Good Meeting Tuesday Night

Many Important Matters Are Threshed Out by Chamber of Commerce Members

Vice President Kramer called the meeting to order and stated that as the action taken at the last meeting of the Chamber on the resignation of President Shankle, was not in accord with the Constitution of the body, and that as numbers of friends of Mr. Shankle had advised him to withdraw his resignation, as the year was so nearly expired, that Mr. Shankle had decided to withdraw his resignation, if acceptable to the members. A motion to this effect was put and carried, and President Shankle resumed the chair. On taking up his station, he thanked the members for the confidence and good will expressed in their action and assured them that he would continue his efforts to make Fulton a live town, and better town in which to live.

Harry Murphy called the attention of the members to the crying need of the farmers for a county agent, but stated that as Fulton was the center of a large farming community located in both Fulton and Obion counties, that he believed it would be for advantageous to have a Farm Agent whose efforts would be available to farmers in both counties. The objection, of course, to this action was that probably no funds would be available from either of the counties on such a basis.

Several members spoke to the question, and on motion of Mr. Murphy, it was voted to appoint a committee to ascertain if such an arrangement could be worked out. Vice President Kramer suggested an organization of farmers and merchants to consist of a thousand members at $5.00 annual dues each. The committee is composed of J. C. Brann, chairman, Amos Stubblefield, H. H. Murphy, J. C. Wiggins, E. A. Thompson. This committee is expected to report at the January meeting.

A committee composed of Lon Pickle, Will Whitnel, L. C. Browder, Hugh Smith, A. T. Stubblefield, Joe Browder, Leslie Weeks, J. H. Stubblefield, Dick Bard and S. R. Bratton, of Union City, was appointed to assist Squire McDade in obtaining the right-of-way for the Jeff Davis highway between here and Union City, and to go before the Fiscal Court of Obion County at its meeting on the first Monday in January, and obtain the building of the highway as surveyed by the federal engineers.

Another committee composed of Harry Murphy, Paul De Meyer and Paul Etheridge, was appointed to assist Squire Hagler in obtaining right of ways between here and Clinton for the highway.

Chairman Butt of the freight rate committee urged every signer to the coal reduction petition before the Interstate Commerce Commission to attend the hearing at Mayfield, on Friday, the eleventh, and to take their freight bills from July 3, 1923, so as to obtain some reparation on overcharges. He explained that only signers of the original petition would be entitled to such reparation.

Fulton will soon have an Associated Charities organization if the action of the Chamber of Commerce, at its monthly meeting of Tuesday night, bears fruit that the originators of the movement hope for.

Rev. H. L. Patterson, who has had several years' experience in the work of organized charities, was appointed chairman of the committee on organization, and will call a meeting of representatives from each church and club of the city for next Tuesday, December 15, at 2:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce, when the organization will undoubtedly be perfected. One member from each of the clubs and churches of Fulton will form the body which will have charge of the raising and administering of the fund, and it is firmly believed by those present at the meeting Tuesday night, that the organization will be completed and functioning in time to provide for our needy friends by Christmas day.

Smith Atkins "started something" when he asked the Chamber to appoint a committee to administer the funds solicited for the organizing of an associated charities last summer, at the time the big political rally at Carr park was spoiled by the rain, and the Thanksgiving offering for the same purpose, totaling $167.25. He said that he did not feel like taking the responsibility of handling these funds himself, and as there was no organization perfected, it seemed to him that the Chamber of Commerce was the proper body to administer it.

This statement brought several members to their feet, and a general discussion of the need for organized charity was voiced by all, and Rev. Patterson made the statement that he had been at the head of such an organization in Paris, Tenn., for two years, and had helped organize it, and told of his experience in the work and the benefits to the community in eliminating street and house to house begging, the duplicating of efforts by two or more organizations of the churches and other bodies.

Past experience in Fulton, with the same organization, bears out fully these statements and the members were most enthusiastic in passing the resolution to have Mr. Patterson call the meeting and complete the organization at the very earliest moment.

Many other subjects of interest were discussed and at the close, President Shankle informed the members that at the be a specially entertaining program meeting there would be to present and bring some one with them.

Business Deal

The Swain-Karmire Lumber Company have sold their mill, located in South Fulton to Hutcherson Brothers, of Cairo, Ill., who are now in charge.

Messrs. Earl and Charles Karmire came to Fulton and engaged in the lumber mill business some fourteen or fifteen years ago and during their residence here, have been prominently identified with every movement for the upbuilding and betterment of the community. In business circles they stand at the top notch and will be greatly missed when they depart for their former home in Shelbyville, Ind., where they have an interest in the Swain-Karmire Lumber Company of that city.

It is understood that Mr. Earl Karmire will remain in the city for some time closing up the business affairs of the firm, while his brother, Charles and wife, will leave within the next month.

Hutcherson Brothers, the new mill owners, come to Fulton highly recommended as thorough-going business men, and in behalf of the city, we extend to them a hearty glad hand and welcome.

Council Meeting

New Councilmen Sworn in By Judge Taylor

The City Council met in regular session, Monday night with Mayor R. H. Wade presiding, and the following councilmen present: W. P. Murrell, L. S. Phillips, Albert Smith, J. M. Culver, A. T. Conley. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of previous meeting, accounts were passed on and ordered paid.

A feature of the meeting was the swearing in of new councilmen by Judge H. F. Taylor, as follows: Joe Bennett, Ed Hannequin, Smith Atkins, Paul DeMyer, W. P. Murrell, L. S. Phillips.

Messrs. Murrell and Phillips are old councilmen who have faithfully served the city for many years and will be of much value to the new members in taking up city affairs of the new administration.

In parting with the old councilmen, Mayor Wade paid a high tribute to their faithfulness and loyal work as public servants. He welcomed the new councilmen with well chosen words and had the clerk to read off the names chosen for the various temporary committees and work assigned them for the remainder of his term.

On the first meeting night in January, Mayor elect, W. O. Shankle will take his seat as chief executive of the city, when the various standing committees and appointments will be announced. We know of no special changes to be made in the appointments, but some changes may be made. Among the appointive offices is Chief of Police, Chief of Fire Department, City Clerk, Superintendent of Water Works, etc.

Perhaps no city in the state can boast of as competent a city clerk as Thos. H. Chapman, and it seems to be the united desire of the people of Fulton that his services be retained if possible. He is an expert accountant and has been loyal to his trust.

The men who took charge of city affairs Monday night are all prominent business men—men who have made a success of their own businesses and can be relied on to conduct city affairs in a business-like way with the same success.

Now Mr. Citizen it is up to you to cooperate with these men in every way possible to make Fulton, your town, a bigger and better place in which to live.

The old officials go out of office with clean hands, having done their utmost to serve the people to the best of their ability and just here we want to say that the entire citizenship owes them a debt of gratitude for their faithful services.

Albert Smith, one of the retiring councilmen, has the distinction of having attended every council meeting during his four years in office.

The new City Attorney, Jess F. Nichols, will go into office with the new mayor in January.

Skovgaard's Violin Has Wonderful History

Violins may not have the sentiments and sensibilities attributed to them by imaginative musicians, but they have histories, interesting and varied, gay romances and dark tragedies even as their warm friends among mankind. A violin that is not only remarkable in itself, but with a remarkable story, is the one possessed by Axel Skovgaard, the Danish violinist. It is as bright and polished as if it had left the hands of its maker but yesterday, and still the instrument is nearly two hundred years old. In spite of its age it retains without a flaw or a scratch the original varnish as applied by the skillful hands of Antonius Stradivarius. Looking very young and new, it is among the oldest violins in existence, as it is one of the most famous and costly. But more remarkable than its age and fine state of preservation is that the first person to play upon it was Mr. Skovgaard himself, and as he is a young man making no pretence at having attained perpetual youth, the story is naturally a most unusual one.

JUST A CHRISTMAS REMINDER

We wish to call attention to the fact that Christmas is only two weeks away, and although we have tried to impress upon the patrons of this Post Office, the necessity of early mailing for Christmas, they have either forgotten or neglected to heed the warning.

In this, our last appeal to you for early mailing this year, we wish to call your attention to the fact that in a large measure the public is more responsible for the postal service received during the holidays than the employees of the postal service, because it is impossible for the postal service to handle and deliver mail until it is given into its custody.

It is our hope that the patrons of this office will heed this advice and start today with their Christmas mailing.

Thanking one and all for their cooperation in this important matter, we remain,

School Play Great Success

Three-Act Comedy Enjoyed by Capacity House

The play, "The Flapper Grandmother," a three-act musical comedy of all home talent, staged at the Orpheum Theater in Fulton on double dates, Monday and Tuesday nights, proved to be a complete success, the house being filled to capacity before the play began.

The play was obtained by the Parent-Teachers Association of South Fulton school and its success was the result of the able direction and training of Miss Winnie McLaughlin, with Miss Ivora Cantrel as accompanist.

All seats and available standing room in the Orpheum show house were taken before eight o'clock, and from the time of the first curtain until the play ended, it was decidedly manifest that the entire audience was delightfully entertained.

The three-act comedy, "Automobile Romance," proved to be an enjoyable hit, and kept the audience in continuous laughter, as it was spiced with sufficient wit and humor to make it highly entertaining throughout.

The entire cast of characters—all home talent—as well as the home talent orchestra, proved themselves to possess unusual ability in the art of entertaining, and so well was the entire play received that it was staged again on Tuesday night, with a large and appreciative audience.

Wrapping the Holiday Packages

Special Courtesy Rendered
Holiday Shoppers by P.
H. Weeks' Sons

Fulton merchants are unusually courteous to their customers, but the following announcement made by P. H. Weeks' Sons is out of the ordinary, especially during the holiday rush:

"Let Us Wrap Your Holiday Packages Free."

If you have a package you want to send through the mail or by express, bring it to us to be wrapped. No, it is not necessary to buy the goods here that you are sending—no matter where you buy the goods, we will cheerfully wrap your packages. Most people do not know how to wrap a package for mailing—we do. Most people do not have proper wrapping material—we do. Most people wrap a package so that there is a risk in shipping—we do not. We have seen packages wrapped for mailing that looked very unattractive—our packages look neat and are secure.

We want to render this little service because we can do it well—and because of lack of practice most of our customers cannot do it well.

So, do not hesitate—bring your packages—all of them that are to go by mail or express—we will do them in a jiffy and do them right—and smile all the time. Try us. We are wrapping dozens daily—and still taking care of our business.—P. H. Weeks' Sons.

Memorial Services Largely Attended

Elks Pay Tribute to the Memory of Departed Members

The Elks' Memorial Services at the Orpheum Theater, Sunday afternoon was largely attended by members and friends of the departed.

R. A. Stille, exalted ruler of Fulton lodge No. 1142, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was master of ceremonies.

Mr. C. B. Ijams, of Jackson, Tenn., delivered the memorial oration, forcefully bringing out the cardinal precepts of the order, dwelling on charity and remembrance of the virtues of departed brothers, mingled with remembrance of those still living. Especially stressing the fact that no one could join the order without first believing in a Supreme Being and being a 100 per cent American citizen.

"The Faults of Our Brothers We Write Upon the Sands; Their Virtues Upon the Tablets of Love and Memory," was the theme of the opening exercise and calling of the roll.

Four more names were inscribed on the tablets of honor and recollection—brothers who have died during the past year. Their names were included in the roll call of all the dead and as each name was called, a light appeared on a streamer of lilies and stars across the front of the stage, which was beautifully decorated with electrical effects and palms. Members who have died during the past year were: Sid S. Scott, W. H. Spradlin, N. B. Morris, J. B. Alvey.

PRETTY TEA

The home of Mrs. M. L. Farmer, on Third street, was the scene of a delightful tea in the late hours of Saturday afternoon when her three charming daughters, Miss Ruby Farmer, Mesdames Bertha Reid and Edd Kelly entertained about one hundred of their friends. Lovely flowers of the season and open fires accentuated the charm of the reception rooms, and with the colorful gowns of the guests made quite a charming picture. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Ramsey Snow and Miss Ruby Farmer and graciously received by Mrs. Bertha Reid, Mrs. Zelma Farmer, Miss Hetty Lou Warren of Hickman, Mesdames Harvey Boaz, Gus Bard, Edd Kelly, J. M. Martin, of Martin, Tenn., Lloyd Emery of Paducah, Lewis Weeks, I. W. Dobbins, assisting in the hall and library were Mesdames W. M. Whitnell, Harry Scates and M. L. Farmer.

A dainty salad course with accompanying dainties was served from the tea table covered with a handsome lace cover graced by a silver basket of Columbia roses guarded by pink tapers gleaming in silver holders. Mesdames Chas. Payne and L. O. Bradford did the hospitality honors, assisted by Miss Mary Webb and Mrs. Floyd Irby, Mrs. J. W. Gordon.

MERRYMAKERS CLUB

Seven little girls met at the home of Martha Brady on Park Avenue, Saturday afternoon, and organized a little club, naming it Merry Makers Club. Martha Brady was elected president, Sarah Alexander, Vice President; Elizabeth Shankle, secretary; Sarah Owens, Treasurer. After the election of officers, a lovely program was given. Euphie Glisson, Sarah Owen and Martha Brady played piano solos. Sarah Alexander, Elizabeth Shankle sang a pretty Christmas song and Carolyn Beadles gave a reading. After the hostess, assisted by her mother, served lovely refreshments, the club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Sarah Alexander.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Mrs. J. C. Brann with her usual charm and grace, presided over the enthusiastic meeting of the Woman's Club, Friday afternoon in the club room of the Chamber of Commerce. In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd of members were present and unusual interest was displayed in the departmental reports which were the outstanding features of the business session. Bowls of narcissus and vases of bitter sweet and Christmas bells adorned the room in homage to the occasion. This being educational day, the teachers of the various schools were honored guests. Mrs. R. B. Beadles was the leader of the very interesting program. After a few introductory remarks, Mrs. Beadles introduced Superintendent Jones of the South Fulton school, who made an interesting talk on "Science of Education."

Miss Zuline Alexander beautifully played, "May Night," by Palmgrue.

Supt. Myers, of the Fulton schools gave an interesting lecture on Michael Angelo. Mrs. Chas. Brann sweetly sang, "Ah Love But a Day," by Gilberte, with Mrs. Gus Bard as accompanist. At the close of the program a lovely ice course was served.

Skovgaard the Danish Violinist

At High School Auditorium,
Monday Night,
Dec. 14

Under Auspices Music Department of the Woman's Club

Axel Skovgaard received his first violin instruction when he was five years old. At the age of fourteen, Joseph Joachim, the "King of Violinists," took him as a pupil, and it was then that he definitely entered upon his career as a violin virtuoso. For three years he was a favorite pupil of this eminent master, who procured for him many special engagements, among which were his first appearances at the Royal Palace and at the Royal Academy of Music in Berlin. He was, for two years, a pupil of Carl Halir; a five year pupil of the Royal Copenhagen Conservatory of Music, and a four year pupil with a three year honor scholarship, of the Royal High School of Music of Berlin.

At the age of fifteen, Skovgaard was first violinist in the Philharmonic Orchestra of Copenhagen. He subsequently filled positions as solo-violinist and concert-master with the Selanderska Opera of Stockholm, the Berliner Philharmonic Orchestra, and others, concertizing throughout the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Germany, England and Belgium.

In the year of 1903 Skovgaard made his first appearance in America as soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra, and with this organization he toured the principal cities of the United States and Canada. He requires no introduction to the American public, having filled more than a thousand engagements in the United States and Canada. In addition to inherent talent and a musical training, second to none, Skovgaard possesses a maturity which experience alone can impart. He plays with brain and will and brings emotional intensity under his absolute control.

Alice McClung Skovgaard, wife of the violinist, is a pianist of remarkable versatility. She not only enhances the artistry of her illustrious husband with her superb accompaniments, but renders several piano groups from the best composers, thus perfecting a diversified program of uniform excellence.

Madam Skovgaard is an American by birth. She received her early musical training from her mother, who endowed her liberally with that inborn gift—the mark of genius. At three and a half years of age she gave a performance, consisting of several of Bach's Fugues, before Theodore Thomas, former conductor of the well known Thomas Orchestra of Chicago, and was pronounced by Mr. Thomas, and others, to be a musical prodigy. Later she was instructed by the eminent Danish pianist, August Hillested and other noted pianists and theorists, under whose able tutelage was perfected her phenomenal talent. Before she was eight years old, she amazed and delighted many public audiences with demonstrations of absolute pitch and other features of her marvelous musical perception.

Madam Skovgaard wins her hearers by her modest dignity, even before her magic touch compels their rapt attention. Her interpretations evidence the judgment and grasp of an accomplished musician. While her playing is full of feminine delicacy, strength and character go with it to a surprising degree. To quote one prominent critic: "Beauty, grace, ease of presence, wonderful technique, full command of each number, ability to bring from the piano every ounce of volume needed, or on the other hand, to play the daintiest passage with a touch as light as that of fairy fingers proves Madam Skovgaard to be mistress of the piano."

SKOVGAARD'S HAND INSURED FOR $50,000.00

Here is a picture of the $50,000.00 hand belonging to Skovgaard, the Danish Violinist, who is to appear at Fulton, Monday night, December 14. It took Skovgaard thirty years to make this hand. Incessant training and the inborn soul of the artist fashioned it. To the ordinary eye it is not very different from other well developed hands. Yet it has the power almost automatically to express through the violin the exquisite beauty and marvelous tone pictures which the player feels and sees as he interprets the work of the Masters. As an investment it represents a man's life work. But it represents, too, the inborn gift which no money can buy. That is why it is insured for $50,000.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Thursday afternoon, Guy Gingles, Jr., entertained a few of his little friends in his home on Fourth street in celebration of his tenth birthday anniversary. Fragrant narcissus bowls were prettily arranged in the rooms where the children enjoyed games and contests.

James Wiseman won the prize, a pencil box. Whistles and packages of spit-devils were given as souvenirs and an ice cream course was served with cake. The honoree was remembered with many lovely gifts. The happy affair was brought to a close with Junior Townsend leading in the snake dance.

FULTON CASE TO BE HEARD AT MAYFIELD, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11

The Kentucky Railroad commission has set Friday, December 11, as the date the Fulton Coal Case will be heard at Mayfield. Fulton steam coal rates are 34 cents higher than Mayfield, while their domestic coal rates are 22 cents higher. For years past the spread between Mayfield and Fulton rates on both grades of coal has been 11 cents per ton, but due to Mayfield having obtained a readjustment last May, reduced their rates 23 cents per ton on steam and 11 cents per ton on domestic, without Fulton receiving a corresponding reduction, caused Fulton to be discriminated against, hence the complaint that will be heard at Mayfield.

The following receivers of coal are plaintiffs in the proceedings:

Fulton Coal company,
Taylor Coal and Concrete Company,
City Coal Company,
P. T. Jones and Son,
Sanders Coal Company,
Fulton Lee Company,
Lewis Tobacco Company,
Lake County Manufacturing Company,

Browder Milling Company,
O. K. Laundry,
City of Fulton.

The Mayfield Chamber of Commerce also announces that they have received a tentative report from the Interstate Commerce Commission which will reduce rates between Fulton from the states of Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont, approximately 20 per cent, which will allow Fulton the privilege of competing in Interstate Commerce, something she has never before enjoyed.

This will give Fulton through rates from and to practically every city in America.

Mrs. M. H. Douthitt, private secretary to Secretary L. F. Orr, of the Mayfield Chamber of Commerce, spent last Saturday in Fulton visiting the various coal buyers and obtaining their freight bills for coal shipments since July 6, 1923, which will be submitted at the hearing on Friday, at which time it is hoped, that a rebate on these over-rate freight bills will be allowed.

Should this be accomplished, the Freight Rate Committee of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce will have added another victory for the adjustment of freight rates for Fulton merchants.

Opened His Purse to Aid the Needy

Generous Man's Contribution Assured Caroline Visit From Santa.

By ALEC TUPPER

IT WAS a chubby girl of five years who stood before a large store window on the main street, admiring the wonderful toys arranged in the window of red and green decorations. Every day for two weeks Caroline had appreciated seeing these things, yet she wished so hard for even one toy. Now the day before Christmas, the biting cold of the morning did not drive her away from the spot where her head reached high enough to flatten the top of her nose on the plate glass, while her eyes dropped very deep to see how it looked in a different shape. There was a hole in each of her mittens, each thumb being drawn in on the palm for warmth, and she gave a hop, first on one foot, then on the other. One toe peeped out of a shoe. Nearly every time Santa pointed automatically to his bag of toys, Caroline laughed so heartily that the plaid coat drawn tightly about her plump waist swelled and nearly lost its two buttons.

And a man had been watching her for some time. He came up to her and asked her what she wanted for Christmas. Caroline answered that mother was very poor this year and perhaps couldn't even buy a Christmas dinner but she looked kindly at Santa each day now, hoping he would know her very well. The man smiled pleasantly and opened his purse. He loved children and especially such as these. "Here child," he said, "take this and go right home to your mother."

Mrs. Bixby was busy ironing in the basement kitchen, with her little baby in a basket beside her, when Caroline rushed in breathless, holding a bright red dollar coin in her reddened, chubby palm, for she kept her mittens off all the way. Wasn't it a happy Christmas for the Bixbys! Caroline said it was from "a man who passed by" and when Mrs. Bixby offered a little Christmas prayer that night, she was reminded of the Christ who did so much good as He passed by—always conscious of the needy in body and spirit. She was sure that the Christ can reflect in this day from those who walk in His path. (©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHRISTMAS NIGHT

By MARIAM CLARK POTTER

ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT I wonder in a little waking dream, How like a pleasant fairy tale the Christmas stockings seem! And are they really hanging in a happy little row?

I think they must be slinging in the darkness there below:

"Oh, this is stockings' holiday, and this our night of nights; And we alone may stay awake and watch the magic sights. How many days we trudge about on restless little feet! But now we guard the Christmas toy and hold the Christmas sweet."

Christmas Cookies

Cream together two cupsful brown sugar and one-half cupful butter. Add one-half well-beaten egg, eight tablespoons sweet milk, one salt spoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful soda dissolved in one-eighth cupful boiling water, one teaspoonful cinnamon, two and one-half cupsful rolled oats, two cupsful flour. Mix all together and let stand for an hour, then drop a teaspoonful at a time on greased tins. Press a fat raisin on the top of each and bake in a moderate oven. This amount makes about four dozen cookies.

ADVERTISE YOUR PRODUCTS

Some of my farmers friends have been complaining about the hard luck of the last few weeks, due to the excessive rains and the drought earlier in the year, and all these things make me more sure than before that if the farmer would do a little advertising he might ease up on some of the places that are pinching him right now.

Heard of a farmer the other day who, not long ago, came to town with three pounds of good butter for sale and he had a hard time getting rid of it, but (now get this) it was good butter. Last week he sold 19 pounds and was almost mobbed by would-be customers. In this particular case he was "advertised by his loving friends," but others can do just as well if they will "deliver the goods" and do a little propaganda work through the papers.

I asked one farmer friend if he had much of a nut crop this year and was told that his chestnuts were larger than usual, but the walnut and hickory nuts did no so well, while the pecans were almost nothing. Now this means that nuts will be high this winter, and the farmer who will spend a little money on advertising can sell a lot of nuts to the residents of Fulton, and surrounding towns, and grease some of the bare spots so the going won't be quite so hard.

I heard another housewife complaining of the eggs she got from the grocer, and she exonerated the grocer for the quality, too, but that is another pointer for Mr. Farmer. Advertise good fresh eggs and then deliver them to regular customers the year 'round. Most housekeepers use about the same number of eggs every week and know just how many they need and it certainly must be a great deal less worry to break "reliable" eggs instead of having to do so with fear and trembling. With the price of eggs going steadily up, it soon eats up the difference in price if two or three in a dozen "go bad."

If some enterprising farmer will advertise "reliable" eggs, I will waive all my rights to that trade mark, and boost for his brand.

Then there is the "sorghum" difficulty. Many housekeepers would like to buy some of the "long sweet'nin'" but a gallon would spoil before she could use it up, but if S. E. F. would put it up in quart mason jars he could sell quite a lot of it, and if it was good, the customer would call for another quart when the first had been consumed. Naturally, he would charge a trifle more than a quarter of the price of a gallon, but the housekeeper would be willing to pay that, as she would still be saving money by not having it spoil on her hands.

I seem to be handing out a lot of advice, and if it "goes over good," may open up an Advice Bureau for the benefit of the public and MYSELF.

Lesson for December 13

PAUL IN MELITA AND ROME

LESSON TEXT—Acts 23:1-31.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation, to every one that believeth.—Rom. 1:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul the Helper.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in the World's Capital.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Prisoner Preaching.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Power of the Gospel.

1. The Shipwreck on Melita (vv. 1-10).

Through the storm they lost their bearings, and when they were safe on land they learned that the island was called Melita. Their experiences here may be noted as follows:

1. The Hospitable Reception of the Natives (v. 2).

They built a fire and made the shipwrecked people as comfortable as possible in the cold and rain.

2. Paul Gathering Sticks for a Fire (v. 3).

The world's greatest preacher and missionary, yet he was not above picking up sticks for a fire. All along the journey Paul busied himself in doing all that he could to help some one. Any service rendered in the right spirit is holy work.

3. Paul Bitten by a Venomous Serpent (v. 3).

Among the sticks that Paul gathered was a serpent. Perhaps it had already coiled itself up for its winter's sleep, but aroused by the warmth of the fire, it darted at Paul and fixed its fangs upon his hand. This was a serious thing. The natives expected to see him fall down dead, yet he shook it off, unharmed. At first the natives concluded that he was an escaped murderer, and that retributive justice was being meted out to him. When they saw he was unharmed they concluded that he was a god. In the popular mind a man soon passes from a murderer to a god, or more frequently the reverse is true.

4. Paul Heals Publius' Father (vv. 7-10).

These people now received some return for their kindness. When this man of note was healed, others came and were healed also.

II. Paul's Arrival At Rome (vv. 11-16).

When Paul reached Rome Christ's charge to the disciples was fulfilled. After three months' stay at Melita Paul departed for Rome in the ship of Alexandria, whose sign was Castor and Pollux. At Syracuse they were delayed three days, perhaps for favorable winds. At Puteoli he found brethren at whose request he tarried seven days, after which he again set his face towards Rome. At Appii forum and at Three Taverns brethren from Rome met him. From Puteoli the news went before of Paul's coming, and so interested were the brethren that they came for more than forty miles to meet him. This greatly encouraged him and he gave God thanks. He greatly craved the fellowship of other Christians and was much helped thereby. This was the first city in all his missionary life that thus welcomed him. It was typical of the welcome that was given to the gospel by the Gentile world. He was treated with great leniency at Rome for he was allowed to hire a house and live apart, except that his guard was constantly with him. Being chained to a soldier was rather irksome, yet it gave him a chance to preach to the soldiers, which he could not have had in any other way.

III. Paul's Ministry in Rome (vv. 17-31).

1. His Conference With the Leading Jews (vv. 17-22).

He did not as usual, wait for the Sabbath day to speak to the Jews. He allowed only one day for rest, his object being to have a fair understanding with them. When they came he endeavored to conciliate them. He told them that though he came as a prisoner, he was not a criminal. Though his own countrymen had sought his life he did not come with accusations against them. The result of this interview was that the Jews cautiously took neutral ground, but expressed a desire to hear what Paul could say in defense of a sect which was everywhere spoken against.

2. Paul Expounding the Kingdom of God and Persuading Concerning Jesus (vv. 23-31).

He pointed out a real kingdom—the Messianic kingdom with the historic Jesus as the king. The kingdom to Paul meant a definite reign of a definite person, not simply an improved state of society. This he showed from the Scriptures.

Small Things; Great Things

You are waiting to do some great thing; you are waiting to pull down some great evil. Perform the small things that are unseen, and they will bring other and greater things for you to perform.—John Bright.

Leading Us Along

In denying ourselves, Jesus is not asking us to limit ourselves. He is, rather, leading us along the road to which we shall find self.—G. Glenn Atkins.

SKOVGAARD

Skovgaard, the Danish Violinist, who will appear here on Monday night, December 14, at the High School auditorium, under the auspices of the Music Department of the Woman's Club, is an extremely large man, weighing nearly three hundred pounds and measuring six feet and three inches in height. Physically, he is a worthy descendant of that powerful race of Vikings whose commanding statues caused a feeling of awe even to the sturdy Romans of Caesar's time. Conforming to the proverbial good nature of most large people, Skovgaard is also a most likable man and makes friends wherever he goes. But within his powerful frame is secreted a most potent force than any which the exercise of muscle alone could produce. It is the power to interpret the soul of music, and from the first stroke of the bow on the strings of his matchless Stradivarius violin, all sense of form and size gradually give way to a delightful sense of rhythm, melody, music. Standing on the stage, this colossal Dane is only music. Each movement of the body, while he is playing, is nothing but music and the expression on his face tells you plainly that he is far away from you, deep in "the land of tunes." Skovgaard comes to you not as a musical novice. His training under the greatest masters of Europe stamp him as "a consummate musician, the finished, polished, purposeful." Moreover, Skovgaard is an artist whose power has had time to mature and to gain those finer qualities of balance and resource of interpretation, which can come in no other way than by the steady development of the musician himself in devotion to his inborn and chosen art. His repertoire is practically unlimited and his years of experience on the concert platform has made an adept in arranging his programs to suit the various requirements to be reckoned with in touring the United States, the most versatile of all countries. Skovgaard carries with him an able pianist and accompanist, and a delightful singer.

THE BEST FOOT FORWARD

Tourists who have taken excessive automobile trips during the past season doubtless noticed the big difference in towns and cities through which they passed. Two communities may seem alike in size and advantages, yet the temper of the two places may vary widely. In some there is an atmosphere of activity and energy noticeable even to the casual observer. The people radiate aggressiveness and their attitude suggests a community of achievement and advancement. Other towns are pervaded by a more listless feeling. Many loafers may be seen on the benches and decorating the curbstones. Business men stand in their doorways, lazily observing the traffic. Little knots of people gather to exchange sidewalk gossip.

Probably the majority of them say that the world is all wrong and that adverse conditions are responsible for their disappointments in life. They complain of the backwardness of their home town, yet if they were asked to serve on a committee to give the community a boost, they would promptly decline.

It's no trouble to get the picture. Most everyone has observed just such places. But they are not past redemption. A few active men in such a town can remake it in a few years.

If they are engaged in business, they soon raise the level of business practices by employing up-to-date methods in their business, which in time will be copied by other business men. If they be clerks or mechanics, they act as a stimulus to others in the same calling and beneficial results are soon noticeable.

The success of any community depends upon whether the majority of its people are alert and want to see their home town improve. They can bring about improvement if the will for it exists.

Every person who has any pride in this community should give a little thought now and then to its improvement for no improvement will ever come until after some individual or group of individuals have visualized its possibilities.

EARLY SHOPPERS ARE WELCOMED

Early shoppers are welcomed in every store. They give the merchant an opportunity to give them the best service possible, and they get advantage of much larger selections.

They also make the buying of Christmas gifts a simple task compared with that of the procrastinating shopper. Join the ranks of the early shoppers today and insure yourself a more pleasant Christmas.

Every year early buying becomes more popular. People profit by the mistakes of past years and from the experiences of others who bought early and found how much more pleasant it was. More and more they are realizing the folly of waiting until the choicest gifts have been taken by the wise shoppers.

In kinds and range of merchandise, and accommodating service and experienced salesmanship, Fulton stores are unexcelled even in much larger places than this.

You'll do well to begin shopping today. The merchants are ready. Their goods are in attractive array. Make the most of this opportunity to settle the problems of Christmas buying now.

The sermon Sunday morning was, "Of What Do the Holy Scriptures Consist," and Doctor Boyd explained very understandingly the history of the Scriptures.

Dr. Boyd's subject for the evening service was, "The Dividing of the Red Sea." He stated that his attendance at the showing of the film, "The Ten Commandments," had induced him to talk on this subject, and his explanation of the incident was extremely enlightening and instructive. He was listened to with interest by all present.

Beginning last Sunday, Dr. Boyd began a series of seven talks on the Life of Christ. These talks occupy only five minutes and are illustrated on the blackboard, and will undoubtedly be of great help in understanding the life work of the Great Teacher.

LEARN IT BY HEART

We are printing below a little "Pome" from the Washington Star and we wish that every Fultonian would learn it by heart and then make an earnest effort to live up to its sentiments. It is entitled:

Local Pride

My little old house appears to be
The best little house in the block, to be.
My little old block—I set it down
As the best little block in all the town.
My little old town seems good and grand;
The best little town in all the land.
And this land of our displays such worth,
It's the best little land in all the earth—
And this little world, I'll state in language terse,
Is the best little world in the universe.
Now, isn't that about the best "Booster" spirit you ever read, and don't you feel that it is just the proper way we all ought to feel about OUR town and OUR home?

Meeting The Customers' Wishes

THE magnitude of the Bell Telephone System and its outstanding world leadership has been due to several contributing causes, but underlying all has been customer interest and co-operation and company effort to satisfy the needs and wishes of the public.

From the beginning of the business, service from the customers' viewpoint has been a subject of thoughtful consideration. Even in the early days, when the possibility of such a system of communication was scarcely dreamed of, the chief concern was to learn the public need and meet it adequately.

To do this has required research, investigation and invention on a magnitude and at a cost never dreamed of by the pioneers.

Here, in this city and in this State, the Bell Telephone workers are striving to render the kind of service you want, and your friendly interest and co-operation contribute largely to our success in meeting your wishes.

BOND ISSUE DEFEATED

Majority in Sylvan Shade Lack Necessary Two-Thirds to Carry

The bond election at Sylvan Shade resulted in a majority a little short of the necessary two-thirds. It seems that it will be necessary to hold another election after giving the patrons a little time to consider the proposition more fully.

The County School Board has been through a considerable additional expense lately because of crowded conditions in the four consolidated districts and has built in three since the first of July of the present year. In no two districts have conditions been exactly the same, but in each case a new teacher has been added. For building alone, more than the anticipated revenue from the four districts for two years instead of one, has already been spent. As every one familiar with a bond proposition knows, that it is the most customary and for many reasons most satisfactory method of handling a debt which seems so necessary to the progress to which our young people are entitled, if we keep our schools alive and growing. If allowed to get the money in that way, old debts and the new can be wiped out and a considerable part of interest saved, to say nothing of a better credit basis. The last alone is worthy of consideration. We are anxious to give our schools at least the same number of teachers next year as this. It is not too early to look forward. It would also be a backward step to cut down the length of term or the number of grades taught. A means, however, must be provided to pay actual expenses and to gradually pay off the indebtedness, since no thinking person can expect the impossible.

The average person is not totally selfish in expecting something for which he has contributed nothing, but in this wonderful country of ours we are apt to forget that our public schools cannot be as absolutely free as the air we breathe. We sometimes also forget to calculate how much we get as a community for the little that we contribute as individuals.

The bond election does not involve any question of tax, since the payment of bonds is managed through the board, as are other school payments. Any member of the county board will be glad to explain the purpose of elections called or contemplated. It is not possible to raise or lower the additional tax except at an election called for such purpose. The amount of bonds asked for is considerably less than two per cent of the assessed valuation of property.

WHEN you buy across the counter in the stores of this town, you are using good business judgment. Why? There are many reasons, but one of the most important is this:

You can buy what you want at the price you wish to pay! You are not obliged to accept "something just as good," because you are in a position to compare values and make your own selections.

When you trade at home you are helping your friends to help you! And there is no finer thing in life than neighborly co-operation. It always pays—in happiness and satisfaction as well as dollars and cents.

Railroad News

Supt. Williams made a business trip to Birmingham first of the week.

General Manager G. E. Patterson was in the city first of the week.

Mr. E. P. Wade, clerk at the freight house, made a business trip to Memphis the first of the week.

Vice-President J. J. Pelley, General Superintendent J. W. Heyron, and Superintendents Young and Williams were guests at a Banquet given by the Rotary and Lions Club at Fulton, Wednesday evening.

Superintendent H. W. Williams attended meeting of the Southeast Shippers' Regional Advisory Board at New Orleans, Friday of this week. Mr. Williams is the official representative of the Illinois Central on this Board. The purpose of the Board is to work out better understanding and cooperation between shippers and the carriers.

Late Trains Caused by Congestion in Florida

It is stated that the cause of the late arrival of the fast trains from the south, is due to the congestion on the Atlantic Coast Line and other railroads in the south, and that this will probably continue more or less, until the double-tracking which is being done in that territory, is completed. There is a great amount of railroad construction work going on in Florida, and many lines are building double-track, and until this work is completed, the congestion is likely to continue. It is thought that when the embargo on certain commodities to Florida is raised, that it will stimulate business for the I. C., and to say the least, will permit them to operate their fast passenger trains on time, as these trains are losing no time on their own track, and in fact, makes up quite a bit of the lost time after it reaches its own line.

I. C. Employees, 70, and Over, to Be Retired January 1

We understand that all employees on the Illinois Central, who are 70 years of age, will be retired on pension as of January 1, 1926. This is a recent ruling made on the Illinois Central and affects all alike. Heretofore, if a man was still strong and physically able, he would be permitted to remain in the service after 70 years in some cases, but the rule has been amended to apply to all. This will affect many employees on the Tennessee Division, and the honor roll of the I. C. will be greatly increased after the first of the new year. We extend to these veterans of the railroad our good wishes for the future, and our thanks for their service in the past. It is very appropriate to place these men on what is known to railroad men, as the Honor Roll, after they have served their company for so many years.

Paducah Shops

A contract has been awarded to the Federal Engineering Company, Chicago, for heating and plumbing facilities in the locomotive shops, blacksmith shop, office building and tin and electric shops, being constructed at Paducah, Ky.

Illinois Central Reduces Purchases

The Illinois Central reduced its purchases of coal, rails and other commodities required in the maintenance, operation and improvement of the property from approximately $67,000,000 in 1923 to approximately $37,000,000 in 1924, or 45 per cent, while during the same period reserve stocks (excluding scrap) were reduced from $21,300,000 at the close of 1923 to $12,400,000 at the close of 1924, a decrease of 40 per cent. Where the I. C. bought supplies at the rate of $900 per month per mile of line operated in 1923, its purchases in 1924, were only $495 per mile of line. It takes efficient and economical operation to make such a reduction as this and still maintain and improve the efficiency and comfort of the railroad.

Extra Equipment for Holiday Travel

The I. C. is making arrangements to place extra coaches on a number of its passenger trains during the holiday season, to take care of the Christmas travel, which is usually very heavy during this season.

Christmas Spirit as an Interlude

Young Executive Would Not Make Some Happy and Others Sad.

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

THE great hall of the penitentiary was brightly lit by electricity. Hysteria was wrenched along the walls. There was roast beef and plum pudding, and two cigars for every inmate—for the warden was a believer in modern methods of penology. And the men were falling in.

They came in with the prison step, and their faces brightened as they saw the good cheer. They sat down, and for an hour they forgot their sorrows.

They knew that in a myriad of homes families were celebrating. Many of them had wives and children who must pass this and many more Christmases without them. This gave an added poignancy to the dinner. And there was a note of sadness beneath the merrymaking.

The chief guard moved up and down the lines of tables. "Hea, the governor's comin' to see you, boys," he said. The whisper ran round the room. Not a heart but beat the factor for the news. The governor was a young man—not far beyond thirty.

The last governor of the state had been spectacular in his methods. He had made a point of setting prisoners free on public holidays. Two Christmases before he had descended on the penitentiary and announced a whole sheaf of pardons. It had left happiness and bitterness behind it, that visit of the late governor's. And he had been an old bachelor. The new governor was young, married—he would take pity on them.

Sol Stoneman, the old forger, with five years yet to serve, heard the news with emotion. Surely he had served his time, paid all the punishment that the law could fairly ask of him.

And Richards, the murderer, who had done seventeen years and was now an old man—surely he was ripe for remission.

And Benson, the financier, who would have looked down upon the why, it was his associates, not he who had wrecked the bank, and he had served two whole years out of seven. Surely the governor would announce his pardon!

And the boy Johnson, who had killed his brute of a stepfather, and got thirty years for it—he had been in the pen since he was seventeen and was now twenty-five. Was his life to slip away, slip away within those walls? Would't the governor give him a chance?

So thought five hundred of the inmates, and gradually the suspense stilled their voices, and they hardly spoke. And the meal drew to a close.

Then quick steps were heard outside. The warden entered: "Boys, the governor's come to see you!"

They rose to their feet. "Three cheers for Governor Browne," yelled somebody. And they cheered with a will. The governor smiled and nodded. They were sizing him up. Why, he was only a kid, this governor. A kid anybody could make do anything he wanted him to.

"Go on with your dinner," said the governor, and he remained chatting with the chief warden and some of the guards. At last he turned toward the men. A deathly silence fell. Now it was coming. Who would be taken? Who could be left?

He began to speak in an informal way. There was none of the flourish and grandeur of the former governor. He spoke of the spirit of Christmas as an interlude in the interactions of life, a little resting place in the struggle for existence. He spoke of the responsibilities of citizenship. There were many there who would look with a keener sense upon these responsibilities when they had their citizens' rights restored to them.

"Now it's coming," thought each and all of them.

And he wished them all a happy Christmas. They sat there stupefied. And suddenly there came to them an understanding of what was in the governor's mind. He would not bring the sense of triumph, of rivalry, into that meeting. He would not make some happy and others sad. That was the Christmas spirit—that interlude. . . . debased of them.
