MEDICAL MEN!

What two Prominent Physicians Say of a Noted

Remedy.

Crawfordsville, Ga., Democrat.

B. B. B. is without doubt one of the most valuable and popular medicines known to the medical science, and has relieved many suffering humanity than any other medicine since it came into use. It has never failed in a single instance to produce the most favorable results where it has been properly used.

Physicians everywhere recommend it as doing all it is claimed to do. The following certificates are from two prominent physicians, who have done a large and successful practice for many years, and upon whose judgment the public can safely rely:

Crawfordsville, Ga., July 15, 1885.

Editor Democrat:—For the past ten years I have been suffering with rheumatism in the muscles of my right shoulder and neck. During this time I have tried various remedies, both patent medicines and those prescribed by physicians. Last summer I commenced using B. B. B. and could see an improvement for the first time. I had taken one bottle, and I have been taking it at intervals since last summer, and can say it is the best medicine for rheumatism I have tried. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

J. W. RHODES, A. M., M. D.

Crawfordsville, Ga., Jan. 15, 1885.

Editor Democrat:—About November of last year I had what I supposed to be a cold, but it developed into a right side of neck. I used local applications, which effected no perceptible good. I commenced the use of B. B. B. and took it regularly twelve bottles, and in due time the sore throat passed over, and now I consider it well. I cheerfully recommend it as a true tonic and alterative medicine.

S. J. FARMER, M. D.

"Meal Bag on a Farm Pole."

ELBERTON, GA., June 1, 1885

My brother has a son that was afflicted with rheumatism in one of his legs until the knee was so badly contracted that he could not touch the ground with his heel, and had to crawl. He took only two bottles of B. B. B. and ere long he was on his feet and able to walk and run. I have on the same clothing now, and they are a tight fit.

You can do as you like with this; as for me and my household, we think

B. B. B. is fully orthodox, and will do to swear by.

Respectfully yours,

J. M. BARFIELD.

Exports of Food.

The Chicago Tribune gives the following table illustrative of the large decrease of American food exports:

Beef, pounds, Jan. 1885, 8,012,720

Pork, pounds, Jan. 1885, 10,740,000

Lard, pounds, Jan. 1885, 10,740,000

Bacon, pounds, Jan. 1885, 10,740,000

Wheat, bushels, Jan. 1885, 10,740,000

Flour, barrels, Jan. 1885, 10,740,000

The writer says that the causes of the decline in exports of food is the repressive foreign policy of the western part of Continental Europe in regard to provisions and to the progress attained by the British dependencies in raising wheat. It cannot be so much a matter of prices as some folks on the other side of the Atlantic would have us suppose, for those of meat are at a very low point, and those for breadstuffs are the lowest ever known since the American people began to supply the deficiencies of the Old World in food. It may even be said that the question of prices is very small as to cut but little figure in the solution of the problem. "How much shall we export in the future?" It seems to be accepted as a fact by the trade in England, however, it may be with the growers, that Indian sales only need now to be informed in regard to our efforts to order to understand in wheat, and there is some suspicion that a similar state of things prevails in the case of hogs for sale by the Continent of Europe.

The writer adds, for the encouragement of the producers, that the yield of wheat last year was an exceptionally small one, and the hog crop has suffered terribly as a result of the ravages of cholera. We may fairly count upon more material to be disposed of another season, with ordinary weather conditions, and then will arise the question of what must be done with it. The answer to that query may not be reached till the pressure of food has still further depressed prices, and has led them to a point where production will be limited by a reference to a probable home demand. There is no good reason why this consideration should not obtain in agriculture as it does in the manufacture of other articles besides food. It should, however, be remembered that an overproduction of food is far from being an unlooked-for evil, and that the possibility of consumption may yet be increased to a hitherto unthought-of extent by an augmentation of the supply that shall put it within the power of the poorest

G. S. SHELTON.

A Board of Trade.

A citizen who takes a deep interest in all matters pertaining to the improvement and progress of the town, thinks that it would be productive of good if a few public-spirited business men would organize a Board of Trade for the promotion and encouragement of useful enterprises. One of the defects of cities which have no organized society of business men is that there is no one to lead in movements of a general nature unless some individual will leave his private employment and push himself forward. Modest men dislike to make themselves conspicuous. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and however useful a project may be it falls through for neglect. The advantages of co-operation are very great. The tobacco trade is an example of this. If there were no mutual counsel and co-operation among those engaged in the trade it would be utterly destroyed. In any business and profession there is strength in union. Men prosper and thrive most when they are united socially and enjoy each other's sympathy, friendship and counsel. The same principle which inspires the formation of medical societies, trade societies, and benevolent orders is good for towns. A club of intelligent citizens, having no other object in view but the general good of their town, in morals, trade and growth, might hold meetings once a month for friendly consultation. The time would not be misused. The conference might make suggestions from time to time for the benefit of the newspapers, the council and the citizens. Even if there were no other result the social influence of the club in bringing business men together in friendly relations, would be pleasant and advantageous. The idea is a good one.

The Spring Lamb.

After noting down in our diaries for the first two months of the year a snowfall of some forty-two inches, the contrast of temperature this week is grateful and cheering. Mild breezes and glowing sunshine give the long unfrequented streets a cheerful aspect. The brightness and warmth overhead and around invite abroad the merry maiden, on shopping excursion intent, and the jovial spring lamb intent on gymnastics around his dam in the wheat-field, and merry maid and gentle lamb readily accept the invitation.
Did not the Oriental poet sing, on such a day as this:
"Lo, the winter is past; the time of the singling of birds is come and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land."
There is no pleasant rural sight for one who appreciates fully the varied aspects and features of a fine landscape than a far-spreading wheat field of fresh and vivid green, from which the snow curtain has just been withdrawn, dotted here and there with little squabbling lambs, leaping and frolicking in pure excess of joy, as if their veins were full of quicksilver.
Such pleasing sights the good farmers around Casky, Church Hill, Pembroke and Newstead well know and often do their hospitable boards enjoy the benefit of their knowledge of lamb-raising.
"Chops and tomato sauce," wrote the epicurean Pickwick, but the expert housewives of Christian could teach the old gentleman a dish or two of that. English cookery is well enough when we cannot do better, but what would Mr. Pickwick have said if he had once set down to a Kentucky feast of lamb chops and mint sauce garnished with asparagus? or roast spring lamb flanked with a dish of green peas? The gods who ate ambrosia on Olympus never had such a feast as Grangers of Christian enjoy when the bleating of the spring lambs fills the air.
This has been a hard winter on the tender lambs. Blizzards, with blood ten degrees below zero have gnashed their teeth and howled around the sheepfolds as eager to snatch the delicious morsel from our tables. But we hope and pray for the best. The farmers should not forget nor forsake us. If there be no chops we shall feel quite chop-fallen. We appeal earnestly to our vigilant butchers, those brave knights of the cleaver, who paint the town red with the blood of bullocks and lambs for our benefit, and to whose quick ears the bleating of lambs is sweeter music than the singing of larks or mocking birds, to provide a good supply of roasts and chops, white with laces of fat and fresh from the pastures of heat.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's Own True Laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Mr. H. B. Garner. Sample bottles free and large bottles at fifty cents and one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidney and Bowels gently, yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds, and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion and kindred ills.

Around Town.

Don't fail to attend the lecture at the Christian church to-night.
Hancock, Fraser & Ragsdale received 73 hogheads of tobacco Monday.
If the shoe does not pinch, why do you squirm?
Jack Garrity, well known in this city, died of pneumonia in Evansville, Ind., Tuesday.
Mr. J. F. Dixon has accepted the call to make the race for sheriff, and he will make a hot fight for the office.
The grocery store of the late John W. Breathitt, Jr., has been purchased by S. E. Chastain & Co., who will run a first-class grocery at the old stand.
Farmers who were fortunate enough to save clover seed are bringing it in for sale. Others are hauling it out. It is a good sign to see clover seed in demand. It is the farmers' great cattle and soil food.
Two gentlemen, of this city, went to Pembroke, Monday and, becoming weary of waiting for the night train, they determined to walk to town, which they accomplished in two hours. It is not to be inferred, however, that they did not have 20 cents apiece.
Col. Jas. Pye has engaged a most efficient clerk who is called for short "Jimmie." Jimmie is a close observer of things. The other day a gentleman purchased an overcoat at Mr. Pye's store and Jimmie, an unsophisticated bull pup, has been following him ever since.

In order to reduce my stock for spring goods, I am now selling goods at cost. Special bargains in clothing, ladies cloaks and all other goods in my line.
M. LIPKINE.

The sun is out. The farmers are out too. It is the first chance they have had for weeks and they are improving it. The smoke of plant-beds curls up through the woods in all directions. The planters say they are resolved to raise a crop of better quality if possible than the last one.
Now is the time for bargains in overcoats and gents clothing at great sacrifice to make room for spring stock. Also great bargains in millinery goods at cost and below cost.
M. LIPKINE.

A great deal of talk has been indulged concerning the mail robbery which occurred several weeks since on the Lafayette route. Wednesday fifteen letters were found in the woods back of the Wallace place, near Church Hill. Most of them had been opened and the money, if there was any in them, had been extracted.

Mr. Simpson, Jas. Pye & Co's cutter, took a flying trip on one day last week and returned with orders representing twenty-three suits of clothes. Pretty good for one day's work.

The tobacco buyers at Henderson report "adequate" at that place this season amounting to over 10,000,000 pounds. This is far ahead of the usual receipts at this season, and with the tobacco still in the barns will make the excess over last year some 3,000,000 pounds. The quality of the tobacco is unusually poor and prices consequently weak.

The handsomest show win low, it has been our pleasure to see for some time, is Jas. Pye & Co's display of piece goods and elegant silk and satin coat linings.

The present status of the L. A. & T. railroad cannot be maintained much longer. Is not something compelled to be done? Since the meeting at the courthouse at which the proposition of the president of the company was submitted, nothing definite has been done so far as we know. The proposition submitted on that occasion seems not to have proven acceptable to the subscribers, since nothing more with regard to it has been heard from the President, who was to undertake to obtain the assent of the subscribers to the proposition. What is being done now, if anything, by either side we are unable to say. Something ought to be done, and at once.—Clarksville Tobacco Leaf.

WANTED.—To rent a dwelling house, with about three rooms, convenient to west seventh street. References given if desired. Apply at this office.

Madame Janushek in the character "Mary Stuart" at Holland's Opera House last night was a pronounced success. The tragedy itself and Mme. Janushek's impersonation of the unhappy Queen of Scots have been much familiar in the past. The actress' triumph last night was complete. Those grand tragic powers which have so often been given the highest critical commendation seem even now at their fullest development, or at least in no wise impaired. The tragedienne never produced the great scene between the two Queens with more discrimination, with greater force, or with more artistic effectiveness. The pathos which which she began to plead Mary's cause to Elizabeth, and the rage, indignation, noble scorn and bitterness with which she denounced her rival when roused by the cruel taunts of the English queen, thrilled the audience and won for her superb acting a handsome recognition. The company gave a good support. Mr. George D. Chanlin as the Earl of Leicester, Mr. Alex. A. Stuart as Sir Edward Mortimer, were the strength of the support.

D. Galbreath & Co. still sell their clocks for $1 with a guarantee. The clock offered is not a $1 clock, but is the clock sold heretofore for $1.50. D. Galbreath, the head of this firm is a young man just starting out in life, and announces himself as a friend to the people. This young man is not yet a quarter of a century old, but is up in his business and knows exactly what he is doing. During his life he has picked up many points of value to himself and friends and is willing to serve all without exorbitant charges for services. It does not take this young man 25 minutes to make up his mind to attend to his own affairs if allowed, and let others alone. The customers of D. Galbreath & Co. may expect to have everything in the jewelry line at exceedingly low figures and they invite all to inspect their stock before buying elsewhere. We think the quantity of repair work left with this firm since their beginning (one month since) sufficient evidence of the peoples confidence in their ability to do good service, notwithstanding their tender years.

The Most Agreeable

As well as the most effective method of dispelling Headache, a Cold, and Fevers, or cleansing the system, is by taking a few doses of the pleasant California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. Sample bottles free, and 50c. and $1 size bottles for sale by H. B. Garner.

Mr. Barnett Withdraws.

To the Democracy of Christian county:
Dealing the success of the Democratic party for more earnestly than for any personal preference, and fearing that a heated contest for place in our own ranks might to some extent destroy that unification and harmony which are daily necessary to insure success, I have concluded to withdraw from the race, as a candidate for the Circuit Court Clerk, to the friends who so kindly promised me their support, I feel the utmost gratitude.
Respectfully,
I. BURNETT.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Casky Grange, P. H. at Casky, Ky., on Feb. 19th, 1886, the following resolutions were adopted:
WHEREAS, it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst Bro. Z. T. Lacy, therefore be it Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Lacy this Grange has lost a useful and efficient member, and his family a dutiful and affectionate father, brother and son.
Resolved, That this Grange tender his afflicted family its warmest sympathy.
Resolved, That these resolutions be furnished the New Era for publication.

Gentlemen:—In reply to your inquiry we beg to say that we are the sole manufacturers of the "Superior" Steel Barbed Wire, and you are our only Agents in your city. Parties sometimes attempt to sell other wires by saying they are superior, but in doing this they admit the high reputation of the genuine "SUPERIOR" else they would have no occasion to make use of the word.
Notwithstanding your large sales last year we anticipate that they will be much larger this season, as the merits and quality of our wire always create a demand for it wherever introduced.
Very truly yours,
