FULTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY JUNE 22, 1934.

NUMBER TWENTY-ONE.

NEWS BRIEFS

T. E. Eaker of Water Valley failed to see and hear the approach of a switch engine Saturday afternoon as he crossed the railroad at the Browder Crossing. His car was badly damaged and the occupants sustained injuries. Mr. Eaker is said by eye witnesses to have approached the crossing from the south side, and it is believed that he saw the switch engine after getting on the tracks and stalled his engine.

Mrs. D. H. Barnes, daughter of Mr. Eaker, was the most seriously injured. Other occupants of the car included Mr. Eaker, who was driving, Miss Amy Brown and Mrs. L. H. Kirby. All were taken to the Fulton Hospital for treatment.

A New Deal Trio made its appearance in the radio audition Saturday night in the persons of W. R. Butt, George Alley and Dick Hill. Are they hot? Then, you ought to hear Dick Hill imitate Bing Crosby.

Herbert Williams and Rhythm Orchestra are on their way. At least they are making headway in local performances. We'd like to see them participate in the celebration here July 4th. This fine group of musicians is composed of Herbert himself, with his big bass viol; Miss Nedra Martin keeps the piano dizzy; Jane Seates and Jane Lewis, violinists; Ernest Berninger and Paris Campbell, saxophonists; Richard Williams, cornetist; and Reginald Johnson, drums.

Maxie Harris, young colored man of this city, died Saturday following an illness of several months. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from Coles Funeral Home, with burial at the McFall cemetery two miles east of Fulton. Harris was well known here, having worked in several local barber shops and was employed as night porter at the Usona Hotel when taken ill.

Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was chosen president of the West Kentucky Baptist Pastors' Conference for the next six months, at a meeting held in Mayfield, Monday. This conference is composed of 80 pastors and a constituency of 10,000 members. The conferring of this honor on Rev. Warren indicates his interest and activity in the conference.

The home of F. J. Goodman, an employee of the Illinois Central railroad, was entered some time during the night Monday night by sneak thieves, who took his trousers containing a watch with chain and a $5.00 charm. The household was asleep and was not awoken by the intrusion.

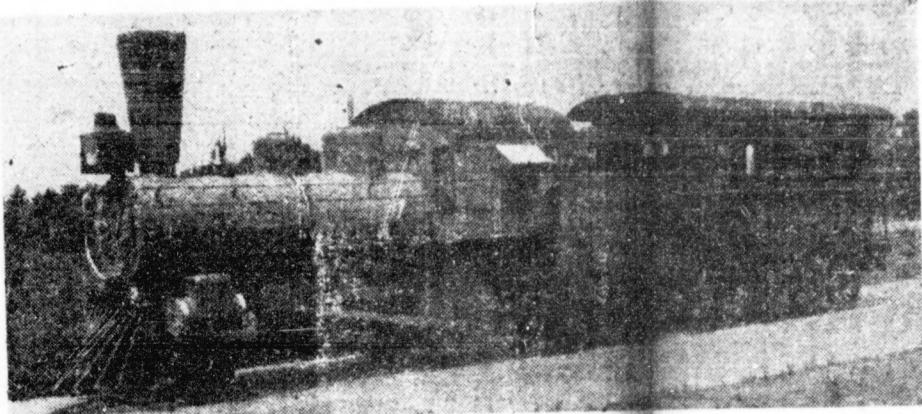

The Claybrook, Ark., Tigers were defeated at the Fair Grounds park here Tuesday afternoon by the Fulton Black Devils to the tune of 8 to 1. The local colored boys played a fast and brilliant game.

A birthday party was given in honor of the 55th birthday of W. H. Simmons, commander of the Spanish American War veterans, Kent-Tenn. Camp No. 20, at his home in Arlington, Monday night. About eighteen were present, including Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cowardin of this city.

OLD STAGE COACH WILL APPEAR IN PARADE HERE

In connection with the pioneer celebration here July 4th, in commemoration of the 80th anniversary of railway transportation in West Kentucky, an old stage coach first used for cross-country trips many years ago, is scheduled to appear in the parade. It is typical of those once used between Mills' Point (now Hickman) and Nashville, Tenn., and it is said that this particular coach was used for a while to carry passengers from Moffat Station to old Troy, Tenn., before that place secured a spur of the railroad. Troy at that time was the county seat of Obion county.

This old stage coach will be a curiosity, and this, along with the old pioneer train of pre-Civil war days, will draw thousands of people to Fulton on July 4th.

UNION CITY WILL DEDICATE BALL PARK WEDNESDAY

The new and magnificent baseball park and athletic field will be dedicated at Union City next Wednesday, June 27th. It has just recently been completed, and with its 1600-seat grandstand, 240 box seats, screen with heavy gauge wire protecting the fans, is one of the finest in West Kentucky and West Tennessee. The fast and colorful semi-pro Tom Patten Cats of Middle Tennessee are expected to furnish some stiff competition in the dedicatory game next Wednesday. Clyde Batts of Fulton, who has won a permanent berth with Union City, will be in the line-up.

M. The main speaker on the program was a representative of the Cotton Section of the A.A.A. at Washington. E. J. Kilpatrick, Assistant State Agricultural Agent was also a speaker.

MODERN TRANSPORT PLANE WILL BE HERE THE FOURTH

From pioneer days of our grandfathers to the fineness of modern aeroplanes!

Such will be the exposition to be given here during the Fourth of July celebration to be held in Fulton. Ray Vaughn of Indiana was in the city this week arranging for a field for landing purposes when he brings trim and new Waco plane here for the celebration on July 4th. The plane is of the newest design with steel propeller, cruises at 105 m.p.h. an hour, with top speed 120 m.p.h. It is powered with a 125 horsepower Kinner motor, and has brakes which makes landing safer. Harry Cressy, transport pilot, will carry passengers during the day, giving those who are air-minded an opportunity to see Fulton from the air. Vaughn stated that exhibition of stunt flying would be given during the day.

Sunkist Beach is located on the lower end of the Wash-out on Reelfoot Lake and is extremely popular for bathing due to its sandy bottom and accommodations. Hundreds of people have visited the beach this season, many of them from Fulton and vicinity. Mr. Moody is a very cordial and hospitable host, and strives to have those visiting Sunkist go away glad that they came.

KASNOW INTRODUCES NEW AD FORM IN ANNIVERSARY

In this issue of The Fulton County News, the L. Kasnow Dry Goods and Clothing Store of this city introduces a new and novel style of arranging his advertising in the newspaper. This type of advertisement is known as the pyramid design and was first used a few months ago by Heinz (57 varieties) Company, and later by some of the larger metropolitan stores. But this is the first time it has been adopted by a merchant in this community, it is stated.

Many attractive values are being offered in conjunction with his 15th anniversary sale. Mr. Kasnow said, and it will be worth your while to turn to an inside page and read his personal message.

The introduction of this new type of advertising along with the celebration of his 15th business anniversary with a harvest of values, is just another indication that Mr. Kasnow is alert to modern methods of merchandising and advertising in his efforts to serve the people of this vicinity.

tributing to the expense. They are truly representative of that fine spirit of co-operation necessary to the promotion of the welfare and interests of any community.

Personally, we are proud of Fulton—the hub of railroads and highways. We believe that greater things are in store for this city, and all that is needed to build a bigger and finer community is the continuation of that fine spirit shown in arranging this gigantic celebration.

We are calling upon every business in Fulton, and every individual who has an automobile, to participate in the parade. The committee in charge of the securing of floats for the parade is anxious to get as many floats as possible. Attractive prizes have been offered with a capital prize list of $150.00 and may the most beautiful floats win. It takes time and effort to arrange worth while floats, and it is vitally important that plans be laid immediately. It is necessary and important that as many floats as possible participate in the parade, and local firms and individuals are expected to do their part toward making the parade a real success. Cash prizes have been offered to encourage floats. Register today with Smith Atkins.

THE LIONS CLUB

Bailey Huddleston, local chief of police, was accepted as a new member of the club. Mr. Gregory of Hardinburg, Ky., was a visitor and talked briefly.

LOCAL TALENT PERFORMS IN RADIO AUDITION

The radio audition held at the Warner Orpheum theatre here Saturday night was attended by a packed house. Many of Fulton's outstanding musicians and artists were on the program, which was very interestingly arranged by Mr. Cole, the program director.

It is planned by Mr. Cole and the management of the theatre to have a group of the local talent put on a radio broadcast soon, provided sufficient support can be obtained here.

Glenn Lane Tells Why He Voted For The Sales Tax

WHY I VOTED FOR THE SALES TAX BILL

I wish to express through the local paper, as I did on the floor of the House of Representatives, my reason for having voted for the Emergency three per cent Sales Tax Bill.

Like most all the candidates for Representative through the State, I made the statement that I would vote against the Sales Tax Bill that had previously been before the Legislature and I was honest and sincere in that statement and thought it was in keeping with the wishes of the people in my district. However, I said in printed statements that I would reflect the sentiment of my people and in finally voting as I did I am convinced that that is what the people wanted me to do at this time. Changing conditions and much discussion on the subject caused people to see this matter in a different light and the overwhelming majority think it is the fairest method of taxation, as everyone will share the burden of the cost of government.

When a candidate for this office, I did not know that a bill would be proposed that would bring a lot of money into my two counties for the retirement of interest and principal on defaulting road bonds and road and bridge warrants, that would put the counties on a cash basis, that we would not have to continue to apologize for our county warrants. I did not know that the Federal Government would demand that our State put up three million dollars for relief work, that our schools would be bankrupt and that they might not operate but a short time, especially the rural schools and the State Teacher Colleges, including the State University would have to close that because of reduced tax assessments and delinquent taxes our State Government would collapse unless substitute revenue was provided. I did not know that these conditions would face me, neither did all the other men who were forced to break pledges in voting for the Bill realize that such a condition would confront us when we came face to face with the duties of the office.

I was a member of the Committee on Revenue and Taxation and for over five months have made a study of our State finances and proposed revenue measures. I was selected as one of the 18 members chosen from the one 138 members of the House and Senate to serve on the Interim Committee to consider these problems. We had at our command plenty of information in regard to these matters and it was the opinion of the Committee that a Sales Tax was inevitable and that it was the only safe, sure and equitable tax measure that would raise the required amount of money to save our schools, our State institutions, which are filled with over eleven thousand unfortunate people, to restore the financial integrity of the State, provide for the relief of the poor during the coming months and through next winter and assist the bankrupt counties. I was frank to say from time to time that for me to vote for the Sales Tax Bill after having made a foolish pledge would lose me many friends and that I, like all others, did not want to lose them; and so I voted against the Bill twice. In the meantime, I was receiving a virtual deluge of letters, telegrams and petitions asking me to vote for the Bill to save us in a crisis. The Fiscal Courts in both counties by unanimous vote asked me to vote for it, the Hickman County School Board, the Fulton County Farm Bureau, a great host of teachers and school people, as well as the unemployed asked me to vote for it. I was being told by some people back home that I was not acting the part of a statesman in a crisis and was not representing the wishes of the overwhelming sentiment of the people in my two counties, that I was a coward and fearing the criticism of just a few who for some reason thought it was going to hurt them and that I had voted twice to please a few, that I should vote once for the good of the masses. I could have voted against it again and perhaps prolonged an expensive session but it would finally have passed I am sure.

Wm. Jennings Bryan went to the Convention pledged to Champ Clark but because of conditions that arose voted for Woodrow Wilson, President Wilson, in making his second race, made it on the pledge of keeping us out of war; but because of conditions that developed, asked that war be declared soon after he took his second oath of office.

I will say that we were confronted with a dark and gloomy picture, much more so than the public can ever realize and we were indeed facing a crisis. It looked like this was the only way out; and had I come home with nothing done, the people would have felt like hanging me, and the criticism would have been awful. Some may think that the money could have been raised in other ways. Personally, I do not see how we could have gotten the required amount; but space forbids my going into a complete discussion of the matter.

According to last year's census, this Bill will make possible $48,692 for the support of schools in Fulton County, not less than $22,000 per year to go on the retirement of defaulting road and bridge warrants and road bonds; and this will enable the county to give further relief to overburdened real estate owners as you will see in time. The Real Estate Tax Reduction Bill will save property owners in Fulton County $14,800 and besides thousands of dollars will be poured into the county for the poor and unfortunate who because of the depression are on relief. This money for schools and relief will go into the channels of trade and will about all be spent with the merchants and will far offset any harm done by the Bill. It will balance the State budget for the first time in many years; will begin to reduce the state debt and put the state and counties on a cash basis.

I feel like I was released by the great majority of the people. I could never have gotten released by every person; but it is the majority whom I am supposed to represent. I received 5270 votes and represent nearly 24,000 people up here, took an oath of office to do my duty to my people and to my state, made a pledge to stand by the schools and to represent the sentiment of my district; and in voting for the Bill, I feel like I have done so, although a few may feel like I have broken faith with them. I will say that eight of the ten Representatives in the First District voted for the Bill, all of them were pledged as I was, except one, and he voted for the Bill and is a merchant. Six merchants in the House voted for the Bill three members of the House who are preachers voted for the Bill and they made campaign pledges as I did. The entire delegation from Louisville, with the exception of one man, voted for the Bill the two from Lexington, the one from Paducah, Bowling Green and others.

Why did they do this if they had not thought it the only thing to do under the circumstances? Why did nineteen states last year vote Sales Tax laws? It is not breaking the merchants of Michigan, Illinois, New York, California, Arizona, North Carolina, West Virginia, Mississippi and the other states. The facts we have acquired reveal this to be true and the State of Mississippi reenacted their law this year without opposition; and our law is patterned after theirs. I am most sure that five and ten cent articles will be exempted and that automobile dealers will be protected by further legislation.

I have been living in Hickman and each morning I have seen great numbers around the relief office. They are my friends, they were looking to me, they told me that they knew I would not fail them and sometimes as high as fifteen would come to me in a body to talk to me. They petitioned me to vote for the Bill. I have the petition in my possession and my conscience is clear as to my vote. I may lose some friends for a while, perhaps a few permanently; but next winter, the poor cannot say that they asked me for bread and that I gave them a stone, that I turned a deaf ear to the undernourished children, that I was weak in a time of need and failed to do my duty as I honestly saw it. I do not believe it will hurt a merchant. I certainly hope not, as I would not harm any of them knowingly. I believe that the people who were willing to go to the World War and fight, who were willing to observe the wheatless days, the meatless days, who denied themselves sugar and all those things, will be glad to cooperate in this time of emergency because they love their country and its institutions and that those who fancy they will be hurt will be agreeably surprised.

I received 35 telegrams from Fulton County within a few hours thanking me for my stand, assuring me that they were backing me and each day letters come in approving my action, and I appreciate it more than I can say. Very truly yours,

LET'S HAVE A PICNIC

Isn't it true that eating out of doors has a fascination for all members of your family? And that the food always appeal to the sharpened appetite created from out of doors activity, but just the good old staple picnic dishes in abundance, for they are sure to taste like nectar and ambrosia when eaten at a picnic table in the shade of a large tree. We feel sure we can guarantee a grand time whether the picnic is planned for the family, for a neighborhood get-together or even for parties when entertaining during the summer.

So many new gadgets have been developed for picnickers that one can dine in almost as much comfort out in the open as in the spacious dining room. Of course, the most important accessories are the comfortable picnic baskets. We find the new baskets offer many facilities for carrying even a complete hot meal, for there are compartments to keep food piping hot or refrigerated compartments to keep drinks refreshingly cold. And there is also a very attractive assortment of paper cups and plates of all descriptions which will add a gay note of color to the picnic table.

There are many of you who delight in cooking out of doors and you will appreciate the clever grills which may be used for broiling the steaks or roasting potatoes, and of course, the long handled forks are always handy around the picnic fire. You will particularly enjoy the recipe which is given below for Squaw Dish, a typical camp or picnic main dish.

We are giving a recipe for potato salad which very heavily includes the use of onion, for just as no picnic would be complete without a large bowl of delectable potato salad so does it take the onion to add the genuine flavor to this dish.

POTATO SALAD

3 cups potatoes, 3 tablespoons of onion, 1 tablespoon green pepper, minced; 3/4 cup diced cucumber, 2 hard-cooked eggs, salad dressing. Dice potatoes which have been boiled. Add minced onion, finely chopped green pepper, cucumber and egg, saving one-half egg for garnishing, to cool potatoes. Add salt, pepper, paprika and celery seed for seasoning, add salad dressing and garnish with rings of hard-boiled eggs.

SPAGHETTI MEAT LOAF

1 lb. of ground fresh pork, 1 lb. of ground veal, 2 lbs. of ground beef, 1 1/2 cups of cooked spaghetti, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs, slightly beaten. Combine meats and add remaining ingredients in order given. Shape into loaf, put in pan and lay six thin slices of bacon across the top. Bake in a hot oven 1 1/2 hours, basting every ten minutes, at first with 1/2 cup of hot water and later with the fat in the pan. Remove from pan, wrap in waxed paper and pack in picnic basket. Take along tomatoes to serve with it.

SQUAW DISH

Cut six slices of bacon in 1-2 inch pieces and fry until brown, add 1/2 cup of chopped onion and continue frying until onion has slightly browned. Add one No. 2 can of corn and when it begins to bubble, add three eggs, beaten slightly. Stir with spatula. Excellent when cooked over charcoal fire.

DEILED SANDWICHES

1 cup deviled ham, 4 hard cooked eggs, 1-2 cup nut meats, salad dressing, pepper, salt. Chop eggs and nut meats fine. Add deviled ham and salad dressing. Season with pepper and paprika as desired and add salt cautiously because of the saltiness of the ham. Add sufficient salad dressing to make a good filling consistency and spread on white or whole wheat bread.

NEWS BRIEFS

Hazel Hilliard, colored, who was arrested Saturday afternoon in Missionary Bottom by Policemen Huddleston and Dunn, was tried before Judge Adams Monday morning on charges of drunkenness and disturbance of the peace, and fined $10 and costs.

Howard Rawls, white, was arrested Sunday by the same officers on a charge of public drunkenness, and was tried by Judge Adams Monday, receiving a fine of $5.00 and costs.

As a result of a family quarrel Clanton and Cecil Burnett, sons of Jim Bennett, South Fulton negro, he wounded at their home suffering from bullet wounds. South Fulton officers state that the father and Cecil quarreled, and during a scuffle a pistol was discharged wounding Cecil in the head. Following this episode the father went for officers and as they approached the Bennett home, Clanton, the other son, came out and opened fire. Officers returned to fire, wounding Clanton in the side and Cecil in the leg. Clanton was operated on at the Fulton hospital following the shooting.

A former Fulton boy, Tommy Thompson, who made his stage debut as a magician recently under the stage name of George Thomas, is now scheduled to appear at theaters in Ridgely, Tiptonville, Obion and Greenfield, following which he will give performances in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Amos Ray, 72, died Friday afternoon at his home near Ruthville. Funeral services were held Sunday at New Hope Church by Revs. Bunn Ross of Martin and C. Q. Frey of Fulton. COTTON REDUCTION CHECKS RECEIVED IN FULTON

The first of the cotton reduction payments for Fulton County were delivered this week at the office of the County Agent in Hickman. These rental payments were received in 210 checks for approximately 75% of the cotton contracts, secured in the county and totaled more than $17,000. The first payments represent 50% of the rental on the land taken out of production. The second 50% and the parity payments are to come later.

Farmers, ginners, buyers, warehousemen and other agencies with old cotton on hand should see County Agent O. R. Wheeler for applications for hale tags with which to tag such cotton. Under provisions of the Bankhead law recently enacted by Congress, a tax of 50 percent of the market value and not less than five cents a pound will be placed on all cotton grown this year over a certain quota. Cotton on hand, harvested or ginned before June 1, 1934 will not be taxed, but must be tagged in order to distinguish it from cotton produced this year.

Persons or concerns having old cotton therefore should make application for tags at once, in order to exempt such cotton from the tax.

RECORD CROWD SEES NEW FAIR

Street of Villages Gets Big Play; Lights All New.

Chicago.—More than 235,000 persons saw the new World's Fair here on its first week-end. A record opening day crowd of 154,000 Saturday, May 26, surpassed last year's opening day figure by 34,988. The following day's crowd of 81,241 was greater by 28,557 than the same day in 1933.

President Roosevelt, through the medium of a motion picture shown at several points on the grounds, officially opened the Exposition. As he closed an electric switch the new lights blazed forth for the first time.

Visitors were surprised to find the Fair complete and fully up to the promises made that it would be new.

Light's Trace Sky Ride.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, first lady of the land, inaugurated the outstanding new feature, the world's largest fountain, the new President, she appeared in a motion picture. At a magical wave of her hand, the giant water-spouts rose from the north in green, fanned by a play of colored light.

Lighting the most talked of thing about the 1934 Fair, revealed wonders never approached on the 1933 opening night. Coordination of lighting and color were more in evidence. Under the lights the new Century of Progress purple red, theme color of the new Exposition, presented a glowing beauty that was different. Buildings, grouped with respect to color in light as well as color in paint, revealed a new harmony.

The Sky Ride, almost lost to vision at night formerly, greeted visitors with all its catenary system traced against the sky in electric light. Bright red neon tubes outlined the observation platforms 628 feet above the Fair. Further south, from the rotunda of the Ford building, a pillar of blue light 200 feet thick and more than a mile high, pierced the clouds overhead. The lighting load of this 100-foot-long building is more than one-third the total load of the entire Fair of last year.

Foreign Villages Popular. New lights in the wagon and a new "Aurora Borealis" of searchlights at the north end of the grounds, complementing that at the south end, completed the major changes in the night time illumination.

Mecca for the opening day throngs was the new Street of Villages. The "tour of the world in a single day" offered by the fifteen reproductions of far-away lands in the new Fair proved to be an idea that "clicked."

Eleven of the foreign villages are grouped together where the Midway was in 1933. Here are an Irish village, with the atmosphere that was known by the ancient chieftains who met in Tara Hall; the Spanish village, largest ever built for any Fair; Tunisia, the "Land of the Bedouins"; the Italian village, with its leaning tower and time-worn Roman ruins.

Free Entertainment.

Visitors saw the Tower of London and watched Shakespeare's plays presented in a reproduction of Shakespeare's original Globe theater in the English village; saw ice-skating under the summer sun in the German Black Forest Village; saw Old North Church, Mount Vernon, and the home of Paul Revere in the American Colonial village; relaxed in the luxury of a North African desert village in the Oasis; and to the charm of native folk dances in the lovely Belgian village, and entered the gaiety of Montmartre in the Streets of Paris.

Elsewhere on the grounds they found a Dutch village, a Mexican village, a Swiss village and the Streets of Shanghai.

Free entertainment projects caught big crowds. Among them were the concerts on the Swift bridge, the spectacular lion and tiger show in the Standard Oil amphitheater, the circus of the Lagoon theater, the seeming miracles performed in the Science theater and the many shows presented by exhibitors in the various exhibit buildings.

Fair Better Host.

Opening day throngs found that no exhibits remaining from last year were unchanged. Animation has been added everywhere. The Ford "exposition," altogether new, is a world of motion, showing the manufacture of virtually every part that goes into a motor car. Armour and company and Wilson and company, packers, have done much the same with their exhibits; so have the Continental Baking company, Hiram Walker, the Brook Hill dairy farm and others new to a Century of Progress.

Perhaps most important of all, visitors found the new Fair a better host. Eighty per cent of the tickets are free. Transportation and restaurant prices are lower and there are more free resting places for the weary, most of them where free entertainment is in progress.

Lex Blackburn attended the funeral of their sister last Wednesday near Blackford, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Collins visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Osteen near Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Algine Hay visited last Sunday with Miss Lula Pierce. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henderson moved to Fulton last week.

THINK IT OVER

POVERTY AND CRIME

In a concluding paragraph on the cause of crime, written by a convict there is this appeal:

"O, prison reformers! would you help us become better men and women? Would you see the steady flow into the precincts of these gray prison walls cease? Do you really want to see men honest and women virtuous, truly cognizant they were created in the image of their maker, then, O prison reformers, address yourselves to the problems of want among the masses."

On the side of this convict's philosophy, is the basis, and all will probably agree, the Christian view, the right view, of too much materialism, too much selfishness, too little effective humanitarianism, in society. The relation between the broad economic distress and crime-totals is known to everyone.

The tremendous emphasis which our industrial civilization puts on property rights, an emphasis that is constantly being challenged, rests upon the apparently correct theory that only thus can the social conditions of which crime is in some degree a symptom, be improved.

On the one hand, criminality must be punished; on the other society must grow more gentle. To see only one aspect can not mankind no where.

On the other hand, does society crucify individual sinners as an atonement for its own crimes? It is a comfortable doctrine for the convict, no doubt, to hold to, particularly if he possesses an "easy conscience." But the entire attitude may be termed "special pleading," and is brother to the Malthusian theory which attempts to dump the gross maladjustments of our economic life on a kind and beneficent Providence. At one fell swoop it wipes out morality taught by all religions, all good men and women who have come and gone—it truly puts us back to the dark ages when honesty was mocked, and the evil passions of man, unchecked by any fear of God's retribution, ruled the earth.

Does poverty breed crime, or is it that crime breeds poverty? As an excuse offered by some of those recently convicted of law violation for their actions, is the plea of want, of poverty. Will some great mind inform us just what is the relation between poverty and crime?

DO THE LAZY LIVE LONGER

Do the lazy live longer? The excessive worship of the great god Exercise will seem as weird to descendants as the excessive piety of our ancestors now seems to some of us. George Jean Nathan quotes the exercise slaves as exclaiming: "Look at the animals; they take a lot of exercise."

He himself has made certain researches to determine the truth or falsity of that assertion, and remarks: "The great majority of animals, as a matter of zoological record, take hardly any exercise at all."

Furthermore, the particular species that do go in for exercise are almost always those with the shortest span of life. The tortoise, the laziest creature on earth, enjoys the greatest longevity, 200 to 300 years. The elephant, a sluggish fellow, lives from 150 to 200 years. The swan, aristocratically languid, sometimes reaches the 102-year mark. On the other hand, we find that such devotees of exercise as the dog dies in from ten to 15 years, the squirrel in from ten to 12, the hare in from seven to eight, the mouse in three to four.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Russell and children will spend this week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts and family enroute from Paducah to Louisiana.
