Fulton Building & Loan Association

Re-Elects All the Old Officials for the Ensuing Year

A large number of stockholders of the Fulton Building & Loan Association met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Main street, Tuesday night, December 1, to elect directors and officers for the ensuing year.

President T. M. Franklin opened the meeting, but being indisposed with throat trouble, called on Joe D. Davis to preside. After the reading and adoption of minutes of previous meeting, Secretary J. E. Fall read the financial statement, showing the phenomenal growth and the excellent condition of the Association.

The Fulton Building & Loan Association was organized in November, 1913, with twenty-five stockholders and capital stock of $100,000. Assets at end of first year was $3,309.86, which has grown from year to year until today it is $520,558.66.

Its present capital stock is $1,500,000.00, of which $1,286,900.00 has been sold and the income has grown accordingly.

Dividends credited to stock during the past year amounted to the gigantic sum of $38,129.32.

Checks paid out for matured stock for December, $16,500.

Nine years ago Mr. Lon Pickle took out one share each for his five children and was given five checks of $100.00 for each child. A real Santa Claus gift.

Today more than 550 stockholders are sharing benefits from this splendid institution, and as Mr. Herschel Smith said Tuesday night in his talk: "It is the best poor man's club in the world. Not a man working in Fulton, but what can take stock for a nest egg, or have something to bury him with when he dies."

The splendid talks by Messrs. Franklin, Davis, Fall, Smith, Nugent, Goldsby, Pickering, Finch, Wade and others all demonstrated the helpfulness of the Association to the community.

In the election of officers, the stockholders displayed the utmost confidence in the conduct and management of the Association by unanimously re-electing all of the old officials to serve for the ensuing year, as follows:

T. M. Franklin, president.
L. H. Read, vice-president.
A. M. Nugent, treasurer.
J. E. Fall, secretary.
Directors—Arch Huddleston, P. P. Pickering, J. D. Davis, L. H. Read, W. P. Murrell, J. E. Fall, A. M. Nugent, T. M. Franklin, and Joe Browder.

This write up would not be complete unless we added the name of Smith Atkins, the efficient bookkeeper, to the personnel of this, Fulton's greatest institution. The organization that has taught more than 550 people the power of systematic saving and has made Fulton a city of Home Owners.

Fulton Has a Live Corn Market

Good Prices for Cereal Paid by Browder Milling Company

As a corn market, Fulton is classed at the top of the list, and the Browder Milling company is due the credit by paying top notch prices for the cereal. Thousands and thousands of dollars have already been paid out during the fall season by this live milling establishment and the end is not in sight. Take a look over in the direction of the mill and you will see wagon after wagon loaded with corn waiting for their turn to unload.

CHILD CRUSHED BY CAR AT HICKMAN

Harold Boyd Jack Tried to Double Back Crossing Street

Hickman, Ky., Nov. 29. — Harold Boyd Jack, the three-year-old son of Mrs. Sam Jack, was struck and instantly killed at noon today by an automobile driven by Miss Frances Smith, daughter of Mrs. Goulder Johnson of this city. The child had started across the street to a store and when he saw the automobile coming, turned and tried to run back. The automobile dragged him a distance before Miss Smith got the car stopped. The child had been here with his mother, visiting his grandfather, J. L. Carver, for the past three months on account of her health and the child's father was to arrive here in a few days from Port Arthur, Texas. The accident occurred right in front of his grandfather's door.

JUST A REMINDER—THAT'S ALL

Uncle Sam is urging everyone to "Do Their Christmas Shopping Early" and then "Do Their Mailing Early" too, and I want to add just one other little request to the Christmas shoppers, and that is this: If you take up a clerk's time to show you a lot of goods and do not buy anything, the next time you go to that store, hunt up the same clerk and give them your sale.

This may not mean much to you, but it means a lot to the clerk, for clerk's salaries are gauged by the amount of their sales, and the clerk that makes the largest sales is the one who will get the first raise in salary, when the time comes.

If you have taken up a lot of time and bought nothing, the clerk may have lost one or more sales during the time you were being waited on, and has been handicapped by just that much. Make it up to her or him the next time you go to that store to make a purchase.

All those pokes you have laughed at about the customer who makes the clerk take down a lot of things to show them and then remarks, "I didn't want any today, I was just looking" is not at all funny to the tired clerk, and this "ain't no dream," because I have been a clerk, and I know.

Railroad News

Supt. Williams held his regular fuel conservation committee meeting Monday of last week, and many ways and means of saving fuel on the railroad were discussed.

The large shovel at Camp No. 1, of Nelson & Company, has again been repaired and put in running order, and the excavation has again started. The shovel is working at old Enon church.

Mrs. W. H. Cox, wife of Supervisor Cox, has returned from Paducah hospital where she underwent an operation.

Mr. H. M. Sharp, of Chicago has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. A. E. Covington, on Arch street for several days.

Messrs. Dual Harvey and J. F. Williams, attended the football game at Nashville Thanksgiving.

Mr. B. F. Evans, chief clerk at the division office enjoyed his annual vacation, most of the time being spent hunting.

H. C. Linton, who obtained a leave of absence from the Division office and went to work for the G. & S. I. Railroad a few weeks ago, has returned to duty in the division office.

Obituary

J. B. Alvey, Train Dispatcher, died at his home in Pearl Village, Tuesday morning at 8:50, November 24. Mr. Alvey had been in poor health for sometime, and for the last three weeks had not been able to work any at all. He leaves a widow and two sons, Harry and Hugh. Hugh Alvey is employed as a clerk at the freight house at Fulton.

Mr. Alvey was born August 27, 1870, and entered the service of the Illinois Central as telegraph operator in 1888. He was promoted to train dispatcher on what is now the Kentucky division in 1895, being transferred to the Tennessee Division in April, 1904, as train dispatcher. In October, 1906, he was promoted to the position of Night Chief Dispatcher at Fulton, and in May, 1910, promoted to chief dispatcher. November 15, 1912, he resigned as chief dispatcher, and was employed as trick dispatcher on the Cairo district, which position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Alvey had many friends in the vicinity of Fulton, both on the railroad and off. He was considered a railroad man of fine judgment, and as a train dispatcher he ranked high. He will be missed by his many friends, and especially those connected with the operation of the trains.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Alvey and the boys, and may God help them through this hour of sorrow.

Mr. Alvey was buried at Mayfield, Thursday the 27th. Superintendent Williams authorizing a special train from Fulton to Mayfield and return for the funeral party.

What Sex Has a Locomotive?

Last week we printed an answer by a locomotive engineer to Miss Alice R. Kellar. Miss Kellar answers the engineer's letter as follows:

"Your letter of the 26th was most illuminating and instructive, and I want to thank you for trying to ease my mind in this weighty question. You say locomotives are spoken of in the feminine gender because of all their womanly attributes, but how do you account for the fact that they whistle and smoke, pastimes sometimes indulged in by ladies but generally conceded to be manly traits? Also that they are 'fast,' stay out nights and are often called 'Mike?' (A short term for Mikado type engines). On the other hand, I'll agree that engines do not belong in the masculine class when it comes to refreshments, as they seldom take anything stronger than water. What do you think we should do about it? Shall we refer the question to

Thanksgiving Day Cloud Burst

Recalls Disastrous Flood in Fulton, April 1, 1912

If there ever was a time when the citizens of Fulton had cause to be thankful it was on Thanksgiving day of this year. Especially thankful that Harris Fork creek had been dredged and straightened years ago, before the heavy rains during the day and cloudburst that visited us at night, filling the creek and lowlands adjacent. Also thankful that the creek was flooded sufficient to carry away the filth and rubbish dumped into it.

Thankful that the reported damage broadcasted was very greatly exaggerated and amounted to very little, other than causing a general clean-up the following day. Thankful that we will never experience another flood like that of 1912, before the creek was dredged and straightened if kept cleaned out.

On the night of December 7, 1924, Fulton was visited by a like cloudburst as on Thanksgiving night, but nothing to compare with the "April fool" flood on Monday, April 1, 1912, when Harris Fork creek caused the greatest amount of water damage ever known in Fulton's history. This flood took place before the creek was dredged and straightened. For two or three days Harris Fork creek had been rising steadily and on Monday afternoon about four o'clock the creek was out of its banks, but as this was no unusual thing at that season of the year, little attention was paid to it. The water continued to rise steadily and when the stores closed at six o'clock for the day, the water had backed up in the alley in the rear of Lake street. Merchants and clerks departed for home, little thinking of the approaching danger. At eight o'clock the fire whistle blew and the people were dismayed to learn that the water was entering the stores on Lake street and homes in Missionary Bottom.

Fair Prices for Fleecy Staple

Attract Cotton Growers to Fulton from Far and Near

During the past week cotton continued to come in at a lively clip and the scene about the gin looked good. Some of the fleecy staple was of good quality while some had been damaged considerably by fall rains. The Fulton Gin company has kept the prices up to the high standard and the Fulton Cotton market has attracted the attention of growers from far and near.

Elks Lodge of Sorrow to Be Held Dec. Sixth

The annual memorial services of the local lodge of Elks will be held Sunday afternoon, December 6, at the Orpheum theater, to do memory to the departed brothers who have passed away.

The annual memorial address will be delivered by Prof. C. B. Ijams, of Jackson, Tenn.

The musical program is under the direction of Mrs. Lloyd Emery, of Paducah.

Fulton Advertiser Gets Results

Largest Crowd of the Year Visits Fulton Last Saturday.

Saturday was a lively day in Fulton. The surging crowds that filled the stores were not merely "looking around," but buying merchandise—taking advantage of Trade Day values—some buying gifts while selections were good. It was the largest crowd of the entire year. All available parking space for cars was taken up and the sidewalks a seething mass of humanity. It reminded us of the day before Christmas. Everybody appeared to be happy. Ye editor was kept busy writing subscription receipts during the day. It was one of The Advertiser's best days and lots of new names were added to the list. Many nice things were said about our "Thanksgiving Edition." It was the first number of The Advertiser's second year's existence. Of this issue 2,500 copies, sixteen pages were printed. The paper was filled with advertising of Fulton's leading business firms, and their messages were carried direct to the homes of the buying public. It was a result getter, too—many of our advertisers have said so voluntarily.

The holiday season is now on and Fulton merchants are ready with the arrival of December trading volume in the city's history. The stores have prepared diligently to meet every conceivable holiday want, and are better equipped than ever before to please the buying public. The holiday shopping drive is already in motion and will give momentum daily. Many who have learned the wisdom of obeying the "shop early" slogan will do their buying within the next week or ten days.

Wednesday was another big day in Fulton, economical shoppers were here from every direction taking advantage of Trade Day values.

Fulton Circuit

On December 6 and 7, the First Quarterly Conference for the Fulton Circuit will meet at Riceville, in the new church. Rev. R. L. Norman, the new presiding elder for the Union City, will preach at 7 p. m. Sunday night and also Monday, after which we will have the business of the Quarterly Conference. We wish for a full attendance of all the officials.

WILL THIS HAPPEN CHRISTMAS?

The local post office reports that fully 50 per cent of the Thanksgiving packages and cards were mailed to late to reach their destination by Thanksgiving in the ordinary course of handling.

They are making this statement now in order that the public be advised in time to prevent a recurrence of this situation in connection with the mailing of their Christmas packages, cards and letters.

Remember this and prevent disappointments at Christmas by Shopping Early and Mailing Early.

HOLIDAY WEEK FILLED WITH GAY EVENTS

With the skies gray and heavy rains falling Thanksgiving day in Fulton was a joyous one. As usual, the day was set apart for family feasts, small and informal gatherings. One of the largest parties was the Warner Blackard Tea, Thursday afternoon from 4 till 8 o'clock.

Thanksgiving Tea

One of the prettiest events of the week just passed was the tea given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bennett on Carr street when the Warner Blackard Missionary Society of the First Methodist church gave a benefit tea for the building fund of the church.

Within the home were warmth and light and color enough to make the guests forget the cold gray world without. Yellow-shaded lights shed a soft glow over the rooms gay with sprays of bitter sweet, bowls of narcissus and chrysanthemums in all their brilliant colors.

The tea table had for its centerpiece a silver basket filled with huge chrysanthemums of yellow and white, which was surrounded by tall yellow candles in silver holders, mints and confections in the chosen hues completed the appointments.

Mesdames Chas. Payne and A. G. Baldrige presided at the tea and coffee service. Delicious sandwiches, cakes and mints were served.

The ladies assisting Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. J. C. Scruggs who is the president of the society were, Mesdames Griggs, Whayne, Guy Snow, Leslie Batts, Frank Merryman, Theo. Kramer, Rex Finch, J. V. Freeman, Thos. Chapman, Jake Huddleston, Lou Beringer, Kelly Wood McDonald, J. H. Robertson, Russell Travis, R. A. Brady, Vodie Hardin, J. D. Davis, Sam Bennett, Abe Jolly, Boyd Bennett, Keohn, W. H. McGhee.

A program of delightful music was given by Mrs. Loyd Emery of Paducah, Mrs. Gus Bard, Mrs. John Culver, and little Misses Martha Brady and Sarah Alexander. During the evening hours an orchestra furnished the music. Quite a nice sum was realized for the building fund of the church.

AFTERNOON AT BRIDGE

Miss Richie Stevens was the charming hostess on Saturday afternoon entertaining in the home of Mrs. N. B. Morris on Eddings street with bridge. Autumn flowers nodded cheer to the guests from vases and baskets in the rooms in which the game was in play at four tables. The high score prize, brass candle sticks, was won by Miss Maurine Taylor and Mrs. Guy Gingles obtained low score, a dainty powder puff in silk case. The out-of-town visitors, Miss Sudie Lowe, of Mayfield; Miss Mary Beard and Mrs. A. M. Campbell of Indianola, Miss., received attractive gifts. At the close of the afternoon a delicious salad course was served.

MISS ROYSTER HONORS VISITORS

Miss Mary Royster delightfully entertained with a bridge party Friday afternoon at her home on Carr street in compliment to her house guest, Miss Mary Matilda Beard of Murray and Mrs. A. M. Campbell, of Indianola, Miss. Six tables were in play. After four spirited games, the high score prize was won by Mrs. Floyd Irby, a box of stationery; Mrs. Louis Weeks received a box of bath salts. To the honorees, the hostess presented dainty gifts. A lovely luncheon was served after the game.

and other low sections of the town. But the flood had only started in its mad flight. A half hour later the water had reached a stage of two to three feet in the Lake street stores and was running a regular mill tail down the entire street at a depth of four feet. The Elks Club occupying quarters over Irby & Redfearn's drug store, on Lake street, was turned into a temporary relief station. The Elks were preparing to install their new officers for the ensuing twelve months, and a large crowd was in the club rooms when the alarm was sounded. Many merchants and clerks were at the club, and these hurried forth with others to save what they could. But the water rose so rapidly that little could be done.

The plight of the negroes living in South Fulton and along the creek bank was alarming. Their frightened shouts and pleading for some one to rescue them could be heard all over the business section. Men mounted horses, swam them to the cabins and brought the negroes back to safety. These rescuers were fraught with danger and peril.

The rising waters flooded the engine rooms of the water and electric light plants and the city was suddenly thrown in darkness. Grooping their way out of the stores, now waist-deep in water, the people had to give up further efforts to save the mercantile stocks.

Such was the "April fool" flood in 1912, and may it never occur again.

The losses entered the thousands. Every store on Lake street, the principal business street of the town was badly damaged, and next morning the floors were covered with mud, shoe-mouth deep. And no one had flood insurance.

Among those who suffered losses over $1,000 were Morris & Bard Co., Khonrie & Hamam, Irby & Redfearn, Khonrie Bros., J. F. Royster, J. T. Stubblefield, Homra Bros., P. H. Weeks, Paschall Bros., Mrs. Fannie Price, Underwood Hardware Co., Joe Wade & Co., other heavy losers were The Variety Store, Geo. W. Kirkland, The Daily Leader, Lon Jones, Elks Theater, the banks, M. F. DeMyer, W. K. Hall, Martinetti Bros., Miss Ella Rankin, Graham & Johnson, D. R. Bondurant and many others, especially in Missionary bottom and others in low sections of the city.

Hickman Flooded at Same Time

At 8:30 o'clock, April 1, 1912, Hickman, Ky., sent out the S. O. S. The Hickman city levee had given away and next day that part of town known as West Hickman was almost entirely inundated. Owing to the fact that the water went in slowly, very little property damage was done, other than that caused by mud.

The government levee was still holding, but most of the business houses on Clinton street, the principal business street of the city, was flooded one to three feet deep in water and thousands of dollars in merchandise damaged. Some of the flooded stores were forced to suspend business.

The flood situation at that time along the Mississippi was desperate and Gov. McCreary, at the instance of citizens at Hickman and Columbus, ordered several hundred state guard tents rushed to them.

Serious Grade Crossing Accident Narrowly Averted

Last Friday night when returning from a party in the Moose Hall, Mr. Albert Smith, with his car full of children only missed by an inch having a very serious accident. While crossing the street, Train No. 4 struck the back end of his car, cutting the back open and breaking the glass in the rear of his car. Fortunately no one was hurt, but we can safely say that the occupants were scared.

Business Continued to Increase

Business continued to increase on the I. C., and we understand that the Tennessee Division will likely get some more large mountain type engine.

The passenger business is the heaviest on the Tennessee Division of the I. C., in the history of the road. Many of the high-class passenger trains are running in two and three sections, and an occasional extra is run to take care of the overflow.

With this steady increase in business, brings about a greater need for the new terminal so long talked about at this section of the line, and if business continues to increase, it may hasten the re-arrangement and construction of the new terminal earlier than had been anticipated. With the entrance of the excavating work of the new line early in the new year and the enlargement of the freight yards, although we have no definite information, it is rumored that some arrangements will likely be taken regarding the New Passenger Station. With two connections to the southland and the south coast, the Illinois Central, as we see it, is to experience the greatest business in the future in the history of the road.

Freight Loading Heavy

Loading of revenue freight for the week ending November 7, on all roads, totaled 1,063,322 cars. This was an increase of 68,043 cars over the corresponding week last year.

Shop Early—Mail Early in Order that your presents reach their destination before Dec. 25th.

We wish to inform the patrons of this Post Office that an order issued by Postmaster General New directs that all delivery of mail be suspended from midnight Dec. 24th, until midnight Dec. 25th and that it will be necessary for this office to conform to this ruling as well as every other post office in the United States.

In view of the provisions of the above order there is only one way to be sure that your presents will reach their destination in time for Christmas and that is to mail them early. If you mail early, your gifts will not only arrive on time but in much better condition in lots of instances on account of not being caught in the last minute rush.

We would suggest that parcels and letters going any considerable distance be in the mails by Dec. 10th, and packages and letters of more local nature be mailed before Dec. 20th, and even earlier if possible.

Remember that both letters and packages may be marked "Do not open until Christmas" or with a similar inscription.

When Business is Good

SATURDAY night is a mighty good time to ask yourself this question: "Is our community sending more money out of town than is coming in each week?" Of course the only safe answer is "NO!"

This means that we folks in this neighborhood must patronize local supply men and merchants if we expect our town to prosper and "stay on the map."

Frankly, it means that every citizen will find it most profitable to read the advertisements in this paper every issue, and to follow their good advice.

Our advertisers are all personally interested in this town—and in YOU. They are helping you build a better home community. When business is good, their profits are being shared with you in an endless chain of co-operative betterment.

Advertise What You Have to Sell

People Want Good Fresh Country Produce and Will Pay for It.

A gentleman living in a neighboring city was complaining the other day that he could not get good country butter nor fresh eggs, although he was willing to pay a good price for them.

Now there, it seems to me, is another chance for Mr. Farmer to make a market for himself by doing a little advertising. By spending a little money for advertising and then delivering the very best article to be sold, will pay a good profit to the man, or woman, who has the enterprise to go after this business and produce the article according to the promise made in the advertisement.

I heard, the other day, of a lady who lives in Fulton, who has been receiving her country butter by parcel post since last winter, and is getting a satisfactory article, though, perhaps, she pays a little more than it would cost in Fulton.

The freight department of the I. C. in Fulton is handling large shipments of pecans and other nuts from Hickman and other towns near here, and I am sure that from the reports of short nut crops all over the south, there is good easy money for the farmers if they will gather the nuts and sell them. If they do not know where to sell them, an inquiry at the Fulton Chamber of Commerce will be attended to immediately and the market located for the inquirer.

And there is another thing, if the farmers would take their questions to the Chamber of Commerce, in nearly every case a solution would be found, either through asking information from the State or National Agricultural departments, or other sources. The sooner the farmer learns that the Chamber of Commerce is primarily maintained by the merchants for the benefit of the whole community, the sooner he will realize that he can be very materially assisted by that organization.

This started out to be an article about finding a market for the farmer, but it seems to have run into an article on the good of the Chamber of Commerce, but, never mind, if it will help the farmer to make more money by getting the best price for what he has to sell, it will do a lot of good.

Whatever helps the farmer also helps the merchant, so, if the farmer wants to get better prices he can get help from the Chamber of Commerce, and should not hesitate in taking advantage of it for his own and the community's good.

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Danville—Thirteen couples in the Perryville section of Boyle county have been married more than 54 years.

Sparta—Through an arrangement with the Kentucky Power Co., Sparta will have electric lights and power within the near future.

Bowling Green—C. A. Thomas of the Oakland section, paid $750 for an Angora goat, which was shipped to him from South America.

Columbus—A Negro laborer, who went to sleep on the railroad track here, had both feet cut off when he was run over by a small railroad motor car.

Mt. Sterling—Mrs. Mary Senff, 84, mother of County Judge E. W. Senff and G. B. Senff, member of the State Raging Commission, died at the Mary Child's hospital here.

Lynch—A celebration was held at Appalachia, marking the completion of the bridge across Clinch river and the opening of the new highway between Lynch and that city.

Lebanon—Miss Clara Belle Leake, 48, an invalid, was burned to death when the home of her brother, William Leake, was destroyed by fire while Miss Leake was alone in the house.

Williamstown—O. R. Scroggins, sheep breeder of this county, has purchased a carload of imported Hampshire sheep from England to add to his flock of more than 200 pure-bred sheep.

Louisville—James B. Smith 66, was seriously burned and his wife, Mrs. Catherine Smith, had her index finger burned off in rescuing her husband when his clothing caught fire from an open grate.

Hickman—Mrs. J. O. West, sheriff of this county and one of the three women sheriffs in Kentucky, made her first arrest when she took a young man charged with stealing shoes, off a train here.

Frankfort—Governor Fields commuted to two and one-half years the five years' penitentiary sentences given, Clyde Satterly and Robert McCrocklin, Bloomfield, Ky., convictions of manslaughter.

Lexington—A building permit for $50,000 was issued for the building of the Oletha Temple Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children at the rear of the Good Samaritan Hospital. Work will be started immediately with the prospect that the building will be ready for occupancy in the coming summer.

Danville—S. A. Hill prominent farmer on the Shakerstown Pike, suffered an accident to his left hand which necessitated amputation just above the wrist. The hand was caught in a corncrib and was badly mangled. Mr. Hill was taken to the local hospital where an examination disclosed the necessity of amputating.

Frankfort—McHenry Rhoads, state superintendent of public instruction, has appointed Miss Mildred Lewis, of Lexington, state director of music, effective January 1, to succeed Miss Caroline Bourgard of Louisville. Miss Lewis has been supervisor of city school music at Ashland, Georgetown and Lexington. She is a graduate of the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

Lancaster—Millard Baker, 44 years old, tenant on the farm of John Eagle, four miles from here on the Lexington Pike, was arrested by Sheriff James Robinson on a charge of malicious shooting and wounding. Baker is alleged to have shot Mr. Eagle, 52, twice with a gun following an altercation over the division of a crop of corn which Baker was raising on shares.

Frankfort—The State Highway Commission closed the old Hickman bridge at Camp Nelson, Jassamine county. The action was taken by the commission following a report by H. B. Crot, bridge engineer, who with T. B. Smith of Winchester, district engineer, made an inspection of the old covered bridge. The bridge was built in 1838 and is the longest span wooden cantilever bridge in the United States.

Williamstown—In a battle with turkey thieves, O. M. Herron, 35, son of John M. Herron, prominent Grant county, Ky., farmer, was shot and seriously wounded. The thieves, a band of four men armed with revolvers, escaped in an automobile. They drove rapidly in the direction of Covington, Ky. Later, Sheriff H. C. Filson, of Grant County, arrested a suspect and held him for investigation.

Louisville—Detective William Stier is thought to have established a record when recovered five stolen automobiles within six hours.

Louisville—Federal authorities are of the opinion that they have found the sixth member of a gang of ten automobile thieves operating throughout the central part of the United States, following the arrest here of a man said to be John Dew, alias John Droe, 35. He was arrested charged with transporting a stolen auto from Kansas City to Louisville.

A FARM WAGON THAT IS GUARANTEED

The amount of satisfactory service that a wagon will give depends entirely upon the material and skill the manufacturer puts into it. We want to show you a wagon that is built of the best materials by men who know how—

THE JOHN DEERE WAGON

The Wagon That Is Guaranteed

A special machine automatically measures the inside of the skein of the John Deere farm wagon and shapes the axle to fit accurately. The skein is set in red lead under high pressure. It has exactly the right pitch, and the axle has the right gather to make the John Deere wagon run lighter than other wagons. With the John Deere sand- and dust-proof skeins there is no wearing of bearing surfaces—the oil stays in— the wagon is always smooth-running and light-pulling. Only carefully-selected oak and hickory are used in the

BUY IT AT HOME THIS YEAR

When you buy your Christmas gifts this year, will you remember the claims of the home merchant and give him a chance to share in your trade?

This community cannot expect to prosper at this season or any other by dividing its patronage with merchants of other places who contribute nothing to its support.

It is to the best interest of the buyer, as well as the seller, that Christmas money be spent at home.

The logic of trading at home is invulnerable. If you spend your money away from home, you have no hope of ever seeing it again. If you keep your money in circulation at home, you may get the chance to use it again.

The merchants of Fulton have prepared with extensive stocks for Christmas buyers and their deserve to be patronized, not alone from the standpoint of home patriotism, but because they have Christmas merchandise in high quality that everyone can take just pride in giving.

EDUCATION AND LUXURIES

The annual observance of American Education week focused attention on education. And it's not difficult to learn something new on the subject.

For example, for a people that boasts of its public school system, it is surprising to find that more than seven times as much is spent for luxuries as is invested in education.

Fifteen billion a year are sunk in luxuries and non-essentials and a meagre two billions expended on education through tax-supported schools.

The nation also spends six billions on buildings annually, four billions in passenger automobiles and saves something like ten billions.

It's not uncommon to hear the complaint that far too much of the people's money is going into expensive school buildings and equipment; that just as much good could be accomplished in the education of our young people with the expenditure of much less money.

These figures should put to shame such a critic. The idea that a nation of people that realizes its responsibility to the next generation and then fails to meet it by frittering away more for the satisfaction of personal whims than is spent for education, should cause one to hesitate to oppose any movement for the betterment of the schools, no matter what the cost.

BEST CROP OF WEED FOR MANY YEARS

There is, apparently, a good crop of tobacco in the "Black Patch" this year. The area in which the genuine black tobacco is produced is confined to West Kentucky and West Tennessee, and nowhere else in the wide world do they produce such a mild, mellow, exquisite tobacco as is found in this territory. The Paducah News-Democrat says that taken as a whole, the 1925 tobacco crop in the western dark fired district, composed of the Kentucky counties west of the Tennessee river, and Weakley, Henry and Obion counties in Tennessee, is one of the best crops produced in several years, according to reports from tobacco men over the district. This year's production is estimated at 60,000,000 pounds against a production of about 58,000,000 last year and a ten year average of about 75,000,000 to 80,000,000 pounds.

Prospects for good prices on medium to good tobacco are declared favorable, while the prospective prices on common grades are regarded as questionable, due to a large surplus of stocks in this grade.

Loose leaf floors over the district will begin their sales between the first and tenth of December. The sales will begin in Paducah, December 8 and at Mayfield, December 10.

Reports from the district indicate that the crop in the southern counties fares much better during the growing season than the crops in the northern counties, due to better weather conditions in the southern area. The prolonged drought of the summer was most marked in the northern section, including McCracken and Ballard counties. Crops were much better, however, in southern Graves county, southern Marshall county and all of Calloway county, reports indicating that Calloway county has the best crop of the district there being in that county an unusually heavy production of the better types. Hickman, Carlisle and Fulton counties had a very small crop this year due to the farmers raising other crops.

This year's crop in the entire district is declared to be the most useful crop grown in several years. It has been fired better and is cleaner than usual, tobacco men report. While the acreage is smaller than in the past several seasons, it is believed that the tobacco will weigh out more than it did last year.

The majority of tobacco dealers are optimistic over the selling prospects for the 1925 crops, especially for the better grades. There is much speculation, however, as to what prices the lower grades will command, because of an unusually large surplus of the latter type which has accumulated over the last several years. Reports from Calloway county and the Springfield, Tenn., district, are that large quantities of good tobacco have been sold at the barns in those sections for satisfactory prices.

JUST A REMINDER—THAT'S ALL

Uncle Sam is urging everyone to "Do Their Christmas Shopping Early" and then "Do Their Mailing Early" too, and I want to add just one other little request to the Christmas shoppers, and that is this: If you take up a clerk's time to show you a lot of goods and do not buy anything, the next time you go to that store, hunt up the same clerk and give them your sale.

This may not mean much to you, but it means a lot to the clerk, for clerk's salaries are gauged by the amount of their sales, and the clerk that makes the largest sales is the one who will get the first raise in salary, when the time comes.

If you have taken up a lot of time and bought nothing, the clerk may have lost one or more sales during the time you were being waited on, and has been handicapped by just that much. Make it up to her or him the next time you go to that store to make a purchase.

All those pokes you have laughed at about the customer who makes the clerk take down a lot of things to show them and then remarks, "I didn't want any today, I was just looking" is not at all funny to the tired clerk, and this "ain't no dream," because I have been a clerk, and I know.

DARK POOL SELLS 30,000,000 POUNDS OF WEED IN NOVEMBER

Hopkinsville, Ky. — Headquarters of the Dark Tobacco Growers Cooperative association today announced sales during November aggregated 30,000,000 pounds of stored tobacco in the dark fired one sucker Green river and stemming districts. A large part of this amount was sold through the pool's foreign representative in London.

Thirty-one trains of forty cars each will be required to move the weed and that for export will be loaded on ships at New Orleans.

The association recently released members from their pool contracts for a period of one year to sell their crops as they please. W. C. Broadbent, president of the pool, the largest raiser of dark tobacco in the world, today sold his crop of 400,000 pounds of the Southwestern Tobacco company here for approximately $80,000.

Sports Sweaters in Vivid Colors

Winsome Garment Is Final Touch for Stylish Outdoor Wear.

Wilder and wilder becomes the pattern. Bolder the colors and smarter the vogue of sweaters, as the slip-over, jacquard, golf, turtle-neck and bikini models increase in popularity.

This being the age of sports, the utilitarian sweater of yesterday has definitely discarded its drab, uninteresting appearance, and taken, instead, the brilliant chic of weave and color.

There is a sweater for every outdoor day, be it stormy, cold or warm, and the sense of being well dressed and comfortable in a good-looking sweater adds the final touch to the pleasure of the wearer.

In a short flannel shirt, a mannish blouse and a striped sweater, country roads beckon alluringly. For the tennis courts, under the sun, there is nothing better looking than the light-weight slip-over sweater in vivid splashes of red, yellow and blue. Golf becomes a decided joy when an all-over patterned turtle-neck sweater starts the jaunt over the links so saucily.

Just to wander through the woods, unhampered by fussy "primitives" white

Yellow and Black Vertical Stripes, Solid Yellow Sleeves.

Then knickers demand the mannish sweater that opens down the front or slips over the head.

The sweater illustrated is fashioned of yellow and black vertical stripes, with solid yellow sleeves.

The new striped and figured lisle sports stockings are being worn with colored sweaters, to the accompaniment of heavy brogues. Golf hose is rapidly being replaced by these lisle stockings which are just as dashing, but more graceful and comfortable, while the gun or rubber-soled brogues of calf and antelope leather are the reigning favorites for all the sports.

Latest Paris Fashions Revealed at Race Track

The back-to-the-knee tendency in summer styles was strikingly illustrated at the beautiful Chantilly race course in Paris recently, before an enormous crowd of fashion's notables.

Invariably the women await the Diana Stakes for a definite indication of what will be worn until the return to Chateaux in September.

After the fashion parade they knew the following absolute points of style: 1.—The waistline has irrevocably been placed below the hips. Even the famous arbiter of fashion, Jean Patou, who daringly restored it to nature's waist in the February openings, has been routed by the overwhelming preference of women for a low waistline. Patou's new models all place the waist about one third distant from the hips to the knee.

2.—Skirts are very short but not tight. Instead, an artistic use is made of flounces and plaits, so that even knee-length frocks can be worn conveniently without an undue display of the limbs when walking or climbing. There is something incredibly youthful about this combination.

3.—Stockings are worn. Moreover they are not flesh-colored. The so-called nude color has definitely been discarded in favor of the darker shades.

Chalk Tones Featured in Balbriggan Frocks

The success of the little frocks of balbriggan which were introduced earlier in the season is not surprising. Simple and charming in line, youthful and flattering in color, they answer the need for a costume that is smart, practical and becoming.

Any number of different versions have appeared. Some are of the two-piece type, with jumper and skirt of the same material; others combine a balbriggan jumper with a skirt of knish or crepe de chine.

Occasionally a one-piece frock is seen and the influence of the ensemble is revealed in most attractive costumes consisting of a two-piece frock with a long, straight coat to match.

Much of their chic and charm lies in the coloring, and the faint pastel tones in which these costumes were first developed are now followed by the clear shades designated most appropriately as chalk or crayon colors. Yellow, blue, green, pink and violet—just the tones of crayons in a child's pencil box—are featured and the effect is distinctive and charming.

This wonderful roof has been one of the leaders for many years, was 12 1/2" x 32", now made 12 3/4" x 36", making a full THREE thickness roof when laid. Comes in four colors—Red, Green, Blue Black and Autumn Blend. Easy to lay, does not have the waste that most patterns do on the hips and in the valleys.

Its heavy tile-like pattern is distinctive. Guaranteed not to curl. It is truly a wonderful roof for either new work or over old wood shingles. We recommend this roof and guarantee your satisfaction.

A few of the many roofs of this kind, on new jobs, are: The Pickle Filling Station, Bungalow of H. W. Williams on Green Street, The Christian Church. Over old wood shingles: M. C. Payne home on Park Avenue, Dr. T. F. Thomson home, Eddings and Fourth.

Look these roofs over, then come in and let us show you "THIS WONDERFUL ROOF."

Lesson for December 6

PAUL'S VOYAGE AND SHIPWRECK

LESSON TEXT—Acts 27:1-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Be of good cheer; it is I, be not afraid."—Matt. 14:27.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in a Storm at Sea.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Story of a Shipwreck.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul's Leadership.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Overcoming Adverse Circumstances.

1. The Voyage (vv. 1-20).
2. The Ship (vv. 1-4).
3. The Storm (vv. 7-20).

The ship made little headway on account of unfavorable winds. Paul advised that they winter in Fair Havens (vv. 9-12), but his advice was unheeded. The gentle south wind deceived them so they loosed from Crete only to be overtaken by the tempestuous wind called Euroclydon. They did everything possible to save the ship; they took up the boat which was towed behind; they bound great cables around the ship to strengthen it for the storm; they lightened the ship by bringing down from the masts and rigging everything that was superfluous, and finally the cargo and tackling were thrown overboard. All this seemed to be of no avail and all hope of being saved was removed. It seemed that wicked men and material forces were combined to prevent the great apostle from reaching Rome. However, these very experiences were overruled by God to bring good cheer and salvation to many on the way. We should remember that tempestuous winds as well as soft breezes await God's faithful ones. The presence of storm does not prove that we are going the wrong way.

1. Paul's Serene Faith (vv. 21-28).
2. A man who does not know God, upon the failure of the sun and stars to shine for many days, the fading of all hope is natural; but to the man of faith, hope still burns brightly. God is just as near to His own in the midst of a stormy sea as in their quiet homes. Observe Paul's behavior:

1. His Rebuke for Their Failure to Heed His Advice at Fair Havens (v. 25). This was not a mere taunt, but a reference to the wisdom of his former advice, urging them to give him a more respectful hearing.
2. His Them Be of Good Cheer (v. 22).

3. He Inspired them with hope.
4. He Promises Them Safety (v. 22).

5. Though the ship go to pieces, every man's life should be saved.
6. The Source of His Information (vv. 23-24).

7. The angel of God had revealed it unto him.
8. The Reason of Paul's Calm Faith (v. 23).

9. "Whose I am, and whom I serve." God can and will take care of His property (John 10:28-29). Those who have been redeemed by the blood of Jesus are not their own, but God's.
10. The Ship's Crew All Safe on Land (vv. 27-44).

11. This was exactly as the Lord had said. We can rest assured that all God has spoken will come to pass even though there be a broken ship, brutal soldiers and a perdition crew. Aside from the fulfillment of God's promises, the most important part of this section is the splendid sanity which characterized Paul's action on the way. Three things marked his sanctified common sense.

1. His Vigilance Detected That the Sailors Had Planned to Escape (v. 30). He knew how much they would be needed presently, and at once took steps to prevent their escape. He went straight to the man in charge and said, "Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved." Why should he make such a declaration when God had said that all should be saved? It was because he was not one of those foolish men who ignore human agency. He practiced the truth that genuine reliance upon God is the all-powerful incentive to human action.

2. He Got Them to Take a Substantial Breakfast (v. 34).
3. It was no time to talk to these men about their souls when their bodies needed immediate attention.

4. He Gave Thanks to God (v. 35). This he did in the presence of them all. His prayer for that meal had more effect upon the people than his preaching would have had.

Gifts—Music—Flowers

Bennett's Drug Store

IS NOW READY TO MAKE EVERYONE HAPPY IN THEIR GIFT SHOPPING

More than ever this year, Christmas shopping is best done early—No, we are not "talking" Christmas gift shopping a day too soon. DECEMBER is here, and when we are into DECEMBER, time fairly flies—Christmas arrives almost before we know it. There is another and more important reason, however, why your gift shopping should be done early this year. Gift merchandise isn't by any means easy to procure. Though our first stocks are fine, large and wonderfully complete, this promises to be a most trying season to replenish lines of goods that "break" under the stress of gift shopping in rush days. You'll serve Santa Claus a splendid turn now by starting your gift shopping early this year. And early selections among our fine Christmas stocks are decidedly worth having.

You'll find the store alive with new interest, new vigor and a new enthusiasm of service.

Methodist Church

J. V. Freeman, Pastor

Sunday school, 9:30 a. m. T.
J. Kramer, Supt.
Epworth Leagues, 6:45.
Preaching 11 a. m. and 7:30
p. m. by the pastor, and special music.

Prayer meeting 7:30 p. m.
each Wednesday.

The public is cordially invited to attend all these services.

Sunday was a great day.
Good crowds attended both services and the pastor, J. V. Freeman, preached two extra special sermons which were enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Chas.
Brann sang sweetly, at the morning hour. Next Sunday is Communion service and the pastor desires that all the official board, also trustees be present as he will hold the installation service at the morning hour.

The Official Board held their regular monthly meeting last Thursday night in the usual manner. They were dinner guests of the pastor and wife
at their home on Walnut street.
Covers were laid for forty and a delicious three-course Turkey dinner was served by Mrs.
Freeman and her assistants.
The home was made beautiful
with the season's decorations and the long tables showed that skillful hands had been at work. The new officers of the board were elected and other places filled by appointment.
They departed after the business session, reluctantly declaring Mr. and Mrs. Freeman charming host and hostess.

The Methodist Missionary
Girls met Monday at the home of Margaret Allen on Carr street. A splendid program from the mission study book
had been prepared by the leader, Mildred Graham, assisted by Elizabeth Butt and Elizabeth Carter. A short business session was conducted by the president and dues collected by the treasurer. The hostess served tea and sandwiches to several members.

Junior Missionary Society will meet today at the home of Garland Merryman. A good program has been planned and a good attendance is desired.

The Thanksgiving Tea held in the spacious home of Mr.
and Mrs. Joe Bennett, under the auspices of the Warner Blackards, even though it poured down rain, was a success in many ways. 97 called during the hours and about fifty dollars were put into the new church fund. The assistants were all charmingly gowned.

The home was made beautiful
on the inside even though the rain made things dismal from without.

The Warner Blackards will meet Monday with Mrs. Russel Travis and Mrs. Franklin as hostess at the home of Mrs.
Travis on Eddings street. The members are all urged to bring their pillow cases at this meeting. The sale to be December 14 at the Chamber and Commerce and lunch will be served during the day.

Mayme Bennett has returned from Nashville where she spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Martha and Sara Cotron Smith.
Martha Taylor spent Thanksgiving holidays in Nashville visiting her sister, Lena Evelyn.

Nell Owen spent the week end in Paducah.

Mrs. J. J. Owen is visiting her sister in Paducah this week.

Mrs. F. W. Armistead and daughter have returned from Batesville, Miss., after a visit to Mrs. Armistead's mother.

Rev. Riggs was in the city Tuesday, shaking hands with friends.

The Senior Epworth League
met last Sunday at 6:45 at the church. Luella Wood was leader. The following program was enjoyed by a large attendance: Piano duet, Maud-elle Jones and Gladys Bell.
Mrs. Fannie Strange gave a very interesting talk on, "A Rose in the Garden of God."

Church News
The vestry will meet at the rectory at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, December 6. This change in the hour of meeting is due to the Elks' Annual Memorial service which occurs in the afternoon.

There was an unusually large attendance at the Sunday evening prayer last Sunday.

Thanksgiving service was well attended and the sermon by Dr. Boyd was very much appreciated by the congregation.
He preached from the One Hundredth Psalm, fourth verse,
"Be Thankful Unto Him."

Church letters to the number of fifteen were issued this week by Dr. Boyd for non-residents who have left Fulton during the past few months.

Dr. Boyd's address last Sunday night was on the subject:
"Moreover, the dogs came and licked his wounds." St. Luke, 16-21. He told how the dogs of the town ministered to the wounds of Lazarus, when the people failed in common humanity.

Mr. Sherman left for Mississippi this week and his fine voice will be very much missed from the choir. During this visit here he has been singing with our choir and his fine voice has been greatly appreciated by the congregation.

Miss Ivora Cantrell, our organist, was taken ill during the morning service and the last hymn had to be omitted. She had recovered sufficiently to be in her place for the evening service.

Speaking of the choir reminds us that we have been having some very fine music lately, and the choir members are to be congratulated on the efforts. Now, let the congregation do their best, too.

Mrs. John Miles spent the week end in Memphis, and was missed both from the Sunday school and the choir.

The Advent boxes were distributed to the scholars of the church school last Sunday, and the contents, which will be collected just before Christmas, will be used for the St. George's church, a mission located in Louisville.

Mrs. Venia Fowler has returned from a visit of several months to Oklahoma.

The Women's Guild will meet with Mrs. Charles Binford next Monday at 2:30 p. m., at which time the members will make their Thanksgiving offering.

Community Building

Entrances Into Town
Should Be Attractive

It is a fact that there is no lack of beauty along the railroad lines in England, France, Germany and other places. Liberal planting of grass and shrubs, either by the railroad or the various municipalities, has transformed these railroad lines into lanes of beauty.

The aim of American civic authorities should be to make the railroads ways of the country as attractive as any of those in the old countries. Particular attention will be given to the approaches to towns. The idea is spreading rapidly. The American Railway Development association has passed resolutions recently to further the aims of the real estate men by co-operating with them in this important work.

Committees have been organized in New Orleans, Milwaukee, Duluth, Atlanta, Erie and Lancaster, Pa.; South Bend, Dayton, Des Moines;
Trenton, N. J.; Providence, R. I.; Lockport, N. Y.; Dade City, Fla.; Warren, Ohio; Mishawaka, Ind.; Kansas, Ill.; Madison, Wis.; Little Rock, Ark.; Arkansas City, Ogden, Utah;
Casper, Wyo.; Albany, Ore., and Pasadena, Venice and Riverside, Cal.

They will urge upon the manufacturer located along the railroads the advantages to him, his business and the town of keeping his factory yard
as clean and attractive as it is economically possible.

The plan calls for new station signs prominently placed. Besides the name of the town, it will give the total population, real estate and business wealth, and the town's chief industry.

Painters Have Much to Do With City's Safety
The house painter is as vital a member of a city's public safety forces
as the fireman according to J. P. Rising, president of the Illinois Master House Painters' and Decorators' association.

"His position is unofficial," he said,
"but he protects the citizens from destruction more devastating than fire and from losses far greater than they might suffer at the hands of the most unscrupulous burglar."

The painter, according to Mr. Rising, saves life and property by means of his commodity, paint. Rot and rust attack unprotected surfaces. Disease germs flourish in the decaying parts of wood and on all rough, damp surfaces. Rot and rust are more insidious than fire, but their action, an oxidation of wood and metal, is a "slow-motion picture," as Mr. Rising termed it, of the more spectacular flames.

"The difference is," he added, "that whereas fires are occasional occurrences, rot and rust are at work continually. A house must be always protected against them."

Home and City Synonymous Home is more than the house, it is more than the grounds. It is deeper than any designation of physical boundary and more rich than anything made with hands. It is the dwelling place of the spirit—if the liberal thinkers will admit that each of us has such a thing—as well as of the body, which they seem to admit that we do possess. The house is the center of home, but it is no distortion of the truth to say that the city of one's abiding place is his home also. It is the wider home, but it is his. As a man labors to provide for his house,
as a woman gives of the best of her strength and forethought to make goodly the house that is her own, so ought they both, proportionately, to do their best to make their larger home,
which is their city, a prosperous place.
—Connersville (Ind.) News.

Garden Adornment
Garden architecture must echo and reflect and be consistent with the architecture of the house itself. Pergolas of classic design cannot unbend to a rambling, careless little bungalow, nor can a rustic pergola rise to the dignity of a Georgian mansion. Nature, if there is architectural adornment in the garden, it should be interrelated with that of the house. The use of a pergola is to support vines and to provide a pleasant, shady walk. But there is no reason for its existence if there is no vine for it to support, no destination to lead to.—The Designer Magazine.

Within Reach of All
A little town can't attract much favorable attention with posters and painted signs, but it can be talked about throughout the country, if it has ten acres of flower gardens along its streets. And that's something that's within the reach of the little town.

Find Beauty at Home
It is characteristic of human nature that it is seldom impressed by the accustomed view. The average man or woman wishing to observe beauty thinks it necessary to seek it afar.
That distance lends enchantment and the grass is always greener on the other side of the street are old expressions of that universal illusion. Yet many a man has journeyed around the world on this quest, only to find that after all, the supreme beauty lies at home.
