FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY FEBRUARY 10, 1934.

NUMBER 3.

CWA WORK SLOWS UP; AWAITS FEDERAL FUNDS

CWA work here and in other sections of the county has slowed down in recent weeks due to shrinkage of federal funds for carrying on the work. Only two projects are now being carried forward in the city--repair work of certain city streets and finishing of the Harris Fork creek project. Activity on the Enon road and the West State Lane road projects is being delayed, although approved by the state department. Money now in the treasury for CWA work will enable this organization to continue until February 15th.

At the present time 154 men are engaged, not including 95 on malaria control work and seven on the sanitary program. Up until now $26,830.91 has been paid out through the CWA office in the east end of Fulton county. Last week the payroll dropped from $3095 the week before to $2,574.59. It is estimated that the payroll this week will total approximately $2500.

A bill has been passed by the House Representatives appropriating $450,000,000 for a civil works program, and $400,000,000 for direct relief. This bill is awaiting the approval of the U. S. Senate before it can become effective.

GARDEN PROGRAM TO GET UNDERWAY HERE

R. B. Kemp, Mrs. Hilary Alexander and Homer Roberts spent Monday in Paducah where they attended a district meeting in interest of the relief garden program in Western Kentucky. Homer Roberts, garden supervisor for the east end of Fulton county, also attended an executive session of supervisors.

It is planned to sponsor around 400 gardens in this end of the county and seed and plants will be furnished by the FERA. It is indicated that there are as many families in need of this assistance again this year as last, and a broad program is being arranged by relief officers here.

AUTO OWNERS MUST BUY TAGS BY FEB. 10

The price of automobile licenses in the state of Kentucky have been reduced and simplified in cost. T. R. Jones, assistant state tax commissioner, who was in Fulton Monday, stated while here. License fees on motors below 22 horsepower are $6.50 motors between 22 and 32 H. P., $7.70 and above 32 H. P., $12.50. All automobile owners who have failed to obtain tags for 1934 by Feb. 10th will be subject to penalty, fine and costs. The tax commission does not want to impose these penalties, Commissioner Jones said, on the law will have to be enforced after the time limit expires Feb. 10.

1,500-MILE EXTENSIONS OF HIGHWAY SYSTEM FORECAST

When the Legislature opened early this month the primary state highway system aggregated about 20,000 miles.

Up to January 24, senators and representatives had introduced 125 bills to add much more mileage, in short sections in all parts of the state, to the primary system.

Experienced newspaper men at the Capitol estimate that when the session ends the highway system will be about 1500 miles longer than it was--a total of 21,500 miles.

Most highway extension bills, they say, are offered by Legislators at the urging of "folks back home."

Suggested extensions are often little side roads and lanes, presumably hope persons who seek their extension will be graded, drained, hard-surfaced and eventually paved.

Knowing how much shrinkage there has been in the state highway building and maintenance revenues in the last two years, Legislators also know the "hopes" are dreams that will never see daylight reports declare.

Diversion of a large part of highway funds to other purposes in the next two years is sought in several bills now in Legislative Committee.

If they become law, state road building and repair work will be badly crippled, experts predict.

At the present time about 150 contracts have been submitted in Fulton County, while the tabulation is not complete, it is believed that more than 80 per cent of the cotton acreage of the county is covered by these contracts.

GOOD WORK BOYS

It is our opinion that the Fulton Bulldogs are really fighters when put to the test on the basketball court. The game Saturday night with Central City was enough to test the ability of any aggregation and Uni Killebrew, coach for the Bulldogs, has reason to be proud of the performance of his team. Central City came to Fulton rated as probably the best quintet in the state, and they showed superb class and form. It certainly was doubtful for a while whether the Bulldogs would hold their own against such tough opposition.

But true to their name the Bulldogs held on tenaciously and broke through the wall of opposition to carry off the honors. Every member of the local team displayed a fine spirit on the floor and once in the lead their enthusiasm increased until the visitors were conquered. The gymnasium was crowded with enthusiastic fans who praised the fine fighting spirit of the Bulldogs.

But the local team must drill itself to take all opponents seriously, and put up as good a fight away from home as they do on their own court. They have "the goods" and should not be swayed by location or conditions. Don't never be sure of your opponent but feel that you must fight to win. Over-confidence has licked many a good fighter. Victory is within yourselves and an avid determination will usually carry the day in sports or in life.

Go out to win, Bulldogs! Keep physically and mentally fit, and maintain that vital spark of combat in the face of all opposition. You can bring honor to yourself, to your school and to your home town.

SAFETY AND EFFICIENCY

A study of the record of railroads prove beyond a doubt the efficiency and general safety of this modern method of transportation. Too, wherever railroads have penetrated, the country through which they have operated has benefited, providing a swift and economical means of transporting its products to outside markets, and lending support to the growth of the various communities.

Why railroads are able to make enviable records in the safe transportation of freight and passengers is explained by L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, in these words:

"On the physical side, railroads can give safe service because they have their own roadways, the track is solidly built, flanged wheels hold the trains to their course, and signals guard the way.

"On the human side, too, there are reasons for railway safety. Trains are operated according to rules and orders which give safety first place, and every employee who has any part in their operation is sober, physically fit and thoroughly trained."

Why Not Put It On Its Base? —An R.F.C. For Industry Will Do This!

A PYRAMID will stand on its plished.

apex only so long as it is supported. To keep it standing that way is a waste of effort, time and money—and that is exactly what Uncle Sam is doing with his pyramid of government loans.

The base of our whole economic structure is industry. Labor, production and wages—the most vital factors of our social existence—are rooted in industry.

But our pyramid of government R. F. C. loans so far has not included industry. It starts with the topmost sector of the economic order—the banks—and includes the insurance companies, the railroads and agriculture. And there stands the whole mass, topheavy, wavering and inverted, held erect by increasing expenditures.

Let's get back to elementary physics, the rudiments of engineering and the law of gravitation. An R. F. C. for industry would be the true base upon which to set this tapering bulk of government loans. Give the base the same generous and necessary treatment the apex received and see how quickly normalcy is accomplished.

BOOK REVIEW

Following is a review of the book "Hon yoon Limited," sequel to "One Man Woman," by Vida Hurst. The story vividly portrays a bride's struggle to hold her husband from the woman who was "like a fever in his blood." Margie was radiantly happy. The wedding was over, and they were alone at last in the home they would share together. Margie wanted to be loved and kissed. Instead a bombshell shattered her happiness, when Dennis, her husband, fell on his knees at her side and buried his head in the white satin of her wedding dress, uttering—"Mar-

All these things happen when industry is able to employ labor and replace its working capital, depleted by the self-same depreciations that affected banks, insurance companies and railroads.

The loans to insurance companies, while they have to some extent protected the stockholders, have not saved one policy for any person that had lost his job and couldn't pay his premiums. Again, while the loans to railroads have protected the bondholders and capital investment they have not made one more pound of freight to carry or created one dollar of wealth.

The important thing is to put men back to work—turn the wheels of industry. Give industry the loans to replace its depreciated working capital and industry will not only pay back its own borrowings but make it possible for banks, insurance companies and railroads to do likewise.

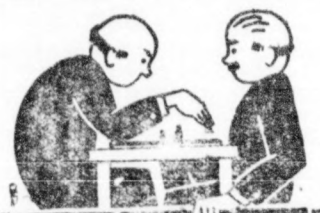

But, best of all, industry will then be able to keep men at work, to maintain the American home and permit men and women to retain their own self respect through earning ability.

gie, this has been a terrible mistake."

Margie refused to obtain a divorce and instead threw herself into her work with a decorating firm. Meanwhile, she was insanely jealous of her husband and Zinna, the other woman, with whom Dennis broke his engagement to marry her. Jack Carol was in love with Margie and tried to make her see her marriage was a mistake, while he begged her to obtain a divorce and marry him. But not Margie, she loved her husband.

Altho Zinna married Dick Crawford, they did not get along. So she left him and returned to her bankrupt father's home in the city where Dennis and Margie lived. After the death of Zinna's father she sought refuge and comfort from Dennis, who sympathized with her and was often in her company. As a result he and Margie were continually quarreling. And altho Margie and Dennis were in love, constant discord and strife widened the breach of that love. Then came an incident in their lives which changed everything. It is a thrilling story of a bride's battle for the love of her husband—a story that will grip you from start to finish.

Swift & Company
Butterfat - Poultry - Eggs

Where Every Day is Pay Day!

BUTTERFAT doesn't improve with age. A chicken, ready for market, strutting through the barnyard, is merely a non-paying boarder. An ancient egg is more useless than a month-old daily newspaper.

The time to sell produce is the day it's ready for sale. Swift & Company will buy it that day.

Swift & Company's produce plants—more than a hundred—are open six days a week. Each one is ready and anxious to buy from its farm patrons when their products are most valuable, and to pay cash on delivery.

Prices paid are competitive. They are based, not on local conditions, but on national supply and demand. Swift's Brookfield Butter and Eggs, Swift's Premium Chickens and Golden West Fowl, all can and do go where they are most eagerly desired.

Swift & Company salesmen, selling butter, eggs, poultry, cheese and meats at the same time on their rounds, cut down distribution costs of both.

Swift & Company

Timeliness. Breadth. Economy. Fair Dealing. These are the marks of Swift & Company service in the produce field.

Hectic Days Sleepless Nights

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Carrier, New Market, N. H.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in hectic times and find it the best medicine for the nerves I have ever used. Christine Lauer, Middleton, Tennessee.

Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one or two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found. Miss Grace Redman, St. James, Minn.

Before using four Nervine Tablets I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still feel wonderful. J. R. Redding, 1927 18th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Bulldogs Defeat Central City 38-30; Mayfield 40-22

CENTRAL CITY DROPS BEFORE BULLDOGS 38-30

By Ole Dave

Central City Kentucky's superb basketball quintet, thought to be the best in the state, and who are magicians and expert shotmakers from any angle of the court, had the heat turned on them in the Science Hall here Saturday night, when the crew of Ual Killebrew, local basketball coach, heated to capacity from two successive defeats at the hands of Mayfield and Paducah, literally smothered Central City during the entire second half of the hottest and most exciting basketball game ever played in Fulton.

Central City came to Fulton with the expectation of winning the game by a goodly margin only to have the Bulldogs turn the trick. True Fulton did lose to Mayfield and Paducah, but they evidently were saving their steam for Central City which was of a great deal more importance. And a different story was told Tuesday night when Mayfield came to Fulton. Paducah will be on the fire next time, and is due for the small end of the score.

How the game was played by quartet:

Fulton	Position	Central City
R Hill 16	RF	4 Bail y
P Hill 4	LF	1 J Batzel
Weaver 7	C	7 Chinn
Henderson 9	RG	18 C Batzel
Edwards 2	LG	Ogden

Subs—Central City, Shruessbarry 4, Mansfield.

1st—Henderson sank field goal for first point. J. Batzel drew free throw and R. Hill did also. Chinn shoots 2-pointer which was followed by two free throws by Edwards. Chinn drops 2-pointer and C. Batzel ties score with free throw. Another free throw by C. Batzel followed by field goal gives Central City 3 point lead. Weaver draws free shot followed by one to Bailey which in turn is followed by one by C. Batzel and a four point lead which is cut two points when R. Hill sinks beautiful 2-pointer at the end of the first period.

2nd—Two subs for Central City—Shruessbarry for Bailey and Mansfield for Chinn. Weaver draws free throw which he makes good. Edwards sinks field goal to cut Central City's margin to one point. C. Batzel drops a 2-pointer and R. Hill draws free throw. C. Batzel shoots two quick goals followed by one by R. Hill to end the first half 17 to 15 for Central City.

3rd—Fulton turns on the heat and is never stopped. R. Hill draws free throw which is made good and this is followed by three quick field goals by Henderson, R. Hill and Weaver which put Fulton in the lead and turns the crowd into a panic. Shruessbarry sinks field goal which evidently makes the Bulldogs mad for they again run wild with a free throw to Weaver and successive shots by him and R. Hill for a 27 to 19 lead before Bailey sinks a two-pointer. R. Hill again sinks 2-pointer and C. Batzel wins two free throws that end the third quarter with Fulton on top 29 to 23.

Final quarter—R. Hill opens the period with a long quick shot that stuns the crowd but C. Batzel likewise does the same. P. Hill draws free throw as does Bailey and two by C. Batzel. B. coming a bit uneasy about their small four point lead at this stage the Bulldogs again turn on the heat and before the bat of an eye R. Hill sinks field goal which is quickly followed by one by Henderson and then R. Hill again sinks one to give Fulton a ten point lead which is cut two points when Shruessbarry sinks the final goal of the game.

FULTON DROPS MAYFIELD BY COUNT OF 40 TO 22

Playing as though they were mingling with a gang of kittens the ferocious Bulldogs of Fulton High School literally tore the Mayfield Red Devils to pieces as was expected before the game, and scattered them all over the floor to the tune of 40 to 22, and which could have been 80 to 22 just as easy had they really turned on the heat as they did against Central City Saturday night.

Opening up in the first quarter the Bulldogs began their slaughter and ended the period with an 11 to 6 lead with R. Hill running wild with the help of P. Hill and Weaver.

The second period proved a discouragement to the Red Devils when the Bulldogs held them in tow with out a sign of a point ending the half with a lead of 21 to 6.

Slowing up a bit and allowing the Red Devils to breathe the Bulldogs carried the third period 30-16. The last period found most every Fulton substitute still peppering Mayfield, ending the game 40 to 22.

FULTON PLAYS HICKMAN HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

The third of three games for the Bulldogs this week will be the one Friday night when they meet the Hickman quintet on the local floor at 7:30 p. m. This game will mark the second of the year between these teams, Hickman winning the first by the narrow margin of 17 to 15 on December 22.

Hickman has the best team they have had in years, and with this record they come to Fulton with the determination to make it two victories over the Bulldogs, while the Bulldogs will seek revenge for the first defeat by Hickman.

MURRAY WILL PLAY HERE TUESDAY, FEB. 13

Murray will make their first invasion in Fulton this year when they meet the Bulldogs here next Tuesday night, Feb. 13. Murray was defeated by Central City a few nights ago, but gave a brilliant exhibition which makes it look as if Fulton will have to play hard to capture the laurels.

SOUTH FULTON BEATS HICKMAN QUINTET

In a close game at Hickman Tuesday night, the South Fulton boys basketball five won by a score of 20 to 15. The score by quarters was South F— 0 5 10 20 Hickman— 8 11 15 15

BULLPUPS WIN OVER BEELERTON BY 20 TO 19

The Bullpups of the Fulton High School again won a game this time from Beelerton by the score of 20 to 19. The game was played Saturday night at the Science Hall. Pe-ples with seven points to his credit was the star of the Pups.

SELECT YOUR BREEDS WHEN RAISING POULTRY FOR PROFIT

By J. T. Watkins

Now that spring is in the offing, the hens are all singing and preparing for the Big NRA rush. When I hear biddy singing around I can feel her ambition entering into my system and I can't keep still. Too often we lay dormant all winter and wait until spring before we begin making our plans.

The proper time to plan your chicken yard is in the fall. You can study the points of each individual fowl and make your plans to remedy the defect and by spring you should have your pen culled and ready for business. This past winter I have had several persons ask me this question: "What is the best breed of chickens." The only answer

I can give is "All of them." There are several things to take into consideration to pick the best breed.

First, you must decide upon your favorite—that is the best breed for you to raise. Another thing, consider the point of outlet for your surplus stock. Here in Fulton the market demands for meat are partial to the Barred and White Rocks while Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds; but for commercial eggs you will do well to raise English Strain White Leghorns.

If you are planning on entering the show game and your choice runs to White Leghorns, you must stay away from English Leghorns. They don't comply with the standard. The main point is this, if you want chickens for a hobby, they are all good. If you are in the game commercially, choose the breed best suited to the locality where you can sell your surplus stock.

THINK IT OVER

I DO NOT KNOW

"Do you expect to again meet your friends and relatives who have died?" a friend asked the other day. I on not know. I can only wait and hope. Their comes to my mind an incident that fully describes my idea on that subject. When the great Robert Ingersoll died, a newspaper reporter was sent to the late home of the agnostic. It was well known the body was being kept long past the usual time for burial and it was rumored that Mrs. Ingersoll sat day after day beside the casket and would not permit it to be removed. The assignment of the newspaper reporter was to visit the home and ascertain from Mrs. Ingersoll if she expected to see her husband again.

Under the circumstances it was a hard assignment. In her hour of grief she was to be asked the question. Ingersoll had been a fine husband, of whom Octave Thanet had said, "he was the life-long lover of one woman," words that would lift any wife to the high heavens of ecstasy. In view of the well known theories of Ingersoll, his views on the hereafter, it was the task of this reporter to ask Mrs. Ingersoll that one question: "Do you expect to meet your husband again?"

That reporter, Ada Patterson, made the journey and afterward described the visit and the reply of the woman who had been the wife of a man who was the "life long lover of one woman." Upon reaching the Ingersoll home she was met by the sister of Mrs. Ingersoll to whom she told the secret of her visit; how sorry she was that her paper had imposed the task on her, but said the public that had heard and read Col. Ingersoll would like to know. The sister took the message to the now widow of the great exponent of liberal views. She was gone, it seemed to the reporter, for hours, but in reality it was but a few moments. When she returned, it was not to say the wife of the great free-thinker would see the newspaper representative, but here is the message she brought:

"Mrs. Ingersoll says she remembers pleasantly their meeting with you in St. Louis and she remembers your call at their home in Grannumey Park. She says she knows you will understand that she has not the strength now to talk with any one. But she has written here what she thinks ill help you." With that she handed the newspaper woman a bit of paper on which was written in a neat, refined but irregular hand, these words:

"I do not know whether I shall meet my husband again or not. But I know as much as anyone else does: That is—nothing."

And so Mrs. Ingersoll expressed my own views and that is my answer to my inquiring friend. I know nothing and, at that, I know as much as anyone else does. I can only—wait and hope.

Think it over.

WHO IS INDEPENDENT?

"I don't care what people think; I'm independent."

I heard a man make such a declaration the other day to the court house. He was expressing an opinion. I wondered if he knew how far off he was. The fact is no man or woman can go through life wholly independent of others, independent of their neighbors and friends. Yet it is not an uncommon thing to find men and women who take the attitude this man took—that whatever individuals when they attempt to go their own way without regard for the wishes and rights of others. Human rights are human rights, whether it be in the seats of the mighty or the humblest homes of the lowly and where human rights are respected where people are friendly and considerate of others, there is an ideal community.

I have observed that adopting the policy of respecting the opinions of others and at the same time being firm in your own convictions, need not destroy your own initiative or crush ambition. Some of the most courteous people I have come in contact with in my life have been at the same time the most pronounced in their own views, but they did not attempt to force them upon others, neither did they attempt to travel their own way through life, crushing and stamping out the lives of all who disagreed with them.

YOUNG AMERICA

With the vast changes that have taken place in the world during the past decade or two, new ideas, new thoughts and new actions are replacing the old routine or order of things. And this is only natural, and besides, it is well that the reins are being taken up by different hands.

The world needs rebuilding. It has suffered a terrible shock in recent years. Some of our wise men feel that civilization has lost its way and is lapsing into another Dark Age. But I do not share this pessimistic viewpoint. I believe that God is in His heaven, although all may not be as it should be.

But the world is grossly out of balance and must be rebuilt along saner and more constructive lines. God did not intend that man should make the mess of things he has made, but man's selfish nature has heaped untold suffering upon the race. The rebuilding of our social order will be shifted to the new generation, and the burden will try their souls.

Something is radical wrong when nature smiles upon us with a superabundance of bounties: rich mineral deposits, fertile soils, vast crops of corn, wheat and other necessities of life abound, while millions of human beings suffer and die from hunger, exposure, and the lack of medical attention. It is gross and beastly when mankind forgets his brother man in his greed and avarice to amass a fortune he cannot carry with him when death comes to his door. And knowledge. At least, these young people can do no worse than the older generation has done, and they can profit by the tragic bungling of their elders.

The elder generation has made a pretty bad mess of things. They brought on the World War, and the great economic breakdown which followed it. The heads of the governments in 1914 were of the older generation. The heads of industry in 1929 were of the older generation. The creed makers of all time have been the older generation. And this same older generation is found complaining because the newer generation does not agree with them in every respect. Can you blame them?

Young America seeks knowledge to battle the obstacles of the future. Our schools and colleges are filled with millions of the new generation. These young people pure of heart and clear of eye, represent the future citizenship of our country. More—they are builders of the new world—the world of tomorrow. The idealism of youth is always inspiring. They have the opportunity to create a finer world built on truth

Mrs. Mollie Cummings left Tuesday for Paducah to visit her son L. Cummings for several weeks. Mrs. J. E. Fields is reported improving from a recent illness.
