Lions Club Banquet Excellent Service Brilliant Event Cause of Comment

The Lions Club banquet at the Udonia hotel, Tuesday evening, December 29, was a brilliant affair and one of the most enjoyable events of the holiday season. The beautiful dining room with additional club decorations and handsomely gowned women presented a lovely scene. Covers were laid for one hundred Lions and guests, and the menu was just what one could wish for, faultlessly served.

President Vodie Hardin acted as toastmaster and the program was carried out to the delight of all present.

A pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the musical program: Solo by Mrs. Turner Fowkes, of Louisville; "The Indian Love Call" from Rose Marie, and "De Wolf O'et".

Solo by Mrs. R. S. Williams, "The Meadow Lark" and "Japanese Love Song".

Miss Doris Huddleston, accompanist.

The orchestra furnishing music throughout the evening, was composed of Miss Gladys Bell, piano; Dudley Meacham, drum and traps; Harry Rields, De-zonia, trumpet; Selmon King, saxophone; John Kochin, banjo.

Lions Atkins and Pickering carried out their part of the program to perfection and kept all present in laughter with their various pranks on fellow Lions.

Leon C. H. Warren's address on the good of the club, was greatly enjoyed. He told of the origin of the Lions club and what an enthusiastic organization it was.

Miss Maurine Taylor delighted the banqueters with her humorous reading of the festive address.

Miss Leslie Hupmeyer, of Clinton, who was an honored guest and a prominent Lion. He was followed by brief talks from in-coming guests.

The Lions club of Fulton is a live, enthusiastic organization, and as entertainers, they have reached the higher ideals of entertaining.

Regular meetings of the club have had a big influence in developing an acquaintance and friendship among the leaders in practically every important business and profession in the city.

The annual banquet given in honor of the Lionesses and invited guests will long linger as a pleasant memory in the minds of all who attended.

BEAUTY SHOPPE AND TEA ROOM

The Rose Tea Room and Mariello Beauty Shoppe were formally opened Monday afternoon in the New Southern Hotel building on Church street. The premises were beautifully decorated and all who attended the opening were loud in their praises of the arrangement and conveniences afforded patrons. Mrs. Frank Hendon is in charge of the Beauty Shoppe and Mrs. M. F. Campbell has charge of the Tea Room.

SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

The dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Belew narrowly escaped destruction Monday morning when sparks from the furnace fire set fire to the roof. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Fulton Postoffice Renders Perfect Service During Holiday Rush

Service has always been a feature of the Fulton post office, but the service rendered during the Christmas holidays has caused more comment than ever before. The volume of business was enormous, but like a well-oiled machine, the entire postoffice force was wound up to keep time to the second and never did run down. The Fulton postoffice comes in touch with every home and every class of business in the city and surrounding country, and not one single complaint have we heard, but we have heard many nice things said. And the employees know it is not all "hot air," as they "delivered the goods."

The government had advertised over the country that no deliveries would be made on Christmas Day, therefore, it was necessary for every employee to exert themselves to the utmost, and they did, with perfect service.

R. M. Belew, in charge of money order and register department, has the distinction of not missing a working day in the past twenty years in the service. Mr. Belew started as mail carrier at Crutcheville, but for twelve years has worked in Fulton.

We are not exaggerating when we say that Fulton has the most popular and efficient postmaster and assistants in the United States. The line up is as follows:

R. B. Beales, postmaster.

L. T. Bugg, assistant postmaster.

J. W. Beales, mailing clerk.

R. M. Belew, M. O. & Reg. Clerk.

Miss Jennie C. Goss, Gen. Del. Clerk.

R. L. Finch, Gen. Del. clerk.

W. L. Roper, parcel post.

F. M. Hudson, Aux. clerk.

Anderson Hopkins, janitor.

Daly Lewis, Chairwoman.

SANTA CLAUS SHOWERS

EDITOR WITH GIFTS

The editor of The Advertiser was the recipient of many beautiful, useful and enjoyable gifts during the holidays. Some coming from Texas, California, Tennessee and the folks at home. The territory old Santa Claus covered almost encircled the United States. Words fail to express our appreciation, but we heartily wish for each of our thoughtful and generous friends a cup running over of happiness and prosperity. In 1925 and the years to follow, and especially do we want to thank the donor of the nice turkey that graced our dining table on Christmas day.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Mrs. Lee Rucker was severely injured Monday afternoon, while riding in a taxi from her home to the store. The driver failed to see a hole in the street and the consequent jolt threw Mrs. Rucker against the roof of the car, and did considerable injury to her neck. Doctors Cohn and Boyd were called to the store, where they administered to the patient, who was later removed to her home on Eddings street.

Now is a good time to renew your subscription for The Advertiser another year. Don't wait until your name is dropped from the list. A $1.00 bill will place you in good standing on our list for one year.

Loose Leaf Floor Opened

The Fulton Loose Leaf floor, operated by Messrs. Browder, Williamson and Stuart, was opened Tuesday for the regular season.

The opening of this floor will make it possible for the farmers of the vicinity to begin hauling immediately, and be assured that they will receive the highest price that the market will allow. This will also allow a longer season than was the rule by the association, as it was usually much later when that organization began receiving.

Owing to the delay in removing the Association tobacco, the season was delayed, even longer this fall than had been anticipated by the new firm, and it is the hope of the managers that the receipts will be as heavy and continuous as possible, in order that the crop may be handled promptly.

ENVIABLE REPUTATION

Fulton merchants have gained an enviable reputation throughout the country for Trade Day campaigns, especially the campaign which closed on December 26. It was a gigantic effort on the part of every business firm throughout the city to extend every courtesy possible to shoppers during the campaign and to continue said courtesies throughout the years to come. Many were made happy through the unselfish generosity of Fulton business firms in substantial gifts and good values on quality goods.

The campaign was conducted in a way to win the admiration of the public for the promoters and if our merchants take advantage of the opportunity and advertise the splendid stocks carried and good values offered, business will continue to flow into the regular channels of trade. Keep up the good work and let's all pull together to make 1926 the biggest and best business year in our history.

The Florida lines are still congested, and causing late arrival at both terminuses for all trains. HAPPY NEW YEAR TO OUR CITY

"A Happy New Year" dear old town,
Rejoice in all thy ways
For happy years have come and gone
With brief and fleeting days.

Years we've watched thy growth
In numbers and in wealth;
In lovely homes, and lovelier
In cleanliness and health.

In pretty trees and shady parks
Where birds their carols sing
And sunbeams play the livelong day
And joys supernal bring.

The crystal water that we drink,
Springs from the heart of Earth;
As ceaseless as a woman's love,
Wherever it has birth.

Our men will average will with boys,
Steady, staid and true,
With tact and purpose well in hand
The right they will pursue.

Our girls! Ah, heaven bless them—
No better anywhere—
They're the kindest and sweetest
And fairest of the fair.

Our babies and our little girls;
Our mothers and our wives,
Are beautiful to look upon;
Are lovely in their lives.

Our schools all stand without a peer;
With promise great in store,
Where "Chesterfield" is taught
As well as Greek, or Latin lore.

Our churches, where the soul is fed
From God's own granaries;
And broken lives made whole.

The guardian angels of our homes;
Where faith and charity
Are taught to bless and fit us
For a bright eternity.

RESOLUTIONS

A gentle zephyr wafted the following resolutions into our sanctuary:
I resolve the following year that I will not drink any, unless I am dry—very dry.

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Louisville—William Hargan and his family of Arcadia avenue, are going to move to another home to evade a "ghost", which has kept the family in fear lately.

Harian—Before the Marland fire department could arrive to give aid the stores of Ruff Brothers and M. M. Samuels at Harlan were destroyed, causing a loss of $11,000.

Maysville—Dr. C. L. Chollar, while walking across the Limestone creek bridge, was knocked into the stream 40 feet below and seriously injured when hit by an automobile.

Mechanicsburg—Thelma Jean Perry, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Perry, of near here, was seriously burned about the face in an explosion of a coal stove caused by accumulated gases.

Louisville—Mrs. Frank I. Dugan, jumped from her car just in time to escape probable death when a heavy trailer rolled down the embankment on the river front and crashed into her automobile.

Nelsonville—While the little home of Mrs. James Jones whose husband was killed in a mine accident two years ago, was in ashes, her three small children were safe. Mrs. Jones rescued the tots from the flames.

Bowling Green—Sam Brown, 18 years old, who had been in charge of the United States Mammoth Cave boat from Bowling Green to Evansville for many years, was killed in an automobile accident at Evansville.

Frankfort—During the school year 1923-24, there were 1,955 graduates from Kentucky high schools, and 2,328, 47.6 per cent, entered college, according to data compiled by Mark Godman, state high school supervisor.

Frankfort—One hundred and thirty-two convictions for violations of the game and fish laws were secured during November, according to reports made by district game warden to Claude J. Meredith, superintendent of wardens.

Pikeville—Bloodhounds following a trail from the ashes of Island Creek School went to Miles Sken after passing several persons near him. Sken said the dogs recognized him because he often played with them. He was arrested.

Crab Orchard—S. D. Wooley, of Crab Orchard, who represented Kentucky at the National Game Conference in New York, made a "hit" with his story of his experiences in Kentucky and the west, according to a story in the New York World.

Owensboro—The first triple funeral ever held in Daviess county took place from St. Mary's Catholic Church, 16 miles from Owensboro, when Mrs. Rose Howard Fiquin, 58, and her son and daughter, Gladys, 16, and Harry, 21, were buried. While dependent, Mrs. Howard, it is thought, killed her son and daughter and then herself.

Frankfort—While State officials were enjoying their lunch in the capital basement luncheon room, a skunk getting a whiff of country sausage and other delectable dishes, came from his hiding place in the basement to seek food, of which he found plenty, for when he put in his appearance the officials and other diners disappeared.

Lexington—An entire floor will be added to the Good Samaritan Hospital, managed by the Methodist Board of Kentucky, it was decided at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the hospital. The addition will increase the building to four stories and will make it possible to have eighteen additional bedrooms, an X-ray room and laboratories.

Springfield—Years ago, Charles Downing, then a small boy, was taken from an orphan home by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hatcher, of this city, and he became known by the name of his foster parents. Recently he was located here by his mother and brother, who informed him that he was one of the heirs of an estate left by his grandfather.

Owensboro—Willard K. Miller, county attorney of Daviess county, and past president of Kentucky Association of County Attorneys, was elected president of the Owensboro Bar Association, the youngest lawyer to ever be accorded the honor. Mr. Miller was recently re-elected county attorney of Daviess by the largest majority accorded any candidate on the successful Democratic ticket.

Pikeville—Stuart Robinson College, near Blackey, is erecting a new library building, which it to be one of the finest buildings of its kind in eastern Kentucky.

Lexington—It became known that probably the last act of public service on the part of General Roger D. Williams was to procure a captured German cannon for Lexington. He was in Frankfort about ten days before his death and secured a gun taken in the World War and had it shipped here.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

By REV. P. H. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill. (Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for January 3 THE SON OF GOD BECOMES MAN

LESSON TEXT—John 1:1-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us (and we beheld His glory, the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth)—John 1:14.
PRIMARY TOPIC—John Tells the People About Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why God Came to Earth in Jesus Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Purpose and Power of the Incarnation.

The lessons for this quarter are taken from the Book of John, giving us an opportunity as teachers to present this great message from God. In teaching the lessons the teacher must get John's central purpose and bend every lesson to it. Happily the writer has plainly declared it in chapter 20:30, 31. It is twofold: 1. To prove that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God. 2. To show that eternal life is to be obtained through faith in Him. With this twofold object before him, John proceeds lawyer-like, to lay down his propositions and then to introduce his witnesses, one by one, to establish them. The section for our lesson is the prologue to the Gospel according to John.

1. The Pre-existent Word (vv. 1-4).
The Eternal Son is called the Word of God because He is the expression of God to man. He is the one who utters to men the Father's will "the only begotten Son which is in the bosom of the Father, He hath declared Him" (v. 18). Observe:

1. The Son is a Person Separate From the Father.
There is at the same time an inseparable union existing between them.
2. The Son is Eternal.
He was with God in the beginning. He did not begin to exist when the heavens and the earth were created, neither did He become the Son at His baptism, for He was before all things (Col. 1:17).

3. The Son is Divine.
The Word was God. He is a being equal with God and one in essence with Him.
4. The Word of God is the Omnipotent Creator.

By Him were all things made, the world and all things therein. The One who died to redeem us, made us.

5. The Word of God is the Source of All Life.

He is the eternal fountain from which all life has been derived.

6. The Word of God is the Light of Men.

Man's power to reason has come from Him. The conscience, and even the illumination of the Holy Spirit, have their source in Him.

II. The World's Attitude Toward the Word of God (vv. 5-13).

1. Men are Insuperable to the Presence of the True Light (vv. 5-10).

So dense is the ignorance of mankind that the presence of the very Lord of Glory is unrecognized. Christ not only made the world but was in the world directing and governing the whole creation before the incarnation. He is the preserver of all its forces and interests. Being thus unrecognized, God in His grace sent John the Baptist as a witness that all men might believe (vv. 6, 7). God was not willing that men should grope in darkness. So He sent a man with a true testimony to point out that light to them.

2. The Desperate Wickedness of Man's Heart (v. 11).

The Word was rejected by the chosen nation. They would not receive the one whom God had anointed to be their King.

3. Some Received Christ and Thus Became the Sons of God (vv. 12, 13).

While the nation rejected Him, some individuals embraced Him and were crowned heirs of immortal glory. In this section we are shown how men become children of God. It is not by blood relation with the Covenant people "of blood"; (grace is not inherited); not by the efforts of their hearts, "the will of man"; but of God.

The new birth is God's work; man cannot change himself, neither can one man change the other.

III. The Eternal Word Became Incarnate, "Made Flesh" (vv. 14-18).

In these verses we are taught the Eternal Word became the Incarnate Son. The eternal Son of God became man, born of a woman. He passed through childhood and youth into manhood. He was tested; He suffered and died in order that He might become identified with the race and lift it to Christ, and thus restore the broken fellowship. This incarnate Son tabernacled among us.

Into the Will of God
Study the singular benefits and advantages of a will resigned and method into the will of God. Such a spirit hath a continual Sabbath within itself, and its thoughts are established and at rest.—Flavel.

Wonders in God's Word
The word of God will stand a thousand readings; and he who has gone over it most frequently is the surest of finding new wonders there.—J. Hamilton.

The Fulton Hardware Co.

takes this opportunity to wish its friends and patrons in Fulton and surrounding country,

A Happy and Prosperous New Year

Big Laundry Improvement

In order to do a class of laundry work that we have never before attempted in our twenty-five years experience in the laundry business, we are installing the latest and most modern machinery for doing a class of work known as the Family Wet Wash, but instead of returning your clothes to you wet, they will be nicely dried in our new drying tumbler at the same price that other laundries have charged for wet wash heretofore.

Since the wet wash has proven unsuccessful we know that none of our patrons want their clothes returned to them wet, and in installing this twentieth century drying machine at an enormous expense, it will be in keeping with the town's progress and will be appreciated by the people we serve.

We never lose an opportunity to give the people of Fulton and vicinity the best of service, and the new equipment we are installing now will make our plant one of the leading laundries in the state.

GOOD BYE, OLD YEAR

We step from the Old Year to the New, and we are reminded that after all, our fears and apprehensions, to many of us, it has been a very kind year. To some, we know that the dark side has been turned, but after all, there is a gleam of sunshine for all it we but look for it. We would not forget that to look upon the homes of some of our readers since last New Year's day, a shadow has fallen and a mantle of sorrow has wrapped its inmates in its somber folds.

Other homes are like the empty nest that hangs on the withered bough, because the life and song went out with the birds. New homes have been made and the old ones have been severed, but in our onward march, it is not well to stop and weigh the load each one carries. No life is all sunshine or all storm. If New Year brings prosperity, let us rejoice; if adversity, let us be brave. The sunset gate of life will swing shut upon some of us ere the close of another year. Let us see to the record left on this side. If our dear ones and friends leave us for the summer land, let not the memory of harsh words spoken by us, add to the pangs of separation.

BE GENEROUS

New Year greetings are greetings of good will. How they soften hard hearts, purify base desires, sweeten bitter thoughts, and make every deed purer and tenderer. Let hearts expand, sympathies enlarge, and good will reign. Let benedictions drop from lips, and substantial gifts fall from overflowing hands. Make cheerless homes radiant, and hopeless hearts to thrill with unspeakable gladness. Forgive your enemies. Bury the past. Rise above the mean and petty resentments which you may have harbored against those who have not used you well. Be generous.

VISIT YOUR SCHOOLS

How many of our school children's parents ever visit the schools or even know the teachers when they meet them on the street? How many know what their children are studying, or how they are progressing? Is there any of you who have a building to make or a fence to build; a dress to make; a house to paint, or whatever the job may be, that say to the one you have employed: "Here are the tools and material, go ahead and do it to suit yourself, and it will suit me." It is not that what many of you are doing with your children. You say by your actions: "Here is my child, with its books, paper and pencil, I've furnished material and tools, educate him as you like." Now we hear some of you say: "The teacher knows better what they ought to study than I do." While that may be is part true, the carpenter or a dressmaker, or a painter knows better how to do the work than you do, yet you do not leave it all to them. On the rising generation depends the welfare of this great nation. Patrons and parents, take more interest in our schools and visit them often, and by your presence give the teachers more encouragement; ask them how your children are doing. Perhaps a few minutes talk with them will save trouble that years to come can never undo. Think about this and ask yourself if you are doing right.

Old Tree and Aged Man Are Used to Illustrate the Drama of Life.

By CHRISTOPHER G. HAZARD

IT WAS the last day of the old year. The old tree trembled as it felt the ax stroke, and stretched out its bare arms in the wintry air as though imploring mercy. It was as reluctant as time to leave the field of its life and activity and become the back log of the fires of a new age. But the hands of the clock moved on and the blows of the ax continued.

Near the foot of the tree stood an old man. So aged and so bent with life's burden he seemed, that he might have been taken for the figure of the past, and as he leaned upon his staff, it was with a backward look and with sympathy towards the events of the hour.

"Are we not all in a procession that is marching off the stage," he soliloquized, "and marching off while the play is not half over?" Oh, that the exuberant life of the past, its flush of hope, its enthusiasm of budding energies, its maturity of competent ability, its harvests of accomplished results, its joyful vision of greater things to be, its dear fellowships of sympathetic progress, its prized possessions of worthy riches, might go on and cross the stage again, that we might see the coming climax and sit the drama out.

"Look out," cried the axman, and the old man stepped aside just in time to escape the falling tree, while the dusk deepened into the darkness of New Year's eve, and he was lost in the gathering shadows.

But the street lights began to flash out a welcome for the New Year, a happy crowd came shouting down the street, through an uncurtained window joyous feasters could be seen and dancers floated about the room, from a brilliantly-lighted tent came music and the cheerful confusion of the riders upon the merry-go-round.

The old man paused upon the threshold of his home and looked off upon the expectant city for a moment, as he used to do, threw it a last kiss, and went in to lie down to pleasant dreams.

Jolliest Kind of a New Year's Day

That's What They Had Cleaning Up Mess After the Big Celebration.

By FRANK HERBERT SWEET

"O H. DEAR!" wailed Ella New Year's morning. "The house is a pigpen!" "I won't do it," shrilled down the stairs in Harry's voice. "Consist Jim John."

"But he's gone home, and you've got to—"

Albert slipped through the back door and out into the yard. Hot words were sizzling inside. He had a temper worse than the others. That was why he was trying to curb it.

For half an hour he walked around, considering the almost nervous wreck of Ella, or Harry, or Mary and of his mother in bed with a sick headache. There had been a house full of company for ten days, through Christmas week to this New Year day. It had been all hurrah and jollity.

Then the company whisked away. The mother went to bed sick with the strain. The rest watched the old year out. And now—

Albert had a saving side to see the funny and absurd point of what might almost mean a tragedy. When the hot anger cooled, the absurd angle took possession. He went back to the house and pitched in with a humorous but efficient energy that amazed the others.

"I tell you," snarled Ella to Harry, "that—"

"There's nothing like a joke to start the New Year right," sang Albert, as he slid a heavy chair into place that Ella had been waiting Harry's help to do. A table changed a few feet, several chairs moved back and forth, a violin and banjo caught from the floor and returned to their places, the carpet straightened, a dozen books slid back home. And then Albert stood back with cocked head and one eye shut, and surveyed the room.

"Now cloth and dustpan and commonplace brown. And we'll slide with honor out of the room."

"That's for you, Ella. Come, Harry, let's tackle the athletic stunts in the living room downstairs. That's a job for braves. Whoopie!"

"What's New Year but jolly fun. Clearing the track for a twelve-month run."

Harry was chuckling as they rushed downstairs, leaving Ella with a broad grin at the end of a broom handle.

When the young people desisted, late in the day, even the critical eyes of the satisfied Ella could see no suggestion of a "pigpen." Quite the contrary.

Yet none of them confessed to being tired. It had been the jolliest kind of New Year, all declared.

New Year's Static on a Foggy Night

What Seemed to Be Inauspicious "Start" Was a Feline Concert.

By ELEANOR E. KING

HE darkness hung heavily over the house, weighted down by a dense fog which reminded one of a huge blanket, carefully tucked in and about the neck.

A wail, long and hideous, rent the air. Distress was clearly portrayed in this weird sound. Another, but of a slightly different pitch, asserted itself. But why quarrel on New Year's night? A fine start for the New Year, I said to myself.

The air was torn asunder by the cries, ever increasing in loudness—in a lively crescendo until the higher voice of the two, clearly discernible because of its piercing quality, could stand the tension and strain no longer, breaking into a veritable hissing torrent. Suddenly their burst of raging madness subsided. All was quiet. I turned over, buried my head still further in the pillow and tried to sleep. The offenders probably did not know that I was busy ushering in the New Year until the wee small hours last night—no, this morning.

It was not as easy to lose consciousness when once the noise had ceased as I had imagined it would be. My brain was now very active. Sleep had vanished. Just why was it necessary to permeate the peaceful atmosphere with such unsmooth sounds? That question I pondered and prepondered. Of what interest to me was this disturbance? Sleep was more to the point. Then why didn't I sleep? A mournful howl, emitted by a neighbor's dog, died away swallowed and muffled in the fog. Chills ascended and descended my spinal cord in no uncertain manner.

This rudeness on a night when every one should be joyful over the New Year, was disgusting. I threw back the covers. With one foot on the floor, and the other waiting to follow it, I was ready to step into the quarrel myself. At that moment the cries again ceased. It seemed I was not needed. It was just as well I said, because I have heard that a mediator often turns the brunt of the attack upon himself—not that I am a coward, rather, merely, the influence of a "laissez-faire" attitude of mind resulting from drowsiness and loss of sleep.

I put my foot back again. The silence extended over a longer period this time. Once more I settled myself in preparation for sleep, for I concluded this time the cats had settled their dispute for the night. I never did care very much for cats. Naturally I had less patience with the quarrelsome, scratchy things that rent the peaceful calm, and foggy atmosphere on this first night of the joyful New Year.

Advent boxes must be returned next Sunday, without fail. Dr. Boyd made his usual fourth Sunday trip to Columbus, via Jordan, leaving here Saturday afternoon and returning Sunday afternoon. The extreme cold caused the doctor to have a chill after the evening service, but he was up and about as usual, on Monday morning.

The subject of Dr. Boyd's address for next Sunday evening will be, "The Tower of Babel."

Supt. Stansbury was under the weather on Sunday, and in the absence of Dr. Boyd, Mrs. Boyd acted as superintendent of the church school.

Mrs. John Miles spent Christmas in Chicago, visiting her mother.

Mrs. Sanders, mother of Mrs. Charles Binford, who has been quite ill, is recovering and receiving the congratulations of her friends.

The Trinity Church school held its usual Christmas Eve tree and exercises in the Guild Hall, Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock and was well attended both by the children and their parents as well as a number of interested grown people, who all enjoyed the exercises and the pleasure of the children in receiving their presents.

The program was in the hands of Mrs. Don Taylor and the children all acquitted themselves well in the rendition of their parts. The tree was very tastefully decorated by the ladies of the Woman's Guild, and many presents were distributed by Messrs. Don, Taylor, Percy McDowell and Ed Wade, who volunteered to act as aids to Santa Claus.

The singing of carols by the smaller children was a feature of the evening and the singers sang with vim and fervor that showed their appreciation of the occasion.

Ed Carden and Bob Binford are spending their vacation here with their families. The boys report they are well pleased with the University life at Lexington.

The two sisters of Mrs. Ed Heywood, Sr., are here from their respective homes in Jackson and Memphis, Tenn., and Harold Caldwell, of Long Beach, California and Robert Caldwell, of Chicago, nephews of Mrs. Heywood, are also in attendance at the bedside of the invalid.

Dr. Boyd, on his trip last Saturday, to Columbus, had occasion to view the big slide that occurred there recently, when a large slice of the bluff slid into the Mississippi river. The slide uncovered a relic of the Civil war, in an enormous anchor, measuring some 9 feet from tip to tip of the flukes and about 14 feet in the shank.

This anchor was buried during the war to prevent gunboats from passing up and down the river, and a heavy chain was attached, which was carried across the river on floats, to the opposite shore where it was properly secured. The links of the chain were much heavier near the shores, decreasing in size toward the middle of the river.

The slide covered between two and three acres, and made a wave reaching about 9 feet in height, that rushed across to the Belmont, Mo., shore, doing no little damage.

Howard Ray Stansbury,

small son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stansbury, who has been ill for the past ten days, is now able to be up and about.

Members of the vestry are urged to be present at the meeting Sunday afternoon, as this is the meeting when the year's budget is made up. There are other important matters to be considered at this time.

In spite of the bitter cold weather Sunday morning a fairly good crowd attended the services and listened to a splendid sermon by the pastor. Miss Mary Elizabeth Beadles sang sweetly at the morning service. The musical given by the choir, assisted by others, was unusually good and a fine audience heard them. The members of the congregation wishes to thank each one who helped to make it a success.

Rev. and Mrs. Freeman are having open house today, New Year's day, and will be at home to all the members and friends.

Miss Leona Evelyn Taylor will return to Nashville, Sunday to take up her school activities for another term.

Miss Ruth Parish, of Nashville, is the house guest of Miss Madge Taylor, on Walnut street, also Miss Leona Evelyn Taylor on Cleveland Avenue.

Miss Madge Taylor will leave Sunday for Bowling Green to re-enter school.

Misses Sarah Cotron and Martha Smith, who have been spending the holidays with home folks, will return to Nashville, Sunday to re-enter school.

MAUPIN-DAVIS

A pretty wedding was solemnized Christmas evening at the First Baptist church, when the Rev. C. H. Warren said the ceremony, uniting in marriage, Miss Phoebe Maupin to Mr. Wade Lewis Davis.

The bride is a pretty little social favorite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Maupin, while the groom is a young man of sterling qualities, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Davis, of Stamps, Ark. Mr. Davis was formerly student at Arkansas University and Vanderbilt and is a member of Cappa Sigma fraternity.

After the wedding a dinner party was given in honor of the newlyweds, at the home of the bride's parents, 200 College street.

Amid showers of congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Davis left on their bridal trip, visiting Memphis, Hot Springs, and other points of interest, before returning to their future home at Bradley, Ark., where Mr. Davis is principal of the Bradley High school.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Geraldine Kenny, Memphis; Miss Virginia Scott, Martin; Mrs. Morris Collins, Evansville, Ind.; and Dr. Russell Rudd, Cincinnati.

CAN YOU FILL THE JOB?

The Chamber of Commerce has received a circular letter from the United States Civil Service Commission, announcing a competitive examination for Assistant Chief Warehouse Examiners, at a salary of $3,800 per year to start with, and on promotion, to $5,000 per year.

The government is confronted with a shortage of competent men for this and other positions in the field of tobacco warehouse experts, and accountants, and is compelled to hold frequent examinations to fill these positions.

Competitors should be college or university graduates and have had at least six years' experience in either the buying, grading or other branches of warehouse experience.
