MURRAY

In this place we have not yet-any news, on account of the holiday, which is set aside, for the celebration of Independence Day, and have not had the opportunity to learn anything new. The town is in a state of quietness, and the people are all busy attending to their usual occupations. The weather is very pleasant, and the air is fresh and invigorating. The people are all in good health, and the town is in a flourishing condition.

THURSDAY

It is now the third day of the week, and the business of the town is going on as usual. The merchants are busy with their customers, and the farmers are busy in their fields. The most notable event of the day was the arrival of a new shipment of goods, which was greeted with great excitement and enthusiasm by the inhabitants of the town. The goods were of the highest quality, and the prices were very fair. The merchants have every reason to be satisfied with the results of their business, and the people are well pleased with the goods they have received.
