels equal to a great task is probably not equal to it. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'" as the Irish say. A man who feels good enough to serve God, just as he is, is not good enough. A man without a sense of sin is too full of it.

Then comes the burning coal from the altar; Isaiah feels that his guilt is gone. No one can fully do God's will with an unforgotten heart. Isaiah was not sinless at one stroke, of course, yet it is possible to turn from all known sin; it is possible to devote one's loyalty to God; and this Isaiah did.

It was only then that he heard the call: Whom shall I send? In modern and less picturesque language, Isaiah was conscious of a need he had not felt before—that is, of God's need, of his people's need.

What those needs were will come out in later studies. The point is that young Isaiah, who hitherto had lived only for himself, now saw the need of the city and the people among whom he lived.

"Here Am I; Send Me."

THEN comes the last stage—Isaiah's willing offer of himself. His great talent was the ability to use language. He could make words march and sing as few men of any race have done. But up to that time, it seems, his gift of eloquence had been used chiefly in telling dirty stories.

Now he has repented, and been forgiven, and he says to God: Use me. His voice, his knowledge, his eloquence, which he had been using against God (or at best, only for Isaiah) he was now to use for God and man.

So there is a call: A sense of God, near and commanding and holy; repentance; forgiveness; a sense of need; willingness to devote all one's gifts to fill that need.

HART'S BREAD MARCHES ON

Last week ground was broken for the construction of a new, ultra-modern wholesale bakery in Paducah, Ky., estimated to cost approximately a quarter of million dollars including trucks and other auxiliary equipment. No bakery in the Middle West will be more up-to-date or more efficient, and not many outside the larger cities will have a greater capacity.

For the second time within a year we are launching a major expansion program entailing the investment of thousands of dollars at a time when many businesses hesitate to increase their capital investment. We do so because we believe no lasting business success was ever built on hesitancy; because we have faith in the future of the fine section of the country we serve, and because we have confidence in the product we manufacture—HART'S BREAD.

The new bakery, under construction on new Benton Road just outside Paducah, will represent the latest developments in the baking industry. New equipment of latest design will be installed.

Capacity Upon
Completion of Plant 3,000 Loaves
Per Hour

This expansion step — like the many others we have previously taken — is made possible only through the public acceptance of HART'S BREAD as the finest product of its kind available in this area. And we know of no more impressive evidence of the public's preference for HART'S BREAD than the story of the progress of Hart's Bakery the last four years.

For the excellent patronage we have enjoyed in the past, for the fine public relations which have contributed so largely to our previous success, and for the good will which attends us in our new venture, we at Hart's are extremely grateful.

Yes, HART'S BREAD MARCHES ON — Years Ahead of Any Other Bread!

ROUTE 8 FARMER "GROWS" HIS OWN LUMBER FOR BARN

When fire destroyed a tobacco barn belonging to Fred Chumblor on Benton Route 7, he not only lost a tobacco crop but also needed a new barn for his next crop.

Most Benton businessmen got to let their autos get acquainted with former stalls.

According to a report from the County Agent, after paying for hauling and sawing he still had saved one-half the cost of lumber to do the job. He not only saved a substantial amount on the bill of materials but was also able to have timber cut to the exact sizes needed. He grew himself a tobacco barn in the farm woods.

O. E. S. Officers

Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., held its annual installation of new officers Tuesday, October 4th, at the City Masonic Hall.

Grady Riddings sez: "I carried Jim Emerine out behind his place of business during the fore latter part of the week and to have someone along to paddle the boat. (1) caught the great-est grandpappy on a black jittiering, and (1) also caught a FEW grandpappies, and several ble ones not away. All of this happened to Jimmy right in his own back lake."

After so long, Grady finally "fessed up that his brother trierler did snag a few himself. That's about all. There just isn't anymore for this week. Our true followers are on the bum these days-regusted."
