COOLIDGE TO BE RED CROSS RELIEF HEAD

AL SMITH, JOHN W. DAVIS ALSO NAMED BY HOOVER TO LEAD DRIVE

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—President Hoover today moved to bolster the campaign of the Red Cross for $10,000,000 for drought relief.

He appointed a committee of citizens headed by Calvin Coolidge and Alfred E. Smith. His announcement came as Congress prepared to go ahead against his advice with the appropriation of $25,000,000 of Federal funds for the Red Cross.

Mr. Hoover made no reference to the movement of Congress which is sponsored by the Democratic leaders, but in his request to the citizens to serve he said:

"We are faced with a national emergency. The American way of meeting such a relief problem has been through voluntary effort. It is essential that we should maintain the sound American tradition and spirit of voluntary aid in such emergency and should not undermine that spirit which has made our Red Cross the outstanding guardian of our people in time of disaster."

Reed Wants Delay
Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, tomorrow will ask the Senate to defer consideration of the relief appropriation until February 9 to permit the Red Cross to complete its campaign.

However, it was generally conceded tonight that the Federal fund proposal sponsored by Democratic Leader Robinson and Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, would be overwhelmingly approved by the Senate and the post ponement rejected. Likewise, it was indicated that House leaders believe the proposition or some compromise will go through that branch.

Former Fulton Woman Passes

Mrs. T. R. Shelton, known to a host of Fulton friends as Miss Batts Hill, passed away at her home near Jackson, Tenn., Saturday afternoon January 17.

Mrs. Shelton was reared here, her father having moved his family to this place when she was quite young. Her childhood and girlhood were spent in this city and she endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact. Her father, a Presbyterian minister, was highly educated and was a typical gentleman of the Old South. Her mother, Mrs. Jennie K. Hill, came from a Virginia family of culture and refinement. The Hill home was a Christian home, where each member worshiped and tithed.

Reared in environments of that kind, Mrs. Shelton was an embodiment of all that it represented. Until broken in health she was bright and cheery and optimism predominated her life. She lived close to the little poem:

"Just being happy
Is a fine thing to do;
And just being happy
Is braver work and true."

Mrs. Shelton survived by three sisters, Mrs. Katie McPherson of Rocky Mount, N. C., Mrs. J. B. McRee of Asheville, N. C., and Mrs. Daisy Zimyaner of Memphis, Tenn.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon from the Griffin funeral home in Jackson, Tenn. The family and friends of the deceased have the sympathy of many Fulton friends.

A. Friend.

Big Names on Ganster Books

U. S. CONGRESSMAN AND OFFICIALS OF CHICAGO LINKED TO GRAFT BY RECORDS

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A raid which authorities term one of the most important ever made against organized gangdom in Chicago was executed early today on the Rex Hotel police revealed this afternoon. Officers asserted that "astounding" evidence of graft had been seized.

The raid was staged by trusted detectives working for the special grand jury now engaged in investigating alleged collusion between the police department and the underworld. The hotel has long been identified with vice and liquor activities of the Capone gang. It is operated by Dennis Cooney and police said, has never before been molested.

Ledgers Seized
Numerous books and ledgers, said to show operations and earnings, together with records of payments to policemen, politicians and public officials are reported to have fallen into the raiders' hands. They are to be taken before the grand jury tomorrow, constituting, according to the officers, "the most complete gathering of records ever looked upon by a Chicago investigating body."

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and Charles E. Lounsbury, in charge of collecting evidence for the jury, instigated the raid and are responsible for the statements about its importance.

The Herald and Examiner said that the implications of the records reach into every branch of government in Cook County and "into the Congress of the United States, itself." It quotes the prosecutors as saying:

"We found names on the pay off list that we don't even dare to talk about yet."

FULTON HAS MASTER FARMER, HOMEMAKER

Mrs. Edward C. Ray
Mayfield, Ky.

Mrs. Lydia S. Lynch
Lexington, Ky.

Mrs. P. M. Reese
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Mrs. S. C. McConnell
Danville, Ky.

Mrs. Morgan Davidson
Fulton, Ky.

THESE five women, representing the rural homemakers of Kentucky, will receive the title of Master Farmer Homemaker conferred annually by THE FARMER'S WIFE, the national farm women's magazine, St. Paul, Minn., with the co-operation of the home economics extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

DISTINCTION RARE AMONG STATES HAVING ANNUAL SELECTION

Fulton County stepped into the lead today as the only county in Kentucky from which both a Master Farmer and a Master Homemaker were selected. A few weeks ago C. L. Drysdale of the Palestine community was chosen as one of the eight Master Farmers of the State, and yesterday it was announced that Mrs. Morgan Davidson also of the Palestine community and a close neighbor of Mr. Drysdale, had been selected as one of the five Master Homemakers of Kentucky. This double distinction is rare in the States which select Master Farmers and Homemakers each year.

Mrs. Davidson and her husband reside on the old Davidson homestead on the Middle Road. This place has been in the family four generations. She was Mary Edna Nugent, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Nugent, two of the oldest residents of the Palestine community, who will celebrate their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary Thursday. She was reared in the community and attended the county school. She took the entrance examination of the Kentucky State College and was one of two awarded scholarships offered. She attended the college, which since has become the University of Kentucky, for two years, leaving to marry Mr. Davidson and settle on the farm.

Mrs. Davidson's hobbies, besides looking after her family and home, are reading and raising turkeys. She has been active in community activities and is president of the Palestine Homemakers Club, a teacher in the Palestine Woman's Bible Class, an officer in the Missionary Society and a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

This is the fourth year that Master Homemakers have been selected in Kentucky, but the first time Fulton County has had one, as it was the first time the county had had a Master Farmer. It is the fourth year the county has had a farm agent and the third year it has had a home agent.

FIVE GET $400 IN HOLDUP OF MURRAY GROCERY

WOMAN DRIVER AIDS IN GET-AWAY AS MEMBERS OF FIRM FORCED TO KNEEL

Murray, Ky., Jan. 18.—Catus Butterworth and Tommie Fain of the Fain & Butterworth Grocery, Maple and Fifth street, were held up and robbed of $400 in money and $100 in checks late Saturday evening by two men who made their get-away in a small green automobile that was parked at the back door of the grocery. It was reported a woman was driving the car. Sheriff C. W. Drinkard and his force are in search of the bandits.

The two hold-up men, according to members of the firm, entered the front door of the grocery, one walked toward the back of the store where Butterworth and Fain were checking up. The other covered Paul Butterworth, younger member of the firm, who was sitting in front on a nail keg.

The men were asked to surrender the cash, and made to kneel faces to the wall, while the loot was taken. They were unable to open the back door and at their request Mr. Butterworth assisted them. The motor containing two men and a woman, was seen parked at the rear of the store earlier in the night.

Tonight at Science Hall

The Swiss Bell Ringers composed of F. L. Georgette Miss Josephine Georgette, and Miss Jean Parr, is a distinguished organization and play a large array of odd and commonplace musical instruments. They have won distinction throughout the United States and Europe for their extraordinary performance.

Among the odd and unusual instruments that they play are the Musical Aluminum tubes, operated upon the same principle as the violin, the players wear rosin gloves which they rub along the sides of the tubes to produce the music. Miss Georgette plays on her two thousand dollar piano accordion, and never fails to bring down the house by her great skill upon this instrument.

The Paris Edition of the New York Herald makes the following comment:

"At the Sarah Bernhardt theatre last night the Swiss Bell Ringers gave a very fine program on musical novelties. This very unusual concert drew out a large audience of both American and French. The company graciously responded to many encores."

This High Class Company will play two concerts in Science Hall on Monday January 19th. This is a guaranteed attraction, and the company will refund the price of admission to any one who may be dissatisfied with the program.

HOUSEBOY, GIRL ARE SLAIN AT CANDLER HOME

FILIPINO AND FRIEND FOUND DEAD IN MOTOR; SUICIDE FACT DISCOUNTED

Atlanta, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The bodies of Joe Cruz, 30 year old Filipino houseboy, and Miss Gladys Frix, 19, both dead from pistol bullets, were found early today in an automobile parked in the driveway at the home of Asa G. Candler, Jr., where Cruz was employed. Police discounted a note indicating a suicide pact and expressed the belief Cruz had slain the girl before shooting himself.

Members of the girl's family said she had known Cruz for some months and they had been discouraging his attentions to her. Cruz, an amateur magician, met the girl at a performance.

Officers said the note was in Cruz's handwriting.

Cruz's employer, son of the founder of the Coca-Cola Company, is interested in magic, police said, and employed Cruz partly to teach and help him with sleight-of-hand.

COMMENT

By The Commentator

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT
I read of an experiment the other day which was to be tried in a certain town in Florida. I lost the newspaper which contained the article, and so am forced to rely on my memory to describe the experiment. If I make any errors, just charge it up to hasty reading and a poor memory.

It seems that the citizens of this town determined to stage a debt-paying campaign. To this end one hundred citizens of the city issued checks for ten dollars each. The checks were larger than the standard check, with plenty of room for many endorsements. The plan is for every person who gets one of the checks to pledge himself to pay some debt within twenty-four hours from the time he receives the check—not notes, or accounts at banks, but debts which are due the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker. If the town has a candlestick maker, the check itself is not to be cashed for a period of time, but must be kept in circulation and used for paying ordinary debts. Those back of the movement believe that the hundred ten-dollar checks will soon pay off many debts in the town, and no doubt they will if the plan works out.

I'd like to see the results of the plan, and perhaps I will some of these days. In any event, the plan will show clearly the advantage of keeping money at home. If every person in the average town would begin buying everything at home instead of sending to the mail order houses or going to a neighboring town, we would soon see great difference. However I am not expecting this to happen in my time, although I know it would mean a great deal to every town. Human nature, however, is such that practically everybody thinks they can do better by pursuing something afar off instead of sticking by the person who is well known. But as stated above, if everybody in a town would cut out of town buying for a period of sixty days, and spend the money at home, we would see a great deal of difference in affairs. True, it might be hard on the mail order houses, but they could bear up under it, as well as we can bear up under hard conditions.

It seems to me that the Republican member of the Tennessee legislature had a good reason for complaint when a member of his party was placed on the investigating body which is to probe affairs in the state of Tennessee. I don't believe in favoring Republicans too much, but in this case I think the Republicans had a good claim for recognition. If Tennessee is going to clean house, it will require the united efforts of all parties.

This is the anniversary of the birth of Ben Franklin, and a lot of nice things are being said about him. No doubt Ben did lot of things for which he should be given credit, but so far as I am concerned the greatest thing he did was to invent the Saturday Evening Post. Every time I sit down on Thursday night to read this magazine I feel that a vote of thanks is due old Ben Franklin, although of course Mr. Curtis and Mr. Lorimer are due some of the credit, too.

AT THE MOVIES

GRAND—"Royal Bed," with Lowell Sherman and Mary Astor. Paramount.

ORPHEUM—"Follow Thru," with Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll. All talking comedy.

Had all the authors in America deliberately conspired to write a play for Lowell Sherman, according to Alan Roscoe, character actor, they could not have produced a more appropriate one than Radio Pictures' "The Royal Bed," adapted from Robert E. Sherwood's stage success "The Queen's Husband," now at the Grand theater today.

"It presents another side of Sherman's talent, hitherto undisclosed on the screen," says Roscoe. "In 'He Knew Women' Sherman was a hit as a suave, polished man who knew his women and profited thereby."

"In 'Lawful Larceny' with Bebe Daniels, he was a polished clever and rather fascinating thief."

"In 'The Pay Off' he was a brilliant cultured gang leader."

"But in 'The Royal Bed' he is humanized possessed of the ordinary human heart. He portrays a lovable king of a mythical kingdom, a henpecked husband of a domineering Queen.

"When the kingdom is threatened by revolution and the heart of his daughter, whom he adores, is to be bestowed on a dissolute Prince, the worm turns and Sherman becomes a man of sparkling repartee, sophistication and vitrol wit. His role embraces every artistic talent he possesses in one delightful story!" Adv.

Competition is the spice of love! And "Follow Thru" is the sugar of entertainment. Plenty of competition, plenty of hilarious comedy, plenty of throbbing romance and a real golf story that goes outdoors for its entertainment.

Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll head the brilliant cast of "Follow Thru," all-Technicolor, which opens today at the Orpheum theater.

There's fun galore in "Follow Thru," what, with Zella O'Neal that lively little lady of "Variety Erag," fame and her side-kick, the comic Jack Haley, and fat and jolly Eugene Pallette, heading the fun force. And there's excitement too in the big outdoor golf scenes, with woman fighting woman for a man's love. Adv.

Gentlemen:

I have seen your advertising displays in the newspapers and on billboards, telling people about the harm spitting may cause and the dangers lurking in cigars when the tips are soaked with spit. Your efforts to teach the public and thus prevent suffering will do more than sell cigars. You will benefit public health, and for that reason I want to give my enthusiastic approval to your campaign.

As a health commissioner, I am interested in seeing information of this sort brought home to everybody. Human ills would be greatly lessened if every person knew what danger there is in spitting in public places and in using the tongue to seal or moisten anything in manufacturing. Your campaign is indeed a "Crusade of Decency" and my department wishes you success in your efforts.

You are welcome to use this letter in your plan of public education, if you wish, with the understanding that I am not publicly endorsing your product in preference to any other, but that I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner.

Very truly yours,

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Stack writes: "I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Representatives of the dairy industry in Washington are of the fact that the ruling of the internal revenue bureau pending the manufacture of yellow margarine by the use of palm oil without the payment of tax, places the butter producer in a very serious position. It is now definitely known that the oleomargarine manufacturers are preparing to put this new product on the market on an extensive scale. It is believed within six months most of the oleomargarine will be colored and sold without the payment of the tax. The new product is sold at ordinary room temperature.

An Unusual Prescription Service!

We like to refer to the completeness of our prescription service, for we believe it is somewhat unusual.

Let us tell you briefly how it works out. Just suppose the doctor left a prescription with you, and you found it inconvenient to go to a drug store to have it filled. In such cases, step to the phone and give us a ring. Call 11 and we'll send a messenger right away.

The prescription will be brought back to our store, where it will be filled quickly and accurately by an experienced pharmacist and returned to you. And the whole transaction will be handled in less time than if you went to a drug store yourself.

And remember, too, that our charge for this unusual prescription service is not at all unreasonable. Our price is based only on the use of the best grade of materials, plus the time consumed in compounding, and only a fair profit.
