Phineas Newborn, Great Jazz Pianist, Confined To Mental Institution

A native son of Tennessee, who is one of the world's greatest jazz pianists, Phineas Newborn, Jr., has been confined to California's Camarillo State Mental hospital, according to a report received here, from Los Angeles.

Camarillo is also famous as the sanctuary for the famed of jazz who break down under the complexities of contemporary life.

Newborn, whose parents live here in Memphis, was taken to the institution after action in a California Superior Court, which sent him there for an "indefinite period." His commitment was "involuntary."

The diminutive, 32-year-old, pianist became a giant of musical communication when he sat down at the piano, which won for him the tag "Master of the 99's."

The tragic event in Newborn's life shocked the jazz world but it hardly came as a surprise because of the latest ups and downs suffered by the artist. However persons close to him are deeply grieved.

IN RECENT YEARS
A native of Whiteville, Tenn., Newborn lived within a world peopled only by himself. Seldom did he initiate a conversation — and many times did not reply even when spoken to. His sorrows, his joys, his complexities were not expressed in words by him. His only expressions were released through his genius at the keyboard.

It appeared that his music was the only thing that mattered to him. He did not show any concern for such worldly possessions as clothes, money, houses, cars, and other status symbols.

His inability to adjust to society is not reflected in his music genius. The jazz world has not produced a pianist which has surpassed Newborn's masterful skill, technical execution or dominating command of the piano.

Praises have been heaped upon him by both critics and fellowmen of the profession alike.

Bob Dawbarn of England's famed musician publication "Melody Maker" wrote in Feb. 22, 1963 issue: "Phineas Newborn possesses the most impressive jazz piano technique since the late Art Tatum."

H. T. Lockard To Open Headquarters

Atty. H.T. Lockard a candidate for a seat on the Shelby County Quarterly Court, this week announced the opening of his campaign headquarters at 193 S. Wellington St. and revealed the names of persons who will help manage his campaign.

Dr. T. W. Northcross will serve as his campaign manager, Frank R. Kilpatrick will assist as co-chairman, and Thomas W. Willis will be the chairman of the Finance Committee. Mrs. Georgia R. Atkins is serving as chairman of the women's division.

A meeting of volunteers for Lockard was to be held following the formal opening of the lawyer's headquarters on Wednesday night, Oct. 7.

Fund raisers met at the Lockard home at 1304 LaPaloma St. on Monday night.

Lockard, a native of Ripley, Tenn., has practiced law in Memphis since 1951.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. Lewis

Funeral services for Mrs. Lovie Lewis, who died at Southland Greyhound park in West Memphis last Thursday night, were held on Monday afternoon at Mt. Olive CME Cathedral with the pastor, Rev. T. C. Lightfoot, officiating.

Mrs. Lewis, who lived at 481 Simpson st., suffered an attack and died at the track while attending the races as a spectator with a friend.

Granville Lewis, her husband who works as a doorman at the Hotel Peabody, said that numerous tales had circulated around town about his wife having died from the excitement of winning a huge sum of money on the daily double, but that was not the case.

Mr. Lewis said his wife had been suffering from a heart ailment and was not enthusiastic about going to the race track, but went to accompany a friend "and because she thought the fresh air might make her feel better."

He said that his wife did not place a bet while at the track and was sitting in the grandstand when she suffered the fatal attack.

Interment was in New Park cemetery.

To Name 'Miss Social Belle' At Talent Show

The Memphis branch of the NAACP is sponsoring a "Miss Social Belle" contest to be climaxed at a gigantic talent show to be held in Bruce Hall on the campus of LeMoine college on Friday night, Nov. 20, at 8.

A second prize of $75, and $125 to the organization, and a third prize of $25 and $75 to the sponsoring organization.

At the same time, some young woman will be crowned will also be awarded during the meeting.

"The purpose of the Miss Social Belle contest and Talent show," Miss Maxine A. Smith, executive secretary of the Memphis branch, said, "are first to highlight the vast amount of talent to be found in our youth; second, to give recognition to individuals and organizations making outstanding contributions to the cause of freedom, and third, to raise sufficient funds to continue to carry on the fight for freedom."

Contestants must be single girls, who have never married, between the ages of 13 and 21, and must be sponsored by a club or organization sponsored by the NAACP.

Persons interested in knowing more about the contest and its requirements should attend a kick-off meeting to be held Monday night at 7:30 at the Sarah Brown branch of the YWCA.

Patrol Launches State Highway 'Intensive Public Safety Drive'

The Tennessee Highway Patrol has launched one of the most intensive public safety education campaigns in the history of the state.

Safety Commissioner G. Hilton Butler has begun a one week whirlwind tour that will produce personal visits with every newspaper and every radio and television station in Tennessee.

Tennessee traffic law violators are numerous and spent a lot of money because of their violations during 1963, said the State Safety department today.

Safety Department figures show that a total of 81,840 persons were arrested by the Highway Patrol during 1963 and they paid fines and costs totaling nearly $709,000.

"While these figures are interesting in their enormity they also point to a more dangerous thing than a kick in the pocket book, "Safety Commissioner G. Hilton Butler said.

"As our State Troopers were making this number of arrests another more appalling figure was rapidly climbing. I'm speaking of the 941 persons who died in traffic acci-

Victim's Slayer Kicked Out Of School Because Of Criminal Tendencies

Hundreds of Memphians journeyed to Brighton, Tenn., last Sunday afternoon for the funeral services for a popular Manassas High school senior who was stabbed to death near the campus last Wednesday night after a football game which brought the school its second victory of the season.

Both students and teachers wept in halls and classrooms following the death of John Earl Boykins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Winfrey, of 1037 N. Seventh st. He was slain in the driveway of the school's mechanic shop.

According to Insp. E. C. Swann, chief of the Homicide Division of the Memphis Police Department, Young Boykins had just returned from a football game at Melrose stadium and was chatting with some girls when a car with some youths drove by.

USED A DAGGER

The student reportedly yelled and waved as the car went by. A moment later Fred Howard, Jr., 19, who gave his address as 114 Tully, Apt. 57, jumped out of the car, ran up to Boykins and said, "Now, let's see what you're gonna do."

A scuffle ensued and Howard pulled out a 12-inch Japanese dagger with an eight inch blade and stabbed the student twice, once in the left arm, and once in the left side of the chest.

As Howard fled from the scene, some 20 students pursued him. They were unable to stop him at first, because he threatened them with the weapon.

TRAPPED IN HOUSE

But before reaching his home, Howard threw away the knife, which was retrieved by one of the chasers and turned over to police. The students then surrounded the building to prevent Howard from escaping, while one boy returned for the police, who made the arrest.

In the meantime, Boykins was rushed to John Gaston hospital and pronounced dead on arrival at 11:05 p. m.

Principal Louis B. Hobson said that the victim was "a very fine student and we all thought well of him. He was well-liked by the teachers and the students."

HAD SERVED TIME

Mr. Hobson said that the boy arrested for the slaying had also been a student back in the early sixties and exhibited such criminal tendencies as stealing, lying and gambling.

Howard's last expulsion from the school he said was for "shaking down" students. Police records show that Howard was sentenced to three years in the National Training school at Washington, D. C., for stealing a car and driving it across a state line.

His victim was secretary of the "Ole Timer's, one of the outstanding organizations at Manassas, and cadet captain in the NDCC unit at the school. His parents said the student had planned to attend Langston university in Oklahoma next year.

Mr. Hobson said that he learned that there had been some misunderstanding between the victim and the slayer about two weeks earlier, and that the murder was probably connected with the earlier incident.

his execution is still something to make most pianists want to put their heads in a gas oven."

Ralph J. Gleason, writer of a syndicated column said: "He (Newborn) is one of the most impressive pianists to emerge in recent years."

MUSICAL FAMILY

Born into a musical talented family, his father, Phineas Newborn, Sr., was a drummer of note in the Memphis area. He played Drums during his son's three year residence here. His mother was a singer. A brother, plays a guitar.

Mr. and Mrs. Newborn, Sr., live at 588 Alston Ave. now.

It was in Whiteville, Tenn., on Dec. 14, 1943 Phineas displayed his talent for music.

Aside from the piano, he played trumpet, tenor saxophone, vibes, French horn and baritone horn, during his early years. Prior to entering Tennessee State A & I University, he studied privately. During his high school days he developed a big following in the rock and roll field.

From 1945 to 1953 he served in the U.S. Army as a member of a special service band which toured Southern States on recruiting drives. Later he played with a local rock and roll band in the Memphis area, the Tennessee State Collegians, Lionel Hampton and Saunders King.

NATIONAL FAME

However, it was in 1952 when Newborn's opportunity for national recognition came. Count Basie, while visiting Memphis, heard him play. So impressed was he by Newborn, until he and John Hammond, a jazz critic and discoverer, arranged for Newborn's first New York show in May, 1956. Newborn was jetted to national fame.

Newborn's New York debut caused an unparalleled stir in the jazz world. He was sought and courted as jazz's greatest pianist, a title which Art Tatum was about to relinquish — and did with his tragic death on Nov. 4, 1956.

Recording companies fought for his music. Club owners tried to out-bid each other for his show. He was sought to appear at jazz festivals. Even Europe called him "great" after two tours.

Then Newborn's own personal world started to isolate him from the general public around 1960. His star started to sink. He disappeared from the national scene. He moved to Los Angeles and played infrequently at local clubs. In between he isolated himself from the jazz scene. He would seldom record. However, those infrequent recordings would be gobbled-up by jazz enthusiasts.

The motivating factors which lead to Newborn removing himself from the jazz scene are not known to the general public. The underlying cause is best known by him and locked in that world he chose for himself. He has left a lot to conjectures.

Other great musicians have gone to Camarillo and returned to produce some of their

Other selections were sung by the Manassas High school ensemble and the Mt. Tipton choir. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. L. A. Slaughter, the pastor.

Hundreds viewed the remains in Memphis at a wake held at Gospel Temple Baptist church.

Active pallbearers were Monte Watkins, Gabriel Balfour, Dalton Hooks, Billy Hill, Hilton Cannon, Willie Love, Edward Thompson and Thurman Northcross. Honorary pallbearers included the members of the 12-6 class of Manassas, Ole Timer's club, the Double Ten Society and Company D of the NDCC.

best works. Charlie Parker, the king of Birdland, went to Camarillo in the late 1940's and returned to produce some of his most popular numbers. Also others have returned from the institution to full and productive years. Others have gone there and returned to even sadder and tragic lives which lead to ultimate destruction.

How Newborn will handle himself in and after Camarillo remains to be seen.

He first entered the insurance field when he became an agent for Universal Life Insurance company. In 1938 he moved to Chicago, Ill., and was employed by the Chicago Metropolitan Insurance company there. There he married Miss Sadie Thompson. Later he moved to Gary, Ind. and became associated with the Gibraltar Insurance company as a district manager. Eventually he was promoted to state agency director for the company. In 1952 he was named to the company's board of directors.

Mr. Stinnette returned to Chicago and rejoined the Chicago Metropolitan Insurance company, before being sent to St. Louis, Mo. as a supervisor for the company. He moved back to Memphis after a death in his wife's family.

Several years ago he became a licensed broker in Tennessee and established an insurance agency here where he worked until his death.

Recently he became a member of Temple Church of God in Christ after resigning from Middle Baptist church where he had held membership for a long time. He had been a member of an Elk's lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sadie T. Stinnette; three sons, David E. Stinnette and Steven A. Stinnette of Memphis, and William A. Stinnette, Jr. of Chicago; and a daughter, Mrs. Mona-Lisa Douglas

Bishop Golden Speaks At Boston University

"It is the responsibility of organized Christian religion to become involved in man's struggle for freedom," said Bishop Charles Golden of the Nashville-Carolina area of the Methodist Church, at Boston University's annual school of Theology Matriculation Day ceremonies held Thursday at the University's March Chapel.

"The world today is a sick world, a broken world in a state of crisis whose wounds could be healed through the application of the true spirit of the Christian gospel," the Negro spiritual leader declared. "We should bear witness in Washington, D.C., in Moscow, the world over."

The Bishop stated that with the world on the brink of disaster, people can no longer close their eyes as they did when Mussolini invaded Ethiopia, and when Hitler began his march across Europe.

BROTHERS OR ELSE

"The church," he continued, "cannot be divorced from the mundane cares of the world. It must," he said, "become involved in every aspect of man's life."

"We are disturbers, not preservers of the status quo. We should rock the boat of institutions as well as personal sin. 'Either we all are brothers,' Bishop Golden concluded, 'or God is not our Father.'"

Bishop Golden, who was elected bishop of the Nashville-Birmingham area in 1960, is an alumnus of Boston University's School of Theology.

The traditional ceremony was attended by the entire student body of the school. President Harold C. Case welcomed the students. Also participating were Bishop James K. Matthews of the Boston area Methodist church.

A. L. FOSTER

Executive Director, Cosmopolitan Chamber of Commerce

Thanks Good Friends

Well, here I am back in the salt mines where I shall remain until after the Cosmopolitan Chamber of Commerce Annual Membership Banquet, Oct. 16. Then back to Mayo's.

Thanks to Lady-Boss Audrey Weaver, city editor, many Defender employees, even several I have never met, and chamber members sent get-well cards, encouraging letters and telegrams by which I was flattered to no end. Thanks, good friends.

The Mayo Brothers Clinic is celebrating its 100th anniversary which provided many diversions of scientific and cultural value. Hundreds of medical greats from various parts of the world were present. If any Negroes or others

Another First
The Naves took some of us out-of-towners to a meeting of the Minnesota Task Force where young people who had participated in the Mississippi Summer Project, discussed their experiences. The room was filled with young people who proved sincere and earnest as they launched a fund-raising button sales campaign. Previously they raised $24,000 from the sale of buttons.

The Naves also were responsible for introducing me to George W. Gibbs, Jr., first Negro employee of IBM in Rochester, who in turn, had me to lunch at the plant together with several IBM officials. Gibbs is the major recruiter of Negro personnel and has done a cracker-jack job since he joined the staff Aug. 20, 1963. He, his wife, Joyce and daughter Leilani, born in Honolulu, were the first Negro family to join the IBM community.

Gibbs has had an interesting career. Born in Jacksonville, Fla., but reared chiefly in New York, he served in the United States Navy for 24 years, rising from mess attendant to chief steward to a cost-accountant (responsible for inventoring all items of $100 or more).

He was assistant to the lending chiefs of the public works administration, graduated from the recruit procurement personnel's school and was sent to Buffalo as a recruiter for the navy in 1956. He was commended for outstanding recruiting by his Commanding Officer as the head of his own sub station.

Negro College Fund

He then served on a guided missile cruiser in Boston Gibbs' most exciting experience was as a member of the crew of Admiral Byrd on his trip to the South Pole. This story was carried in the Defender upon Byrd's and Gibbs' return to the U.S.

At lunch with Gibbs and this columnist were A. W. Kamm, manager of General Manager, Joe Cunningham and Russell Gangsted. Later I met Harold E. Kamm, manager, Plant and Laboratory Education and Art Becker, general manager of the vast IBM complex, which consists of approximately $660,000 square feet of floor space and covers 100 acres.

It was Kamm who pointed to brilliant Archie Holmes Tag Brilliant Archie Holmes 12 pt

Kamm's assistant is a brilliant young Negro, Archie Holmes, who holds bachelor and master degrees in education from the University of Minnesota and is working toward his doctorate degree. Holmes was born in Arkansas and taught school for 10 years in a small anti-white community in Minnesota. For two years he served as First Lieutenant of Infantry of an all-white national guard outfit.

I met Gibbs and Holmes in person. With the exception of John W. Pritchett, chemist with a Master's degree, formerly with Honeywell, I held telephone interviews with William A. Washington and James L. White, electrical engineers, Claude Thomas, William A. Jones and Mrs. Jerry Mitchell. I had lunch with Virgil Ghant the youngest and most recently employed.

Washington, born in Longbeach, N. J., studied engineering at Howard University where, in 1961, he received the degree of BSEE. His previous job was with Lockheed Sunnyvale. He and his wife, Francis, have a son.

Rapid Advance

James L. White, also a Howard graduate, is regarded highly by his employers and it is predicted that he as is true of the others, will advance rapidly. White, married, has one child.

Thomas will be remembered in Chicagoland for he was born in Robbins, Ill., the son of Claude Thomas. He graduated from Dwight D. Eisenhower High in Blue Island and won the degree BSEE at the Illinois Institute of Technology. His first job was with Westinghouse Electric.

He is a member of Kappa

B.M. Employee

The first Negro woman to be employed in the IBM Rochester plant is Jerry Mitchell who has been assigned to a clerical position in the Engineering Department. Mrs. Mitchell grew up in Canton, Ohio where I spent two years with the Canton Urban League. She finished McKinley High in Canton and later studied nursing for two years. She gained clerical experience with the Sugardale Provision Company. Mrs. Mitchell's husband, Gerald, is a physical therapist with St. Mary's Hospital, a clinic affiliate with Mayo Brothers. Mitchell attended Baldwin-Wallace just outside Cleveland. Mrs. Mitchell is a native New Yorker.

Ghant will work on the assembly line on wiring gates. He was born in Jackson, Mich. and attended Jackson Junior College. Ghant, K. R. Jeffers, white general agent with the Franklin Life Insurance Company and I had coffee (or rather ice cream) together and instead of discussing Ghant's IBM job, Ghant told of his and Mike Reiner's experience as fellow travelers through 26 cities in 12 states, attempting to teach the B'hai faith of love.

Among the states visited where they stayed together white and Negro homes of B'hai members were Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia. They stayed in Rogers, Ark., three nights although Negroes are not permitted to remain there. They feel that much good was accomplished.

Social Security Question And Answer Series

By LIZ WARD

(This is the beginning of a question-answer series by Elizabeth M. Ward, Field Representative of the Social Security District Office, 4731 South Parkway).

Q. To settle a discussion we had at work please answer these questions?

1. When was the first Social Security law passed?
2. When were the first Social Security contributions paid?

3. What is the most an employee could have paid to Social Security if he had maximum earnings since the Social Security law was passed?

A. 1. The Social Security Act was signed into law August 14, 1935.
2. The first Social Security contributions were withheld for wages earned from Jan. 1, 1937 on.

3. The most a wage earner could have paid would have been $1,932, figured as follows:
2. The most a wage earner could have paid would have been $1,932, figured as follows:

1950, 1 year at $45, 45.
1952 — 49, 13 years at $30, $390.

1950, 1 year at $45, 45.
1951-53, 3 years at $54, 162.
1954, 1 year at $72, 72.

1955 — 56, 2 years at $84, 168.

1957 — 58, 2 years at $45.00, 90.

1959, 1 year at $120, 120.
1960 — 61, 2 years at $144, 288.

1962, 1 year at $150, 150.
1963 — 64, 2 years at $174, 348.

$1,932
Few workers have earned the maximum each year since Jan. 1, 1937. If you have further questions, telephone 548-1622.

Q. How can I find out if any Social Security is being credited to my account?

A. Telephone 548-1622 and ask us to mail you a form OAC-7004. When you receive the form, fill it out and mail it. In a few days the amount of wages credited to your account will be mailed to you. The last three years will be broken down separately so that you may compare the amounts with your wage statements or income tax return. Remember, the most that should be reported in the last three years is $4,800.

An initial supporter of the United Negro College Fund, over the years, IBM has regularly increased its grants to the Fund and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students. In addition, it has made five-year commitments to six colleges and universities with predominantly Negro student bodies. Half Million Get Hourly Pay Boost

On Sept. 3, more than half a million workers began receiving a boost in pay as a result of the increased minimum wage under the Fair Labor Standards Act as administered through the U. S. Department of Labor.

The increased minimum affects workers in employment brought under coverage of the Act by the 1961 amendments which included large retail stores. About 565,000 of the 3.6 million workers entitled to the new minimum wage of $1.15 an hour were being paid less than that amount.

The raise in pay for these workers will increase their annual income by about $114.9 million.

Rural Schools May Get Farm Business Course

Washington — Agribusiness educational training for farm youths may soon become available in rural high schools of the nation, says an article in the September issue of "News for Farmer Cooperatives," a U.S. Department of Agriculture publication.

For two years now, says the article, Pennsylvania has been conducting a pilot project in the development of a curriculum in agribusiness education.

After the current year, the State may establish such training in many of its rural high schools.

Other states are expected to embark on similar programs. The recently passed Federal Vocational Education Act provides Federal funds for high school course work in agricultural business.

Youths with such training in Pennsylvania have found employment with a number of Farmers' cooperatives, the publications point out.

Farmers Income Up $300,000

The nation's family farmers will realize over $300,000 in additional income from recreational enterprises financed last fiscal year through Farmers Home Administration, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said.

The Agriculture Department's credit agency advanced $7,752,000 in loans to individual farmers and groups of rural residents to finance farm and community recreation enterprises.

Sharing in the total loans advanced were 160 individual family farmers and 63 non-profit associations formed by farmers and rural residents to finance large scale community recreation projects, such as swimming pools, picnic and camping grounds, and small golf courses.

The loans, most of which were made by private investors but insured by Farmers Home Administration, were made to farmers and groups of rural residents in 26 States.

James D. Price of 9430 S. Calumet Ave., has been named manager of the 63rd Street neighborhood office, 846 W. 63rd St., of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company.

Price, who previously managed the company's Pershing Road neighborhood office, replaces Jerome J. Gresk, who has been made a circulating manager of the utility.

Price has been with Peoples Gas since May, 1934, when he first was employed as a janitor.

Since that time he has been successively a meter reader, customer interviewer, a principal clerk, an appliance salesman and an assistant manager. In November, 1963, he was

DREB Ready For Member Drive

The Dearborn Real Estate Board begins its annual membership drive Oct. 1, with Lehman E. Parrish, 2nd vice president serving as chairman.

The organization started its fall and winter program with a meeting at the Urbanite Lounge, featuring Mrs. Marian Murphy of Chicago Metropolitan Assurance Company as dinner speaker.

Mrs. Murphy stressed the importance of maintaining insurance departments in real estate offices.

Parrish presented a report on the recent NAREB (National Real Estate Brokers) convention in Philadelphia which returned four local officers to the national body. Appointed to the board of directors were Dempsey Travis, president, United Mortgage Brokers of America; Lehman Parrish, regional vice president, District 9 of NREB; Albert H. Johnson, president of DREB and Elmore Baker.

Ripley Meade was re-elected secretary.

DR. VICTOR BERRY

Dr. Berry Promoted To AG Post

WASHINGTON — Dr. Victor H. Berry, a graduate of the Tuskegee Institute School of Veterinary Medicine, has been named staff officer of the labels and standards section of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Meat Inspection Division.

Dr. Berry was promoted to this position from St. Paul, Minn., where he had served since 1962 as circuit supervisor of meat inspection work in that area. He succeeds Dr. J. D. Hatton who has been advanced to the plants and equipment section.

The new staff officer was born in Wichita, Kans. He came to work for the Department's Meat Inspection Service in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1955; five years later he was transferred to Chicago.

Dr. Berry is married. He and Mrs. Berry have a nine-year-old daughter.

George H. Applegate, Jr., chairman of the Indiana Harbor division of the East Chicago Torch Drive, serves as an interested viewer for a young acrobat at the Katherine House Day Nursery, a beneficiary of the Torch Drive.

Applegate toured Torch Drive agencies following his appointment by Richard L. Jones, general chairman.

The nursery serves youngsters whose mothers must work to support their families.

Liquor Firm Honors Executive Ross Corbit

Hiram Walker Incorporated distributors from all over the U.S. met with Jack Musick, president of the firm, and H. Clifford Hatch, president of the parent company, Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts Limited, to honor Ross Corbit, one of the "first citizens" of the alcoholic beverage industry.

Nearly 500 persons, including Hiram Walker directors, executives and district managers, were present at a dinner given in the Continental Hotel for Corbit, who will reside this year as vice president of Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts Limited. He will continue as a director of the company.

The dinner climaxed an unique fiscal year for Hiram Incorporated. Designated by Musick as "Ross Corbit's Golden Year," it was a tribute unprecedented in the liquor industry and perhaps in the annals of American business. Sales goals for the year dedicated to Corbit were set to make it the most successful 12 months in the company's history.

The campaign was launched by Musick on Sept. 4, 1963 in a marathon series of long-distance conference telephone calls to distributors disclosing the choice of the plan as an appropriate method of honoring Corbit, best known for his introduction of the Holiday gift wrap to the liquor industry.

The calls made up the largest conference call hook-up ever handled out of Detroit. The Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Western Electric at Plymouth, Mich., and some 19 other Bell system companies across the nation participated in the arrangement and the conference circuit extended even to non-Bell companies serving Hiram Walker locations.

Calls were made and received an gold-plated telephone especially constructed to symbolize the year and to serve as a reminder of its objectives. "Hiram Walker distributors responded by making it truly a Golden Year — the biggest in our history," Musick said.

OEO Lists New Job Opportunity Projects

Many projects designed to help eliminate poverty have been listed in a paper issued recently by the Office of Economic Opportunity as illustrations of the kind of efforts a local Community Action plan might include.

Among these are: Projects to develop new job opportunities; special and remedial education courses, academic counseling, after-school week-end, and summer tutoring and study centers; programs for pre-school children; programs to reduce adult illiteracy; programs to educate migrant families and provide them with better housing and sanitation; and other projects.

OEO points out that Community Action Programs will vary according to the needs of the people in different parts of the nation.

Other new programs authorized are: A Job Corps for young men 16 to 21 years of age; work training programs for young men and women; loans up to $2,500 to assist low income farmers in improving their operations; and loans up to $25,000 to help needy people start small business enterprises.

Employment On Farms Declining

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Partly because of cool weather, more than half a million fewer persons were at work on farms during the survey week of August 23-29 than during the corresponding week a year ago, the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates. Altogether, 7,159,000 persons were engaged in farm work in August.

Thus was seven per cent or 525,000 fewer than last year. Some 291,000 or more than half of the drop took place in the South where cool weather slowed cotton maturity, retarding the harvest.

In addition to weather, use of the mechanical cotton picker also contributed to the decline. It is estimated that nearly 75 percent of the 14,945,000 — bale crop will be machine harvested. As a result of advances in technology, farm employment has been decreasing over the years.

41 Appointed To Hampton Staff

Key To Congo Peace

A delegation composed of representatives of five African countries, called on the United States to withdraw all its military supplies, equipment and men from the Congo.

The delegation represents Africa's Congo Conciliation Commission which has been authorized to plead with President Johnson for American withdrawal of military support for Premier Moise Tshombe. It is believed that this step is necessary before peace could be restored in the troubled Congo.

At present the United States has approximately 35 military aircraft in the Congo and a contingent of 110 paratroops listed as "guards" for the planes.

There have been reports that Tshombe had antagonized the commission by first pledging cooperation in helping the body to reach the rebels in the Congo and then by reaffirming his opposition to having to meet the rebels at all.

Many of Tshombe's successes against the rebels in recent weeks have been attributed to American military assistance. The commission which had been meeting in closed session for six days in an attempt to find a means of ending the current rebellion in the Congo had listened attentively to four powerful rebel leaders whose spokesman Louis Pakasa, was described as commander-in-chief of the "National Liberation Army."

The rebels concentrated in the northern and eastern interior of the country are said to control one-sixth of the Congo, which is nearly four times the size of Texas.

The commission had decided to send a special delegation to see President Johnson because, "we find that while the Congo still is supplied with materials of destruction, the peace to make in the Congo cannot be made."

"We are trying to persuade our friends and those interested in the Congo to refrain from supplying war materials to the Congolese."

The five members of the special delegation are from Kenya, Ghana, Guinea, Nigeria and the United Arab Republic.

A similar delegation may be sent at a later date to Communist China, accused by Mr. Tshombe of supplying the Congolese rebels with money and arms.

These steps may be timely and wise. We cannot be dissuaded from the view that Moise Tshombe is the fly in the ointment. And until and unless the fly is removed, the Congo republic will continue to be one big African mess.

Captives Of Racism

Sen. William Fulbright is not the only brilliant mind whose political career has been hampered by the race issue. You can multiply William Fulbright by ten and begin to get the idea of how extensive a tragedy this is in 20th century America.

Has anyone ever bothered to recall the speeches Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi delivered when he was a judge trying to bring Mississippi into the modern world? Who cares about a brilliant speech by Judge Stennis on the great worth of the United Nations?

Who cares that political reporters have adjudged him one of the best Senators? Certainly no one in Mississippi. The Senator is trapped. He knows the moment he stops hollering "nigger!" he is done for, politically.

One of the best legislators and best minds to come out of the South in recent years was a Congressman named Frank E. Smith. He is a man whose fame should be nationwide, an American other Americans can admire. The Kennedys from Boston are among the smartest politicians ever to grace the American scene and they recognized the worth of this Smith almost immediately.

Congressman Smith was one of John F. Kennedy's closest friends and advisers. In fact, he put JFK straight on a few things, particularly the Tennessee Valley Authority. Young Congressman Kennedy was looking for an issue and so he made a speech about how cheap public power was luring textile firms from Massachusetts into the South.

Congressman Smith liked JFK; he saw the possibilities in that agile, brilliant mind so he sent Kennedy a little memo about the importance of doing more research on public power.

Breath Of Freedom

Last Christmas, through the good offices and courtesy of writer Lancelot Evans and the genial, efficient Keith Johnson, Consul to the Jamaican Government, we were guests of Jamaica for a thrilling ten day holiday.

Aside from the breath-taking beauty of this multi-racial country and the friendly warmth of its people, we enjoyed being in Jamaica so much because of the atmosphere of freedom and purpose which exists there.

In the brief time Jamaica has been enjoying its independence from British domination, this nation has made long strides in achieving economic stabilization, sophisticated selfrule and cooperation with its fellow-members in the United Nations.

The present Prime Minister, Sir Alexander Bustamante, is a strong and resourceful leader whose popularity with his people is a heartening thing to observe. In the tradition of all wise leaders, the Prime Minister has surrounded himself with aides of high calibre and ability. The government's representative, here in New York, Keith Johnson, for instance, is the type of diplomatic official who earns respect for himself and for the dignity of the country he represents.

Outstanding in the hierarchy of Jamaican officialdom is young, vibrantly energetic Sen. Hugh Shearer, the Prime Minister's second in command. Sir Bustamante has made it no secret that he regards Hugh as his political heir.

During last year's trip, Hugh was our official host and left no stone unturned to demonstrate that we were welcome. We have become warm, personal friends. Hugh is a man to watch in the progress of world affairs.

As we write this column, we are on our way back to Jamaica on a brief business trip. We shall enjoy the radiant weather, the genuine hospitality awaiting us. Most of all, we shall experience once again a sense of pride in being in the center of an integrated society of people, operating under the firm and knowledgeable hands of men of color. They are proving, in Jamaica, that the integrated society can work and that all men need to become strong is to become free.

Jamaica is a living proof of that. If you want to breathe freedom, you ought to plan to take a trip there some day soon.

More Than Usual

WASHINGTON — The Congress now drawing to a close may well be recorded as one of the most productive in modern times, barring only those that sat during the majoring wars.

Tax cut and civil rights legislation, of course, head the list, but the legislators have worked long and diligently to accomplish many advances in government, including a lot of ground work on matters that will be carried forward in future sessions of Congress.

Admirers of President Johnson are giving him credit for getting through much that has been done. Johnson's long legislative experience and the many friends he has made on Capitol Hill made his personal activities in this area a "natural."

However, the groundwork laid by the late President Kennedy's administration has also played an important role. His admirers — and they are legion on Capitol Hill as elsewhere — point out that virtually everything that has passed through Congress had its origins, and much of the basic work, during Kennedy's three years in the White House.

Some are uncharitable enough to emphasize that Johnson has been successful in only one legislative effort that can be labeled mostly his own — the anti-poverty program.

One can confidently predict that the accomplishments of the Congress will play an important role in the Johnson election campaign. He and his top political aides will bear down hard on the argument that he should be elected if the voters want to "get things done."

hours. Stars of the first rank were on hand to donate their services for the cause being promoted.

All proceeds of the concert will go into a fund to build a Memorial Community Center in Meridian, Mississippi. This center is to be named in honor of the Goodman, Chaney, Schwerner heroes who were slain in Mississippi.

Patrons of this unique concert gladly paid ten dollars a piece to swell this fund. Even some of the entertainers not content with giving their free services, made donations. Refreshments, sold by youngsters, including Jackie and Rae's twelve-year-old David and fourteen-year-old Sharon, were donated by various companies.

"Isn't this wonderful?" a lady said to me as we stood on a grassy incline overlooking the Robinsons' pretty lawn. It was a sight to see — the couples sitting on chairs, sitting on the lawn, the musicians doing their chores from a specially constructed stage — and, in back of it — a beautiful lake.

The lady was smiling — but her smile faded as she voiced an anxiety.

"I heard a rumor," she said "I heard that, after we build this center, they may burn it down to the ground. What do we do then?"

Before I could answer, she replied to her own question. "I guess we'd just build it back again."

A great spirit. But it makes you sad to know we live in a world where there are people uncivilized enough to have a compunction about seeking to murder men and even the monuments built to the men they murder.

How long, Lord. Better still — how long, America?

GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK

One can soon become attached to a city, its people, a cause to familiar surroundings. One grows accustomed to the comfort offered by old shoes, the invitation for relaxation extended by a favorite chair, the serenity found in a particular pipe, the happy moments shared with family and friends.

One can also become attached to a job, his fellow workers, and the product produced by their cooperative efforts.

One can become attached to a city — its heart-beat, its progress, its potential, its sorrow and its joy.

I have become so attached to Memphis.

When I came to Memphis May 19, 1957, I came here as a stranger. I did not find the southern hospitality that I heard so much about. I found an aloofness tempered with cordiality.

When I came here racial segregation in all public and private places was still the order of the day. Police brutality was rampant. Public office-seekers would boldly declare before Negro electorates, "I'm a segregationist." Schools, libraries and buses were segregated as well as parks, art galleries, tennis courts, restaurants, golf courses, theatres, etc.

Negroes were not appointed to public offices. Negroes had not won an elective office. Negroes were not even given the courtesy titles of Mr. and Mrs.

Memphis had not experienced "sit-ins"

The city had not begun to flex its gigantic muscles.

Memphis has changed tremendously for the better since that day in 1957 when I first set foot upon its soil.

In some small way I would like to fancy that I contributed to the progress that Memphis has made in the last seven years.

Now I come to the end of my sojourn in Memphis. I am richer for having lived here.

However, it is with a bit of dejection I leave before completion of several proposed projects in which I have a deep interest: the enlargement of the Goodwill Homes For Children of which I am a member of its board of directors; the expansion of Orange Mound Day Nursery of which I am also a board member; the capital improvement of the Abe Scharff Branch YMCA, of which I am a board member; the rejuvenation of the Memphis chapter of the Frontiers International Service club, of which I am vice president.

I also had hoped that the Russell Autress Post of American Legion would have obtained a "hut."

Nevertheless, these projects as well as others with which I have worked will be completed.

In the meantime, I will be adjusting myself to new surrounding — listening to the heart-beat of another city.

I will miss the many faithful readers and critics of this column.

Goodbye and good luck — notwithstanding.

Ollie Can't Jimcrow His Barbecue, U. S. Asserts

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The government said there is no legal ground for a decision by a federal court in Alabama that found the Civil Rights Law's public accommodation section unconstitutional.

In a brief submitted to the U.S. Supreme Court, the Justice Department argued that the suit brought by the owners of Ollie's Barbecue in Birmingham, Ala., sought to enjoin action which had not been threatened.

The Supreme Court is expected to hear oral arguments on a government appeal in the case Monday, immediately after similar arguments in another case in which the law was upheld.

Part of the government's argument in the brief was similar to its arguments presented earlier this week in a brief in the other case, which involved the Heart of Atlanta Motel.

But in the brief the government challenged the right of the U.S. District Court to even consider the suit filed by Ollie McClung Sr., and Ollie McClung Jr., owners of the restaurant.

The McClungs' suit charged that the Civil Rights Law was unconstitutional because it would permit someone to obtain an injunction prohibiting racial discrimination in their restaurant.

The government said the suit was premature because no complaint had been filed against the restaurant owners and the law did not call for criminal or civil penalties if such action was taken.

Migrant Cabbie In Cleveland Finds Northerners Cool, Aloof

CLEVELAND — (UPI) — Booker T. Edwards Jr., a smiling giant of a Negro, left his home at Monroe, La., a month ago to become a Cleveland cab driver.

He drove a truck back home and knew every byroad in Louisiana. Up here, it's different. With the help of a dog-eared map he is able to get his passengers where they want to go, but he is not really sure yet how he likes it.

"I haven't got used to these people," he said with a grin. "I thought people up north would be kind of different. Reckon I just got to get used to them. Don't know what it is — kind of like nobody cares about nobody."

The migration of Booker Edwards and others like him into the already overcrowded urban industrial areas of the north is a familiar story. In Cleveland — as in Philadelphia, Chicago, New York, Detroit and other big cities — it has helped touch off a social revolution.

Cleveland has had — and still has — its racial troubles. The big crisis came last April when a bulldozer rolled over and killed the Rev. Bruce Klunder, a young white minister who lay in the bulldozer's path to force it to stop. The driver didn't see him.

Rev. Klunder and his fellow civil rights demonstrators were seeking to block the construction of an elementary school. They said the site selected for the school dictated that its enrollment would be nearly all Negro.

Pollsters have said the race issue will have its effect when the people of Cleveland and other big cities vote on Nov. 3. This is the so-called "backlash" — the revolt of the whites against Negroes who they say are pushing too hard. It is supposed to be most evident in neighborhoods of eastern European immigrants and their offspring.

Cleveland has many of these neighborhoods, but the people don't talk about backlash when they tell how they will vote.

Balding Richard Maher, the political editor of the Cleveland Press, says "There's been a lot of talk about backlash, but you can't put your finger on it."

He said two councilmen from wards heavily populated with migrants — Maher calls them "nationality wards" — have told him that their people are talking in terms that would suggest a backlash exists. "But the people there wouldn't tell me and they wouldn't tell you," says Maher. "There's been less talk about it lately."

Mrs. Lucy Hummel, a secretary, is voting for Goldwater, but she has always voted Republican. "I'm not wholeheartedly for Goldwater she said. "But I would not vote for Johnson or any Democrat."

Mrs. Jeanne Orth, a waitress, voted for Eisenhower, but this time will go for Johnson. And she cites civil rights as part of the reason. She is white.

"I just don't like Goldwater," Mrs. Orth said. "For one thing, his stand against the equal employment part of the civil rights bill is not right. I don't think I'd vote for any Republican this year."

C. W. Fransworth, 31 who does marketing research for a manufacturer, voted for Eisenhower, then switched to Kennedy. "I was a confirmed Republican until Kennedy came along," he said. "I still believe in him."

"I can't see myself supporting anyone who doesn't want the things he wanted. That goes for civil rights, too."

Merry Go-Round

By Mrs. Emogene W. Wilson

PINK CHAMPAGNE . . . hundreds of guests dressed in the latest fashions . . . beautiful hostesses tastefully attired in black dresses wearing bright yellow chrysanthemum corsages . . . carrying out Alpha Phi Alpha's colors of black and gold; and wonderful continuous music featuring MICKEY TUCKER (who played brilliant piano) and group. This was the gay luncheon atmosphere created by the Alphabettes, all wives of Alpha men, as they presented their annual fashion show and luncheon at the Ellis Auditorium last weekend.

Efficient waiters kept the glasses filled and served a delicious menu of ham and turkey au gratin with stuffed potatoes, green beans and fruit cup, rolls and coffee.

Surprise narrator of the sparkling event was WESLEY TAN, creator of the fashions featured . . . who brought out the merits of each garment as only a creator could. Mistress of ceremonies was Alphabette MILDRED HORNE who presented the chairman of fashions, DOROTHY EVANS. In introducing MR. TAN, MRS. EVANS noted that the gifted designer had been associated with the garment industry off Seventh Avenue in New York City for eight years, and has been in business for himself as a manufacturer as well as a designer for five years, one of the few Negroes with this distinction. He studied at Howard University and the Yale School of Fashion as well as at several other Institutes . . . and is an instructor at a Technical high school in New York that specializes in teen age fashion designing. His clientele is largely of the high society class as well as many prominent entertainers.

Models groomed for the show by Alphabette JOAN JOHNSON were graceful, comely and displayed fine individual talent as they promenaded before the appreciative audience of men and women. They were: Mesdames JOLENE SAWYER, MILDRED JONES, HELEN WHALUM, BERNICE BURTON, EVELYN VARVASSEUR, and ANNETTE YARBOROUGH.

Mr. Tan's clothes are designed to be worn for several years. They are expensive . . . the design is basic and classic in style with many of the finest materials employed in their making. He emphasizes the wearing of little or no jewelry and very little fur.

The Discotheque look was seen throughout with black and white the main color choice for most of the dresses and suits, with red or green being the next most featured color. The Indian sari was featured throughout in various colors with gold woven into the bodice and hems. At one point he brought forth humor as he advised the ladies not to attempt to make the little Chanel bow headpiece which he featured in wool saying that it was a "tricky little thing to sew" . . . which many of the ladies doubted especially when he announced his asking price which was a shocker!

Handsome door prizes were awarded to holders of lucky numbers . . . following which the group of ladies responsible for the success of the event were introduced by the general chairman, MRS. JOSEPH WESTBROOK. MRS. THERON NORTHCROSS is president. The group present was invited to a private trunk showing at the beautiful contemporary home of the WALTER EVANS in Lakeview Gardens . . . where he offered many of the garments at wholesale prices.

MRS. LILLA TAYLOR BOLDS of Pacoima, Calif., has spent the last ten days in the Bluff City checking on her brothers recently discharged from Kennedy VA Hospital. As house guest of her cousins, MRS. HALLIA B. ROBINSON and MISS P. S. BOLDEN, she has combined business with pleasure. Other members of the family who helped to make her visit enjoyable were, MR. AND MRS. TAYLOR WARD, MR. AND MRS. J. D. BOLDEN and MR. AND MRS. LUCIEN BOLDEN.

ON HER FIRST VISIT HERE since she left 24 years ago was MRS. MILDRED GREGORY, now of Washington, D. C. who arrived last week for the funeral of her brother the late William A. Stinnette, well known insurance broker, who died last week following a long illness.

Also present for the sad occasion were two other sisters, MRS. RUBY JEAN STINNETTE WATIES, and MRS. GERTIE MAE PORTER, both of Philadelphia, who likewise have been away from the city for some 20 years. Mr. Stinnette was the husband of MRS. SADIE STINNETTE of 975 Clark Pl. Our sincere condolences to the family.

IN TOWN BRIEFLY ON BUSINESS were MR. AND MRS. J. J. MASON of Clarksdale, Miss., and Denver, Colorado, who took time to make contact with some of their friends here. Mr. Mason is a prominent veteran photographer having made many of the news pictures featured nationally in connection with racial incidents in the state of Mississippi. A venerable couple they are gracious hosts to many visitors to Clarksdale. They spend their summers in Denver, Colorado where they own property and where several of their children reside. The late L. ALEX WILSON and ERNEST WITHERS are among the many persons they have been host.

A CHOCOLATE HOUR was THE GAY EVENT sponsored recently by the Memphis chapter of Co-Ettes, Inc. at the home of CO-ETTE MAE BYAS, 1358 S. Parkway E. Music and laughter filled the air, along with chatter of various interests. Guests truly enjoyed themselves . . . dressed in their "prissy pants." Those attending the party were SANDRA HOBSON, LILLIAN SUEING, PATRICIA DIXON, ELVA MICKLE, CECILIA PATTERSON, PATRICIA SIMPSON, AUBREY JONES, SHIRLEY PEACE, MELANIE McWILLIAMS, PATRICIA APPLEWHITE, KATHY GRAHAM, CONSTANCE JACOBS, MARGARET FLYTHE, PATRICIA MARTIN, EMMA MAYWEATHER, JESSICA JOHNSON, RAMELLA SANDRIDGE, MARY LYNN MORRIS, SHERRY JOYNER, GALE TERRELL, and MARILYN MOSS. MISS LAWS is club sponsor.

THE BASSINET SOCIETY BOASTS a new member . . . GENE FARLEY PINKSTON . . . born Friday, October 2 and weighed in as a heavyweight . . . at 9 pounds. Bearing the initials of his late grandfather, he is the son of MR. AND MRS. HOWARD PINKSTON, 1561 Norris St. . . their third offspring. He arrived at E. H. Crump Hospital.

More than 500 junior and senior high school students, along with sixth graders from Georgia Avenue Elementary School were guests of LeMoyn College last Friday morning at the college's first concert of the year. Appearing on the Bruce Hall stage was the outstanding pianist and conductor WILLIAM PENNY HACKER.

Mr. HACKER's recital was enjoyed by LeMoyn's 650 students and faculty-staff members as well as the visiting students.

LeMoyn's next concert will present WON-KYUNG CHO, talented Korean classical dancer, in an evening recital at Bruce Hall on November 23.

MEMPHIS CO-ETTE OFFICERS

The Memphis chapter of Co-Ettes Inc. had their first meeting of the year at the Sheraton Hotel Motor Room with Clarise Hobson as hostess. Officers elected for 1964-65 are shown left to right first row: Muriel Horne, secretary; Priscilla Marr, president; Sandra Williams, first vice-president; Joyce Cochrane, treasurer. Standing: Mae

The 15-minute program devoted to college and university news had its debut on WKNO-TV on Tuesday of this week with Memphis State University's chairman of the new school of engineering as guest. The program is divided into two segments, the first dealing exclusively with news and feature stories and the second portion with interviews of selected personnel from colleges and universities in the area.

A guest from Southwestern will be seen on Oct. 14; one from Christian Brothers college on Oct. 27, and speakers from Memphis State, University of Mississippi, the University of Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi, Mississippi State, Arkansas State and Siena college on subsequent dates.

Service Pins Awarded To 536 By LG&W Dept.

Service pins were awarded today to 536 Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division employees. Ranging from five to 45 years, the pins represent 6,720 years of service. The only employee receiving a 45-year pin at the ceremony was Eugene W. Barnett, a shop helper in the transportation department. He lives at 1386 Decatur. Six 40-year pins were awarded, 21 35-year, 11 30-year, and 23 25-year.

Two of the Division's top executives were honored. President Ray Morton was given his 25-year pin by Hunter Lane, Jr., liaison Commissioner for the City of Memphis with the Light, Gas and Water Division. Jimmy Owens, Director of the Electric Division, also received a 25-year pin.

The 62 employees who earned 25, 30, 35, 40 and 45 year pins were honored at a special ceremony in the Board Room.

'I DIDN'T REALLY WANT TO GO'

Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe talks to reporters at a press conference in Athens. Tshombe has abandoned plans to attend the Unaligned Nations Conference in Cairo in face of Egyptian refusal to permit his plane to land. Tshombe threatened to come despite the ban but finally gave in. (UPI Cablephoto)

Egyptians Order Away Plane Carrying Tshombe

CAIRO, U.A.R. — (UPI) — Egyptian authorities barred Congo Premier Moise Tshombe from landing at Cairo airport to attend the Summit Conference of 64 "non-aligned" nations starting this evening. Tshombe's chartered (Belgian Sabena Airlines, Boeing 707) jet airliner was ordered away as soon as it entered the air space of the United Arab Republic (Egypt) at dawn. It flew on to Athens.

U.A.R. authorities granted Tshombe an entry visa. But the foreign ministers of the non-aligned nations, holding a preparatory meeting, voted overwhelmingly against Tshombe's attendance.

The action of the Cairo airport authorities followed this vote. The Cairo control tower radioed Tshombe's plane that it could not land because the runways were "damaged and unserviceable." Other planes were landing normally, however.

'Mr. Be' To Teach Children About Music This Week

The origin of music, how wind is used to make music and how strings are plucked to make music will be explained to youngsters on the preschool program, "All Aboard with Mr. Be," during this week on WKNO-TV.

On Wednesday, Oct. 7, the host of the show teaches children about the origins of music and shows how percussion instruments make music. A drummer will demonstrate.

On Thursday, Oct. 8, he explains how wind is used to make music and is visited by a lady playing a flute and a jazz group playing jazz versions of nursery rhymes.

On Friday, Oct. 9, Mr. Be will show how strings are plucked or rubbed to make music and then conducts a marching band version of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The program is seen twice daily Monday through Friday at noon and at 7 p.m.

KINDERGARTEN BOARD

THE BOARD of Directors of the Gillespie Kindergarten met to decide on the opening of the school and to elect officers. To lead in this very useful organization are the following: president, William Baskerville, funeral director; vice-president, Rev. J. T. MATHIS, minister; treasurer, Miss ENID SIMS, teacher, secretary, Mrs. SULA ELLISON, teacher; business manager, Rev. M. H. BURNETT, minister; and associate manager, Rev. L. T. PURHAM. The school is scheduled to open Oct. 12.

LANE COLLEGE CME church women, under the sponsorship of the three Stewardess Boards, observed their annual woman's day last Sunday, with Mrs. U. M. GARRETT giving the morning address, and MRS. ALBERTA JAMISON of Dyer, the afternoon talk. The members and friends who attended were happy to have these two fine women as speakers, and were inspired as they spoke to them. Rev. L. T. PURHAM is pastor of the church. $2800 was reported to have been raised.

The Youth of Morning Star Bapt church completed their annual quarter with great joy as they placed $3,000 on the table. Rev. J. T. MATHIS is minister.

Miss EDITH MATHIS, sister of Miss LENA MAE MATHIS, has been hospitalized in Obion General Hospital, is at home in Ridgely where she teaches. Word comes that she is recovering very rapidly.

Also reported in the hospital is MRS. SYRVILLA JONES, who has been recuperating at St. Mary's here.

AN EDUCATIONAL TOUR FOR Y-TEENS

About 38 Y-Teens from the Sarah Brown Branch YWCA spent time at the New York World's Fair and in Washington, D. C. on an Educational Tour, recently. Above they were photographed in the Capitol City, using the Nation's Capitol building as a backdrop. Chaperoning the girls were: Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Miss Faye Burrows, Miss Barbara Neal, Teen-Age Director, Mrs. Rose Brown, and Mrs. Johnnie Cooper. Y-Teen clubs represented on the tour were Carnes, Corry, Hamilton, Lincoln, Porter, Oates Manor, Manassas, Mitchell, Douglass, Geeter, Washington and Capleville.

Y-Teens To Put On Membership Drive, Oct. 11-17

The Teenagers of the Sarah Brown Branch YWCA are all set to participate in the National Y-Teen Roll Call, Oct. 11-17 by climaxing an intensive membership drive during that period.

Theme for the membership drive is "You Count As Y-Teens...Join." Teenage members in 6,000 clubs in the United States are expected to participate in the drive.

Y-Teens will welcome others of their age group during this week at their club meetings in schools, at the YWCA and elsewhere, showing how they have an opportunity to develop as leaders, share responsibilities with adults, make new friends and learn interesting skills.

All phases of the Y-Teen program, Miss Barbara Neal, Teen-Age Director said, are designed to realize the Y-Teen goals: "To grow as a person to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God."

The YWCA is at work in more than 70 countries around the globe, she pointed out.

Activities at the YWCA offer fun, friendship, opportunities for service, personality development and self expression, as well as a wider knowledge and acquaintance of many peoples in many lands, said Miss Neal.

A 1963 graduate of Fisk, Miss Rodgers has a voice which has been acclaimed by leading critics.

She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jennie Brodnax Vance, a noted musician and director of the Vance School of Music in Humboldt.

Miss Rodgers is a native of Trenton, Tenn.

NC PR Man Takes Prize At Ad Meeting

Mrs. Alma H. Wade, director of advertising and public relations for the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance company, has returned to Durham, N. C., after attending the 31st annual meeting of the Life Insurance Advertisers Sept. 14-16 at the Drake hotel.

LAA representatives were present from insurance companies and leading publications throughout the United States and Canada.

Approximately 600 entries in 13 categories pertaining to advertising, public relations, sales promotion and institutional prestige building material were placed on display by representatives from member companies and awards made for the best in each category.

An award of excellence was presented Mrs. Wade for the display she submitted for the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance company in the category of institutional prestige building materials.

Mrs. Wade, a North Carolina Mutual employee for more than 20 years, is a graduate of the Durham public schools, has a bachelor of arts degree from West Virginia State College and a master of science degree in commerce from North Carolina college at Durham.

Her husband, Rev. L. H. Wade, is pastor of First Baptist church, Oxford, N. C. They are the parents of a son and a daughter.

Queen Elizabeth Begins Visit Despite Threats

SUMMERSIDE, Prince Edward Island (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth opened an eight-day royal visit to Canada despite threats from terrorists that she may be harmed. The Canadian government had set up the most elaborate security operation in the history of the government to protect her.

The 38-year-old Queen arrived from London in a chartered BOAC jetliner.

Lyric Soprano To Be Heard In Concert Friday

Miss Mary Rose Rodgers, lyric soprano will be presented in recital on Friday night, Oct. 9, at First Baptist church in Brownsville and the public is invited to hear her.

She is being presented in a concert which starts at 8:15, and which is being sponsored by the young people of the church.

Arrest 5 More In Miss., Nab Millionaire's Son

McCOMB, Miss. — (UPI) — Authorities announced the arrest of six more white men, including a bomb expert and the son of a millionaire, in connection with recent racial bombings in the McComb area.

Bombs, hand grenades, blasting powder, carbines and blackjacks were confiscated in the arrests which brought the number of local men charged in the bombings.

Reliable sources said one or ly and said "those guilty of such low crimes will receive a stronger penalty from The Almighty. If these crimes continue, the penalty (to the community) may be the loss of liberties under martial law."

Watkins said the local people were "right in opposing the civil rights law in every legal means possible" but he added "the quickest way to lose freedom is for people to take law enforcement into their own hands."

He urged the jurors to "indict in proper cases, regardless of whom the offenders might be."

The men arrested Monday were Gillis, Hilton Dunaway, 36; John Paul Westbrook, 20; Charles Avery Womack, 26, and Gerald Lawrence, 21. Emory Allen Lee, 35, was arrested Saturday. The men are all from McComb.

The FBI identified Lee as a former Army demolition expert and said they found grenades, 15 bombs, a five-gallon can of explosive powder and carbines and blackjacks on property adjacent to his land. He was accused of supplying explosives to a group responsible for bombings in the area.

Clara Barton Health Club

After a summer recess, members of the Clara Barton Health Club held their first fall meeting in the home of Mrs. Zana Ward, the club president, with Mrs. Juanita Turner, the vice president, in charge.

CARNATION COOKING HINTS

by Mary Blake
HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR AND HER STAFF

Be fancy and thrifty at the same time! Make perfect-for-fall Waldorf Whip—it's a salad and dessert in one! Carnation Evaporated Milk, the milk that whips, is the secret ingredient for this tasty, light recipe. Be sure and keep the familiar red and white cans handy—and use them often!

WALDORF WHIP
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 1/2 cups chopped apples
2/3 cup (small can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; cool. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice, mayonnaise, celery, nuts and apples. Mix well. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Chill Carnation in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (10-15 minutes). Whip until stiff (1 minute). Add the remaining lemon juice; whip very stiff (1 to 2 minutes longer). Fold whipped Carnation into gelatin mixture. Spoon into 5-cup mold. Chill until set (about 2 hours). Unmold on salad greens and garnish with walnuts and raw apple slices. Serve as dessert or salad.

Finley Leads TSU To 35-0 Romp Over Morris Brown Wolverines

By EARL S. CLANTON III

NASHVILLE — Tall, mild-mannered Memphis-born quarterback Howard Finley ran and passed Tennessee State's football team to a 35-0 romp over Morris Brown last Saturday night before an overflow, 7,192 hometown fans.

Finley passed for one touchdown and ran for another as the Big Blues scored in every quarter while winning their third straight game of the season and running their winning streak to seven.

Last week, Coach John A. Merritt uncorked his Finley-led mavericks who rolled up 45 yards on the ground against North Carolina A & T. Tonight the ground-churning mavericks ran for 190 yards on the ground without the team's ace ground-gainer, Gene Bowen. Setback Bowen got hurt on Tennessee State's first series of plays and did not return to the game.

A GROUND GAME

Sporting a 13 to 0 halftime margin, Coach Merritt commented, "Our kids were over-anxious. They were down all week and tried to get up for this ball game in a hurry. They made a lot of mistakes."

With Finley in the saddle, the Tigers drove 80 yards in 10 plays. Bowen drove the ball from his own 20 to Morris Brown's 38. From there Finley hit Willie Walker for the tally with 7:04 remaining in the first quarter. Fletcher Smith toed the extra point which proved to be enough for the victory.

Sticking to a ground game, Coach Merritt disclosed, "The past week's poor weather kept us from pass practice. Tonight our pass-timing was off, way off, but our ground game was good."

GAINS CONFIDENCE

Praising his sophomore quarterback, Coach Merritt continued, "Finley did a good job. Running the ball is his great strength, and he has need of a lot of work. Tonight he gained a lot of confidence because he was mixing up his calls, which is a badge of confidence."

Still a little over-anxious, the Big Blues marched 45 yards in the second quarter for the game's second score. Bill Tucker, a sophomore bruiser, bolted over from the five after rambling for a first down from Morris Brown's 20. Tucker, the game's leading ground-gainer, picked up 78 yards in 10 carries that did not include a two-point conversion try.

Midway the third stanza, the Big Blues drove 64 yards in six plays with Finley capping the march with an 8-yard scurry for the tally. Eldee Dickey passed to Walker for the conversion.

MARCH 66 YARDS

Showing his ability to run,

Finley engineered a 66-yard scoring march, gingerly mixed with his running and passing the ball. Moving the pigskin from his own 34 to the Wolverine two in 12 plays, Charlie Powell plunged over for the touchdown.

"I've got to give credit to my entire line," Merritt confided. "I played a lot of men, but Robert Reed, guard; Billy Isabell, center, and Jim Carter, led a strong forward wall."

Craig Gilliam, Merritt's third string quarterback and assistant head coach Joe Gilliam's son, scored the game's final tally on a four-yard roll. Young Gilliam got the ball on Morris Brown's 15, lost 15, and then hit Al Coleman from the 30. Coleman was downed on the four, and on the next play Gilliam scored.

Golden Wildcats Conquer Cobras 32-0 Before A Packed Stadium

The Melrose Golden Wildcats continued their stampede toward the Prep League championship by simply overpowering the Carver Cobras 32-0 before over 6,000 fans that had the facilities at Melrose Stadium bursting at the seams last Friday night.

Manassas got their first victory of the week by scoring a late touchdown and conversion to down scrappy Hamilton. In an often dull but occasional explosive battle Father Bertrand upended Douglass, 20-12.

Lester played outside the league for the third consecutive week and the unsung Lions won their fourth game against one loss by coming from behind to nip Wonder

High in West Memphis, Arkansas, 24-19, last Friday night, Mitchell Road came from behind to edge Bruce of Dyersburg, 14-6.

MOTTON SCORES THRICE

For the first time this season Melrose had its scoring dominated by just two players. LeRoy Motton registered three times and Jimmy Ward tallied twice to account for the five touchdowns racked up against Carver. Bobby Smith, who took in 55-yard pass from Hank Bridgeforth to set-up a six yard score by Hottin, kicked two extra points.

Melrose took a 13-0 lead into the intermission when Ward knifed through from the three yard line to score late in the second quarter. The passing of Carver's Bob Jones failed to get the Cobras started on any sustained march in the first half, and the way he was rushed by the Melrose line there wasn't much to look forward to in the final half.

Jones had one of his passes picked off by William Anderson at the Carver 25 in the third quarter and Ward capitalized on the break for Melrose by scoring a few plays later from the five. A 95-yard interception return for a touchdown by Motton highlighted a fast finish by Melrose that had Carver on the ropes at the conclusion of the heralded battle.

A TOUGH LOSS

Hamilton suffered a heart-breaking defeat at the hands of Manassas, 7-0, after playing inspired ball most of the game. The two scoreless until Reuben Hall tore off left end for six yards and the clinching touchdown with less than three minutes left to play.

Hamilton and Manassas fought each other on even terms until Manassas recovered a fumble by the Wildcats' quarterback who was back to pass late in the game. The anxious Tigers put the ball in play 28 yards from paydirt. Wilbert Trigg hit brother Johnny with a pass that put the ball

A FUTILE ATTEMPT

Larry Stevenson (80) of Carver pins Bobby Smith of Melrose to the turf as the pass play went incomplete. This wasn't the case very often as the Cobras took a 32-0 lacing from the Golden Wildcats last Friday night at Melrose Stadium. It was the fourth straight victory for Melrose. Over 6,000 fans witnessed the game.

on the 12. Manassas scored but the play was nullified by a penalty. After Hall counted with six points Charles Miller passed to Houston Chaffin for the point.

BOLTS HALT DOUGLASS

Jacques Tate caught six passes, two for touchdowns of 93 and 40 yards respectively, however on two other occasions passes backfired on Douglass and the Red Devils were unable to catch Bertrand.

James Hall romped for a pair of touchdowns to lead the Bertrand attack. Hall scored on runs of nine and seven yards and added two conversions. James Elmo, who grabbed one of the two key interceptions by Bertrand, galloped 60-yard with the misfired aerial in the third quarter to ice the game.

Tate, a senior flanker who joined the team for his third game, pulled down his TD tosses from Douglas quarterbacks Edison Ezelle and William Dowdy.

BIG GRID WEEK

This figures to be a busy week for the Melrose gridiron. Four games are carded and Douglas travels out to Mitchell Road in another contest. Hamilton was to go against Washington Wednesday. Lester, overlooked by the fuss over the Carver - Melrose contest, still is undefeated in two league outings. The Lions return to action Thursday against Manassas. Melrose tackles Merry High of Jackson, Tennessee Friday afternoon, a struggle that precedes a league encounter

MAD RACES OVER

The pennant races in the American and National Leagues truly went down to the wire this season with the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees emerging as World Series opponents. At the half way mark it was Philadelphia in the NL and Baltimore in the AL. When the smoke had cleared Sunday, marking the end of the hard fought campaign, the Phillies shared second place with Cincinnati and the Orioles occupied third position behind the White Sox.

About mid August there was talk about no off day being necessary because the Series was signed and sealed for Philadelphia and Baltimore or New York. Traveling for any of those proposed teams would not be as much as 200 miles.

The Yankees stayed close and finally passed the fading Orioles then put together two doubleheader victories to gain the driver's seat to their fifth consecutive flag. The clinching victory was at the expense of Cleveland last Saturday.

Over in the senior circuit newsmen had to make reservations in four different cities until St. Louis removed all the speculation with an avenging 11-6 last Sunday over the New York Mets. This score was decisive only after the Phillies had recorded a 10-0 shutout earlier over the Reds. San Francisco was not eliminated mathematically until the Cubs outslugged the last Saturday. If the Mets could have downed the Cards the Series would have been delayed by a three-team play-off.

The Phillies are the worst off of the losers. The Phils had done remarkably with what many experts figured to be fourth or fifth place material. Then when the Philadelphia got off to fast start no one still believed them, saying the Phils got a break in the scheduling and were fattening up on the second division teams.

About the time the Phillies had made believers out of the doubters their fans were putting in tickets orders for the fall classic. This was routine since the Phils sported a seven game lead with just two weeks left in the season. The Quaker City nine had a touch of bad luck that saw the Phils lose ten straight games and the opportunity to represent NL in the Series that got underway Wednesday in St. Louis.

SOUTHWESTERN MOVES

When Lorenzo Childress took the field for Southwestern last Saturday afternoon on the campus gridiron it marked the first time that a Negro had played for a local institution in Memphis. Childress, who was a top linesman last year at Manassas, broke the color barrier when the Lynx played its opener on the road in Missouri.

Childress helped his teammates gain a 28-7 win over Centre of Danville, Kentucky. In the early part of the struggle the former Prep Leaguer seem too anxious to mix it up, however, with the tension apparently worn away late in the game Childress charged in from his defensive end position and knocked a Centre blocker on the seat of his pants to draw approval from the 1,300 fans.

Coby Smith, who gained city wide recognition in NDCC at Manassas, was also dressed for Southwestern. Smith didn't play football last year while attending Manassas and his bony 140-pound frame could be the reason he preferred to rack up academic honors and leave the rough stuff to the tough guys. Smith is a fine little crusader and this show of bravery at Southwestern is for the cause. Two years ago he was a school reporter for the Tri-State Defender.

POWER TO BURN

Pressed for his starting assignment at quarterback by sensational freshman Eldee Dickey, Memphis Howard Finley climbed back into the throttle of the Tennessee A & I express and generated the Big Blues to their third win, a 35-0 thrashing of Morris Brown last Saturday night in Nashville. Finley passed for one touchdown and legged another into the end zone himself. It was Finley who threw the game winning touchdown against Morris Brown last year in Atlanta, Georgia.

City Buys Rainwear For Sanitation Men

For the first time in the history of the Public Works Commission, sanitation workers can look forward to receiving a full year's work without any loss of wages.

And the public can look forward to seeing the workers come to them each week on schedule.

At a cost of $9,000, according to Commissioner Pete Sisson, the sanitation workers have been outfitted with rainwear which makes it possible for the men to make their rounds with the dependability of the postman, whose motto runs, "Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow hinders these faithful messengers," etc.

But unlike the postman, the sanitation worker will still have a choice of whether he wants to work in inclement weather or not.

ALL BUT BOOTS

The worker will still have the option of reporting to work in bad weather and receiving an automatic two hours of pay, or donning the rain gear and working for a full day's pay.

Heretofore, the men have been subject to drawing as little as 12 hours' pay if it rained or snowed for a full week.

The new gear includes a bright yellow cap, jacket and pants. The men have to buy their own boots.

King said the SCLC will launch a nationwide drive to urge church groups across the country to turn out to vote Nov. 3 for candidates favorable to civil rights.

King said there was need to endorse the Democratic National ticket, but the SCLC "cannot support a candidate like Sen. (Barry) Goldwater."

"We cannot issue a blanket indictment against all Republicans," King said. "There are some good Republican candidates in local elections."

King said the organization would concentrate on getting the six million registered Negro voters to the polls. He said if a large percentage of the two million registered Negroes in the South vote "it could well determine how this election will go."

The SCLC appointed the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy of Washington, D.C., to handle the campaign among churches.

Fauntroy will call on churches to hold a "civil responsibility day" on the sabbath before the general election to recognize registered voters and to organize car pools to get voters to the polls.

"We feel that if the voters turn out they will vote for the right candidates," King said. "This is the most crucial election in our history."

Rufus Hawkins NEA Seeking Members

Rufus J. Hawkins chapter of the Student NEA (National Education Association) at LeMoyne College is conducting its annual membership drive this week. The chapter is for students interested in the teaching profession.

Officers are Calvin Cunningham, president; Miss Dorothy Rogers, secretary; Miss Sarah M. Smith, membership chairman; Miss Ruth T. Geeter, reporter; and Mrs. Charlie P. Roland, advisor.

"We contribute to a worthy project each year. We feel that the Mallory Knights Charitable organization, according to an announcement by the director of the Knights, Harry L. Strong.

President of the club, Mrs. Florentine Johnson, and the club's secretary, Mrs. Ethel Burns, said:

"We contribute to a worthy project each year. We feel that the Mallory Knights are doing a job for needy causes. Recently they cared for a child who is suffering from cerebral palsy. Being licensed practical nurses we know how much a program is needed for such victims."

Strong said he was very glad to have clubs and groups to help the Mallory Knights.

Club 24 Gives To 'Needy Cause'

A social organization, Club 24, recently donated $50 to the Mallory Knights Charitable organization, according to an announcement by the director of the Knights, Harry L. Strong.

President of the club, Mrs. Florentine Johnson, and the club's secretary, Mrs. Ethel Burns, said:

"We contribute to a worthy project each year. We feel that the Mallory Knights are doing a job for needy causes. Recently they cared for a child who is suffering from cerebral palsy. Being licensed practical nurses we know how much a program is needed for such victims."

TSU Student Attends White House Reception

NASHVILLE — Danny Aldridge, Tennessee State university's Student Council president, was the school's official representative at a reception given at the White House last Saturday by President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Tennessee State student was among a number of students from across the nation who were invited for an informal briefing by President Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Secretary Labor Willard Wirtz and U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson.

When he received the invitation last week, Aldridge, a political science major and a senior, said, "This is a wonderful thrill for me. I feel extremely grateful and am mindful that I may never get another such opportunity."

The 22-year-old native New Yorker flew to Washington on Saturday morning for the 5 p.m. White House reception. He was selected by Dr. W. S. Davis, TSU president, according to White House stipulations that asked each college to name its representative from students who are the presidents of the student body, senior class or undergraduate councils or other high offices.

CITY BUYS RAINWEAR

Six members of the Public Works Commission's Sanitation department, flanked by Commissioner Pete Sisson on the left and labor foreman Henry Baskin on the right, are shown modeling what the well-dressed worker in that department will be wearing in bad weather in the future. The city purchased 1,400 outfits for the men.

Former Director Of Orange Mound Nursery Buried

A former director of Orange Mound Day Nursery, Mrs. Mozella Franklin of 2398 Brooklyn Ave., was buried in Oakville Baptist Church cemetery, following last rites at the church last Sunday afternoon. Officiating Revs. W. C. Holmes, E. Bates and W. L. Suewell.

Mrs. Franklin died in John Gaston hospital Sept. 28 following a year's illness. She was 60. She had directed the nursery from 1947-60. Illness forced her to retire.

Orange Mound Day Nursery, established in 1941 to care for pre-school Negro children of working parents, is now supported mainly by SUN.

A native of Shelby County she had lived here her entire life.

Well known in the Orange Mound community, Mrs. Franklin earned the respect of a score of working parents who entrusted the care of their children during the day — to her.

Among survivors are: a daughter, Mrs. Frankie Williams, 1538 Marianna St.; two brothers, Walter R. Jackson, 776 Richmond St. and Thomas Jackson, 2397 Saratoga St.; and a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Smith, 926 S. Driver St.; and a nephew, James C. Manning with whom she lived.

New South Is Subject Of First Hanson Talk

Dr. Rupert P. Vance, professor of sociology at University of North Carolina, will lecture at LeMoyne College this Thursday and Friday, Oct. 8-9. The lectures are free to the public and will start at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Room of the Hollis F. Price Library.

Dr. Vance speaks Thursday evening on "The Breakthrough in the South." His subject Friday evening will be "The Changing Image of the South."

Dr. Vance is one of five scholars scheduled to speak at LeMoyne this academic year in a series known as The Alma C. Hanson Memorial Lectures. Theme of the series is "The Changing South — Perspectives and Challenges."

Miss Hanson, who died two years ago, was business manager and treasurer at LeMoyne for more than 40 years. Her estate, valued at about $40,000, was left to the college in the form of a scholarship fund.

Coordinating the lecture series is Dr. Clifton H. Johnson, professor of history at LeMoyne.
