FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY JANUARY 26, 1934.

NUMBER 1.

DRASTIC CHANGES IN FULTON CWA

Radical changes have taken place at the CWA office here where officials have been forced to reduce the number employed and start no new projects in conformation with a national order to retrench. Up until Thursday noon 78 men had been taken from the employment list, with future reductions uncertain. It was necessary to reduce the employed list here to 154 to follow out state instructions.

Orders came through this week from Louisville stating that men should be assigned to projects who live in the neighborhood of these projects, and reallocation of men to different projects was made this week in order to meet reduced operations.

The CWA payroll here last week was $4179.81 to 334 workers. Since CWA work was initiated here $20,747.82 have been paid out locally.

Every person registered with the National Re-employment Service for employment must call at the local office every 30 days to remain eligible for work. Anyone failing to make appearance within this period will be tabulated as "inactive" until he calls at the office, when his card is dated and returned to the "active" file and he is again subject to call for work.

Beginning Feb. 1st all persons who registered in November and December must call at the re-employment office and re-register. W. M. Puckett manager, announced this week. All others who registered in January or register later, must call every 30 days from date of registration in order to hold themselves available for work. Registrations or re-registrations taken in the forenoons only.

BOARD OF HEALTH MAKES SANITATION DRIVE

The Kentucky State Board of Health through a CWA project is making a drive to get all people who do not have an indoor toilet to install a sanitary one. The new type sanitary toilet is germ-proof, inaccessible to insects that are constant carriers of disease.

You can have one of these sanitary toilets installed without any labor cost. Sanitary Supervisor Harry Barry stated. Only a minimum charge of $4 for a concrete stool, floor, wood seat and galvanized vent pipe is made. One hundred feet of rough lumber and four posts 5-feet long are required to build a curb.

You can obtain this material, or see one of these sanitary toilets at Chas. Newton's Shell Filling Station in Riceville, or phone 138, Hickman, or write Harry Barry at Hickman.

BULLDOGS ROMP THROUGH OPPOSITION

Fulton Bulldogs marched on to supremacy when they defeated the highly-touted Owensboro Red Devils at the gym here Thursday night. A large crowd of enthusiastic boosters packed the gym and cheered the Bulldogs. Owensboro brought first blood, then Fulton took the lead until the Red Devils pushed in several fouls to bring the score 11-10 in favor of the Bulldogs. A quick start in the second period carried Fulton to a 34-23 margin as the half ended.

The Red Devils were swamped in the second half with the final score being 65 to 40. Both teams lost many of their original players through fouls with many substitutions resulting. No man won individual honors as every man on the team played spectacular basketball throughout the entire contest.

The Fulton Bull Pups also added another laurel to their crown when they defeated the Crutchfield quintet by a score of 19 to 12.

Playing on a smaller and unfamiliar floor the Bulldogs journeyed to Bardwell Tuesday night where they overwheeled the Bardwell High quintet by a score of 33 to 24. Jumping into the lead early in the first period to the tune of 14 to 3, and continued to growl and snap at the Bardwell team to carry off the victory.

The Bull Pups lost their game with the Juniors of Bardwell by a score of 23 to 22.

The Bulldogs journey to Mayfield tonight to clash with the Cardinals. This game will have much bearing on deciding contenders for the championship. Fulton fans are urged to attend this game and boost the Bulldogs.

YOUR LOCAL DEALER

Your local dealer deserves the earnest support of all classes.

Like charity he "is long suffering and kind." He buys real estate and builds thereon. He pays taxes to meet public expenses and he oftentimes subsidizes liberally to aid a private enterprise that will improve local conditions or provide employment for citizens. The economic and social welfare of his community is held dear in his heart.

When you see the advertisements of the mail order house, just stop a moment to consider how much the proprietor of that house pays toward the upbuilding and maintenance of the community in which you live.

Does the mail order house or the establishment in some distant city contribute one cent toward the building of your county jail, court house or poor house? In the maintenance of your public schools in your city or school district? Do these foreign concerns do anything to support your church, or help in any way toward paying your pastor's salary? Or subscribe for any of the stock in local enterprises? Do you expect them to assist your community in any way in the future?

Have they ever helped you to a spoonful of gravel to put on your road? Who helps to pay your officials to maintain law and order? Who helps to bear the expense of providing schools to educate your children, and churches where they obtain that vital moral training?

The facts force you to answer all these questions in the negative when applied to mail order houses and distant business firms. But when you consider your local merchants you will always find the answer "Yes." For your local dealer is part and parcel of your community, and what's to your interest is also to his interest.

Again, did you ever get the price of the catalogue house and compare the price and quality with that of your local dealer? Did you every stop to consider the difficulties of getting the catalogue houses to make good when their goods do not come up to what you expect? We have heard of people right here in this community who have been unable to obtain satisfactory service. Pastures far away often seem greener and more inviting, but usually, in the final analysis, the home "pasture" provides the best picking.

Your local dealer was here yesterday, is here today and will be here tomorrow. His name, his credit, his reputation are all at stake every time he warrants an article he sells. You have done business enough with him to know the price at which he values your good will and his reputation. He knows a satisfied customer will return. On the other hand, the catalogue house serves you with no personal feeling of friendship. A sale is a cold-blooded business deal to them, and once you have purchased, you are forgotten, whether the goods give satisfaction or not.

You have done business enough with your town and your community was hardly named, and he has added his energy to yours to build it up and put it on the map. When he goes out of business he takes with him your market for your produce and puts you at the mercy of some distant commission man, who you cannot meet face to face unless you are unfortunate enough to be compelled to settle the account in court and fortunate enough to get service upon him. Every time you buy goods of the catalogue house, you diminish the power of your local dealer to build up the community in which you live. When you strike a blow at him, you strike a blow at your own home.

CRIME AND IDLENESS

Only about 100 convicts out of 1,000 in the West State Penitentiary at Eddyville are now employed. This condition exists because of the removal of factories from the prison. In recent weeks the Worthy Manufacturing Company, the Louisville Broom Works have been moved from this penitentiary, with removal of the Kentucky Whip and Collar Company pending through a court decision.

This offers an example of what is happening in our penitentiaries today. Convicts, once required to work and help pay the expense of their keep for disobedience of our laws, can now idle away their time and think of new schemes to instigate when released again to prey upon society.

Idleness is said to be the devil's workshop, but some of legislators seem to forget this, for they are forcing idleness upon prisoners of our penitentiaries. Our prisons are becoming less obnoxious as houses of punishment and correction. And incidentally, removal of factories from prisons will add more expense to the burden of our American taxpayers.

THINK IT OVER

TAKING AN INVENTORY

Merchants will not be busy taking inventories of stock. The good business man always takes an inventory at the beginning of the year. It is the custom and is necessary to take account before starting business for another season. The merchant takes his inventory of stock on hand then strikes a balance which shows what his business has been for the year past. He goes over his present stock carefully taking account of each little remnant, each little article, but every piece is noted and its value considered. Nothing is overlooked.

So I am wondering how many of us are able to take stock, make an inventory of our personal life before we start out on the business of another year? Suppose we sit down now and take an inventory. Let's see:

The first thing is get together a lot of "bad accounts." We don't want to carry these over another year, so we decide to dispose of them once and for all. Ah! Here's a bundle of prejudices which we have accumulated. Let's not clutter the new year with these. Let's get rid of them NOW. So into the rubbish discard they go. We'll carry them out and burn them.

And here's another bundle of jealousies. We have resolved to rid our stock of this useless debris. We will have no room for them in our stock this year, of that we are certain. So out they go.

Over in that corner is a package of ill-temper. Gee, how it smells! We are not going to give it room on our shelves the coming months. It has taken up space that we need for a more salable article. Out it goes.

There's the remnant of selfishness. Why we have harbored that on our selves is a mystery. As we are cleaning our store room of moth-eaten stuff, that remnant goes to the trash heap.

We have a great big box back there under the counter labeled "Intolerance." Resolved that stuff shall not encumber our stock this year. We are not going to crucify the fellow who does not see things just as we do. We are going to carry this year a stock of tolerance. It is more attractive and brings bigger profits. The results are more satisfactory. It goes into the discard along with the other trash.

We are going to make a clean sweep of the old stock, too much of which we've carried the past year, and replace it with a bright new stock of salable and desirable and up-to-date goods. Not a single shelf-worn article will remain on our mental and moral shelves.

There's those cans of egotism. This stuff has been "working" like sour kraut and spewing itself over the community. We're not going to keep that old stock on hand this year. It never was worth what we valued it at, any way.

And thus we are going thru our entire stock and select the old worn-out dusty remnants of 1933 and get rid of it all. Then we are going to make a few resolutions. There are some tasks we have set ourselves. First of all, there is let to look after. That's a big job. If we don't conquer self, how shall we conquer other obstacles? If we do not profit by experience, we shall have lived in vain.

So while we are taking inventory and laying plans for the new year, we are planning to lay in a supply of new stock and must have room for it, for that reason we are ridding our shelves of the old stock.

We are going to lay in a large and attractive stock of respect for the other fellow's feelings.

We are going to consider that each one has his own problem to solve and as we journey along we are going to be careful not to drop a stone in the other fellow's path.

We are going to remember that hot tempered arguments never won a debate and so we are going to stake up on charity—for the other fellow's failings, remembering our faults and shortcomings.

In short we are going to make 1934 happier than 1933.

Think it over.

DELINQUENTS MUST PAY PENALTY, SAYS STATS AUDITOR

County Court Clerk Clardie Holland received a letter recently from State Auditor Dan Talbott telling him that he will be held responsible for 20 per cent penalty on delinquent collections of license fees for selling soft drinks, cigarettes, etc. Clerk Holland has been instructed to collect the penalty even though collection is made one day late. Neglect to renew licenses before day of expiration will prove costly.

Hectic Days
Sleepless Nights

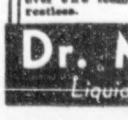

Miss Currier relieved of nervous days and sleepless nights.

Christine Lanier finds Nervine best nerve medicine she ever used.

Miss Redman takes Dr. Miles Nervine whenever she feels restless.

Miss Redding finds Nervine wonderful.

IF YOU are nervous today, you probably will not sleep well tonight. If you don't sleep well tonight, you will probably be nervous tomorrow.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Currier, New Market, N. H.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in liquid form and find it the best medicine for the nerves I have ever used. Christine Lanier, Middleton, Tennessee

Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one of two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found. Miss Grace Redman, St. James, Minn.

Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful. J. H. Redding, 1027 18th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Mr. Redding finds Nervine wonderful.

A BEAUTIFUL SKIN IS "MORE THAN SKIN DEEP."

Nothing is so attractive as a beautiful skin. There are many things that cause skin blemishes, pimples and the like; but often a muddy, sallow complexion is the result of eating the wrong food, of digesting them poorly and above all, constipation.

Crazy Mineral Water is above everything a splendid element. Take a daily bath inside. Just add Crazy Water Crystal to your drinking water.

GAS TAX DIVERSION OPPOSED AS HURTING STATE'S WELFARE

"There are 20,000 miles in the Kentucky highway system. Of this total about 6,500 miles are of all types of construction. Only 1,500 miles are modern high-type roads. Many important communities remain untouched by a highway. Kentucky's road building program is just getting started. Diversion of any portion of funds collected to build and maintain roads would be a grave mistake."

In so many words, Judge J. D. Shain of Madisonville, county Judge of Hopkins county, summed up the present status of the state highway system in a vigorous declaration against activities of certain interests seeking to slash highway building money and use the money elsewhere.

"What the commonwealth needs is more road building and not less," Judge Shain emphatically stated. "and we need more funds for that purpose. A larger construction program will put additional hundreds if not thousands of needy men to work. This labor will be employed not alone on the roads but in industry in Kentucky to produce cement, stone, sand and other materials required to build them."

"Until every city, town and village has been connected with all the others in Kentucky by high-type roads it would be very unfair to all highway users—and to all who benefit by roads—to divert a cent for other purposes from the fund collected from motor vehicle owners solely to build, maintain and mark our highways.

"The economic recovery of Kentucky and its future prosperity depend in great measure on a well developed first-class highway system to enable all our farmers to reach markets quickly. This condition must be remedied without delay. I sincerely hope our Legislature therefore will refuse to divert one penny of highway funds, and I urge our citizens in every section to speak out against such proposals at once before it is too late," Judge Shain concluded.
