AMERICANS CONSUME FOUR TIMES THEIR WEIGHT IN DAIRY PRODUCTS

A STUDY of American food consumption shows that Americans, on the average, eat four times more dairy products than the people of any other country in the world.

\[ \frac{52 \text{ pounds of milk}}{\text{per person per year}} \]

\[ \frac{54 \text{ pounds of cheese}}{\text{per person per year}} \]

\[ \frac{90 \text{ pounds of butter}}{\text{per person per year}} \]

The average American, on the average, consumes 52 pounds of milk, 54 pounds of cheese, and 90 pounds of butter. This is a large responsibility for the dairy products industry to maintain the quality of the products and to improve the methods of production. The study shows that the average American consumes almost double the amount of dairy products as the people of any other country.
