Dr Andrew Smith,

A Once Prominent and Well-Known Man of the County

A SHORT SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

It is with becoming pleasure that we present to our readers, this week, a short history of a man well known to most of them, and we are satisfied they will appreciate our efforts in presenting to them such historical sketches. Last week our subject was Judge W A Holland, this week it will be Dr A Smith. He was born in old Wadesboro, in Calloway county, Kentucky, November 19th 1840. He is a son of Andrew Smith, who with his two brothers, David and William, left his native home in Adair County, Ky., when a young man and coming to Wadesboro located in the town. They were sons of Joseph Smith, one of the early settlers of Adair county, but who removed to Illinois where he died. The father of this sketch after locating at Wadesboro was given a position in the Land Office of Edmund Curd, and subsequently married Eliza, the beautiful daughter of his employer. He then engaged in mercantile trade which he followed until his death, which occurred Sept 19th, 1840. He left a wife and five children our subject was the youngest of the family; was reared by his mother, who subsequently married W. M. Starks. His early life was spent at farm work. After receiving what education the facilities of that vicinity afforded, he went to Murray, where after attending school, began the study of medicine under Dr J. P. Holt, and a year later attended a course of lectures in the medical department of the University of Louisville, from which institution he subsequently graduated in 1861. He went to Vienna, Ills., afterward to Boydsville, Tenn., to practice, but at the breaking out of the war he entered Company H. Fifth Tennessee Infantry Confederate states army and served as a private twelve months; he was then given the position of assistant surgeon and served in this capacity until January 1864, when he was discharged for disability. Upon returning home he resumed practice, locating successively in Marshall, Graves and McCracken counties. At Paducah he engaged in wholesale grocery business with Smith, Bondurant & Co. In 1875 he removed to Benton, where he again began the practice of medicine with eminent success. He continued at this place until 1887, when he sold his possessions here and moved to and located in Dana, Ind., where he now lives and is engaged in the drug business with unusual success.

On January 22nd 1865 he was married to Miss Endora Miller, a charming young woman of Marshall county, who has ever been a faithful and loving wife until the present. Three children are the result of the union, James D. Eliza C. and Mattie E. James D. married Miss Maggie Hobson at Wingo, Graves county, Ky., but is now a real estate speculator and hardware merchant at Dana, Ind. Miss Eliza was married to Homer D Davis, of Evansville, Indiana, who is now a partner in the hardware business with his brother-in-law, J. D. Smith, at Dana, Ind. Miss Mattie is an intelligent and fascinating young woman, who will soon graduate in her literary studies and in music. The doctor and his family are prominent in the Methodist church, where their influence is exerted for the cause of christianity and good morals. The doctor is known to nearly everybody in the county. His friends here are legion. He and his family are back to Kentucky on a visit, and we are not putting it too strong to say they are being received in a right royal style by their numerous friends.

The Local Option Fence Law.

The legislature will pass a general law giving the people of any county in the state the right to vote on the question of whether or not the people shall be compelled to keep up their stock. The law will allow the people in a county to vote once in five years on the proposition of fence or no fence. If the no fence side carries then everybody will be compelled to keep up their stock. Of course the people can keep their farms fenced if they wish, but the stock will be required to be kept up in order that those who do not wish to keep their farms fenced can make their crops. This law will operate in about the same way that the local option law is now operated. If the people want it they can make it, and when tired of it they can repeal it. We, in advance, are of the opinion that such a law will not work very satisfactorily in this county. There is now no telling what kind of laws this present legislature will enact before it adjourns.

CHILDREN.

Are Families Happiest With or Without Children.

In our travels over the country we have made many acquaintances and made much observation, concerning the happiness of the people and the causes of it, and in all of our experience with them we have found that there is more happiness and pleasure in families with children than without them. Families in the dirty hovel, in the homes of the well to do, and in the gilded palaces, are unhappy without the crying babe, the joyous girl or the hopeful boy. With but few exceptions since the world began, the happy family was the family where there were children, and without them hope, ambition and wealth but seldom come. With no children, home is a boarding house, and a place where ghosts visit. With no children the world is a farce, the state a bugbear, the church an iceberg and society unsatisfactory. But few men ever climb many steps up the ladder of fame where their homes are not made cheerful by the romping noise of happy school children. Hundreds of the most eminent men the world ever produced away along down the road of old age, expressed themselves more unhappy because of no children to cheer and comfort them in their declining years. It is God's own way to populate the world and by so doing great states and constitutions are required to aid, assist and strengthen society. It is the opinion of learned writers on the subject that one married couple in 10,000 is happy without children. This puts it very strong, but in our opinion not too strong. History in all ages and in all countries teach that those who have children are happier than those who do not. As an illustration, those who are childless are all the time wanting children in order to fill their cup full of happiness and bliss.

Washington Letter.

Our Regular Correspondent Has Much to Say to Our Readers.

THE PRESIDENT AND BLAINE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The administration having by means not altogether satisfactory to those who place American patriotism above the political aggrandizement of any one man, secured a satisfactory settlement of the Chilean imbroglio, it is now the turn of the people, represented by the democrats in the house of representatives, to obtain a satisfactory settlement with the administration. The mere suspicion that Mr Harrison and Mr Blaine have dared not bring the country unnecessarily to the very verge of war in their rivalry for the republican presidential nomination, is of itself disgraceful to the party which they both represent.

It has not yet been determined what, if any action will be taken by the house. There is a strong feeling in favor of the house committee on foreign affairs making an investigation of the matter, in order to ascertain whether there is any real ground for the suspicion so generally entertained, that the sending of the ultimatum to Chili was an unnecessary bit of buncombe to boom Mr Benjamin Harrison. Should the committee decide to call upon Mr Blaine for his testimony, some interesting developments may be expected. It may be, however, that shame for the position which the result of such an investigation might place the United States in before the nations of the world, will prevent the investigation being officially made.

Mr Blaine and Senor Montt, the Chilean minister, "do not speak as they pass by," owing to Montt having made statements seriously reflecting upon the veracity of Mr Blaine. It will not be surprising if Senor Montt shall conclude that he doesn't care to remain in Washington. Mr Egan may also come home from Chili before long. Mr Harrison has invited Montt to the diplomatic dinner to be given Tuesday.

Representative Sherman Hoar's resolution, providing for an investigation of the "sweating system" of tenement house labor, will be favorably reported from the committee on manufactures, and it is almost certain to pass the house. Everybody is interested in ascertaining whether the charges that clothing and other articles of general use, are manufactured in tenement houses in the large cities which are reeking with pestilential diseases, and it is believed that an investigation will do it.

The international American banking scheme, which was before the last congress, is in the ring again, a bill having been introduced for the incorporation of such a bank, with a capital of $5,000,000, which may be increased to $25,000,000. The incorporators named are nearly all well-known millionaires.

As far as it may be done by the ways and means committee, the tariff policy of the house has been agreed upon, the democrats of that committee having decided by a vote of seven to three that it would report a series of separate tariff bills, instead of one general bill. There are still a number of prominent and influential members of the house who believe that this matter should be discussed in caucus before being finally decided. There is to be a caucus next Friday night, but as that was called especially to discuss the silver question, it is not probable that it will take up anything else, although something may be said about the feasibility of the caucus electing a "steering" committee of 15, which shall have entire charge of everything and settle just what shall be done and what shall be left undone at the present session. Much can be said both for and against this last idea.

Representatives of the deep waterway convention recently held at Detroit, made arguments before a joint session of the senate committee on commerce and the house committee on rivers and harbors, Saturday, in favor of the construction of a great waterway from Duluth to the sea, via the great lakes and the Erie canal. The estimated cost of the work is $3,394,000, and the time to complete it from four to six years.

The house committee on the election of president and vice-president, has decided to favorably report a bill providing a constitution for the election of United States senators by the people.

The house judiciary committee has decided that Representative Watson's resolution, for the investigation of the Pinkerton detective agencies, would infringe the rights of the several states, consequently it will be unfavorably reported. The alliance members say they will make a fight for the resolution on the floor of the house.

The democrats of the house will probably adopt the new rules early this week, nearly all of last week having been devoted to debate on them and amendments offered thereto. The caucus Saturday night after an explanation from Speaker Crisp endorsed the rules as reported from the committee.

A Changed Town.

Business Prospects for Benton This Year Very Flattering.

THAT $2.00 POLL-TAX AGAIN.

Prospects are, at present, very flattering for business at this place, during the present year. Many new buildings are ready to go up as soon as spring opens. Several manufacturing establishments are the talk of the hour, and ere the ides of March come and go, the saw and the hammer will be heard in all points of the town. A new flouring mill will certainly go up, which will be of great value to the business interests of the town. A new hardware store is now being opened up, which will be a new business of much value. Business as well as population has more than doubled in the past eighteen months. There is not a merchant in town but who is doing a good business and increasing his stock. New energy and enterprise is being born in every man's bosom, and new efforts are being made to bring the county trade here. Farmers that once went away from home to buy their supplies are now coming to Benton where they can buy them as cheap if not cheaper than other places. The prejudice that once existed among the people in the country against the town is now very rapidly being removed and all parties are pulling together for the common good of all. The men in town are doing all they can to assist their country friends in every way possible, while the farmers are trying to assist and build up their county town. The many obstacles that were once in the way of the prosperity of our town and county are now fast disappearing. The corporate limits of the town will soon be extended to take in North Benton and all the territory belonging to the town proper. As soon as spring opens new streets will be made and much valuable work done in repairing and fixing up the old ones. In one year from today Benton will be a nice little county seat town of 1000 inhabitants with all the advantages in location, health and business necessary to make it a desirable place to live. Our school building is now new, large and well equipped with good teachers and every convenience necessary to build up a first class educational institution, where all the young men and women of the county can secure for themselves a first class education. The wheel of prosperity is now beginning to move and with everybody's shoulder to it, great results can be come to our people during the year 1892. Let us work.

18 Pounds of Blood.
Is about the quantity nature allows to an adult person. It is of the utmost importance that the blood should be kept as pure as possible. By its remarkable cures of scrofula, salt rheum, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven its claim to be the best blood purifier.

For a general family cathartic we cordently recommend Hood's Pills. They should be in every home medicine chest.

Our Representatives.
Marshall county has been represented in the house of representatives since 1850 by the following men viz: Robt O Morgan, 1851-53; James Brien, 1853-55, 1865-67; Wiley Waller, 1855-57, 1863-65; Thomas L Goheen, sr., 1859-61; Jesse C Gilbert, 1861-63, expelled "because connected with the confederate army" December 21, 1861; and succeeded by Wiley Waller, 1862-63; Basil Holland, 1867-69. From Marshall and Calloway, Alfred Johnston, 1845, 1846 and 1847; W M Reed, J W Dywens, W C Holland, W J Stone, W M Reed, J J Nall and J C Glenn. Alfred Johnston, Jesse C Gilbert and James Brien also represented this county in the senate. In this list we have some of as true and patriotic men as ever represented any county in the state. Nearly everyone of them filled many other important trusts besides this, and those who are dead are kindly remembered by the living until this day, while those who are living have many true and ardent followers who delight to honor them.

We Don't Blame Calloway for Kicking.

The Murray Ledger and Cadiz Telephone are spitting each other over the eyes about the location of the Third Judicial District. Christian and Trigg want to embrace Calloway county, but Calloway don't want their republican arms about her, and refuse to embrace. It's altogether their fight, but if we were Calloway we would as leave be between the devil and the deep blue sea as to be tacked on to the tail end of Christian and Trigg counties. If Marshall were located beyond the rivers, we would have no objections to be in a district with either one of the counties named, but as it is, we would fight such a ridiculous coalition until hades froze over. Calloway, Marshall and McCracken counties will do.

Children Enjoy

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative and if the father or mother be constive or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

The trouble between Blaine and Harrison on the Chilean-war question is likely to bring about a disturbance in the cabinet to such an extent that Mr. Blaine will leave it.

the people. There is no tax oppression worse than that brought about by a poll-tax. The present legislature is beginning to look at this question in its proper light. Put on only $1 poll, but tax the property sufficient to pay the expenses of the county and then the proper way of taxation will begin. Call the court together and put poll-tax at $1.50 and then there will be no trouble ahead. Unless such is done the recent action of the court will be looked upon as contrary to law and without precedents and oppressively arbitrary. If it is not done much trouble and expense may grow out of it, besides the sheriff may fail to collect it.

MR. BLAINE NOT IN IT.

The long-promised letter of Mr. Blaine has come at last. It is short, sensible and to the purpose. He bows himself gracefully out of the presidential arena, very properly gives no reason for his conclusion to withhold the use of his name from the nominating convention, and offers some timely advice to his political associates. In all this Mr. Blaine is very wise. The presidency could add nothing to his fame, and might shorten his length of days. It could only bring him care and toil, not reputation or happiness. He can now let the wild winds rattle as they will, leaving to Mr. Harrison the not ungrateful task of keeping the world in order and taking care of our bleeding country.

THE K. P. A.

The executive committee on arrangements might arrange a trip for the Kentucky Press association to Washington City at its meeting in Lexington on May 10th. A trip of this kind would doubtless meet the hearty approbation of the press of the state, besides it would be an interesting trip, especially to the rural roosters of the press. Congress and the Kentucky legislature will both be in session at that time and the press of the state can visit both of these distinguished bodies on the same trip. This will be a year when politics will be red-hot from beginning to end, and it would be well for the editors to visit the fountain, where they can draw inspiration enough to last until after the November election. The weather will be just a little too cold to visit the lakes, but it will be the proper time of year to visit the finest city in the world. We hope a trip of this kind will be arranged, and if so, the editor of the Tribune can be counted one full scholar from jump to finish. Let's go to Washington by all means.

THE RACE FOR CONGRESS.

The fight for a seat in the next congress of the United States from the First district of Kentucky will soon begin in earnest. The waters for sometime have been smooth and without a ripple, but it can't be long until they will begin to boil. The race will soon be made up, and when it is, will contain about three candidates. Hon. W. J. Stone the present incumbent will of course stand for re-election and will make the race as warm as possible for his opposers. Hon. James Garnett, of Trigg county, has on many occasions, manifested his willingness to step upon the race track, and compete with any and all, for the democratic nomination, but of recent he has not been heard from on the subject, and at present his candidacy is not an assured fact. Judge W. W. Robertson, of Mayfield, was in town last Friday and looked and talked more like a candidate than anyone we have met. He did not in so many words say he was a candidate, but he came as near it as he possibly could without saying it. It is our opinion he will, at no distant day, enter the race, and when he does he will enter to win, for he is a strong, practical business man, and never undertakes to do a thing without exerting his fullest strength. In the first place, he hails from a powerful democratic county, backed by a strong following in Hickman, Fulton, Carlisle and Ballard counties, besides he has numerous friends in Calloway, McCracken and Marshall, and it goes without saying he can enter the congressional convention with good strength. Congressman Stone has a strong following, as well as Garnett, and we may expect an early and exciting race. Everything is now ready for the fight to begin. No one need apply unless his record is straight as a democratic voter.

$2.44 A WORD.

No wonder the dispatches from Chili have been meager. The supposed possibility of a war with Chili has induced the Western Union Telegraph company to lower its rates to that country. Heretofore the regular rate has been $2.44 per word. Notice has been given that the rate hereafter will be $1.61 per word.

Talking by wire to the Chilian country was an expensive business. Secretary Blaine's ultimatum addressed to Minister Egan contained over 1,000 words, and consequently cost near $2,500. The Chilian minister at Washington received a 500-word cipher from Chili, which must have cost $1,200, and which, had it been sent in other than cipher form, would have cost ten times that amount. The line from here to Chili is almost in a direct line. The wires are used to Galveston, where the gulf cable to Vera Cruz, Mexico, is grounded. From Vera Cruz the wires extend directly across Mexico to the Pacific ocean, and thence by cable to Santiago via Panama.

Oh, that $2 poll-tax.

Don't delay, but give us the Fiscal court.

We saw in one of our exchanges last week that senators and representatives did not all subscribe for the papers in the counties they represented, and we rushed to our mailing list and to our horror found that neither Ogilvie nor Glenn has the Tribune sent to them at Frankfort.

The trial of Johnnie Estes for the murder of Otis Karnes has been continued in the Henry county, Tennessee, circuit court until its next regular term. The court was so crowded with business on the criminal docket that many cases were necessarily postponed until its next term. This case will be first on the docket for the next term.

We notice a lengthy and well written article in the Paueah News by Judge W. G. Bullitt, on the subject of free coinage of silver. We like his argument in some respects, but his conclusion, at this time, is wrong. He insists that democrats all over the country should attend the conventions and do all in their power to make the silver question one of the main issues in the coming campaign. This is wherein we believe him occupying a wrong position. The democratic party should make the fight against the tariff and republican extravagance.

H. M. Heath, our worthy county attorney, showed us a letter from W. J. Hendrix, attorney general, in which he says that the county court has no power to make poll-tax over the limit fixed in the constitution. This is in accordance with the opinion expressed time and again in these columns on the subject. Now the county judge's duty is so plain that he will hardly delay any time in calling the magistrates together in order that they may remedy their mistake and place the poll-tax within the limits fixed by the highest law in the land. We hope to see the court re-assemble and their duty performed in this respect in time that the tax-books may be made out in such a way that there will be no trouble in collecting the tax.

ALTO BASS

Has a Few Words to Say to Our A'abandon Editor.

THE USE OF FOREIGN WORDS.

Murray, Ky., Feb. 8.—I came across a copy of the Tribune a few days ago and was rather surprised to note the great improvement that has been made in your sheet in the past few months. It shows marked improvement in all its details, and especially was I struck with the "A'abandon" column. I should not have known what the object and intention of the column was, nor would I have even known the meaning of the word "A'abandon" if you had not, with admirable forethought, explained the meaning for the benefit of the 49,000 readers of your valuable paper.

All, thinks I, here is an editor that will fill a long-felt want. Instead of allowing his dear readers to gaze around in doubt and uncertainty as to the meaning of any Latin or Greek words he may choose to spring on us, he kindly furnishes us the meaning thereof. I was still lost in admiration at your unique style, when as I continued to read, I ran up against another word that caused my countenance to fall, and once more I was left to flounder around, and to finally guess at its meaning. Oh why did you not continue in path of originality you had seemingly marked out and thus create a name for yourself among those whom future generations will rise up and call blessed.

Let me suggest a plan that I think would meet the approbation of every reader of your paper. How would it do to fix up a marginal column, and affix the meaning of all words that are not strictly English, you know; kinder number the words as you use them, and then the gentle reader could turn to the marginal column and "there you are." Do you catch on to my meaning, my dear James? Do you not discover in the distance the honor and glory that would surround you, were you to be the first to spring this valuable invention on an unsuspecting public?

I merely throw out these few hints; you can act on them or not, as you see proper. Should you do so, and in after years be crowned with success and honor, I would claim no reward. Should you at any time stand in need of suggestions or advice as to the best way of running your paper, don't hesitate to call on me. I am chock full of suggestions as to the proper and successful way of running everybody's business (except my own) and you will find me at all times ready and willing to dispose of them. I know nothing whatever about the newspaper business, but this would not in the least hinder me from giving you valuable advice.

Hoping my ideas may meet your approval, I subscribe my name not necessarily for publication but merely as an evidence of good faith.

ARNETTSVILLE.

I come again this week, but in an interrogative way.

My neighbor says (while discussing the high crimes that have been committed in Marshall county) that Hamilton, for the killing of McNabb, was sentenced to life imprisonment, which was afterwards reduced by the governor to ten years. I say he is mistaken; and to settle the dispute desire you to answer correctly what the sentence was, and whether or not Hamilton is still in prison, if alive? The biography of our old citizens, which you are giving to the public, are interesting. For one, let me suggest our friend and fellow-citizen, Esq. W. M. Reeder.

A history of him would be quite interesting to the public.

CRANK.

Hamilton was sentenced to be hung, but the governor commuted the sentence to ten years in prison. Hamilton served his time, and is now said to be living in Tennessee.—Ed

A L'ABANDON.

You may rest upon this as an unfeeling truth, that there neither is, nor ever was, any person remarkably ungrateful, who was not insufferably proud; nor any one proud who was not equally ungrateful.

Ingratitude is too base to return a kindness, and too proud to regard it—much like the tops of mountains; lofty, yet barren, which produce nothing which yield nothing, which feed nobody, which clothe nobody, yet are high and stately and look down upon all the world about them.

It was ingratitude that put the poniard into Brutus' hand, but it was want of compassion which thrust it into Caesar's heart. Friendship consists properly in mutual offices and a generous strife in alternate acts of kindness. But he who does a kindness to an ungrateful person sets his seal to a flint and sows his seed upon the sand; upon the former he makes no impression, and from the latter finds no production.

The following lines are dedicated to the young man who hung on the front grate all summer, and is not yet married:

The front grate now takes a rest,
As I see it in the shell;
While the poet's pen grasps about
And the coal bill jumps itself.

Two or three of the young men, whose names appeared in this column a few weeks since, have received proposals from matrimonial inclined fair damsels, who desire to take advantage of leap year. At present we are not prepared to say whether they will accept or not. Should they conclude to do so, due notice will be given.

English women have found a way of utilizing pieces of brown and white paper, and a very good idea it is, too. All the odd bits of paper and old envelopes are torn into bits and placed in an old pillow-case until a sufficient quantity is obtained, then the mass is used to stuff a sofa pillow. Such pillows are soft and cool in summer. It must be remembered that on no account would it be well to use newspapers, for the printer's ink gives out a disagreeable odor not at all to one's liking. However, girls, you may use the few little love notes, in this way, after your fellow has gone back on you.

A woman with a proper regard for her "crowning glory" waves her hair all over the front and sides of her head. Then she braids it from the middle, back of her head, and tying a pretty fresh ribbon around the braid, she doubles it up in under until it hugs the back of her head and neck. Then she sticks several daggers, arrows and several other kinds of fancy pins through it, and then, arranging her bang becomingly, she sticks in two or three more fancy pins near the top of her head and sallies forth from her dressing room happy in the thought that she has done her own hair dressing right up in the latest style.

INSANITY.

Miss Mitchell's Lawyer Enters a Plea of Present Insanity.

A VERY AUDACIOUS MURDER.

The terrible murder which was committed at Memphis last week by Miss Alice Mitchell, is the subject of conversation and claims much of the space of the press of the country. Miss Mitchell and Miss J. Hanson, the young lady who was in company with her at the time of the murder, have been indicted for murder in the first degree. The young women were arraigned Monday in the criminal court. Col. Gantt, attorney for Miss Mitchell, entered a plea of present insanity, and Mr. Hamilton Paterson, attorney for Miss Hanson, entered a plea of not guilty, after which the prisoners were returned to jail. The girls seem to realize the seriousness of the charge against them. The Memphis Appeal Avouches as, of the plea of present insanity:

"Whether or not the jury which will be appointed to inquire into the present condition of Alice Mitchell's mind finds that she is insane, she will have to stand trial for murder before released and turned out upon the community.

The course that Alice Mitchell's case will now take under the statutes is this: Within a day or two, or within a reasonable convenient time, her counsel, Messrs. Gantt and Wright, will file the plea in writing, alleged in substance that the defendant, Alice Mitchell, is at present of unsound mind and is therefore not in condition to go to trial on the charge of murder. The judge, Judge Duboise will set a day for the trial on this plea, the trial to be before a jury. The defendant has the right of a confession to the state lunatic asylum, there to be confined and not removed until the superintendent of the asylum issues his certificate that she has recovered and is of sound mind. Then she would be carried back to jail and put on trial under indictment for murder in the same manner as though she had never been adjudged a lunatic. Under the plea of present insanity the defense does not necessarily undertake to show that the defendant was insane at the time of the killing, but that subsequent to the killing she was mentally incapacitated to enter upon trial, and in order to do this the defense would possibly introduce the circumstances of the killing in support of the insanity plea. On trial for murder the defense might undertake to show insanity at the time of the killing, and to do so might introduce circumstances prior and subsequent to the deed, with certain limitations set forth in opinions and decisions familiar to practitioners. The plea of present insanity as entered by the counsel for Alice Mitchell yesterday does not admit or deny the commission of the crime with which she is charged but sets up that at the present time she is mentally incapable to go to trial on the charge.

Consumption Cured.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. (15-23t) W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Dr Van Stillely has moved into his new house. It is a beauty, built entirely modern and is quite an ornament to that part of town. The doctor is to be congratulated that he should so early in life possess a new residence, a beautiful young wife and baby, and enjoy a good practice in his profession. Nothing now seems to stand in the way of his success.
Vitiated and bad blood often lead to serious diseases. A good plan is to take some blood medicine at intervals of four or six weeks. The best is Lightning Blood Elixir. It is a purely vegetable compound. D. O. Branson, of Davis Station, S. C., says: "I had some kind of skin disease for twenty years. I paid out $500 to the best physicians of the south, and found no relief. My skin was raw and itching all the time. My merchant insisted that I should try Lightning Blood Elixir. I had taken so many patent medicines that I had no faith, but thought I would try it, and now I can honestly say that one bottle of Lightning Blood Elixir cured me sound and well." All druggists sell it, and will tell you all about it.

Mrs Margaret Nimmo, wife of W R Nimmo, Esq, of Briensburg, died at her home Saturday night, after a lingering illness of several years. She has been an invalid for many years, during which time she endured much suffering all of which she bore with patience and christian fortitude. We have known the good woman from our boyhood and know her to be a devoted wife, a kind mother and an obliging neighbor. While her death has been expected for a long time, yet her sorrowing husband, who has been so tender and kind and faithful to her in all the long years of her affliction, has the sympathy of neighbors and friends. She was a member of the christian church and leaves a husband and two boys to mourn her death.

Another New Store.
For many years a hardware store has been needed in this town, but never to the extent that it has been since the town began its present rapid growth. This long felt want is now supplied. Mr D B Ferguson, a gentleman of rare business sagacity, and capital, is now opening up a first class hardware store in the new Reed building, on the corner, west of court square. The farmers and people generally have always needed and wanted a place where they could buy any article in the hardware line, without going to Paducah or elsewhere after it. Now they have it; and it is quite convenient too, to come to town and find in "Ferguson's Hardware Store" any thing you want in the line of stoves, plows, hames, chains, spades, and shovels, barbed wire, and thousands of other articles that could not heretofore be found here. Besides there can be found a large stock of saddles, harness &c. Every man in the county who comes to town would do well to visit Ferguson's Hardware Store.

On the first Monday in March '92 about 1 o'clock p. m., at the court house door in Benton, I will offer at public sale, and sell to the highest bidder, all my farm lying north of the P T & A Railroad, consisting of 150 acres more or less. This is one of the finest stock farms in the county, lying in the edge of the town of Benton and between the railroad and Clark's river. About 65 or 70 acres in fine state of cultivation, with plenty of rail timber and fine wood on the balance.
I am giving my attention to other business now and wish to sell my farm. Terms of sale as follows: One-half cash, balance on six and twelve months time with 6 per cent interest from date of sale.

OUT OF SIGHT.

We stopped before the jeweler's; And there in beauty bright, A lovely bracelet was displayed, She said 'twas 'out of sight.'

ODDEY'S ODDITIES.

In our opinion a pretty girl is a subject worth pressing. What a young man who has a best girl wants is to hold his own.

"So dark, and yet so light," as the man said when he looked at his new ton of coal.

The grip is the only thing that can make some tough people feel meaner than they really are.

We heard of a woman the other day who lighted the fire with kerosene; she left a husband and one child.

No matter if it is leap year, you girls have got no business proposing unless you can support a husband.

You can't prove anything about a physician's smoking habits by the number of cigarette cases he has on hand.

The alleged asafetida cure for the grip has not made a popular hit. On the contrary, it is in decidedly bad odor.

It is easy for a girl to fall in love with a worthless fellow, says an exchange, but when she has to support him by taking in washing—ah, there's the rub.

We sympathize with some women, for no person has more trouble to make both ends meet than she who tries to wear a corset two sizes too small for her.

It is not necessary to say that the colored man who claims to have attended more than 50 dances since October, has had about 400 stitches taken in him and still says that a $1 razor is as trenchant as a $2 one.

A man in Texas the other day who complained of being overheated, effected a permanent cure by drinking six glasses of ice-water without the aid of a physician. When the coroner came he was cool.

The question has been asked, "is the unmarried man a bachelor from choice?" Certainly he is. But it is an open question as to whether it is from his choice or some maiden's.

Young man, this is leap year, but if you will propose, anyhow, don't say "Do you love me?" Use the expression "Can you support me?" This is the very latest, and it is certainly more to the point.

The woman who tied her husband's hands and feet the other day just for fun, and went through his pockets for a certain billet doux, found it. His physicians tell him that his face won't be badly scarred, though he may remain permanently bald.

A Good Bear Story. "Speaking about bears," said Squire Garvin last evening, as he settled himself in a comfortable chair at the police station, "speak about bears, I think I had an adventure with one not long ago that beats the record."

"I was hunting around Shell lake, over in Arkansas, one morning. I was in a dugout, and had my gun and a little dog. The bear I have reference to made its appearance on the shore, and I shot him. When I landed, I heard a noise over in the brush, and thinking there might be another bear there, I determined to start in to investigate. The bear I had shot lay lifeless, to all appearances, but I had my suspicions about him, knowing the treacherous habits of the varmint, and before I went away I tied the chain of the boat around his neck and left the little dog to watch. I had not gone far in the brush before I heard the dog barking, and hurrying back, what was my surprise to see the bear climbing a tree pulling the boat up after him, with the dog sitting in the stern thereof and barking for dear life. The sight almost paralyzed me for a moment, but I soon recovered and fired. The bear sprang from the tree, jerking the boat containing the dog after him, and he pulled out for the other side. I had to stop to reload, and by the time I was ready to shoot again the animal was out of range. I ran around to the other side of the lake, expecting to catch him when he landed, but he was too sharp for me. He only stopped long enough to let the dog out of the boat, when he pulled out again before I got in range, and when he got in the middle of the lake he climbed into the boat himself, and sat on his haunches looking at me. I never recovered bear or boat; but there are stories afloat among the inhabitants of the country in the neighborhood of Shell lake, of a bear being seen frequently gliding gracefully up and down the lake in a dugout. I now claim that bear and dugout.—Appeal-Avalanche.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Thurmond, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Lesley, farmer and stockman, of the same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine made. It feels like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on his life. Only 50c a bottle, at J. R. Lemon's Drug Store, 2

The Growth of Christianity. If we sum up the encouragement to hope, founded on the success of christian work, the figures are as follows:

Three centuries after Christ there were 5,000,000 christians. Eight centuries after Christ there were 30,000,000 christians. Ten centuries after Christ there were 50,000,000 christians. Fifteen centuries after Christ there were 100,000,000 christians. Eighteen centuries after Christ there were 174,000,000 christians. Now there are 450,000,000 christians.

The following of the three religions, Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism, all combined, are less in number than the christians alone. Including the latest division of Africa among the European powers, about four-fifths of the land of the world is under christian control.

BEN D. BELL, Druggist of Lexington, Ky., says that Dr. Hale's Household Remedies (consisting of Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure, Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, and Dr. Hale's Household Tea) are the best sellers he has ever had in his store. This is owing to the great merit of these popular remedies. They invariably give great satisfaction, save many doctors' bills and work wonderful cures. Everybody should use them. 25 and 50c sizes at Lemon's.

"Your Gal or Blood." A widower living in Murray, not long since became violently involved in a love affair with Miss Ida Mathews, a daughter of Elder T. M. Mathews, who was formerly pastor of the Christian church at this place, and upon the eve of Eld. Mathews' departure for his old home in Indiana, the widower, whose name was Derington, drove out to the residence of Elder Mathews, on Saturday morning, to take charge of his future wife, but he was met by his expected father-in-law, who warned him not to enter his home, or he would have trouble. Derington told him he would have "his daughter or blood." Mathews informed him he would have to put up with blood, for his daughter he could not get except over her father's dead body. The preacher is a determined man and meant what he said, so much so that Derington quietly stole away and let the girl go to Indiana with her papa.

HE MEANT WELL.

Det His Efforts to Save the Young Man Were Wasted. The justice of the peace had just finished the ceremony which made two young people, whose whole appearance was unmistakably rural, man and wife, when a middle-aged man appeared on the scene. The bride murmured "Pastor" and then cast her glance toward the floor. The young man shifted his weight from one foot to the other, and exclaimed, in a way that would have seemed quite hearty if his voice had not faltered so: "Evenin' to ye, neighbor; evenin'!" By this time the girl had recovered her balance, and smoothing a lock of reddish hair from her temple with the palm of her hand, she said: "I'd like fur to know what brings you all these here miles, interferin' with other folk when the Lord knows there's nuff holdin' an' things to do to keep any man busy, if he's got ord'n'ry ambition." Without noticing her comment the old man turned to the bridegroom and said: "Um too late, ain't it?" "If you mean that we're married, there ain't no doubt but what ye air," replied the youth, who was also recovering firmness. "An' I mus' say," he went on with a smile at his own sense, "as how we ain't got you to thank for help much, neither." Her father pulled at his untrimmed, grizzled beard, and looking steadily at the sky through the open door on his right, said slowly and in a monotone: "Jim Swithers, I bin a neighbor o' yours'n ever sence you was born, ain't it?" "Yes, ye have." "An' I allus spoke of ye as a likely young man. Your father and me was the best kind of fren's, an' I allus acted as if I had your welfare at heart. Lended ye money and every thing, didn't I?" "Yes." "An' I done my best to keep ye from marryin' this gal, didn't I?" "You did, sure." "Why?" "Cause I knowed her. I brung her up, an' it was all me and her mother and the rest of the family could do to manage her." The girl tossed her head and sniffed. "An' I tell you," the old man went on, "that without no one to help you but yourself, you've got a mighty big contract on your hands. I'd uv saved you if I could, and now, things bein' as they air, I'll stand by you best I kin." He extended his hand to the young man, and after the grim semblance of congratulations the party passed down the street toward the depot.—N. Y. Sun

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

Sleeplessness Cured. IY I am glad to testify that I used Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic with the best success for sleeplessness, and believe that it is a really great relief for suffering humanity. E. FRANK, Pastor, Keylerton, P. O., Pa. WILSON, Mo., Oct. 14, '90. About five years ago I became afflicted, through excessive smoking, with a nervous stomach trouble (dyspepsia). My health broke down completely. I lost my appetite, and in consequence became very weak; I could not sleep at all, and nervous sufferings and symptoms were unnumbered. Four doctors, all known dyspepsia remedies and also electricity afforded me no relief. As a last resort, just a year ago, I ordered some of Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic. The second dose relieved my pains, and after taking only a few bottles I am entirely cured. I testify that Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic has proven not only a great and beneficial remedy, but also a strictly natural one. JOHN ROEMER.

Dyspepsia

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before me I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 125 pounds, suffering burning heat in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the first bottle I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." N. B.
