The Listening Post

THE DEATH of the NRA Blue Eagle has made little difference in Fulton, although its birth did stir up quite a bit of feeling. Folks in general, merchants in the majority, it, but accepted it as a recovery measure in the hopes that it would prove to be such, and did the best they could with the respective codes laid down for the different lines of trade. As the Eagle grew older and people became educated in the school of NRA, it became less of a burden to support it, and now after reaching its maturity at the age of 'wo years, it can walk alone, and needs no forcing hand to guide it-or words to that effect, or that in substance. tal efficiency.

The condition is one that, without being recognized by name, is familiar to many office executives and workers as the post-luncheon mental sluggishness which results almost universally in low production by office workers during the early afternoon at the recent convention afternoon. At the recent convention of the National Office Management Association, Dr. Laird described his just completed research investigation of this condition and possible tion of this condition and possible remedies for it.

The series of experiments directed by Dr. Laird extended over a period of 24 days. Eight young men accustomed to mental work were used as subjects. The subjects at their noon meals in the laboratory. On half of the days, scattered irregularly through the 24-day period, they were served a fairly heavy meal. On the other days they were given a light lunch consisting of a ready-to-eat cereal such as corn ready-to-eat cereal such as corn flakes, with milk; and a light desfakes, with milk; and a light des-sert.

Specially devised laboratory equip-ment was employed to measure the subjects' mental efficiency after the two types of lunches. After the light lunch their minds worked with 6 per cent more speed and 25 per cent more accuracy than after the heavier meals. The difference in the ability of the subjects to keep their attention from fluctuating was even more marked. There were nearly 70 per cent more lapses in nearly 70 per cent more lapses in attention after the heavier meal than after the light cereal lunch.

• "Our experiments showed con-clusively," Dr. Laird said, "that the clusively," Dr. Laird said, "that the cause of the mental sluggishness which afflicts many office workers in the early afternoon is a condition of brain anemia, due to the fact that the demands placed upon the digestive organs cause them to draw blood away from the brain in order to meet these demands. We have also showed that the adverse effects of this condition are great. "In the pink of condition" is a specificiency is lowered,"

MODERN SANITARY PLUMBING

"A straight line is the shortest distance between two points." That holds for any two points-your pocketbook and your list of wants, for example. Follow the straight line, and you'll save yourself time, trouble and money.

Use the advertising columns of this newspaper as guide posts. In them, you find late news of what's to be had in the markets of the world. No need for you to meander about from store to store, comparing, pricing, judging, guessing values. The advertisements tell you the names of merchants and manufacturers you can trust. There you read what's new, what's favored, what's offered confidently for your inspection. The advertisements in this paper take you into more stores than you could visit in a month.

There's no high-pressure selling, no rush, no uncertainty to this daily review of markets. Form the good habit of shopping by the STRAIGHT-LINE method-you'll buy with assurance, with economy and with satisfaction.
