THE YELLOW GERM

New Orleans Doctors Have Discovered the Microbe.

The doctors in New Orleans, after a long and arduous struggle, have finally discovered the microbe that causes yellow fever. The microbe was discovered by Dr. H. C. Reed, who has been working on the problem for many years. The microbe has been found to be a small, colorless, thread-like organism, which is capable of causing yellow fever in man. The discovery of the microbe is a great step forward in the fight against yellow fever, and is sure to bring about a radical change in the treatment of the disease.
