Frank M. Quirles, of Howell, Ky., passed through the city Tuesday on his way to Bowling Green, Ky. Mr. Quirles has had the misfortune to lose some valuable property in a recent fire in Bowling Green. — Clarksville Democrat.

The dull days have struck us and the people are living on the inspiration of humor. Dullness in the towns. Dullness in the country. Dullness on the railroads everywhere. The diligent work of the Signal Service supplemented by the Y. M. C. A. lecture on "Sunshine" seems to have been thrown away upon the fickle inconstant weather. It is blowy, snowy, rainy and chilly by turns, and sometimes comes whirling around the corners, screaming at the top of its cloudy lungs as if to remind one of the difference between a display of weather signals and the display of straw hats in the show windows. Everything is dull in consequence, the streets are vacant, farmers remain at home, collections are poor, and merchants anxiously await the fair weather which will bring them customers. The only lively scenes on the streets is when nearly six hundred children quit the Public Schools, at the close of recitations and bevy of little merry maids, headed and wrapped in dark gossamers, go clapping by like flocks of black-birds.

Death of Capt. Edwin R. Cook, Jr.

Wednesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock Capt. E. R. Cook died at his father's residence, on Seventh street, of pneumonia. The deceased was one of the most prominent young men of our city, and his death will be sorely regretted by a large number of friends. He was born in this city December 21, 1861, and was in his 25th year at the time of his death. He attended Maj. J. O. Ferrell's High School where he was an exemplary student. When seventeen years old he entered upon his business life and was eminently successful. For a number of years he was connected with the clothing house of James Pye & Co. He had the confidence and esteem of his employers, and he was so methodical in his business habits that he stood in the front ranks among the best business men of our city. He joined the local military company when it was first organized. In 1885 he was elected 2d Lieutenant and in 1888 Captain of Company D. He was an energetic, popular and promising young man, and it is indeed sad that one so young, with all the promise of a useful life stretching out before him, should be taken away before he had reached his highest state of usefulness. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church yesterday morning. Lieutenant John Feland arrived with part of Company D on the 10:30 train. They marched to the armory, which was appropriately draped in mourning, and after relieving themselves of their trappings, joined the funeral procession on Seventh street. The Company was composed of all the members of Company D and the cadets of South Kentucky College, commanded by Lieutenants Feland, Henry and Anderson. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Frank Buckner, Lewis, Campbell, Green, Ellis, and Sherwood Buckner, all in full dress uniform. At the church the services were solemn and impressive. Rev. J. W. Venable read a passage of Scripture and offered prayer, after which Rev. J. N. Prestridge delivered the funeral discourse. After the service at the church, the procession moved slowly to the city cemetery. The militia, with faces full of sadness, with arms reversed kept step to the muffled drum beat with solemn tread. At the grave the scene was sad one, and with the proper military honors the mortal remains of Ed. R. Cook were laid away to rest. The following order was issued Thursday:
HEADQUARTERS THIRD REGIMENT, K. S. G.,
BOWLING GREEN, KY., Apr. 1st, 1888.
Orders No. 2.
With feelings of profound regret the Colonel commanding is called upon to announce to the regiment the sudden death of Capt. E. R. Cook, Jr., Co. "D," which occurred at Hopkinsville, Ky., March 31st, 1888. Capt. Cook became a member of the State Guard on June 27th, 1882, enlisting in Capt. W. E. Smith's company. He was promoted to a corporal on August 24, 1883; then became a sergeant, and upon the resignation of Capt. Smith and the reorganization of the company was elected captain in June, 1885. In every position he has shown himself to be an enthusiastic soldier, taking a lively interest in all that his profession and regiment demanded, and was stricken down in the midst of his usefulness.
His family and friends have the tender sympathy of the regiment, in this their great bereavement.
As a mark of respect to his memory, the officers and men of this regiment will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.
By order of
COL. M. H. CRUMP,
1st Lt. and Adj't.

Buy Challenge Corn Grower, Horse Shoe brand, free from rock and other impurities. Purely an animal fertilizer. Every bag has a guaranteed analysis and this guarantee is good morally and legally. J. R. GREEN & CO.

Wilson & Galbreath have had their store room freshly painted and now their confectionery is as neat as a new pin. They carry a fine stock of goods nicely and attractively arranged.

Tobacco Grower, Horse Shoe brand, a fine animal fertilizer, no stimulant to the soil, free from rock, weighs light and guaranteed to have no equal as a tobacco grower. J. R. GREEN & CO.

Maj. John Stiles, who cut himself on the foot recently, while employed in his favorite exercise of chopping wood, indicating a painful wound, is fast recovering, although still confined to his house.

Miss Alice Hayes invites the ladies to call and examine her new stock of millinery. All of the latest styles in profusion. Rooms over Jones & Co.

The members of Company D, who returned from Greenwald yesterday, looked weather beaten and worn. They can now talk to the stay-at-home boys with the patronizing air of veterans; however, they smile a very broad smile when they tell you they will not return to the mines.

The old Morrill house, back of the court house, was the scene of a sensation yesterday morning. A colored man proceeded to whip one of the women of the house when she rushed out into the street in a frantic manner and soon a curious crowd collected to see what was up. The police made an investigation, but the man had skipped.

Mr. John A. Twyman, our efficient street Superintendent, has begun his spring cleanings. Main street from Fifth to Eleventh has been thoroughly scraped and his hands are now at work on Ninth street. He says he will continue the work till every street in the city is put in first-class order. Nothing so adds to the appearance of a town as good, clean streets.

Farmers report the growing wheat to be in remarkably fine condition in all parts of the county. One of the most promising pieces of wheat is a spot of two acres which after last winter's thaw and rain lay for three weeks under water one foot deep. It is well set, of a rich dark green, and growing vigorously. It is of the Red Sea variety and possibly came from one of the unfortunate Pharoah's commissary wagons.

BUGGIES, BUGGIES.—A large assortment of the best work made—with and without tops—wide and narrow tread. Every buggy warranted and prices lower than ever before.

J. R. GREEN & CO.
Cyrus Pryor, who was arrested and fined $2 for breach of the peace and $25 and 10 days in jail for carrying a pistol Tuesday, was put to work on the street Thursday. Cyrus did not like this feature of the programme, so he determined to escape. He asked street Superintendent Twyman to let him step into Hooser & Overhiser's yard and get a drink of water. Mr. Twyman consented. Pryor went into the store and walked to the rear end to where the bucket of water was, and then he stepped out of the back door and has not been seen since.

Mr. A. D. Rodgers, manager of Holland's Opera House, is well-informed on theatrical matters. In a conversation yesterday he gave an authenticated statement, that in April New York, Boston and Philadelphia will enjoy four nights each of the most powerful dramatic casts ever produced in this country, entitled the "Star Cast," composed of Edwin Booth, Sig. Salvini, Fred B. Ward, Mme. Janansek, W. J. Florence, Louis Aldrick and others. This is the greatest cast of actors ever brought together.

Just received a fine lot of stylish Spring goods, which I am going to sell at bottom prices. Gents' clothing and ladies' furnishing goods in all styles. Call and examine my goods and you will purchase.

M. LIPSTINE.
Don't fail to see the Nashville Students at the Opera House to-night. This troupe has a world wide reputation. The press of the country is unrestrained in its praise of the performance. "Mr. Leecher's platform in Plymouth Church was occupied last night by the Nashville Students, a company of eight colored men and women, who gave an entertainment of negro character singing and plantation melodies. At times the performers were dressed in full evening costume and at other times in plantation costume, but at all times they were melodious. The life-like characterization and singing of Miss Nellie Scott gave particular satisfaction to the audience. — New York Herald.

The advertisement of John R. Green & Co., appears in another column. The firm is prepared to furnish McCormick reapers, mowers and binders, Oliver chilled plows, agricultural implements, Horse Shoe brand fertilizer for tobacco and corn, Studebaker wagons, threshers, engines, field and garden seeds, farmers hardware and everything usually kept in a first-class house. Call and see them at their store, Main st. between 9th and 10th.

Religious.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
Preaching to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock by the pastor, L. W. Welsh. Subject: "The Root of Unbelief and Irreligiousness." Singing conducted by Prof. Daugherty. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Public welcome. No preaching to-night.

Dr. S. X. Hall, of Louisville, who has been conducting the meeting at the Methodist Church returned home yesterday. Under his ministrations twenty souls found their Savior and a general interest was awakened. The pastor has concluded to continue the services through next week, and will be assisted by Rev. J. W. Highman and Rev. F. B. Perry. He says he thinks his church is in the midst of a glorious revival, and that the work will be kept up until every effort has been exhausted.

Rev. J. N. Felix, who has been assisting Rev. J. N. Prestridge at the Baptist Church, will return home to-day. He has preached faithfully and well for two weeks, and his good work is known and felt amongst us. The meeting will be continued through Monday night, when further announcements will be made. There will be prayer meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock but no service to-night.
