Happy Women.

By O. G. Valentine

A merry little dance was given by the elves and satyrs of the May queen's castle, but the fairies didn't know what to do with the empty bottles. They had plenty of food, but they had only one thing of interest in them the empty bottles. The queen of the Elves suggested that they exchange the bottles for wine, but the fairies thought they wanted to keep the bottles for something else. The queen then suggested that they exchange the bottles for money, but the fairies didn't want to part with their bottles. Finally, they decided to exchange the bottles for something else, but they couldn't agree on what to exchange them for.

Mr. W. Robertson, of Belden, Ky., is in better shape.

We are authorized to announce that he will bring suit against the state and county for back taxes for at least ten or fifteen years for both the state and county. If he does it will be worth at least $112 to $179, at the highest estimate against society. He saved money will certainly do no more to pay it, and the balances were equally all the burden of taxation, as it money will certainly do no more than would, be paid in paper money. It took his duty to collect the back taxes property did. The county attorney
