MY TRUSTY CRITIC, COUNTY JUDGE WELLS.

My trusty critic, County Judge Wells, reminds me very much of the old adage which runs: "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." I can lead Judge Wells up to the truth but he will not acknowledge it. In fact he refuses absolutely to be even formally introduced. He seemingly prefers to heap upon me his maledictions: not in support of honest contentions, but with a malicious desire to do me personal injury. I am not afraid of the deadly poison he emits. His fangs can not pierce the honesty of Calloway county citizens and his venom will only return to inflict upon him the horrors and pangs of swift and sure retribution.

I aim to be as brief as possible in this my final article. I do not care to further contend with Judge Wells, who only makes accusations, unsupported by facts in answer to supported truths. It is my desire to indelibly impress upon my critic that, regardless of what he has said or may say, or what any man has said or may say in the future, I expect to entertain convictions, I expect to express them; I expect to conduct my paper upon lines of my own choosing; I expect to stand in my allegiance and loyalty to the tobacco association in the future as in the past, and when I see this organized body of wronged and robbed, laboring people assailed by a smirking, sneaking hypocrite I expect to brand him and warn them against his perfidy. My total annihilation of small moment, the maintenance of the tobacco organization is of vital, living, burning import to these people. If I can be of some assistance in the accomplishment of its triumphant success I have at least added a little to the measure of happiness that is justly due to the toiling masses.

I want to take up my trusty critic's last endeavor and give it some attention. At the very beginning of his article he says:

"Be it remembered that three issues of his paper were published criticizing my course before I saw proper to answer some of the base misrepresentations therein and never did I say a word through the press till he deliberately published the statement that the state guard were costing the county $6,000 and $7,000 per month."

Further on my critic adds: "You have told all manner of falsehoods about the cost bill I personally guarantee that the county shall not pay out one cent on account of the state guards being here."

I want the folks to read it over again and see who is really telling the falsehood in this matter. In the first place I want to again renew my offer of $50 for a copy of the Ledger in which I ever said Calloway county would pay the cost of the state guards. On the other hand I again quote from a letter published in the Courier-Journal of the 13th ult.: "Gov. Willson today addressed a letter to Adjt. Gen. Johnson calling attention to a law passed several years ago under which the night riders may be apprehended and punished and property may be guarded against injury or destruction, the guards to be paid out of the county treasury."

That comes from your twin saint, the tobacco trust loving governor, and if it is a lie he is responsible for it. But no look at this. In your yellow circular of the 29th you say:

"THE COUNTY IN ALL PROBABILITY WILL HAVE TO PAY FOR THE RENT OF THE TWO HOUSES

WHERE THE SOLDIERS ARE QUARTERED, BEDDING AND HORSE FEED."

My trusty critic said that and if it is not true it is not just to charge me with the falsehood. Now he personally guarantees that the county will not have to pay one cent of the cost. To be perfectly frank I must admit I have no choice between the trusty twins, Gov. Willson and Judge Wells, when it comes to a question of truth and veracity. I confess to a lack of ability to reach a conclusion regarding the payment of the soldiers from the above statements. However, I again charge that if troops were necessary the matter of cost was of small moment, and had Judge Wells refused to ask for them when he admitted they were necessary because the county might be called upon to pay the expense incurred, he would have displayed moral cowardice. If it was a question of dollars and cents it was not a matter of necessity. If he asked for troops believing the same would bear all the burden of cost and would have refused to make the request had the county been compelled to pay the cost he hasn't the courage of his convictions and is not a sincere man.

But Judge Wells said, as quoted above, that three issues of the Ledger appeared after the troops arrived before he saw proper to take any exceptions to any articles previously published. Now that was real funny, wasn't it? Lots of folks will wonder why. Follow patiently and see if this is the solution for the Judge's tardiness in the premises. The first issue referred to was that of April 2nd, containing only a news item regarding the arrival of the troops. The second issue was of April 9th in which was set forth conditions then existing as I saw them. I did not agree with Judge Wells regarding certain steps taken and I was entitled to an opinion and fearless enough to express it. What was said in that article was written in kindness and my critic has stated that he did not find objections. My paper of April 23rd contained a news item that I think aroused his ire. Judge Wells left Murray Sunday April 19th and went to Louisville. The object of his visit as published in the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times was to confer with the Louisville Law and Order League. Upon his return home it was stated that the law firm of which he is a member was retained to aid in the prosecution of men charged with night riding in this county. All of which was published in the Ledger as a matter of news. I did not, directly or indirectly, make any comment regarding his hurried trip to Louisville. I did not say he brought back trust money of Law and Order League money which which to pay himself. I do not know who employed him or what the fee is and nothing was said in my paper regarding the matter. But there is considerable human nature about an editor, and like most folks he has done a powerful sight of thinking.

Judge Wells enters into a very lengthy defense of the tobacco trust and says in connection, "Does it not seem strange that the tobacco trust would hire a lot of night riders to burn, whip and then hire me to prosecute them for so doing?" My very trusty critic is credited with the statement that money was sent into this county to hire men to engage in lawlessness. He does not openly charge that the tobacco association is guilty but when he defends the tobacco trust against the accusation he indirectly heaps upon the organization of growers the infamy and damnable shame of being the guilty party, thereby charging every man who is a member of the body as being party to the crime. I protest in the name of the oppressed laborer against such charges, I protest in the name of men who are as honest as Judge Wells and who have been held up in the open for years by thieves, lecherous thugs and robbers of the products of their sweat and toil. No, it is not strange to me that the trust would resort to any character of chicanery, deviltry or hellishness to accomplish the destruction of the tobacco growers' organization. But it is strange to me that Judge Wells refuses to deny that he is the beneficiary of this robber trust or its champion ally, the law and order league, to the extent even of accepting a pauper's sum to prosecute any character of Calloway county criminals. I have never charged that he is to receive a fee from any source, but I do charge that if he does or has accepted money from a trust or law and order league that it is tainted money, that it is stolen money, that it rightfully belongs to children of his own county who earned it slaving in a tobacco patch, and by so doing denied themselves of school privileges in order that they might not starve. It is blood money and will curse and poison.

But I want to pass on to some new features my very trusty critic has injected into his venom. He produces two affidavits in support of his poison. The first was made by Perry Meloon, who says:

"In discussing the situation at Murray said that seven men came to his office and discussed the advisability of making a raid on Murray."

Perry Meloon made affidavit to the above, and Judge Wells elaborated at great length upon the charge preferred. Perry Meloon is known to every man in the town of Murray and by many citizens of the county, likewise Judge Wells. There is not contained a word of truth in either of their statements. I submit the question of truth and veracity to the public without further comment.

Rad Waterfield made affidavit to this statement:

"Jennings said I can do one thing and they won't come and if I do another they will be here."

He said he overheard the above remark while I was in conversation with several gentlemen. Three of the men to whom I were talking have asked to be permitted to make affidavit in support of what I said, but I do not need a sworn statement to maintain a truth. If Judge Wells will accept I submit to any public explanation from S. L. Holland and will agree to publish the statement in my paper without comment or criticism. He knows what I did say.

But Judge Wells has but a single purpose in view, and that to intimidate and make men afraid. He has called men before him, like a Russian governor general, and assailed them because of expressed convictions. Even ministers of the gospel, men who proclaim the Prince of Peace, whose identity was purchased with trust money, have not been exempt. Upon one occasion a soldier was present and asked Judge Wells if he must arrest the man who was being reprimanded because of the expression of a conviction and the soldier was told "not this time, he seems to be a pretty good fellow." This is the twentieth century, a republican form of government, liberty of speech and the press were purchased at the cost of thousands of patriotic lives, and still a county judge would abridge that blood purchased liberty and rake of freemen cowed, intimidated subjects. I will not submit to such a yoke, and in the language of the great patriot, Patrick Henry, will cry out, "Give me liberty or give me death." Judge Wells if you believe what you charge against me, if I am guilty of even a portion of what you accuse, why is it I have escaped indictment? Why permit the freedom of the arch fiend, as you proclaim me, and attempt to stifle the expression of the less offending? The answer is plain. You do not believe your own charges.

The judge refused to attempt the proof of previous charges against me and for which I still offer reward. He wants the circuit judge to pass upon the question. The files of my paper are open to the public, but after a thorough search my critic failed to find support of the false charges and in his characteristic way evades further attempt to prove what he knows to be false.

Look and see from the following how he garbles every accusation. He quotes from my paper of April 9th:

"Seven men have been called upon on the east side of the county and were advised with like neighbor would consult with neighbor."

He can't even reprint the truth. Here is what my paper of the 9th day said. Notice what my trusty critic left out of the quotation, to enable him to make a false accusation:

"Seven men have been called upon on the east side of the county, AND BY THEIR OWN STATEMENTS, EACH CONFESSED THAT, NEITHER BY WORD OR ACT, WERE THEY IN ANYWISE MISTREATED, BUT RATHER THEY WERE ADVISED WITH LIKE NEIGHBOR WOULD CONSULT WITH NEIGHBOR."

The seven men in question made the statements themselves, and they were published over their signatures. However, Judge Wells did not think enough of truth and justice to reproduce the correct statement.

In conclusion I want to state to Judge Wells that he must answer for the presence of the armed force in this county. He may continue to have himself proclaimed the savior of Kentucky from hill-top and house-top, in valley and dale; garner all the glory and Calloway folks will still know. Hurl your abuse against the wall of truth, it will inevitably recoil to your complete condemnation. Continue preaching fidelity to organized labor and practicing hypocrisy. Sting the organized body of farmers with criticisms and suspicion. Heap upon me every false charge you can coin, but never forget, never, that "chickens come home to roost."

I owe allegiance to no man's dictates, I will continue my fight for the farmers and the tobacco growers' organization right or wrong, because I know the tobacco trust is a heartless and greedy combine of thieves and must be fought without mercy. I appeal in the name of the honest toilers for only even handed justice, they do not ask sympathy, they ask charity, and only ask to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow; and that a portion of the fruits of their labor may go into their pockets and not all into the coffers of the trust. I again deny that lawlessness is any part of the association, or that it is endorsed or condoned by the organization. I again denounce the hypocrisy that is practiced in high places; the parading of the wolf in sheep's clothing as the most damnable and traitorous conduct known to the world, and when practiced by one claiming allegiance and fidelity is doubly damnable.

On and up with the organization, I again repeat, till every plant of tobacco grown is pooled and sold for full value. Down and on down to the abyss of oblivion with the perpetrators of the influences of every character that are being hurled broadside at honest men striving in honest endeavor to unloose the shackles of trust tyranny that have been worn for years.

O. J. JENNINGS, Ed. Ledger.

HUNDREDS

Cheer Hon. Joel B. Fort, the Mighty Orator of the Black Patch.

Monday was a red letter day in the history of the tobacco association in Calloway county.

It wasn't a large crowd but it was a crowd of patriots who came to listen to the eloquence of the man who toils.

Hon. Felix G. Ewing came. This was caused by the east side of town, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers.

Mr. Ewing is not a great speaker but Calloway county growers wanted to see him, and greet him, and wish him God speed in the great work he is doing for the tobacco producers.

The silver-haired and silver-tongued orator of the Black Patch, Hon. Joel B. Fort, of Robertson county, Tenn., came and for two and one half hours held an audience that packed the Woodruff Opera House to its utmost capacity in wrapped attention.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Swann, who spoke for several minutes in defense of the association. He vehemently denied the charges preferred against the tobacco growers of this county and stated that he believed the charges were preferred thoughtlessly and not maliciously. He briefly detailed the record of the organization and told of its wonderful accomplishments.

The speaker seemed to be at his very best and as he plied the lash of criticism to the tobacco trust he was without mercy. His pleas for the association, its complete victory over the brigands who have robbed and thieved from the tobacco producers for years were eloquent and repeatedly brought tears to the eyes of his listeners.

He touched upon lawlessness that has occurred in the tobacco belt and showed wherein the association had repeatedly condemned it, and denounced as false the charge that the organization was responsible for its happening. He declared it was as reasonable to charge corrupt-ness to a christian church organization because some member was corrupt; as to charge lawlessness to the tobacco growers organization because a member was guilty of committing a crime.

The Louisville Law and Order League came in for the attention of the speaker. He declared it was an organization concocted by the tobacco trust and aided by the Louisville warehouse combine. Its object, the speaker said, was not the accomplishment of law enforcement but to again make possible and legalize robbery of the farmers who produced the wealth of Kentucky. He bitterly denounced a league organized in the name of law and order that would bind its members to the accomplishment of an unknown purpose with a secret oath. He compared lawless conditions in the tobacco section to lawlessness existing in the city of Louisville and expressed surprise that this benevolent league took no notice of the rottenness existing there but characterized any character of crime in the tobacco belt as anarchy. His denunciation of this trust aid society, parading under the mask of a Law and Order League, met with uproarious applause.

He showed wherein the farmer had been robbed of enough money on his tobacco to build a school house in every district in the Black Patch, to build a turnpike in the place of every mile of road, to build a church in every district, to pay every dollar of tax for ten years, and to clothe every child and send it to school for many years. He referred to charges that had been preferred against the tobacco government stating come. This was caused by the east side of town, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers, the betterment of the condition of the tobacco growers.

Mr. Fort spoke for nearly two and one half hours and was given the closest attention throughout the whole time.

The books of the association were opened after the speaking and about 1,500 acres of the 1908 crop were pledged.

Post Office Discontinued.

Fair Dealing, a postoffice over fifty years old, located in Marshall county between Benton and Birmingham, has been discontinued by the postoffice department. This is one of the old offices of that county, having been established there over half a century ago by Enos Faughn, who in his day was the most prominent merchant in that part of the county.

It is only a matter of time until the old country postoffice will be known no more.

TOO MUCH RESTRAINT.

The cause of the suspension of the Peking Gazette after bearing the whips and scorns of a thousand years of press censorship is no longer a mystery. It was when the editor received command not to use vigorous language in discussing the boycott that he forever laid aside his ancient and honorable marking brush with the remark: "We are done! We can moderate our language on the subject of transfers, the tariff, Denis Kearney and the Peking expedition hunting, but when it comes to the boycott, as for as it is vigor or bust! With this issue we bust!"—New York Sun.

If Dickens could come back and visit our offices he would wonder who was the office boy, when even that young man styles himself manager of the waste basket.

It is a noticeable fact that the higher up a man gets in business the less he cares for a title. We don't find anybody in Chicago who would call himself the royal chief porter.

April 1 was marked on old calendar as the "Memorial of Adam." The oratorals relate that Adam, when driven, charged his children to bury his body, embalmed with myrrh, incense and cassia, in the cave of Al-Kamir, near Paradise. When they quit the place they were to convey his body to the center of the earth, whence would come salvation to his posterity. This said to have been done by Noah and Melchizedek, who reburied him on the sacred hill of Calvary.

Young people are making the same mistakes in their appearance and disposition of many persons. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from the cheek which is roughly handled. The result is not only a disfigurement, but a loss of the charm of the face. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. The unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its beauty, as the general health suffers.

When there is no element of the health of the delicate woman's organs, so surely as the face can be established in its normal position, the face cannot be brought back to the last index and come back. Set among the troubles that beset mankind rheumatism is one of the most aggravating and suffering of all. "For over 20 years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman of Key West, Fla., "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands, so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife and I went to the drug store to get Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I rubbed with it and found that pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months. For sale

The grand jury of the county, Ky., severely condemn the practice of sending soldiers into the county without the consent of the civil officers of the county. As Judge O'Rear said in the beginning of the tobacco troubles, the people of Kentucky will not submit to the rule of the bayonet. Governor Willson has better take the side of the people in their fight with the trust.

Kelly.

Mrs. M. T. Moore is not well at this writing. Mrs. Parks, of near Sinking Springs, was buried at Pleasant Grove Monday. She leaves a large family and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her departure.

A large number of farmers of this section are done planting tobacco, but very little corn has been planted.

Childrens day at this place was well attended. The crowd being estimated at about 1,500. Special feature of the day was the collection. This prosperous section shows no evidence of the recent money panic, taking the collection as an index(?).

Gerald, the three-year-old son of Lee Freeman, died last week. Burial at Pleasant Grove. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

The editor of the Ledger needs no help from my pen in his great fight against the trusts and for the Association he is making through his paper, but will say that he is opening the eyes of the people of this county. The sentiment of the people of this section is for Jennings.

TOBACCO GROWER.

Three From Erin.

The team of ball players from the Emerald city of Erin came over last week and when they left for home Saturday night Capt. Davis and his Murray aggregation had three fresh scalps dangling from their belt. The first game resulted in a score of 12 to 4, the second 6 to 2, and the final game was won by a score of 7 to 1.

The visitors were a clever lot of youngsters and handled the leather sphere with considerable skill but were woefully lacking in ability to prevent the wool gathering in their heads.

Splendid crowds witnessed the game, and cheered the home team to victory.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

Come to Hundreds of Murray People.

There are days of dizziness: Spells of headache, sideache, backache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

H. M. Parks, living in Wisconsin, Ky., says "For twenty years I was a victim of kidney complaint. I was subject to headaches, and dizzy spells and at times was greatly annoyed by a blurring of the eyesight. During the day I was tired, and felt languid and the passages of the kidney secretions annoyed me especially at night when I was forced to arise several times. Whenever I caught cold it settled on my kidneys and the trouble was always more intense. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box, and after using them a short time I noticed great relief. I continued taking the remedy until I had used three boxes when I was completely cured. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store and am always glad to recommend them to others." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Judge Wells, of Murray, may be a great judge and a great lawyer and a great everything else that his admirers claim for him, but if he intends to keep up that newspaper controversy with Editor Jennings, of the Ledger, he would get much more glory out of it by getting some other fellow to do his writing.—Cadiz Record.

Drat you, g'wan and shet your mouth, Henry Lawrence. Aint you never bin a boy and lived on a farm, and aint you never throwed wet cobs at a goose's head? Well, aint it always been the rule for each feller to pick out a goose to throw at, and if any of the other fellows throwed at your goose it wasn't fair? You let our goose alone, we've got a whole passel of good, old, soggy cobs left yet.

Judge Wells, of Calloway county, is to speak in Hopkinsville by invitation of the law and order league. It is supposed that he will tell the people the size of that big, juicy fee that he is to get from the tobacco trust for prosecuting night riders in Calloway.—Cadiz Record.

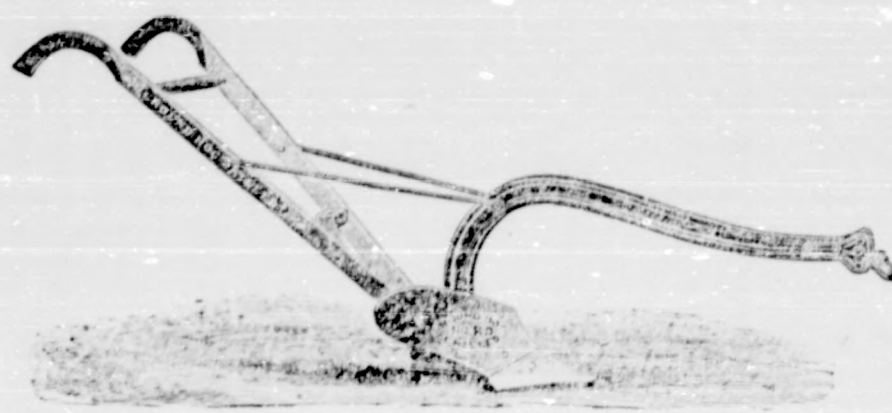

Be't'ye a little heedn't. Surely he'll not let the Hopkinsville law and order league something he refuses to tell us folks here in Calloway.

Miss Beulah Caraway and Jas. Curd were united in marriage last Sunday at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John Caraway, one mile east of town. Miss Caraway is a pretty young lady and much admired by many friends. Mr. Curd is an industrious young man and is well known and has many friends. He is a son of Mr. Jas. Curd who lives about two miles southwest of town.

Look Out Prizers.

Paducah, Ky., May 22.—John D. Scales, auditor of the Planters' Protective Association, who was in Paducah today, said that association prizers will have to stand the loss of tobacco which has spoiled and is unfit for sale. Competition between prizers caused tobacco to be packed in some instances in unfit condition, and the prizers have given bond to make good any defects by reason of packing under such conditions, and they must make good to their patrons any damage caused by their having prized tobacco out of order.

GROUND HOG CHILLED PLOW.

Do you like to get your moneys worth every time you trade, and treat the man you trade with good and nice, and make him feel good, and praise the article the article you buy? Now if you do you buy a Ground Hog Plow. It is the latest plow out, it has better suction, the repairs cost a good deal less than some other plows.

You will say that I have never tried one of them, and let us answer that for you, who was the first to try the Avery, the Oliver and the Vulcan plows? As time has moved on improvements have kept pace with time, and the GROUND HOG CHILLED PLOW is the very latest plow out, and has improvement above all the rest. So to see this plow is to buy it, so if you need a plow ask your merchant to get one of these Ground Hog Plows for you, that is if it is not convenient for you to come to our store after it.

A. B. BEALE & SON, Agents for Calloway and adjoining Counties.

Z. T. Conner and family will leave next Tuesday for Oklahoma City, Okla., where they will take up their residence. Mr. Conner will engage in the real estate in connection with other business. We regret to see this splendid family leave Murray and sincerely hope they will find jointly a pleasant and profitable home in the West.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Louella Houston and Miss Rowena Williams returned last Thursday from Louisville where they are studying preparatory to entering the foreign missionary work.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, a single dose of Doan's Regulents is enough. Treatment cures habitual constipation. 25 cents a box. Ask your druggist for them.

Hughes, Ex's.

Bee Martin has taken charge of the J. M. Cole grocery, recently purchased by J. L. Martin. He has moved his family here from Paris and is occupying the Oury residence on North Curd street.

Little Herbert Wall went fishing last week while visiting his grandfather just east of town, and during the absence of his uncle, Stanley Wall, who was logging in a field across the creek in which the little boy was fishing, the child fell into the water and when rescued life was almost extinct. Dr. Wall who was near by worked with the child for some time before evidence of life was noticeable, and some time expired before consciousness was restored.

The residence of J. W. Denham, of Hazel, was destroyed by fire last Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown, as the family was absent from home at the time. Mr. Denham estimates his loss at about $2,000, partially covered by insurance.

A MATTER OF COMPLEXION

By DONALD A. FRASER

Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co., 1907

Minny hundreds of years ago, or maybe it was some time after there lived in Bally-ho-lattery, in old Ireland, a swate, young gerran named Mary McGonnigle. Now, I said she was swate, an everybody said she was swate, an so she was swate; but unfortunately she looked sour, terribly sour, an as a jug of milk after a thunderstorm. It was her complexion that got this swate gerran her sour look. Nobody can look swate if they look sour, that stands to reason.

For a long time, Mary never sayned to care whether her looks wuz good or bad; she just attended to her own bizness, which made her heart all the foiner, if it didn't improve her complexion. But, boy-an', boy, when she wuz goin' on 25, she began to see that all the rist av the gerrans wuz gettin' swatehearts, an she wud niver a wan.

"Ochone," she cried, "Am Oi to be condemned to be an old maid just because Oi'm not a beauty?"

There was a young man named Moike O'Flaherty that Jary tuk a great fancy to, an' she wuz soon head-over-heels in love wid him; but he niver fell in love wid her at all at all.

"Who could ever want to spind their days lookin' at a gerran wid a face like a rag-dum-mat?"

So he up an' married Jinny O'Toole, a gerran wid a pretty face an' nothin' behind it.

Poor Mary was all broke up at this, so she packed her things into a tinloose basket, an' went off to Dublin, to visit her aunt, an' tried to forget all about Moike O'Flaherty.

Her O'Flaherty, O'm gon' to get a divorcee."

"Ye can't git wan too soon fur me," sez she, "it's sorry Oi am the day Oi set eyes on ye, Moike O'Flaherty."

An' when Mary rayturned from Dublin wid her new complexion, Moike wanted the divorcee more niver. Sez he, "O'ell hev that divorcee, if Oi hev to go to Rosshia or Prooshia, or the North Pole fur it; an' then O'ell come back an' marry Mary McGonnigle. That Oi will."

He went to Dublin to git his divorcee, but the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to Rosshia;" an' he went to Rosshia, an' the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to Prooshia;" an' he went to Prooshia, an' the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to the North Pole." So he set off fur the North Pole wid Jinny, an' on the way they happened to stop off at a place called Chicago.

Here they ran up forinist Pat O'Brien, a luv they used to know on the ould soil, an' he axed them where they wuz goin'.

"To the North Pole fur a divorcee," sez Moike.

"O ho, ye naydn't run so far," sez Pat, "ye kin git it, dirt cheap right here in Chicago."

In about a shak-done, did Moike's tail Moike an' Jinny's headin' fur the Chicago ju-jury's court.

"What'll ye be wantin' a divorcee fur, Mr. O'Flaherty?" sez the judge.

"Beau-ave don't look each other," cried, both at wance.

"O ho, ye hev some stronger reasons fur that," sez the judge.

"Well, Moike's mustache doesn't match me parlor carpet," sez Jinny.

"Place, yer snivel, Jinny, snivels in a different way to what Oi do, an' the dishevels wake me up."

"O terrible, terrible," sez the judge, "ther cud niver be any harmony in such a household. Yer divorcee is granted. Fifty cents, please."

So Moike went back to ould Ireland, a free man, an' Jinny married a wifthy pork packer, an' snivled in Chicago.

Wid Moike got back to Bally-ho-lattery, he went innaghty to see Mary, an' told her he was a free man wance more, an' wanted to marry her.

"Moike! O'Flaherty," sez she, "O'm niver wantin' anny siccend-hand goods to-day, thank ye."

Poor Moike was heart-broken at this reception. He had not expected to be treated like that.

"But Oi love ye, Mary," sez he.

"Moike," sez Mary, "wance Oi had no complexion, an' ye didn't love me; now Oi've got a complexion that ye are in love wid. O'ell let ye it, Oi can do something else wid it."

"What can ye do?"

Madam whispered in her ear: "Oi can kiver it up."

"What wid?"

"Enamel."

"Kiver it up wid enamel, or plaster, or paint, or white wash, or any-thing ye like," cried Mary, "as long as it looks different from what it is now. Oi'm sick an' tired av it."

"Ye won't know yerself when Oi'm t'rough wid ye," sez madam.

Then she set to worruk, an' by-an-by, when Mary lift the shroud, her own mother wouldn't hev known her. She had the swatest pos-an'-white complexion ye ever saw, an' dark, languishin' eyes, an' lips a rosy red; the kind that wozes an' other soft folks rave about.

A picture she wuz inlaid. When her aunt saw her she wuz delighted, an' tried to kiss her; but Mary wouldn't let her, for fear she'd crack her new complexion.

Thin Mary packed up her duds, an' went back to Bally-ho-lattery, an' ye may be shure, her arrovial made a sensation in that village.

What tomes there wuz fur Mary now! Where she had niver a swatehearts before, she had a hunderd now. Every night such crowds av lads came to see her, that there wuzn't room fur them all in the house. They wuz hangin' around the dure, an' peekin' t'rough the winda's in hopes av catchin' a sight av beautiful Mary.

Long before this Moike O'Flaherty an' his wife had begun to quarrel. They found out after they wuz married, that they wuzn't suited to each other, at all, at all; which they should hev done before they wuz joined up by the praste.

(There's more nor them in the same fix, Begorry. Oi believe in lighthly engagements myself). At last Moike did injure it no longer. He sez, sez he:

"There's no livin' wid ye, Jinny O'Flaherty, O'm gon' to get a divorcee."

"Ye can't git wan too soon fur me," sez she, "it's sorry Oi am the day Oi set eyes on ye, Moike O'Flaherty."

An' when Mary rayturned from Dublin wid her new complexion, Moike wanted the divorcee more niver. Sez he, "O'ell hev that divorcee, if Oi hev to go to Rosshia or Prooshia, or the North Pole fur it; an' then O'ell come back an' marry Mary McGonnigle. That Oi will."

He went to Dublin to git his divorcee, but the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to Rosshia;" an' he went to Rosshia, an' the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to Prooshia;" an' he went to Prooshia, an' the judge sez, "Ye'll hev to go to the North Pole." So he set off fur the North Pole wid Jinny, an' on the way they happened to stop off at a place called Chicago.

Here they ran up forinist Pat O'Brien, a luv they used to know on the ould soil, an' he axed them where they wuz goin'.

"To the North Pole fur a divorcee," sez Moike.

"O ho, ye naydn't run so far," sez Pat, "ye kin git it, dirt cheap right here in Chicago."

In about a shak-done, did Moike's tail Moike an' Jinny's headin' fur the Chicago ju-jury's court.

"What'll ye be wantin' a divorcee fur, Mr. O'Flaherty?" sez the judge.

"Beau-ave don't look each other," cried, both at wance.

"O ho, ye hev some stronger reasons fur that," sez the judge.

"Well, Moike's mustache doesn't match me parlor carpet," sez Jinny.

"Place, yer snivel, Jinny, snivels in a different way to what Oi do, an' the dishevels wake me up."

"O terrible, terrible," sez the judge, "ther cud niver be any harmony in such a household. Yer divorcee is granted. Fifty cents, please."

So Moike went back to ould Ireland, a free man, an' Jinny married a wifthy pork packer, an' snivled in Chicago.

Wid Moike got back to Bally-ho-lattery, he went innaghty to see Mary, an' told her he was a free man wance more, an' wanted to marry her.

"Moike! O'Flaherty," sez she, "O'm niver wantin' anny siccend-hand goods to-day, thank ye."

Poor Moike was heart-broken at this reception. He had not expected to be treated like that.

"But Oi love ye, Mary," sez he.

"Moike," sez Mary, "wance Oi had no complexion, an' ye didn't love me; now Oi've got a complexion that ye are in love wid. O'ell let ye see it when Oi am t'rough wid it. Good-day to ye, Mither Moike! O'Flaherty, Esquire."

When Mary thought she had had enough fun wid the lads, she looked out Dinis Murphy, the ugliest, an' amestest wan av the lot, an' told him she would hev him fur her husband.

Dinis danced a jig fur joy, an' went to kiss her.

"No, no, ye don't," sez she, "ye don't kiss Mary McGonnigle till she's Missus Dinis Murphy."

"Why?" sez Dinis.

"Ye'll find out after we're married," sez Mary.

An' married they wuz. When they got home to Dinis's sing little cottage, Mary sez:

"Now, Dinis, ye kin kiss me."

Dinis gov her such a smack, that it cud be heard across the strate; but what wuz his surprise, when he saw her beautiful complexion all shivered into a thousand pieces.

Dinis cud do nothin' but shate at her wid his mouth open. At last he sez:

"Mary, ye've deavoyed me."

"All's fair in love an' war, Dinis, darlint," sez she. "Shurely it wuzn't me complexion, ye wuz in love wid, wuz it?"

Dinis wuz a good natured soul, after all, an' he soon began to see the funny side av the situation, an' he started to laugh so hard, he nearly tuk a fit.

"Ye're roight, Mary, me jewel," sez he, "it wuz yer swate little heart Oi wanted, an' not yer complexion."

Thin Dinis set to worruk, an' picked all the little posies av enamel all her face, an' Mary did thin up in a neat package an' sent them to Moike O'Flaherty wid this note:

Mr. M. O'Flaherty, Dear Sir, Enclosed ye will find the complexion I fell in love wid. Ye're welcome to it, but the next time ye take a fancy to a gerran, be shure it is one wid her complexion ye are love, because, that is sometimes raymonable. Believe me, Your friend,

MARY MURPHY.

Letter Written by Dead Man, and Known to Him Alone, Could Not Be Read.

Perhaps all the so-called messages from the dead come from living minds. I mean the minds of those about us. Dr. E. C. of a friend of mine, once arranged to go with a patient to have a test sitting with a very celebrated psychic who claimed to be able to read sealed letters.

Just before the appointed day Dr. E. C.'s patient died suddenly of heart disease, leaving a sealed letter on his desk. The doctor, fully alive to the singular opportunity, put the letter in his pocket and happened to the medium. The magician took it in his hand and pondered. At last he said:

"This was written by a man who in the spirit world, I cannot read it. There isn't a medium in the world who can read it, but if you will send it to any person anywhere on the planet and have it read and revealed, I will tell you what it is. I cannot get the words unless I am in the earth plane has absorbed them."

That would seem to prove a sort of universal mind reservoir, wouldn't it? Isn't that a staggering hypothesis?—Hamlin Garland, in Everybody's Magazine.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—this is their work.

Then, for, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in its full and one-dollar size.

Bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Write to Dr. Kilmer, when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on every bottle.

CHUNN & HICKS, MURRAY, KY.

Pottertown.

Health in this community is very good, no deaths or marriages to report.

The Sunday school at Pottertown is progressing nicely, with good attendance and a great deal of interest shown.

It has been reported that some person, or persons, is intending to put dynamite under the church here and blow it up on account of the Woodmen hall being up stairs over the church. Some think the night rider band was organized in the Woodmen lodge. I would say to those who contemplate such an act, you had better investigate the matter before going so far with it. Some of our best citizens belong to the Woodmen and you should ask them about it. Mr. Joe Skinner and other good citizens, if such a thing as organizing a tuberculosis club was ever mentioned in the Woodmen Hall. There are a great many strong association men around here, who are as much opposed to night riding and lawlessness as any of the county officials. God forbid that we shall have any more of this trouble, and may we live in peace is my prayer.

Notice.

All parties indebted to the estate of E. F. Ryan, dec'd, and to the firm of Ryan & Hughes, are hereby notified to come forward and settle at once.

A goodly number of our farmers set tobacco Friday evening after the fine rain.

Jim McDaniel, of this place, returned home from a visit to Missouri and has set his tobacco, also bought him a buggy. Some girl will stand a chance to go driving.

Farmers are complaining considerably about cut worms this spring.

Last Sunday was regular preaching day at Bethel, our pastor being absent Bro. Mack Pool filled his appointment. There was a good crowd and Bro. Pool delivered a good sermon.

R. J. Wells and family spent last Wednesday night with B. C. Wells.

Jim Curd and Miss Beulah Caraway were united in the holy bonds of matrimony Sunday morning Bro. Pool officiating. We extend to them our happiest congratulations.

Mr. Kinner is visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Joice.

Never Without Pe-ru-na in My House

So Writes Mr. C. G. Convers, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

There Are a Multitude of People in the United States Who Have Been Restored to Health By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

There are a multitude of people in the United States who have been restored to health by the use of Pe-ru-na. There is no use trying to deny this fact. As a rule, doctors dislike to admit it. There is now and then a courageous doctor who does admit it, however. In such cases Pe-ru-na is prescribed by the doctor himself. Even though the doctor suffers pecuniary loss by such a transaction his patient is benefited, which ought to be the doctor's chief concern.

We do not claim that doctors generally prescribe Pe-ru-na, but we do claim whenever Pe-ru-na is intelligently prescribed it rarely disappoints either the doctor or patient.

MR. JAMES P. BRACKEN.

Nasal Catarrh and Indigestion.

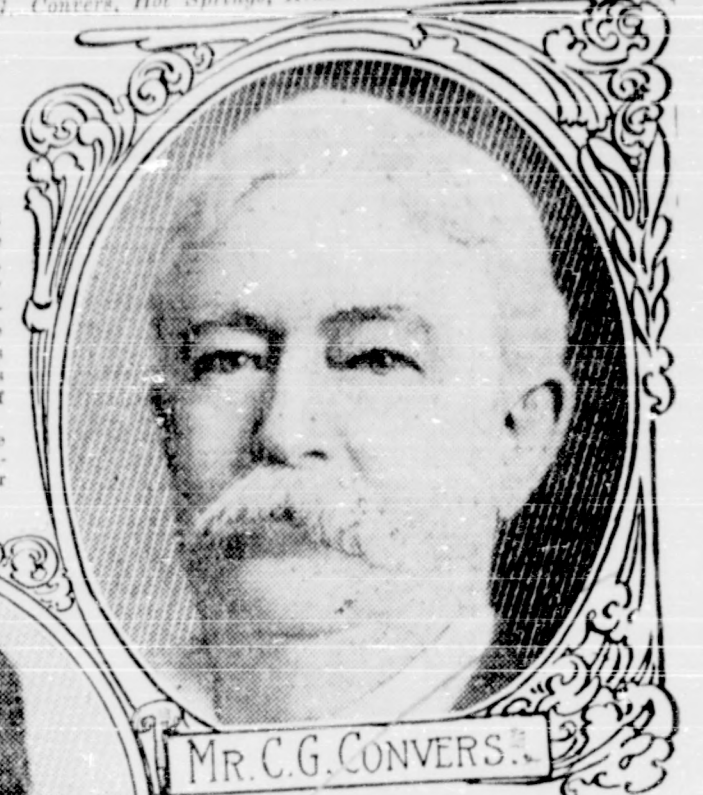

Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 Tenth Ave. He is Post Deputy of Grand Knights of Helga Celia Council Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times, also, I was advised to take Pe-ru-na and I took it as prescribed for a month when my catarrh was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Pe-ru-na cured me."

Kidney Disease.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1115 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member L. O. O. F. and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to your splendid medicine, Pe-ru-na. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Pe-ru-na. I soon found I was getting better, and continued taking it for four months. It cleared out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

Mr. C. G. Convers, Pres. Cold Storage Ice and Coal Co., Hot Springs, Ark., writes: "I had been troubled with a very serious case of catarrh for a number of years. Having tried many prescriptions by good physicians, I found myself no better."

I have, perhaps, in the last three years used a dozen bottles, which have kept me from the trying troubles of catarrh. I am never without a bottle of Pe-ru-na in my house."

"I am always gets relief from colds and indigestion if you have Pe-ru-na."

Catarrh of Bladder.

Mr. Michael Rooney, 28 Fifth St., Watervliet, N. Y., writes: "I had known of Pe-ru-na years ago I should have been saved much suffering. Under carelessness and exposure in my younger years my system got into a very bad condition before I was aware of it."
