Snow-White "Service With A Smile"

It Would Be a Pleasure for Henry to Visit His Ford Agency in Fulton

In our rounds over the city during the week, our attention was attracted to a neatly painted sign over the door to the entrance of the Snow-White Motor Co., authorized Ford dealers, reading, "Service With a Smile." It was about the most welcome invitation we had noticed in quite awhile and we opened the door to find one of the busiest places in town, and sure enough, we found the smile radiating from the faces of all about the premises.

We were warmly greeted by J. Ramsey Snow, the clever manager of the sales department, and member of the firm, who introduced us to a number of his smiling salespeople and employees, and before we knew it our face was wearing a smile too, because just about this time a handsome young man from the country dropped in to partake of the service rendered by this firm with a complete wrecking outfit, and when he learned that his car could easily be lifted out of the ditch at very small expense, he caught the smiling habit also.

"Service With a Smile," is the slogan of the Snow-White Motor company and when you buy a car you get a smile and the worth of your money, too. It is the same in buying parts and having repair work done.

Few people in Fulton realize what a gigantic business is conducted by the Snow-White Motor company. They occupy about 16,000 feet of floor space for their offices, parts department, salesroom, garage, repair shop and battery department with a working force of thirteen or more, as follows:

Chief salesmen—W. O. Stubbs, Clem Cooley and Ramsey Snow.

Truck Salesman—Guy B. Snow.

Tractor Salesman—Claud Vaden.

Parts Dept.—M. L. Rhodes Bookkeeper—Mrs. Lee Roberts.

Dearborn Independent and Enrollment—Miss Zelma Maupin.

Shop repair department—Arnold Mullins, foreman, Philip Humphries, Franklin Hall, R. H. White, general superintendent and member of the firm.

Battery Department—Percy Barnes.

It is very interesting to Ford owners to have Mr. White show and explain why it is necessary in the repair of Ford products to use the precision tools and equipment that you will find in the Snow-White Company shop. There is quite a difference between the genuine Ford parts and those manufactured by other concerns for Ford cars. Mr. White has had years of experience along this line and can explain everything in detail to your perfect satisfaction.

Perhaps Ford Truck owners don't know it, but the Snow-White Motor company are well equipped to keep the truck running with minimum loss of time. They stock more than $2,500 worth of truck repairs constantly and have special shop equipment for truck repair work.

Only expert mechanics with years of experience are employed in the repair department of this company. Arnold Mullins is a natural born mechanic with nine years' experience. Philip Humphries worked in the Ford plant at Detroit before his employment here, and with his six years' experience, is a most valuable man in the repair department. Franklin Hall, Ford mechanic ten years, can assemble a Ford car with his eyes closed and thoroughly understands the machine from A to Z.

Another feature worthy of special mention of the Snow-White Motor Co., is the Parts department in charge of M. L. Rhodes, with fourteen years' experience. Here you will find the largest stock of Ford parts in this section of the country. So well equipped is this department that they can completely rebuild a machine and make it practically as good as new.

Percy Barnes in charge of the battery department, is well known as the battery specialist, and with his fourteen years' experience, is worthy of the enviable reputation he enjoys.

In the office, Mrs. Lee Roberts has charge of the book-keeping and with her four years' experience for the authorized Ford dealers, is efficient in every particular.

Miss Zelma Maupin, the clever young lady representing the Dearborn Independent and in charge of enrollment, handles the work with all ease and takes care of the payments in a systematic way. After making several payments in the enrollment department, should the customer change his mind and not want a car, his money is refunded.

Just here, let us say it is an easy way to own a car and not miss the small amounts paid. The enrollment system gives the smallest wage earner a chance to own a Ford car.

As a salesman, W. O. Stubbs, with five years' experience, understands fully, the art in preparing the way for one to own a car and get "Service With a Smile." So does Clem Cooley and Guy Snow. They say "No distance is too long, no road too steep for a Ford or Lincoln. Wherever the spot be it will carry you thither, and then, untired and unimpaired, it will bring you safely back. Like an immense ribbon, curling and curving and undulating, the white roadway glides beneath you and disappears, only to open up new fields of beauty, new vistas of delight with which the senses are never sated. Unequaled for service, safety and satisfaction."

Claud Vaden, the efficient tractor salesman, with ten years' experience, would rather demonstrate the Ford tractor any time than to eat, if he has a prospect in sight. Don't believe us, ask him for a demonstration.

The large storage space of the Ford garage can accommodate many cars with perfect satisfaction.

If you want to see real salesmanship, ask Guy B. Snow, truck salesman, for a demonstration.

For the first time, $500 buys a closed car. While the Ford program of price reduction has been carried on, important refinements and improvements have been made. The latest improvements include new and attractive body lines, a lower center of gravity, closed cars in colors, all-steel bodies, new brakes and new style fenders.

The Snow-White Motor company will absorb immediately on all Ford and Lincoln cars, the two per cent reduction in tax which normally does not become effective until midnight March 28.

If you are looking for "Service With a Smile," visit this garage.

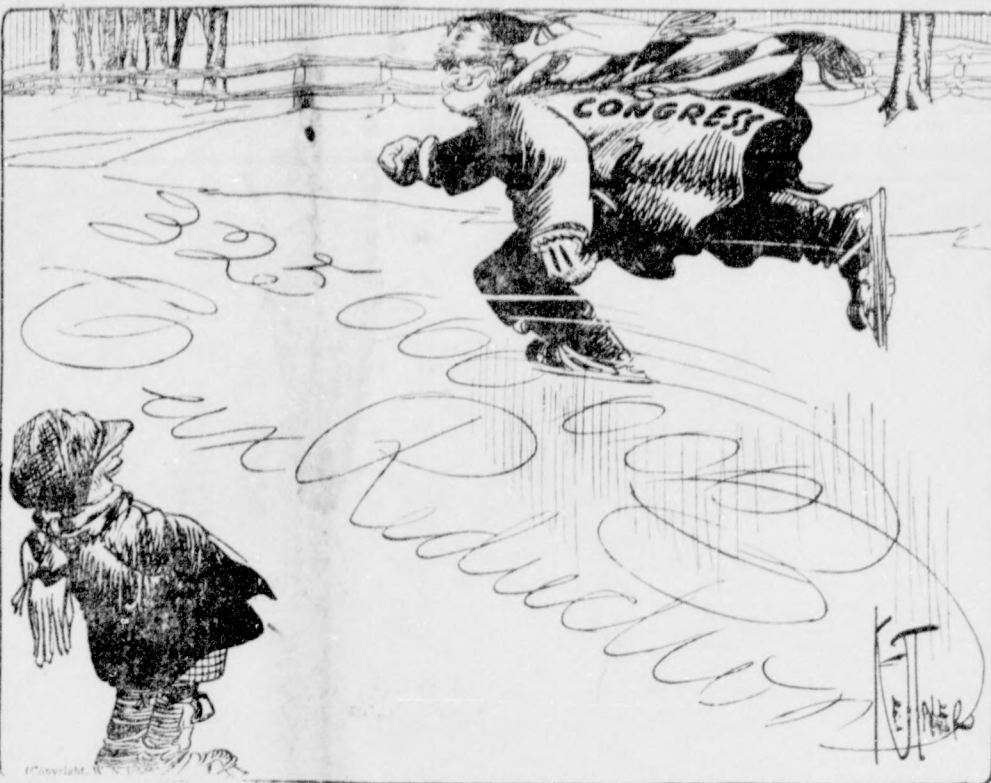

BEAUTIFUL OFFICE AND SALESROOM

The remodeling and beautifying of the front and interior of the local office of the Kentucky Utilities Company on Lake street gives this institution one of the handsomest places of business in the city. The beautiful electrical utility displays in the salesroom and windows have a charm of loveliness suggestive within themselves of their true worth and value. Manager C. E. Hardesty and his clever assistants are to be commended in their progressiveness and good judgment in beautifying their surroundings.

Nathan Alverson has returned from a few days' stay in Chicago, where he has been attending the exhibit of the National Railway Accessories.

Lions Easter Egg Hunt

For the Children at Fair Grounds April 4th.

An event looked forward to with eager anticipation by every boy and girl in Fulton is the annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Lions Club. They remember what a delightful time they had last year romping over the fair grounds looking for eggs and capturing prizes. The older ones remember too, the happy faces of the little ones in their search for the prizes, and will co-operate with the Lions this year in making their second annual Easter Egg Hunt, Sunday, April 4th, at the fair grounds a glorious success.

Let's Have Concrete Roads In Kentucky

A concerted movement to have the Mississippi Valley Highway concreted through Kentucky just as soon as the grading has reached the proper point was started in Fulton last Wednesday afternoon when a delegation from Clinton and Cairo met at the Chamber of Commerce with members of the Road committee and officers of the Chamber.

There will be a meeting held in the Court House at Clinton on Tuesday, March 23, at 7:30 p. m. when representatives from Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman and Fulton counties will organize and arrange for a meeting with the Federal Highway and State Highway Commissioners and present their demands for the concreting of the Mississippi Valley Highway through Kentucky, instead of graveling the surface, as is now contemplated, according to reports current among road fans.

Every citizen of these counties who believes in good roads should be present at this meeting and help to make the committee appointment present such an overwhelming sentiment that there will be no possible doubt in the minds of the highway commissioners as to the desires of the citizens of these four counties.

Safety Meeting

Supt. Williams held a division safety meeting in his office Monday of this week, which was attended by all officers and a number of employees, at which the matter of safety work for this year was discussed, and to renew interest in this matter with the coming automobile season. We would also like to remind the drivers of automobiles that with the spring weather not far distant, the auto-riding will increase, and with the hazard of grade crossing accidents will increase.

It was stated at the above meeting, that for the first two months this year, compared with first two months of last year, the grade crossing accidents had increased, instead of decreasing, as every one had hoped.

Improvement in Fulton Roundhouse

We understand that during the year 1926, some enlargement and improvements will be made at the shops at Fulton and a number of engine stalls will be added, as well as other equipment put in. It was not definitely stated just when this work would begin, but the opinion is expressed that the work will be done this spring and summer. With the entrance of the excavating work of the Edgewood line into Fulton in the spring, and the work on the new shops, should stimulate the business activities of Fulton. It was stated that regardless of the construction of the large shops at Paducah, the present shop and roundhouse facilities at Fulton would be greatly enlarged.

I. C. Orders Equipment

The Illinois Central has placed order for 2,300 drop bottom cars, and it is understood, will soon place orders for a number of new locomotives. We understand that 12 or 15 of these new locomotives are for use on the Edgewood line, as well as a portion of the other equipment ordered.

Big Terminal Chicago

The big electrical terminal that has been under construction for some time at Chicago, is about one-third completed, and it was stated that the end of 1926 should see the large project half completed. The project involves an expenditure of 95 million, and with the expenditure on the Edgewood line of around 16 million, brings the total expenditure on these two projects alone, to 111 million dollars, which the Illinois Central is making. This does not include the enormous sum being spent for equipment and improvements at other places.

School Notes

At the meeting of the board of education, Wednesday night, Vest C. Myers, superintendent of schools, was re-elected for the ensuing year. Principals Alexander, Davault, Fleming and Rose were re-elected at the same time. The teaching staff will be re-elected at the next regular meeting of the board.

The baseball squad are hard at work now under the management of Coach Maddox. The work is progressing nicely and much interest is being manifested. The schedule of games will be published soon.

Spring football practice under Dr. Hughes, was quite a success and we are very optimistic regarding next year's material.

The high school debating team composed of Robert Duncan, Mamie Bennett, and Alexander Inman journeyed to Benton, Kentucky, Friday and met the Benton debating team Friday night. The subject was: "Resolved, that the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution be ratified." Fulton represented the affirmative and Benton the negative. The decision rendered was in Benton's favor although the feeling seemed to be that Fulton made an excellent presentation. The team was accompanied by Mr. Caldwell, director of debating and oratory.

The Bible study contest, which has been running for six weeks, will close on Thursday. Many interesting talks have been made which were thoroughly enjoyed by the students. The average attendance has been better than ninety-two per cent.

The play cast are now hard at work on the high school play "Adam and Eva" which will be presented at the high school auditorium, March 25-26. This play is being sponsored by the director of student activities.

The photoplay "The Life of Christ," presented at the high school auditorium Friday night was well attended and enjoyed.

NEW FURNITURE STORE OPENING

S. P. Ethridge Furniture Company Displaying Beautiful

The opening of S. P. Ethridge Furniture Company's store, at 452 Lake street, Saturday, was an interesting event for lovers of handsome furniture and home furnishings. Notwithstanding the inclement weather many visited the store and viewed the pretty surroundings. Carnations were given as souvenirs.

The opening of this store gives Fulton three furniture establishments. S. P. Ethridge, the head of the firm is well known as an expert furniture man. Many years ago he was associated with the Joe Wade & Company furniture store and succeeded the late Ed Heywood as manager of the firm after his death. He was also a member of the Smith-Ethridge Furniture Company until some months ago, when he sold his interest to his partner, Pat Smith.

The opening of this store is quite an addition to the business district of Upper Lake street.

Band Concert

The band concert given at the Orpheum Theater, Tuesday night, under the direction of Bandmaster Sebra Evans, was an entertainment of unusual merit and was very much enjoyed and appreciated by an audience which well filled the theater.

Band 45 surely has made wonderful progress considering the time they have been organized, and demonstrated the fact that the secret of success in such efforts lies in the members continuing banded together as one body, and the fruits of their diligence in the art was enjoyed to the fullest extent. Tuesday night, as was evident by the applause after each number.

Some of Sousa's favorite numbers were also given by the band and was quite favorably received by the audience.

It seemed to be the sense of those present that Mr. Evans and Band 45 give a similar concert in the near future and Mr. Evans has expressed his intentions to do so.

YOU WILL BE PLEASED

Do not fail to see "The Winning of Latane," a play of exquisite beauty and style, which will be presented at Chestnut Glade High School auditorium, April 3, 8 p. m.

CHECK BLACKHEAD IN TURKEY FLOCK

Every year blackhead in turkey flocks becomes a little more common and every year the losses from the dread disease are a little larger. And while no positive treatment has ever been discovered, a remedy is being used by hundreds of successful turkey growers that proves very satisfactory if used before the fowls are in the last stages of the disease, says a writer in Successful Farming.

A slight lameness is usually discernible in a turkey coming down with blackhead. The bird gradually grows weaker, refuses to eat, but drinks an unusual amount. Diarrhea is usually present, and when the disease is in an advanced stage, the droppings are usually a bright yellow. The wings and tail are not held up. The head is drawn close to the body.

Sometimes the flesh parts of the head turn a bluish-black. If you are not sure whether it is blackhead or some other ailment that is affecting the bird, it will be wise to make a post-mortem examination. If the liver is covered with black or gangrene spots, it will not be necessary to look further for the trouble. You may be sure blackhead is the trouble, and begin treatment accordingly.

Powdered ipecac may be used either as a remedy for blackhead or as a preventive. We prefer to use it as a preventive, as any disease is better prevented than cured. When blackhead enters our flock it usually causes the greatest losses before the poulters are six weeks of age. For this reason we begin feeding the ipecac to the poulters as soon as we begin feeding mash. It is fed in a wet mash—one teaspoonful of powdered ipecac to enough mash for 20 turkeys twice a week. The same amount is given to the young birds and the mature fowls. This treatment will prevent blackhead entering your flock, though the youngsters are allowed to range with the older birds, and on infected ground.

If blackhead has entered your flock before treatment is begun, the sick birds should be fed half a teaspoonful of powdered ipecac in wet mash (for each bird) for three successive days. If the disease is not in the advanced stage it will not be difficult to remedy, but if the fowls are nearly dead when the treatment is begun, you cannot expect a large percentage of cures. Heretofore, the only cure for blackhead has been to move to new, uninfected land, and this is usually only effective for the first season.

Do You Remember?

The following questions which are put to the record flock keepers of Iowa by the Iowa State college are pertinent suggestions to all poultry keepers. "Do You Remember?" they say:

When milk ever spoiled the fertility or hatchability of an egg?

When a chick didn't make good growth when it has milk in its ration?

What a time you used to have getting a lot of early chicks hatched with hens?

When you had a mongrel flock and wished some one would come along and get you started with a good breed?

The time you had raising chicks on the old ground that had been used for 25 years without a change?

How your chicks acted when they were affected by worms and coccidiosis?

How you tried to fight internal parasites without new ground?

Poultry Facts

Milk in some form should be kept before chicks during the first month.

One of the things that our persistently sitters. The heavy layers do not waste time in broodiness.

Many chicks are not getting enough green feed. If they are not on range carry sod to them or fix up a feeder and give them cut alfalfa or clover hay. You'll be surprised how they will eat it.

Wheat treated with copper carbonate to prevent stinking smut is not harmful to chickens, at least if fed for only a short time. Neither is it harmful to hogs, when fed in small amounts.

Sunlight and cod liver oil are said to prevent leg weakness. So will getting the chicks onto the ground, either outside the brooder house or on banks of sod placed on the brooder floor.

Remember that heavy, sudden rains and floods do great damage to young poultry which are not given brooder housing under the right conditions. A house set low and open to rats and grain is a menace to the profits of the flock.

Slats Shed Like a Spading Fork

Solve your shedding problem with this slat moldboard plow. It's a sure shedder in sticky soils. If your solid moldboard plow will not shed, you need a

John Deere-Syracuse Slat Moldboard Plow 1471 Series

This plow works well in soils where any solid moldboard—chilled or steel—cannot be made to shed. It does good work in practically all conditions.

Plows of this series are exceptionally strong. The high-arched, double-beaded beams of high-carbon steel are guaranteed not to bend or break. Here's another big feature: the malleable standards are dropped, which insures the uniform shaping of each standard—the moldboard, shin, landside and share assembled on this standard, are held rigidly together; repair parts fit perfectly.

Syracuse chilled iron is the hardest metal used in plow bottoms—one deep-chilled Syracuse share will outlast two similar shares of other makes.

Come in and see this better plow and let us explain the interchangability of parts that means long life and uninterrupted good service.

OWNERS RECEIVE PAY FOR LIVESTOCK, POULTRY KILLED BY COUNTY DOGS

The Mayfield Messenger says: "Claims of forty-three stock and poultry raisers of Graves county were ordered allowed in county court yesterday. The claims amounted to $1160 and will be paid out of the livestock fund from the dog taxes collected in the county."

"During the past two years 137 turkeys, forty-five sheep, sixty-five chickens, nineteen geese, one calf and six hogs have been reported killed by stray dogs and claims filed at the courthouse."

"The livestock fund was exhausted for a while, but Graves county sheepmen petitioned Judge W. H. Hester to charge the March grand jury last year to indict all delinquent dog owners. This and the fact that the grand jury this month may indict all delinquents for 1926 has caused a rush on the sale of dog tags, and the livestock has been replenished. The claims will be paid soon, it is said."

"More than 2,200 dog owners in the county have paid the dog tax this year."

PROPER PLAN FOR RAISING TURKEYS

Turkey hens, chicken hens and incubators are commonly used to incubate turkey eggs. During the early part of the laying season it often happens that one has on hand a number of eggs that should be incubated before any of the turkey hens are through laying their first litter and become "broody." In such case, and also when it is desired that the turkey hens lay more than one litter, some of the eggs have to be incubated under chicken hens or in an incubator. About a week before the poults are due to hatch, turkey hens enough should be allowed to sit to take all the poults hatched. They can be given a few eggs from the incubator or from under the chicken hens and allowed to hatch themselves, or at night a newly-hatched poult can be slipped under each turkey hen that is to be given a brood of poults and by morning she will be glad to take them.

Lice are a great annoyance to sitting hens and are one of the worst enemies of young poults. To prevent their getting a foothold, dust the hen thoroughly with some good lice powder before she is placed on the nest and once a week thereafter while she is sitting. The nesting material should be kept clean, and if the eggs become dirty they should be washed with lukewarm water.

If the weather is warm and dry no shelter is required, as the poults do better in the open. Should it be rainy, however, they need to be protected, for nothing is more injurious than for them to become wet and chilled. The most satisfactory plan is to confine the mother turkey hen to a coop and allow the poults to run in and out whenever rain does not prevent. This coop should be placed in a field where they can run out and find grasshoppers, green vegetation, and other feed. The coop should be moved to fresh ground every day.

Turkey Hen Hunts Nest

Long Before She Lays

Long before she is ready to lay, the turkey hen goes nest hunting. She steps lightly here and there, peering into dark corners, into empty barrels and boxes. When she is ready to lay she goes direct to the nest she has chosen, and settles down. If we want our turkeys to lay in convenient places near by where there can be no question as to the ownership of the eggs, then convenient nests for turkey hens should be put out, and the hens allowed to find them.

When the turkey becomes broody, like a chicken hen, she should be allowed to sit on the nest for two or three days before she is given her clutch of eggs. While she is on her term of probation, dust her with sodium fluoride under each wing, around the thigh joint, over the back, under the body and around the vent.

Do not give her too many eggs. From fifteen to twenty are enough.

Chicken hens are inquisitive creatures. If the turkey nest is within reach of their prying eyes, they will disturb her; if necessary to shut the turkey hen in, she should be released at the same time, preferably in the evening, for food and exercise. The period of incubation is twenty-eight days. Fresh eggs will pip a little earlier than the older eggs.

Various Kinds of Green

Feeds Good for Poultry

Good kinds of green feeds are sprouted oats, alfalfa meal, chopped alfalfa and clover hay, cabbages and mangel beets. In ordinary cellars cabbages do not keep so well as mangel beets, so they should be used up first. Cabbages may be hung up in the poultry house; the beets are usually split and stuck on a nail in the side wall of the pen about a foot above the ground. Vegetables which have been frozen can be thawed out and fed to fowls, but do not keep well after thawing. Clover and alfalfa may be fed as hay, cut into one-quarter or one-half inch lengths, or they may be bought in the form of meal.

Oats and barley for sprouting are soaked overnight in warm water and then spread out from one-half to one inch thick on trays having perforated bottoms and put into an oat sprouter. Water the oats thoroughly and turn the trays around once daily to promote even sprouting. Artificial heat should be supplied in cool weather by the use of a kerosene lamp or by some other means. Use a good grade of oats and allow a square inch of sprouted oats surface per hen daily, feeding these sprouted oats on the floor of the poultry house or in the feed. Feed the sprouted grain at any time after sprouting.

Dry Hay for Hens

A measure full of dry hay shatterings or a wire rack consisting of a piece of poultry netting tacked to the chicken house wall and kept filled with the greener, more leafy bunches of hay will give the hens something to work at all day. It keeps the hens busy and satisfied, and it gives you a big amount of satisfaction to see the increase in the number of eggs gathered.

It is surprising what a quantity of the hay the hens can and will consume in this way.

Telephone Service Expands To Meet State's Growth

THE extensive telephone construction and replacement work completed in Kentucky last year is a reflection of the growth and progress of the State.

The result has been to improve and extend the service, to better care for present needs, and to prepare for the growth of the future.

Kentucky's telephone system has grown to the point where it now requires 183 central offices, 422,770 miles of wire, 8,519 miles of pole line and 410 miles of underground duct.

There was an increase of more than 5 per cent in the number of local and long distance calls last year, and the service rendered in handling these calls was of an exceptionally high order.

To render such service, maintain the plant and complete the new additions has required the co-operation of customers as well as the loyal efforts of a trained organization. Our happy relations with customers is a source of satisfaction and is reflected in the fact that in Kentucky there are 2,273 stockholders of the Bell System who own 53,515 shares of stock.

There are now 3,073 skilled telephone workers serving you in the Bell System in Kentucky, most of whom are native residents. They appreciate your friendly interest and share your pride in the advancement of our State.

More than $3,000,000 will be spent in Kentucky this year for additions and replacements. It is estimated that there will be a substantial increase in stations.

Skim-Milk Diet for Pigs Cuts the Production Cost

RECENT agricultural college experiments show that skim milk is the cheapest and best protein supplement for growing pigs, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Notable among these experiments was the one conducted at the Minnesota College of Agriculture, which emphasizes the importance of feeding the skim milk on the farm in producing cheap pork as another source of income to the dairy farmer. Ten pigs in one lot receiving tankage as the protein supplement required 307 pounds of corn to make a gain of 100 pounds at a feed cost of $7.79, whereas when skim milk was used in place of tankage ten pigs in another lot required only 201 pounds of corn to make a 100-pound gain at a cost of $5.48. At prevailing prices for corn and tankage, these trials gave 100 pounds of skim milk a feeding value equal to 11 pounds of tankage and 25 pounds of corn. Furthermore, the pigs receiving skim milk reached a weight of 83 pounds in two weeks less time than was required by the tankage-fed group and at a reduced cost of $2.31 per 100-pound gain.

JESUS DIES AND ARISES FROM THE DEAD

LESSON TEXT—John 19:17-30; 20:1-29
GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore doth the Father love me, because I lay down my life that I may take it again.—John 10:17

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ Dying for Our Sins and Rising Again for Our Justification.

1. Jesus Crucified (vv. 17-30).
1. The place (v. 17).
It was on a hill called in Latin Calvary, in Hebrew Golgotha, which in shape resembled a skull.
2. His companions.
Two malefactors (v. 18, cf. Luke 23:32).
This shows how completely Jesus was identified with sinners.
3. The inscription over Him (vv. 19, 20).
It was customary to place an inscription over the cross stating the crime for which the victim suffered.
4. Gambling for the garments of Jesus (vv. 23, 24).
This is an exhibition of how men's hearts were so callous as to plan and act for present gain under the shadow of the cross of Christ.
5. Utterances from the cross (vv. 25-30).

(1) "Behold thy son"—"Behold thy mother" (vv. 25, 26).
In this crucial hour He forgot His own bitter anguish and interested Himself in those He loved. Though He was leaving the earth and its struggles, He made provision for the dear ones left behind.
(2) "I thirst" (v. 28).
As the sinner's representative, He suffered not only untold agony of mind, but of body as well.
(3) "It is finished" (v. 30).
While no one can fathom the depth of meaning in these words, they do no doubt indicate (a) that the calamities and indignities heaped upon Him were at an end.
6. His death (v. 30).
His death was voluntary. With full consciousness that all things which He had come to do had now been accomplished, He dismissed His spirit.

II. The Resurrection of Jesus (20:1-29).
1. The empty tomb (vv. 1-10).
(1) The testimony of Mary Magdalene (vv. 1-2).
This woman, out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons (Mark 16:9; Luke 8:20), announced the fact of the empty tomb to Peter and John.
(2) Personal investigation by Peter and John (vv. 3-10).
The news of the empty tomb which Mary brought with breathless haste so moved John and Peter that they both ran to investigate.

(3) The manifestations of the risen Lord (vv. 11-29).
(1) To Mary Magdalene (vv. 11-18).
(a) Mary weeping at the empty tomb (v. 11).
Peter and John went home, but Mary could not—she stood weeping. She should have been rejoicing that the grave was empty, for the empty tomb was an eloquent proof of His messiahship and deity.
(b) Mary questioned by the angels (vv. 12, 13).
She viewed through her tears angels at the tomb, who inquired the cause of her sorrow.
(c) Jesus reveals Himself to Mary (vv. 12, 13).
She first saw angels, and then her eyes lighted upon the Lord. She did not recognize Him in His resurrection body, but His voice was familiar to her. As soon as her name was called she recognized Him and worshiped at His feet.

(d) Jesus forbids her to touch Him (v. 17).
This shows that she was now coming into a new relationship with Him. Besides, there was no time for such familiarity while the disciples were in darkness. "Go tell my brethren," was the message for her to carry.
(e) Mary's testimony (v. 18).
(2) To the disciples (vv. 19-20).
(a) When Thomas was absent (vv. 19-23).
He came to them with the message of peace (v. 19), showed His hands and side (v. 20), commissioned them (v. 21) and bestowed upon them the Holy Spirit (v. 22).
(b) When Thomas was present (vv. 24-29).
Victory over Thomas' skepticism was realized by the sight and touch of the Lord.

To Make True the Dream
The most valuable possession which Christianity holds for me is this conviction: That the task is unfinished, that the conflict is still on, and that it is my business to invest my life in such a way as to make true the dream of the Son of Man.—Edward A. Steiner.

SPRINGTIME CLEAN-UP

Springtime is clean-up time. It is the season when everyone feels the urge to take nature's cue and make everything bright and clean.

The spring clean-up is an individual matter. No amount of organization will bring about a spic and span community unless citizens feel a certain amount of pride in their own homes and surrounding premises.

Spring is at hand. It is not too early to begin to make plans for the job that comes annually when the grass begins to get green and the trees and bushes and shrubbery begin to put on their summer dress. Fulton has always been noted for its beauty. This is due first to a pride in our homes as individuals and secondly to a community pride that expresses itself in this manner.

A certain amount of cooperation from city officials is necessary, and it is always forthcoming, but most important of all, is a feeling that Fulton should maintain its reputation as a beautiful, home-like community.

"BLIND DAYS"

People who lived two centuries ago would enter upon no important enterprise during the first three days of March. They called them "Blind Days"—days which they regarded as devoid of the element of "luck" due to a superstition that had been handed down by their forefathers.

But everyone today recognizes that luck plays no part in modern business. Success is the result of intelligent planning and earnest effort. For the people who get ahead there are no "Blind Days"—either in March or any other month of the year.

People in this day depend upon the advertisement to direct them in their buying, to the end that they may get the comforts and luxuries of life to suit their needs at the most satisfactory prices.

Advertisements are an accurate index of what other people are buying, selling, wearing, eating, doing, learning; of what the world of industry is accomplishing for you, and how, where and by whom it is being accomplished.

Advertising keeps your information up to snuff on every article of human need, whether it be food, clothing, articles of household utility, necessities or luxuries.

COMMUNITY COOPERATION

Community cooperation is wonderful. Its absence is lamentable. Where there is no working together, you will find a backward community. With harmony, there is much that a community can accomplish. Without it, every attempt at improvement is wasted. One group of citizens can't better conditions if other groups are knitting them.

All people can't be expected to think alike, but if a spirit of give and take predominates, there is no reason why a common ground cannot be found upon which opposing groups can meet and work in harmony for civic development and moral improvement.

Turn this thought over in your mind. It may develop a better one.

THE BOOK OF LIFE

"The best teaching is not done out of a book but out of life." Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover told delegates to the National Education association convention in Washington. "I am sure that measured by this standard, it will be agreed that American teaching has been marvelously productive."

With this view many will agree, because teaching methods have changed in comparatively recent years. The products of the public schools are being measured more by their general knowledge than by their ability to read and write and solve difficult problems.

But teaching methods are still far from being on a platform basis. They vary in proportion to the number of teachers as each has his or her own ideas regarding how to teach.

Recently the New York Times asked seventeen well known educators in widely separated sections of the country what should be taught in the public schools.

None of the answers was in exact agreement although all thought that the teaching of character was of prime importance.

Though educators, both great and small, may not agree on the means to be used to produce useful citizens, it gives encouragement to know that character is being given first rank by educators.

The old-fashioned school teacher, of course, taught that character was essential in any life success, but this element was never emphasized as it is being stressed today. There is hope for the future in this very important factor in our educational system.

AN UNPROFITABLE SUIT

Friends of tobacco growers throughout the Black Patch will regret the efforts being made to throw the Dark Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association into receivership. It is not considered likely that a receivership will be granted because the pool is solvent. But suits for a receivership can only serve to make worse a very bad general market condition. The distressingly low prices prevailing on low and medium grade tobacco will only be aggravated by actions of this kind.

Those who are familiar with the excessive costs of the settlement of business concerns by court procedure will hope that a receivership will not be granted.

Our advice to member growers is to await developments as patiently as may be, giving the association management and directors a chance to market the tobacco remaining unsold to the best advantage.

There is much talk of an effort to reorganize the tobacco cooperative this summer. If there is to be a continued large production of tobacco, some kind of an organization is going to be necessary if stable prices are to be maintained. The best planned and managed association possible, however, will not be able to obtain fair prices for a large crop of cheap and medium grade tobacco. For the time being, at least, this type of tobacco is unsalable, except at starvation prices, and the wise grower is going to confine his production to a small acreage of the highest quality tobacco that can be grown. That course, and that alone, is the only avenue for satisfactory returns on tobacco culture in this section under present conditions.—News-Democrat, Paducah, Ky.

SUPT. MYERS RE-ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

The Fulton school board elected Supt. Vest C. Myers, present head of the city schools for another year at their monthly meeting. As principals Prof. Myers offered the names of H. J. Alexander, J. W. Devault, Mrs. Frank Fleming and D. G. Rose, and the board also elected them. The election of other teachers was not taken up at this time, being delayed until the April meeting.

BONDS ARE BEING PRINTED

The sewer bonds recently voted by the electorate of the city of Fulton in the sum of $70,000, have been declared valid by the bond attorneys, Charles and Rutherford of St. Louis, according to J. W. Hillman and company, local bond buyers, who purchased the entire issue. The bonds are now being printed and will be given to the mayor and city clerk as soon as finished who will sign same, making them legal. It is thought as soon as the money is turned over to the city of Fulton that the work will be let for the construction, under the supervision of Engineer Frank Wilcox.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR DIES AT END OF RUN

James W. Arnold Stricken Saturday at Cairo.

James W. Arnold, for 35 years a faithful employee of the Illinois Central Railroad and for 20 years a conductor on main line trains between Memphis and Cairo, died suddenly at Cairo, Saturday noon, a short time after he had finished his run on No. 2, fast Chicago train.

His body was taken to Paducah, Ky., and Sunday afternoon, laid to rest in the family plot there.

During the 20 years that Mr. Arnold ran out of Memphis he made his home in this city, and maintained a residence at 1618 Vinton Avenue, where his family received news of his death. He was 57 years of age.

He was apparently in good health when he started on his run Saturday morning. The train reached Cairo on time, and Mr. Arnold went at once to a hotel, where for years he had been stopping while waiting to make his return run.

He showed signs of distress as he started for his room, and a few minutes after reaching it, expired before medical aid could reach him. Heart trouble was assigned as the cause of death.

It is doubtful if the Illinois Central has ever had a conductor better known or more generally liked than "Jim" Arnold. He was the company's personification of courtesy, and his passing will be regretted not only by the hundreds of business men who made so many trips with him but by every class of rail employee between Memphis and Cairo who knew him.

Mr. Arnold was born at Paducah, where 35 years ago he entered the employ of the road as a clerk. He later was promoted to yardmaster, and then entered the train service division.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Arnold; two sons, Meyers E. of Tyler, Texas, and James Malcom Arnold of Memphis, and a daughter, Mrs. Justus C. Harper, of Chicago.

Two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Crouch and Miss Eva Arnold of Paducah, also survive.

Chestnut Glade

The tomato industry had made quite a start when the cold weather came, and we can't estimate the damage yet. Many tomatoes had been set in the cold frames, which are another type of hot bed. A frame of planks one to two and one half feet high, banked up with dirt all around, a layer of six inches or more of manure, covered with four inches of dirt finely pulverized. Tomato plants two to four inches high are set two inches apart. The bed is then covered with a heavy grade of domestic, made into a sheet to fit the bed. About 20,000 plants were brought into this community and set last week. Let me say here that several made their cold frames with several rows of tile underneath so that they may be heated. These are called "blue beds." Some are damaged in the cold frame, some in the hot beds here are ruined and I am told that Mr. Kirksey of Martin lost all that remained on his beds, amounting to over $800.00. Perhaps the damage will not be so great as we fear at present.

Mrs. Breeden is much better. Mrs. Bob Grubbs has appendicitis but hasn't decided to have an operation yet.

The Play "Home Acres," was presented at Ridgway's Saturday evening. Owing to the weather, not many came out so we very much hope they will decide to have it all over again as it is a very fine play.

"Not the oldest, nor yet the youngest; not the richest, nor yet the poorest; not the largest nor yet the least; but take it all in all, for men and women, for flocks and herds, for fields and skies, for happy homes and loving hearts, the best place outside of Heaven the Good Lord ever made."

Community Building

Paint Surest Weapon

Against Rot and Rust

Home is man's dearest possession. He who owns even the humblest of dwellings owes it two precious gifts—protection and beauty.

As a man of business he will not willingly see his property deteriorate. As a reputable citizen and head of a family he will wish his home to present an attractive appearance and be an asset—not a disgrace—to the community in which he lives.

Every house is beset by two insect-eratic enemies, which never take a vacation. These are rot and rust. For untold years they have been the bane of the homeowner, as they go about their ugly task of destruction.

The fingermarks of rot are most easily found on such places as window sills, sashes, door sills and the like; in fact, on any woodwork that is exposed to the ravages of the weather.

Cellar stairs and windows are another salient point of attack by rot because of the dampness to which they are exposed; while the deadly fangs of rust gnaw at the iron window gratings and the furnace door.

Paint is the surest weapon against these twin foes. By forming a water-proof film over structural materials, it keeps out moisture, and thus prevents rot from sending its fungus spores into cracks and crevices and porous surfaces. In like manner it checks the chemical action of the air upon exposed metals, which results in rust.

Clean Up Grounds

to Add to Beauty

If there is a garage, it should be located where it will be of most convenience, and will not be unsightly. The same thing is true of a driveway and of a service yard, for drying clothes. Space should be allowed for a lawn where children may play. If it is possible, space should be reserved for vegetable and flower gardens.

If the house is to be built, it is most important to start with a good lay-out in which these desirable points are met as far as possible. Standing trees should be allowed to remain and should be protected from injury during the construction of the house. As the excavation gets under way, the top soil should be collected and retained in one place, then spread over the surface of the lot evenly after building is completed and the lot has been finally graded.

If a finished house is bought as a home for the family, it is well to bear in mind that a great change for the better usually can be brought about by cleaning up the grounds around the house and at the borders, screening the back steps and improving their usual unsightliness with a trellis, planting vines to grow on the fences—if there are any—and planting flowers.

Every Community Can

Become "God's Country"

There appeared the other day in a newspaper an article on "God's country." It brought to mind the thought that one hears a great deal these days about "God's country." It is sometimes considered clever for one to remark, when asked where he hails from, "I'm from God's country."

Does not the sunshine fall more beautifully on the spot where one was born than anywhere in the world? Whether it be on a side street in a village, or the more pretentious brown front of a city, if it has one true "home" it is "God's country."

After all, "God's country" is in the heart. The true "God's country" is made by believing that home is the best place on earth, by attending to all of life's duties, by being just and fair with one's fellow men, by living life at its fullest wherever one happens to be.—Washington Post.

Cleanliness and Beauty

In striving for business, it has been suggested that Indianapolis should not overlook the rather obvious truth that quality also counts for much in the estimate of cities—and also in their livableness. To be a little more definite, beauty is a very important element, and in beauty cleanliness is an important factor. For cleanliness means health and comfort, and is also a sure indication of enterprise and prosperity. Much progress has been made along this line in the last few years, and Indianapolis has much to be proud of, but we have hardly yet approached the ideal. The individual citizen can do much—and he has done a great deal, but the chief reliance must, in this case, be on the government, which alone can look after the streets and alleys, and the city property generally.—Indianapolis News.

Give Contractor Time

It requires a certain amount of time to honestly and conscientiously do any bit of work, and this applies to the building trade in particular. Time allotted to contractors for preparing bids is usually determined by architects.

If an insufficient amount of time is granted for contractors to bid on buildings, the architect is imposing a hardship on the contractor, and at the same time his client does not derive the benefit of keen competition.

Tobacco News

There were 82,000 pounds of tobacco sold last Friday at the loose leaf floor, with a top price of $20.00, which considering the very unsatisfactory weather prevailing, was satisfactory to those interested.

Rejections were about average, and the growers received what should be considered satisfactory prices, considering the state of the market.

Only about 60 percent of the crop of this section has been delivered, so far, and the rush is likely to come pretty soon, if the weather should become better, and allow the hauling off of the balance of the crop.

The tobacco sale for Friday at the loose leaf floor has been postponed until Tuesday, March 23.

AIR DRIED CLOTHES FROM A MODERN LAUNDRY

The missing link to laundry perfection has been welded in the chain of modern equipment at the O. K. Steam Laundry, of Fulton. The Vorclone Tumbler, the Twentieth Century Laundry wonder has been installed.

It is the greatest laundry development in years. Because, now the modern laundry not only washes clean whatever you choose to send, but also duplicates in every respect the method of drying that the housewife has employed for time immemorial, namely, the hanging of the washing on the old-fashioned close line, to bask and dry in the glorious sunshine.

This new method of drying by air eliminates for all time that unmistakable odor which has branded the work of the power laundry in the past.

Thousands and Thousands of Cubic Feet of Concentrated Sunshine.

The scientific application of air as a drying agent in the power laundry is accomplished by the perfection of the Vorclone Drying Tumbler. This most wonderful machine harnesses clean fresh air in such great volumes that it almost entirely eliminates the necessity of heat to dry clothes with. It dries clothes by air, evenly and gently, ventilating them thoroughly, freeing them entirely of all lint, leaving them soft, fluffy and perfectly odorless. Clothes dried in this manner are never shrunk, discolored or left with a harsh feel.

The Vorclone Tumbler used in the O. K. Laundry is the only drying tumbler that does not depend solely on heat to dry clothes, it is the missing link in an otherwise perfect laundry-drying process.

Be sure to see this wonder machine at the O. K. Laundry anytime, feel and smell the clothes it dries, notice how fresh and sweet smelling they are.

For those who prefer to do their own ironing at home we now take the family washing and return it home clean and dry (not ironed) for 6 cents a pound. You will find many of the pieces so perfectly washed and dried that ironing will be unnecessary.

HATCH GOOSE EGGS WITH INCUBATORS

Goose eggs can be hatched with incubators even to better advantage than with hens for various reasons. Where hens or geese are used, they are apt to break the eggs, and again let them chill. The first eggs from your goose will arrive with the first cold weather still continues, and must be picked up early in the morning before they become chilled; geese invariably lay in the very early hours of the morning, or late at night, says a writer in the Rural New Yorker.

Keep eggs in a moderately warm location—around 30 degrees in cold weather. When you have sufficient number to put into the incubator it should be started. Goose eggs, like hens' eggs, hatch best when fresh, not more than ten days old. Place cold incubator in a moist, but not too damp cellar, as goose eggs will require much more moisture to hatch than that in the case with hens' eggs. Run the machine at as near 103 degrees as is possible from start to finish. Turn eggs twice daily after the beginning of the third day. Always turn goose eggs by hand; handle them with much care. Stop turning on the twenty-fifth day. Goose eggs should be cooled half an hour each day in a temperature not below 60 degrees. If the collar seems below this temperature, remove the eggs to proper point.

After the third week, sprinkle warm water over the eggs once daily. When goslings begin to pip, if you notice shells are dry and hard, there isn't enough moisture, and unless this is supplied, they will stick in the shells. Keep the eggs quite moist while hatching, by adding a pile plate of wet sand to the bottom of machine.

Leave goslings in incubator until all are thoroughly dry, usually 36 hours. Remove them to a box in the kitchen by the stove, unless a brooder has already been provided for. Goslings are easy to raise, and grow very rapidly. Water them in a vessel which cannot be overturned, nor into which they can get their feet. Keep them dry at all times. Feed sprouted oats, gravel, fine cracked corn, or any of the dry mixed chick feeds, but do not neglect always to keep water before them. Change this often; don't let it get dirty.

Mature geese may be picked, or "plucked" once every six weeks after the laying has ceased. Remove only the breast feathers—do not take the down. A little experience will tell you when they are "ripe." Do not take feathers that have blood in the quills.

Poultry Undernourished Under Farm Conditions

Poultry, of all farm stock, is most likely to be undernourished under practical farm conditions. Due to the nature of their digestive tract, their rations must be composed largely of seeds and seed by-products, feeds ill-balanced with respect to minerals, proteins and vitamins. As compared with other animals, the requirements of poultry for some of the vitamins are relatively so intense that their rations should be supplemented by feeds known to be rich in these factors. Vitamins are manufactured by plants only. Green plant tissues are with few exceptions the best sources of vitamins known, being rich in all these factors.

Young chicks are especially susceptible to a lack of vitamin in the ration and will develop the disease known as "leg weakness," including impaired appetite, an anemic condition of the comb and wattles, drooping wings, ruffled feathers and unsteady gait. Prevention of leg weakness is assured by giving the chicks ready access to green feed such as green cabbage or lettuce leaves, fresh alfalfa or clover or sprouted oats. If green feed is not available, 3 to 5 per cent of cod liver oil in the mash may be used. In the maintenance of health and normal development in the flock the importance of vitamins is undoubtedly much greater than is realized. Rations deficient in vitamins will give rise to digestive disturbances and other forms of vague ill health which can be prevented by supplying the necessary vitamins and adjusting the balance of the food.

Poultry Notes

The hen that cackles the loudest is not always the greatest layer.

A hen will eat from one to two pounds of oyster shells per year.

More eggs follow a ration that contains the minerals required by a hen than can follow simple grains.

It is generally considered proper, in fact, the best form, to refer to pure-bred poultry as being standard breed.

Because of plenty of room in the poultry house and less competition in getting feed, it seems to be more profitable to have two few hens than too many.

Washing soiled or dirty eggs does not make them more salable. In fact, washing an egg lessens its keeping qualities by opening the pores so that evaporation is more rapid.

Cows Lungs Cover City Lot

IF THE spongy sacks which form the lung of a cow were spread out flat they would cover a city lot 50 by 150 feet, according to an estimate made by experts of the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. To keep this mass of flesh functioning normally, over 3,000 cubic feet of fresh air are required each hour, which, served to cows in buckets as is water and grain, would mean 320 three-gallon pailfuls every hour for each cow.

A cow needs air (oxygen) to purify her blood, to digest and assimilate feed and turn it into heat, body repairing material and milk. Add to the well-ventilated barn a plentiful supply of fresh water, good roughage and a correctly mixed dairy ration, and you have all the essentials for abundant milk making. It is this lack of fresh air on many farms during the long winter months that is believed by practical farmers to be the underlying cause for much of the sickness among the animals.

Cow Works Twelve Weeks to Deliver Dairy Food to the American Table

TO FURNISH each American table with the whole milk, butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk and ice cream consumed in one year some dairy cow has to work twelve weeks to satisfy the appetite for these nutritive foods. This analysis of consumption is contained in a statement issued by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. This cow is the average of her kind in the United States, whose annual production of milk is 4,280 pounds, or about 500 gallons. For the twelve weeks she works for you her production of 998 pounds of milk represents the 53 gallons whole milk, 17 pounds of butter, 3.9 pounds of cheese, 13 1/4 pounds of condensed and evaporated milk and 2.58 gallons of ice cream you consume each year.

The per capita consumption of milk and dairy products is increasing each year as people become educated to the value of this greatest of all foods.

BIG STOCK BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

The stock barn on the farm of J. C. Stone, near Dukedom, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin last week. DESTINATIONS

"The officer is all wrong. Your Honor. I wasn't doing anything like sixty miles an hour."

"Were you watching the speedometer?"

"No, sir. I didn't need to. I wasn't in any hurry—I was just out for a spin. I wasn't going anywhere."

"Well, you're going somewhere now. Ten days."—Huntingdon Motorist.

Maddening

Wetwash—What drove the light-house keeper's wife crazy? Lonell asks?

Lonell—Not exactly. She was listening in at the radio while a big dry goods store ashore was describing a bargain sale for the next day.—Legion Weekly.

Gone

Brown—You seem angry about something.

Smith—Yes, this darned cigar went out.

Brown—Why, that's nothing. My daughter's young man called last night and a whole box of my cigars went out.

A Race Against Time

Mother—Why do you eat those ginger cookies so greedily? You have plenty of them.

Tommy—I know it. That's why I'm afraid my appetite will be gone before the cookies are.

Speed

Bill—Is Billings as fast as all that?

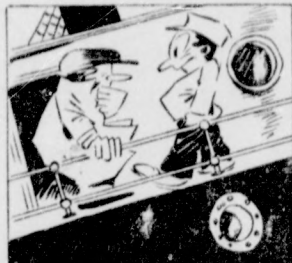

Hank—Should say so. He's so fast he can drink water out of a strainer.—Good Hardware.

Much Easier

The Husband—Good heavens, do you think I'm made of money?

The Wife—I wish you were, I could get you changed then!

HE GOT HIS

Timid Voyager—Steward, doesn't this ship tip a good deal?

Steward—No, sir, not that I've noticed, sir—she leaves that to the passengers, sir.

Fame by All of Us

Although I am very modest, yet I sometimes fear I am the only one in all the world who is not "queer."

Revenge

"Anything else, sir?" asked the barber of the customer who had been in a great rush.

"No. Wait a minute. Is that my wife waiting over there to have her hair trimmed?"

"Yes, sir."

"Give me all you got."—American Legion Weekly.

Unfortunate

The Prodigy's Mother—Of course—I know she makes little mistakes sometimes—but you see, she plays entirely by ear.

The Prodigy's Uncle—Unfortunately—that's the way I listen.

Hateful

Pat—Oh wouldn't throw ye a rope if ye was drownin'.

Mike—Oh wouldn't touch it if ye did.—Winton Advance.

Probably Not

Dad—Take things slower, my boy. Patience never cost anything.

Dutiful Son—Did you ever ride behind a slow taxi driver?

SHAKES IT OUT OF HIM

"How on earth do you manage to get Cholly to spend money on you?"

"Oh, I take him out in my little car and he loosens up."

The Modern Mother

What shall I do with such a child? She fills me with dismay. Today she tried to make mud pies. Out of my beauty clay.

Out of Character

Ham—That death scene was a riot. Egg—How's that?

Ham—The corpse got the hiccups.—Wabash Cavanaugh.

Good Idea, Though

Salesman—If rightly used, this washing machine will pay for itself.

ST. PATRICK'S TEA

One of the most attractive hospitalities on Fulton's social calendar for the week was the silver tea given by the ladies of the community service department of the Woman's club, Tuesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wade on Carr street.

Shamrock's and pipes were suggestive of St. Patrick's day, with spring flowers to accentuate the attractiveness of the home. Mesdames Chas. Binford and Jake Huddleston welcomed the guests and standing in line with Mrs. F. D. Worth, the chairman of the department were Mrs. Ramsey Snow, Mrs. M. S. Burnett of Memphis, Mrs. Worth's home guest, Mrs. J. M. Walden, of Paducah, Mrs. Eli Bynum, Mrs. J. M. Culver presided over the offering tray, while in the sun room the newly elected president of the Woman's club, Mrs. J. E. Fall, and the retiring president, Mrs. J. C. Brann, graciously received, assisted by Mrs. Leighman Browder and Miss Hattie May Godtry presided over the register. The tea table was lovely in elaborate silver service, centered by a silver basket of fragrant white carnations with ferns and flanked by green tapers in silver holders, and silver trays of white and green mints. Mesdames Lon Jones and Sam Bennett poured tea while Mesdames R. M. Belew, Walter Valentine, Ray Brady, A. G. Baldrige, assisted in serving. Others assisting were Mesdames T. T. Boaz, Ernest Bell, I. H. Read, Hillary Alexander, R. H. Wade, Robt. White, H. H. Murphy, Misses Ruth Wade, Mary Anderson, Marjorie Carpenter.

Many called during the hours and a nice sum was added to the building fund. Music during the afternoon was contributed by the club's talented musicians and was greatly enjoyed.

A nice gift. Send The Advertiser to a friend one year—only $1.00.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

On Wednesday, though bleak and disagreeable, the members of the Music Department of the Woman's Club found the home of Mrs. Clarence Maddox on State Line Road very pleasant. Cheery fires and blooming plants made the visitors forget the day.

The program for the afternoon was "Form and Design in Music," given by Mrs. J. M. Culver, assisted by Miss Blanch Waggoner, giving illustrations on the piano, with round table discussion by the members. After the interesting program, for diversion, a contest of "musical terms" was enjoyed, and which caused much merriment.

At the close of the afternoon a delicious salad course with spiced tea, was served.

MRS. L. O. CARTER GIVES PRETTY PARTY

Mrs. L. O. Carter entertained the members of the Thursday bridge club at her home on Vine street.

A green and white color scheme suggestive of the St. Patrick's season, appeared in the table appointments. The trophies for high score went to Mrs. Guy Snow, while Mrs. Rex Finch won the consolation. A lovely luncheon was served at the conclusion of the games.

ARTHUR W. MORRIS DISTINGUISHED MASON

In the March number of the Masonic Home Journal, appears a biographical sketch and a splendid likeness of A. W. Morris, prominent Fulton merchant and Mason. In part, we reproduce the following:

"The election of Bro. A. W. Morris, of Fulton, Kentucky, to the office of Grand Steward of the Grand Council, R. and S. M. of Kentucky last October, has made his Masonic history of broad interest just now. Brother Morris has lived in Fulton all his life where he has worked faithfully and has shown that he has the good of the Order at heart. During the various vicissitudes of the lodge, which come to every organization, Brother Morris through his enthusiasm and consistent effort kept alive interest in the work. The tact and diplomacy which he always displayed and the brotherly sympathy which he shows for every individual has been appreciated by all who have come in contact with him. Just as Masonry stands as the unobtrusive assistance of the unfortunate, so Brother Morris stands as the typical Mason; innumerable kindnesses which have been done in the name of Masonry, can be traced to "Buck." "As an authority on Masonic Law, there is no better to be found, any question in dispute can be settled by the word of A. W. Morris. The dominant characteristic of this estimable brother, however, is his genial nature, every acquaintance of Brother Morris can call him a friend. Not only in life can he be depended upon, but in sickness and death alike also, is he faithful. For almost all of our brothers who have passed on, Brother Morris has dropped the sprig of acacia.

"The record which follows is well known to many, but serves as a reminder of the constant and efficient service which he has rendered wherever his activities have been engaged. A. W. Morris is a member of Roberts Lodge 172, Jerry Moss Chapter R. A. M., 119, Fulton City Council R. and S. M. 63, Fulton Commandery 34 K. T., Kosair Temple, A. A. O. N. M., Karnak Council 2 Order of High Priesthood, Fulton Chapter 41, Order of the Eastern Star."

SOUTH FULTON

The motion picture entertainment, "The Life of Christ," given at the South Fulton High School building last Friday atternoon and again Friday night at the Fulton High School was very much enjoyed and appreciated by quite a large attendance at both the afternoon and evening programs.

A short comedy, "Apple Sauce," was first put on the screen, then followed the pathetic picture, "The Life of Christ," most vividly depicted from infancy through His earthly ministrations, even to His crucifixion, transfiguration and ascension, with the explanatory scripture quotations alternately thrown on the screen. It was a worthy sacred lesson, full of pathos and impressive thought.

Community Store

The Community Store, conducted by the Woman's club, promises to surpass all enterprises of this live organization.
The store will be held this year,
March 29 to April 3rd, in the building recently vacated by Fry's Shoe store, in the old Opera House block on Main street.

All local merchants have been solicited, many factories and wholesale houses, and club members are busy getting together usable articles, so when the Community Store opens, many bargains will be ready.

In addition to the store,
lunch will be served on Friday and Saturday of that week, so let all Fulton be prepared to help make the Community Store a success and swell the building fund for the Woman's club.

TELEGRAM SENT TO GOVERNOR FIELDS

The State Legislature recently passed an appropriation for $10,000 each year for the next two years for free beds in the State tuberculosis Sanitarium, and A. T. McCormick, State health officer, sent out notices to all the nurses, asking them to obtain as many signatures as possible to a petition to the governor to sign the bill.

The letter was not received here until Saturday, so that there was little time to obtain any number of signers, but the matter was referred to President Kramer of the Chamber of Commerce, and on Monday the following telegram was sent to Governor Fields:

"Governor W. J. Fields,
Frankfort, Kentucky: We earnestly petition you to sign the bill providing for the appropriation of Ten Thousand Dollars for free beds at the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium. (Signed)
T. J. Kramer, President Chamber of Commerce, W. P. Murrell, Acting Mayor of Fulton,
Kentucky; G. G. Bard, President United Charities Association; W. R. Butt, President
Public Health Service."

Dr. McCormick, in his letter, called attention to the fact that "Kentucky is the only
State in the Union that has no free beds for its indigents suffering from tuberculosis."
