Woman Shot During Dispute Over $1,000 Father Of 10 Jailed In Miss.; Family Suffering In Memphis

Three persons were shot in three separate incidents in various parts of Memphis during the weekend. Two persons are being held in custody, and another is being sought.

On Saturday at 11:35 p.m., John Kearney of 5015 Spottswood was shot once in the left leg by a 15-year-old boy after Kearney separated the youth and another boy who were fighting in an apartment at 190 Cossitt.

Insp. E. C. Swann said that the boy was struck and a chair broken over his head by Kearney when the boy fired the gun the second and third time. But he remained conscious and blasted a fourth and fifth time as he made his way out of the apartment.

As he left the apartment with the weapon, the boy ran into the arms of the police who had been summoned by persons hearing the shots.

BLAMES FRIEND

Robert White, 32, of 1740 Kansas st., told police that a "good friend" of his was responsible for shooting him twice in the chest last Sunday morning at the corner of Kansas and Fay.

The man, who is still being sought, fired three times and hit White twice in the chest. Witnesses told officers that White, who had been drinking heavily, pulled a knife on the suspect before the man began firing.

The victim is in John Gaston hospital in critical condition. Witnesses gave police the name of the suspect.

WANTED TO SPEND

At 215 S. Fourth street, Mrs. Ora Mae Taylor was shot in the left side of the neck in an argument over how $1,000 which had been awarded to the son of her 64-year-old boy friend should be spent.

Insp. Swann said witnesses said Andrew Spencer told the woman he did not wish to spend all of the money given for Devoy Spencer, his son, but the woman insisted.

As he tried to leave, they said Mrs. Taylor kept following him and he finally threatened to kill her and fired a shot striking the woman in the left side of the neck.

Spencer will be charged with assault with intent to murder. Mrs. Taylor is recovering in John Gaston hospital.

$2500 Reported At UNCF Kickoff Meet

More than $2,500 was reported Monday night of this week at the kickoff meeting of the United Negro College Fund campaign which will continue through Dec. 16, it was announced by the general chairman, George D. Clark, Jr., principal of A. B. Hill Elementary School.

Campaign money reported at the initial meeting included $1,074 from faculty and staff members of LeMoyné, $500 from the college's General Alumni Association, $250 from a dance recital conducted last spring by students trained by Miss Roberta Mai Ratchliffe, and $831 received at LeMoyné from other sources this year.

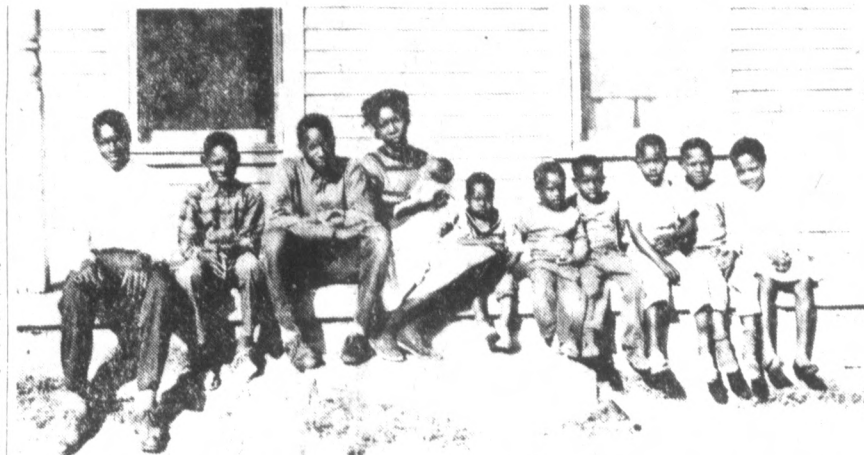

Miss Harry Mae Simons, principal of Magnolia Elementary School, is chairman of the city teachers division this year, and Cornell Wells, principal of the E. A. Harold School in Millington, is serving as chairman of the county teachers division.

OTHER VOLUNTEERS:

Other volunteer campaigners for the fund includes: Dr. A. K. Smith, Mrs. Ann L. Weathers, Mrs. Dasy Peebles Norman, Miss Naomi Gordon, Edwin Dalstrom, Miss Johnnie Mae Rodgers, Mrs. Ethyl H. Venson, T. R. McLemore, A. C. Williams, the Rev. John C. Mickle and Mrs. Juanita Stanback.

Also — Dr. Peter Cooper, George Holloway Jr., Melvin Conley, John Taylor, W. Stockton, Mrs. Lillie Branscomb, Miss Eunice Carruthers, Miss Erma Laws, Dr. W. W. Gibson, Roscoe McWilliams, Howard Sims, Mrs. Wilhelm Lockard and Mrs. Mai I. Fitzgerald.

And J. A. Beauchamp, J. A. Bradford, Atty. H. T. Lockard, Frank Lewis, the Rev. Lawrence Haygood, Elder Blair T. Hunt, B. G. Olive Jr., A. Maceo Walker, Charlie Mitchell, Harold Whalum, Neverson Jones, Mrs. W. A. Sengstacke, Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Simpson, Matthew Thornton Jr., Dr. Hollis F. Price and Robert M. Ratchliffe Sr.

BREADWINNER IN JAIL — Things were difficult enough for this family when the main breadwinner was with them and working, but the situation has become impossible for Mrs. Cliftee Davis and her 10 children since her husband was arrested and sent back to Mississippi and given a six month term in jail for driving his car out of the state, Here she is seen with her 10 children who range in ages from 16 to three weeks. Last week the family was without food and not in a position to receive anything. Food for about 10 days has been supplied by the Mississippi Blvd. Seventh Day Adventist church. There are nine boys and one girl in the family. (MLR Photo)

Mother And 10 Kids Face Eviction Today

BREADWINNER IN JAIL

Mrs. Cliftee Davis of 284 Adolphus st., had been out of the hospital only two days last Oct. 28 when the police came by and told her husband, Sam, 40, that they had a warrant for his arrest.

"They told him that they didn't know what it was for," Mrs. Davis said, "but he went with them. Later on, my mother called down there and the officers told her the same thing, that they were holding him for Mississippi officials."

Until a woman with a heavy foreign accent called the Tri-State Defender last week and told about a woman being in a destitute condition at 284 Adolphus street, Mrs. Davis did not know what had become of her husband.

Then too, she had other major problems: how to feed the children and keep a roof over their heads.

ONE BUNCH OF GREENS

Calling at the home, a reporter found the family with only one 24-pound sack of flour and a bunch of greens left by a sympathetic huckster standing between the family and starvation.

Mrs. Davis said the children had only had a piece of bread for their breakfast.

While the reporter was there, a representative from a real estate firm came and wanted to know how soon she would be able to pay the rent. She has been given until today (Wednesday) to bring her rent up to date. This past weekend, Mrs. Davis did not have a nickel on it, and she believes she will be put out, because the woman in the other side of the house with seven children was recently evicted for non-payment.

FROM PLANTATION

Mrs. Davis said that she and her husband and children moved on to the W. V. Mabley plantation at Coshoma, Miss., last March with four rooms of furniture and her husband was paid four dollars a day for driving a tractor.

In June, she said they were told to leave and not take anything with them, and they left in a second-hand car which they bought after "making a crop" on the previous plantation.

"We moved, because we didn't want to be killed," she said. "We did borrow twelve dollars on it to carry it through inspection," she recalled, "but that was taken out of the money Mr. Mabley paid my husband."

After coming to Memphis, Mr. Davis obtained a job doing construction work, earning at least two and half times as much as he was able to make on the plantation in Mississippi.

SERVING TIME

A call was made to the Coahoma County jail in Clarksdale, Miss., and the jailer informed this newspaper that Mr. Davis had been tried and found guilty of "borrowing money with the intent to defraud" and "carrying mortgaged property out of the state," and that Judge Rodney Brooks had sentenced him to six months in the county jail and fined him $500.

Charges were brought against him by Mr. Mabley, his former employer in Coahoma.

Mrs. Davis said that the only thing they brought out of the state was the 1949 Studebaker sedan. After they got to Memphis, various neighbors contributed enough used furniture for them to outfit the three-room house in which they now live.

One of Mrs. Davis' neighbors told the reporter that she would like to help the woman and her 10 children, but that she was presently having a difficult time feeding her own family.

FOOD SENT

Mrs. Davis said she visited the State Welfare department, but was told that she had not been living in Tennessee the required time to be considered for help.

The children, nine boys and one girl, range in ages from 16 to three weeks.

The plight of the family was revealed during services last Saturday at the Mississippi Blvd. Seventh Day Adventist church, and the officers voted out enough funds to feed the family for at least 10 days. The food was delivered Saturday night and the woman and her children expressed their gratitude.

NOTE: The Tri-State Defender has noted through past years that whenever a case of this kind has come to the attention of its readers, they have always come to the rescue and shared their blessings with others. And the staff has also assisted in these instances.

SHARE BLESSINGS

As we prepare to give thanks for another year, it would be well to consider the poor in our midst, who have been forced to suffer.

The woman's most pressing need is for her rent, but her children do not have proper clothing — most of them need shoes.

Both individuals and organizations may wish to assist Mrs. Davis and her children.

Flashbulbs Pop As Lockard Takes Oath

Only one reporter and one photographer were on hand when Atty. H. T. Lockard opened his campaign headquarters in a building at the corner of Wellington and Beale several weeks ago.

But it was a different story on Monday morning when he took the oath of Justice of Peace of the Shelby County Quarterly Court and took his seat as one of the squires.

The 44-year-old attorney was sworn in by Judge William B. Leffler of Circuit Court, who said the new squire had shown himself capable of performing the duties of the office to which he was elected on Nov. 3.

Looking on while flashbulbs popped and newsreel cameras rolled were members of Squire

Lockard's family and other friends who remained for the swearing in of Downing Pryor, local automobile dealer, who was elected to fill the other vacancy on the court.

Mr. Pryor received the oath of office from Judge Robert McRae, who said he expected his fellow church member to serve government in the same way he has devoted himself to civic and business in the community.

Both of the newly-elected squires made brief remarks after they received the oaths. Mr. Lockard ended up by introducing nearly everyone who had come to the court for the ceremony.

Mrs. Pryor was also present to see her husband accept his seat on the Shelby County Quarterly Court.

Douglass Unit Tops In Veterans' Day Parade

Douglass High School's NDCC Unit won first place again for the fourth consecutive year as Veterans' Day was celebrated by the citizens of Memphis with the annual parade.

Thousands of Memphians stood solemnly as members of the military saluted passing American flags during the recent parade along Main Street. Both NDCC and ROTC Units of our city schools participated in the parade as tribute was paid to veterans who helped defend our great country in times of peace and war.

Manassas, Booker T. Washington and Carver High bands were interwoven between the NDCC units to delight and entertain the many spectators with military music.

'MISS NDCC'

Miss Gwendolyn Jones, senior at Douglass High School and winner of the city title, "Miss NDCC of 1964-65" led the NDCC units of the parade.

All units marched with precision in a most dignified and military manner. Douglass High School's NDCC unit won first place for their performance before the judges stand at Court Square. This year makes the fourth consecutive time Douglass' unit has won first place for their precision. Hamilton High won second place and Carver High third.

After the parade, the NDCC sponsors, captains, lieutenant colonels and queens were treated to a luncheon at the mid-town branch of Holiday Inn. They were guests of the professor of military science of the NDCC units, Major George Robinson.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Lee Thompson, assistant superintendent of the Memphis City Schools, and Attorney H. T. Lockard, guest speaker emphasized the role every person in America could play in keeping our country safe, strong and democratic.

"Veterans Day is a U.S. National holiday honoring veterans of the armed forces on the anniversary of the date in 1918 when the Allies granted an armistice to the Central Powers in World War I. It was formerly called Armistice Day.

Ex-Sudan Chief Quits Country

KHARTOUM, Sudan — (UPI) — President Ibrahim Abboud, who was forced to yield most of his power to a civilian government last month, quit as chief of state and commander of the armed forces.

There were reports that Abboud, who took power in a 1958 coup, had left the country.

He announced his resignation in a broadcast to the nation. He was leaving, he said, "in accordance with the people's wishes to end military rule in all its forms."

Ten days of riots, demonstrations, and strikes last month resulted in 40 deaths and forced Abboud, a 64-year old British-trained officer, to turn over his premiership to a civilian, Sirr-El-Khatm El Khalifa.

Khalifa hailed Abboud's resignation as "expressive of the nation's wish for stability." It said this would pave the way for the elections it has promised.

touched by progress of the movement.

"So far there has been only an attempt to put certain Negroes at the fringes of the power structure," he said.

Lomax predicted that one of the major problems that will confront Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and his non-violent movement will be "keeping peace with his own people."

"If the Negro gets his freedom through non-violence it will be the first time in history it has happened," Lomax said. "Everything you have gotten in America has been in blood."

Lomax, who lectures all over the world on the American racial scene and who has announced intentions to go next to Red China, said the only thing that can prevent an uprising by Negro masses is a basic change in the attitude of white people.

"I don't see overt violence on the part of the Negro," Lomax said. "I do see self defense."

"I see the masses of Negroes losing their final straw of faith in the integrity of the American power structure. I am afraid Negroes are ready to tear up this country because when you have 20 million people who do not have full freedom that's just too many mad people."

On the recent election, Lomax said southerners voted for Barry Goldwater strictly on the race issue.

"We know you white southerners are fickle lovers," he said. "You would have voted the Communist ticket if it had come out against us (the Negroes). The moment you deserted the Democratic party, you gave us strength. Now it is up to you to decide whether the South will change or be washed away emotionally."

Miss. Tries To Halt Freedom Unit

JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI) — The state moved to halt operation of the "Freedom Democratic Party," which said it would challenge seating of the Mississippi delegation to the 89th Congress.

Chancery Court Judge Stokes Robertson hear a state suit asking him to make permanent an injunction he issued earlier forbidding the predominantly Negro group from functioning.

The state's action came under a law giving the first political party registering a name exclusive rights to the name. The Regular Democratic party had registered the word "Democratic."

EDP Atty. Melvin Zarr of New York City argued the organization was the only political group loyal to the Democratic party and its candidates. Lawrence Guyot, chairman of FDP, announced in Washington the group would seek to prevent seating of the Mississippi delegation on grounds it was illegally elected.

FDP produced the major battle of the Democratic National Convention this year with a challenge to the seating of the regular Mississippi delegation. Their challenge brought a demand that regular Democrats sign a loyalty oath before they could be seated.

FDP was formed as an outgrowth of the Summer civil rights drive in the state. FDP leaders said they started the movement because they were not allowed to participate in Democratic Party activities in the state.

Ala. Negroes Initiate Restaurant Rights Suit

BIRMINGHAM — (UPI) — Attorneys brought direct suit under terms of the civil rights law in behalf of two Negroes who allege a restaurant refused to serve them.

It was the first time in Alabama that Negroes had initiated their own action for protection under the public accommodations section of the new law and was believed to be the first such action in the country.

The Justice Department had previously brought the only litigation under the act.

The Negroes, Leola Hoyt and Joseph Faulkner, both of Gadsden, Ala., charged they were refused service at the "Rebel's Roost" restaurant by the owner, Mrs. Mary Bailey.

They said they entered the restaurant at Gadsden, frequented mostly by working people, on Aug. 5 and were refused service both times.

Negro Attorney Oscar W.

Adams Jr. filed the suit in the Federal District Court here. He asked that the restaurant be enjoined from the alleged discrimination and asked for a "speedy" hearing.

The attorney said Mrs. Bailey violated section two of the Civil Rights Act by refusing service to Leola Hoyt and her daughter, Shirley, on Aug. 1, and Faulkner on Aug. 5.

Faulkner said he was told by a waiter when he entered the restaurant and sat down to be served that he could not be served inside but would be served "out of the back door." He said he answered that he liked it inside the restaurant and the waiter "began cursing and told us that we would have to leave the premises because he did not serve Negroes on the inside of the place."

The waiter was identified as the petitioner as Walter Joe Bailey, 38, husband of the owner.

"I believe in rights for Negroes," Bailey said, "but I want my own rights, too."

The restaurant is in an old section of Gadsden called Alabama City.

In previous litigation to force compliance with the civil rights section, the Justice Department brought suits in Tuscaloosa. A white man in Birmingham filed suit to overthrow the law.

Left Side DOWN FRONT!

STREET VENDORS who had not gotten the word that the parade would be confined to Main Street, set up their candy apple and popcorn stands on the usual spots on Beale only to see the crowd keep walking. Some had enough of the confections left to last the rest of the year. Is there such a thing as a candy apple cobbler? It sounds good, and a person with enough of the gooey fruit left over might be able to win a prize with a new recipe.

Mammoth Training Supervisor Receives CLU Certificate

LOUISVILLE — Curtis H. Norris, supervisor of training, Mammoth Life and Accident Insurance company has attained the Chartered Life Underwriter designation and is privileged now to use the term CLU after his name and to wear the CLU key.

Mr. Norris is also eligible for membership in the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, a professional body whose principal objective is to maintain high standards of insurance service to the public. The American College of Life Underwriters grants the C.L.U. or C.L.U. associated designation to persons in life and health insurance who pass a and ethical requirements of the college.

This year 1,100 men and women will be awarded the designation, bringing to 12,722 the number who have received it since the college was founded in 1927.

JOINED IN '51
Mr. Norris joined Mammoth Life and Accident company in 1951, and served as district manager of the Indianapolis office from that year until 1962 when he became supervisor of training for the company and was transferred to the home office in Louisville.

He is married to the former Miss Minnie Calloway of Atlanta. They are the parents of two daughters. Mr. Norris received the bachelor of science degree in business administration from West Virginia State some years past, the NDCC units have been detoured down Beale when they got to that intersection on Main, but this year all participants continued to the area designated for dispersal.

THE SADDEST WORDS: "It might have been," Lewis Taliaferro, who would like to go

THE VETERANS DAY parade down Main Street last week was a mere march until the section led by the Manassas High school band arrived on the scene and gave it that old time parade spirit. All of the NDCC units were sharp and snappy, and all of the NDCC girls pretty, riding in the convertibles.

MAIN STREET ONLY—In to Washington, might be pondering that quotation now. Mr. Taliaferro wanted to run for the post which was won by George Grider, but he changed his mind for some reason and decided to seek his old seat in the State Senate. On Nov. 3, he ended up as the most popular candidate in the county with 116,000 plus votes. A couple years ago he came in third behind Rep. Clifford Davis and Ross Pritchard in the Democratic primary. Well, there will be other elections, and a fellow can keep trying.

BTW Teachers Hear Three At Luncheon

Members of the faculty of Booker T. Washington High school are getting acquainted with the various services being made available by social and welfare organizations by hearing various representatives at assemblies.

Recently the faculty, led by Principal J. D. Springer, attended a luncheon meeting at First Baptist Church Lauderdale. Before the luncheon they heard an address by Juvenile Court Judge Kenneth Turner. Present for the luncheon were Miss Ruth Downing and Mrs. Loretta Kateo, both of Family Service.

Judge Turner pointed out the ways in which teachers can work with Juvenile Court in preventing and reducing the juvenile delinquency rate. During a question and answer period he explained the results of stricter application of laws at his court.

Mrs. Kateo served as mistress of ceremonies for the meeting, and Miss Downing told about the services which are offered by their agency.

The meeting was sponsored by Sears Roebuck and company through the arrangements made by Taylor C. D. Hayes and B. M. Riley, retail manager of the store.

Also present for the meeting was Mose Walker, Jr., assistant principal of the school.

ROY WILKINS

Wilkins Tells GOP Leaders 'Think Negro'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (UPI)

— Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said Negro Republicans "will be back in the party as soon as it represents some of their views."

Wilkins said there are many Negro Republicans and although they bolted this year to support President Lyndon Johnson, they are not lost for good.

Wilkins did not elaborate on the "views" he spoke of, but it was clear he referred to Barry Goldwater's vote against the Civil Rights Bill.

Wilkins told a news conference he was gratified with the way most places in the South have made a start toward compliance with the civil rights law. But he added there still are "pockets" of non-compliance.

He singled out Mississippi as the "worst state in the union" as far as race relations go and said the NAACP will urge the Federal government to re-examine the allocation of federal funds to that state in the fields of space, military and educational aid "to determine if it should be withheld."

EDITORS CHAT WITH MEMPHIAN—Recent visitors to the Tennessee State university campus were Emmanuel Abiola Olosope, news editor of Radio Nigeria, and Michael A. O. The Walker Avenue PTA observed American Education Week during its recent regular monthly meeting.

Presenting the program were members of sixth grade classes with the fifth grade choir furnishing the music under the direction of Miss Phyllis Brooks.

The theme and purpose of American Education Week were given by Mrs. F. M. Davis, program chairman. An appeal for new PTA memberships was made by the membership chairman, Mrs. Jerlene Taylor.

Charles Patterson, the principal, urged all parents to visit Walker Elementary during American Education Week.

Mrs. Valeria Fifer is president of the school's PTA chapter.

RAIDERS OFFER MORTON $200,000

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — The San Francisco Chronicle reported that the Oakland Raiders have offered University of California quarterback Craig Morton a five-year contract totalling $200,000.

According to the dispatch, the Raiders earlier had made Morton a three-year, $125,000 offer. The American Football League club upped its offer, the Chronicle said, in anticipation of bidding competition from the New York Giants.

The Giants currently own the worst record (2-6-2) in the National Football League and should they finish last, they would have first choice in the annual NFL draft on Nov. 28.

College Degree Worth $6,500, Says Walker

NASHVILLE — "The walls of segregation are crumbling fast and you must be ready," Dr. A. Maceo Walker told Tennessee State University students last Tuesday.

Featured speaker during the university's American Education Week observance, the Universal Life Insurance company president admonished, "Education pays the highest dividends and is the only investment that pays off to the tune of forty-to-one in our modern economy."

Proving his point that "Education pays dividends," Dr. Walker outlined the yearly earnings according to the number of years spent in the educational process.

BIG DIFFERENCE

He said, "Those who drop out before the eighth grade earn an average of $2,550 yearly, those who get a high school diploma earn $5,567 and a college degree commands $9,206 annually. There is a six and one half thousand-dollar a year advantage in getting a college degree."

"Technological advances of today move so swiftly that early school drop outs are an 8 to 1 bet to end up on welfare," the Bluff City money whiz explained.

He concluded, "With the increased opportunities for trained minds and skilled hands, it is time that our churches, fraternal and social organizations channel more money into the education of our bright young students."

SERVING 1,000,000 NEGROES IN THE TRI-STATE AREA

Political History

Some few but intriguing precedents were established in the course of the national elections. For the first time since it was created in 1800, the District of Columbia was allowed to ballot for the Presidential and the Vice Presidential candidates. And Washington brightened the capital on Election Day with parades, led by high schools bands.

The constitutional amendment giving residents of the District the right to vote was passed by the House only after a provision for two Senators and two Representatives had been deleted.

The biggest bloc of votes was registered by Negro Democrats who outnumber Republicans by more than three to one. Goldwater was never a favorite among the city's large middle-class Negro population and even among rock-solid white Republicans there were many desertions to Lyndon B. Johnson.

The head of the District's Republican committee was so discouraged by the Negroes lack of enthusiasm for the GOP ticket, that he finally abandoned the campaign for their votes. Goldwater himself made a great deal of Washington's high crime rate, which he attributed to Negroes in the slums. Yet he voted against the welfare measures that would have eased the anguished and the pangs of the unfortunate.

Goldwater, throughout the campaign, spoke with vehemence against Federal aid in any form or shape for the masses. He prescribed the old nostrum of rugged Americanism as an antidote to poverty. He was not interested in allaying social unrest as a result of hunger, unrelieved misery and hopelessness. He said that people were poor by design.

The Arizona Senator was against giving the right to vote to residents of the District. He was against that most cherished of principles—local self-government. And there is not a word about home rule in the GOP platform.

Another precedent was established when the President's wife,

Lady Bird Johnson, took the campaign trail on behalf of her candidate-husband. Not since the late Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt roamed the world as her husband's "eyes and ears" has a President's wife made such a political impact as has Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

She journeyed through eight states of the Old Confederacy, speaking and visiting hovels and coal mines, Negro slums, and one-room country school houses, telling the one-fifth of the nation which lives in poverty that it is not forgotten.

Early in October, she was assigned the task, never before given to a First Lady, of holding a major region for her husband—the South which was breaking away from its traditional moorings. President Johnson's open support for Civil rights had embittered the whole South. But Lady Bird kept Goldwater from swaying the entire Southland to his views.

Though the Senator carried six Southern states, there were nine others below the Mason and Dixon Line that voted for Johnson. The credit belongs assuredly to Mrs. Johnson. The President and his running mate, Hubert Humphrey made scatter-shot visits to key areas. However, the main thrust in the South was the Lady Bird Special, a carnival train with nineteen coaches, featuring pretty girls, balloons, banners, campaign buttons, whistles, LBJ hats and a mass of other political paraphernalia, in addition to serious speeches from the train's back platform by the First Lady and her companions.

Mrs. Johnson's speeches emphasized her identity with the South, where she grew up. She told the crowds that gathered round the train in 47 cities that she and her husband respected and valued that part of the country. She warmed the Southern heart with a broad smile and a message that was both eloquent and sincere. Lady Bird Johnson represents a unique chapter in American political history.

Unpopular Cases

In his address at the dedication of a new law school building at Boston University, Chief Justice Earl Warren, flayed the legal profession for lapse in carrying out its moral obligation toward prisoners with meritorious cases.

He said it did not "reflect credit" on the legal profession when prisoners with valid defenses had to write petitions to the Supreme Court in their own handwriting from their cells.

The defense of those accused of crime, Chief Justice Warren said, "has been downgraded to a point where it is considered by most lawyers not to be respectable to represent unpopular defendants regardless of the merits of their cases."

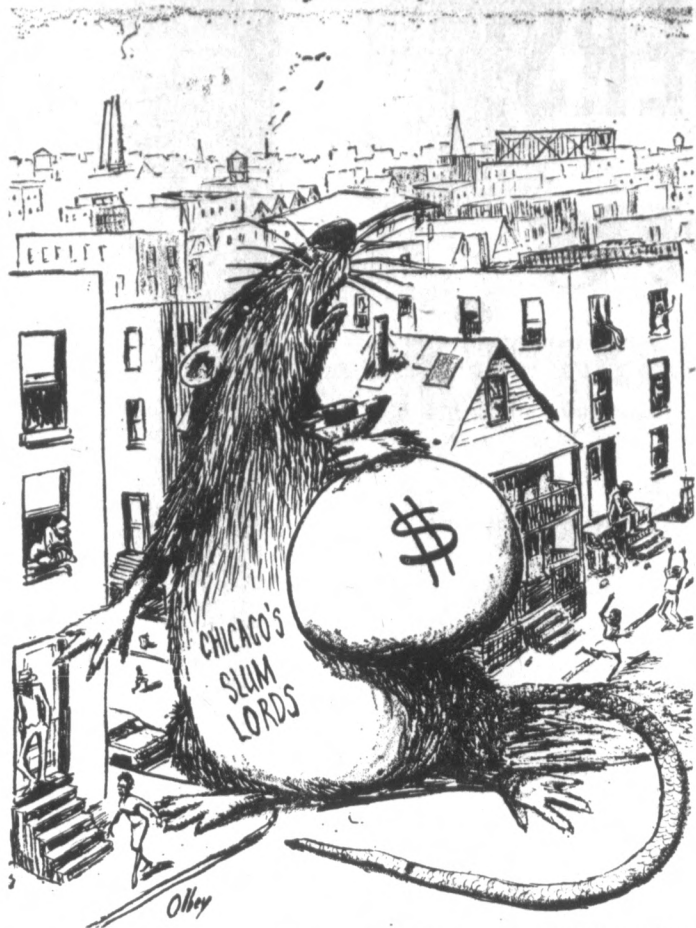

Mr. Warren, who holds an honorary degree from Boston University was given a special citation at the dedication convocation.

"Every lawyer, I feel, has an obligation, somewhat higher than one not privileged to be in our profession, and that is to further the cause of sound government," the Chief Justice declared.

Too frequently have prisoners been denied professional legal service by lawyers who have neither the moral courage nor the intellectual integrity to maintain the lofty traditions of their code. The fear of public censure haunts them in their dreams. They think it below their dignity to defend persons already in jail however wrong may be the ground on which they were apprehended.

This lapse in moral obligation is much exercised by successful members of the bar. They feel that they cannot lend their names to the defense of unpopular causes and cases. They lack the will to further the cause of freedom.

After Election In Suburbia

There is always trouble in the suburbs, especially after an election and there is more trouble than usual after a national election.

Let us center our attention on one of the Democratic Town Committees. The results of the National Election have already faded from their minds. What happened at the Democratic Ball, what happened at the Democratic Rally, the poor quality of publicity has not.

Some of the folks are on the spot. It is important to remember that political town committees are usually over populated by the unsublimated women, the women who do not want Women's Clubs or the Red Cross for release but like to get down there and mix it with the men.

One can only say, reading the minutes of the meeting, heaven help the men who fall into the hands of women who want to improve the community's political image.

The Dance Chairman (who undertook the job because she had a new ball gown) erred in accepting free gifts for door prizes. She should have paid for them. Who wanted a record album "Six songs of Fighting Norway"? It was a 78 rpm album anyway and it came from World War II. And the leopard hat was too small. And the Ball Committee sold too many tickets and some of the folks couldn't get in.

The rally chairman has long since resigned. But the Town Committee wants its say anyway. Poor liaison, that's the only reason the Rally failed. Who wanted to come and hear that incumbent Congressman from Colorado? The people wanted to hear Lyndon Johnson or Lady Bird or even Hubert Humphrey. That's who they should have had for the Rally. Such presence would really excite the community.

And instead of the coffee and cake reception, the town committee could have had a gigantic cocktail party and pretty blue things in new gowns would have glided gracefully about powerful Senators and Cabinet members.

And of course, the publicity chairman is really flayed. He is a journalist and he should have had better contacts than he did. It is true the news the Town Committee may get in the paper, but what about the personal interest. Why didn't the publicity chairman write a story about the Negro bartender who made a campaign contribution of $100?

The publicity chairman has explained that he thinks a Negro has the right to contribute to causes which serve his interest without getting his picture in the paper. To write a story about a Negro contributor is to make a special point of his being a Negro. Maybe the contributor wanted simply to be counted as a Democrat.

The explanation is not going to work. The Dance Chairman, the Rally Chairman, and the Publicity Chairman are out. Art, she is pure but American politics, she is ruthless.

Gabbie Cabbie Hits It

I hailed the oncoming taxi. It was one o'clock in the morning. My companion and I had just come from the home of a friend where we had listened to the election returns. We had wanted to wait to hear the main thrill of the evening — a statement from the Arizona Senator that he had had enough.

But it had become obvious that Barry was going to act like Barry and let the public wait overnight to hear his post-mortem pronouncement. So we were on our way home.

As the cab moved toward us, I told my companion, "He just might not stop. You know this is one of the New York

Jackie Robinson Says

Object Lesson For GOP

The 1964 elections should have taught us a great deal about politics and they should have taught the Republican Party an illuminating — if humiliating — object lesson.

We experienced a deep sense of pride in the way that an almost solid phalanx of Negro voters across this country marched to the polls to help repudiate Barry Goldwater as no American political candidate has been repudiated in this century.

A National Broadcasting Company analysis shows that six million Negro voters delivered better than 90 per cent for President Johnson and extended even more support to the Democratic standard-bearer in this election than they gave the late Franklin Roosevelt.

Modest as he is, it is obvious that Hubert Humphrey's constant and courageous image with the Negro — pre-dating the era when it was fashionable to fight for integration — was of tremendous assistance to the President.

One of our big problems, as Negroes, is that we are prone to go to the polls and vote overwhelmingly for anyone who carries the label of "liberal." For years, Negroes acted as though Abraham Lincoln was still alive and running for office.

We continued to vote for FDR long after he died. Here, in New York, we looked at Bobby Kennedy and saw his brother, Jack. We went to the polls in large numbers and elected him, turning our backs on a fine, unselfish and dedicated Senator, Kenneth Keating, who worked and fought for civil rights even when he had virtually no Negro constituency.

As far as I'm concerned, Mr. Kennedy's victory means a terrible loss for the nation with Senator Keating becoming a casualty of the Goldwater debacle.

Red Switch Still Mystery

WASHINGTON — The meaning of the leadership change in Russia probably will be clouded in mystery for months to come, but high-placed U.S. government officials are convinced that Russian-American relations played a minor role in the matter.

At this writing, domestic policies in the U.S.S.R. are given top ranking as the factor that caused the downfall of Nikita Khrushchev.

Running a close second is the strained relationship between Russia and Red China.

In the context of Soviet attitudes, Khrushchev was classified as a "liberal," as opposed to some other Russian leaders who advocated a "hard" line toward their own people and toward other, capitalist countries.

It is interesting therefore to note that the acknowledged new No. 1 man in Russia, Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, has been talking in terms of more consumer goods for the Russian people. To the extent that he backs up his words with actions, it will tend to further ease tensions between the Russians and the capitalist world.

There is always concern in Washington about taking Russian leaders' pronouncements at face value, however. They must think politically, too, and it is not unreasonable to assume that at least some of their words directed toward attracting the favor of their own people can be classified as "campaign oratory."

areas where white cab drivers don't stop sometimes, after they notice you are a Negro. And besides," I added, "maybe he voted for Goldwater."

The cab stopped. We got in and gave the driver instructions. He said nothing and took off like he was evil.

"He did not vote for him," I whispered to my friend. She giggled.

Five blocks later, the cab driver sounded off.

"I'm sure glad this messy campaign is over," he declared. "This country give it to this here Goldwater good. Who the hell does he think he is, trying to divide this country with that race stuff? Well, he didn't get away with it. In this country the people are the boss. And, boy, that big boss spoke in a big voice."

He went on and on, spelling out his beliefs that Americans had slapped down the monster of racism.

When we got out of the cab, we didn't know whether this was a sincere man or a guy talking for a big tip. But he got a big tip.

Maybe it was because we both were feeling good; feeling like America owed itself a handshake.

Merry Go-Round

By Mrs. Emogene W. Wilson

NEGRO AMERICANS have every right to appreciate Veteran's Day. There has been no war in America, nor involving America, in which we have not served. As the years have passed, the depth and scope of participation has broadened, and yielded heroes second to none anywhere in every branch of service. And so, it is fitting and proper that Veteran's Day parades reflect this development.

Time has brought about many changes for the betterment of and the increased advantage to our community. A great and wonderful change is the inception of the NDCC units in our high schools that prepare our youth for future military service. They are trained by many outstanding war veterans.

Our congratulations to Douglass High for maintaining such an enviable record of top performances... their fourth consecutive first place win... and to Hamilton and Carver High Schools for the outstanding units which they possess... they have consistently placed high during the annual judging.

MR. WILLIAM MONGER 1411 Wilson Street, was honored by his wife, Mrs. FINNIE MONGER at a reception commemorating his retirement from service with the Illinois Central Railroad last week.

Many friends and relatives were present to help observe the occasion. Tributes of inspiration... and admonition... were given by LEROY WILLIAMS, SAMUEL WHITE, LEROY SUTTLES; Mesdames ALFRED NIX and RUBY BANKHEAD, and REV. D. S. CUNNINGHAM, pastor of Mt. Pisgah CME church, Toastmaster was W. A. HOLEMAN. Mrs. Bankhead and Mr. Suttles rendered vocal selections, Mrs. SAMMIE ATKINS was at the piano.

Among the many guests were Mr. and Mrs. ALONZO STANBACK; Mrs. ARA McKISSACK; Mrs. MABEL BROWNLEE; Mrs. MAMIE HOLMES; Mr. and Mrs. WILLIE CLARK; Mr. and Mrs. CLINTON DAVIDSON, Mrs. W. A. HOLEMAN, ALFRED NIX, SAMMIE ATKINS, Mr. and Mrs. CHESTER JEANS, Mr. and Mrs. HARDY Savage and daughter, Jan; Mrs. LEROY SUTTLES, Mrs. LOUELLA MERRIWEATHER, JOHN HILL, Miss ROBBIE HOLMES, Mrs. HATTIE MUSE, Mrs. EDITH SIMS, Mrs. VELMA BEAUCHAMP, Mrs. PERCOLA CASH, Miss FRANKIE CASE, Mrs. ANNIE IRENE HOLMES, Mrs. GOLOLA SMALL and Mrs. MARY WOODS.

SEVERAL MEMPHIANS were on hand recently when Mrs. VIVIAN BEAMON of Cincinnati, Ohio initiated a new chapter of Links, Inc. in Jackson, Tenn. They were, Mesdames LILLIAN CAMPBELL, ALMA R. BOOTH, ADDIE D. JONES, and JEWEL GENTRY HULBERT, all members of the Memphis chapter of Links, Inc.

The group joined their husbands (connecting Links) for a formal dinner at the Holiday Inn on Highway 45 N. A champagne sip at the spacious home of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. BELL climaxed the evening.

THE STALEY HOME of MISS MATTIE BELL on Boyd Avenue was the setting for the entertainment of the Phyllis Wheatley club for the month of November.

During the business session, plans were made to fill Christmas baskets for the needy. An annual project, the baskets are delivered one or two days before Christmas. A donation was voted in behalf of the NAACP "Miss Social Belle" contest.

Mrs. LULA POPE received compliments for the unique tree which she designed with fall leaves, under which names of each member appeared. Each member picked a leaf revealing the member for whom she will bring a gift at the December meeting. Needless to say, the tree was the center of interest... with much secrecy abounding as to the name each person had drawn.

Gussing games and riddles were enjoyed... Mrs. AUGUSTA CASH was the lucky winner after a special drawing to break a four way tie. Miss ISABELLE GREENLEE won the club prize; while the guest prize was won by Miss CATHERINE JOHNSON. Other guests present were Mesdames JENNIE TARPLEY, ETHEL TARPLEY and HARRIET WALKER.

After a delicious buffet supper, complimentary expressions were made to the gracious hostess... and all the guests were ready to return to the next meeting... Club reporter is MRS. ISABELLE ROULHAC.

THE RETIRED TEACHERS COUNCIL of Memphis-Shelby County held its quarterly meeting recently at the Sarah Brown Branch of the YWCA MISS GUSSE THREAT, the president, presided. Mrs. D. J. Thomas led Devotion and was in charge of the program.

Guest speaker was REV. W. J. NEAL, pastor Warner Temple AME Zion Church who found the group very attentive to his inspiring message. Mrs. J. L. CAMPBELL spoke on the origin of the Council and paid tribute to the founders, especially Mrs. Perkins.

Forty-five members were in attendance. The new members present were: Miss ISABELLE GREENLEE, Mrs. MARIE RAWLINGS, ROBERT ROSS, IRA EMERY, Mrs. MATTIE DUDLEY, Mrs. ALICE JORDAN, and Mrs. BLANCH STEVENSON.

Group No. 1 of which Mrs. SARAH O. BROWN is chairman, served a delicious luncheon. The next meeting of the Council will be the third Wednesday in January, 1965.

THE YW-WIVES held one of their most interesting and informative sessions of the year when they gathered for their monthly luncheon meeting at the Sarah Brown Branch YWCA recently.

Topic for the meeting was Religious Denominations — their rituals, and beliefs, etc. Discussions were led by lay persons who gave many facts and other pertinent data for the reflections of the group assembled.

Speakers and their denominations were: Mrs. H. A. COLLINS, SR. — Congregational; Mrs. HATTIE R. BRAITHWAITE — Episcopal; Mrs. A. W. Jefferson — Catholic; Mrs. MARY MURPHY — Methodist (A.M.E. & Zion); and Mrs. MARTHA DULANEY — Baptist. Such a lively discussion erupted from these presentations that time did not permit inclusion of other denominations. They will be scheduled for a future date to be announced.

Meetings are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month. The next meeting will have as its topic, "World Fellowship Brotherhood." Principle speaker on this occasion will be Mrs. MARY FRANCES LACEY, executive director of the Metropolitan YWCA, who is leaving her post in Memphis to become a member of the staff of the National YWCA at Atlanta. A familiar figure to local women in "Y" work, she has been in Memphis for nine years.

If you are interested in attending these monthly luncheon meetings, you may contact, Mrs. P.F. CARRUTHERS, chairman 942-4798, or Sarah Brown Branch, YWCA 1044 Miss Blvd.

JACKSON — Mrs. Vivian Beamon of Cincinnati, Ohio, initiated a new chapter of Links, Inc., in Jackson, Tenn., on Saturday, Nov. 7. The ceremony was held in the conference room of the I. B. Tigrett Science building.

The 12 women who are charter members of the Jackson Links are Mesdames Vivian Bell, president; Annie Bond, treasurer; Gladys Bronaugh, historian; Edna Cawthorne, vice president; Anna Cooke, journalist; Odessa Dunlap, Gertrude Ford, Marietta Hughes, Alice Kirkendoll, Rosetta McKissack, corresponding secretary; Alene Maney, parliamentarian; and Essie Perry, secretary.

Assisting Mrs. Beamon, national president of Links, in the initiation ceremonies were Mrs. Mildred Freeman and Charlie M. Singleton of the Nashville chapter.

Other guests were Mrs. Lillian Campbell, Mrs. Jewel Gentry Hulbert, Mrs. Alma Roulhac Booth and Addie D. Jones of the Memphis chapter of Links, Inc.

DINED WITH HUSBANDS
Glamorously attired in dinner clothes, the Links were joined by Connecting Links (husbands) for dinner at the famed Holiday Inn on Highway 45 N.

The dining room tables were beautifully decorated with center pieces of white roses, the traditional flower of Links, surrounded by silver candelabra with lighted candles.

A champagne sip at the spacious home of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Bell climaxed the evening.

The Links program has a three-fold purpose: social, civic and cultural. Its main objective is to deal with the problems of youth.

The Jackson chapter brings up to 98 the number of chapters in the United States.

Crush Rebels In Tanzania Plot

ZANZIBAR, Tanzania — (UPI) Zanzibar's communist-backed government announced that it has crushed an attempted revolution by members of the former ruling party.

Abel Karume, vice president of Tanzania, the union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar, said that five of the plotters already have been sentenced to death.

The plotters were identified as members of the Arab-dominated Nationalist Party, which ruled this spice island briefly between the time Britain granted it independence and Karume's predominantly African followers seized power early this year.

TSU Grad Students To Read Research Papers

NASHVILLE — Two Tennessee State University students have been selected to read research papers at the Tennessee Academy of Science's two-day meeting November 27-28.

Senior Charles Jiles and graduate student Ivan Davis will be joined by William Briggs, biology department technician at the speakers' platform during the Memphis State University-Staged Academy of Science meeting. All three did their research under the guidance of Dr. John M. Mallette, biology graduate division head, who is also scheduled to present a paper before the Academy.

Graduate researcher Davis, the University President's son, will report on work associated with cardio-vascular diseases, attempting to prove that there might be some difference in the effects of cholesterol injected into the bloodstream and that taken in through the digestive process. Davis' paper is entitled "The Retention of Cholesterol When Fed and Injected Into Adult Swiss Albino Male Mice."

Mobile, Alabama senior Jiles, using chick embryos, conducted an investigation entitled "Some Effects of Maternal Immunization Against Organ Tissues on the Embryonic Differentiation of the Chicken." Jiles concluded that they have been able to induce certain abnormalities by injecting damaged brain tissue in a solution into the pregnant female before offspring's birth. The injection of damaged heart tissue produced no abnormalities.

Fayetteville, Tennessee's

Briggs, drawing aid from S. Cohen of Vanderbilt University's Biochemistry Department, made reasoned attempts at isolating a growth promoting factor. The Mallette-Briggs-Cohen research tried to show that protein has the ability to produce growth and development on certain embryonic tissue.

Dr. Mallette's original investigation report and Davis' research paper will be read to the zoology division of the Academy. Mallette's investigation deals with "Some Effects of Proteins Isolated Zoology From Mice Salivary Glands on the Esophageal Epithelium of 11-day Chick Embryos."

Jiles will read his paper before the Collegiate Division of the Academy.

NAACP Lawyers Fight Miss. Beer Jail Case

NEW ORLEANS — SPECIAL TO THE DEFENDER — NAACP Legal Defense Fund lawyers asked the U.S. Court of Appeals here to release a Negro citizen from a Mississippi jail where he has been held for two months for "possession of intoxicating liquor."

Clyde Harvey, active in civil rights in his native Leake County, Mississippi, was arrested on July 10, 1964 for having two cans of beer in his refrigerator.

Mississippi is allegedly a "dry" state.

Harvey was released the same day of his arrest. However, he was rearrested September 9 and advised that he had been convicted of possession of beer subsequent to his earlier arrest.

This was the first time he had heard of the conviction and sentence. Harvey told Legal Defense Fund lawyers in explaining why he did not ask for an appeal.

By that date, Harvey's time to appeal—40 days—had run out. Legal Defense Fund attorneys noted that a summons for Mr. Harvey's arrest was issued on the precise day that his forty-day appeal period terminated.

Two thirds of Harvey's jail term has already been served. He was returning from attempting to register his wife when originally arrested. The Harveys were also aiding workers of the Mississippi Summer Project sponsored by the Congress of Federated Organizations.

Harvey sought out the local justice of the peace three times during the eleven days after his initial arrest and asked what the charges against him were on each occasion.

He was told not to inquire again on his third visit and was advised that he would be told of the next proceeding.

Then, on September 9, he was told that he had been tried on July 23rd (his first knowledge) and had been convicted and sentenced to the maximum of 90 days in jail and $500 fine.

However, on October 7, Legal Defense Fund lawyers filed a petition in the U.S. District Court in Jackson, asking that Mr. Harvey's case be removed to the Federal Court, that he be released from jail, and that reasonable bail be set.

District Court Judge, Sidney R. Mize denied all three Legal Defense Fund motions on October 14th.

An appeal was immediately taken to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Pending the outcome of that appeal, Legal Defense Fund lawyers are asking Judge Tuttle to release Mr. Harvey, who has now spent two months in jail.

The case is being handled by Melvyn Zarr of the Legal Defense Fund's New York headquarters; Professor Anthony Amsterdam of the University of Pennsylvania Law School and Dr. Jess Brown of Jackson, Miss.

Say Top Georgia Democrats Gave State To Republicans

From The Defender's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Speculation in Atlanta is that Sen. Richard Russell's trip to Europe just before the election, and silence from Sen. Herman Talmadge gave the state to the Goldwater Republicans.

In the midst of this shocking fact of political life in Georgia, a state that has never gone Republican since there was a two-party system as we knew it before the Republican National Convention in California, is the even more shocking fact that the Negroes of Fulton County have elected another Negro Senator to the Georgia State Senate!

On the first Monday in January, Sen. Horace Ward, an Atlanta lawyer, will join second term Sen. Leroy Johnson who returned to the state legislature with 21,035 votes out of a possible 24,270! His opponent, Dr. Roy Bell, an Atlanta dentist wrestled only 3,000 votes from incumbent Johnson.

Latest reports indicate that the country is the problem in Georgia for 81 per cent of Atlanta's 70,000 registered Negro voters went to the polls Tuesday.

In addition, the Negroes voted in a liberal white candidate to the U.S. House of Representatives. He is James McKay of Dekalb County, who won by ing Clay from the champion's home town, gave Cassius a certificate for heavyweight world champion drawn up last June by the World Boxing Association (WBA).

Since that same WBA was stripping Cassius of his world championship on Aug. 28 for announcing a return fight with Liston, Cassius said, "this certificate has come too late and I'll send it back to them."

He added, "they don't recognize me as champion now, but all of the Supreme Court decision desegregating schools."

Negroes in Atlanta feel the new legislator deserves their support since he has always been a Liberal.

By contrast, U.S. Representative Charles Weltner, who has been considered questionable, but "willing to learn better" also received full support of the Negro community.

Rep. Weltner failed to support the Civil Rights Act of 1964 until the bill returned from the Senate after passage for House revisions. By that time, re-appointment had given him a predominantly Negro district.

And how do Atlantans feel surrounded by the Goldwater Republicans?

"Just as safe as if we were at a revival meeting! We did our part for the Democrats!" said a top native of Atlanta.

MITCHELL UPSETS MANASSAS

With a narrow loss to Lester depriving them of their first undefeated season the Mitchell Road Tigers upset Manassas 7-2 in a postponed game last Thursday night at Melrose Stadium. The game was originally scheduled for November 7th but reset because of heavy rains.

The layoff might have hurt the Prep League Tigers who had been improving with each game since early season losses to Melrose and Carver. Mitchell, however, was not to be denied and was champing at the bit to get some measure of revenge after dropping two lopsided contests to Manassas the past two years.

William Partee, Mitchell's all around fullback, bulled his way across the goal line from the two yard line in the first quarter to give the Shelby County Tigers the working margin that proved enough despite some late game jitters that almost gave the game to Manassas.

As a matter of fact Manassas let two golden opportunities slip away in the final two minutes of the game. Manassas got its first break in the final period when the Mitchell safetyman couldn't get out of the way of a line drive low punt. The ball bounded away and Manassas recovered. The Manassas drive gained momentum but Mitchell held for downs deep in its own territory.

In what might have been the key play for Mitchell, even though it cost them two points, James Clark was tackled in the end zone after retrieving a high pass from center. Mitchell threw up an umbrella around the passing attack that had carried Manassas to seven victories this season.

Mitchell was holed in again in the last two minutes but Manassas showed a little anxiety of its own. Wilbert Trigg skirted left end from the 11 for what the large Manassas homecoming crowd thought was the clincher but a linesman charged before the snap and drew a five yard penalty.

A stroke of luck sealed the triumph for Mitchell. Manassas recovered a fumble as Mitchell tried to run off the last minute on the clock by running the ball. On the play however Manassas was detected for having 12 players on the field. Instead of getting another chance, Mitchell retained possession of the ball.

Coach William "Red" Ross has put together a hard hitting aggregation as Mitchell's 7-1 record will attest. It appears that Carver, Lester and Mitchell, the youngest of the Memphis area, teams, have followed similar patterns to maturity. All three elevens were able to hold their own after two years of seasoning.

Because Mitchell is the only county team playing football, its boosters are hoping the Tigers might gain membership in the Prep League. There the Tigers might run into a few complications, however, on the gridiron Mitchell has proved that the Shelby Countians are of age.

MELROSE vs. CBC?
When Catholic and CBC meet for the City Championship the Terriers will be favored to reverse a 7-6 upset loss to CBC. Regardless of ends up wearing the crown, another challenger awaits the winner in the wings. There is one thing for sure if the true titlists could be determined, it would mean money in the bank for the two participating schools.

According to a spokesman for a local advertising firm the schools can share a $10,000 guarantee and a percentage of the gross game receipts. The proposed game can be played December 12th, a Saturday night at Crump Stadium. All schools considered for the postseason classic are affiliated with TSSAA. The latter organization is the governing body for schools in Tennessee holding memberships in the TSSAA.

Contacted about the game, Melrose Coach Eldridge Mitchell stated, "I'd be glad to play it for the competition it would give my boys." Melrose is slated for the Blues Bowl December 4th against Horace Mann of Little Rock, Arkansas.

A&I Beats Lincoln In First Half, 31-13

By EARL S. CLANTON III

NASHVILLE—Fleet Nolan Smith kept the Mid-Western Athletic Conference football race alive and thrilled 5,376 fans by racing 93 yards with the opening kickoff as Tennessee State romped 31-13 over Lincoln in W. S. Hale Stadium last Saturday afternoon.

Padding the Big Blues season's seventh, against two defeats, Smith set up another TD early in the second quarter with an 82-yard punt return that was just three yards short of his record set last year against Florida A&M.

Coach John Merritt's speedster took Lincoln's punt on his own 16-yard marker and outraced the field to Lincoln's two before he was hauled down by Ezekiel Moore. From the two, setback Gene Bowens, the game's and team's leading ground gainer, scored with 11:27 left in the half.

Coach Merritt's charges scored all 31 points in the first half, keeping their MWAAL record perfect at 2-0. The Big Blues close the season with a loop grid contest against Kentucky State for Homecoming Thanksgiving Day.

'TREMENDOUS GAME'

Quarterback Eldridge Dickey engineered the game's longest scoring drive on a one-yard sneak for the TD with 5:43 remaining in the opening period. Dickey marched the Merrittmen 61 yards in 12 plays.

Lincoln, 7-2 on the season and 2-1 in loop play, countered in the first two minutes of the second period as fullback Gerald Woodard plunged over from the one. Center Gerald Walker booted the extra point.

"I thought the boys played a tremendous defensive game," Coach Merritt beamed. "My boys were a little complacent on offense and it stuttered because we were trying for the long gainer," he explained.

MEMPHIS STARS

Coach Merritt indicated he was pleased with the entire team by saying, "This was a great first-half effort, and Claude Humphreys, a 6-6, 247-pound Memphis-born tackle, starred both ways in the line, just as Smith was our offensive hero."

In the kick off return department, Smith grabbed 180 yards in two returns and a TD.

Freshman placekicker Roy McNeese, snapped his 11-straight extra point boots when he missed his first afternoon's try. He started his skinn by splitting the uprights with his next two efforts and then added a 41-yard field goal for good measure. McNeese has kicked 12 of 13 extra point attempts and two of three field goal tries in his first three college games.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK—Raymond Webb, senior halfback of Manassas High school, holds the Bill Spero Chrysler-Plymouth "Player of the Week" award which he received for his performance in 32-13 win over Booker T. Washington Warriors. Webb scored 13 points in the game.

Varsity Squad Will Face 'Tough' Alumni

LeMoynes Magicians open their schedule on the night of Dec. 1, going against the college's well-balanced alumni five on the Bruce Hall floor. This stands to be one of the toughest local contests of the season because the former LeMoynites are convinced they can handle the college's present varsity crew.

Former LeMoynes cage standouts training with the alumni outfit are Sam Parks, Willie Herenton, Chester Collins, Marvin Doggett, Robert Nelson, Charlie Williams, Verties Sails, Cleophus Owens, Edward Thornton and Curtis Mitchell. Coming from Chicago to team up with this aggregation is Robert Hambrick who starred four years with the Magicians.

MONROE CURRIN,

Coach Jerry Johnson appears pleased with his 1964-65 edition of Magicians and believes he will have two dependable fives when opening date rolls around.

STARTERS

At the moment, he more than likely would start two seniors and three sophomores with James Gordon, senior, and Marion Brewer, sophomore, at the forwards; George Fed, sophomore, at center, and Captain Monroe Currin, senior, and James Sandridge, sophomore, at guards.

Giving Sandridge a battle for the guard post however is a freshman, Tyrone Battle from Philadelphia, Pa. Gordon is from Louisville, Ky., Currin from Halls, Tenn., Fed

Jaguars Spoil Season For Rattlers, 43-20

By BENNIE THOMAS

BATON ROUGE, La. — Showing utter disregard for the undefeated and nationally ranked status of Florida A & M, Southern University smashed the Rattlers 43-20 here in University Stadium last Saturday afternoon.

The fired up Jaguars scored seven points in the first quarter while Florida came up with six, then punched across three big second quarter scores along with two extra points to lead the Rattlers at the half by a 27-12 margin. Southern came up with eight points in the third period, then completed the rout with a fourth quarter touchdown and a two point conversion. Despite the pouring rain, the crowd refused to disperse.

It was if they sensed the stunning upset.

Three plays after rookie end Brady Epps recovered a Florida fumble on the 12-yard line of the Rattlers, Southern took the lead. Freshman quarterback Willie Johnson hit end Frank Pitts with a two-yard touchdown pass to give Southern a quick lead. John Clayton booted the point.

Florida bounced back with a touchdown but missed the conversion. The Rattlers other first half score came in the quarter on a 57-yard punt return by Andrew Green.

MOORE LEADS

Charlie Moore led Southern in that second quarter blitz that sewed the game up. Moore slashed over from two yards out. Johnson sneaked over from the one, but it was a terrific 87-yard kick-off return for a touchdown by David Huddleston that dampened the spirit of the Rattlers. Moore got his second touchdown on a one yard blast in the third quarter to stretch the Jaguars lead to 35-12.

Florida tallied again in the final period, but Southern's Ken Savage wrapped it up for the Jaguars as he plucked off a wayward pass thrown by Morand, and rammed 45 yards to score. Huddleston fought his way into the end zone for the two pointer after his receivers were covered on a contemplated pass play.

Florida came into the game third ranked by the Associated Press in its National Poll of small colleges, and United Press International had the Rattlers ranked in Fourth place on the strength of a six victories without a defeat.
