Buying Line or Firing Line

Our boys on the firing line have given up home, family, job, future. They have given up the eight-hour day for the twenty-four-hour day. They have exchanged a good bed for a crude bunk in a dug-out. They have traded a clean table and home cooking for bully beef and beans in a muddy trench. They are doing this that the folks at home may 'live' in safety.

It is real sacrifice for our boys—or many the supreme sacrifice of life itself.

There is no sacrifice we can make which will compare with theirs. The least we can do is to see that our boys get everything they need to win this war, and get it quickly.

The fourth call has come. Let's be good soldiers, too; let's show our boys that when they call we, too, can "go over the top" eagerly—quickly—cheerfully.

Buy Fourth Liberty Bonds
"Don't let the SON go down"

You don't have to pay all cash for your bonds. You can make your first payment from cash in the bank, and take care of the balance out of your daily, weekly or monthly payings.

The forced saving you do now will mean a nice nest egg later, for the bonds you buy and pay for as you go along will prove a splendid investment that will pay you a good interest every six months. After the war, the bonds will be worth more than you paid for them. Don't hesitate to do your duty and do it quickly.

"Don't let the SON go down."
Interesting Letters From Home Boys

Camp Taylor, Ky., Sept, 15, 1918

Dear Edw. and Morton: You have heard something of the latest word that arranges the men and women in the army. We are to go to France. It must have been a surprise to you. It is to me. I think there is no man who expects to go to France who does not feel a little nervous. I have been trying to prepare myself for it, for I thought this was going to be a war that would be a long one. We feel so much better now that we know certain things in the country are in order, and we are not going to be found wanting in the end. The men are—well, I don't know just how to describe them. They are all hungry, but they are all happy, too. They are all ready to go to France, and they are all ready to do their duty.

I have been reading a lot about the war, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that I am going to be doing. I have been reading about the battles that are going on, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in France. I have been reading about the things that are going on in the camps, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the camps. I have been reading about the things that are going on in the trenches, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the trenches.

I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the churches, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the churches.

I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the homes, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the homes. I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the villages, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the villages. I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the cities, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the cities.

I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the world, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the world. I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the world. I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the world. I have been trying to learn as much as I can about the things that are going on in the world.
