Wednesday Big Trade Day In Fulton

Merchants Prepared To Take Care of Every Need With Bargains Galore.

EVERYBODY RETURNED HOME HAPPY

Wednesday was the first big trade day of the autumn season inaugurated by Fulton merchants. The sight of three inches of snow and the icicles hanging from the eaves of houses last week were an incentive for the thinly clad to provide a change to meet weather conditions for their own comfort. It was not "just looking around," but a buying crowd, and each and every one returned home happy with their purchases.

Fulton merchants were well prepared to greet the crowds with stocks to meet every demand and fill every need. Some of the stores had counters filled with seasonable merchandise selling at pre-war prices—a value-giving triumph in better quality goods seldom found on bargain counters.

On next Wednesday we expect to see the crowds coming from far and near to take advantage of the special inducements offered for Trade Day, by our merchants, because everyone who visited Fulton and made purchases the past week, left town as a walking advertisement.

ATTEND THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING, TUESDAY NIGHT

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Tuesday, November 10 at 7:30 p. m., and the usual attractive and interesting program will be given, so every member should make an effort to be present.

Those who fail to attend these meetings miss not only the entertainment feature, but get out of step with the aims of the organization and when some member speaks of what is being done, are not "wise" to what is going on and must necessarily feel that they are out of it.

Let every member, on reading this, make up his mind to be present on next Tuesday night, put his postal notice of the meeting where it will stare him in the face and keep him reminded of the meeting, and then BE THERE!

TUNE IN

The Chamber of Commerce received a letter Tuesday from the Chamber of Commerce of Manchester, Connecticut containing a program that will be broadcast by Station WTIC at Hartford, Connecticut, all the artists being from Manchester, and the program is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

The program starts at 8:30 and ends at 12:00. It contains selections by a brass band of the Salvation Army, contralto, soprano, tenor baritone, violin solos, male quartette, men's choral club, and an orchestra. Altogether, it seems a splendid program, and we regret that space does not permit the publishing of its entirety.

The station is WTIC, the wave length is 475.9 meters and the hour is 8:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time. Tune in and then send a postal to the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and tell the members how much you were pleased, and if you are a member of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce, tell them that also.

Hand us a dollar bill and get your name on the Advertiser list as a regular subscriber.

MEMPHIS ANNUAL CONFERENCE OPENS AT DYERSBURG, NOV. 11

Question of Unification With Northern Methodists to Be Voted Upon

The eighty-sixth session of the Memphis annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be called to order on Wednesday morning, November 11, at Dyersburg, Tenn., with Bishop Edwin D. Moulton presiding. The conference will be in session till the following Monday, November 16, when the appointments for the future year will be read before final adjournment. This is a matter of great concern to thousands in west Tennessee and western Kentucky.

The Memphis conference is geographically one of the smallest conferences, and has the most clearly defined boundaries of the fifty-one annual conferences of Southern Methodism, embracing in its bounds the territory commonly known as west Tennessee and western Kentucky. The conference is bounded on the north by the Ohio river, on the east by the Tennessee river, on the south by the Tennessee state line and on the west by the Mississippi river.

Within this compact space there is a membership of more than 87,000 grouped into 183 pastoral charges and into 518 congregations. Not only is the natural resources of this section far superior to most other sections, but the citizenship is the finest on earth, there being only a small admixture of foreign blood in the population.

At this session of the annual conference two matters of special importance will be up for consideration, namely, the vote on the unification of the Northern and Southern branches of American Methodism, and the election of delegates to the general conference, which will be in session in May of 1926.

It is understood that the vote on unification in the Memphis conference will be fairly close, the laymen voting for its acceptance by a small majority. In case the plan of unification should be adopted, it would bring into one ecclesiastical body, the 4,500,000 members of the M. E. church and the 2,500,000 members of the Southern church. It would then be possible to work out some plan by which the 1,500,000 Methodists in smaller groups in the United States would be able to correlate their work with that of the larger body.

$930.00 FOR LIBRARY FUND

The recent campaign for funds to maintain the public library of the Woman's Club of Fulton was a glorious success when $930.00 was contributed by the good citizens during the day's drive. The ladies in charge of the campaign heartily thank all who responded with their contributions.

FINE SORGHUM

J. P. Jeffress, of route 1, presented the editor with a gallon bucket of sorghum Saturday. Mr. Jeffress enjoys the reputation of making the finest sorghum in this entire section of the country and his products are eagerly sought for by those who have tasted it in bygone years. We can testify to the goodness of Mr. Jeffress' sorghum, the best we ever ate.

In the Danger Zone

Railroad News

LARGE EXCAVATING SHOVEL BURNS

The large shovel of the Nelson company at Camp No. 1, caught on fire last week and was practically destroyed. It is our information that some one dropped a burning chunk of wood in a large pit under the machine that had waste gasoline, etc., in it and that shovel was soon in flames. Pairs have been ordered with a view of rebuilding the shovel, which, of course, will take some time. This has retarded the work at this camp, which had recently moved to old Enon Church and working into Fulton. We understand that if nothing happens to retard the work, within a few months, the road bed for the new line will soon be completed into Fulton. This, of course, doesn't mean that the bed will be entirely completed, as there are several fills, permanent trestles, bridges, etc., to be built after the completion of the grading.

The Panama Limited Strikes Auto.

Train No. 8, the Panama Limited, struck a Ford coupe last Saturday night near Woodstock, Tenn., turning the car over and injuring its occupants, who were man, woman and child. The woman had one arm broken, the child had both arms broken and the man was injured, but we do not know to what extent. They were carried to the hospital at Memphis for attention. All will recover it is thought. Each accident of this kind should be a warning to drivers of automobiles, and especially should those driving closed cars be more careful, as it is, of course, more difficult to hear the sound of bell ringing and the whistle. The old saying, "Better be safe than sorry" is indeed a good motto.

Mrs. U. W. Jones has been ill for several days, but is reported improving.

Vice President Mann of the I. C. passed through the city en route south first of the week.

Senior Vice President Clift of the I. C. spent several days last week on the Lake fishing and hunting.

Miss Estelle Slaughter spent the week end, last, with her sister, Mrs. T. K. Williams, at McComb, Miss.

The Floridan

The Floridan, the Illinois Central Crack train, made her first trip this season last Sunday, heavily laden with passengers for the playgrounds of Florida. We understand that most of the space in her many Pullman cars were filled, as is usually the case on this train. For the present, the train will only be run in one section, but if the travel increases in the future months, as it has in the past few months, it is thought that this train, like The Seminole, will be run in two sections. The Seminole is now being operated in two sections daily.

Roads Reduce Claims Paid to Shippers

Claims paid to shippers by the railroads of this country during the first six months of this year for loss on certain commodities in which theft has always been one of the major causes, were more than 36 per cent less than during the corresponding period in 1924.

Freight claims, for instance, paid on shipments of boots and shoes during the first half of 1925 were 50 per cent less than during the first six months in 1924, while there was a reduction of nearly 40 per cent in the amount of claims paid on clothing, dry goods and notions. On tobacco, a decrease of nearly 39 per cent was reported and on automobiles, there was a decrease of more than 47 per cent.

Roads Lose Over 35c on Each Meal Served

The average check paid by the traveler for a meal in the dining car is $1.00, but each meal costs the railroad about $1.35, it is stated in an analysis of the dining car business made by Popular Mechanics. This figure, it is further pointed out, does not include interest on capital invested in the car nor depreciation. More than 80,000 travelers are served daily in the 1,500 dining cars of the American railroads, it is estimated. The analysis goes on to say—"These figures are based on reports from forty roads, which showed that last year over 30,000,000 meals were served at a loss of approximately $10,500,000. This is explained by fluctuating patronage, high upkeep costs and the limited time each day a diner is in service. This should be a gentle reminder to these of us, who occasionally complain about the high price of the dining car meal, and you can imagine what the bill would be, should the railroad charge you enough to really make a profit.

Seventy Thousand Dollar Bond Issue

Voted for Sewerage System for Fulton by 44 Over Two-Thirds.

The city election passed off quietly without a ripple of disturbance Tuesday and all of the Democratic nominees were elected without opposition, as follows:

Mayor—W. O. Shankle.
Councilmen—W. P. Murrell, Ed. Hannephin, Paul DeMyer, Joe Bennett, L. S. Phillips, Smith Atkins.

City Attorney—J. F. Nichols.
Police Judge—H. F. Taylor.

All of the Democratic nominees for county offices were elected without opposition as follows:

County Judge—C. D. Nugent.
Sheriff—John M. Thompson.
County Attorney—Lon Adams.
County Court Clerk—Miss Effie Bruer.

Tax Commissioner—Chas. L. Bondurant.
Jailor—R. L. Jackson.

Morman B. Daniel was elected Representative of Fulton and Hickman counties.

The voters of Fulton were intensely interested in the $70,000 bond issue for a sewerage system in the city and the vote was 44 over the required two-thirds majority. This is the second time the city voted the bonds, but on account of some technical error in the ordinance the first time it required Tuesday's vote to settle it.

A PRETTY CHURCH BUILDING

The new Rice City Methodist church building is nearing completion and presents an imposing position on one of the prettiest lots in that vicinity. No pains has been spared in making the building substantial and comfortable and the contractors are to be congratulated on the splendid work put into the construction. All the material used, brick, concrete, roofing and lumber is of best quality.

The people of Rice City are proud of their new church building and they have a right to be. Its splendid location and beautiful lot is credited to the generosity of J. E. Fields, one of Fulton county's largest and substantial farmers. The lot was exchanged for another lot and five hundred dollars consideration, but in closing the trade Mr. Fields had the church to credit him with the $500.00 on the building fund.

L. Kasnow's Big Sale Is Now On

The Greatest Bargain Event of the Autumn Season

The big sale now on at L. Kasnow's store, 448 Lake street, is a record breaker for value giving and bargains. The house is filled with seasonable merchandise and there's true economy in buying at this store. A review of the fall and winter frock modes as revealed in Kasnow's selections, points a new way to smartness and economy. Through careful merchandising he has assembled a collection of frocks representing the smartest and most becoming of this season's trends at very reasonable prices.

New Notes in Winter Coats

If you like music—you know there is harmony in a winter coat that is just right. The material, style and trimming blend to produce a beautiful garment, Kasnow's coats do this. You have only to glance at the coats he is offering, to realize the value in each. The styles are stunning. Good linings and novelty trimmings.

You can get some idea of the real bargains Kasnow is offering in his big double page advertisement in this paper.

TRADE DAY MAKES A DIFFERENCE IN BUSINESS

Trade Day, on Wednesday, certainly makes a difference in the number of people in town, and while the present campaign has not been on long enough to get the full results, the one last fall made it evident to the most casual observer that the people of the surrounding towns and country appreciated the opportunities for bargains.

One had but to stand on the street down town at any moment during the afternoon of a Trade Day and observe the strange faces and automobiles to get an idea of the large number of strangers in town. No count, of course, could be made but the merchants and casual observers were impressed with this fact. Business done by the merchants told the tale in hard cash, but any one could see that there was a big increase of traffic and trade in the town.

REEDS BROTHERS REPORT GOOD BUSINESS

E. C. Reeds, the well-known Fulton stockman, who is now associated with his brother, Clint, and brother-in-law, J. S. Watson, in the automobile business in Baton Rouge, La., left Saturday for his Louisiana home after a business and social visit in the city.

The Reeds - Watson Motor Car Co., of Baton Rouge, sell Hudson-Essex cars and from all reports have developed a wonderful business in the Louisiana territory. The Reeds brothers are shrewd young business men and own some of the business property in Fulton, as well as fine farming lands near the city.

BUILD TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

Mayfield, Ky., Nov. 1.—The large tobacco warehouse in West Mayfield, to be the headquarters of the Mayfield Tobacco Board of Trade, is nearing completion and will be ready for the first sales some time early in December. The "chute" or auction method of selling tobacco was abandoned at the close of the season this spring, and the warehouse loose leaf sales methods will be used this year. J. W. Lewis, formerly manager of the Italian Warehouse in Fulton, will be the manager of the new warehouse here. The sales will be conducted after the fashion of the sales in Owensboro and Hopkinsville.

In Case of Emergency

When you want a thing in a hurry you rush to a local store and get it. But do you realize that the existence of our stores depends upon continued business.

If every person in this community were to use the stores only for emergencies there would soon be no more places to satisfy those urgent needs.

You should do your part towards keeping local business alive and in a constant state of betterment by doing all your trading at home. It will be profitable to you as well as to the entire community.

Prayer meeting 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. All cordially invited.

One more Sunday until Conference. Make it the biggest and best of the year. Service last Sunday were splendid. The music was fine. Prayer service well attended. Quarterly conference was well attended. Night and all claims paid.

This is Rev. Freeman's last Sunday before Conference, but the church hopes to greet him as our new pastor the first Sunday in the new Conference year.

This was Week of Prayer set apart by the Woman's Missionary Society. The Warner Blackards and Juniors gave splendid program Wednesday and the adult and missionary girls on Thursday. Both services were well attended and programs were unusual.

The Warner Blackards will meet Monday with Mrs. Vodie Hardin on Third street, with Mrs. Hardin and Mrs. Maupin as hostesses.

The Methodist Mission girls will meet Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Roper spent last week end in Dyersburg with Mr. Roper's father, Mr. Will Roper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Graham, Jr., spent last week end in Mayfield with relatives.

Mrs. Morris Mayes and children of New Orleans, has returned home after several weeks' visit to Mrs. Schoe on Green street.

Mrs. J. L. Hornbeak has returned home after several weeks' visit to Mrs. Jim Miller in California.

Mrs. Richard Griffey of Clinton spent the week with Mrs. I. R. Nolen on Park Ave.

Mrs. J. S. Kernachan has returned to her home in Florence, Ala., after a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Joe Davis.

Mr. Jim Seay was a business visitor in the city this week from Nashville, and while here was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Douglas Seay.

Mrs. Leslie Batts and little son have returned from Chicago where they have been visiting for several weeks. Since her return Mrs. Batts has happened to a painful accident by spraining her ankle but is resting well, is the report.

Mrs. J. M. Barrett is improving rapidly from a recent operation. Friends will be glad to know of her recovery.

Mrs. Mary Collins has returned home from a visit to relatives in Mayfield.

The Senior Epworth League met at the church last Sunday at six-thirty p. m. The meeting was opened with a song, followed with prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by the president, Wade Joyner, the leader being absent. The following program was much enjoyed by a large attendance. Piano solo—Marguerite King; Violin duet, Rev and Mrs. B. A. Walker. Rev. Walker also gave an interesting talk for the benefit of the leaguers.

Church News

The choir committee is anticipating the reorganization of the choir this week and asked for volunteers to assist in the choir service.

The regular vestry meeting for November was held in the parish house at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and transacted the necessary business of the church.

The superintendent of the Church school is making short talks each Sunday in relation to the display of a set of campaign pictures furnished for such purposes by the headquarters in New York City.

It is rumored that Mrs. John Hoar will return home shortly. This will be pleasant news to her many friends in Fulton.

Ed Paschall is much improved in health since his return from the hospital, but is still obliged to be careful about exposure and overwork.

Mr. William Sherman, of Florida is visiting his father-in-law, Doctor Whitehead, and attended communion last Sunday.

Doctor Boyd has purchased lumber and is fencing in his yard in order to protect his large collection of rose bushes from the depredations of passing cattle being driven to the stock yard for shipment.

Those expecting confirmation by the bishop should notify the rector in order that he may advise the bishop before his next visit to Fulton.

The Ladies' Guild met Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Mack Roach, on Second Street. Plans were made for the Thanksgiving Offering which will be held on the first Monday in December.

Mrs. Don Taylor was the leader of the day, and by her suggestion arrangements were made to have one choir practice night a sort of social affair, and possibly develop into a young people's evening.

Good Service Aids State's Progress

THE $12,373,600 telephone construction program which the Cumberland Company is completing this year is an investment in new and additional plant that Kentucky may have more and better service.

As a result of this program, telephone service is now better than ever before, despite the fact that the operators are handling a larger volume of calls.

The service is more valuable to the individual user, as well as to communities at large, and telephone subscribers now receive more for the money they spend for telephone service than for any comparable service or commodity.

That telephone rates have not increased anything like the cost of other services and commodities is due to economical management and efficient workers who have kept the operating expenses at a minimum despite the growing cost of everything which forms a part of telephone plant and service.

We Must Work Together

EVERY thoughtful citizen of this community is interested in its development and progress. There's no question about that! We all want our children to enjoy better homes, better schools, better parks—more agreeable surroundings and greater comforts.

We all want our town to keep step with its neighbors, to take the lead in civic affairs. So there is only one sound plan for us to follow:

We must work together to increase the wealth of this community by doing everything we can to encourage local business.

When you and your family patronize our advertisers—the stores and banks of our town—and keep your money in circulation right here at home, there is no power on earth that can prevent our progress.

THE HOME MAN FIRST

Consider the home man, who ought to come first when the question of buying merchandise arises.

He lives in this community. He knows you and you know him. He belongs to the same church, the same fraternal organization, the same civic club as you. He is a part of the community.

He buys from other dealers at home for the needs of himself and his family. The money he thus spends remains here.

He pays taxes, supports the churches, gives to funds for improvement of the community, helps finance agricultural shows, gives to the needy and is continually paying out money for some local cause.

His employees live here and the money he pays them is kept in circulation here.

The merchandise is as he represents it else he could not remain in business long. He holds trade only by selling quality merchandise at the right price. Selling an inferior grade of goods would prove disastrous in a few years. He cannot afford to overcharge because his customers would soon learn by comparison that he was defrauding them.

In every way he is an asset to the community, a convenience and an actual benefit to everyone, and he should be supported. Without him, the community would soon be in sore straits.

Let's give the home man first consideration. Only by this method can a strong and healthful community be built up. Every dollar spent away from home is tearing down home; every dollar spent here is building up home.

BAD COLDS

The season of the year is here when bad colds are very much in style. We call them bad colds for no reason, for all colds are bad enough.

A cold is a hot, feverish condition of the victim's lining. It may be any part of the lining. When it's the lung, they call it pneumonia. This is cold in the nth degree.

The direct cause of pneumonia is infection of the lung tissue with a microscopic vegetable germ known as the pneumococcus. Anything with such a name should be deadly, but the patient generally recovers.

It sounds worse than its first cousin, a bad cold, but the latter produces such a train of coughs, wheezes, sneezes, gasps, red eyes and swollen noses, that it can scarcely be equaled as a troublemaker.

If a cold caused the victim to congeal and turn into an icicle, it would probably be called a hot. The poorest guessers are always the brightest students of English.

People do not contract colds as they do contagious diseases or develop them as they do appendicitis. They take them. A cold is the most useless thing in the world to take. If one didn't have a thing and had nothing to take but a cold, he would be better off by leaving it alone.

In spite of all this evidence against a cold, millions are taken every day. When one takes a cold, he is usually as sorry as if he had contracted with Europe to end war. The cold gallops through his system and makes him feel like the last rose of summer felt. His throat becomes rusty; his nose gets red hot at the tip and ceases to function; his larynx becomes clogged; his bronchial tubes corrode, and his palate feels like a hot stove lid.

Colds as such are never so disastrous, but they are frequently exchanged by their desperate owners for pneumonia and other rapid transits to the tomb. If a cold has no serious intentions, it often leaves in a few days the sad wreck of the person who took it.

Colds are caused by microbes and the doctors say that the victims hand out sample packages to everyone near them as if they were campaign cards.

Physicians say that people with colds should be quarantined, but there wouldn't any sense in this plan. If people without colds were quarantined the same results would be obtained and the work of the world would not be so badly crippled.

SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS

Regardless of what may be said to the contrary, sentiment is a big factor in business. Friendship, for example, makes more satisfactory sales, quality and values being equal, than all the cleverness and high-powered sales talks in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in an attractive way, but because the folks who serve you are friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—friendly service—is the power that draws people together in communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly co-operation.

Friendly service and an effort to retain it is the reason why you will find it decidedly to your advantage to trade with Fulton advertisers—to buy where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

There is no need to go to larger trading centers to supply your wants. Our merchants have the goods, the quality, the variety and they give big values.

Read the ads in this paper and then trade among your friends where you are sure to be satisfied.

On last Tuesday afternoon on the Beelerton court, a basketball game was played between the Crutchfield and Beelerton girls. In a game the week before, Crutchfield had won 12-10, but the home girls determined to win the first game on their own court, won by the score 19-2.

Prof. J. E. Kirksey departed last Thursday night for Cobb, Kentucky, where he delivered an address the following day. After a brief visit with relatives in Dawson Springs, he returned to Beelerton Saturday night.

Messrs. Theron Byrd, Boyd Fite, Bert Walker and Everett Gardiner left for Detroit last week.

The Hallowe'en story contest of the Freshman class was held last Friday afternoon with Misses Grace Brown, Irene Bockman and Jewel Robey, judges, and the honor of writing the best story was given to Lowell Weatherspoon.

The high school auditorium, decorated with Hallowe'en colors and lighted by Jack O' Lanterns, made a suitable place for witches and ghosts to meet Saturday night. The High school students and their friends, masked for the occasion, were told their future in a solemn way by these witches and ghosts. Then a number of interesting games, as blow candles and throwing apple peelings over the left shoulder were played. Later in the night refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, apples and candy were served and the students and their friends departed, glad that the ancient custom of giving a day to the Saints still survived.

The children in the grades enjoyed a Hallowe'en party in their rooms Saturday evening. Numerous games were played, and every one had a wonderful evening.

Miss Pauline Brown was the guest of Miss Alma Bushart last Saturday night.

A large number of people enjoyed the service at Wesley last Sunday morning. Rev. Riggs discussing the strife between Abram and Lot and the division of their flock, urged the people "not to pitch your tent toward Sodom but toward the church of God." Special music was given by Miss Marguerite Walker.

Mrs. Birdie Hicks, who has been visiting relatives since the death and burial of her husband Mr. W. R. Hicks, returned to her home in Evansville, Indiana, last Sunday night. She was accompanied by her brother-in-law, Rev. E. S. Hicks, who will spend a few days in that city.

AUTUMN

And now comes the time of the year to prepare for the new season!

When Autumn leaves begin to fall and bracing winds remind us all of the approaching Winter season, it is well to give thought to your wearing apparel. In our climate temperature changes are sudden, coming often without warning and catching us unprepared. It is well, then, that you take heed: do not delay, let us sweetly clean your household furnishings and wearing apparel—they will be returned in a "jiffy" ready. Suits, Coats, Dresses, Blankets, Curtains and other woollens for winter use should be sent to us now.

Dry Cleaning Department

In addition to laundry work, we dry clean all sorts of clothing. We clean handkerchiefs, gloves, hosiery, fine waists and blouses, furs, rugs, carpets, coats, suit overcoats, fine dresses and coat suits. There is no longer any need of discarding articles because they are soiled. Call 130 and let us show you what we can do to restore the new look which you want.

This service means a saving in money to you. Many an old suit or overcoat, which you think is useless, can be restored to active service by our process. We employ the latest machinery and the most expert workmen, and the results will surprise you. Call us today, and let us prove our statements.

Laundry Work and Family Wash

ADMIRAL JONES URGES SUPREMACY

Says 5-5-3 Ratio Must Be United States Navy's Actual Strength

Washington—In some naval aviation matters we stand ahead of the rest of the world today; but under no circumstances should we permit any nation to surpass us in maintenance of naval air forces.

"When our aviation reaches a stabilized condition the United States must maintain naval air forces equal to that of any other power.

"This will be guaranteed in aircraft if we create and maintain in numbers, in performance, and in personnel as required to insure a 5-5-3 ratio in naval air strength."

This statement was made to Universal Service by Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president of the general board of the navy.

Admiral Jones revealed that the United States now surpasses Great Britain—America's nearest naval air competitor—in certain naval air matters; but that in others this country is behind her.

Although the disarmament treaty limited the building and commissioning of aircraft carriers, it laid no ban on operation of naval aircraft. It is the admiral's opinion, as well as that of the general board, that the United States should maintain a naval air force on a parity with that of Great Britain, as provided by the treaty. The admiral explained:

"We are superior to Great Britain in the handling of planes, from battleships. Our major ships are equipped with catapults and planes for observation and spotting purposes.

"Great Britain has none such. But Great Britain is far ahead of us in airplane carriers, and it will be at least the latter part of 1925 before we approach an equality with her in that matter."

Naval records show that while the disarmament treaty permits Great Britain and the United States a tonnage of 125,000 in aircraft carriers, this nation has only 12,500 tons, and that in the experimental aircraft carrier Langley, with a speed of only 13 knots and a capacity of only 30 planes.

Great Britain already has in commission the Eagle, a converted battleship of 23,000 tons, with capacity for 30 planes. The Argus, of 14,000 tons, capacity of 30 planes; the Hermes, 10,000 tons, capacity 30 planes.

In addition Great Britain is building the Courageous, the Glorious and the Furious with a total tonnage of 60,000 tons; capacity of 72 planes each, speed 32 knots each.

When these vessels are commissioned Great Britain will have 105,000 tons of aircraft carriers.

The United States is building the Saratoga and the Lexington of 33,000 tons each, and a capacity of 20 planes each. When completed in 1926 or 1927, the United States will have a total aircraft tonnage of only 75,500 tons—and in actual carriers, only three to Great Britain's six.

Stolen Cash Returned

Mobile, Ala.—Two hundred dollars in currency stolen from H. E. Wilson, head of a stevedoring company last night was returned to him after being recovered from nine gypsies who were held in the police station for questioning after the robbery. The gypsies were released from custody after recovery of the money. Wilson told the police the gypsies approached him as he was paying off his men on the water front and begged him to let them tell his fortune. He said there were nine automobile loads of the nomads all well dressed.

First Victim of Season

New Orleans, La.—Alfred Birou, 14, was the first victim of the new hunting season. Arising from a stooping position as another youth fired a shotgun at a chicken hawk in a nearby tree, the top of his head was blown away.

Leaves Riches to Children

May's Landing, N. J.—When the will of John W. Underhill, an aged negro owner of a two-room shack, where he lived and sold candy to school children, was filed for probate here, it was found he had an estate of more than $100,000, and that he left it all to be used in helping the school children he loved. The money was left to the local school board with the simple instructions: "Spend it so that the children may enjoy the fruits of my years of labor."

Raid Elks' Basement

New York—Police raided the basement of the Elks' Club in West Forty third Street and seized nine kegs of alleged beer and arrested the driver of a wagon in which the beverage had just been delivered to the club. More than 5,000 persons gathered outside the club while the alleged beer was being removed. The club is one of the principal headquarters of the Elks in this city.

YING STOOL PIGEON BLAMES NERVOUS COPS

Lloyd Austin Shot Before He Could Get out of the Line of Fire.

Chicago—Lloyd Austin's dying words accused the police of a panicky double-cross in the attempt to trap Martin J. Durkin, gunman, Mrs. Marion B. Austin, his mother, told a coroner's jury.

"They didn't give me a chance," the informer gasped as he lay dying, his mother testified. "They were afraid of Durkin, and they started shooting. They had promised to let me get out of the way, but they didn't."

Slugs from a police shotgun killed Austin in the fight in his flat when Durkin and Betty Andrews Werner called there to get some clothes for Betty's baby.

Mrs. Werner was another witness at the inquest. She said she and Durkin saw policemen hiding in the Austin kitchen before she opened the door. Durkin walked in with gun in hand, and a moment later shot Detective Harry Gray, who emerged from a bathroom with a shotgun.

After hundreds of policemen, aided by a dozen gun squads, had vainly searched all night for Durkin, fresh squads were started out this morning.

Betty Andrews Werner is 21 years old, attractive, with a mass of bobbed brown hair, and brown eyes. She is a former telephone girl, with many respectable family connections. She is a graduate of the Englewood High School. Three years ago she was hired into a marriage with Jack Werner, who, she believed, was a business man with a fine automobile. He turned out to be a chauffeur.

"I made the best of it," she relates, "until he began running around with other women. Then I went to my grandmother with my baby."

One night more than a year ago, Betty was introduced to Martin J. Durkin, 24, 5 feet 2 inches tall, and good looking. "Since then I've never gone with another fellow, and he's never gone with another girl," she says.

Durkin, too, has been married and divorced. They made two trips to California, the first one after Durkin rounded two policemen last December. They stopped him to question him about the big car he was driving.

Another trip to California, Durkin rounded two policemen whom he fought off as they found him stealing an automobile in Sacramento. Later he was caught and led into the police chief's office. Betty sauntered into the hall and began to do a dance.

One policeman tarried; another and another, the lieutenant loitered about. Then she banged the door shut, the lock caught, and her sweet heart jumped out of the window and away to safety.

Back to Chicago and the killing of Government Agent Shanahan, who had a warrant for Durkin for an automobile theft on the coast. Durkin escaped, but Betty was arrested. She spent 16 days in the Wheaton jail under the care of Jailer Grange, father of Red Grange, the football hero. She returned to her grandmother's home, Durkin entered her apartment through a window one night two weeks ago.

"Get up and come with me," he urged. "We will go away together and live square." They went to the Gladstone Hotel and planned to leave the city. Then came the visit Thursday morning to her Uncle Austin's flat for baby clothes, the ambush of police and the killing of Austin.

Betty had telephoned Austin they were coming. He wanted the $500 reward offered for Durkin and informed the police.

Durkin enlisted at 16, fought in the trenches, and had been gassed.

Railway metals last longer in the sunshine than they do in the darkness of tunnels.

Two Are Shot

Chicago—Martin J. Durkin, police fighter, automobile thief and gunman, sought for the recent murder of Edward C. Shanahan, an operative from the Department of Justice, who was shot down when he sought to arrest Durkin, walked into a police trap, which had been set for him, but escaped after his betrayer had been fatally shot and Sgt. H. J. Gray, of the detective bureau, had been wounded. Both Sgt. Gray and Policeman Michael Naughton fired at Durkin, but he managed to escape from them by leaping from a second story window. As the slayer landed in the yard a deputy United States marshal, in hiding, fired twice at him as he fled. Durkin escaped, although he is believed to have been wounded several times. Sgt. Gray was wounded slightly, but Lloyd Austin, in whose flat the shooting took place, was wounded eleven times, and fled shortly after reaching a hospital.

Embargo on Mallory Line

Tampa, Fla.—A temporary embargo on all freight shipped via the Mallory Line from New York and Mobile was announced by W. G. Bartlett, general agent of the company here. He said the action was caused by a strike of stevedores. Five large freighters with about 7,500 tons of cargo aboard must be unloaded, he said, before any shipments to or from New York and Mobile can be moved.

Eventually the doughboy will forgive everything that happened to him except second lieutenants.

Chief Billings Vindicated

Cape Girardeau, Mo.—Proving to the satisfaction of the city commission that rumors concerning his conduct were groundless, after demanding a hearing before any charges had been preferred, Chief of Police W. W. Billings, who came here from Memphis six months ago to take charge of the local department, was invested with still greater authority.

Twenty witnesses were called before the hearing asked for by the officer, they being persons who had heard "stories" about Billings, and, under oath, all admitted they had no facts and merely had heard or had told scandalous stories concerning Billings and women he was reported to have taken for rides in his automobile. A sensational situation was presented when Fred Ravenstein, a young man, was called to explain a story he had told that Billings rides with "immoral women." The youth admitted making a statement to that effect but said he had seen Billings with a woman in his car on but one occasion.

Pressed for identification of the woman in question he gave the name of the stenographer who was taking testimony at the hearing, a city employe, who, later testimony appeared to show, had become ill while on duty at the city hall and was taken to her home by the officer. Similar stories came to similar climax and at the conclusion the council authorized the chief to remove any member of the police force for misconduct.

More Trouble for Banker

Spartanburg, S. C.—Action by the Spartanburg County grand jury was expected against L. G. Miller, former treasurer of the county, who is charged with shortages totaling $321,628.45 in his accounts. Miller at present is serving a two to four-year term in the South Carolina penitentiary in connection with the failure of the Bank of Dancon, near here. He was president of the bank. His indictment was asked by Solicitor I. C. Backwood on the basis of a report of accountants who have been auditing Miller's books.

Peace Period Looms

Chicago—The wartime munitions chieftain, Charles M. Schwab, declared that the country stands on the threshold of a great period of peace and prosperity. He spoke at a joint educational meeting, conducted by the University of Chicago and the Institute of American Meat Packers, before entering the meeting, he declared that "business was never better," and that the years immediately ahead of industry would be profitable ones. We live in a period which could not be what it is without steel," said the chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. "Production of steel has increased fourfold in the last 25 years," he said.

Legion Investigation Starts

Omaha, Neb.—Liquor conditions at the recent American Legion convention were the subject of federal grand jury investigation. Police officers, legion officials, prohibition agents and investigators were on the list to be heard by the inquisitorial body. The 22 men comprising the jury were empaneled. Routine cases were heard as evidence was assembled in legion complaints for presentation. A film man, alleged to have furnished movies for the "40 and 8 hospitality hut," depicting risque French scenes, was one of those under subpoena. Anran Raymond, commander of the Omaha Post No. 1, host to the legionnaires, and Amos Thomas, in charge of the provost, were among others summoned.

POULTRY

WHITE DIARRHEA IS CAUSED BY A GERM

White diarrhea in chickens, a very infectious disease which may be transmitted from chick to chick by contact, is caused by a germ which multiplies rapidly in the body of the chick, causing a severe diarrhea that proves fatal in a large majority of the infected flocks. It has been definitely proved that hens which appear healthy may carry in their organs of reproduction the germ which causes this disease and which manifests itself in the young chicks within two or three days after hatching. Healthy chicks in the same incubators or brooders may become infected by contact, or by eating food or drinking from vessels that have become contaminated with the droppings of these sick chicks.

White diarrhea usually develops quickly, causing a heavy loss in chicks that are a few days to a week or more of age. The chicks huddle together, appear sleepy or stupid, and have no appetite. The droppings are white in color and this causes a condition called "pasted up behind." The chicks die within a few hours or days after the disease is noticed.

All sick chicks should be killed and, along with all litter, refuse, and feed that is found in the brooder house, burned. All utensils used in and about the brooder house and the house itself, should be thoroughly cleaned, scalded with boiling water, and disinfected. Only healthy chicks should be put in the disinfected brooder house. It is best if possible to move them to entirely new quarters.

No satisfactory medical treatment for infected chicks has been found. The disease may be prevented by hatching eggs from disease-free flocks.

Certain drugs used in the drinking water aid in preventing the spread of disease in chicks. Bichloride of mercury in the proportion of 20 grams to every gallon of water is recommended. Sour milk or buttermilk should form a good part of the ration. To save a flock when the infection has once started requires constant care and untiring efforts.

Direct Sunshine Is Fine Food for Young Chicks

Feed your chicks sunshine if you want them to grow rapidly and strong. Scientists say that leg weakness in chicks reared indoors is caused, not by the wrong feed, but by the lack of direct sunshine which enables them to use their food in building a good, strong skeleton. And by direct sunshine they mean sunshine that has not lost most of its effect by being sifted through glass or cloth. Leg weakness is at the seat of many chick troubles, preventing sufficient exercise and making it difficult for the chicks to secure their feed.

It is therefore important that the chicks be allowed outdoors on the sunny days as early as possible. A little while each day is better than not at all. A small yard can be provided so as to simplify getting them back into the house when desired. If, because of cold weather, the chicks cannot be outdoors, the windows should be opened at the bottom so as to allow the entrance of the sun's rays without interference.

Green stuff such as clover seeds that have been grown in the sunshine, rolls of egg laid by hens that have been on range, and crude cod liver oil, fed at about 1 to 2 per cent of the ration, will help to make up for the lack of sunshine, but most poultry keepers will prefer to use sunshine whenever possible.—Cora Calk, Extension Poultry Specialist, University of Minnesota.

Seed Poultry Yards for Prevention of Diseases

Success with chicks depends largely upon the condition of their runs. The most effective prevention and control of diseases and parasites transmitted through the soil, is to provide a heavy growth of vegetation which will clean up the soil. This applies particularly to coccidiosis, intestinal worms, and tuberculosis.

Alsike, blue grass, and timothy or vetch and rye are very satisfactory seed mixtures for brooder runs and poultry yards. A generous application of lime will aid in the growth of vegetation and cleansing the soil. Seeding the yards in this way not only overcomes the disease contamination of the soil, but provides an abundance of green feed in the yards which is so essential for the chicks in the spring.

The brooder houses should be moved so the ground occupied by chicks this year can be seeded now. They should be placed on new ground each spring and the following year they may be returned to the ground on which they now stand.

Free Range for Poults

Poults should not be allowed free range until they are about six weeks of age, after which time there is little danger from ordinary disease. Before that time they should be inclosed in a pen about 18 inches high. They will need special care during storms and should not be allowed to go through the grass while the dew is heavy. Both hens and poults should be examined frequently for lice, and if they are found they should be dusted twice a week.

Cow-Testing Is Aid to Dairying

Associations Now Throwing
Light on Production of 307,073 Cows.

Seven hundred and thirty-two stars now adorn a map of the United States in the office of the bureau of dairying of the United States Department of Agriculture. These stars represent the number of cow-testing associations now throwing light on the milk and butterfat production of 307,073 cows. Thousands of dairymen have watched with interest the growth of the testing idea from the time the first star was placed on the map in 1900 to the present, with 732 stars marking the progressive dairy communities.

This map, says the bureau, may be likened to a chart of the starry heavens in the early evening. As the stars begin to appear one by one, then more rapidly, and finally in clusters in every part of the skies, so have the cow-testing associations appeared, first one by one, then more rapidly, and now in groups in various parts of the United States.

To carry this analogy still further: The Newaygo county (Mich.) association, the first to be organized in the United States, may represent the evening star, which is the first to come out. The big associations of our western coast may represent the largest planets. Other smaller but no less worthy associations may be thought of as stars of various magnitudes. Some of the more brilliant associations may be likened to Mercury, Venus, and Mars, but it requires no wild flight of the imagination to detect the Milky Way in that great group of cow-testing associations that extends in a long and graceful curve from the Dakotas through the upper stretches of the Mississippi and St. Lawrence valleys, then across the Alleghenies to the eastern shores of New England.

In these associations 12 per cent of our dairy cows are now on test. As the years roll round it is hoped, says the department, that more and more cows may be placed on test, and that finally every dairymen may become a member of a wide-awake cow-testing association. Then will the analogy of the stars and the associations be complete.

Capon Production Shows Big Increase in Profits

The practice of caponizing chickens is becoming a popular and profitable one among the farmers of South Dakota. Clara M. Sutter, poultry specialist at the South Dakota State college, reports that more than 15,000 birds were caponized in the state last year.

As an illustration of the value of caponizing, the cockerels that are to be marketed, Miss Sutter cites the instance of a Grant county farmer who witnessed one of her demonstrations. Returning home, he performed the operation on 40 of his birds. When he sold his surplus in January he was informed by his local dealer that capons were bringing 27 cents a pound while cockerels were selling for only 14 cents. In addition, the capons weighed from one to two pounds more than the cockerels. The practice of caponizing is very simple, according to Miss Sutter, and can be performed by anyone who has the necessary instruments and who has been shown the proper methods.

One Cause of Bloat

When cattle have eaten a lot of salt just before being turned on pasture they are apt to drink a large amount of water after filling up on green feed and that sometimes causes rapid fermentation of the contents of the stomach and may result in a serious case of bloat. This may happen even if the legumes are not wet. Let cattle have free access to salt at all times so they will not develop an unusual thirst.

Scratch Feed for Hens

Not over one-third of the scratch feed should be fed in the morning, with the other two-thirds fed in the afternoon. This will allow the hens to fill their crops before going to roost. The mash feed should be before the hens all of the time. The light feed in the morning will encourage them to eat more of the mash, and this is needed to furnish the muscle-building portion of the ration which is needed for heavy egg production.

Feeding for Eggs

Well-balanced, palatable feeds are necessary to get good egg production. With good stock, the additional cost of a good ration is repaid many times by the extra eggs obtained. Here are some points to be observed: Feed simple grain mixtures supplemented with meat scrap, fish scrap, or milk.

Supply green feed of some kind throughout the year.

System Pays on Farm

"Business on many farms proceeds along lines planned weeks in advance," says Prof. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of agricultural economics, at the Kansas State Agricultural college. "There is systematic to the business of these farms, a system which has been developed along four definite lines, namely, financing, organization, operation and marketing."

See the New Improved Hexagon Slab Slate Shingle

This wonderful roof has been one of the leaders for many years, was 12 1/2" x 32", now made 12 3/4" x 36", making a full THREE thickness roof when laid. Comes in four colors—Red, Green, Blue Black and Autumn Blend. Easy to lay, does not have the waste that most patterns do on the hips and in the valleys.

Its heavy tile-like pattern is distinctive. Guaranteed not to curl. It is truly a wonderful roof for either new work or over old wood shingles. We recommend this roof and guarantee your satisfaction.

A few of the many roofs of this kind, on new jobs, are: The Pickle Filling Station, Bungalow of H. W. Williams on Green Street, The Christian Church. Over old wood shingles: M. C. Payne home on Park Avenue, Dr. T. F. Thomson home, Eddings and Fourth.

Look these roofs over, then come in and let us show you "THIS WONDERFUL ROOF."

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Lexington.—The University of Kentucky's dairy cattle judging team won first on Ayrshires and seventh in placing in all breeds at the recent National Dairy Exposition at Indianapolis.

Florence.—H. Taylor, Charles Kaiser and Leonard Hall of Florence are in jail here, charged with transporting whisky. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Canfield, near Fleming hill, an adjacent village.

Georgetown, Ky.—The October meeting of the Georgetown Women's Club was held at the city library with the programme in charge of the American Home Department of which Mrs. Leland W. Meyer is chairman.

Ashland, Ky.—John Branner, 29 years old is dead and his wife, Mrs. Josephine Branner, 28, formerly Miss Josephine Bradshaw, of this city, sister of G. Bradshaw of Nineteenth Street, is in the Guelche Hospital at Huntington in a serious condition as a result of an automobile accident. Three others were injured but only one seriously.

Lexington, Ky.—Fire believed to have been caused by a defective wire resulted in damage of several hundred dollars to the two-story brick residence of Judge Truman Drury, commissioner of the State Court of Appeals, here. The fire started in the attic of the house burning out rafters, window casings and furniture stored on the third floor.

Lexington.—A jury in the Fayette Circuit Court returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the Commonwealth against Mrs. Margaret Lowery Wiley and fixed her punishment at fourteen years in the penitentiary for the murder of her husband, Truman Wiley, three months ago. The jury deliberated an hour and fifty minutes before reaching a verdict.

Grayson.—Fire, starting early in the morning, destroyed the postoffice here, the Big Sandy telephone exchange and the store of Ben Bagby, before it was extinguished. The loss was put at $10,000. Contents of the postoffice and the store were saved but contents of the telephone exchange and the office of Dr. F. M. Malone, were lost. The flames originated in Dr. Malone's office.

Paducah.—Eleven cases of typhoid fever have been reported in Paducah with development of four new cases, according to a statement by the City Health Department. The sudden increase in the number of typhoid cases in various sections of the city is being carefully investigated by the Health Department and the public is warned to take preventive measures against a further spread of the disease.

Murray, Ky.—The large department store of T. O. Turner caught fire but the blaze was extinguished with slight damage to the building but large damage to a new stock of goods. This new building which occupied the sites of five former business houses, had just been completed by Mr. Turner September 1, and an immense stock of merchandise and clothing moved in. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Maysville, Ky.—Joel Williams, a farmer who lives near Minerva, while going through a field on his place, saw a strange bird close to a partition fence. Getting his shotgun he shot it on one of its wings. After some trouble he caught it and found it to be an American eagle. The bird measured six and one half feet from tip to tip of wing and weighs about twenty-two pounds. It is the first one ever seen in that section.

Glasgow.—Charles W. Heck, Salt Chair, Tenn., who spoke to the farmers of the county at the Court House on the benefits to be derived from a canning factory, has made a proposition that will probably result in Glasgow having a canning factory. His proposition is that if Glasgow and Barren County provide a building for a year, he will furnish the necessary machinery and open the cannery in time for next season's crop.

Elkton, Ky.—Walter Mullins, a tenant on the farm of William Moore, near this city, fell dead after picking cotton all day. Mr. Mullins accompanied by another tenant of the same farm, was returning home when he staggered and fell to the ground. The other tenant made an effort to catch the falling man, but could not reach him until he lay prostrate on the ground. The body of the dead man was not received until J. Mack Bell, the coroner, arrived and pronounced death due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Lexington, Ky.—Maj. George Blackwell Pickett, 99 years old, retired civil engineer and a Confederate veteran of the War between the State died at his home.

Covington, Ky.—The bridemaid's gown, which Miss Edna Burdick, 18 years old, was to have worn at the wedding of her brother, Phillip, at Louisville, Ky., will be her funeral shroud. The girl died in a hospital in Covington of injuries received in an automobile accident near Fulton, Ky.

MAYOR HALL KILLS SELF IN HENDERSON

Nominee Ends Life With Shotgun; Suicide Laid to Depression Over Election.

Henderson, Ky.—Henry Clay Hall, mayor of Henderson and Democratic nominee for sheriff of this county killed himself at his home here by firing a shotgun load through his heart. He pressed the trigger with a stick.

The mayor's action is believed to have been brought about by the strain and worry incident to the approaching election and his campaign for the sheriff's office. On the day of the tragedy he told his wife, speaking of the election:

"The strain is so great I don't know whether I can stand it much longer."

Mr. Hall was one of the candidates who had failed to file his certificate of nomination within the statutory time. He attended a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, which renominated him, as authorized by the Court of Appeals. Later he went to his office and thence to his home.

He went to a rear room of his residence and fired the fatal shot. He died almost instantly, the body being found by Mrs. Hall almost immediately after the report. The widow and an adopted daughter are prostrated.

Mayor Hall's term as mayor would have expired January 1. He was elected in 1922. His election as sheriff virtually was assured, this being a strong Democratic county.

Mr. Hall was a native of Webster county and moved here from Dixon ten or fifteen years ago. He is the son of the late Judge J. R. Hall, who served as county judge of Webster county for a quarter of a century. He has a brother, Arthur Hall, who served as county judge of Webster county for four years, retiring in January, 1922, and is now the Democratic candidate for the same office, to be voted for at the election next Tuesday.

When Mr. Hall moved to Henderson he first engaged in the furniture business, later entering politics and was elected mayor four years ago. As mayor of the city he was the third member of the board of commissioners, and usually was opposed on all important matters by the two other commissioners, Judge J. W. Johnson and Judge J. Hawkins Hart.

He entered the race as a candidate for sheriff and was nominated at the August Primary by a substantial margin.

He is survived by his widow and an adopted daughter. The mayor was a member of the Methodist Church, the Knights Templar and other fraternal organizations.

EASTERN STAR HOLDS ITS MEETING IN BOYD COUNTY

400 Delegates Expected To Be Present For Sessions of Annual Meeting In Ashland

Ashland, Ky.—Nearly every county in the State was represented among the 200 delegates who arrived here to attend the annual session of the Grand Chapter Order of Eastern Star. Approximately 200 more delegates are expected to arrive here to take part in the State meeting. The downtown stores are colorfully decorated in honor of the visitors and hundreds of automobiles seen on the streets.

The day was spent in registration, assignment of quarters, and sight-seeing. The first formal session of the grand chapter was held at Elhanza Temple, Clydeside, Col. R. P. Forgye made the address of welcome in behalf of the city. The welcome on the part of the Masonic bodies was made by P. J. Wynn, worthy patron. Mrs. Effie McQuire, associate grand matron, answered the welcoming speeches. At the meeting a special entertainment was put on and included music by a chorus composed of members of the church choirs of the city, solos by Harry Moore and a concert by the Shrine Band.

The election of grand officers will take place soon. The visiting delegates will be well feasted with various forms of entertainment, both public and private. The election of officers, it is expected, will see Ashland honored by the ascension of Mrs. Effie McQuire to the post of worthy grand matron, the supreme honor of the order. Mrs. McQuire would replace Mrs. Maudie R. Johnson, Lebanon, the retiring grand matron. J. E. Great-house, worthy grand patron, Scottsville, will be succeeded by Edward R. Cary, Bellevue. For the post of grand conductress considerable rivalry will be seen with the names of one or more Ashland women as probable candidates.

Two Dead, Two Hurt Is Toll For Short Period In Daviess

Owensboro, Ky.—Two have died, a third person is in the city hospital suffering from head injuries and a broken leg as the result of a series of major automobile accidents that have occurred in Owensboro. This has caused Chief of Police Brady to issue orders to patrolmen to arrest all motorists driving at a rate of more than fifteen miles an hour, the speed limit in the city limits. Chief Brady gave special emphasis in the order to the officers going on duty.

PAUL'S FAREWELL AT MILETUS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 20:18-38. GOLDEN TEXT—"Ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, I am more blessed to give than to receive"—Acts 20:35. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul a Loving Friend. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Farewell at Miletus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—An Example of Faithfulness. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Responsibilities of Church Members.

After the uproar at Ephesus, the Jews laid wait for Paul to destroy him. This plot obligated him to retrace his steps through Macedonia instead of taking a more rapid sea voyage. He tarried with the disciples at Troas, meeting with them around the table of the Lord, and speaking words of encouragement to them. In order to be at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost, he did not go to Ephesus, but sent for the elders of the church at Ephesus to meet him at Miletus. The picture of Paul's farewell to the Ephesian elders is a very touching one. His object in this address was to impress upon them their responsibilities. The analysis of his address has been so well made by Doctor Stiller that it is substantially reproduced here.

I. Paul Reviews His Three Years' Ministry at Ephesus (vv. 18-21).

1. The Spirit of His Ministry (v. 19). (1) He was humble, "serving with all humility of mind." (2) He was tender, working for them in tears.

(3) He was faithful in the face of trials which befell him because the Jews were lying in wait for him. 2. The Diligence of His Ministry (vv. 20-21).

(1) He made known everything which was of profit unto them. This every true minister or teacher will do. (2) He taught both in public and in private. A minister's work is not done when his pulpit ministrations are over. The effectiveness of his public work is sometimes determined by his touch with the people in their homes.

(3) He neglected no class, whether Jews or Greeks. The Christian minister must be exceedingly careful here. 3. The Theme of His Ministry (v. 21).

This was repentance and faith. Men and women need to repent of their sins and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. II. Paul Presents the Present State of Things (vv. 22-27).

1. His Immediate Purpose (v. 22). This was to go to Jerusalem. The constraint of the Spirit moved him to go forward though he did not know the things that should befall him there.

2. The Shadows Lying Across His Path (v. 23). Though bonds and afflictions awaited him, he went forward to his work with undaunted courage. 3. His Fixed Purpose (v. 24).

This was to complete his ministry, which was to testify the gospel of the grace of God which he had received from the Lord Jesus Christ. 4. A Sorrowful Prediction (v. 25).

Those among whom he had labored should see his face no more. 5. He Leaves No Debt of Obligation Behind (v. 26-27). He was pure from the blood of all men.

III. Paul Sets Forth the Ephesian Elders' Responsibility (vv. 28-35).

1. Motives to Duty (v. 28). (1) They received their call and commission directly from the Holy Spirit. (2) The flock for which they must care was purchased with the precious blood of Christ.

2. Perils Ahead (vv. 29-30). (1) Grievous evils would enter the flock and mercilessly devour them. (2) False teachers would arise from among their number. 3. Incentives to Watch (v. 31).

Paul's own example. For three years he watched night and day with tears. 4. He Commends Them to God, and His Word (v. 32).

He knew that this Word was able to build them up. 5. He Was Unselfish in His Service (vv. 33-35).

(1) He did not covet any man's silver, gold or apparel. (2) He labored with his own hands and taught. IV. Paul's Prayer (vv. 36-38). Having spoken these words he kneeled and prayed with them all.

Patience

Patience is a beautiful trait, but it is not worn oftenest by those who walk on life's sunny side in silver slippers. It is the product of days of adversity. "The trial of your faith worketh patience."—Evangelical Messenger.

Artistic Designs in Modern Shop Windows

A noteworthy change is slowly taking place in the appointment of our modern stores and shops, a writer in the San Francisco Chronicle comments. Today one witnesses everywhere the brightening up and rearrangement of our shops. Never before have such artistic exteriors been planned and such orderly interior arrangements been witnessed.

Up to this time our shops were a copy of the material sold. There did not seem to be any definite plan, whereby a customer could see the goods to be sold to advantage. Instead of trying to show all the goods that might be purchased in a store, as was formerly the custom, we find today that the merchandise in general is subordinate, and forms the background of the entire store. However, the specialties which it is the purpose to emphasize, are shown to their best advantage, and naturally bring results.

The up-to-date owner pays great attention and gives serious study to the general architectural scheme of his store—the kind of floors, ceilings, walls and columns that are employed, and he insists that the entire arrangement be artistic and architecturally correct.

Even the field of window dressing is receiving architectural study. Years ago window dressing consisted of merely placing an artistic composition of material on display, but today a tour of the more up-to-date enterprising establishments will reveal the fact that the settings for our show windows consist of architectural backgrounds of meritorious designs.

Better Taste Needed in City Development

Turning American streets into hanging gardens by means of flower boxes on the windows and lamp posts is regarded as an enterprise of doubtful value by the civic development department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The motive is a very good one, but experience of cities where the experiment has been tried shows that after a time interest lags in this method of beautification and the hanging gardens take on the aspect of an arid waste.

As an alternative the civic development department suggested, in response to an inquiry, that to make the business district of American cities more attractive attention might better be directed to setting a better standard of taste in architecture and in regard to street fixtures and creating a public opinion which will demand only that which is good.

It also recommends the appointment of special committees to advise on facades of new buildings, pointing to the experience of the national capital and one or two other cities where the local chapters of the Institute of Architects effectively serves that purpose.

Profit in Beauty

Where villages are being made more beautiful, the impetus has come in nearly every case from local initiative. Villages that have well-planned streets, attractive recreation spots and pleasing approaches are nearly always indebted for these advantages to the energy and public spirit of some small group of citizens. Under such inspiration dump heaps have been turned into garden spots, unsightly shacks and dilapidated stores have been torn down and replaced by smart substantial business buildings, and extensive programs of landscape gardening and tree planting have been undertaken. Villages that have embarked on this path are finding that beauty pays. It improves local business and attracts tourist business. It enhances real estate values and has a powerful influence in raising individual standards of efficiency and enterprise.

Children Need "Home"

No one is more susceptible to environment and surroundings than a child, and it is the children who suffer most when the family is transplanted too frequently. Living in rented quarters is quite conducive to frequent moving, with resultant struggles to find and make congenial friends, to adjust oneself to different schools and often to different methods of instruction, to try to find a place in the new neighborhood. If the family is settled in its own home, friendships, school and church relationships can be permanent and lifelong, and each child feels that he has a place to fill in the community life. He will share his parents' feeling of responsibility as members of that community and he will do his best to make his home town the "best little place on earth."—New York Times.

Utilize Vacant Lots

You couldn't do a better thing for Talladega than to plant right now to plant flowers in what would otherwise be ugly spots in your city, namely, vacant lots here and there. If you don't care for posies, you might consider raising a garden. Anything is better than letting the vacant lots grow up into the wilderness of weeds. The suggestion is one of whose adoption would mean much for a better looking city, and the appearance are important.—Talladega (Ala.) Daily Home.

Box Coat of Velvet and Skirt of White Flannel

This outfit, consisting of a box coat of velvet and a straight skirt of white flannel, makes a charming combination of color and fabric for autumn sports wear.

Matter of "Making Over" Simple for Dressmaker

Never has the problem of "making over" been so simple as during the present season. The dresses are so short, so narrow, and practically sleeveless, that they require little material, time or labor for their fashioning. Sometimes an entire dress can be constructed from a plaited skirt, supplemented with a small amount of other material, usually of a contrasting color, for trimming.

One plaited white flannel skirt was carefully pressed, after the hem had been ripped out and the belt removed, turned the "wrong" way of the goods, and with the addition of collar, cuffs and a wide band around the bottom, all of green flannel, the home dressmaker produced in a very short time, a smart sports frock. A similar skirt was the genesis of a white flannel dress having collar, cuffs and garters of scarlet flannel. A heavy green crepe silk skirt was made into a dress which had neck and sleeve trimming, and an applied band, just above the knee, of tan silk. These dresses were all cut in one piece with kimono sleeves.

With care a separate waist and skirt pattern can be used in cutting over a skirt. A quaint little bodice frock with a gathered skirt was evolved from the skirt of a lavender beach cloth middie suit. This dress was trimmed with a soft white fabric collar and ruffled cuffs. The full skirt of a dress three or four years old often can be used for the main portion of a new garment by turning the material the wrong way and "piecing out" the length with scraps from the waist, sleeves, girdle or sash.

By studying fashion cuts the resourceful woman can find new ideas whereby she can utilize the old dresses which are too out of date to wear with ease of mind, but are "too good" to discard because of the excellent quality of the material in them.

An Array of Colors for Milady's New Fall Coat

Color will be predominant in coats for fall. Brown and blue effects are in the lead. Among the blues favored are french blue, rosen blue, periwinkle blue, old blue flax blue, bleu de roi.

Other prominent colors are bracken, cocoa, chocolate, chinese red and yellow, onion brown, almond and easter, beige, smoke gray, eucalyptus and emerald green, combinations of wine and beige, biscuit and beige; bud and blossom shades are good, while the pastel shades will still be much in evidence. Combinations of black and white, sometimes called "day-and-night" effects, are also looked upon with favor.

Among the leading furs used are nutria, racoon, chinchilla, wolf in apricot, blue, havanna brown, eclipse, natural and black. Lynx cat is popular, while skunk is employed in a black-and-white combination, which is effective on a black coat giving a so-called "day-and-night" effect. Japanese fox, ringtail cat in natural and cocoa, and squirrel in the new shades of rose martin and blue fox, as well as natural, are other furs which are well liked. Kit fox is being used especially in eclipse and light blue and also in the natural.

Rage for Plaiting Now Reaches to Glove Cuffs

Obviously, plaiting has come to stay, perhaps for several seasons. There is, at the moment, a perfect craze for it and its dainty, decorative quality is found to add charm to many things other than an evening gown in the fashionable wardrobe. Some of the new transparent coats which have achieved a sudden popularity are made of chiffon, marquisette, georgette or lace plaited very fine. Among the newest things in scarfs are some of plaited material, or of plain goods finished with a plaited ruffle at each end. Neck ruffs, hat trimmings, even glove cuffs are seen in plaiting, and some of the luxuries in negligees and lingerie are of plaited chiffon mouseline or crepe de china.

TRY A GUN

"Madame," said the dignified gentleman, "your dog bit me on the ankle."

"He did?" cried the lady. "Oh, I must send for the doctor!"

"Oh, I assure you it isn't as bad as—"

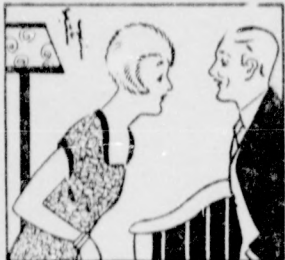

"You're the third person he's bit today," broke in the lady. "I just know he isn't feeling quite well."—Legion Weekly.

Wisdom of the People

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men."

"Undoubtedly," answered Senator Sorghum. "The only trouble is that when you put a little nonsense into your talk it's liable to prove the only part that some of your auditors take seriously."—Washington Star.

Both Toilers

The farmer and the sailor toil alike to some degree.

For where the farmer tills the soil The latter plows the sea.

Bird Life

"Never lived in the suburbs before?"

"Never."

"You'll enjoy the bird life on the place. This is a house for the blue birds. And yesterday I saw a cuckoo on the lot."

"Good. I'll hang out an old clock."

A Difficult Case

Sleeping Beauty—If you think me pretty my hundred year beauty sleep will not have been in vain.

Prince Charming—Say, if it took a century to make your face what if it now you'd better turn over and take another nap.

Viewed Tolerantly

"I like the springtime."

"Why?"

"Well, you see, I don't care for work at any time, but it is only in the spring that that attitude gets any sympathy."

INSIDE DOPE

"Say, why's the doc pumping out that fellow he thinks poisoned himself?"

"Trying to get the inside dope on his case."

Dismissing the Past

Republicans are ungrateful, sure; For which we're all regretful. But many a statesman's more secure Because they are forgetful.

Premonition

"Did you expect me to accept you the night you proposed?"

"I did. Just before I reached your home I walked under a ladder and a dog howled three times."—Sydney Bulletin.

Her Job

"It's the little things that count," said the educational lecturer.

"Yes," responded the primary grade teacher, "but you can't imagine what a hard time we have teaching them to do it."

Quick Changes

Mrs. O'Gay—John, with my make-up on I could pass myself off as your daughter.

Mr. O'Gay—Yes, and with it off, my dear, I could pass myself off as your son.—New Bedford Standard.

The Lace Maker

Irate Customer—Here, look what you did!

Laundryman—I can't see anything wrong with that lace.

"Lace? That was a sheet!"

Shakespeare Revised

She—Hast thou heard that Shylock is once more wealthy?

He—Yes, he has been selling a correspondence course on "How to Lose Flesh."—California Pelican.

The Very Idea!

Old Lady—Surely a man like you could get a job in some business?

Street Singer—What, and sacrifice my career?

MRS. BOAZ HONORED AT BRIDGE TEA

To honor Mrs. Harvyl Boaz, a recent bride, Mrs. Don Taylor and Mrs. Chas. Karmire cordially welcomed guests Saturday afternoon at the Usona hotel for one of the largest bridge parties of the autumn season.

Mrs. Boaz received with the gracious hostesses wearing a charming frock of blue cut velvet with chiffon trimmings.

While Mrs. Taylor was gowned in a pansy crepe model, and Mrs. Karmire a pretty pencil blue crepe with belgarin colors.

Hallowe'en suggestions appeared in the appointments. After four spirited games, Mrs. D. B. Maupin held highest score, received a pair of silk hose and Mrs. Floyd Irby received a candy jar for second high, while Mrs. Eugene DeMyer won consolation, a pretty boutonniere. The honoree gift was a silver tablespoon.

For the amusement of those who did not play bridge there was an interesting contest and Mrs. Harvey Alexander was awarded the prize, a pair of silk hose. A deliciously prepared luncheon followed the game.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. R. J. Walker complimented Mesdames Herbert Harris and John Kernachan, of Florence, Ala., Stewart McCloy, of Bardwell, Ky., Joe Davis, Ennis Dobbins, Henry Alexander, L. O. Bradford and Harry Scates of Fulton, with a well planned four-course dinner at her attractive home on Olive street. For the occasion the house was artistically decorated with autumn roses, dahlias and a profusion of garden flowers of all kinds. The hallowe'en idea was carried out in the house decoration and favors. A lovely four course dinner was served from tables draped with lace covers. Those who had the pleasure of meeting the out-of-town guests were Mesdames H. G. Edmonson, Jesse Turner, J. M. Martin and W. R. Garrett of this town.—Martin Press.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Mrs. Harvyl Boaz was named honoree for a miscellaneous shower unusually beautiful and tasteful in its appointments when Mesdames Harry Scates and Gideon Willingham entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Scates on Carr street. The home was effectively decorated in a pleasing pink and white theme. Pink roses were arranged in bowls and vases in places of vantage about the rooms.

Writing favorite recipes for the bride was the diversion for the afternoon. Mrs. Douglas Seay in her usual charming manner, sang two songs, with Mrs. Gus Bard as accompanist, and Miss Blanch Waggener, who is always an addition to programs gave two lovely readings. To the ever beautiful strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Bard, the honoree entered the living room costumed in a black crepe model with gold stitching with picture hat of pansy and took her place in a beautifully decorated chair, while little Miss Virginia Scates and Master Arthur Scates, daintily dressed, brought the various and beautiful gifts in a decorated box to the guest of honor. After unwrapping and admiring the many presents, lovely refreshments were served. The ices were pink hearts with a tiny cupid in white, molded on top. The cakes were iced in white, and pink baskets filled with nuts were given as favors.

Those assisting in entertaining and serving were Miss Mary Webb, Mesdames L. O. Bradford, H. T. Alexander, George Alley, I. W. Dobbins, J. D. Davis, Alf Hornbeak, Claude Freeman, J. W. Shepherd, J. F. Royster, Maude Parsons, and little Misses Jane Alley and Katherine Scates.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT MEETS

Mrs. J. M. Culver was hostess to the Music Department of the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was interesting and well attended. Miss Ruth Fields presided over the business session.

Miss Maude Morris was the leader for the afternoon, having as her subject "British Music." She was assisted by the following ladies:

Piano—In Autumn (Cyril Scott) Mrs. Maddox
Voice—Last Year's Roses (Grey) . . . Mrs. Williams
Voice—Brown Bird Singing (Wood) . . . Mrs. Brann
Piano—Lotus Land (Cyril Scott) . . . Miss Huddleston
After the program, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

COMPLIMENTARY BRIDGE

A delightful event of the past week was the bridge party at the home of Mrs. James Chambers, Jr., when Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Don Hill entertained Tuesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Burns Evans of Russellville, Ky., who is the house guest of Mrs. Chambers. Flowers everywhere graced the occasion and gave additional beauty to the rooms where eight tables were in play at bridge.

The high score held in final count by Mrs. Felix Bright, was presented a huge angel food cake. Mrs. Ed Crockett was presented a Florentine plaque. Consolation went to Mrs. Floyd Irby and a pretty pair of silk hose was presented the honor guest. The only suggestion of hallowe'en was in wrapping of the gifts. A delicious salad course was served following the game.

Woman's Club Meet In Fulton Nov. 10.

The annual meeting of the First District Woman's Clubs will be held here Tuesday, Nov. 10th, as announced by Mrs. J. F. Warren, governor of the First district. The meeting will be held at the First Christian church.

O, SAY, CAN YOU SING?

O, say can you sing from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when orchestras play it,
When the whole congregation, in voices that blend,
Strike up the grand tune, and then torture and slay it!
How valiant they shout when they're first starting out!
But the dawn's early light finds them floundering about.
'Tis the Star-Spangled Banner they're trying to sing.
But they don't know the words of the precious, brave thing.

Hark! the twilight's last gleaming has some of them stopped,
But the valiant survivors press forward serenely
To the ramparts we watched, where some others are dropped.
And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.
Then the rocket's red glare gives the bravest a scare,
And there's few left to face the the bombs bursting in air;
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save
The last of the verse and the home of the brave.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

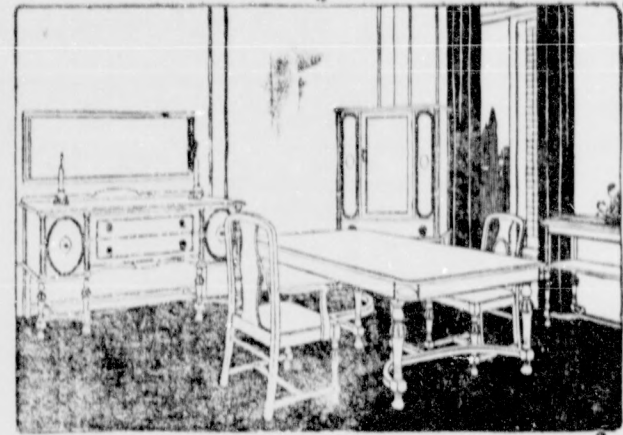

The telephone girl sits in her chair
And listens to voices from everywhere.
She knows all the gossip, she knows all the news,
She knows who is happy and who has the blues.
She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys,
She knows all the girls who are "chasing the boys."
She knows all our troubles, she knows of our strife,
She knows every man who talks mean to his wife.
She knows every time we are out with the boys,
She knows the excuse that each fellow employs.
If the telephone girl told half that she knows,
It would turn all our friends into bitterest foes.
She would sow a small wind that would soon be a gale,
Engulf us in trouble and land us in jail.
She would start forth a story, which, gaining in force,
Would cause half our wives to sue for divorce.
She could get all our churches mixed up in a fight,
And turn our bright days into sorrowing night.
In fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew,
If she told but one-tenth of the things that she knew.
