Campaign For Library Funds Net Nice Returns

The annual drive for library funds under the direction of Mrs. J. Ramsey Snow, with ten captains and their assistants, Thursday, added a nice sum to the library treasury.

Perhaps no department of Woman's Club of Fulton radiates so much sunshine on the reading loving population as the library.

Mrs. Eli Bynum is credited with the honor of having started the library in her home some years ago in a limited way, later being transferred to the balcony of the Franklin store, and now it occupies a spacious part of the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Main street, with 1,441 books and 1,200 readers. It has only been by persistent efforts and untiring work of the ladies that this library has reached its present high standing in the community life of our city. It is a public library and the only support it has is the donations given by the people. It has never had a Carnegie to make a donation, but hundreds of our citizens have contributed both books and cash without restrictions.

The Library Board of the Woman's Club, of which Mrs. Walter J. Willingham is chairman, is very active in keeping the library up to the highest standard and the best and choicest volumes occupy the shelves of the cases—the storehouse of medicine for the mind. The fact that this library is being enriched with choice volumes all the time is considered an essential part of the Club's activities.

"The new additions to the library is remarkably like selecting food for a family table," says one of the board members. "A very nice art, indeed. The cook must know food values, their preparation and their economic selection, so as to balance one kind of food against another and furnish complete nourishment within a narrow range of choice, allowance must be made for individual tastes, and enough provided to satisfy every rational appetite. So it is in the selection of books. The well selected library of even a few books may furnish joy for the whole community."

"Don't think for one minute if you contributed to the campaign fund, that you gave anybody a cent! You only pooled your mite to sustain a library of which you are a partner the same as anyone else privileged to use the books. It is one of the best investments you ever made, not alone for yourself, but the entire community."

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING (Clinton Gazette)

This session of Circuit Court completes four years of service for Judge W. H. Hester. In this period of time in Hickman county, decisions and opinions of Judge Hester have been reversed only one time. This is a remarkable record for judicial ability, and is one of which both the judge and his many friends here are justly proud. Aside from this, no man who has ever occupied the bench has a better reputation for making time in the dispatch of court business, courtesy to all officials and court attendants. While on the bench, he is firm and exacting as to legal procedure. But off the bench his splendid personality bespeaks the real gentleman who wins friends at all times and everywhere.

PUBLIC SALE

On Saturday, October 24, at 2 p. m., at 608 Walnut street, I will offer for sale, the household and kitchen furniture of the late W. C. Croft.

OSWALD CROFT, Admr.

WATER VALLEY FAIR, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24.

Plans have been perfected for the community fair at Water Valley on Saturday, October 24. Prof. H. H. Mills, principal of Water Valley High school, and executive chairman of the event, announced today.

One hundred dollars in prizes will be given away during the day. Among the interesting features of the program are: a Ford race; dinner served by the Ladies' School club; basketball game; twenty athletic events and a moving picture show at night.

The business men and patrons of Water Valley and surrounding districts are entering into plans with enthusiasm and there is every indication of a successful fair.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

I was discussing advertising the other day, with a lady, and she asked, "Do the farmers ever advertise?" I told her they seldom did. Then she wanted to know why they didn't, when so many people wanted fruit, butter and eggs, and were unable to get them fresh.

The late Elbert Hubbard, editor of Fra and the Philistine, once received a gift of farm sausage from a farmer friend, and finally talked him into advertising his sausage. The business grew till it is now sold in nearly every northern state.

The lady mentioned above, named a farmer's wife near Fulton who raises many fine turkeys every year and sells them all to the poultry buyers, and asked why she did not advertise them in advance of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years, and take orders to fatten special turkeys for families in town, to be delivered at the time wanted. I couldn't tell her.

I do know that there is a demand for good butter and fresh eggs by people who would be glad to arrange for a yearly service that could be depended on, and if some enterprising farmer would put in a small "ad," and keep it running all the time, he would soon find that it paid good dividends, provided he "had the goods."

Just think what it would mean to a lot of housekeepers if they could engage their Thanksgiving turkeys and have them fattened and not depend on just anything the butcher might happen to have.

Then there are several fruit farms near Fulton that might use a small ad to good advantage, by making it possible for housekeepers to order fruit to be put up to be delivered on a certain day, instead of having to wait till a load showed up at the door. Also a winter's supply of walnuts and hickory nuts, could be sold by the advertising farmer, with a profit to him and a saving to the buyer. Start a campaign, Mr. Editor, to get the farmer to advertise.

A Jay Walker.

AD CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED

To attract tourists, industries and business to San Antonio, the Chamber of Commerce of that place has begun a drive to raise $250,000 for each year of a three-year program, to be used in a national advertising campaign.

E. C. Reeds, former well known stockman, but now an automobile dealer at Baton Rouge, La., is in the city shaking hands with friends and looking after his interests here.

A Troubled Conscience

No Room For Idlers In Florida

Enforcement of Vagrant Laws Are Very Strict

The prospector who finds himself stranded in Florida in a worse predicament than if that misfortune had happened to him in almost any other section of the country, because of Florida's attitude toward vagrants. For a long time the Peninsula State has had to apply drastic measures to protect itself from an annual influx of idlers without visible means of support. Enforcement of the vagrancy laws has been strict. And the penalty has not been light. Men have been put on the roads for thirty days, or virtually put into slavery in the turpentine camps. Guards in these camps have been permitted to apply the lash to prisoners accused of violating rules. Not long ago, Florida was the scene of a prison scandal in which a guard was accused of flogging a boy to death in one of the camps. Prisoners who have experienced a term on the Florida roads or in the swamps have made it a rule not to come back for a second term. The real estate boom has brought great numbers of men into the state who, through inability to obtain work and quick dissipation of their funds because of the exorbitant cost of living, have drifted into the vag class.

Of course, there are the professional vagrants, who have invaded the boom territory, in the expectation of finding things soft. The new conditions have led Florida authorities to give even closer attention to the enforcement of the vagrancy law for self-protection, and the result is that many are being arrested and forced into the prison work gangs, while others are making a desperate effort to escape from the State. The moral of the situation is, don't go to Florida unless you have money to live on, or have obtained money in advance.

EDITOR'S BLESSING

Blessed are the merchants who advertise because they believe in it and in their business; for their prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed are the country correspondents who send in their items every week for fame of their friendly neighbors shall go abroad in the land. Blessed is the man who sends in a written report of a party or wedding; for she shall see the details of the function and the names of her guests correctly reported. Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who call up and tell him whenever an interesting event occurs to them; for they shall have a newsy paper in their town. Blessed are they who get their copy in early; for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart. Blessed are they who cooperated with the editor in his efforts in behalf of the community; for their town shall be known far and wide as a good place in which to live.

Graves County Local Meets

Adopt Resolution Asking Pool to Continue Services of Field Agent

Mayfield, Ky.—More than sixty Graves county members of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Cooperative association, attending the monthly meeting of the Graves county local here Monday, adopted a resolution asking that the association still employ a field service work to meet with the various county advisory councils and to keep the county locals in existence.

They endorsed the action of the pool's board of directors in allowing dumping of crops under present conditions, but advocated that if possible and practical, a loose leaf floor be operated for the pool members. The meeting was addressed by Robert L. Hill, one of the eleven members of the field service division who were let out of service by the board of directors last week.

When asked by Mr. Hill how many of those present had sold their crops outside of the pool, none of them replied that he had so violated his contract, and none responded when he asked if they wanted to see the pool fail.

DOCTOR TURNEY AT MAYOS

of Crutchfield, accompanied by Doctor Stephens, of Mayfield, passed through Fulton Monday night en route to Rochester, Minn., where Doctor Turney will consult the Mayos, famous specialists, regarding his health. For more than a year Dr. Turney has suffered with a disease which has baffled the skill of the best physicians of this section and his wide circle of friends are hoping that his visit to Mayo's will result in recovering his health.

His home community, where he has administered to the suffering for the past twenty-five years, sadly feel their helplessness during his protracted illness. His community has also suffered the loss of his valued counsel in civic and commercial activities.

We are all in hopes that Doctor Turney's visit will prove beneficial and that he will return home much improved in health, with his old time vigor of usefulness.

Railroad News

Switch Engine to Be Put on at Mayfield

Supt. Williams made two trips last week to Mayfield, in response to request of the Contractors at that point, to look into the matter of putting on a switch engine at that point, and it was practically decided that due to the amount of material for road building received at Mayfield, that for the time being at least, a switch engine would be necessary to handle the business. This is something unusual however, to put on switch engines at stations where the road has no terminal, but is only a mark of prosperity on the road, and shows that their business is very materially increasing.

The Illinois Central has placed orders for 75,000 tons of rails with the Illinois Steel Company and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and R. R. Company.

Office Building at Paducah

The Illinois Central has placed a contract with the Ellington-Miller Construction Co., covering the erection of an office building and an extension to its blacksmith shop at Paducah, Ky. Mr. Ellington, of the Ellington-Miller Construction Company, is a brother to A. W. Ellington, Trainmaster at Jackson.

General Manager Patterson passed through Fulton first of the week en route to the South. Senior Vice-President Cliff, passed through Fulton Tuesday of this week.

Supt. Williams, made a business trip to New Orleans first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dodson, of Ripley, Tenn., spent the week end with Mrs. A. E. Covington of Arch street.

Mr. Paul Pickering and wife made a trip to Memphis, first of the week.

Aged Negro Killed by Switch Engine

Albert Atkins, colored, trespasser, aged 75 was instantly killed last Saturday night up near Walnut Street crossing, while picking up coal under a coal car which was standing on the light plant spur. The switch engine backed in to move the car and none of the crew saw Atkins under the car. After they coupled into the car and moved about 12 feet, he was discovered fatally injured.

Loading Highest in Many Years

The loading week ending Sept. 26, reached the highest total so far this year. The total for the week of September 26 was 1,120,645 cars. This is only 3,791 cars behind the total for week of August 29, 1925, which stands as the high record so far this year. Business in general on the railroads has greatly increased in the last 60 days, until that the I. C. has started a campaign to get shippers to load all cars to their capacity, in order to avoid a shortage of equipment.

New Time Table to Be Gotten Out

The Illinois Central will get out a new time table effective November 1, which date the Floridan will be re-inaugurated. There will not, however, be any material change in the schedule of any of the other trains, and we understand the Floridan will operate on practically the same schedule as it did last year, and will be numbered 39 for southward train, and 40 for the northward train. It is anticipated with the cold weather that has spread over the north, in the vicinity of Chicago, that the Floridan will have good human tonnage on her initial voyage this year. This is an all Pullman train, and makes only a few stops between Chicago and Jacksonville, Florida. It will be handled by the large mountain type locomotive over the entire Tennessee Division, which is the same class of locomotive now used on the Seminole.

AN IMPOSSIBLE TASK

We so often wish that we might be able to run this newspaper in a manner that would conform to the ideals of every body or of all the diversified elements which make up the newspaper's clientele. What a happy condition of mind and body it would be to know and realize that nobody is picking flows in or finding fault with the policy of the paper. It would be like a heaven on earth, to be sure. We try, in our weak way, to treat people fairly; to do those things and to print those things which tend to bring the least pain and sorrow to fellow beings; in fact, to spread sunshine in as many dark places as possible. But it is impossible to please everybody; it is impossible to avoid creating antagonisms; impossible to run the paper as everybody would have it run.

Those who imagine that the running of a newspaper is "one grand, sweet song" of "peace and happiness; those who imagine that they could run the paper without stepping on somebody's corns; those who imagine that they could make a success in the field of journalism without expressing opinions that run counter to some other people's opinions; those who imagine that they could run the paper in a way that would please everybody, ought to get astride the editorial tripod and try the experiment. It may be possible that they have missed their calling and that the Supreme Architect of the Universe, when He blew into their nostrils the breath of life and they become living souls, really intended that they should be editors. It may be that the men, including the writer of these lines, who have spent almost a lifetime at the editorial desk trying to please everybody, are misfits and have mistaken their calling. Who knows?

stitute of Chicago.

Lesson for October 25

PAUL IN EPHESUS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:1-41.
GOLDEN TEXT—"For the love of money is the root of all evil."—1 Tim 6:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Tells Idol
Makers About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Preaching
Stirs Up a Riot.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Diana of Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Money of Christ.

Apollos, an Alexandrian Jew, an eloquent man and mighty in the Scriptures, had preceded Paul at Ephesus. He had diligently taught the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John. When Aquila and Priscilla heard him they perceived his lack of instruction in Christian truth. Therefore, they took him and expounded unto him the way of God more perfectly. Having thus come into fuller light, two brethren gave him a letter of endorsement as he passed to other fields.

I. John's Disciples Become Christians (vv. 1-7).

Those 12 disciples had been taught only the baptism of repentance as a preparation for the kingdom of God. Paul taught them to believe on Christ, i. e., to receive Him as the One on the cross who had provided redemption for them. When they received Christ, Paul laid hands upon them and they received the Holy Spirit.

II. Paul Preaching in Ephesus (vv. 8-10).

1. In the Jewish Synagogue (v. 8).

Though the Jews were Paul's inveterate enemies, his rule was to go to them first with the gospel. His preaching was characterized:

(1) By boldness. He realized that God sent him, and that His authority was back of him.

(2) By reason. God's message is in accord with the highest reason.

(3) By persuasion. It is not enough to come boldly with a reasonable message, it must be accompanied by persuasion.

(4) By speaking. "Concerning the Kingdom of God." He did not discuss on current events, literature or philosophy, but upon the message of salvation through Christ.

2. In the Schoolhouse of Tyrannus (vv. 9-10).

The Jews, being enemies of the gospel of the grace of God, were only hardened by Paul's earnest preaching. Paul separated the disciples from them and resorted to the schoolhouse of Tyrannus. This was followed with glorious results.

III. God Working Miracles by Paul (vv. 11-16).

Ephesus was noted for its wonder workers. If Paul's ministry was to be successful here, God must in an extraordinary way put His seal upon His work. So wonderfully did He manifest His power that handkerchiefs and aprons brought from Paul's body healed the sick and cast out evil spirits.

IV. A Glorious Awakening (vv. 17-41).

1. Fear Falls Upon All (v. 17).

News of the casting out of these evil spirits created impressions favorable to Christianity.

2. It Brought to the Front Those Who Professed Faith in Christ, While Not Living Right Lives (v. 18).

They believed but had not broken from sin.

3. Gave Up the Practice of Black Arts (v. 19).

This means forms of jugglery by use of charms and magical words. They proved the selfishness of their actions by publicly burning their books.

4. Uproar of the Silversmith at Ephesus (vv. 23-41).

(1) The Occasion (vv. 23-24).

This was the power of the gospel in destroying the infamous business of Demetrius and his followers. It was clear to them that idolatry was tottering before the power of the gospel.

(2) The Method (vv. 25-29).

Demetrius, a leading business man, whose business was the stay of others of a similar nature, called a meeting and stated that much people had been turned from idolatry, and that the market for their wares was materially weakened. He appealed to his followers:

a. On the ground of business, saying: "This our craft, is in danger of being set at naught." v. 27.

b. On the ground of religious prejudice. He said: "The temple of the great goddess Diana shall be despised" (v. 27). His speech gained him and.

Christianity

Christianity is no mere scheme of doctrine or of ethical practice, but is instead a kind of miracle, a power out of nature and above, descending into it; a historically supernatural movement on the world, that is visibly entered into it, and organized to be an institution in the person of Jesus Christ.—Horace Bushnell.

WHAT WE ARE OR ARE NOT

The longer we live, the more we learn, and the more we know. Such is the inconsistency of man's ideas. The less one knows the greater his opinion of his abilities and wisdom. In the morning of life a conceited man prides himself on his greatness, and wonders to what grand channel he will confine his talents. He looks upon his school district as the world at large, and himself as the great genius in whose keeping the world's nature rests. He imagines that when he speaks, nations tremble, mountains totter and the sea becomes silent.

He imagines that a gaping and wondering populace are gazing on him with open-mouthed wonder and iron-clad astonishment, and that he holds the world in the hollow of his hand with a grasp that is perpetual.

But as days and months and years pass in rapid succession, the young man finds out that he is possibly mistaken and if he would wander away and get lost some one or more of all the people on the earth would not miss him. By and by he begins to realize that he is only one of the many millions of people, and instead of standing forth as the center of attraction, he only fills a small niche of some obscure corner, and really attracts but little attention. The ignorant man who realizes his ignorance and who does not seek to pass himself off for more than he is worth, is pardonable, but the self-conceited man who tries to pass himself off at a premium, is to be pitied. The best way is to hold one's self esteem down and not rate himself too high. The man who climbs the highest has the farthest to fall.

It is more pleasant to be invited to take a higher seat than to be deprived of it. It is more pleasant to be king of a cottage than the servant of a palace. It is better to be a good five cent piece than a bogus quarter; in other words, it is better to hold ourselves at what we are honestly worth. The world is full of people who never learn anything because they think they know enough to begin with. Thousands are teaching when they ought to be taught; thousands believe themselves wise when their ignorance is lamentable; thousands believe themselves clothed in gold when they are only thinly plated and the copper shows through in many places. The wisest are comparatively ignorant and thousands of men who have grand ideas of their own abilities will some day wake up to the realization that they have been laboring under a large delusion. Many a young man's life is gilded by bright dreams that come in the early stage of the game but later on he finds that these dreams are only empty, and O, how little is the change when it comes.

ALL KINDS OF CITIZENS

Patriotism manifests in many and various ways. Some people are willing to die for their country and a few are willing to live for their country—which is much harder. Some are eager to show their patriotism by holding a job at a fat salary and some are willing to vote the party ticket straight—just because it is the party ticket—Patriotism, says Walter Williams, is often another name for pride.

The small ways in which patriotism may be shown seldom attract attention. A soldier attacks the enemy of his country and we call the soldier a patriot. But it is patriotic also to cut down the weeds on your back lot. The soldier gives his life in a day, the the scientist who gives his life in a generation is also patriotic.

Two kinds of citizens are in every town, patriots and traitors. There is no middle ground of neutrality. Every man is in one or the other camp. The patriot does his full duty to the community, votes, expresses his opinion, takes part in meetings for civic good, bears cheerfully his portion of the community's work. The traitor lets the other fellow do the work and reaps benefit by the other fellow's patriotism. Treason consists of levying war against the republic—so says the foundation law—or giving aid and comfort to the public enemies who does not assist in making better the community in which he lives.

A BEAUTIFUL PICTURE

There is no more suggestive or beautiful sight to our eyes, than that of an elderly married couple, who, trustingly and lovingly together, have walked the rugged ways of life from youth to old age, and now hand in hand, and heart to heart, are patiently and hopefully waiting upon the hither shore of time, for the sound of the boatman's oar, to be borne across the river. We look along the dim vista of years to the halcyon time of life's sunny morning, we witness their plighted vows at the altar, and see them go forth, in the pride of life and the glory of their young wedded lives to the struggles of existence. Many a God-speed and kind word of cheer fall upon their ears as they go out from beneath the parental roof-tree that is to shelter them no more forever. Before them lies a new world of experiences, of joys and sorrows, of grand successes, and perhaps of said failures. But strong of purpose and resolute of will, and with life's sky rose-tinted with the flush of dawn, they move on, and enter upon, this to them all unexplored world of experiences. We see them settled in their new home. Perhaps it is a log cabin in the wilderness, with neighbors few and far, or may be a cozy little cottage in some distant town. The husband is bravely bending every energy to the task of mastering the hard conditions of life, and a home and a name in the world, and securing, if possible, that independence that shall relieve them from the possibility of want. To the wife's rosy cheek has come the pallor of the dreadful agonies of maternity, but now her eyes are bright with a new hope, as she caresses the tiny form that nestles in her bosom.

Again we behold them, and as in the long ago they went forth into the world, now their own noble sons and daughters, burdened with the unsolved problems and untried responsibilities of life, follow in their footsteps; and soon their home is left unto them desolate, save in the companionship of their own souls. Well for them, if they have within themselves treasures of culture and character that shall supply their dearest need; well for them if schooled in that beautiful philosophy that enabled St. Paul to say: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I kept the faith," they too can feel in their souls that they have done the best they knew, and that now they will trust the good Father for all that is to come. The shadows stretch away in lengthening lines toward the east, and now they are calmly watching the glories of the coming sunset of a well-spent life. How grand they seem in the fruition of their years, with their silvered hair glowing in the sunset's golden gleam. Their faces are radiant with a divine hope that beyond the bars of the shining west the beckoning arms of their loved ones are outstretching towards them to welcome them to their home of eternal rest and love; and that in a few more days, or years, at the most, they will pass on as one weary with the burdens of the day gathers, "the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Mayesville.—A brake beam on a C. & O. freight train broke four miles west of here. The loose beam struck a frog causing five empty coal cars to be overturned on the main line, holding up passenger trains for five hours.

Leitchfield, Ky.—Coolidge, the 8-month-old son of Albert Toms, of near Caneyville, was burned seriously upon the face and hands when he fell into an open fireplace at his home here. It is feared the baby may have breathed the flame.

Columbia.—In a number of places in Columbia and Adair counties, southwest of here, apple trees are blooming again while the apples from the first bloom are ripening. Old bean vines that were thought to be dead have been sprouted out and are blooming again.

Salersville, Ky.—Charles Collingsworth was shot and wounded in the stomach by Lewis Conley, a neighbor in a quarrel near their homes, two miles south of here on the Burning Fork. Collingsworth was brought to Salersville for treatment. Conley is under arrest.

Midway, Ky.—A separation since early childhood of a son from his father will end soon when Emory Jefferson, of Midway, will visit his father, Jasper A. Jefferson, at his home in Alhambra, Robertson county, about fifty miles from here. The son, now 50 years old, saw his father last in 1881.

Elkton.—George F. Street, cashier of the Bank of Elkton, suffered a painful injury to his hip and shoulder when he slipped on the bank floor and fell. No bones were broken in his body, but since he is of advanced age, the bruises are causing him much pain and are keeping him confined to his room.

Frankfort.—Eighty-three arrests and sixty-two convictions for violations of the game and fish laws were reported by the game and fish commission for the months of August and September. Wardens in sixteen of the eighteen districts reported arrests with confiscation of twenty-one pieces of contraband and fines totaling $890.

Boasting Green.—Law enforcement, sex education, recreation and medical attention will relieve America's youth of the ravages of social diseases. This was the message of Mrs. Anna K. Potts of Carlisle, Ky., head of the department of social morality of the Kentucky Women's Christian Temperance Union, before the State convention.

Louisville.—The trial of Elby Spillman, 18 years old, of Twin Branch, ten miles from here, for the murder of Will Barckett, 24, on July 19, during a quarrel resulting from ill feeling between the two men, ended here in a deadlock. Spillman who has been held in jail since the fray, will be retried at the next meeting of the Lawrence County Court.

Padeuch.—On order of removal from the federal court authorities at Louisville, Mrs. Leona Gathright, 39, wife of Thomas Gathright, Eddyville convict, will be taken to Toledo, Ohio, in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Ollie Barnett, to face a federal whiskey charge. A warrant from Indianapolis was also served recently against Mrs. Gathright, preferring a charge of stealing an automobile.

Harrodsburg, Ky.—An 8-year-old girl was almost instantly killed, her father and two other adults were seriously injured and five other young children were hurt when an automobile in which they were riding skidded off the road and crashed into a stone fence on the Harrodsburg Pike, about a mile north of Danville. The accident resulted from an attempt to avoid a collision with another car.

Leitchfield.—St. Mudd, 29, was accidentally killed while hunting five miles from here, according to reports reaching here. With a companion he had gone squirrel shooting and had climbed into a tree to dislodge a squirrel one of them had shot. As he descended Mudd stepped on a pole which upset the gun, causing it to discharge. Contents of one cartridge went through the victim's head. He died instantly.

Harlan, Ky.—The advance guard of winter invaded Harlan recently heralded by high winds, sleety drizzle and low temperature. Adding to the general wintry appearance numerous flocks of wild geese lured by the city lights, circled over town almost touching the roofs. A few became so bewildered they alighted in the streets and floundered beneath the lights until dawn cleared their vision and allowed them to resume their southward flight.

Bardonia, Ky.—Three Louisville women were injured when an automobile in which they were riding struck a northbound L. & N. passenger train near the station here. Their hurts are not dangerous.

Pikeville, Ky.—Five men have been indicted for murder by the Pike county grand jury now in session. Alex and Columbus Killing are accused of the murder of their father; Elisha and Pinson Brannan, of the murder of Dick Atkins; and George Bowen, of the murder of Mrs. Ida Lolek.
