Civic Interests of Fulton Encourage Railroad Support

In this issue of The Fulton County News, the editorial department states that an organization has been formed for the purpose of promoting a railroad to be built between the northern and southern points of the county. The organization is working to encourage the construction of a railroad that will improve transportation and economic development in the area.

Rev. C. H. Warren Quits Pastorate

Rev. C. H. Warren, who has been pastor of the First Baptist Church here for more than fifteen years, has resigned his position. Following a period of illness, he has decided to leave the church in order to spend more time at his home in another city. The church will miss his presence and will seek to find a suitable replacement.

SWING INTO ACTION

The Fulton County Singing Convention will be held at the Fulton High School on June 10th and 11th. The event will feature various groups from neighboring counties, showcasing their talents in a lively competition. Attendees are encouraged to join in the festivities and support local music.

PERSONALS

Dorothy Gregory of the music department has been appointed to lead the new fine arts club. She brings a wealth of experience and passion for the arts. The club plans to organize various events and activities to promote the arts in the community.

NEWS BRIEFS

In other news, the local newspaper reports on various community events and developments. The week's highlights include a visit to the local cemetery by a group of senior citizens, a community picnic at the park, and the opening of a new art gallery in town. Readers are encouraged to stay informed and participate in these activities.

ROBBERS' ROOST
by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS

For Will, the wolf that had a mind to make a better of his life, the end of his adventures had not come. It was true that in the wild he had been cruel to many; but his heart had been turned away from evil. He had not sought to harm人类, nor had he been cruel to them. He had been driven by necessity to do what he did. But now that he had found a home, he had decided to change his ways. He had made up his mind to be good.

CHAPTER 1-Continued

"Will, the wolf that had a mind to make a better of his life, the end of his adventures had not come. It was true that in the wild he had been cruel to many; but his heart had been turned away from evil. He had not sought to harm人类, nor had he been cruel to them. He had been driven by necessity to do what he did. But now that he had found a home, he had decided to change his ways. He had made up his mind to be good.

CHAPTER 2

From dawn to dusk there was no peace in the camp. The wolves were restless and the humans were nervous. They were all afraid of what might happen next. The humans were afraid of the wolves, and the wolves were afraid of the humans. They were all afraid of each other.

CHAPTER 3

But presently he had come to a realization of the fact that he was not going to be able to stop the humans from hunting him. He was going to have to fight them if he wanted to keep his freedom. He was going to have to fight them if he wanted to keep his life.

"But presently he had come to a realization of the fact that he was not going to be able to stop the humans from hunting him. He was going to have to fight them if he wanted to keep his freedom. He was going to have to fight them if he wanted to keep his life."

The American poultry industry is a smash, and the grower is not ready to be too picky about his eggs. The average flock gets about 60 per cent of its total output at any one time. But eggs that are sold at a low price, and even some of the best, are going to be lessened by new methods of good flock management. Eggs that are disposed of easily in order to sell lower for less money than the other methods, often result from the use of the wrong methods. The Kentuckian

The New

Electric Range

Designed for Kenton County Homes
by Kentuckiana Women

NOW you can have that electric range you've always wanted. A full-sized range, built more ruggedly—and more beautifully finished—than the most expensive electric ranges of a year or two ago.

The Kentuckian was designed to fit the times. Kentuckiana women told what they wanted in an "electric"—and this beautiful, efficient range is their answer.

It has the automatic features Kentuckiana want—Built-in Wardman thermostat for direct oven temperature control—speedy Quick-Cook Units—and a more convenient, high, elevated oven which banishes back-breaking bending.

The convenient radio-type dial on the oven top permits oven temperature settings from 200 to 500 Fahrenheit, with easy, quick adjustments as close as 5 degrees.

We urge you to come to our showroom—a witness of the demonstration of this electric range. Our low price, easy terms and our new "24 range-stop" takes electric cooking out of the luxury class and makes it common-sense thrift.

The Above Map Shows Fulton as “The Hub” of the Illinois Central Railroad

Fulton is a railroad town—In fact, it is the hub of the Illinois Cenral Railroad system in this part of the state. It is the terminal point for the Illinois Central Railroad in this section, and the trains from Chicago terminate here. The railroad people—-the merchants of Fulton are with you.

When you trade with them you help both yourself and Fulton.

Presidential Call for Truce Between Labor and Industry — Convention of A. F. of L.—Air Combat Forces Taken Away From Foulis.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

President Roosevelt's latest appeal to both labor and management was met with a deafening silence. No industries have been heard from, and although some of the unions have refused to negotiate, President Roosevelt has indicated that there will be no federal intervention in the dispute unless efforts at peace are made publicly known. The president insists that the government should not take sides in industrial disputes, but that it should act as a neutral party in the efforts to settle the differences. He has also stated that he will not interfere with the right of workers to strike, but he does not believe that strikes should be used as a means of obtaining concessions from employers.

In his address to the nation, President Roosevelt made it clear that he feels that the government should try to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute between labor and management. He stated that the country is in a period of great stress, and that the government should do everything possible to avoid the consequences of a strike. The president also emphasized that it is the responsibility of both labor and management to work towards a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

Relief Costs Mount

Recent reports indicate that the cost of relief to the nation has been increasing. The government has been spending more money on relief than ever before, and the cost of relief to the nation has been rising. The government has been providing relief to a large number of people, and the cost of this relief has been a serious burden on the national treasury.

New Deal Aid as well as to High Court

The New Deal administration has been providing aid to states and municipalities in the form of grants-in-aid. These grants have been used to provide relief to a large number of people, and the cost of this relief has been a serious burden on the national treasury.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Syrups and tinctures have always been used, but the modern hospital uses a liquid laxative. The liquid laxative is more effective and less expensive than the syrup or tincture.
