have assured Spain that the power of the United States will be invoked to compel the Cubans to accept autonomy on such terms as may be agreed on by the United States and Spain, it will bear such a storm of righteous indignation from the country as no legislator has ever heard. It is probable to suppose that the sensible world go so far in opposition of expressed wishes of the Senate, but in view of his conflict in connection with the Hawaiian matter, there is at least room for doubt if it and all delay by proper inquiries and investigation; $3,000,419 letters were returned to the writers by reason of the return cards on the envelope; 724,306 letters were sent to the dead letter office at Washington.

The money order business of the office aggregated $34,408.83. The surplus of earnings over expenditures in the Chicago postoffice, and which is turned into the United States treasury, amounts to $3,035,705.

With such a showing as this, we cannot blame the people of Chicago if they have set their heads to have a fine postoffice building. They think it must cost at least $4,000,000.

A CONTEMPTIBLE PRACTICE.

There is nothing much more contemptible than that alleged journalism which consists in "writing up" a person indirectly or by insinuation. If a public official is guilty of a malfeasance in office or is derelict in his moral behavior, or if he neglects his duty, the only honorable way for a newspaper to treat the case is either to let it alone or to mention the official's name and make the criticisms plain.

When, however, the attack is made on a "well known official" without calling his name, the accusation in the mind of the public may fall on an innocent official. Such insinuating articles give rise to the opinion, that the man who writes them is either a coward or is trying to work some scheme of private blackmail."

It is to be hoped that our city officials will absolutely ignore all charges thus made and listen to no accusation whose maker is too cowardly to show his full hand.

Senator Walcott's Misallion.

A Washington dispatch says: "The success of Senator Walcott's mission abroad to advance the cause of bimetalism in the principal nations of the Old World, will undoubtedly exercise a great influence on the Senator's political fortunes. As matters look in his own state, the Senator's political future is at stake. He stood with his party in the last campaign in the face of the almost unanimous sentiment of his constituents. Even outside of the issue involved in this contest he had estranged himself from his people to a degree by his speech of last session on the Venezuelan question, and by his failure to vote on the question of dividing the free silver rights of the Dingley tariff bill. Mr. Walcott organized the McKinley movement in Colorado after the St. Louis convention. He had a state convention held which put a full ticket in the field, and had a campaign made as if he believed there was hope of winning. This he could never have expected, but those who were near to him say that he was disappointed in the percentage of the vote he polled by his candidate. He has come to work with a dash and a will which are characteristic of him. If he wins he will reconquer his own state, to say nothing of the effect upon the world at large. The Venezuelan speech and the senator's conduct in the campaign will all be forgotten and forgiven."

Fur Sealing Question.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—An interesting and important official contribution to the seal question is a report compiled by Expert Leonard Stejneger, of the National Museum, on "Russian Fur Seal Islands" just issued by the United States Fish Commission. The report is based upon two investigations, one made during the palmiest days of the fur sealing industry and the other when Stejneger was sent as a special attaché of the commission to inquire into the recent decline of the seals and compare the conditions for the past thirteen years.

The report says the thirty-mile zone stipulated in the Russian-British arrangement of 1893 has been found utterly valueless as a protective measure against pelagic sealing. Three causes have been assigned for the decline of seal life on the seal islands of the Behring Sea and North Pacific Ocean—excessive driving on the mail seals, raids on the rookeries and pelagic sealing. The Commander Islands seal herd is being killed off so rapidly that in a season or two it must become utterly unprofitable to hunt the animals in the open sea.

These radical recommendations are made:

Total and absolute prohibition of pelagic sealing in the North Pacific Ocean and Behring Sea at all seasons for at least six years, after which time total prohibition at all seasons in Behring Sea, and Pacific Ocean west of 175 degrees east longitude and north of 53 degrees north latitude, or, if preferable, within a zone of 150 nautical miles from the islands. Total prohibition of killing seals on land for one year, after that time all anchor seals to be taken on land and not later than August 1. This scheme would involve supporting the natives for one year and the extermination of the sledge dogs on Behring Island.

MODELED WITH HIS FINGER NAILS

How the Sculptor Worked in Clay During His Boyhood Days.

Since childhood MacMonnies has been interested in art. As a baby playing with the wonderful family of animals and men.
In boyhood he preferred visits to art galleries to ball games. Many of his relatives in Brooklyn have in their possession specimens of his early work.
His mother has the most valuable, because it is among the first. This is a statue of Hannum's famous white elephant. MacMonnies was the parade of the greatest show on earth, which included the elephant. After the procession to hurried home and modelled out of clay an image of the animal).

As it was not easy to get clay and tools, the boy made the pantry his playroom. Here he made with the dough a wonderful family of animals and men.
His playmates were the recipients of his work. Mrs. MacMonnies grew famous as a cook. When the pantry failed him he used chewing gum. This he bought in quantities. His pennies were invested in gum. His aunt had a life-like statue of Gen. Washington standing beside his horse. The finish and beauty of this little piece of work are remarkable, when the age of the artist and the difficulties under which he labored are considered.

While working in wax he used his finger nails for tools. He could not get he implements he needed, so he cut desired nails that would have been a credit to a machinist. This habit did not suit his mother's idea of cleanliness. The biggest rowdies in the Mac-Monnies household were on when I red had to trim his nails. His mother had to take the wax into her own hands at times and be the artisan. With the aid of his nails he made groups in wax. His tracings of foliage and the outlines of his figures foretell the strength and harmony of his later works. While his

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

This will be a red letter, dead may year with the saloons, for it is candidates' year. They will have to keep open most every Sunday to accommodate the candidates and their friends, and the saloons keepers can even get independent enough to pour extra quart of water into each gallons of whisky.

There was an unpleasant tumble in the thermometer yesterday, and as a result not a few people are carrying extra handkerchiefs and drinking bot-tomatoes today. There was a fall of over thirty degrees.

"Did you ever," said our friend Miller, the snuff drummer, "make any particular notice of now the average specialty artist comes out during the play and makes some kind of silly talk before he does his act, as if he were talking to the audience for being alive. Well, I took in a ten, twenty and thirty cent show a few nights ago, and of course there was a number of specialty acts. One young fellow, who did a song and dance, came out, and the talk the male lead up to the turn took the cake over anything I have ever heard

He slipped out of one of the wings and said with pathos: "Alas, alas, she poor old mother is dead. She me while I ever knew. But while he is waiting for the understander I will give you a little song and dance. Let her go—Henrietta, have you met her?"

"Of course I have owned a paper," said our friend Miller at the Palmer Sunday. "I undertook to fill a long felt want in a small Texas town—a number of years ago. I was the editorial department and the boy I hired for $3.00 per week was the mechanical department. I wrote editorials, local news, clipped the telegraph, saved the plate, etc., while the mechanical department made the fire, kicked the press and corrected the galley with a pair of pincers, a monkey wrench and a hatchet. I put in 365 days each year four years, and about half as many nights. One day the little hatchet in the town—busted! And somehow I got mixed up in the assets.

One morning a few days after, the sheriff beat me to the office, and that settled it, or rather settled part of it.

I stepped down and out, and all I had to show for four years' hard work was a plug hat and a fishing pole. No thanks; just had one.

Solong."

"Speaking about papers," said our friend Miller, "when I was publishing 'The Weekly Bladner and Farmers' Advocate' in Texas, a great big awkward young man came into the office one Saturday and said he was tired of farming and wanted to go to work. He said he will endeavor to raise them and proceed on to Nashville with the coal.

The City of Clarksville is due here of the Ohio this afternoon and leaves on her return to E'town tomorrow at noon.

The H. W. Buttrick left en route up the Cumberland for Nashville this morning at 10 o'clock, carrying a good trip.

Engineer George Aaron was not present at the meeting at the boat store this morning, but there was a letter in the box for him which answered for the same purpose.

The big sidewheeler Boston passed up yesterday from Memphis en route to Cincinnati. She lay here several hours discharging and receiving freight.

This morning being a cool one the steamboats that congregated daily around the river front, were buddled together around the big store in the rear end of Peter's boat store, and each one had his turn at telling the biggest "yarn." They told of incidents from old ante bellum days to the present date. Those who participated were Capt. Rph. Bal-lowe, Joe Leffridge, R. Ballowe, Buck

Roberts, Dave Woods, Capt. Powell,

Jas. Mortimer, Anon Price, John

Fernand and Pat Moore. Engineers were Clay Warden, Sargent Moss, Hugh Moore, Sam Hudson, Chas.

Traylor and Cook, Billy Harger. "It was still in season at the time of this writing with Clay Warden on the floor.

Leaves Tomorrow. Mr. Frank J. Lane, says the Park City "Times," who has for the past twelve years been a resident of our city, will leave tomorrow to take a position with a prominent jeweler of Paducah. Mr. Lane came to Bowling Green when scarcely more than a baby, and for sometime has been considered a part and parcel of the city. As a workman and engraver he is one of the finest in Kentucky, and as a clever, whole-souled gentleman he has no superior on earth. His friends, and that includes all Bowling Green, will regret very much the loss of one of our best citizens, and will miss the big-hearted and big-bodied gentleman wherever his lot may be cast. Now is a good time to try a load on the Fordville Sam-Camel coal, guaranteed to be the highest grade grate coal on the market, sold only by J. J. REPORTED REDUCTION. FOR THIRTY DAYS

Adams and American Express Companies Affected. Said They Will Reduce Salaries Ten Per Cent.—May Not Be True. It is rumored that the American and Adams express companies will in a short time reduce salaries 10 per cent. in order to lessen expenses. The American has already begun curtailing expenses by taking off men along the line but whether the rumor of a ten per cent. reduction is true or not cannot be learned. Local expressmen profess to know nothing about it although one of the route agents is authority for the statement that the reduction will be made and whether it is true or not it is not denied. VERY CRAZY. A Railroad Man Picked Up by the Police. He is Colored, and Can Give No Account of Himself. Officers Seamon and Orr found a strange negro last night sitting in the gutter down town washing his hands. They took him to the city hall, where he exhibited further evidence of a deranged mind. He is manifestly a railroad man, and when he speaks it is only to call the railroad stations between here and Louisville, indicating that he is a brakeman. He also gives all kinds of signals with his hands. He was taken before Judge Sanders this morning, but had nothing to say, his name being unknown. He was ordered held until the railroad authorities do something towards sending him to Louisville, where he is said to live. COMPROMISE EFFECTED. The Mechanicsburg School House Difficulty Settled. Tonight a compromise between trustees of school district No. 4, the one in Mechanicsburg over which there has been a controversy between the city and trustees for some time and the committee appointed by the council to adjust the matter, will be submitted for the council's approval. The trustees have agreed to deed the property to the city for $311, and the deed is now at the county clerk's office awaiting tonight's action of the council. This will adjust the controversy satisfactorily to all, and the city will get the property. Police Court. Melaine Frankie Dixon was tried this morning in the police court on a charge of cutting Mary Johnson last Sunday night. The trouble originated over the alleged attention the Johnson woman paid to Jim Campbell, the other woman's husband. The wounds are slight and the woman will probably be allowed in the circuit court to plead guilty to cutting in the sudden heat of passion. Judge Sanders reserved his decision until tomorrow morning. Will Johnson, a colored man with one eye and an uncontrollable desire to obtain the affections of the woman he is living with, was fined $10 and costs for striking her.
